Landslide Vote Favors The Doctor

State Rep. Jesse George and Hightower chat with Bill Loyd and Pete St. Romain at reception.

Solons Visit In County

State Representatives Jesse George and Cameron Hightower were in Plains over the week-end to discuss legislative action with the people of the community.

An open house and coffee was held at the Plains High School cafeteria and Rep. George answered questions concerning legislation which is pending before the Texas House of Representatives.

The West Texas solon reaffirmed his stand on the Jr. College act and said that he is of the opinion that the issue is a local one and should be decided locally.

When asked which plan he favors concerning education, referring to the governor's or the Texas Education Association proposal, the West Texas legislator said that he favors and supports the T. E. A. plan. He further stated that he had met with a large group of teachers and had inquired if they would rather accept the plan of Gov. John Connally or nothing and the group answered that they would rather accept nothing than the legislation proposed by the governor.

Both solons were informed that the local American Legion post is backing an extension of the Veterans' land program in Texas, and Rep. Hightower stated that he is a member of the veterans committee and said that he favored the extension of the program and felt that it would be extended.

Both legislators expressed their appreciation to the people of the Plains area for coming out to discuss their problems with them. Rep. George stated that he wants to truly represent the people of Yoakum County and the only way that this is possible is if the voters let him know what they want.

Hicks Not Guilty

Alvin Hicks was acquitted last week in his trial in District Court in Plains. The State alleged that Hicks shot L. E. Lambert with a .25 cal. automatic pistol and charged him with assault with intent to kill.

The jury was selected last Thursday in the one day trial and the case went to the jury that night at about 10:30 p. m. and the verdict was returned in about three hours.

District Judge L. D. Ledbetter presided and District Attorney E. W. Boedeker prosecuted the case.

Hicks was defended by the law firm of Cayton and Gres-

Plains residents voted in landslide proportions in the straw vote to lease the Yoakum County Clinic to Dr. Steve Semeniuk Rising Star D. O. The final tally showed 251 voting for and 31 casting negative ballots.

The County Commission had asked the Chamber of Commerce to conduct a straw vote to try to see how public opinion was running concerning the issue.

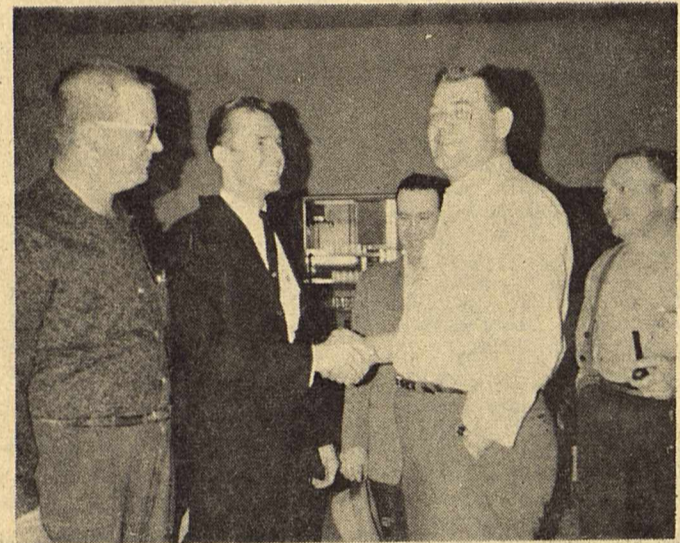

Directors of the Chamber called a public meeting last week and Judge Duval answered questions about the clinic and the physician who desires to lease the clinic. The Judge stated that he would back the opinion of the majority and if the poll turned out with a majority of yes votes that he would back that viewpoint.

About 70 people attended the public meeting at the cafeteria and pros and cons of the issue were discussed. The meeting lasted for about two hours.

The directors voted unanimously to cooperate with the County Commission and to conduct the poll in order that a clear decision could be reached.

The County Judge stated that he has checked with the hospital in Denver City and that in 1962 the board voted that a D. O. cannot use the hospital, but can take his patients there for a M. D. to treat them.

When asked if State law prohibited a D. O. from pra-

Gov. Here

Local Lions Club members are being honored today by a visit from the District Governor, Tut Tawwater, who will be at the noon luncheon at the Scout Hut. All Lions are urged to attend and meet the District Governor.

The Lions are sponsoring a pancake supper and a white elephant bingo party April 9, at the High School cafeteria. All proceeds will go to the Boy Scouts to buy new equipment.

Roy Edwards, president of the Plains Lions Club also reported that Lions International Director Joe Ganim, from Conn., will be in Leveaud April 3rd and all Lions who want to go should see him for tickets.

Eva Tubb Writes

Mrs. Eva Tubb sent the editor a letter which he feels will be of interest to all of the old timers of Plains and also to those who do not know her. Mrs. Tubb now lives in Glendale, Arizona but receives her subscription to The Record.

Her letter appears on the editorial page and is well worth anybody's time if they will read it.

Mrs. Tubb knew Plains in the depression days and mentions people and events which were well known to the community during the time that she and her husband lived here.

New Sports Editor

Richard Cayce has assumed the duties of Sports Editor of The Plains Record. Cayce is the brother of the publisher and has recently served in the United States Navy.

A former all state tackle from Tatum, Cayce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Cayce. Young Cayce joined his brother's staff this week after doing duty on the U. S. S. Telfair A. P. A. 210. He received an Honorable Discharge last week.

Cayce is a graduate of New Mexico Boys State and was active in all sports at Tatum. He attended St. Michaels Academy in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and lettered in track and swimming there.

cticing in the hospital, Judge Duval said no, that they are licensed to practice medicine and surgery in Texas.

The State Medical Examining board consists of three D. O. physicians and nine M. D. physicians.

Chamber officials plan to meet with the County Commission at their next scheduled meeting to conclude their report.

Vote Soon

Voting is scheduled for the School Trustee election Saturday April 3, at 8:00 a. m. until 7:00 p. m. at the High School library, said G. D. Kennedy, Superintendent of Schools this week.

The election will be for three seats on the board of education, and four candidates have filed for election.

Three of the four contestants are incumbents seeking re-election. These are C. L. Gayle, Johnnie Fitzgerald, and Olen Edwards. The fourth person running for the board of education is A. E. Faulkenberry, who is also a candidate for the City Council.

Sheriff Hits County Bootleggers

Olan Heath, Yoakum County Sheriff, reported to The Record that he has cracked down on liquor violators in the Denver City area. Sheriff Heath made three arrests recently on bootlegging violations in that location.

In separate actions the three were J. D. Marshall, Kathryn Wesley, and L. K. Smith. Marshall and Mrs. Wesley were fined $150.00 plus costs on their counts and L. K. Smith is out of Jail on $1000.00 bond.

Smith was arrested recently on another charge of violating State Liquor Laws.

Sheriff Heath stated that he has issued warnings and is cracking down on the bootleggers in the area.

Yoakum County Sheriff Olan Heath is pictured at left talking about bootleg arrests which have been made by him recently.

CAYCE'S CORNER

Spring has sprung but nobody can tell any difference around here except that it is a little bit drier and the sand dunes are deeper, and the people feel some worse in warmer weather when they have the flu or the measles. Cayce should know because he has had both since the paper came out.

Spring is truly here but nothing has turned green and only a few birds are to be seen, saying nothing about the shortage of worms for our fine feathered friends. Maybe something good can be said though somebody remarked at Joe's Drug Store that the price of rattlesnakes is a heap higher this season than last, but he forgot whether the groundhog saw his shadow or not.

In fact down at the track meet last week a visiting coach hovered in his parka foul weather jacket and seemed to enjoy watching the contestants perform in their shorts. The temperature must have been near thirty and the wind was blowing a gale! Cayce blew his nose constantly in the press box and thought about far away places and tropic isles. The sniffles grew more frequent and old Cayce abandoned ship early and set sail for home. He was late for supper and the beans were cold so after words with the spouse he decided to retreat for a last stand with the flu bug from his couch of rest.

Alas, he recovered enough to get to the typewriter to beat out a column this week, and found that spring fever had struck and the easiest thing to write about is health and weather, so old Cayce took the easy way out this week in order to get outside and swing a golf club and enjoy the sand, horned toads, and critters, and to see if some crazed rainmaker is unemployed at this time of year who wants a job, which offers nothing down with 36 months to pay. Do we have any takers? Today is All Fools Day, so who knows what might happen.

EDITORIALS

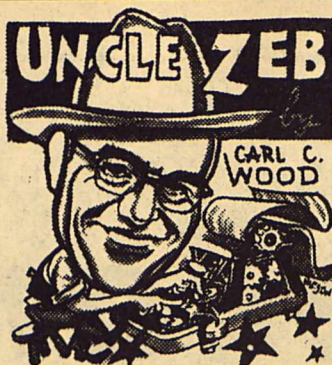

President Johnson has urged members of the Congress to take legislative action which will outlaw the Ku Klux Klan. We of the Plains Record are convinced that such action is needed and implore Rep. Mahan, Sen. Tower, and Sen. Yarborough to join forces with the administration to take the necessary steps required to pass the legislation quickly. Like action was needed some years back, when the Communist Party was outlawed, and we believe the Ku Klux Klan to be as dangerous and as vicious as the Communist party, because both stand for principals alien to the American way of life.

Officials of the Klan have continued to violate laws of the states and of Federal statutes. The Klan has widely practiced whippings, church burnings, lynchings, bombings, murder and tar and featherings. These people have proved themselves criminals of the lowest order and are not unlike those who wore the Swastika in Hitler's Nazi Germany. They should be dealt with accordingly. If it requires sending fifty armed divisions and a state of martial law into the heart of Dixie, then let us proceed and enforce the laws of the land and protect the rights and property of all decent people in Dixie, whether they be white or black.

Many people will say that the President is playing politics in order to secure the millions of votes from minority groups. It doesn't matter, the same was said of Lincoln, but it didn't make it true. Regardless of what semantic and prejudicial arguments are given concerning the subject, we know that our President is right.

Many years ago in St. John's Episcopal Church in Richmond, Va., the immortal Patrick Henry spoke for all generations of Americans when he said, "Life is so dear or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

UNCLE ZEB
CARL C. WOOD

With March passed another birthday of Uncle Zeb and this column. . . Both are 19 years old and we will not admit how old we are our own self. . . In all those years a lot of hunts and pecks have gone into the old Royal Typewriter. . . Many wonderful experiences have been ours. . . and both Uncle Zeb and I hope that in some small way we have been helpful. . . How time does fly. . . We never expected to be around this long. . . Lately we feel that we have neglected the column. . . We have been so busy out with the cattle and the like. . . We are seriously considering dropping out of circulation in the paper for awhile. . . Just for old times sake drop us a card and tell us whether we would be missed or not. . . Bless Yo'All. . .

Do you collect stamps? . . . A friend, James Young is serving our country as an instructor in far away Greece. . . In our mail this week we received several cancelled Greek stamps. . . To the first ten readers sending a self-addressed envelope we will send a stamp from that country. . . Thank you James for being so kind. . .

Uncle Jay Bob says that the way to succeed is to stick it out until you can't hold on any longer, and then to take a new hold.

The road to success has many rough spots. One reason is that it is always under construction.

Money is said to have a face value. . . It can be worth much more or a lot less depending on the use we make of it.

Sometimes it takes a lot of courage to stand up and speak our piece. . . Often it takes a lot of wisdom to sit still and hold our peace.

Mistakes are the accidents that happen only to the fellow who is going places.

It is said to be only fair that we hear both sides of an argument. . . It is much better when we can hear the end of it.

It is pretty easy to hit the bottom when we dive in over our head.

It is true that there is always plenty of free advice to be found. Free, that is unless we take it too seriously. . .

Some folks don't believe everything they hear, but just pass it along for what its worth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor, a letter to you and the wonderful people of Plains.

In the March 18 issue of The Plains Record I read with much interest "Canine Owners Warning". Also, the editorial and dog article in "Cayce's Corner". All was well written and I agree that dogs can be a problem, but, I am wondering what has happened to the people in Plains who used to understand the dog problem and took time out to discuss and settle their differences with the owners of said dogs. Here are a few examples: the time our little dog, Nuisance, got loose when she was in season and John Anderson walked out of his way to tell us where we might find her. Mrs. Pinkston was never too busy to run over to our house and put our asthmatic, old dog, Buddy, inside whenever a rain came up when I was out on the mail route. Ralph McClellan once brought our muddy, Bozo dog, home in the back seat of his beautiful, new car. Our concern for our lost dog was more important to Ralph than the soiling of his new car.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

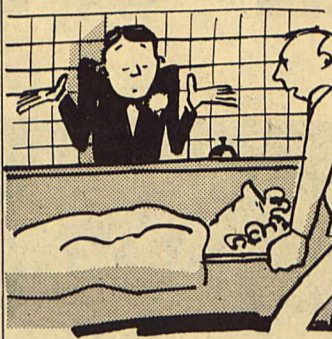

Hotel Hazards

Finishing her shower, a hotel guest started to turn off the water. But she lost her footing, skidded, and hit the tile floor with a thud. Battered and bruised, she later sued the hotel for damages.

"That tile was slippery," she complained in court. "Why didn't they furnish a rubber mat for safety? As a guest of the hotel, I was entitled to every possible protection."

But the court denied her claim, finding no fault on the part of the management. The judge said the danger of slipping in such circumstances ought to be obvious to everyone who ever has taken a shower.

Much of our hotel law dates back to the Middle Ages, when thieves and ruffians (and Robin Hood) roamed the roads of England. A high degree of responsibility was imposed on the owners of inns, which were a sort of safety zone for the anxious traveller.

However, the emphasis was on his belongings rather than his personal safety. Thus, this strict rule never applied to hazards from the accommodations themselves—the furnishings and appliances used by the guest.

In that respect the hotel's responsibility has always been, and still is, merely to use "reasonable care"—much like the responsibility of a store toward its customers.

What care is "reasonable"? Of course, circumstances differ in each case. However, a few examples will give you a rough guide:

A hotel was held liable to a guest who stepped on a needle, where evidence showed that the room had not been properly cleaned for her arrival.

And a hotel was held liable to a guest who got a shock from turning on the light, where the management had allowed the wiring to fall into dangerous disrepair.

But a hotel was held not liable to a guest bitten by an insect, where there was nothing to indicate that the hotel could have prevented the mishap.

And a hotel was held not liable to a guest injured when a bench cracked under her weight, where there was a defect in the wood not discoverable by any normal precautions.

"A hotel," said the court, "is not an insurer against accidents."

Casey Jones didn't get mad at us the time Bozo nipped at the seat of his britches, nor did we hate his bittin' dog, Tatter. We all put up with Harold Forrest's little brindled color dog that made everyone run for safety if they pestered Harold. We didn't get mad at the Clyde (Arkie) Hardwicks because their dog, Buckeye, was always challenging Bozo for a fight, nor did the Arkies get mad at us and the H. Roberts when his dog, Pesky, and our dog, Bozo, teamed up and gave Buckeye a hard lickin'.

Dick McGinty didn't censure Mr. Morrison when his hounds killed Dick's little dog. None of us ever got mad at Mrs. Smith and Mr. Guthrie when we were greeted at the door of Hotel Frances with a slobbering kiss from their dog, Smokey. And, Mrs. Smith didn't get mad at me when Bozo killed the little chicken that she was raising to give to Sherm Henard's little granddaughter for Easter.

I think that everybody in Plains enjoyed seeing the Moreland boys, the Martin boys and Buck Morris trailing behind George Moreland's big, friendly bulldog hitched to a little wagon and pulling it around town. And one of the funniest things that ever happened to me was when Mrs. Myleg Haywood's dog used my leg instead of a fence post to relieve himself. It didn't make me mad, Mrs. Haywood was mad enough for both of us and while I was laughing, she was chasing her dog with a fence post in her hands.

Of course, there are now more people and more dogs in Plains, but I can't believe that dogs are any worse now than they were twenty-five years ago. Perhaps people had more time for tolerance and neighborly love such as shown us by the people mentioned in this letter.

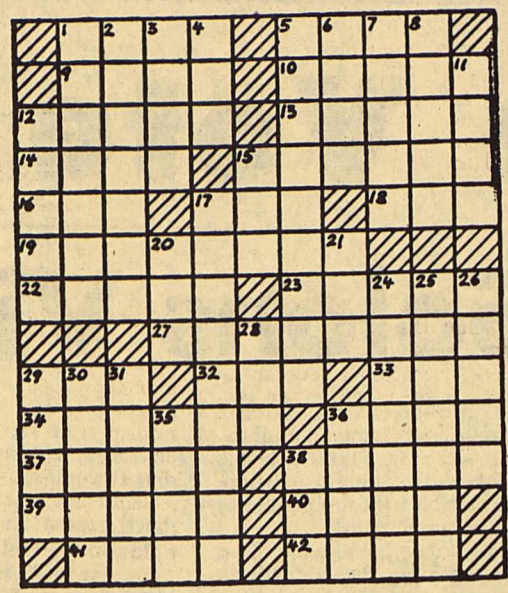

I am glad to have been a part of Plains when we were not too busy to take time to understand each others dog problems.

Sincerely yours
Mrs. Eva Tubbs

Editor's Note:
We enjoyed your letter Mrs. Tubbs, and hope that you will write to us again. We also are looking forward to meeting you when you visit Plains again.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It is interesting to note the ridicule often heaped on General Charles DeGaulle. Of course, the apparent necessary historicity to appeal to the Gallic temperament have a flavor foreign to Americans.

In Washington the French President is not so funny since he announced that France is starting to redeem American dollars held by them for American gold. This has created a drive to seek legislation removing the legally required gold backing of U. S. currency. If this is not done, it is feared that foreigners cashing in their dollars for gold will put the nation into bankruptcy.

There is no definite way of ascertaining what goes on in the DeGaulle mind. But it does seem more than significant that pressure was not put by France on dollar until after British and American elections.

It is very possible DeGaulle does not feel comfortable with a socialistic form of government in England, and thus by attacking the dollar he knows that the British pound, and hence British influence, will be weakened.

It may be that the French leader reflects on the fact that succession of prewar Socialistic governments in France headed by Leon Blum, and others so demoralized the nation that it was a sitting duck for business.

quest in 1940. He objected to the acceptance by the Western powers during the war that all was sweetness and light with Russia's Stalin, and at the liberation of Paris, despite obstacles thrown into his path, stopped French communists from taking over nation.

In short, DeGaulle has been an unrelenting, uncompromising foe of communism. He has also given indications he is somewhat of a realist.

France is potentially a very economically prosperous nation. Not only does it have resources and industry, but its farm productivity puts it in a position of being one of the few nations in the world that can adequately feed its own population.

Yet despite the potential wealth of France when he totted up the balance sheet and saw that it was costing France more to stay in Algeria and Vietnam than the country could take out, or even hope to make a profit in the future, he pulled out and concentrated on developing the French economy at home.

This position can perhaps be criticized as displaying an indifference toward the fate of the world.

But there is also the possibility that DeGaulle, after witnessing the fall of France undetermined by years of socialism, also believes if the world goes more and more socialistic, there will be an inevitable collapse. Hence, he takes every measure he can to keep France from once again being mired down by socialism.

Just Thinking

Mary Faulkner Payne

I was very pleased this week that two Plains citizens, of long standing, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, were in Lovington. Mrs. Cleveland was in Stell's Shop looking at dresses and Mr. Cleveland was waiting for her. My pleasure regarding their visit came when I was told by the saleslady that Mr. Cleveland asked about Mary Faulkner Payne, who wrote a column for the Plains Record and said he read the column and enjoyed it. My thanks, Mr. Cleveland.

I read your fine newspaper and accounts of what you are doing here in Plains and feel that I am beginning to know some of you and especially what your community leaders are doing to build your town.

In learning about all of you I can eventually mention personalities in my column.

In the meantime I'd like to tell you that many things that happen would not make a story but would be interesting to your neighbors and that is what columns are used for.

They are also used for opinions which are not editorially acceptable as a straight editorial.

Then a columnist can advance his or her own personal philosophies and this you will find me doing often.

A column has been defined as a different name for conversation and I believe this is an apt application.

Someone else has said a writer is one who applies the seat of his pants to the seat of a chair. That too applies. However, I maintain that the material I use is not often obtained by sitting down but rather by observation and thinking.

I think the latter is the keynote to writing an interesting column and impressions play a large part also as it does in direct conversation.

So if you have something that might fit into our community conversation, please know that I will be pleased to hear from you.

Attitudes . . . have you noticed . . . that when the other fellow acts a certain way, he is 'ill-tempered'; when you do it's 'nerves'!

When the other fellow is set in his ways he's 'obstinate'; when you are it is just 'firmness'.

When the other fellow doesn't like your friends, he's 'prejudiced'; when you don't like his, you are simply showing that you are a good judge of human nature.

When the other fellow tries to treat someone especially well he is a 'flatterer'; when you try the same thing you are using 'tact'.

When the other fellow spends a lot he is a 'spendthrift'; when you do, you are 'generous'.

When the other fellow holds too tight to his money, he is 'close'; when you do, you are 'prudent'.

When the other fellow dresses extra well, he's a 'dude'; when you do, it is simply 'a duty one owes to society'.

When the other fellow runs great risks in business, he is 'foolhardy'; when you do, you are a 'great financier'.

When the other fellow says what he thinks, he is 'spiteful'; when you do, you are 'frank'.

Publicity has been developed into a fine art. For instance it makes you think you've longed for something all your life that you never even heard of before.

Quoting Winston Churchill on the subject of advertising . . . "Advertising nourishes the consuming power of man . . . sets up the goal of a better home, better clothing, better food for himself and his family. It spurs individual exertion and greater production. It brings together in fertile union those things which otherwise would not have met."

I firmly believe that advertising is the mouthpiece of business.

One evening six-year old Bobby asked his father for a pet. "Sorry son," his father said, "not now. But if you pray real hard for two months, perhaps God will send you a baby brother."

Bobby prayed faithfully for a month, but it seemed futile to pray longer so he gave up.

How surprised he was, when a month later, a little baby boy arrived at their home, or so Bobby thought when he was a squirming bundle beside his mother.

His proud father drew back the cover and Bobby saw another another baby. Twins!

"Aren't you glad you prayed for a baby brother?" asked his father.

"I sure am", said the boy, "but aren't you glad I stopped praying when I did?"

I remember when the first trek into outer space was made, how concerned we all were regarding the safety of John Glenn our first orbiting astronaut, and how for the entire flight everyone talked of nothing else and business near about stopped.

Tuesday when Grissom and Young made their historic two-man flight into space, through we all wished to stick by the TV and watch, most of us went on about our business, and took it more or less in stride.

Col. (Shorty) Powers expressed this casual attitude exactly, when, after the two astronauts had been put aboard the Intrepid, he said it was customary for them to have a telephone chat with the President.

He was asked if they talked to their families and he said, "Oh, yes, they'd talked to them immediately after they talked with the President, and said, chuckling, "after all, they've beengone all day and need to report in to their wives".

Oriental Flavor For Chicken And Pineapple

A can of pineapple chunks adds flavorful accent to this party dish. It's easy enough for a brand new bride to prepare. Made with chicken breasts, which are now readily available by the piece or package, it also has a special accent of ginger. Serve with steamed or Chinese fried rice.

A choice of canned pineapple slices, chunks, tidbits and crushed as well as juice come in a great variety of can sizes. Keep a supply handy for using straight out of the can or for interesting entrees, salads and desserts.

BREAST OF CHICKEN WITH PINEAPPLE
6 boneless chicken breasts
Salt
Flour
1/3 cup cooking oil

1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 (13 1/2-ounce) can pineapple chunks
Flatten chicken breasts with cleaver or flat side of large knife. Sprinkle with salt and flour; brown lightly on both sides in hot oil in skillet. Continue cooking until chicken is almost tender. Remove chicken from skillet and discard all but small amount of drippings. Add 1 tablespoon flour and ginger to drippings in skillet. To syrup drained from pineapple add enough water to make 3/4 cup. Stir into flour mixture in skillet. Cook over moderate heat, stirring until smooth. Return chicken to skillet along with pineapple chunks. Simmer until chicken is tender. Serve with cooked rice. Makes 6 servings.

Jr Cinder Relays

The Junior track and field event held in Plains, Saturday March 27th was full of many unexpected surprises.

Denver City and Seminole had identical scores with each scoring 43 1/2 points. The winner was determined by flipping a coin. Lady Luck favored Seminole who correctly called the toss.

The big surprise was the fine athlete Perkins who with his extraordinary speed gathered the deciding factor of points for Brownfield, to send them to victory in the 9th grade section of the meet.

Perkins will be the man to watch as he moves up to varsity level.

My first track meet here in Plains Saturday impressed me. I felt that Plains has a very promising future in their athletic program with the information that I gathered at both the high school and the junior high track meets. I believe that our teams could have done quite well but due to the fact that part of the team was out with the measles, flu and heaven knows what else. They were weak in some areas which would have been a deciding factor in the outcome of the meet.

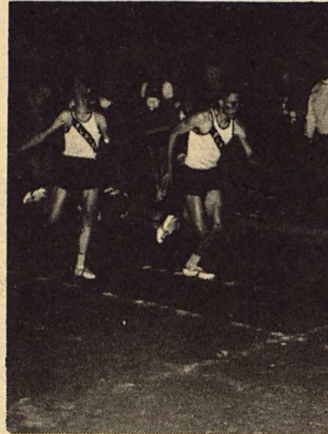

In looking over the junior high meet, I think that Plains will have some very choice material coming up to varsity level in the very near future.

Coach Rip Sewell is doing a wonderful job with the young people he is working with. He is not only building some fine athletes but is building sportsmanship as well as good conduct in our community. Any child is lucky to be trained in knowledge and in character by a man like him.

I am looking forward to the starting of little league this year. I think that Plains will be represented in the annual all-star contest at the end of the season.

I have been interested in snow skiing for a number of years and have been skiing for five years. I enjoy the sport and hope to be going quite a bit. Anyone interested in going with me or organizing a Ski Club please come by The Plains Record and speak with me on the subject. It is my opinion that it would be of interest to the people of this community. After all, Ruidosa is only 70 miles from Roswell and a group can make a nice Saturday or Sunday one day ski party easily.

It wont be long until summer sports and we plan to carry features on golf, rodeos, and swimming. Call me any time at 456-4116 to get your sports news in the paper.

Thespians Stage Play

due to a prank played on him by his wife. The physician treated the daughter of a prominent nobleman, who suffered from lovesickness. He obtained the services of the young lady's lover to pose as his apothecary and of course the damsel responded to treatment. The guise was known by the noble and the culprits were discovered and exposed. But alas, all ended well as was expected.

Thespians from Plains High School took their play "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" on the road this week, participating in the District One Act Play contest. The play is a delightful 16th century comedy written by Moliere. The costumes were authentic reproductions of the period. Prior to taking the show on the road the student actors presented the comedy to the High School student body this week.

The play followed the theme of a drunken woodcutter who impersonated a physician.

USE THE WANT ADS

CHURCH NEWS

"Give and it shall be given you", is a law of life that each person needs to learn. One failing of human-nature is the desire to receive without having to give. All of life is based on this wonderful law. You have to give hours of work before you receive your pay check. Never be led astray by the false doctrine that is prevailing in the minds of so many people these days. This false doctrine is the idea that you are justified in receiving something that you have not earned. Some people think they are due a living because of the color of their skin. Others think their employer owes them a job even if they are no longer needed. These are false ideas that violate this great law of the Bible.

In this age we live in, more people are wanting security than are wanting opportunity. A false idea of security is that a person becomes secure if he is very stingy with his money and saves it. But security lies in a person giving as much money as he can to as many worthy causes as he can. In this way you are placing security in the future. You have set the stage so that if you are in need, that need will be met. This is the eternal law that each of us is dealing with. Let us learn it and use it.

Here is another interesting part of this law. Do you like friendship, you must always be a friend to others. "If you want a friend, be a friend". This is a true saying and in keeping with this wonderful law that Jesus is revealing to us. Many people are lonely and want to be loved but they never think of loving others. You have to earn love before it come to you. When you have earned it, all of the world cannot keep it from coming back to you. Whatever you want in life you must give. I received a letter from a lady giving an offering to my church. She stated in this letter that she was trying to establish a place for underprivileged children and she was giving money to all of the different causes she could. If she was wanting to establish a place that took money, why was she giving her money to other things? She was working this wonderful law. She knew she did not have enough money to do this job, so she gave all of the money away that she could spare, knowing that it would come back to her multiplied many times and she could establish a home for under-privileged children. Why are we not wise enough to see this? Whatever you want, you must give.

Let us pray. Thank you Heavenly Father for this law. May we use it from day to day. In Jesus' Name we pray, AMEN.

BIRTHDAY

The Plains Memorial Convalescent Home will celebrate its first birthday April 6, and 17 residents live in the beautiful modern place, which has all of the comforts of a swank hotel and the atmosphere of home.

The Home is a warm friendly place where the senior citizens who reside there make lasting friends and enjoy themselves by visiting, game playing, and watching T. V. in the bright and gay livingroom.

A modern sun porch serves as a year around favorite to the guests at the Plains Center. Game tables and comfortable lounge chairs are in the room and it has the appearance of a dude ranch found in the sunlands of Arizona or New Mexico.

An ultra modern kitchen with trained staff members and a family style dining room make each meal, an enjoyment. A piano sits in the parlor and an occasional rag time tune with singing can be heard in the building.

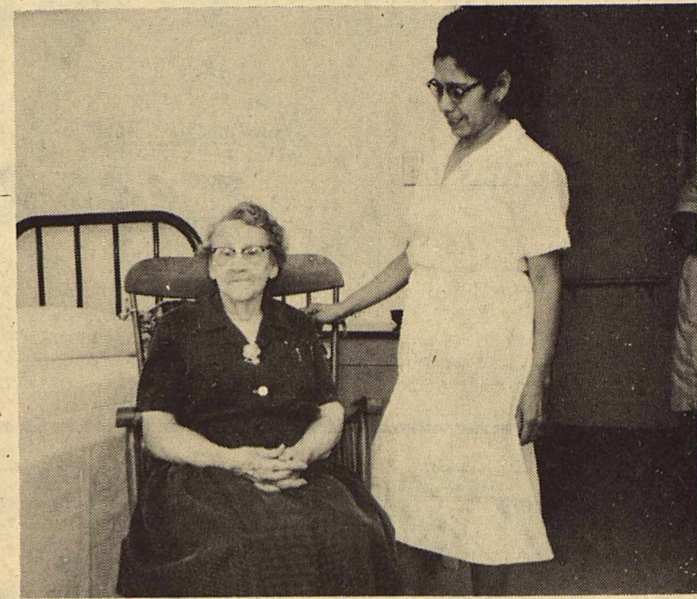

The local home is equipped with the most modern equipment and a large staff is employed to assure guests of adequate and comfortable care. The Nursing home is licensed by the State of Texas and is recognized by the State of New Mexico. Mrs. Scott further stated that her guests come from New Mexico and Texas.

The average age of the residents is 82 years old with the oldest being Mrs. Copeland, who is 92, and the youngest is Mrs. Bird, who is 70. The combined ages of the 17 people is 1398 years. This is quite a few in anybody's books.

Residents of the Home are:
 Mrs. Marchall, Bronco
 Mrs. McDonnell, Plains
 Mrs. Holland, Denver City
 Mrs. Copeland, Plains
 Mr. and Mrs. Lee, Jal, N. M.
 Mr. Sudduth, Plains
 Judge Wyckoff, Tatum
 Mr. Hallford, Lovington
 Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bird, Seagraves
 Mrs. Johnson, Denver City

 Mrs. Davidson, Lovington
 Lela Ward, Plains
 Mr. Ackley, Denver City

Stella Mobley, Denver City Sue Scott is the executive director of the Home, and she has a large well trained staff, with someone on duty at all times.

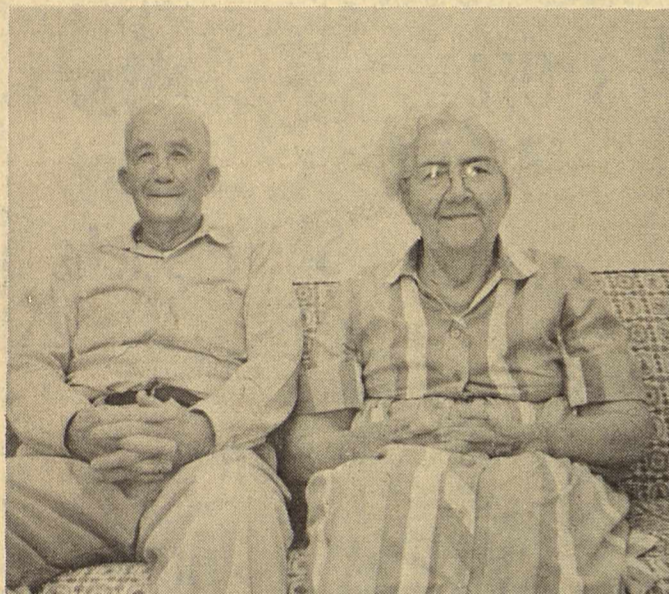

From the community of Plains, we say happy birthday to our fine convalescent center.

When A FELLOW Needs A Friend

A perfect picture of dejection! Perhaps it's another rainy day. Even little children have their serious moments. "What is there to do next?" "Mommy, where did I come from?" Or, "Daddy, is God up in the sky?" Little questions of little children grow into big questions by big people. Sometimes the bigger the man, the more humble the question, and of course . . . directed to God.

The place for such questions is the Church. In church, ponder the imponderables, ask the old, old questions: receive the gentle answers. Church, too, is God's Home. He's waiting for you there.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This past week saw a continued flow of good conservation work. New soil conservation District plans and Great Plains Program contracts to carry them out. Preparation for more work with new cooperators is a good sign of continued interest even in a dry spring.

received and to the amazement of many operators we may find more moisture in protected soil than we had dreamed of.

Good examples of what planning ahead for erosion control during a critical time can be seen in a lot of places in the district. W. B. White and Robert B. White are two good examples. The sudan, cane and small grain they planted last August are now doing an outstanding job of holding their soil. W. B. says "I don't have a foot of soil plowed and I am sure proud of it considering the condition we have, all my land is being held mostly by dead cover and residue". W. B. also thinks his neighbor Charles Williams is doing a good job with 20" row grain sorghum.

Residue management and supplemental tillage to help the residue, can be seen all over the District. Those with good programs appreciate it and those operators with out residue have seen the benefit and many are making plans to have either residue or cover for another year if they get any rain this spring.

FARM NOTES

Yoakum County ASCS News
By: W. M. Overton
Office Manager

We have been advised that the final date for filing an Intention to participate in the cotton domestic allotment program has been extended to April 9th 1965. This extension will give farmers with cotton allotments an additional two weeks to decide if they wish to participate in the cotton domestic allotment program.

As of Friday March 26, 48 Yoakum County cotton farmers had signed intentions to participate in the program. Other farm operators that may be interested in this program should keep the April 9th final date in mind.

At the close of business on March 26, 1965, 365 Yoakum County feed grain farms had been signed up in the 1965 feed grain program. If all the farms that have signed complies with the program there would be approximately 50,000 acres of feed grain land that will not be planted to feed grains but will be put to an approved conservation use.

The 365 contracts for 1965 compares with 309 under the 1964 program. It is expected that if good rains should come before planting time a number of farmers will withdraw from the program and plant all their available land to feed grains.
