

LEMLEY FRIENDS RALLY AT AUSTIN HEARING

Cemetery Group Meets

The Yoakum County Cemetery Association will hold its regular meeting on January 19, Thursday, 1967 at 8 o'clock up stairs in the old courthouse.

Dues for 1967 are now due. Money from dues and donations are placed in a fund to care for the cemetery and it is hoped that enough will accumulate so that the interest will soon be enough to pay a permanent caretaker. From time to time there are expenses but most of the money is drawing interest, stated Norelle Sloan, secretary.

The memorial for Mr. M. W. Luna is being constructed. The storage building, for which we thank the county court for making possible, is finished.

If you are interested in the cemetery make a visit to it and see what has been done. Maybe you have a suggestion or two that will help make our cemetery more beautiful, said Travis Been, president.

We have received many donations in memory of friends and loved ones and wish to thank everyone for this kind thought.

'65' Club to Club Room

The Plains '65 Club' wishes to announce that they have changed their meeting place from the Oddfellows Lodge Hall to the Club Room in the Old Courthouse.

This is a community club and everyone is invited to attend (even if you're not 65) and enjoy an evening of fellowship and dominos. They meet every Friday night at 7:00 p.m. in the Club Room of the Old Courthouse.

Refreshments will be served. Everyone is urged to attend.

Cub Scouts Field Trip

Cub Scouts from Plains will make a field trip to the game reserve near Muleshoe, Saturday, January 14, announced Cecil Williams, local Scout Master.

The Scouts will leave from the Hillside Church of Christ at 9:00 a.m. The scouts are reminded that they may bring guests on this outing.

The Scout Master reports that the game warden from the present time there are 12 different kinds of ducks on the reserve. Also the Sandhill cranes from Canada are on the reserve. So be sure to bring your cameras and binoculars on the fieldtrip.

Farmers Union Drive

The Yoakum County Farmers Union will have their annual membership drive starting with a kickoff breakfast at the Longbranch Cafe on Tuesday, January 17, at 8:00 a.m. All members and prospective members are urged to attend the kick-off breakfast.

The local Farmers Union recently attended a district meeting in Levelland with District President Jay Niman presiding. Seven members from Yoakum County attended.

The Farmers Union is an organization for farmers to utilize for legislative, educational, and fraternal benefits. The group maintains a lobby both at the state and national levels of government.

The Farmers Union is reported to be the fastest growing farm group in the state.

At last year's membership breakfast the State President of the Farmers Union was the guest speaker. The local president is Carl Lowrey and he invites the public to attend this membership breakfast.

Cowboys Win 1st Annual Cowboy Cage Tournament

In a dramatic finish the Plains Cowboys came from behind and downed a highly regarded Lubbock Christian High School team in the last 53 seconds to win the First Annual Cowboy Invitational Basketball Tournament at Cowboy Gym Saturday night.

The Christian Eagles had gone ahead of the Pokes 50 to 49 with 1:04 left in the game and in a desperation attempt the Cowboys sunk a basket and went ahead 51-50, but the Lubbock team put up a stout defense to gain possession and fouled away their hopes of a victory. Dan Field put the game on ice making the final count 53-50 for the game.

The first half saw both teams put everything they had in a full court press and it wasn't until the third quarter that the game slowed into a zone.

Coach Richey's cage squad downed Sundown 91-31 in the first game, and took Denver City 73-44 to gain a place in the finals against Lubbock Christian. Lubbock had trounced Three Way 78-34, and had downed Tahoka 72-58 to gain a place in the finals.

Morton fans saw their Tribe down the Eagles of Seagraves 54-34 to win the Consolation Trophy. Morton had lost to Tahoka by one point and went on to defeat Three Way and Seagraves for Consolation honors.

Denver City downed Tahoka for third place honors in the tournament by a 57-49 margin, and had beaten Seagraves 57 to 51 in their first tilt before falling victim to a band of aroused Cowhands in the semifinals.

Three Way fought it out with Sundown for seventh place by a score of 52-48, and Sundown finished winless for the cellar position.

The all tournament team was picked by the players themselves this year and Calvin Smith from Plains along with Tim Paden, L.C.H.S., Mike Mead, Denver City, Byron Willis, Morton, and Mitchell Williams, Tahoka. The players were presented with individual trophies for their ability displayed during the tournament.

Records set in the tournament included:

Most points in a single game—Garry Keener, L.C.H.S., 27.

Most points in three games—Mitchell Williams, Tahoka, 68.

Most team points in a single game, Plains, 91.

Fewest points in a single game, Three Way against Plains with 38.

Most points by both teams in one game, Lubbock Christian and Tahoka with 130.

Tim Paden of L.C.H.S., and Bruce Pruitt of Sundown tied for most free throws in a game with 11 each.

Most total points for three games, Plains with 217.

Fewest total points was Three Way with 106.

Most field goals in one game was Plains with 38.

Most free throws sunk was L.C.H.S. with 28 points.

Three Way completed the fewest amount of free throws with only two points.

Mailbox Vandals Get Warning

Mailboxes are protected by Federal law, and pranksters or vandals who damage or destroy the boxes and their contents may be in for heavy fine or imprisonment, Postmaster Hayes warned today.

The Postmaster noted that some 25,000 mail receptacles were damaged or destroyed in the past year. It was also noted that 2,641 mail receptacles were damaged or destroyed in the past year. It was also noted that 2,641 persons were arrested in the year up to June 30 for damaging mail receptacles.

Postmaster Hayes quoted from the law: "Whoever willfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letterbox or other receptacle intended or used for the receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the same or willfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited therein, shall be fined not more than $1000 or imprisoned not more than 3 years.

This applies to all mail receptacles and the mail in them, even though the boxes are bought by citizens and are their personal property, the Postmaster emphasized.

"Pranksters and especially children who do not know any better should be made to realize the seriousness of their actions," the Postmaster said, "A $1000 fine or a term in jail is enough to take the humor out of any prank."

Often the mailbox damage is the work of youths, who do it for 'kicks.' And the courts for 'kicks.' And the courts have shown little sympathy for this youthful means of expression. In Michigan, a justice sentenced two 18 year old to 10 days in jail, including two on a diet of baby food. The diet specification, explained the judge, was because the youths 'acted like babies'. They were also fined $25, each plus $15. cost.

Rep. George Meets Plains Men

Rep. Jesse T. George, Democrat from Yoakum County, met a Plains delegation in Austin yesterday to assist them in behalf of Leonard Lemley who was fighting extradition proceeding brought about by the state of Alabama to return Lemley to prison where he escaped in 1944.

The delegation from Plains visited with Rep. George and some of the group discussed legislative ideas with the senator.

Some of the group in the delegation included D.C. Newsom, Hoss Newsom, Dick McGinty, E.O. Winkles, Harry Cayce, Alf Carpenter, Truitt

Protection like gold, is where you find it! Olan Edwards, 12 miles West of Plains is a good example. Grain Sorghum stubble in 40 inch rows helped the soil and moisture through last Friday's severe storm.

Unprotected land runs wild. It damages both the land and adjacent crops. It allows precious moisture, organic matter and fertility to escape on the wings of 70 mile an hour winds.

Zip Code Use Urged

Use of Zip Code will make it easier to mail packages after January 15, Postmaster Hayes of Plains said today.

New rates and a new system for identifying parcel post zones will go into effect on that date as provided in legislation signed into law by President Johnson on Sept. 20, 1966, the Postmaster pointed out.

The rate increases will average about 10 cents a parcel. Starting July 1, the law provides for a series of size and weight increases on packages mailed between first class offices. Plains is a 2nd class office. The size and weight increases will be in five annual steps, the last coming on July 1, 1971.

Use of Zip Code in the recipient's address will enable the sender or a mail clerk to quickly determine the proper zone, and thus the rate, for the package. The zones will be based on the distance a parcel travels between the 552 sectional centers in the country, Hayes said.

By consulting a simple chart, which is available at all post offices, the zone can be readily identified because the first three numbers of the Zip Code represent the sectional center.

This replaces a method in which a directory often had to be consulted to locate the proper zone for each of the nation's 33,000 post offices.

The new rates will range from 40 cents for a 3 pound parcel destined for local delivery to 60 cents for the same parcel to zone 3 (150 to 300 miles) to $1.05 to zone 8 (over 1800). The new zoning method will also apply to air parcel post, catalogs and to publishers who pay zone rates on the advertising portion of their periodicals.

Hayes noted that all parcels mailed between post offices within the Lubbock sectional center will be charged at the first zone rate. There are 55 post offices within the Lubbock sectional center.

(Austin Special) In an emotional filled hearing at the State capitol yesterday, 26 friends and neighbors of L. E. Lemley testified before Secretary of State John Hill in the old Supreme Court Chamber in the historical State House. All pleaded that Lemley be given another chance to face society without the ordeal of knowing that he is an escaped convict and must face many years more punishment for a crime that his friends believe that he had paid for in full.

Secretary of State Hill listened as the whole story of the past two and one-half decades was revealed to him. Lemley took the stand himself and in a breaking voice pleaded for a chance to remain a free agent in society. He was represented by Calloway Huffacre, Tahoka attorney.

State Representative Jesse T. George delivered an appeal to Secretary Hill asking for Lemley's continued freedom. Rep. George said that many of his constituents have appealed to him to do what he could for the embattled West Texas farmer.

Rev. Calvin Beach, minister of the First Baptist Church in Lazbuddie, and son-in-law to Lemley, told of the strain and emotional stress on Lemley which he has carried for years.

Rev. Beach told of visits to Alabama made by the Lemley family and himself and said that he does not believe that Alabama authorities were looking for Lemley.

Alf Carpenter prominent Plains Bank Director and farmer, said he believes Lemley to be a good citizen and urged Mr. Hill to take into consideration this fact.

Mrs. Lydia Gass and Mrs. A. G. Brandley both testified that Lemley has been a good family man. Mrs. Gass broke into tears under examination and stated that "Leonard would take the shirt off his back for anybody in need."

The pattern was the same throughout the hearing as each new witness appealed to the humanitarian side of their fellow man.

Harry Cayce, editor and publisher of the Plains Record, testified that popular opinion in Plains was overwhelming in favor of Lemley's continued freedom. He further stated that his paper had backed the Lemley cause from the outset of the break in the case and has carried two editorials in support of Lemley.

Secretary Hill asked editor Cayce if he firmly believed the opinion of the paper represented the opinion of the people in Plains. The editor replied that he did.

The matter was taken under advisement by the Secretary of State and will be presented to the Governor for the final decision within the next few days. The Governor in all probability will take the recommendation. ON PAGE 6

Severe Winds Hit Plains Area

Severe winds did damage in Plains last Friday when gusts measuring 70 miles per hour struck this county seat town. Many T.V. aeriels were reported to have been either blown off of roofs or bent badly. Store signs at Moore and Oden Department Store and the Fina Station were blown down.

Tumble weeds stacked up on houses in big bunches which covered the sides of the buildings in length and were about seven feet deep in places.

Some farm damage was reported and visibility was zero on some of the rural roads causing extreme hazard on the driving conditions.

One fire alarm was sounded, but the fire was quickly put under control. It was on the vacant lot north of the D.C. Newsom Gin.

Some residents were reported to have run water on the stacks of tumbleweeds in order to cut danger of fires. One person said if the weeds were to be ignited by a live wire a whole block in town could be lost, so he wet down the tumbleweeds until the wind subsided.

Some people were burning the weeds that had stacked in their yards on Sunday afternoon.

The wind storm was the strongest of the season. Some country roads looked as though a sand blaster had been turned on them. These roads were deeply blown in the hard clay.

Fortunately many of the fields were in shape to withstand the storm with a minimum of loss to the top soil.

With the winds came a drop in temperature, and it fell to three degrees above zero Friday and Saturday night. No moisture was reported with the storm.

Approve ACP Plans

By W.M. Overton
The following ACP practices have been approved for Yoakum County according to W.M. Overton, local ASC office manager.

B-5 Construction of water wells for livestock water. D-1 Establishing of non legume cover for winter protection. E-3a Deep plowing sandy cropland for wind erosion protection. Other practices may be added at a later date.

Farmers interested in any of the practices should file their application with the local ASC office and to be eligible for payment applications must be filed before the practice is started.

Under the 1966 ACP program some 200 farms had one or more approved practices carried out and the cost-share payments totaled about $60,000.

There is no diversion under wheat program. There is only a 20 percent diversion (layout) under the feed grain program with no diversion payment and with a price support payment available. The minimum diversion under the cotton program is 12 1/2% and the maximum diversion is 35%. Basi-

Recent Duster Does Damage

By C.M. Thompson
Work Unit Conservationist
Strong West and Northwest winds of near 70 miles per hour velocity struck with all its fury last Friday about 9:00 a.m. About anything loose from soil to tumbleweeds, boxes, paper, and even marble size rocks were picked up and slammed against whatever might be near.

Damage ranged from light to moderate depending upon the amount of cover and protection. Highways were reported to be blocked temporarily from dust arising from unprotected fields. Sand accumulated on grass land and some crop land that had a good cover because of unprotected land nearby.

The storm, although severe, was of such short duration that major damage was averted; however this storm left many fields in condition to blow in succeeding windstorms. Wind erosion, like water erosion has the ability to grow with each succeeding storm.

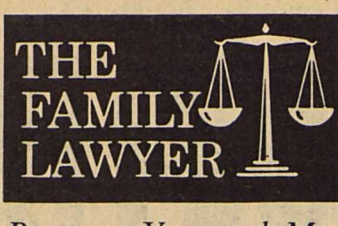

Storms like this are not solely the problem of the farmer or the rancher. One of the first to note damage is our highway department and county

Tumbleweeds stacked as high as the house in Frank Whitlocks back yard during the recent wind storm.

Between You and Me

John, alone with Edward in an elevator, says to him: "You are a crook."
Assuming that Edward is not a crook, could he collect damages for defamation of character? No, because nobody else heard what John said.
Generally speaking, "defame" someone is to injure his reputation. If no one hears the accusation except the accused person himself, then his reputation has not suffered at all. While a private, face-to-face insult might occasionally amount to a criminal offense, it is not grounds for a defamation suit unless there is a third party in the picture.
This applies not only to oral defamation (slander) but also to written defamation (libel). For example:

CAYCE'S CORNER

About all that people have talked about this week is the fine showing of our basketball team and their fine coaching staff. The boys brought the bacon home in style when they won the big tournament last week-end. The boys are looking like regional material, and the hometown paper joins the fans in cheering them on to the District 5A title which we believe they will win.
Speaking of sports, I want to also make mention that Coach Bob Gross is doing a fine job in our junior High with his teams. The boys are learning a lot of basketball under Bob. Keep up the good work Bob, because we are behind you and think you are doing a tip top job with the younger boys.
Our fine stage band did a bang up job at the Cowboy tournament this last week-end. The fans enjoyed the entertainment, and we tip our hat to the students and to Dennis Black who conducts them for adding to our entertainment at the ball games.
Just a note in passing... Ann and Jan weren't speaking when I cut out for Austin Tuesday evening. Wednesday is press day and somehow they have the idea that the editor should be around on press day. The temperature dropped at least 20 degrees when I announced on Tuesday morning that I was Austin bound. When I acted shocked that they thought I should stick around it was indeed too much. At least I learned what two women say when they blow their fuse at the same time. Try it sometime and then you will master the art of concentration... concentration on some other subject that is....
At press time it was reported that at least 17 Plains people were in Austin to help their neighbor, L.E. Lemley during his hearing. Mr. Lemley asked me to thank the many fine people who have been kind to him, regardless of the outcome of the hearing.

QUOTABLE QUOTE!

"Never in the history of America has it been proposed to take away so much from so many to do so little for so few." Rep. Otto Passman (D-La) speaking on the 'Great Society'.

Horse Oddities

The "Dawn Horse," Eohippus, was the size of a large cat, resembled a greyhound, and had toes instead of hooves. The modern hoof might be called an enlarged "toenail." The horse actually runs on one toe!

When the first horses arrived in the New World with the Spanish conquistadores, the Indians were amazed at the sight of this strange beast. Yet the horse originated in America 50 million years ago. All, however, had migrated to Asia and Europe via the Bering Strait long before Man appeared in the Western Hemisphere.

The first known system of regular horse care was laid down 3,400 years ago by a Hittite stablemaster named Kikkulis, who wrote his "textbook" on stone tablets. Today, knowledgeable horse owners still practice "programmed" horse care—a systematic schedule of worming, daily vitamins, rubdowns and hoof care, done the "Top Form" way.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

A curious story was reported in the Richmond, (Ind.) Palladium-Item about a Culepepper, Va. farmer who owns a 1,133-acre farm, part of which is on the side of a mountain.
The local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee approached the farmer about accepting a government handout of $54.39 an acre to retire the mountain sideland from production. The surprised farmer said C. W. Harder this would be impossible since the difficult terrain had never been utilized for farm land.
The honorable farmer turned down the offer of the Agricultural Department's subsidy and declared that an acceptance would be wasting taxpayer's money, since the mountain land was useless for farming.
The Government official noted the farmer's statements, and promised an investigation of his complaints about the subsidy.
This item caused us to wonder how much unproductive land around the country is being subsidized by the Agriculture Dept.
Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman was met by a storm of protest during his Farm Belt tour last spring when he praised lowered consumer prices. Since then both Freeman and Vice-Pres. Hubert Humphrey have been expressing pleasure over new rise in farm prices. The feeling in the Farm Belt, however, is that National Federation of Independent Business Administration statements continue to hold the farmer responsible for rising prices.

The farmer, too, pays for escalating living costs. And can he be blamed for high bread and other food prices when his share amounts to less than a penny for most items?
Since 1960, the farmer's prices have increased 14 per cent, and his costs 12 per cent. The fact that twice as many dairy farmers quit their farms this year than ever before is a sure sign of discouragement, and a reason for subsequent increases in the prices of dairy products.
While the politicians in Washington butter up the farmers for November elections, housewives are expressing themselves about skyrocketing food costs. A case in point is a group of Phoenix, Arizona women who banded together vowing to bake their own bread until retail prices descended. They not only succeeded in lowering local prices, but spread the idea of pledged revolt to other quarters of the country.
President Johnson announced, "We have achieved prosperity." But one is compelled to listen to reports such as the one in the Christian Science Monitor: "Despite attempts by the Administration to underplay the increase in living costs, the upswing is considerably higher than indicated... the projection for 1966 is an increase of 3.6 per cent, compared to an increase of 2 per cent in 1965—a rise in the rate of increase of 80 per cent for 1966 over 1965." And despite more modern developments and automation increases, the actual take-home pay of workers has been shrinking annually, lower today than in 1961.

SAVED BY THE BELL. A neighbor has a small gong beside her telephone. Curiosity prompted a question as to its purpose, and she said, "When people call me and talk too long I just sound the gong and say, Excuse me, there's the bell. I'd better go."

Cowboy Corral

Last weekend was full of excitement here in Plains. Most of the community could be found supporting the Cowboys in their success of the tournament. This was the first tournament held here in a number of years. Our boys should be congratulated in keeping the 1st place trophy at home. Calvin Smith was chosen to be on the all Tournament Team. We want to congratulate him too. I want to compliment our boys on the good sportsmanship they showed. I want to encourage the audience to show as much sportsmanship. We want to thank the Stage Band for playing at our games. They are really doing a great job.

Last week the Annual Staff voted for dedication page. All are waiting till the annuals come out. The photographer came and made the rest of the pictures for the annuals last Friday, so the staff is busy getting pages ready.

The semester tests are almost over now. The kids are now dreading the report cards which will come out soon. High school will be registering for second semester Friday. There may be some new faces in some of the classes.

The Band is making plans for Solo and Ensemble Contest which is in March. Everyone can see a lot of hard work ahead of them. Let's bring back all 1's.

We've heard that the Volleyball team have been arousing early on Saturday mornings for practice. Their season will soon be underway. Let's be State Champs.

Is Home work a Tragedy or Triumph
Homework! the woe of the teenager. Well, at least that's what he thinks. Let's look at the problem with an open mind.

Many students would never accomplish their maximum without homework. Without homework the school day would have to be extended. Without homework there would not be an excuse to stay on the telephone another hour. Without homework you could no longer say, 'But Mom, I have a stack of lessons that would make Goliath seem small'. And you couldn't possibly meet that fabulous new student unless he needed help on some question.

When you get down to it, homework probably has more good points than bad. Now you don't have to agree with me, but we may as well look at the brighter side.

New Form Of Fluorides Cuts Tooth Decay

Vitamins with fluorides taken daily can reduce cavities in children up to 63 percent, three Indiana University dental scientists have discovered. Their study showed that the vitamin-fluoride product can be as effective in preventing dental caries as fluoridated water. This is the first time a controlled study using a type of fluoride administration that appears to be acceptable and practical for general use has shown results comparable to water fluoridation.

Their research project, reported in the Journal of Dentistry for Children, demonstrated that:

- After 36 months of product use, there was a reduction in dental caries of 63 percent in the primary teeth.
  - In the permanent teeth, dental caries were reduced 43 percent after three years of product use. Most of the children were too young to accumulate much experience with permanent teeth, however.
- Dr. Joseph C. Muhler, reporting for the dentists, stated that the fluoride-vitamin supplements used in the study (Tri-Vi-Flor drops, Poly-Vi-Flor drops and Poly-Vi-Flor chewable tablets) are an effective and practical method of supplying fluoride when it cannot be obtained through central or municipal water supplies.
- The results of this study are important because 63 percent of the population does not have access to fluoridated water supplies, recommended by dentists as the simplest method of protecting teeth against dental caries.

In the Indiana study, children as young as possible were included; 86 percent were under three years old. This was done because it is known that fluorides ingested in the body help teeth that are forming and calcifying, but have not yet erupted through the gums. In these children's temporary teeth, the reduction in tooth decay was evident after only 16 months of product use. Benefits increased as use continued.

The report stressed that the greatest benefit of the fluoride-vitamin supplement would be gained when taken from the earliest possible age through the time when the permanent teeth are formed - about age 8-10.

Patient and parent acceptance of this form of fluoride supplement proved high. Very few children withdrew from the study, the scientists said, evidently because the habit of taking daily vitamins had already been established. In a previous study of sodium fluoride tablets alone, nearly 80 percent withdrew.

A 15-year-old youth who has raised or trained more than 70 dogs during six years of 4-H work is one of three Texas young people to receive top state 4-H awards.

John Cherry, of Houston, who said he joined 4-H because of his love for animals, won the dog care and training award sponsored by the Ralston Purina Company.

Other state winners are Kathy Shaw, 18, of Big Spring, and Mary Kathryn Bluntzer, 18, of Goliad. Winners are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, which directs 4-H work.

Cherry, who cooperated with his brother in the dog care project, is presently raising two litters of Dachshunds and two of Beagles. He has also learned to be a ring steward at official dog shows. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cherry, he received a wrist watch from the program sponsor.

Miss Shaw, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, won the dairy foods award, a wrist watch, from the Carnation Company.

In addition to her dairy show entries, Miss Shaw has presented a number of dairy foods demonstrations stressing nutrition. A favorite dessert at club meetings, according to her club leader, is Miss Shaw's prize-winning cream cheesecake.

Miss Bluntzer, a 4-H'er for six years, received her award for excellence in photography.

"Since there is no photography project leader in our county, Mary Kay's efforts and leadership in photo work were a significant contribution to the success of the project," said Mrs. Edward Baecker, club leader.

Miss Bluntzer also made her project a profitable one by working as a photographer for the high school yearbook. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Bluntzer, she received a $50 United States savings bond from project sponsor, Eastman Kodak Company.

'Tight Money' And Its Result

What's tight money all about? Just what does the term mean? How does it affect you, the wage earner, the housewife, the family, and what can you do in planning the family finances to take the tight-money situation into account?

To get the answers, we talked to one of the country's top monetary experts, Dr. Charles E. Walker.

A former assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, and, before that, vice president and economic adviser of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Dr. Walker has been since 1961 executive vice president of The American Bankers Association.

Here's how part of our interview went:

Q. Dr. Walker, how does a monetary expert explain 'tight' money? What does the term mean, and what causes it?

A. 'Tight' simply means 'scarce'. There's a heavy demand for money, from people who want to borrow for one reason or another, and there isn't enough money to go around. It's as if you had a room with 10 chairs in it, and 12 people wanting to sit down. Q. Where did the money go, to create this scarcity? What happened to it?

A. It isn't a matter of there being less money. In fact, our nation's supply of money has been increasing all along. It's as if you had nine chairs in that room yesterday, and you brought another one in today, but at the same time, three more people came in looking for a place to sit down. Q. Then the question seems to be, 'Where did all those people come from?' Who are they?

A. Let's go back about a year. Our economy was riding the crest of a long, uninterrupted period of economic expansion. Four or five years earlier, unemployment had been a problem. Now employment was so high that production bottlenecks were developed were developing because of labor shortages. The machinery of production was almost at full capacity, cranking out all the goods possible with the available supply of men and machines. And just then, in '65, we suddenly asked the economy to do more, to turn the crank even faster.

Q. This is when we had the big escalation of the Viet Nam war?

A. That's right. War, of course, consumes enormous quantities of material, not just military goods, but everything from steam boilers to shoe-laces. And our economy was asked to produce all this in addition to what it was already turning out, working at nearly full capacity.

Q. Which meant that production facilities had to be expanded.

A. And financed. A company that needs half a million dollars for added plant space, new tools and machines, will usually call on some bank to furnish part or all of the money needed. So many producers of goods wanted funds, in order to increase output, that the demand for money began to surpass the supply.

Q. So that's the whole story. Producers of goods haven't been the only people demanding money. With everybody so busy and prosperous, consumer income hit new highs. We've all been buying new cars, television sets, appliances, boats, hundreds of things, in record quantities. A great deal of all this is financed directly or indirectly, by the same banks being asked to finance new production facilities. And finally, let's not forget the biggest borrower of all, the government. Domestic spending on the various Federal programs, in addition to the cost of a war, resulted in heavy Government borrowing.

Add up all of these demands on the money supply, and there just isn't enough to go around. Q. How does all this affect family finances? What should the average family take into account in its spending, saving, and financial planning?

A. The consumer public has felt the pinch of tight money principally in the mortgage market. Other than that, consumer credit hasn't been seriously restricted. Banks have had to be more selective about the loans they make, and they've had to say 'no' to some of their customers. But the money supply hasn't dried up entirely, by any means, and the banks are making every effort to meet the legitimate financial needs of the people in the community. Anyone with good credit who really needs a loan for a good purpose will usually be taken care of somewhere. And there are signs indicating that the worst of the problems about mortgage money is already behind us. Loans will probably be more available in the near future, though interest rates aren't likely to drop back all the way down to the old levels. Money is likely to remain relatively tight for some time. But what can have the most serious consequences for family finances is continued inflation.

Q. What's the relation between tight money and inflation?

A. Tight money is a kind of safety valve. When money gets scarce, and it becomes harder to borrow and spend, that tends to check the kind of inflation you get from 'too much money chasing too few goods,' in the classical phrase. Tight money has created problems for the banks, along with the banks' customers, but I think we all agree that the extra pinch is a small price to pay for anything tending to control inflation. That by itself, though, isn't likely to be enough to control inflation entirely. The heaviest spender, again, is the Government, and unless we move in the direction of a balanced Federal budget, through reduced non-defense spending, we're in danger of more inflation, and more of the rising prices that already have stirred up a lot of housewives.

Dr. Walker, along with other cally, the cotton program is the same as that we had in 1966. The only difference is the payments are higher.

Division of Payments: The normal way payments are divided is for tenants to receive 3/4 of all cotton payments and 2/3 of all feed grain payments. Since this is the way crops are divided, normally, a request for a division of payments other than the three-fourths and one-fourth and two-thirds and one-third will be carefully reviewed by the ASCS Committee to see that the payments are divided in accordance with the regulations. The county committee has been requested by farmers to carefully check into all cash rent deals to see that such cash rent deals are not a scheme to change the division of payments and farmers renting on cash rent basis should understand that contracts to participate in the program must be approved by their county ASCS Committee. All landlords renting out tenants expecting to participate in the programs should pickup a copy of the regulations so they will fully understand them.

Price Support Loans On 1966 Crops: Final dates for placing 1966 crops under loan are as follows: Grain sorghum, May 31, 1967; Cotton, May 1, 1967; Soybeans, June 30, 1967; Maturity dates are as follows: Grain Sorghum, June 30, 1967; Cotton, July 31, 1967; Soybeans, July 31, 1967.

economists we've talked to, thinks tight money will be with us for a while yet. Homeowners, in particular, will find interest rates pegged near present levels, while increased costs of material and labor will be reflected in substantially higher prices of new homes.

Whether we'll get the same kind of increases, across the board, in the cost of living, that's something few economists are willing to make firm predictions about. Too much depends, they feel, on Government's willingness to do something about living within its means.

Chisel plowing on the Jack Spears farm about 10 miles Northwest of Plains helps to control wind erosion and save moisture. G. T. Blount, operator, and Jack Spears are shown with the residue and clod of soil are using a Chisel Plow on Maize stubble.

Old Edwards, who farms Southwest of Plains, is using a new type Chisel plow. He plows a strip 140 inches wide and from 12 to 16 inches deep with the same tractor that breaks only 48 inches wide, and 10 to 12 inches deep.

Recipe For Salad: Take One Chemist...
 No one these days seriously questions the importance of chemistry in our lives. In almost anything that happens — dispatching a rocket to the moon, development of a new fiber for seamless hosiery, or curing measles — you'll find a chemist or two helping matters along. That goes for salads, too.
 The above picture of field workers harvesting a bumper lettuce crop not far from Phoenix, Arizona, really represents the climax of the story about how chemistry rescued the American salad. It's the happy ending that seemed so unlikely a year or so ago.
 When the United States Department of Labor closed the border to Mexican migrant workers, vegetable growers in the Southwest were convinced that they would never again have a decent crop. Braseros were important to their planning, especially when it came to controlling weeds in areas served by irrigation. A field overgrown with purslane around thinning time, for example, would be lost without competent hands to swing a hoe.

 A failure of the vital lettuce crops in Arizona and California would cause shortages coast to coast which, in turn, would force prices so high that the price of an average salad might be almost prohibitive.
 That's where chemistry came in.
 Chemical weed control was very well known. Diamond Alkali Company, a large chemicals manufacturer, had compounds working in wheat, corn, rice, flowers, turf—almost everything except certain vegetables. Diamond's pre-emergence herbicide, Dacthal®, had been tested on lettuce, however, and the company was waiting for specific clearance from the Food and Drug Administration as well as the Department of Agriculture.
 In mid-1965, clearance came through for some 30 vegetables, including lettuce. This was just in time for Southwest growers to work Dacthal into their summer programs. This many of them did, carefully incorporating the chemical into their soil, in most cases following a formula perfected with the help of university agronomists.
 It worked. Farmers not only reported record-breaking yields;
 they also showed savings of $35 to $50 and more per acre. One big Arizona grower said it cost him $80,000 less to get a crop in 1965 than it did in 1964 — and the 1965 crop was much greater.
 It would be nice to end this kind of story by reporting that the American salad eaters arose en masse and cheered their heads off for the chemists. That didn't happen, of course.
 For one thing, the chemists
 wouldn't have heard them.
 A lot is going on in the laboratories — and the doors aren't always open.

You have to be more than just good in the National Guard. You have to be... special! That's because today's Guard is meeting the toughest challenge in its 300-year history. It takes a special kind of man. In his spare time he studies and trains so that he is ready should the nation's security be threatened. When you see him on the street, in church, at a PTA meeting, you only see a neighbor, or friend or employee. Look again, and you see the face of a man who has voluntarily taken on a tough, demanding assignment. Military skills mean very little unless they are kept up-to-date and that's where the challenge of the National Guard comes into the picture. Make no mistake. He's meeting the challenge when he's in the Guard. Get behind the Guard in your town or city.

Good Gravy Makes The Difference

A good gravy makes a world of difference when you are serving fried chicken on noodles or many other delicious American dishes. Gravy for roasts, or chops or chicken, for stews and pot roasts use the same proportion of ingredients. Only the method varies.

OUR FAMILY GRAVY

1 tablespoon fat
1 cup liquid (water or stock)
2 tablespoons corn starch

2 tablespoons cold water
Salt and pepper, to taste
Seasonings, to taste

For roast or chicken gravy, pour off and measure fat, return just enough to cooking pan to provide 1 tablespoon fat for each cup of gravy. Add 1 cup liquid for each cup of gravy desired. Place over medium heat and stir; scraping pan with edge of spoon to loosen and dissolve brown juices. Mix the necessary amount of corn starch and cold water together until smooth; gradually stir in hot liquid, stirring constantly, until gravy thickens and comes to a boil. Taste and season, as needed. Add a few drops of gravy coloring, if desired.

For stew and pot roast gravy, remove meat and vegetables. Estimate or measure the amount of stock for gravy. Skim off excess fat. Add water to make 1 cup of liquid for each cup of gravy desired. Place over medium heat. Mix the necessary amount of corn starch and cold water together until smooth; gradually stir in hot liquid, stirring constantly until gravy thickens and comes to a boil. Taste and season. Let gravy simmer a few minutes.

Good Gravy Clues

Use milk for chicken, ham or veal gravy. Use part wine for gravy in stews and pot roasts. Experiment with herbs, spices and seasonings. Use in small amounts. Try paprika, oregano, curry, minced fresh garlic, tomato paste or catsup. Serve gravy piping hot. Serve in a pitcher to keep hot longer. Gravy thickens on standing. If necessary, stir in a little hot water and reheat.

Coach Richey Speaks To Lions

Coach John Richey was special guest speaker at the Plains Lions Club last week at the regular noon meeting. Coach Richey addressed the Lions concerning the First Annual Cowboy Invitational Basketball tournament. He told the members that the local team would make a strong attempt to capture the first place trophy, which they did later in the week.

The Basketball coach usually presents a program to the Lions Club annually. Coach Richey asked the Lions to support the home team with their attendance. He also thanked the members for their interest in local programs.

Robert Graham, Lions president, presided over the noon meeting. Coach Richey was introduced by Dickie Green, who was program chairman for the day.

The Lions Club is active in civic programs in Plains, furnishing a place for the scouts to meet, and supporting the Little League program in Plains.

The Lions Club only have one more payment to make on their building, and it will then be clear. Other programs that the Lions work on in Plains include the Broom Sale and the Rodeo. They also help at the Cowboy Relays which are scheduled for spring.

Local Lions are also in the process of starting a membership drive. The District Governor has urged all Lions Dens in the area to make January their membership drive month, said Graham.

hands. Meanwhile Leonard Lemley awaits the decision which will permit him to continue walking with his family, neighbors, and friends who earnestly plead for his freedom or to face the despair of returning to Alabama to face many years of heartbreak in prison.

Ghosts Spooking Your Color TV?

If you're getting "ghost" images in your color TV set, check to see if you have the right lead-in cable that carries TV signals from the antenna to your set.

An often overlooked troubleshooting spot, the wrong lead-in can lose up to 99% of the signal along its 50 to 100-foot length or add ghosts, distortion and zigzag patterns to your favorite TV programs.

Extreme sensitivity of color and UHF signals, plus the sizeable investment color TV represents, make careful lead-in selection more important than ever.

Which antenna lead-in is best for you? There are five types to choose from: (1) flat ribbon twin lead, used for years with black-and-white VHF sets, (2) tubular, a refinement of flat ribbon, (3) coaxial cable, (4) encapsulated twin lead, and (5) new shielded twin lead.

According to Belden Mfg. Co., which makes all five types, flat ribbon and tubular lead-ins are not recommended for color or UHF sets. Rain, dirt, salt and industrial deposits on these lead-ins greatly weaken signals. Also, metal standoffs, gutters, etc. can bounce signals back to the antenna, then down again. When a reflected signal reaches your set a split second late, a multiple image appears. Your eyes might compensate for this with black-and-white, but color TV produces an objectionable "ghost" of another color.

Your best overall choice is shielded twin lead, which delivers a strong signal on all 82 channels. Its aluminum shield keeps out electrical interference from auto ignitions, electric motors, welders, hospital equipment, and the like.

Shielded twin lead is easy to install. No special brackets (standoffs) are needed. It can be taped to an antenna mast, routed through pipe, buried underground, or fed along gutters.

Where interference is no problem, encapsulated twin lead will perform well. It has very low signal loss and costs a little less than shielded.

Coax also protects against electrical interference, but does not maintain signal strength as well as shielded or encapsulated lead-ins. It is not recommended for UHF use. Also, coax costs more to install, because it requires special transformers and connectors.

So, for best results make sure your TV serviceman uses either shielded or encapsulated twin-leads. And TV ghosts won't have a ghost of a chance with you.
