SMITTY USES NEW BACKHOE TO DIG DITCH IN BACK OF ALMA'S CAFE FOR THE NEW WATER PIPES.

City Buys New Backhoe

Bob Long, City Secretary, stated that work began Monday with the City's new backhoe, digging a ditch for two inch pipe line, to replace the old 3/4 line in the area south of the highway and behind Alma's cafe. About 230 feet of the new pipe will replace the old.

The city recently purchased a backhoe at the cost of about $2,100.00. The machine is capable of digging about 100 feet per hour. Long said that the new equipment belonging to the city will save labor costs on similar jobs and will pay for itself in a short time.

The City Secretary stated that additional help for the city which is usually required on jobs like the one in process will not be needed. He stated that many man hours will be saved in using the new equipment.

The Record photographer obtained a picture of the backhoe in operation while the ditch was being dug. Prior to obtaining the new equipment for excavating, the ditches were dug by physical labor. Because of the machine's ability to dig so quickly, it was added to the inventory of the city. Long further stated that the backhoe would save enough man hours, which would have been needed in this project, to help to pay for the machine.

Long also said that the city will continue to save money in the future which would go to labor on like jobs.

Plans in the future call for the city to lay a big quantity of pipe, and the backhoe will be used to full advantage, Long said.

the post that night. He is the present Assistant Department Sgt. at Arms.

Other guests included Hank Naramore, Slaton and Pat Cayce, Austin.

Commander Duke stated that his appointments would be made by the regular meeting night. These include Child Welfare Chairman, Americanism Chairman, and the post historian.

The American Legion will start their new membership drive in Plains immediately. Several new members were signed at the Legion party last week.

The new Commander also stated that he would announce the projects of his program for the coming Legion year at the next regular meeting.

School Changes Made

ODUS WALSER IS PICTURED IN HIS OFFICE AT THE PLAINS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL. MR. WALSER HAS RESIGNED AND WILL MOVE TO FARWELL TO TEACH SCHOOL.

Odus Walser, Principal of Plains Junior High School submitted his resignation to the Board of Education this week and it was acted on Monday night. The Plains educator had been with the local school system for seven years. Mrs. Walser also submitted her resignation as fourth grade teacher.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Walser were graduates of Plains High School. Both were active in civic work in Plains and were active members of their church.

It was reported that the Walsers will move to Farwell, where he has accepted a position with the school.

G. D. Kennedy, Superintendent of Schools, stated that the position of Junior High Principal will not be filled, and that the first six grades would be placed under the direction of Roger Harvey, Elementary Principal. The other grades will be placed under the supervision of D. N. Taylor, High School Principal.

Mr. Kennedy pointed out that many schools operate on the 6-6 plan, and that an example is the Sundown system. Kennedy further stated that this is an economy move which will save about $3500.00 annually. Both Taylor and Harvey will have full time secretaries to assist them in their added responsibilities, said the Superintendent of Schools.

In other actions taken by the Board of Education, Mrs. Leon Lewis was employed to teach the fourth grade, and Donald B. Stevens was hired to fill the vacancy in Vocational Agriculture. Stevens is married to the former Shelia Smith of Plains.

Mr. Kennedy said that in the 6-6 plan that some advantages which can be realized are that music and athletic programs will be under the same principal. He also said that the library program could benefit from the change.

MRS. ODUS WALSER

Editorial

Mr. and Mrs. Odus Walser will be missed in our community when they move to Farwell. We of The Record wish them the very best of luck in their association with the school system there.

The Walser family has been a credit to our town, and their church and civic clubs will look a long time before finding people who can fill their shoes.

Odus is what we refer to as a good American. He is a quite man who speaks with actions instead of words. He was a credit to us in the school system. We appreciate him for this. His wife was an excellent classroom teacher who will also be missed.

When the time came to defend his country, Odus Walser went to war to keep America free. He was severely wounded in World War Two, and was highly decorated, being a purple heart and silver star veteran.

When he was called upon to serve his community on the City Council, Odus Walser rose to the occasion. His chair will be hard to replace there. In all, these are the type of people that we should be proud to have in our community, and we do not want to see them move, but the city of Plain's loss will be Farwell's gain.

Come to see us often when you leave, because Plains will always have a warm place in its heart for the Walsers.

Crazy Trailer Runs Hog Wild

Sunday afternoon was an almost perfect sunny summer day, and residents lounged in their air conditioned homes, and spent a typical Sunday afternoon in small town fashion. Things of an exciting nature seldom are found in a town like Plains by a person from a city like San Angelo. But it all happened here in Plains last Sunday.

A lady (we won't call her by name) sat in Alma's cafe and had just taken a bite from a hamburger, and no doubt chewed her food thinking how nice and peaceful our little town is and what a relief it was to get out of the heat and take a rest stop on the trip when it happened as quick as a cat could blink its eye.

A truck loaded with alfalfa lost its trailer on the highway and the trailer went on a rampage which took it straight into the side of Alma's Restaurant, knocking a big hole into the side of the block building where the lady sat in the booth eating her hamburger.

It must have been a severe jolt and the lady lost hamburger and all the trimmings in the maze of trailer, hay, and smash.

All hands in the restaurant rushed to the lady, and reasoned that she must surely be a corpse, because her face was covered in blood and the booth was a mess from the sudden blow.

To their surprise, the blood turned out to be catsup, and the lucky lady was just shaken up and afraid. She almost was in a state of shock, but didn't even sustain a scratch.

One thing remains almost a certainty, and that is the fact that the city is dull compared to an exciting adventure for that lady in this small West Texas town, and we will give odds that she got out of Plains quicker than she drove into town.

Boy Saves Dad's Life

Ricky Van Liew, ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Van Liew, probably saved his father's life last Friday by pushing in the clutch of a tractor while his father fought to free himself after getting his pants leg caught in the shaft on the planter which the tractor was pulling.

Van Liew struggled to release himself, but he said the machine kept pulling him into it.

He said that he was holding on to an iron bar and trying to brace himself, and at the last possible moment his son reached the clutch which released Van Liew. Just as the clutch was reached by Ricky, the iron bar broke that Van Liew was holding.

The accident occurred at the Van Liew farm about four miles west and five miles north of Plains.

Special

Rev. Johnnie Moore announced just before press time that he has accepted the position of pastor of the First Christian Church in Slaton, Texas. Rev. Moore will move his family to Slaton early in August. The Moores are the former publishers of The Plains Record. The local pastor has resigned his post with the First Christian Church here effective August 1st.

Census Nears End

The census for the City of Plains got underway last week with a kickoff meeting at the Plains State Bank. Bill Loyd, census chairman distributed the forms for the workers after explaining the process of taking the census and dividing the areas into zones.

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the census, and the Churches and Organizations in the city are helping to conduct the count. The Churches of Plains which were represented are The First Baptist Church, Assembly of God, Hillside Church of Christ, First Christian, First Methodist, and the Catholic Church.

A religious census will be conducted with the nose count of people in Plains.

The census will be completed this week. The city was divided into seven zones and teams from the Churches and organizations were assigned to take the count in those areas.

Bill Loyd said that final tabulations should be complete by press time next week. Speculation has been great that the city's population has increased since the U. S. Census conducted in 1960.

Queen Race

Each week until the Rodeo, The Record will carry a story about the Queen contestants.

This week we want to introduce Miss Suzahn St. Romain, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. St. Romain.

Suzahn is sponsored by the Roping Club of Plains. When asked why she wanted to be Queen of the Rodeo, she said that it was an honor to be nominated and that she felt that she should try her best to win for the organization which she represents.

Her hobbies are horseback riding and playing records.

Miss Romain is a twirler in the band and has served on the student council. She is 15 years old and is a sophomore in the Plains High School.

Other interests are going to movies and sports. She is a member of the State Champion Volleyball Team. Miss Romain is also active in her Church.

SUZAHN ST. ROMAİN, QUEEN CONTESTANT, FOR THE RIDING CLUB.

Stolen Car Found Here

Don Rogers, Yoakum County Deputy Sheriff, recovered a stolen car in Plains this week before it was reported missing in Odessa. The car is the property of an oil company there.

The Yoakum County Law man answered a call from E. O. Winkles, local businessman, when Winkles found the car parked in back of his truck behind E. O. Winkles Grain and Fertilizer Company in downtown Plains.

The police officer made a check on the car and called the owner to see if the car was missing. It turned out that the car had been stolen in Odessa, and that the owner was unaware that the auto had been taken.

A spokesman from the sheriff's office said that no cars were reported stolen in Plains. It was first believed that the car thief had taken a car here in Plains after ditching the stolen auto.

Child Critical

Chris Bowers, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bowers of the Pleasant Hill Community is in critical condition in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, after receiving injuries to his head when a horse drug him about 100 feet last week-end.

The Bowers child was thrown from a horse that he was riding when a rope which was tied to a fence post and to the horse broke. The boy caught a spur in the rope and the horse pulled him the long distance, dragging him on the ground.

The child was flown to Lubbock where he received emergency surgery.

Mr. Bowers is an employee of Ross Irrigation in Plains. The child was still in critical condition at press time.

CAYCE'S CORNER

This week the editor of The Record was talking to one of his advertising customers, and the local businessman told Cayce that the Shop At Home ad in the paper is to his liking. The two began to relate to each other the importance of stressing to the public just how important it is to trade in Plains. The following points were brought out in the conversation:

When money goes out of town, it is gone for good, but economists state that the dollar circulates at least four times in the community where it is spent.

We have a pretty good pay roll in our town, considering the fact that state, county, and school employees draw good pay roll checks, and when this money is spent in Plains, it creates new jobs for other people. Our city can not give us the things which are required to meet our needs, such as garbage and trash pick ups, new pipe lines, a good sewer system, and police and fire protection, without money to operate on.

Our town should not remain static, because if it does, it will surely die. It must continue to grow and prosper if it is to stay alive. This can be accomplished if the residents in Plains will spend their dollars at home.

It is a secure feeling to know that we can go to the grocery store in Plains and get nearly any item which is sold in a super market in Los Angeles, or to go to the local department stores or ready to wear stores and buy the same brands which are advertised in Lady's Home Journal, or New Yorker magazines. It is also good to know that our hardware and appliance dealers can supply our needs. Our drug store is modern in every respect. Our gas, feed and farm supply stores, and grain elevators are among the best. Our cotton delinters and fertilizer agents are equally good. Tires, batteries, and accessories are available here. These things and many more are sold by the advertisers in The Plains Record at competitive prices with the biggest stores in the Services of many kinds can be obtained here. We have good beauty shops, a skilled barber, a licensed plumber, carpenters, blacksmiths, fix-it men, and attorneys. These people all support their newspaper with advertising which they hope will be read. These businesses are essential if we are to have a growing town. Support the town which you have elected to live in, by spending your dollars where they will do the most good. Bank and shop in Plains, and you won't regret it!

Bernard Baruch is dead! America is the poorer because of it.

Mr. Baruch was not only one of the greatest financial experts of our age, but was an institution himself. The advisor to seven presidents was an example of the free enterprise system. He started at three dollars a week and made millions through shrewd investments. Baruch was one of the most highly regarded men of the 20th century, ranking with presidents and other famous people of our heritage.

At the age of 94, Mr. Baruch died Sunday night. The announcement was made by former Secretary of State and South Carolina Governor James F. Byrnes, who stayed with the old gentleman until the end came.

Mr. Baruch was the greatest park bench philosopher of our age and will be missed by people throughout the world.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor
Plains Record

Hale Center's debt of gratitude can never be repaid. This was the conclusion of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Board as they surveyed the list of those who came to our aid following the June 2 tornado disaster.

To the extent possible a register was maintained of the hundreds of cities, communities, business concerns, organizations and individuals that gave so much and worked so hard during those horrible days of havoc and ruin. By their many contributions of sharing what they possessed, giving many contributions of rendering their many services, our burdens and sorrow and suffering was made much lighter.

The Chamber of Commerce speaks for Hale Center in expressing to all our friends and neighbors, wherever they may live, our most sincere and deep appreciation and thanks. In spite of the tragic and sorrowful results it is extremely rewarding and gratifying to know that the concern of our fellowman is the spirit by which we live.

Although the list of those who helped us is numbered in the hundreds, it is by no means complete. We regret our inability to say a personal "thank you" to each community, organization, business and individual. But may we, by this method, let you know how we the people of Hale Center appreciate all that has been done.

May we also express our regrets that hundreds of you came in person, only to be turned back at points of entrance to the city. We sincerely

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lawyers in Petticoats

Chief Justice Ryan, of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, could hardly have been more scandalized. Think of it! A young woman—unmarried, at that—wanted a license to practice the ancient masculine profession of law. He rejected her application in no uncertain terms: "It would be revolting to all female sense of the innocence and sanctity of their sex, shocking to man's reverence for womanhood, that women should be permitted to mix professionally in all the nastiness of the world which finds its way into courts of justice."

But the year was 1875, and the tide of feminism was starting to rise. Four years later, the same Wisconsin court (with Chief Jus-ice Ryan still protesting) finally did accept the young woman as a lawyer.

By 1920, women were practicing law in every state in the land. Today, more than 7,000 are licensed to practice and many of them sit on the bench as judges. It was cause for only mild surprise that the judge who swore in Lyndon Johnson as president, 99 minutes after President Kennedy's death, was a woman.

True, women still play a relatively minor role in the legal profession. Many large offices flatly refuse to hire female attorneys. No doubt some of this hostility reflects the view expressed 2400 years ago by Euripedes, that "a woman should be good for everything at home, but abroad good for nothing."

But men also argue that women don't stick to law, that they are too emotional, that they make clients uneasy, and even that they can't keep secrets.

Women reply that, if they do frequently quit practicing law, it is because of the hardships imposed by male prejudice. They point to impressive academic achievements, and contend that feminine qualities enrich, rather than obstruct, the administration of justice.

On the merits of these arguments, this column takes no position. As a practical matter, women have found their greatest opportunities in certain areas of law: domestic relations, legal aid, research, insurance, taxes and estates, government. Some have even won fame (Chief Justice Ryan would shudder) in the field of criminal law.

And on one point, at least, there can be no dispute. In the law's traditional symbol, the scales of justice are held aloft by a woman.

Through the efficient and untiring efforts of the Department of Public Safety, the State Highway Department, County and Local Commissions, County and Local Law Enforcement Agencies and Military organizations from throughout the area, looting and other depredations within our town was held to a very minimum. The best things in life are still free—unless you prefer them sliced, bottled, cellophane wrapped or delivered to you on an easy payment plan.

Always when we are around our hospitals and observe the nurses as they so quietly go about their work, be it pleasant or otherwise, we are reminded of one sentence in the Florence Nightingale Pledge which they adhere to. It goes: "To pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous and will not knowingly take or administer any harmful drug." Anyhow, it would be a tragic day both for the patients and the good doctors if it were not for the wonderful nurses.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

As every mother of young children knows, the ubiquitous bubble gum does present some problems. This is especially true when the automatic washer becomes all gummed up due to failure to find a wad of the stuff in a pocket.

However, there is no known record of any mother making a Federal case of bubble gum. Probably the failure to do so has been a realization by mother that eventually the youngster will mature beyond the bubble gum stage.

But now there is a grave question arising if this maturity will actually work in this direction if junior should happen to make a career on the Federal Trade Commission.

Recently the august FTC concluded a long study of bubble gum which was undoubtedly most expensive to the taxpayers. The issue was whether one bubble gum manufacturer, having an exclusive contract so that only it could provide pictures of baseball stars with their product, was not in violation of the antitrust laws.

This question became one of major import, and required hours and hours of study by the staff of attorneys, gathering of evidence by staff investigators, although it is plausibly hoped that it was not deemed necessary for the FTC to sit around for hours chewing the stuff, as it were. The stuff is difficult on false dentures.

However, bubble gum was spared the limelight of a full scale Federal case when it was finally determined that other bubble gum manufacturers were able to offer pictures of other juvenile attractions apart from the baseball diamond, and with great solemnity and proper protocol, the FTC closed their files.

Now it is perhaps comforting to realize that even bubble gum does not escape the scrutiny of the United States government. This fact should make everyone proud to pay taxes.

But on the other hand, there can be a question raised as to whether or not this sort of thing is the best possible usage of FTC time and talent.

At the present time, when mergers are creating monopolies, when independent business firms are being severely damaged, if not ruined, by failure to enforce the Robinson-Patman Act, there is question whether bubble gum should take precedence over these far more important matters.

Now of course, it is delightful and a most human touch to realize that the huge FTC complex could take the time to ascertain whether or not junior is being unduly influenced in his choice of a brand of bubble gum. Perhaps it can be asserted by the FTC that as bubble gum goes, so goes the destiny of a nation. On the other hand, this could be a rather sticky point of view to get across. Thus, it is to be hoped with this great matter out of the way, nothing else will come along to gum up the FTC actions in really vital areas do require its attention.

EDITORIALS

We read an open letter in The Denver City Press concerning the encouragement of citizens to contact their congressional delegation and the President to oppose legislation for medicare.

The open letter charged that if passed the legislation would be the beginning of socialized medicine in our country.

The Plains Record opposes medicare on its basic concept. We do not want socialism to come into our society anymore than it already has. In fact, we could name scores of other government programs which we believe should be junked in an about face with a return to the free enterprise system.

However, the medical profession should take a good look at itself, and rebuild its organization before in desperation the country turns to something like unto medicare, which in our opinion would be a drastic error.

The Medical profession is one which is pricing itself into a controlled profession. Small towns can not even get a medical doctor to practice in them. Not even if expensive clinics are available to them at almost no cost. County and city hospitals are at the disposal of the M. D.'s and they no longer must build their own hospitals. The overhead of many doctors is lower than it has been in years, but their prices are higher.

The A. M. A. is one of the most powerful organizations in the Nation, and can amass the funds which are required to fight legislation unfavorable to them. For this we are glad, because a lobby that powerful can do much good. The A. M. A. has contributed greatly to our society, through their encouragement of research and their steadfast battle to meet the challenges of our nation's emergencies. Many of our doctors are truly dedicated to their professions. However the physicians have not met the challenge in problems where medicare arose from. Perhaps the A. M. A. will encourage its members to give adequate care to the aged regardless of ability to pay. Perhaps our physicians will once again give humane service to rural America.

The good old Country Doctor is a legend in American History, but he is about as extinct as the Civil War Veteran.

Socialized medicine is not the answer to these problems. Devotion to the Profession and Christian Charity could go a long way to meet the needs described.

Plains is like many other small towns in America. Our need for a doctor is great, our facilities are excellent, our people could support a physician with handsome financial returns. But the brass tack facts remain the same, we have been unable to get a doctor in Plains.

The members of the County Commission have worked hard to get us a doctor. The Chamber of Commerce has made many efforts to bring a physician to our city. The situation remains, unless a physician wants to settle in rural America, he can not be compelled to sit up practice in a small town.

What shall we have to eat? This question faces the homemaker 365 days each year. She must plan, prepare, and serve approximately 1095 meals. This alone poses a big job. It becomes more complicated when the homemaker recognizes the food needs of each family member - the family may consist of adults, teen agers, young children and perhaps grandparents. Food is the most urgent need for life and the most important influence on health. We will think first of the food needs for the young child in the family. The health of children starts before they are born. A child's health grows from day to day care. They need food to make them grow, keep their bodies in good running order and to give them energy for play and work. No single food will do all this. If children get everything they need from food they must eat many kinds. Servings from each of the four food groups are essential. The Food For Fitness Guide, which can be obtained from the County Extension office will give the kinds of food and amounts that should be eaten daily.

Good eating habits should be established early. They copy adults and usually like what they like. Parents should not urge or fuss if the child refuses to eat. Try serving it later along with something they like. Offer new foods only when the child is hungry and not cross or tired.

Mrs. Charles I. Buck

Chisholm Weds Buck

Miss Marjorie Frances Chisholm and Charles Irvin Buck, exchanged vows at 6:00 p. m., Friday at the Hillside Church of Christ, Pasadena, Texas, minister of the Central Church of Christ, Pasadena, Texas, performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chisholm of Plains, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Buck, Barberton, Ohio.

Odus Walser was accompanied by a vocal chorus as he sang "I Love You, Truly" and "Whither Thou Goest." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal taffeta, designed with scooped neckline, outlined with scallops and long sleeves that tapered to petal points over the hands. Accents of reembroidered alencon lace were featured on the molded bodice. A bouffant skirt was complemented by an obi and panels that formed a chapel train.

A fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a small crown. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and white carnations. Mrs. Jimmy Roberts of Iowa Park was Matron of Honor, Maid of Honor was Mary Lou Harrell of Cleburne and Bridesmaid was Kathleen Phillips of Idalov. The three wore street length dresses of raspberry colored slipper satin. The dresses were designed with fitted bodices featuring rounded necklines and cap sleeves, emphasized with bell skirts. Each wore a chiffon hat the same color as their dresses, with chin veils. Each carried one long stem white rose.

Johnny Chisholm of Pasadena, Texas, brother of the bride, was best man. Ronnie Wilson of Lubbock and Ken O'Neal of Lubbock were groomsmen. Ushers were Claude Chisholm of Plains, brother of the bride and David Buck of Barberton, Ohio, brother of the groom.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Club Room where parents of the couple assisted in receiving guests. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Buck left for a wedding trip to Ohio. For traveling Mrs. Buck wore a tweed linen suit of lime green and white with white accessories and a white rose corsage. Mrs. Buck is a graduate of Brownfield High School and of Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas. She will be teaching school near Searcy next year.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Coventry High School, Barberton, Ohio and is a senior at Harding College. They will be making their home in Barberton, Ohio, for the summer and in Searcy, Arkansas in the fall.

Visiting with Mr. & Mrs. H. W. Culwell this past week were Mr. & Mrs. Durward Harvey and daughters of Houston. Mr. & Mrs. H. W. Culwell also visited his parents, Mr. & Mrs. C. W. Culwell of Avoca, Texas recently.

Farmers Re-Plant

Farmers scurried to the fields making last ditch efforts to complete planting their crops before it is too late in the season.

After the heavy rains which fell throughout the county last week, most of the farmers hurried to the fields to re-seed their land. Most of the fields had been heavily damaged by the wind which struck two days before the rains came.

Most of the cotton in the area had to be re-planted after the dusts hit with heavy force.

Most farmers say that it will be too late to plant cotton after next week, and they have attempted to beat the battle of the clock.

The recent rain brought more moisture to the County than had been recorded in the

By Leo White

Midland Bermudagrass will produce as much as 10 tons of air dry hay during one growing season if it is properly fertilized and watered. A 10 ton yield removes from the soil about 300 pounds of nitrogen, 100 pounds of phosphorus and 300 pounds of potassium. It also requires about 50 inches moisture to produce this amount of hay, so in Yoakum County, 30 to 40 inches of this moisture would have to be irrigation water.

Producing Midland Bermudagrass at a profit or a loss is usually determined by the management practices used. Many things can go wrong and cause the irrigated grass business to become unprofitable. Over grazing and under grazing are the two things most likely to give trouble. One can be just as disastrous as the other. Under grazing is a waste of grass, fertilizer and water. The grass is not eaten when it is in its most nutritious stage and, as a result, it becomes tough and stemmy. The producer is likely to leave the livestock on the same plot for too long a period when under grazing is the problem. This creates an excessive accumulation of droppings and adds more problems to those already present. Under grazing sometimes causes the producer to omit one fertilizer application of irrigation water which causes a slowing of the regular growth pattern of the grass. Stunted grass is like a stunted pig. It takes a long time to recover from a run down condition. To prevent under grazing the producer should put in more cross fences and concentrate the animals on only a portion of the grass and utilize the ungrazed portion for hay production.

Over grazing is rather easy to see. Grass that is constantly grazed short and never allowed to reach a state of lushness is over grazed. The big question which has to be answered to how tall is tall enough and how short is too short. Some pasture specialists have recommended a five day grazing period and a 25 day rest. This would require six plots in the rotation grazing system. Others have said to graze it off in one day and rest it for 16. This would require 16 plots and might be called strip grazing rather than rotation grazing. The fact remains that the grass needs some top growth at various times during the growing season in order to keep a healthy root system under the plants. To correct over grazing the producer again needs additional cross fences and supplemental feed.

Supplemental feeding of livestock on Midland Bermudagrass pasture will do more than correct over grazing. It provides some variety in the diet of the animals and, if the feed is a dry feed, it will aid in the digestion of the grass. A fast growing grass will be highly succulent and may tend to cause some scouring so cottonseed hulls or sorghum hay would make a good supplemental feed. Sorghum Silage would be one of the feeds that would not make a good companion feed with Midland Bermudagrass because it is also highly succulent. Cottonseed meal, cottonseed cake or high quality alfalfa hay would not be a desirable feed to go along with Midland Bermuda grass.

These feeds are high in protein and Midland Bermudagrass is high in protein so the animals would have an unbalanced diet. The young under grass is very high in protein but the protein content goes down as the grass gets older and taller. When it reaches a height suitable for harvesting for hay, it is very low in protein. This makes Midland Bermudagrass hay an excellent feed for supplementing the ration of livestock on heavily grazed pasture.

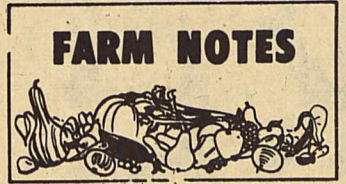

Then there is the growth pattern to consider. Midland Bermudagrass grows fastest during the early part of the grazing season and during the latter part of the season but may not be necessary all during the period of fast growth.

It may not be possible to produce a ton of beef from an acre of grass during one growing season by straight grazing and no other feed except salt and minerals. It is possible, by using all the good management practices, to make an acre of Midland Bermudagrass pay off a net return higher than that received from an acre of irrigated cotton.

The above picture shows Jimmie Cox West of Plains in a field where mulching and crop residue management saved two inches of moisture and a stand of castor beans, when bare ground had to be planted as many as three times this year.

FARM NOTES

YOAKUM COUNTY ASC
NEWS
BY W. M. OVERTON
OFFICE MANAGER

There have been a number of recent changes concerning the off setting - compliance requirements of the Feed Grain Program. Everyone should pay particular attention to these requirements and make certain that you are aware of your responsibility concerning off-setting-compliance. The requirements are as follows:

The acreage of feed grains must not, except under substitution provisions, exceed the total feed grain base on any other farm in which the producer has an interest in the feed grains produced in the current year.

The following guides will be used to determine a producer's interest in or responsibility for excess feed grain acreage on a non-complying farm.

1. Landowner or Landlord. Cannot by leasing or renting part or all of the farm, escape responsibility for the total feed grain base being exceeded. If a landowner or landlord wishes to participate in the program he should make certain the rental agreement on a non-participating farm prohibits feed grains in excess of the base.

2. Husbands and Wives. Shall be considered as having a joint interest in land or crops in which either party has an ownership interest unless all of the following conditions are met:

- a. They do not share in the same household.
- b. Managerial control of the non-complying farm by either husband or wife is in no way shared by the spouse.
- c. There have been no changes in the operations or or managerial control of the non-complying farm which would tend to negate the off-setting-compliance provision for either spouse.

3. Partnership. Each member is considered a producer, sharing managerial control of the partnership operations. If the partnership violates the off-setting-compliance requirement, none of the members can earn a feed grain payment on any farm. If a member violates the off-setting-compliance requirement, the partnership can earn no feed grain payment on any farm.

4. Corporations. A person who has a controlling interest (more than 50 percent) in the corporation shall be considered to have managerial control. In applying this rule, a corporation can earn no payment if two or more persons who individually violate the off-setting-compliance provision have a combined controlling interest. Likewise, two or more persons who each are participating in the program on other farms can earn no payment if they have a combined interest in a corporation which violates the off-setting-compliance provision.

5. Minor Children. Ownership interests of minor children in land or crops shall be attributed to the parent, guardian or other person legally responsible for the minor.

6. Estates or Trusts. A person with majority interest (more than 50 percent) as heir of an estate or as beneficiary of a trust shall be considered to have managerial control. In applying this rule, an estate or trust can earn no payment if two or more persons who individually violate the off-setting-compliance provision have a combined majority interest. Likewise, two or more persons who each are participating in the program on other farms can earn no payment if (cont. on page #4)

YOAKUM S. C. D. NEWS
BY C. MURRELL THOMPSON

Grass planting and new conservation plans are the major jobs being carried out just now. Tommy Holeyfield of Denver City, E. H. Frith, North West of Denver City, and Truitt Jones, Martin Banting, Roy McGhee, Rollin McCord, Thomas Bearden, Jerome Head, and W. C. Putman of Plains are planting grass or have just completed planting. Much interest is being shown in Switch grass and love grass and these two grasses are being planted more than any other this year. Switch grass is a tall grass and will need to be grazed at a much higher level 8 to 10 inches than Bermuda grass. The root depth is in direct proportion to the top growth that is tall. Tall growth means deep roots and short growth means shallow. Some new conservation plans are Wendell Norman, Johnnie Layton, Clarence Hester, Alton Billings and Tommy Billing. When new district plans are worked out with landowners and operators and there is a cooperative agreement between the local Soil Conservation District and the operator, where by the operator plans to carry out a complete conservation program with technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service you have good soil conservation.
