King for a Day

The four daughters of Johnnie L. Fitzgerald wait on their Dad and give him extra favors for Father's Day. The picture was taken early, but Pop seemed to enjoy the treats.

Sunday belongs to dear old Dad. Children all over the country will be treating Pop to favors and considerations usually not extended to him except on Father's Day.

Pop deserves just a little consideration on that day, don't you think? After all he puts the groceries on the table, buys all of those little extras which brighten up the other days in the year which would be pretty drab without him.

Junior will think of all the times that dad has pitched him the car keys and not to mention all of that date money which has been handed out during the year.

Sister will recall a special little doll or maybe clothes for Barbie. Then there is the time that old Dad didn't buy that new fishing rod and reel that he had been casting an eager eye on for weeks, but he didn't buy it, because he bought sister that new formal that she really didn't need at all.

Then Mom, just you think of those countless trips that you took to the beauty shop and those many pairs of new shoes that you just had to have, and also a matching handbag to go with the shoes. And then you will recall the times that Dad took the family to church needing a haircut and wearing those awful looking shoes and you didn't tell him, but you thought that it was just to go out in public looking like that.

Or what about the time that mom took the kids to visit grand-ma, and upon the return the sink overflowed with more dirty dishes than you knew that you had in the house, and to top it off, the lawn looked like the Black Forest. You didn't say anything, but you sure thought about it.

Then what about the time that the whole family was ready to go to Aunt Martha's but Pop didn't show and the whole bunch was waiting on needles and pins, and finally an hour after dark the old man came in from the golf links and had completely forgotten about the trip.

All of these things will be remembered on Father's Day and they will be forgiven, because Pop is a pretty nice person to have around, particularly on Father's Day.

City Man Flies To Jamaica

Woody Wilmeth returned to Plains several days ago from a weeks vacation in Jamaica. Wilmeth flew to the Caribbean Island last week. Wilmeth is the Wholesale Phillips 66 dealer in Plains and owns a hardware and feed store.

In reporting the account to The Record, Mr. Wilmeth told about the flight which took him over Cuba. He said that it was at night, and that he could see the lights on the Communist Island.

In all, the Plains businessman spent five full days in the Caribbean, and two days in flight.

The account of the Island was interesting, and Mr. Wilmeth said that what surprised him the most, was the clothing that the native people wore. He said that the native women wore long bright color dresses.

Wilmeth entered a Phillips contest and qualified for the trip. The flight was composed of similar business men.

According to Wilmeth, the native people are of negro origin. Many are descendants of Spanish and Negro combination. The people are excellent swimmers and the boys are noted for their diving ability.

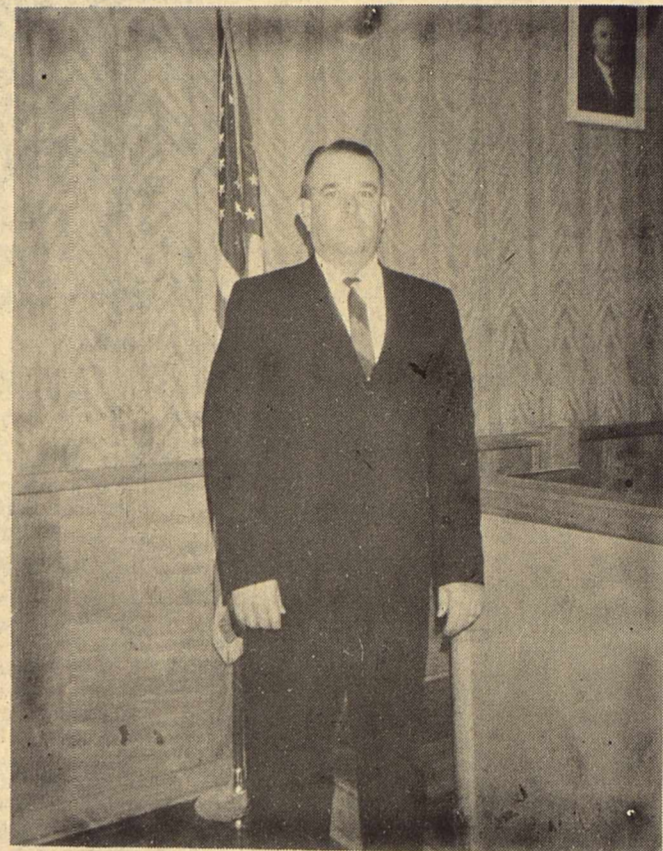

Other things which the Plains businessman did were to visit the world famous Royal Gardens in Queenstown, and to swim in Mateo Bay. Wilmeth said that the water in the bay was crystal clear, and that the coral could be seen at great depths. He also took a cruise in a glass bottom boat around the harbor.

Wilmeth said that the main crops on the Island are sugar cane, bananas, citrus, pineapple, and bread plants.

He said the national drink in Jamaica is rum. Much of the beverage is shipped directly to England. The Island is independent of Great Britain since 1962, but has elected to remain in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Returning to the United States, the plane avoided the Cuban and Florida route and entered customs at New Orleans.

Wilmeth brought back souvenirs, including a box of Churchill Cigars that he distributed to curious friends in Plains.

Rep. George Visits Plains Record Staff

In an interview with the editor of The Record, State Rep. Jessie T. George stated that we faced a greater and more varied assortment of problems in the recent session of the legislature than in past years.

We were challenged to provide effective coordination and financing of higher education, to provide adequate salary schedule for public school teachers. To make drastic changes in our methods of caring for the mentally ill and retarded. To establish an effective and adequate use of our water in Texas.

One of our primary problems in this area concerned the dispute over water pollution. H. B. 785 delegated exclusive responsibility for the control of water pollution in the oil fields to the Railroad Commission. By this same bill the Railroad Commission Chairman becomes a member of the water pollution control board.

The Texas water development board was given the responsibility for state leadership in water development. Until now this was shared with the Texas water commission. This board has been delegated the task of establishing a comprehensive water plan. It will make loans to local governments, construct reservoirs, and serve as coordinator with the Federal Government in water development. The Texas water rights commission, is responsible for conducting hearings on major state and federal water plans.

Redistricting was met with determination and I feel that we not only complied with the Supreme Court, but that we came out with the best possible solution which was available to us.

The Rains Came!!!

The rains came for the whole Yoakum County area last week. General rains fell in the Plains area totaling almost four inches and averaging three and a half inches. Bill Loyd, president of the Plains State Bank said that his gauge at the bank showed a total of over three and a half inches, but some of the rains on Thursday morning blew so hard that he doubted that the gauge was accurate, and estimated more rainfall than was registered.

Loans For Aged

Elderly people, if they live in rural areas, need not give up the idea of building, buying or repairing their homes on credit.

This word comes from Eddie T. Taylor, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, serving Yoakum County.

Mr. Taylor said citizens who are 62 years and over, living in a rural community of 2,500 or less, may be eligible for a 33 year loan bearing 4 percent interest to buy an older home or build a new one.

The F. H. A. supervisor said elderly residents may also be eligible for smaller loans for home repairs.

"Farmers Home Administration's senior citizen loan program offers citizens, 62 years and older, an opportunity to have housing suited to their needs in the community in which they have spent their working years," Mr. Taylor said. "This program also stimulates the local economy by providing jobs for workers engaged in the construction industry and customers for local trades and services."

Four Enter Queen Race

Four contestants for Rodeo Queen have cast their hats in the ring and started selling tickets to win the coveted contest and become the Queen of the Rodeo, which is slated the first week-end in August.

The young ladies and their sponsors are:

Pam Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long, and being sponsored by the Lions Club.

Sue Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cooke, and sponsored by the Plains Chamber of Commerce.

Rheanell Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Strickland, sponsored by the Yoakum County Young Farmers.

Suzahn St. Romain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. St. Romain, being sponsored by The Roping Club.

CAYCE'S CORNER

Rain was the big news in our County last week. The farmers were happy, the ranchers were bursting with glee, the businessmen were eager to open shop, and certainly not the least unhappy was "Banker" Loyd, who wore a thousand dollar smile on his face as his rain gauge at the bank totaled up three and a half inches.

Even the youngsters were overjoyed at the ponds of water and they scampered eagerly to the water to splash about and wade. It was the first experience for some of the smaller ones, who probably thought that grand-pa was telling a windy when he talked about way back when and something called rain.

The children had a ball catching toads by the handfuls, and made prime targets for a certain camera bug, and probably even a better target for the palm of Mom's hand when the un-attractive amphibians were taken home for display in the parlor, not saying anything about those muddy feet and wet pants.

Toads brought a fat premium as wampum with the junior set. Marbles, string, gum, and even candy were gladly traded for the toads. Even little girls got into the act, and the Champion toad catcher of Yoakum County had a bucket of the fly catchers to prove it.

We wonder what mamma said when that healthy display of the days biggest catch arrived home? We hope that another big rain will fall, and that the kids will be collecting bull frogs and tadpoles when it comes.

Everybody that we saw joined "Banker" Loyd in wearing that big smile the day the rains came to Plains.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

May we be permitted the use of the pages of The Record to make known to the people of the Plains community our feelings as we approach the time of our departure to our new home in Sanderson?

Of course, we had some idea of the kind of people with whom we would be associated greater part of our lives have been spent in West Texas and so we are acquainted with characteristic of the people of this area. However we must admit, that even with this knowledge, we were pleasantly surprised with the extremely hospitable reception that was accorded us.

It is rather difficult to believe that we have lived in this community for almost four years. In some communities a year seems to be almost an age, but it has not been so for us, for the time has fairly flown. To the many old friends that we had in this community we have added a great number of new ones. Your civic groups have been very kind in their invitations to my wife and I. It is because of these kindnesses that the years have passed so quickly. To the Hillside Church of Christ and

EDITORIALS

We were disturbed in learning that two of the County Commissioners want to change the geographical boundaries of the four precincts in Yoakum County.

These boundaries have been the same since the County came into being in 1907. The precincts are more than just four areas in the County, they are a tradition, having stood in tact before our neighboring state received statehood.

We can see but one good reason to change the boundaries. This reason is political, and is called gerrymandering. The definition of gerrymandering follows:

After Gov. Elbridge Gerry, whose party, in 1812, divided Essex Co., Mass., so as to form a dragon shaped district, Political Cant, U. S. To divide a state, county, etc. into election districts or other civil divisions in an unnatural and unfair way, esp. to give a political party an advantage over its opponent.

Re-districting would definitely assist the two commissioners from the Southern part of the County in re-election, and could possibly cause difficulty in the election of Northern Commissioners.

We were not aware that Yoakum County is suffering from population explosion. In fact the last report showed that the county had lost population over the past few years.

Commissioner Bookout has taken a stand against changing the boundaries and we agree with his stand. We hope that Commissioners Brown and Cotton will change their mind and leave the geographical boundaries as they are. If the matter should come to a vote, we implore Judge Duval to weigh the matter with concern for the whole county and to seek council with the residents in the areas concerned before reaching a decision.

We believe that the electors living within the boundaries which would be shifted under the proposal have the right to be heard on the matter. Those people who have been contacted by The Record staff about the re-districting proposal have been in opposition to the question.

and her members we shall be forever grateful for they have been so very gracious to us. We doubt that we shall ever find a more pleasant congregation with which to work.

This coming week we shall be moving to Sanderson to begin our work with the church of Christ in that city. We shall be among the same kind of people that we have known and worked with here in Plains. We know that we shall enjoy our association with them. Jim Bozeman and Homer Tarkington tell that we shall have to learn to like GOAT MEAT. But we will not allow them to discourage us. We were shocked by the tragedy of last week, and it causes us to be a little more anxious to get there and to do the little that we shall be able to do.

We leave Plains with a feeling of regret. The years have been wonderful in experiences of joys and sorrows. But may we assure you that we shall be thinking of you, and that our sincere good wishes are yours. We rejoice with you in the good rains that have come to the community. We join with you in giving thanks to God. If and when you come to Sanderson be sure that you come to see us. Our home will be yours.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Laughing Heirs"

The letter bore grim tidings: old Uncle Harvey had passed away. But as George read it, not a flicker of sorrow crossed his countenance. On the contrary, his only reaction was a whoop of delight at the news that he was the sole heir to $20,000.

George was not heartless. But the fact of the matter was that he and Uncle Harvey—actually, just a distant relative—had always disliked each other intensely. They had not even been on speaking terms for years.

The only reason the $20,000 was coming to George was that he was technically, the next of kin. Since Uncle Harvey had never bothered to make a will, the law automatically gave his money to the next of kin. Are such ironies common? So common, alas, that lawyers have a special phrase to describe people like George: "laughing heirs."

Each year, property worth billions of dollars must necessarily change hands because of death. When there is no will, this wealth is transferred according to the rigid formulas of inheritance.

Although these formulas do try to be fair, all they can do as a practical matter is to follow the lines of kinship. What may have mattered most to the deceased—the ties of friendship, a sense of gratitude, the promptings of charity—cannot be weighed by a court after he is gone.

An added mockery is that the more remote the kinship, the more costly it may be to track down the heir and settle his rights. Some states have tried to foil the laughing heir by cutting off all claims beyond a certain degree of kinship. That may help in a particular case, but then again it may not. For even a relative who is close in terms of kinship may be undeserving in every other way.

The real answer is for the individual to express his wishes and his wisdom before he dies. If you don't like the thought of some ungrateful heir chucking over your demise, you can prevent it simply by exercising your will power—your power to make a will.

"To cure juvenile delinquency we would have to go back and change their grandfathers." . . . The above statement was an expression on the subject by ex-President Harry Truman. . . . Some of our older readers will remember that Mr. Truman had a way of getting under our skin. We lost our temper more over his escapades than any other political character. Funny thing, though, in later years we have come to agree with more and more of his ideas. We don't know whether it is because they seem better by comparison, or that age may have cured us both out a little. . . . Anyhow, the longer one ponders the above statement the more truth we can find it its meaning.

It is a good thing to have a good aim in life, but we have to back it up with the right ammunition.

A successful marriage is usually the result of a good understanding. The husband understands what his wife wants and does it.

When one knocks the L out of the wedding ceremony they may wind up with an "awful wedded husband."

We seldom get so mixed up in life that we cannot see the other fellow's duty.

Please be patient with those who chance to disagree with you. After all, no matter how unreasonable their ideas are they do have a right to express them.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

While there is probably no great credence to be attached to it, it is understood that there is some sentiment in Washington prevailing to pressure the Generalissimo of the War on Poverty to have his name changed legally.

As is well known, the head of the War on Poverty is Sargent Shriver, and his first name that confuses people, as the question arises, "How can a sergeant run a war?"

Rep. J. Arthur Younger of California recently pointed out that the Sargent has under his command in the Washington office of the bureau alone some 40 assistants who receive more than $18,000 a year. Congressman H. R. Gross and others have at various times pointed out that in setting up local branches of the bureau to prosecute the War on Poverty, the first thing done in any given city is to appoint an administrator at a salary of between $24,000 and $25,000 a year, with several assistants paid from $18,000 to $22,000.

To some it does not seem fitting that all of these high priced staff officers should be headed by anyone who can be called Sargent.

After all, a salary of $18,000 a year is somewhat less than that paid to a 4-star general or admiral, and is about 50% more than the base pay of the Marine Corps General who took the forces into Vietnam.

Thus the problem becomes

Just Thinking

Mary Faulkner Payne

CONROE, TEXAS—One week recently the Conroe Hospital made their payroll in $2.00 bills.

The reason for this unusual payroll procedure was to show the business impact of a $15,000, weekly payroll to their 135 employees that could be followed to some extent.

The bank president said regarding the bills: "We trust that employees will pay bills in cash rather than deposit the money in checking account. This way, merchants will get the full impression of the County Hospital as payer of wages and sustainer of local business enterprise."

Something like this from some business who had a large weekly payroll, might be tried in Lovington or even in Lea County. Might be an eye-opener and provide some statistics for improving free enterprise.

I've heard so many new medical terms and phrases recently and I'm beginning to understand more and more the jargon of medical men and women.

I don't try to use them much because I'm not sure of pronunciation and the applications and I might go into a situation such as happened to one of the associates in the Conroe Clinic, Dr. Brignac.

Dr. B. was a guest one evening in my son's home and told about a woman who has been a constant patient for some length of time and who attempts to talk 'doctor' language. She combines words and phrases and came up with this one day - stating that she had, 'Glaucoma of the knee.'

This same woman also said she had been to a 'Gynesiatriest.' To get this 'profession' she had combined Gynecologist and Psychiatrist, but Dr. Brignac could not imagine how she got the 'Glaucoma of the knee.'

I've talked lately about 'gobbledegooks' made by newspapers but last week the Conroe Courier came up with the prize winner of them all.

A local lady was given a 'surprise' bon voyage party and the reporter stated that "Mrs. . . . arrived 'insensibly' for a cup of coffee."

WHY BOTHER?
The boss was exasperated with his new secretary. She ignored the telephone when it rang. Finally he said, irritably: "You must answer the phone."

The secretary replied: "O.K., but it seems so silly. Nine times out of ten it's for you."

"A man never knows what he can do, until he tries to undo what he has done."

A report from Joe M. Montoya, our New Mexico Senator, on the anti-poverty program sounds to me as if some progress is being made.

The report was from the five Job Corps Camps. The one at Mountalnair opened on April 13 and has 31 boys but is programmed for 120, which figure will probably be reached about June 20th.

The Grants Center received its first 51 boys recently and will reach its planned capacity of 210 by June 30.

(Grants is also the training center for Job Corps staff members who will serve centers in the Southwest.)

Luna Camp, planned for 200 Corpsmen will have its first arrivals October 15th.

Mexican Springs, will have 200 boys and be filled by June 30th. Eight Canyon, will have construction started by June 21st. Boys will begin arriving there in September.

Many of us felt the Poverty Program was not making headway, however, this delay seemingly was due to the planning period. Now it is underway and I hope, as most of us do that the program will do the good work it is designed for.

I think I am tolerating the cobalt better and perhaps will be able to "Just Think," often. I have certainly had the time, but, have not had the inclination due to my systemic reaction to the radiation.

I ran across a little story from the Congressional Record, which points up the subtle humor, representatives often use to carry a point or to downgrade another representative's argument.

Representative H. R. Gross of Iowa was replying to Mr. Boggs of Louisiana and said: "We have just heard the gentleman from Louisiana, expound on the subject of gross national product. . . The gross national product is a statistic, and that is all it is. I can give you another statistic."

The human body is approximately 2 per cent skin. I suppose because it is 2 per cent skin the gentleman from Louisiana could be skinned and it would not hurt him too much."

Another statistic that has given me a great deal of amusement is this one: 100 men were sent deep into the woods to operate a lumber camp. Two women were sent with them to do the cooking.

Eventually two of the men married the two women and a statistician reported that: "Two per cent of the men married 100 of the women."

Then there is the story, which I respectfully call Duke Smith's attention to, of a young man pursuing his college education in one of the colleges in Houston.

He was known more widely for his athletic prowess than for his ability to grasp the fundamentals of a college education and had been transferred from one school to another.

A professor from the second school was ribbing a teacher from the first school about their respective requirements.

"We figured," he said, "that if you required the average student to make a grade of 75, it was only fair to pass Bill on a grade of 50. So we gave him a special examination. Since the average student is asked ten questions we decided it was fair to ask Bill two questions."

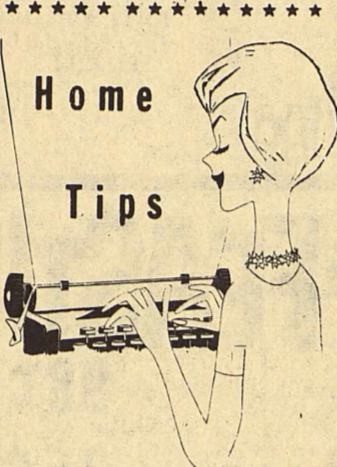

First I asked him what was the color of vitriol acid and he said 'pink' and that was wrong. Next I asked him if he knew how to make sulphuric acid and he said 'No, and that was right so I passed him."

AWAY THEY GO... MEMBERS OF THE 4 H CLUB PREPARE TO LEAVE FOR A WORKSHOP

By Mrs. Sudie M. Thompson

New all cotton stretch socks are now available.

It's difficult to keep an active, growing child outfitted in socks. The youngster either grows out of them while they are almost new, or he wears holes in the socks before he outgrows them.

There is a happy solution for this. The first all-cotton stretch socks are on the market. They are made to fit any size, and will wear three times longer than the regular styles, according to research tests.

These all-cotton stretch socks are knit from a new cotton stretch yarn, and are made by spinning the combed cotton around a tiny core of stretch fiber.

This exclusive spinning results in socks that combine the advantages of stretch with the comfort, coolness, and absorbency of cotton.

The new stretch cotton socks are available in styles for men, women, and children.

Homemakers who must deal with door-to-door salesmen and perhaps sign contracts for merchandise may regret having signed the document after the salesman has gone.

The terms of the agreement, or the product, may not seem so impressive when the homemaker or home owner makes comparisons with similar products and terms available locally.

In line with this "reviewing" of terms, a bill has been introduced into the California Legislature which would provide a seven-day "cooling off" period on contracts in excess of $25.00 signed with door-to-door salesmen. A similar protective law has been passed and is already in operation in England.

One of the telltale signs of a "high-pressure deal" is a salesman's insistence on obtaining a customer's signature on an installment contract. Many customers have found, too late, that the deal was not as represented, but they have had to pay, nevertheless.

Such a protective bill might be a great advantage to many in Texas. However, until such a bill does come into being, it would be well available for speaking engagements to clubs and organizations. He can be contacted at the Chamber of Commerce in Morton.

Yoakum County's lawmaker resigned his teaching position recently and stated that the Chamber work will afford the opportunity for him to be in closer contact with the people in his district.

Rep. George was also elected recently as a member of the State Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. His area includes Levelland, Littlefield, Morton, Muleshoe, Earth, Farwell, and Sudan. The state convention was in El Paso.

The State Representative stated that Brownfield will remain his legal residence.

There will be some 25 Constitutional Amendments submitted between September 1965 and November 1966 for approval or rejection by Texas voters.

Constitutional Amendments which will specifically apply to farm areas would provide that all land designated for agriculture use be assessed only as such. Passage in both houses was directed by easing the cost price squeeze which many Texas farmers faced. This was certainly a working session and in Governor Connally's eyes it was the most productive in Texas history.

Little League Slate

In Little League action the past week the Indians remained in first place despite the Giants bid to capture the lead. The Tribe battled the Yankees to a stand-off, but the last place Cubs defeated the Yankees and the Indians and then lost to the Giants to keep the Tribe out in front.

The Giants gained ground on the Indians in the past ten days, but the Tuesday night game was called due to weather and it was ruled no contest. The second game was played by the Indians and the Yankees, where the Red Skins scrambled from behind to settle for a tie.

The Cubs roared back showing surprise strength by winning two games, and tying another in their last four games. They had dropped their first five contests.

The Yankees stayed in the race showing strong pitching and field strength against their foes.

Pee Wee Baseball

Pee Wee Baseball has gotten underway in Plains with the organization and outfitting of two teams. The Cardinals have played the Dodgers twice since the season started, and the Red Birds took both games.

In the second game of the season the lead changed back and forth, but the Red Birds finally took the decision by one point, 7 - 6.

Fans in the community are asked to support the Pee Wee players at their games. The league was organized because boys who are under nine can not play Little League.

Census

Members of the teams who will take the census in Plains will meet at the Plains State Bank in Bill Loyd's office this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. to receive instructions and to pick up the forms for conducting the census.

Team members will actually start taking the census today. Questions which will be asked of residents of Plains will be the names of all dependents in the family, the religious preference of those interviewed, and if they rent or own their home.

The census is being conducted by the Chamber of Commerce and the Churches in Plains.

We want to extend our thanks and appreciation to all of the nice people who visited me, sent flowers, cards, and who have called since I have been sick. Your thoughts and actions were appreciated by Joe and me, and we will remember you in our thoughts and prayers.

FARM NOTES

YOAKUM COUNTY ASC
NEWS
BY W. M. OVERTON
OFFICE MANAGER

Due to the publicity given to skip row planting crops in the newspapers, on radio and television we at the ASC Office have had a number of inquiries in regard to changes made or to be made in the skip row planting. For 1965 the skip row regulations are the same as they were under the 1964 program, for example: two rows cotton and one skipped (normal rows) counts as two-thirds cotton; two rows cotton and two skipped counts one-half cotton and four rows cotton and four skipped counts as one-half cotton; etc. The above examples would apply for feed grains, however, the few farmers planting peanuts

Views From County Agent

By Leo White

should keep in mind that four normal rows must be skipped in peanuts to be counted out. For the skip rows or clean tilled land to be counted as diverted land the skip rows must be as many as four normal rows wide. And speaking of normal rows 40" rows are considered normal in this county. A pattern containing only one row of cotton and one row skipped counts more than one half cotton.

In regard to the 1966 year the skip row regulations have not been approved. We understand hearings have been held in regard to the program and the Department of Agriculture has had many recommendations to leave the program as is and they also have had many recommendations to change the method of counting the land occupied by a crop in a skip row pattern; therefore, this may not be settled for some time for the 1966 Crop.

Farmers that have signed up to participate in the 1965 Domestic Cotton Allotment Program to not plant more than their approved Domestic Cotton allotment may if they wish plant their larger allotment for harvest, but in doing so none of the cotton produced on the farm will be eligible for CCC loan and the 4.35¢ per lb on the approved yield times the planted for harvest acres will not be paid.

Some of the Midland Bermudagrass in the county is not doing the job that was expected of it. It isn't growing as well as it did last year or as well as some of the neighbors grass is growing this year. Usually the fault lies in either the plant food or the moisture. Perhaps the second most important factor in management of Midland Bermudagrass is supplying the proper amount of fertilizer and water in order to get the desired amount of grazing and get it at the most economical cost. The first most important management factor is rotation grazing and nobody has too many cross fences yet.

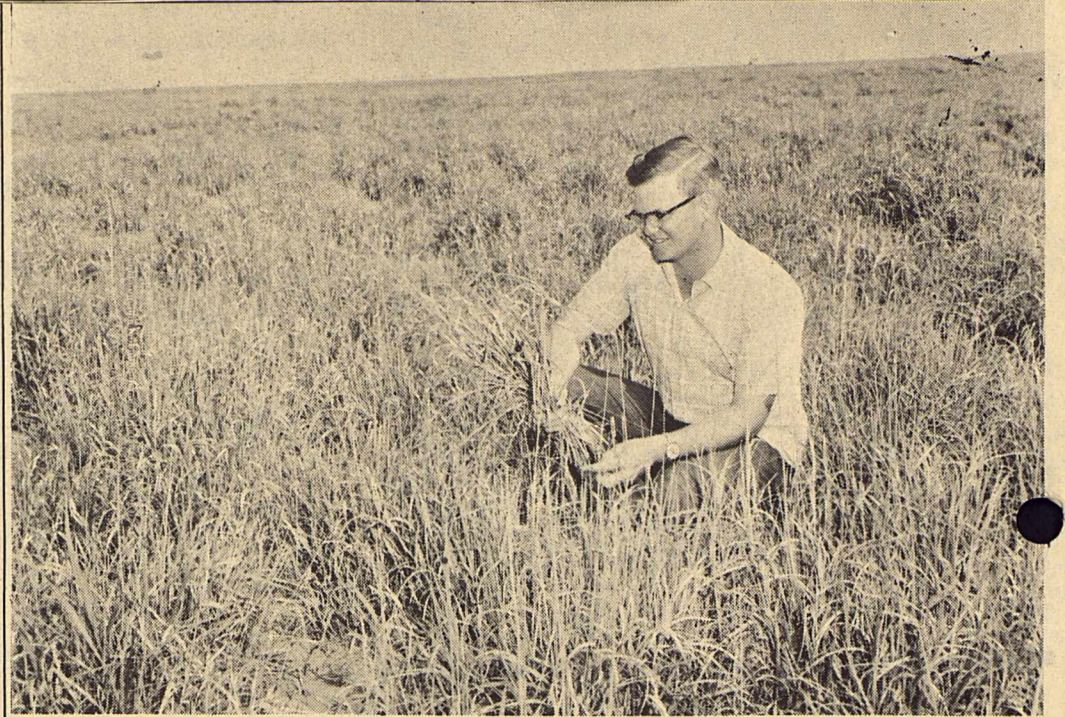

One way of stating the amount of grazing desired would be light, medium or heavy. Light grazing could be one to three animal units per acre, medium grazing might be three or four animal units per acre and heavy grazing would be five or more. The initial cost of the livestock would probably be the determining factor of how many animal units would be put to the acre of grass. When all the factors are weighed, it is likely that heavy grazing under a good rotation plan and some supplemental feeding is the most profitable route. The reason being that water use does not increase at the same rate that fertilizer needs increase when you change from light grazing to medium grazing or on up to heavy grazing.

Forty inches of irrigation water in addition to the normal rainfall should be sufficient for a year of medium grazing. Decrease that amount by ten inches for light grazing and increase it by ten inches for heavy grazing. If seventeen inches is the normal rainfall, then thirty inches of irrigation water would be enough for two head per acre. Forty inches would be required if you run four head per acre and fifty inches would run six head per acre.

The fertilizer should be split into about five applications for best results. The first application should be 1-2-0 mixture or 1-1-0 mixture and the remaining four applications should be a 1-0-0. For light grazing the total fertilizer for the year should be in the neighborhood of 100-60-0. For medium grazing the total should go on up to 140-70-0. For heavy grazing additional fertilizer should be added to make a total of 250-100-0. This is an enormous amount of commercial fertilizer in comparison to the recommendations for other crops. To get this recommended amount of plant food in the soil a farmer could use 500 pounds of 16-20-0 and 530 pounds of 33-0-0, making a total of 1,030 pounds of fertilizer to the acre.

High amounts of fertilizer will increase the possibility of nitrate poisoning the livestock. It will also cause other soil deficiencies to show up. Some potash and iron might be badly needed when high fertilizer rates are applied. Then the economics of the practice enters into the picture. Under good management the land produces higher returns per acre from the heavier grazing than from the lighter grazing. The returns due to management and labor account for only about half of the total returns per acre. The other half is returns from capital investment which can almost get out of hand for the average farmer.

This Switch grass was planted in 1959 on the Ray C. Walls farm North East of Denver City as a cover for Conservation Reserve Land.

YOAKUM S. C. D. NEWS
BY C. MURRELL THOMPSON

This week following the good rain of last week has been a busy time for Soil Conservation District Cooperators, Grass planting and the preparation of land to plant a cover crop of cane, sudan, millet or forage sorghum on diverted acres or (dead) land that has no allotted acres, is underway. The A. S. C. S. office is encouraging landowners and operators to plant cover crops on diverted acres by making a partial payment on the seed and planting. Plan now to plant soon to protect next spring.

Much interest in pasture planting is again evident. Weeping Love, Switch and Bermuda grass are the main grasses being planted. There are several good examples of all these grasses being grown and properly grazed in our area. D. V. Phipps East of Denver City has a very good field of Switch, so does C. A. Stewart west of Plains. Love grass on

Bill Gray, Phill Williams, and A. O. Williams has really been a life saver during the current drought. Bermuda grass is making good growth and cattle are doing well where the grass is 5 to 8 inches high. We have been constantly encouraging those who have irrigated pasture to keep the grass tall so more leaf surface will be available to grow more grass and make better use of soil, moisture and plant food that is available.

New S. C. D. cooperators are Mrs. R. C. Mowrey, Roy Perkins operator, Vernon Towns, R. J. VanLiew, O. V. Maiben, A. G. Brantley operator and A. G. Brantley's farm East of Plains.

Two appointments by your Board were made for leaders for Farm-City Week coming up this fall. It is hoped that some tours can be planned and carried out so that local business men and other friends of conservation work can see good conservation work on the land.
