Business Learns Shoplifting

Lubbock Officer Presents Video, Discussion On Theft

Last Tuesday night, some 20 or so people, representing five or six local businesses were at a Shoplifting Seminar conducted by the Muleshoe Police Department and the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

For nearly two hours, the training room at the City Police Department became a training room for store owners, managers and employees, as they learned more about combatting an ever-growing plague -- called Shoplifting.

A 21-year veteran of the Lubbock Police Department, Sgt. Floyd Price, who serves on the Crime Prevention Unit, presented the first part of the seminar.

"Let's call it by a nasty, filthy name," said Sgt. Price, "despite what you call it -- it's theft."

He said crime is on the increase, and in combatting crime, "togetherness is what it's all about."

According to the Lubbock police officer, such people as shoplifters usually run in groups -- and are out to steal you out of house and home. "We can't

Youth Baseball Sets First Meet For Tuesday

Dr. Jerry Redwine says the Muleshoe Youth Baseball organization will meet at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 31, at the Summit Savings Association meeting room.

This meeting is to elect officers and make plans for the upcoming baseball season for T-Ball, Mustang, Bronco and Junior Babe Ruth.

Dr. Redwine said the league is in urgent need of parents willing to serve as officers and directors.

"For teams to begin practice by May 1, there must be a full slate of officers, directors and coaches in order to have an organization that can meet the needs of our youth," reminded Dr. Redwine. "Experience is not needed, just a willingness to help."

The Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe ISD met in Special session on Thursday, March 24, to consider personnel matters.

Following an executive session, the following resignations were accepted:

Beulah Mimms and Mary Mardis, both retiring; and Jane Raines and Jeff Price, both seeking new opportunities.

In other personnel action, the Trustees approved administrative salaries for the 1987-88 school year.

PART III
Muleshoe I.S.D. in 1990
"A Scenario"

In 1990 Muleshoe I.S.D. will be recognized as one of the outstanding school districts in the nation. A unique and very interesting observation is that the buildings look much the same as they did in 1987, the staff has not changed dramatically, and the school budget is at about the same level. The difference in the school district seems to have a lot to do with the attitude of the teachers, parents, and yes, the students. The parents and teachers have "ganged-up" up on the students and created a school district in which students can not fail. The failure rate in the district is almost nil and the success rate is extremely high. The academic performance is so high the school district has recently received national recognition. The student population is still much the same as it was in 1987---51% hispanic, 46% caucasian, 2% black, 1% other; 42% of the student population is classified in the lower economic range as measured by the federal government; and many of the students come from farm families; however, the statistical background of the student population has not impacted learning. There is a unique relationship between parents, patrons, and school personnel that displays a lot of mutual support and collaboration. And guess what??? ALL STUDENTS ARE LEARNING WELL WHAT IT IS THAT THE SCHOOLS WANT THEM TO LEARN.

The recognition given to the school district has been one of several factors that has revitalized Muleshoe, Texas. The business district has diversified establishing a strong retail

CofC Planning Big Breakfast For Membership

Toni Eagle, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, said the CofC has scheduled a membership meeting on Wednesday, April 8 at 6:30 a.m. at the Hungry Mule Steakhouse. She said a free breakfast will be served to each member attending.

All members are urged to attend this meeting, said Mrs. Eagle. Chamber business will be conducted and a vote taken on proposed changes for the Chamber's Constitution and By-Laws.

Committee chairmen will introduce committee members and report on activities. "All Chamber members need to mark their calendars for April 8th and attend the Chamber Membership Breakfast and Business meeting," concluded the CofC manager.

PRESENTING SHOPLIFTING SEMINAR--Sgt. Floyd Price, left, from the Crime Prevention Unit of the Lubbock Police Department and Lt. Wayne Holmes of the Muleshoe Police Department presented a shoplifting seminar for businesses in and around Muleshoe. They presented ideas on how to protect a business from shoplifting.

Field's, Poynor's Take Tournament

Field's Insurance won the third and fourth grade youth basketball tournament and the undefeated Poynor's team kept their record unblemished as they took not only the season record, but the tournament championship Friday night.

Playing five minute quarters, the third and fourth graders took to the gym floor and Field's Insurance made the first basket of the championship game with 3:02 left to play in the first quarter. They scored again at 1:49 and :09 of the first to lead at the end of the first stanza, 6-0 over the Serv-All Blue team.

In second quarter action, Field's Insurance scored at 3:07, with the first score of the game for Serv-All coming at 2:47. With 2:27 left in the second, Fields made a free throw, followed by another free throw at :20 in the half.

Coming back in the third, Serv-All scored at 4:54, taking immediate advantage of the brief break, and followed with another basket at 4:13. Fierce action took place when Field's scored at 3:01, followed by additional baskets for Serv-All at 2:46 and 2:15 of the third chapter. Field's came back and ripped off baskets at 1:58 and 1:34, making the third a very active quarter.

Final score in the third was a free throw by Serv-All at 1:14, and the third ended with Serv-All trailing by five, 11-16.

Into the fourth quarter, the action still stayed strong for the youngsters as Serv-All scored at 3:34, again at 3:24, two more points at 2:37 and last points at :51 and :14 seconds of the game. Field's Insurance managed to hang onto their lead, scoring with a time of 2:59, 1:33 and 1:11 left in the game.

Team members of the winning Field's Insurance team were Kelly Railsback, Manuel Hernandez, Bryan Field, Jeff Pope, Jeff Lewis, Gage Tosh, Tommy Day and Barak Harlan.

Coaches for the team were Charlotte and Terry Field.

Undefeated Poynor's, coached by John and Gayle Fuller, played six minute quarters. The fifth and sixth graders took to the gym floor and the Serv-All Red team scored at 5:07 to put the first points on the board. Poynor's bounced right back at 4:47 for their first points, before giving way to the Serv-All team again at 3:50 with two; Poynor's added two more at 2:34, then Serv-All, undaunted scored two more at 2:17 of the first.

From there for the first quarter, it was Poynor's, who added two at 1:40 to tie up the game, and took the lead for the first time at 1:19 of the first.

Some People Really 'Go' For Journals

It would appear that "EVERYBODY" loves the Muleshoe Journal -- and maybe the Bailey County Journal, too.

Thursday morning, a local merchant reported to The Journal that he had observed a female remove every Journal from a newsrack.

When Muleshoe City Police officers found the woman 10 minutes later, she said she had taken the papers to provide her daughters and some friends each with a newspaper to read.

She said The Journal for the 24 missing papers from the rack, and The Journal did not press charges, at least, this time.

It is a good feeling to know that the Muleshoe Journal, and presumably, the Bailey County Journal, is so popular.

Drawing Scheduled Saturday Afternoon

Saturday, April 4, should be a bright, sunshiny day, a perfect spring day, and a perfect day for hundreds of people to come to town for the monthly MAC Buck drawing, popularized by more than 40 local businesses for the past several months.

There are 43 MAC (Muleshoe Activities Committee) members, and more would be welcomed. Everyone benefits from the MAC Buck promotion, because

Chapter I Meet Set This Week

Preparations are well underway for the annual Chapter I Parent Program hosted by the Muleshoe Independent School District for parents of students in the Chapter I programs on all four campuses.

On Thursday, April 2, 1987, at 7 p.m., the Muleshoe High School cafeteria will be the scene for an evening of games and information for the entire family.

Bingo will be played, with players having the opportunity to win prizes such as games, books, puzzles, and educational and/or instructional toys.

Three special games during the evening will have extraordinary prizes. A hostess will be assigned to each table to assist the players, if needed, and the organizers said they urge all families who have students in the Chapter I programs on any of the four campuses to make plans to attend.

Maria Mora from the Region XVII Education Service Center will attend the meeting to talk briefly to parents about how to work with the school for the best education possible for their children.

Six members will be elected to serve on the Chapter I Parent Advisory Council for the Muleshoe Schools for the 1987-89, for a two year term.

Nominated for the advisory council are Aurora Martinez, Maria Guerra, Maria Cisneros, Johnny Cisneros and Cornelius Loewen.

Refreshments will be served during the evening.

people come to town, and when they come to town for the MAC Buck drawings, they visit many of the stores, and leave money here and there from their shopping sprees.

Shortly before 2 p.m., the people will meet at a trailer parked at the corner of Main Street and Avenue C. As they gather around, visiting with neighbors and friends, and making new friends, preparations are going on for the drawing.

Delighted winners have walked away with either $100, $75 or $25 in MAC Bucks every month on the first Saturday of the month since last December.

This is a promotion that will be continuing, and each month, everyone with ticket stubs has an equal opportunity to become a winner.

And, MAC Bucks is not all the MAC is about, either. Rumors have it that the committee is planning a lot for people of this area in the near future.

Have heard something about a big, big celebration coming up, something called "I Love Muleshoe." Also have unofficially heard there will be miniature golf tournaments during the summer for the young people.

Have even heard they are planning some 'civic' activities, such as cleaning up, vacuuming, mopping and cleaning the hospital in an effort to keep it from deteriorating.

All of this is unofficial at this time, but if the MAC is actually working this hard, they are to be commended for their civic actions.

All day celebrations, with balloons, several thousand of them, booths, games, and other activities sound very attractive, and when The Journal is informed of some of the planned activities, they will be passed on to you -- the reader.

In the meantime, make your plans to be in town on Saturday, April 4. First, go cast your vote for school board trustee, and for city council members, buy your groceries, do some shopping and by all means -- attend the MAC Buck drawing.

Support the following MAC members -- they support you!

Journal Is 64 Years Old

Garage, H.G. Rhoades, Mgr.

On the front page of the second issue, January 26, 1923, was a streamer headline announcing "The Best Thing That Has Come To Muleshoe Since Heck Was A Pup," which, upon reading down the column, is found to mean the starting of a newspaper for the town of Muleshoe. It contained quite a bit of local news also.

A local reporter was stationed in Muleshoe during the time the paper was published in Farwell and Clovis.

THE MULESHOE JOURNAL

Hull and Presley, with several others, said Muleshoe was large enough to support a newspaper. Thus, then, five years after its predecessor, (The Booster and The Bailey County Bugle) had opened the newspaper field in the county, The Muleshoe Journal was born on February 23, 1924.

A story of the first issues of The Journal appears elsewhere in this edition.

Later in 1924 the paper was sold to R.B. Boyle, who installed the first printing plant in Muleshoe. This first Journal shop was located in a building (with Barry Lewis, abstractor and Dr. A.E. Lewis, dentist). The Muleshoe Journal was an eight-page paper, four pages being "ready print." All machinery in the plant was run by a gasoline engine.

Boyle remained in charge until November 4, 1927, when C.S. Holland became owner-publisher. A few weeks after his arrival, Holland installed a linotype machine and electric motors were added to the existing equipment. The Journal became one of the most modern plants on the plains at that time. Holland did not use any "ready print", but printed all the paper himself at the Muleshoe plant.

In 1930 Jess Mitchell bought The Journal from Holland. He installed a new linotype machine in 1933.

"The legend of the Sandhills" was compiled, written and published by Mitchell, under his pen name of Zep.

C.S. Holland re-purchased the paper from Mitchell in 1941 and published it until his death in 1944. He sold a half interest to E.Q. Perry, E.B. Miller and H.I. Hilburn of The Plainview Herald-News. Later he sold a part interest to R.L. Jones. When Holland died, J.M. Forbes came to Muleshoe and bought the Holland interest in The Journal from Mrs. Holland.

"Scoop" Forbes describes his "Life As Publisher" during his 17 years at The Journal in a separate article in this issue.

On September 15, 1961, Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Hall bought the interests of the four partners and formed The Muleshoe Publishing Company, which continues to publish The Muleshoe Journal each Thursday.

THE BAILEY COUNTY JOURNAL

Publisher Hall added the first full-size, regular Sunday edition on March 31, 1963. The expanded publication was christened The Bailey County Journal and is published each Sunday. Home delivery in Muleshoe was established with the Sunday paper's appearance.

The Muleshoe Journal and The Bailey County Journal continue the spirit of the first county newspaper, The Booster:

"Be a Booster. Why NOT? The world is going to move on - with your help or without it. So is Bailey County.

"You had better get behind the wagon and help push the load forward...then to get in front and get run over..." (Nov. 21, 1919)

The two 1963 newspapers further endorse the purpose of the first Muleshoe Journal as stated editorially March 1, 1924: "The Journal is proud of the expressions of confidence and faith received from people of (Muleshoe and) Bailey County and with the continued cooperation of every citizen...We are here to stay, and it is our aim to boost the County and surrounding country."

THE BOOSTER

The first Bailey County newspaper, The Booster, was published in 1919 by Turner L. Smith, a congregational minister at Hurley.

The Booster, financed by advertisements, was published monthly in behalf of the religious and other community interests of the county. It was sent to every family in the county.

Reverend Smith used a hand press to print the paper, which was a four page, three column edition. Only three editions were printed.

Firms advertising in the first edition included The Newett Mercantile Company of Hurley; Guptons and Wiggins, Muleshoe; O. C. Snyder, Hurley; R.E. Curd and Company, Texico, N.M.; Texico Garage in Texico; and McGuan and Presley of Farwell.

BAILEY COUNTY BUGLE

The Booster was followed by a paper called The Bailey County Bugle, and was first published for several months in Farwell with Mr. and Mrs. Stanely Sigler as publishers. It was purchased from them by Captain E.E. Hull of Clovis.

In about 1922 the Muleshoe new's editor for The Bugle was Levi Presley, an attorney. As The Bugle proprietor and publisher Hull owned no equipment, the paper was printed in Clovis.

A four page, four column paper, it contained advertisements in its second edition of Blackwater Valley State Bank; A.V. McCarty, Drugs; Farmer's Trading Merchandise; Josh Blocher, "The Old Reliable Land Man"; Bailey County Elevator, Ray Griffiths, mgr.; Gupton and Son, Groceries; Bailey County Abstract, L.S. Barron, Mgr.; White Front

Muleshoe Heritage Center Auction Scheduled May 2

Saturday, May 2 will be a fun day in Muleshoe! The Muleshoe Heritage Center will hold its auction to raise money to continue the work on the Heritage Center. This year the auction will be held in the arena of the Bailey County Civic Center so that everyone will be able to go by and see the items being bid on and get in on the excitement first hand.

The auction will begin at 7 a.m. and will continue all day and into the night, as long as there are things to auction. The entire auction will be televised live on Channel 6.

Last year the money raised at the auction was used for the Santa Fe Depot which is being renovated and will be a Senior Citizens Service Center when completed.

This year the money will go for the renovation of the Janes Ranch House which is already sporting a spiffy new look on the outside.

Last year, at the Celebrity Auction, the real celebrities turned out to be the Muleshoe people who made and donated so many things. These items were the big sellers. This year almost all items will come from this area. Local merchants and local people were generous in their contributions for last year's auction which really contributed to its success.

This year the Jennyslippers will operate a concession stand all day long in the arena of the Civic Center where the auction will be held. Tables and chairs will be available where you can sit and enjoy the activities as you eat and drink.

Some items have already been donated, including art work by Clifford Black and a hand-made doll by Juanita Jarmon. Members of the Muleshoe Art Association have donated paintings. These members include Joannah Gartin, Betty Embry, Cara Juan Schuster, Mildred Williams, Elsie McMillan of Earth and three members from Clovis, N.M., R.C. Holder, Darlene Davis and Laverne Elliott.

Chairmen named to committees are: entertainment, Jean Allison and Student Community Auction Club (SCAC); merchandise solicitation, R.A. Bradley; delivery, Delton Wilhite; letters to celebrities, Jenne McVicker and publicity, Nelda Merriott.

The fast-paced auction will be interspersed with entertainment, which will be local and area talent who will be performing throughout the day.

Many volunteers were utilized in the auction last year and will be needed again this year, in numerous capacities. Would you like to be an auctioneer, a telephone operator, a bookkeeper or serve as delivery per-

TOLK Station

Visited By

Girl Scouts

On Monday, March 23, three Girl Scout Troops, leaders being Lillie Ham, Rosa Guillen and Mary Franklin, went to the TOLK Station for a tour. Their guides were Shirley Martin and Patty Miller.

The group met at the TOLK Station at 4:30 p.m. to start the tour, the guides then took them inside to the conference room. They showed them a video on how electricity is made from coal.

From there, the group toured the control room, it was reported that there is so many buttons it was really amazing to see that you run the plant virtually from this room.

They saw the weather on the computer and the TV that you have to check into at the front gate. Then they went into a room with the turbine generators, it was really noisy. They got to see the coal being crushed as it went from big size coal to a fine powder.

"Some of the girls were scared, because the floor went from concrete to just grit, and they could see down to the bottom." They didn't get to see everything because of the weather, so they were invited back on a better day.

The group plans to go back to see what they missed because of the weather.

sonnel? You are Needed! Just call Magann Rennels of Channel 6, 272-4989 and volunteer your services or tell her of any item you wish to donate. You may also contact R.A. Bradley about any item you wish to give for the auction. R.A. will also appreciate anyone who will assist him in picking up these items and in solicitation.

Early volunteers include Pam Hancock, Maurine Hooten, Virginia Bowers, Mabel Wolfe, Lynn Box, Holly Hooten, Eugene and Gladys Black, Cathy Gable, Shellye Pickering, Betty Jo Beaty, Marjorie Precure, Jackie McAlpine and Greta McCormick.

Shoplifting

eliminate shoplifting 100 percent," added Price. "But, we can make it uncomfortable for those thugs when they come into town. At this time, there are 11 known shoplifting rings in the City of Lubbock, each with about 15 members.

"The FBI says shoplifting is the fastest growing form of larceny. There are even professional shoplifting schools in the United States."

With mechanization (vehicles) the shoplifters move around, pointed out. Sgt. Price, and they leave town and display the stolen merchandise, still with the store tag, for sale to people attending flea markets. Many of the shoplifters travel with a folding table, and stop to 'hawk' their stolen wares anywhere they see a flea market in progress.

The officer moved on to internal theft, citing the low economy, and ever-increasing incidents of internal theft by store employees.

Sgt. Price suggested that store owners and managers put out only one item of a pair -- such as shoes, boots, etc. as shoplifters will not take one-half of a pair of everything, as it will not do them any good.

Keep the key to jewelry counters and be suspicious of everybody who comes into the store, added Sgt. Price. "It's not the cows and horses that are different, it's our fellow man."

Citing figures, Sgt. Price said 2,000 people are taken to the Texas Department of Corrections each month, and everyone has a lot of people coming back to the communities. "They're on your streets, and they're ripping you off," he said.

"Two percent of the population is hard core thugs, but 95 percent of your customers are decent people. Now, how does a shoplifter look? They look just like people -- just like you and I," he continued.

Sgt. Price showed a very explicit and informative video on shoplifting.

Speaking briefly was Lt. Wayne Holmes, acting Chief of Police for the Muleshoe City Police Department.

He told the business people to let a suspected shoplifter get past the point, such as a cash register, where they would normally pay for an item to be accosted. He said the customer does not have to be outside the store to be accosted.

He also told of stacks of recovered shoplifted merchandise that did not designate the point of origin, such as the store where taken, and asked the

Texas A&M study shows 50 percent of drivers in fatal accidents were drunk

COLLEGE STATION — Blood alcohol concentration test results from a sample of fatally injured drivers in 10 Texas counties reveal that half of them were drunk when they died, says a researcher at Texas A&M University.

The study of 1,742 driver fatalities from 1983 to 1985 was conducted by Texas A&M's Texas Transportation Institute for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

"Since we were able to obtain test results for only 65 percent of the driver fatalities in the 10 counties, these results do not necessarily provide an accurate estimate of alcohol involvement among all drivers killed in motor vehicle collisions," said Nancy Hatfield, a TTI researcher who conducted the study. "However, these data do suggest what may be happening across the state in terms of the drinking and driving problem."

The 10 counties that participated in this study were Bexar, Dallas, El Paso, Galveston, Harris, Johnson, Nueces, Tarrant, Travis and Wichita.

While half of all drivers in the sample were legally intoxicated, as defined by blood alcohol concentrations equal to or greater than the legal limit of .10 percent, over 60 percent of the drivers had at least some measurable alcohol in their systems.

merchants to mark their merchandise with a store name.

Lt. Holmes said the incidences on bad checks were down in Muleshoe. In 1985, Sgt. Julian Dominguez worked 149 cases of bad checks; 111 in 1986, and to date this year, had only worked 19 bad checks.

He cleared in the past few years, 13,393 bad checks, with 2,900 outstanding at this time. Sgt. Dominguez has an 80 percent record for clearing bad checks.

Also, Lt. Holmes spoke strongly against using counter checks, and did ask the merchants to be sure their employees obtain 'positive' identification for persons with checks.

Toni Eagle, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, briefly discussed the SOS System, and asked for suggestions for improvements in the system.

EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH--Thursday morning, Ron Montgomery, left, president of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, presented the traveling trophy and a certificate to Fern Warren, right, a 31 year employee of the First Bank in Muleshoe. Wet Fields May Hamper Cotton Seedbed Preparation

Faced with wet fields, cotton farmers in parts of Texas may have to work a little harder to get seedbeds in shape for planting.

"A good seedbed is critical for getting cotton off to a quick start," points out Dr. Bob Metzger, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University system.

"For good seed germination and seedling emergence, the seedbed should be firm and well settled. The soil structure should have a proper balance of air and water. The seedbed should be weed-free and have a uniform distribution of herbicides," Metzger adds.

However, wet fields during the fall and winter have delayed land preparation, and that makes good seedbed preparation more difficult, notes the specialist. Fields worked late often end up loose and cloddy and short on soil moisture for seed germination. Also, herbicide concentrations can cause stand failures or slow seedling growth.

"The planting operation should leave a soil profile with a slight mound that provides adequate drainage away from the seed trench," explains Metzger. "Avoid valleys or depression in the furrow that will pocket water and concentrate herbicides such as caparol or cotoran around the seed zone. To minimize problems with herbicide concentration, Metzger advises farmers to provide adequate drainage from the seed zone. This becomes especially important when moderate to heavy rainfall follows the planting operation.

Producers using a max-emerge planter can improve conditions for seedling emergence. Metzger recommends that they convert their planter to a disk-closing attachment which permits planting at a shallow soil depth. The adjustable disk blades close the v-shape seed trench by squeezing soil from each side of the trench to obtain a good seed-soil contact. The closing disk is followed by a rubber tire wheel which gauges the closing depth and shapes the soil profile. This operation leaves a slight soil mound above the seed zone for good drainage and rapid warm-up where it counts the most.

"Cotton planted early usually faces a number of obstacles, including cool, wet conditions that favor seedling diseases," Metzger points out. "Often the end result is skippy stands. However, a producer can shift the odds to favor emerging cotton by eliminating herbicide stress, using high vigor planting seed, and planting no deeper than necessary to get seed into firm, moist soil."

Deworming Calves Pays For Cattlemen

Preliminary results of deworming trials conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cow-calf and stocker calf herds show that deworming is a profitable practice for beef producers.

Production benefits of strategically timed deworming programs in Texas showed an average 28-pound advantage in weaning weights for spring-born calves from dewormed cows and a 16-pound gain advantage for stocker heifers dewormed in the spring, points out Dr. Larry Boleman, Extension beef cattle specialist.

The 28-pound advantage represents an increase of 7.3 percent in calf weaning weights over the control group, notes Boleman, and a return of about $16—almost a 6 to 1 return for dollar invested. In one trial, treated cows gained an additional 43 pounds per head over those in a control group.

The 16-pound gain in the stocker heifers was a return of $8.25 per head to the producer.

The trials are aimed at evaluating deworming programs and the economics of internal parasite control for beef cow-calf and stocker calf herd in distinctly different environmental areas of Texas, notes Boleman. The Hoechst-Roussel Aeri-Vet Co., which manufactures the dewormer SAFE-GUARD (fenbendazole), cooperated in the study.

A total of 195 spring calving cow-calf pairs were involved in the statewide study. One group received the recommended dosage of SAFE-GUARD the last week of February for control of internal parasites while the control group received no deworming treatment. Both treated and control groups were pastured separately in areas not previously grazed that year and kept there until calves were weaned. Calves in the treatment group also were treated with the recommended dosage of SAFE-GUARD at about 3 months of age.

According to Boleman, the deworming studies are a part of the on-going Extension beef program focusing on "Integrated Resource Management." Additional studies are planned over the state this year and into 1988 to evaluate more accurately the strategic timing of deworming both spring and fall calving herds, Boleman points out.

According to Boleman, the deworming studies are a part of the on-going Extension beef program focusing on "Integrated Resource Management." Additional studies are planned over the state this year and into 1988 to evaluate more accurately the strategic timing of deworming both spring and fall calving herds, Boleman points out.

Based on preliminary results, Boleman outlines these cost-effective, seasonal control practices for producers regarding deworming:

Cow/Calf

--Deworm cows between March 1 and April 15 (before extended grass growth).

--Deworm the calves by June 1. Calves should weigh at least 200 pounds at deworming.

--Depending on the length of the grazing season, treating the cow in late fall or early winter may be beneficial.

Stocker Cattle and Bred Heifers on Permanent Pastures

--Deworm when spring grass growth begins, followed by a second treatment three to four weeks later, and a third treatment three weeks after the second treatment.

Stocker Cattle on Small Grains

--Deworm stocker cattle at time of placement on small grain pastures.
