

County Oil $56.6 Million

More than $56.6 million a year of economic stimulation for Yoakum County flows from its oil and gas wells each year, an annual study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association showed today.

"As one of the 206 producing counties in Texas, Yoakum County's economy is sensitive to fluctuations in the oil industry generally," commented A. Dandreth, Fort Worth, Association president. "Long range, the demand for oil looks strong and current production rates continue to provide Texas a major source of its income. On the other hand, Texas operators are beset by competition from other oil producing areas, government ceilings on natural gas prices, heavy tax payments, and a price for crude oil that is insufficient to encourage the amount of exploratory drilling that is needed to find future reserves."

Based on latest U. S. Bureau of Mines production figures, Yoakum County in 1965 produced 18.2 million barrels of crude oil, valued at $53.8 million and 21.3 billion cubic feet of natural gas valued at $2.8 million, and ranks 18th among Texas counties in production.

In addition, plants which process natural gas for liquids such as natural gasoline, butane and propane in 1965 produced more than 111.8 million gallons of liquids valued at $5.4 million.

A major distribution of income from sales of oil and gas went to county landowners in royalty payments totaling more than $7.1 million. In 1966, a year that saw drilling in Texas fall to its lowest level since 1947, oil and gas operators drilled 51 wells in Yoakum County. Of these 1 was a wildcat seeking a new field.

The Association estimated that operators in the county spent more than $4.0 million in drilling last year, of which $482,804 was lost in dry holes.

Sharing heavily in the county's production each year is the State Treasury, which received $2.7 million in production taxes in 1965 paid by the producers and royalty owners. Crude oil production paid $2.5 million and natural gas production, $192,801.

Texas Employment Commission figures for 1966 show that some 625 workers directly employed in oil and gas operations accounted for a payroll in excess of $3.6 million.

Additional value is given oil and gas from the operation of processing plants. The Oil and Gas journal lists 2 natural gasoline plants in the county with a capacity of 171.0 million cubic feet per day.

Police

Roy McGehee, City Manager, announced that those needing to contact a police officer in the city should call Bobby Kinsey, City Policeman, at 456-3344. Kinsey lives at 1411 Ave G in Plains. He assumed his new duties this week.

Cotton Board Sends Info On Dollar Bale Research

Memphis, June 21—Forms and instructions for collecting $1 per bale from growers to finance a market expansion program under the Cotton Research and Promotion Order are being mailed this week by the Cotton Board.

Cotton Board Chairman G. C. Cortright, Jr., Rolling Fork, Miss., said the forms are being mailed to gins and other potential "collecting handlers."

The assessment is applicable to each bale of upland cotton produced from cotton harvested and ginned on or after June 10, 1967.

Covering letter to gins explains that one pad of the collecting handler report forms is being mailed for use of the gin if it buys cotton and for information if it does not. The forms may also be distributed by gins to buyers who might have not received a supply.

Instructions for use of the forms are provided on the cover sheet of the pad. An order card for additional forms also is enclosed.

Separate covering letter and a copy of the Cotton Board regulations went to cotton buyers, shippers, and warehouses.

"We have tried to make these forms as simple as possible yet complete enough so that, coupled with the gin reports, we can assure collection on every bale handled," Mr. Cortright notes in this letter.

Grenade Kills Donnie Morris In Viet Nam War Action

Donnie Morris, grandson of Mrs. J. H. Morris of Plains was killed in action in Viet Nam on June 19th by a hand grenade. Full military honors were conducted for Donnie Monday afternoon in Plains and funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church with Rev. James L. Bozeman officiating.

Donnie Morris was the first young man from Plains to pay the supreme sacrifice in Viet Nam. He was serving in the U. S. Army as a private 1st class and was a volunteer in the regular army.

Military honors with firing squad and taps were held at the Plains cemetery where the flag which had rested on his coffin was presented to his grandmother. Donnie had been reared by his grandmother since he was four years old. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and the last time home on leave in December he had attended services at the Baptist Church here.

Besides his grandmother, Donnie was survived by two aunts in Plains, Mrs. John Camp and Mrs. Sanford Weber. He was also survived by his uncle in Odessa, Mr. D. E. Lamance.

Other survivors included two sisters from Houston and the young soldier's mother and father.

The American Legion presented an honor guard at the funeral and at the grave side. They also maintained an honor guard at the funeral home as did the American Legion Auxiliary. The Legion and Auxiliary saw to it that someone was at the funeral home around the clock before burial.

Pall bearers were a group of young soldiers who had served in Viet Nam. Barrett's Funeral Home of Plains was in charge of arrangements for the funeral. Rev. Bozeman told how proud he was of Donnie for serving his God and Country. He also told of how the young soldier attended church services when he was home on leave.

A shocked community filled the Baptist Church in respect for the young man who was killed in action while serving as a soldier for his country.

Editorial

Taps sounded at Silent City for Donnie Morris Monday afternoon and his aged grandmother accepted the flag of our country which had rested on the young soldier's coffin. Donnie Morris was the first young man from Plains who has paid the supreme sacrifice in Viet Nam.

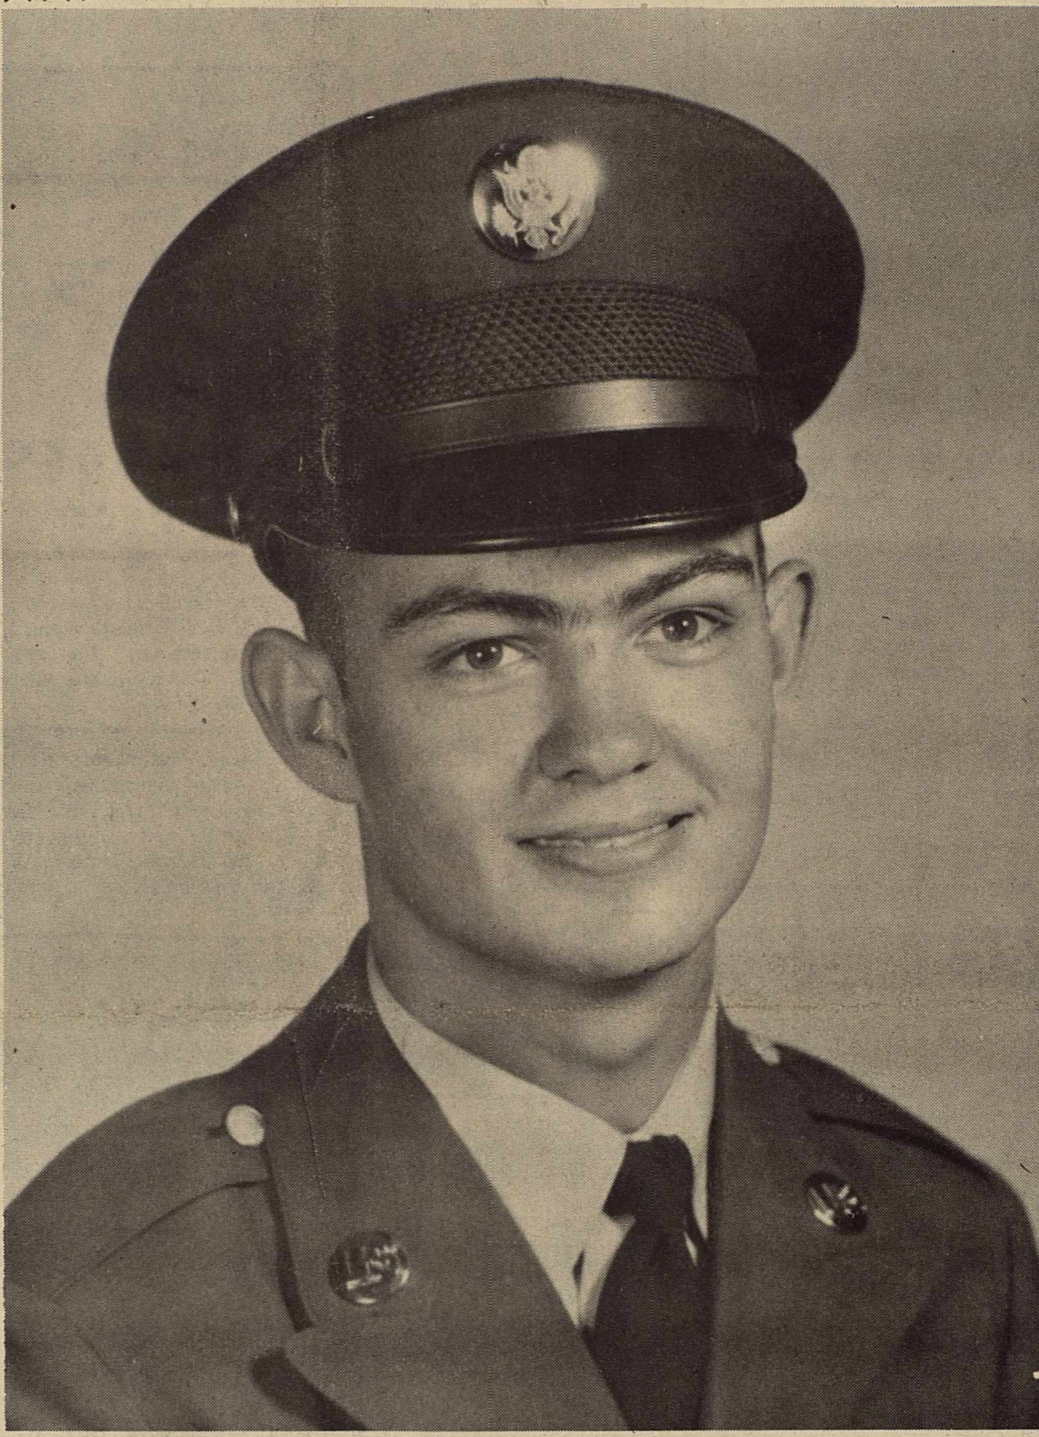

From the stand point of society young Donnie had received little. He had come from a broken home and possessed little in the way of worldly goods. He had neither fame nor fortune at his finger tips. But to some... perhaps his heart broken grandmother, and his minister, along with a few friends his life was not a failure even in the eyes of man.

The Rev. Jim Bozeman, in an almost urgent plea pointed out that young Donnie served his God and his country and volunteered his services in order that other men can be free.

Those who heard Rev. Bozeman's message received a lesson in Christian charity and one in American Heritage which was indeed rich. It is unfortunate that all Americans did not hear the Baptist minister's message.

Donnie Morris did not burn the flag of his country... he fought for it. He did not burn his draft card, but instead he volunteered to serve his country. There is a difference you know...

We at the Plains Record salute this young man who gave his life for his country and urge our readers to remember this... BE HUMBLE FRIENDS... DONNIE MORRIS LIES IN SILENT CITY BUT YOU STAND ALIVE IN FREEDOM BECAUSE OF THIS BRAVE YOUNG MAN AND THE OTHERS WHO SERVE THEIR COUNTRY.

PFC. DONNIE MORRIS

Tom Warren Named Legion Commander

Tom Warren was elected to serve as commander of Forrest W. McCargo Post 585 of the American Legion in Plains this year. Warren is a World War Two veteran and will head the local Legion post during the 1967-68 year. He replaces Wilson Duke as post commander.

D. H. Kerby was elected vice commander last Thursday night at the annual Bar-B-Q. The annual barbecue was attended by the state commander, Kerby is also a World War Two veteran.

Dick McGinty was re-elected as post adjutant to an office that he has held since 1965. McGinty is also a World War Two veteran. One of the first duties of the new commander was to lead a group of local Legionnaires in a guard of honor for Donnie Morris who was killed in action in Viet Nam.

Commander Warren expressed the sincere sympathy to the grandmother and survivors of the young Plains soldier in behalf of the members of Forrest W. McCargo Post 585 in Plains. The local post is named for the late Forrest W. McCargo who was killed in action in World War Two. Commander Warren praised past commander Wilson Duke for two fine years as commander of the local post. He also extended his appreciation to the Department Commander and other Legion officials who attended the annual election and installed the new officers for the post.

Monthly calls in the period from January through June ranged from a high of 1110 to a low of 674.

The Selective Service boards will forward 5016 men for draft pre-induction examination in July, an increase from 4000 in June.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction already have been figured and mailed to the state's local boards.

Colonel Schwartz also said state Selective Service had received a quota for four doctors of osteopathy to enter the Army or Navy in July, August, and September.

The Texas quota of 974 men for July is the state's share of a national call of 19,900. This manpower is for the army.

FHA Officers plan program for new year

Homemakers Plan New Year

The officers of the Plains Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met on June 26 and 27 to plan their programs of work for the coming year. The girls selected the following national projects: 1. Good Family Relations Through Communications. 2. Morals and Manners Matter. 3. Leisure Time Construction Time.

Some of the high lights for the coming school year include a Back to School Party for all girls interested in F. H. A.; Panels and skits during their meetings; A new years Banquet; F. H. A. Rally; Parents Night Out; and various parties throughout the year.

Some of the F. H. A.'s projects for the coming year are UNICEF Drive, Christmas Card Drive for the mental hospital, Heart Fund Drive, Send valentines to our soldiers in Viet Nam, TUBFRM to help fight T. B. in Europe through collection of canceled stamps.

The money making projects the girls will be taking part in are having a concession stand at ball games and other activities, a slave day and the selling of F. H. A. Birthday Calendars.

The various money making projects are used to send girls to state meetings, officers workshops, and various activities throughout the year.

Girls that participated in planning the yearbook and the years work were: Terri Taylor, President, Juanita Walker, Vice-President, Sharron Williams, Pam Barnett, Carolyn Wilmet, and the Chapter Advisor, Mrs. Inez Chambliss.

ASC Allotments

According to W.M. Overton, local ASC office manager, the total county allotment for 1967 is 40,130 acres. Farmers have signed up to divert 13,392 acres with 350 acres cotton allotment in the Soil Bank and Cropland Adjustment Programs; Leaving a total to be planted of 26,738 acres cotton. If farmers comply with their signed "intentions" they will receive cash payments in the amount of $2,277,147; with $295,000 having already been paid in advance payments. It appears that farmers in some sections of the county have not been able to plant cotton due to the drought conditions and in these cases if they believe it too late to plant cotton they now may sign a request stating their reasons for not planting and credit will be given for history and payment purposes. The land that would have been planted to cotton may be planted to other crops excluding feed grains, wheat, cotton, peanuts or sugar for harvest in the current year.

Farmers that have lost their cotton after June 10th or should they lose it after this time may file a request to have the land released for other crops and payments will be made and history preserved. In these cases the land could be planted to grain sorghum, however it does not change the grain base where the farm is in the feed grain program.

Little League action the Yanks held on to first place but the Giants are making a do or die bid for the championship with the Cubs threatening at their heels. The Giants downed the Yankees in the first game Tuesday night after a 1-1 deadlock had carried the game to the final innings. A series of Yank errors brought in 3 big runs to break the deadlock. The Giants continued to increase their lead in the next inning, and fought off a Yank rally in the sixth to win the game. Mickey Kennedy was credited with the win.

The Cubs fought off a determined Tribe to take a 7-3 win in the nightcap. Mike Cayce put homerun number three out of the park to help with the win and to keep the number one batting position. Jerry Parish hit a burning ball to the pitcher which broke the string in his glove to start a rally for the Indians, but it was all she wrote as the Cub pitcher retired the sides.

In the games Friday night the Yanks downed the Tribe and the Giants bombed the Cubs out of the park.

This Friday night will match the Giants against the Indians in the first game, and the Yanks will meet the Cubs in the second game. Game time has been moved up to 6:00 p.m. starting Friday night. The games have been starting at 6:30 p.m. Also there will be a ball game held on Monday, July 3rd and there will be no ball games played on July 4th. In Mondays game the Giants will play the Indians and the Yanks will play the Cubs starting at 6:00 p.m.

In the home run department Mike Cayce is first with 3 bombs followed by Mike McRae with 2; Joey Lowe, 2; Tony Chandler 1; David Sewell 1; and Randy Tidwell with one. Several inside the park homers on errors have been made but they are not listed.

In base action the Giants have come up with a triple and all teams have made two or more double plays this year.

CAYCE'S CORNER

Our trip to the Texas Press Convention was most interesting to us. We met many nice people in our field and enjoyed the brief vacation at the coast. The children were impressed with Galveston and the beach, but the best part of our little trip was the visit to San Jacinto where we saw the monument and the old Battleship U. S. S. Texas. When looking at the monument from directly beneath it, an optical illusion is created, and the thing looks like it is falling. I called Paris 'Chicken Little' until I looked up at the giant tower myself. When I did this, I almost took to tall timber.

We also visited San Antonio and of course visited the Alamo. I was not as impressed with the Alamo as I was when I visited it 20 years ago because of the commercial atmosphere which is now attached to it. It is true that the grounds are among the best kept ones in the country, and that the proceeds received from the gift shops help maintain the building, but when you think about the men who died there in 1836 it seems a bit barbaric to sell a game of the Alamo for five bucks.

Another thing which smelled of 20th century taste was the big picture in the entrance to the souvenir shop taken from the movie. Now I am one of John Wayne's most ardent fans, but the last thing that I expected was to see a picture from the movie trying to create the illusion that a canvas had been painted to represent the true people who fought in March of 1836 for their independence.

Texas history is most interesting if it is told the way it really happened. General Sam Houston certainly can be listed among the giants of American history but Texas historians don't help themselves one bit when they white wash what really happened to end the general's public life. Unless asked they choose to overlook the fact that perhaps the one thing which makes Houston a hero of national and international fame brings discredit to the state. We should teach our children what happened in order for them to receive a real lesson of courage and one which if followed will teach them to love their country more than they could if they didn't know the story.

You see, General Houston fought for Texas and for the Union. He loved his state, but he also loved his country. When mad men collided on a collision course in 1861 old Sam Houston was our governor. He stomped the state and stood for his beloved Union. He could take no all-gence to any other flag because he was an American first, last, and always. Sam Houston refused to take the oath of office to the Confederacy, and thus was removed from office of governor. He got the boot in every since of the word. The old general retired to his home and died a despoised man because he could not fire on the flag that he had defended. Sam Houston shed his blood for Texas, and stood up when the time came to be counted. To me this was far more important than his glorious victory at San Jacinto. In my son's history book the only mention of this is that Sam Houston retired from the office of governor to his home where he lived until his death a few months later. When it was extremely hard for a man to stand for his country General Houston gallantly met the challenge. Sam Houston stood up when the time came to separate the men from the boys. What about it, could we do the same?

Then, there's that once a month when a girl could use a good old-fashioned medicine.

Maybe you feel just plain bad then. Or maybe a little lonely and sad, like you could use a pair of arms around you. Well, we have just the thing for this once a month time. Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets. They're made with gentle, natural ingredients, including one that works to help relax tightened muscles that give you cramps. Plus a little iron that a girl could use at a time like this. And, you don't run any chance of the kind of unpleasant side effects you could get from some of the newer drugs.

With an old-fashioned problem like this, couldn't you take an old-fashioned medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Latt Lattimore visited Big Bend National Park last week-end. Latt reports that it is one of the best trips that a person can take because of the interesting formations and because the park is so well kept. The thing which impressed the Lattimores about the Big Bend Park is the fact that the area is free from litter. Latt said it is hot there at this time of year, but that it is a trip worth taking.

The Lattimores returned by Ft. Stockton to visit relatives. They also stopped at Monohans for a brief visit. The Lattimores said the trip was educational and it is so close that it would be a shame for a person never to go to Big Bend.

PAM PARROTT

Pam Parrott Graduates

Pam Parrott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tex Parrott of Plains, received her Associate of Arts Degree from South Plains College in Levell and recently.

Miss Parrott plans to enter North Texas State in Denton in September.

The graduate was 1965 Rodeo Queen for the Plains Old Settlers Reunion and Rodeo. She was also a cheer leader in Plains High before her graduation. Pam is a business education major and is looking forward to earning her degree in Denton.

FHA Girls At Tech

1,004 Future Homemakers of America from 127 schools were on the Texas Tech campus June 22-23 to participate in the fourth annual F. H. A. Officers Leadership Workshop sponsored by Tech's School of Home Economics.

'Teen Leadership' was the theme of the two-day series of lectures, training sessions and fun programs planned for state, chapter and area officers and their chapter advisors.

The officers that attended from Plains were Terri Taylor, president, Pam Barnett, secretary, Juanita Walker, vice-president, Phyllis Kreig, treasurer, Carolyn Wilmeth, reporter, and Mrs. Bobby Chambliss, Chapter Advisor.

Directors of the workshop were Dr. Margaret Sitton, assistant professor of Home Economics Education, and Miss Billie Williamson, assistant Dean of School of Home Economics.

Speakers at the 10:30 a.m. opening general session in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium were 1966-67 Area 1 President, Janie McManigal of Happy, and 1967 Tech graduate Ross Lynn Spradling of Lubbock. Miss McManigal's topic was leadership in F. H. A. and Miss Spradling spoke on Designs for Leadership.

Small work assemblies went into session at 1:30 to exchange with other officers ideas to become better acquainted with the responsibilities of your F. H. A. office and to help strengthen your chapter.

The evening entertainment started at 7:30 p.m. at the Grand Ballroom Student Union with 'The Bellairs' from the First Baptist Church of Lubbock performing. They played several songs with bells each ending with a thunder of applause. The evening ended with a Summer Fashion Show with a preview of fall fashions sponsored by Hemphill Wells Department Store.

The F. H. A. workshop concluded Friday afternoon after Dr. William S. Banowsky, minister of the Broadway Church of Christ, spoke on 'The World Is In Your Hands.' He said, 'We have learned to split the atom now we must learn to unite the world.'

The local girls that attended this workshop brought home many new ideas and will be able to help their local club have a better year after attending this workshop. They wish to express their appreciation to their club and other members of the F. H. A. who helped to make this trip possible.

Pancakes From Mrs. America Pageant

Mrs. Pancake America 'stripes' the Old Glory Pancakes with which she won her title at the 1967 Mrs. America Pageant in San Diego.

Patricia Ann Francomecaro, of Annandale, Virginia, mother of six, won the Aunt Jemima Pancake Variety Event over contestants from the other 49 states and the District of Columbia. Each developed and prepared a pancake recipe for the competition. Her Fourth of July brunch platter, decked for the competition with 13 tiny American flags, uses cherry pie filling, sour cream and blueberry preserves for patriotic stripes.

All the contest recipes are available to you in a free booklet, 51 PANCAKE RECIPES From The 1967 Mrs. America Pageant. Write: Pancake, Box 3846, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

OLD GLORY PANCAKES

Makes 4 servings

- Pancakes:
 - 3/4 cup Aunt Jemima Buttermilk Pancake Mix
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 6 eggs, separated
 - 3/4 cup dairy sour cream
- Filling:
 - 2 tablespoons butter, soft
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 cup sugar
- Topping:
 - 3/4 cup canned cherry pie filling
 - 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
 - Dairy sour cream
 - 1/2 cup blueberry preserves

Place mix and salt in bowl. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add beaten yolks and sour cream to mix. Stir until batter is fairly smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into batter.

For each pancake, pour about 1/4 cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 12 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once. Spread pancakes with butter. Combine cinnamon and sugar; sprinkle on pancakes. Roll up.

For topping, combine cherry pie filling and almond extract; set aside. Arrange roll-ups in 2 rows on oval serving platter, seam side down. Put a stripe of sour cream down center of roll-ups. Put a stripe of cherry pie filling and a stripe of blueberry preserves on either side.

Plant the Seed

where you expect to Reap

IT'S what you might call a commonly recognized agricultural principle that if you want to do your harvesting on a particular piece of ground, that's the place to sow your seed.

Using the same general type of reasoning, it is obvious that if you want to harvest a nice crop of prosperity... in the form of better business, a better job, a better community in which to live... it's advisable to plant your trade dollars where they will produce growth for you, rather than for somebody else.

The homes we live in... the jobs and businesses which support us... the schools and churches that teach our children and enrich our lives... the convenient stores and service establishments that supply our everyday and emergency needs... none of these were built, nor are they supported by the dollars that are spent in some other community or city.

Bill Smith and John Goad

Bill Smith and John Goad of Smith-Goad Chevrolet Incorporated, are two of those automobile sales and service dealers of Lovington who have consistently forged ahead in their business. They have also put their shoulders to the wheels of civic progress whenever concerted help was needed in furthering enterprises promoted for the general welfare of the community.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Goad were never men given to wishful thinking. Because their methods are those of direct action, and whether the problem at hand is one concerning their own business or that of a civic nature, they attack it with optimism and vigorous enthusiasm. Add to this their acknowledged business ability and their keen sense of values, and it is easily understood why they are almost invariably successful in business or other matters.

We feel that it is our duty to call the attention of our readers to these worth-while characteristics of Bill Smith and John Goad, and to pay them a well-deserved tribute for their straight-forward business methods, and for the unselfish interest they have shown toward public welfare.

Joe E. Sanders

We wish in this edition to pay tribute to Joe E. Sanders of Joe's Texaco Service, for his many services to the city of Lovington, and his splendid record of achievements in the business life of the city.

Mr. Sanders probably has as wide a circle of friends as any other man we could name, because he is just naturally the kind of individual who makes friends with almost everyone, and always conducts himself in such a manner as to deserve the respect and good will of all who know him. Lovington is fortunate in being able to number among its more progressive business men, citizens of this type.

He is always ready and willing to lend his support to the promotion of any project which promises to benefit this entire district.

He may be depended upon, and his services to the motoring public are too many in number to be described here. It may be sufficient to say that we consider Joe Sanders an asset to the community, and a progressive business man of whom the city may be proud.

Finley Worthington

Logically a man who has earned the reputation of being one of the region's more dependable cotton buyers would in so doing, have earned the friendship and good will of a great many people throughout this entire district. And one who justly deserves that distinction is - modest, efficient, friendly, Finley Worthington, who has a great many friends and business acquaintances throughout this section of Southeastern New Mexico.

Mr. Worthington is the type of man who would be an asset to any community, not only because the successful conduct

Mrs. Dalia Toscano and Lorena Mackey

To be a consistent and persistent booster of any community, often takes courage and plenty of optimism.

It is because of their unflinching faith in the future of Lovington and the surrounding country, and their unflinching efforts to promote its development, that Mrs. Dalia Toscano and Lorena Mackey are selected now for this brief tribute.

Mrs. Toscano and Mrs. Mackey have proven very ably that they are restaurant operators of unusual ability, for it is largely due to their ideals of service, coupled with

Bob, Leo and Clifford Kerby

Due to the efforts of a group of wide awake business executives, the city of Lovington has attained a dominant position in the business and industrial life of this section of Southeastern New Mexico and West Texas. And three men who have justly earned credit for being progressive members of that group are Bob, Leo, and Clifford G. Kerby of Fannie Lee Mitchell Incorporated.

It is because of the successful operations of such a business as theirs that the city of Lovington has earned the

PROGRESSIVE AND CIVIC-MINDED PEOPLE OF LOVINGTON AND VICINITY

This department has been worked up largely as a reflection of public opinion. No person has written of themselves or their business. All articles have been compiled by a representative of the Plains Record as he saw conditions. These people are all leaders in their various lines of endeavor and the co-operation of those citizens in Lovington who helped make this department possible is sincerely appreciated.

PLAINS, TEXAS

Ken Schrader

It is fitting in this review of conscientious Lovington business men that we acquaint our readers with the one to be credited with having maintained the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Lea County, in the enviable position it holds in the business and commercial life of this area. That personality is Ken Schrader, whose genius for organization, and for the converting of new ideas into actual deeds, has played a vital part in the distinctive reputation which the association now enjoys throughout this entire district.

Mr. Schrader has found time, in addition to his business interests, to give thought and energy to community projects. He is a citizen whose talents have been steadfastly devoted to the best interests of the city. He has been successful in his own business, and in the promotion of the general welfare of the community.

We are glad to pay this brief tribute to him, and to say that this district owes much to the many benefits which Ken Schrader and the First Federal Savings & Loan Association have rendered to the people.

Olen L. Elliott

Olen L. Elliott, manager of the Halliburton Company, has won the universal respect and good will of the oil operators of this region for his progressive manner in which he has kept this reliable company in the forefront of the business and industrial life of this entire district. Also for the efficient and friendly willingness he has displayed in accepting his share of responsibility in aiding civic projects.

Mr. Elliott is not the kind of man who makes himself conspicuous by the manner in which he conducts himself, either in business or other matters. Yet, his quiet reserve and air of confidence mark him as a man of sound judgment, whose opinions and advice are sought after, and listened to with respect.

We compliment Olen Elliott for the successful management of the Halliburton Company, and also for his constructive advice and help on those civic affairs in which he has found time to interest himself. He is a man whom many are proud to call friend.

It isn't the size or volume of a man's business which determines its value to the community in which he lives. But rather by the manner in which it is conducted. Which, to a greater or lesser degree, reflects the personality and character of the individual. The value of L. E. Rylant's business to the city is a reflection of his dependability, and a determination to render the utmost in service, a policy which has caused the Army Store to be so well thought of, and so widely patronized by the people of Lovington and the surrounding area.

That same progressiveness and ability which has made him so successful in his own business, has also fitted Mr. Rylant to be of assistance on community projects and public drives. Moreover, he does so cheerfully, and with a friendly spirit of cooperation that is always more than welcome.

It is a pleasure to include L. E. Rylant in this Lovington review, and to wish him further success in his field of endeavor.

In mentioning some of those men who are taking a progressive part in the evolution of the business life of this section of Southeastern New Mexico and West Texas, we would be censored if we failed to include L. D. Bingham, manager of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, who has a great many personal friends throughout this entire region.

Mr. Bingham is that solid type of individual whose fairness and friendliness, and sincere desire to be of service, are accountable for a large measure of his success. And as time goes on, his personal interests have become more closely interwoven

Sidney and Nedra Cain

To serve the public honestly, efficiently, and cheerfully, is the basic foundation many progressive business men and women of Lovington have found to be the shortest route to success. In making this statement, the two we have in mind are Sidney L. and Nedra Cain of the C & T Package Store. The popularity and patronage enjoyed by their many services accentuates the ideals of courtesy and efficiency which they have consistently applied in the management of the business, and in the servicing of its customers.

The conduct of such businesses, and those who operate them, have done much to make Lovington the business center for many miles around. And it is fitting that we give credit where credit is due to such citizens as the Cain's for their part in the onward progress of the city. In doing so, we are merely putting into words the opinions of those who know them.

Nedra and Sidney Cain have earned their success by the method in which they have served the public, and accepted both civic and business responsibilities. We wish them every success in the future.

Jack L. Massengale

In editing this review of capable Lovington business executives, it is fitting that we should include some of those who, by their aggressiveness, have definitely established themselves in the business and industrial life of the city.

Such a man is Jack L. Massengale, manager of International Harvester Sales & Service, who also deserves an additional word of praise for being more than just successful. He is a consistent and enthusiastic booster of the community, and in his way has done much to advertise the city.

Mr. Massengale has pursued the progressive policy of stepping up his business ahead of the times, thus setting a pace for which he has earned the reputation of being a go-getter, who does not sit back and wait for the business to come to him.

We are glad to pay tribute to Jack Massengale, and to point out to our readers that his sincere desire to be of service, coupled with his determined methods, are largely responsible for the standing of International Harvester Sales & Service, throughout this area.

It is because of the unflinching optimism and faith which he so consistently displays toward the future of Lovington and vicinity, that we are prompted to call the attention of our readers to the fine service which Leo D. Williams, manager of the Illinois-California Express Truck Lines, performs in the successful conduct of the business.

Mr. Williams is an aggressive and resourceful personality, whose progressive policies have earned for him a widespread reputation as a business man of more than average ability; and his apparent willingness to devote some of that ability to the promotion of civic activities further enhances his value to the city.

The safety and efficiency of the operations of the Illinois-California Express Truck Lines, reflecting as it does the executive ability of this man, has earned for the firm a well deserved popularity among the people they serve. We are glad to give Leo Williams the credit he so well deserves for his achievements, and to wish for him a continued successful career as one of Lovington's more progressive business men.

Trucking is an important business to the Southwestern part of the United States and especially to Eastern New Mexico. Mr. Williams renders important services to his community in being associated with this vital business to our economy. This gentleman is a credit not only to Lovington, but to Eastern New Mexico and West Texas.

With the business activities of his community. As a result he has, quite naturally, become accepted as one who can be called upon, and who will cheerfully do his part to further the development of those worth-while projects to which he is best fitted to lend assistance.

L. D. Bingham has, by the successful operation and management of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, earned the friendship and good will of his fellow citizens. He is to be complimented for his activities, and we only express the wish of his business associates in wishing him continued success.

Ardie Nowell

Our issue today proposes to call the attention of our readers to some of those dependable and civic-minded men who have contributed their share of time and energy to the building up of Lovington and the surrounding territory to the position of prominence which it now enjoys.

One of those to whom we wish to call the attention of our friends is Ardie Nowell of Nowell Rexall Drugs, a firm where pharmacy is a profession, and not merely a sideline.

He is a man who has never spared himself in his aggressive march forward, and one whose competitors respect as much as do all others with whom he comes in contact.

Mr. Nowell is at all times conscious of his civic responsibilities, and may be depended upon to meet in every detail, the many opportunities which present themselves to be of service to his city.

Ardie Nowell's record of achievement is one of which he may well be proud. His value to the city and this district is an established fact, and we hasten to give him the credit which is his just due.

J. Clyde Wilkinson

Every progressive and successful business man in Lovington contributes in some manner to the growth and progress of the city, and one who is always willing to do his part in both civic and business activities is J. Clyde Wilkinson of the Bovaal Supply Company, who is well known, and has a great many personal friends and business associates throughout this entire district.

The prominent part that the Bovaal Supply Company is playing in the business and oil activities of this region, mirrors the dependability and honesty of such men as he. Moreover, Mr. Wilkinson has also at all times been steadfast in his devotion to the city and the surrounding country, and on many occasions has lent his support to the promotion of meritorious civic projects.

Lovington and this district are fortunate to have such a man as J. Clyde Wilkinson in a position of responsibility and service, and this newspaper feels that it merely reflects public opinion in paying this brief tribute to one of the city's more conscientious business men.

Bobby G. Baker and Alvis Hill Jr.

In every community there are a number of business men who can be pointed out as having taken a three-fold part in the onward progress of their city. Two well known individuals of Lovington who belong in this category are Bobby G. Baker and Alvis Hill Jr., of the B & H Janitor Service.

Their leadership in their line of business is recognized throughout this entire district. And their furtherance of civic activities, and support of those organizations whose main objectives are directed along lines of civic betterment and community progress is well known to their immediate associates.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Hill are men who are equally well liked and respected by their intimate friends and their customers. They are loyal to their community, thankful for their success in business, and have shown their appreciation by their contributions to various civic movements of benefit to the city.

We congratulate Alvis Hill Jr., and Bobby Baker for being good citizens, dependable business men, and boosters of their community.

His fine station continues to find, much of which is due to his unceasing attention to detail, and his ability to cope with new and unexpected problems.

Wilton Green is also civic-minded, and has, when asked, cheerfully cooperated on those civic activities to which he has been able to lend assistance. He more than deserves the respect and good will which he has earned, and his many personal friends and customers are confident that he will continue to maintain his usual integrity and high standards.

Wilton Green

In bestowing credit upon some of the more progressive business men in this region, who in one way or another, have contributed their bit to improve both business and civic conditions, we wish to publish a few words about Wilton Green of the Wilton Green Service Station.

Mr. Green has set a standard for himself, and the operation of his business that, under present existing conditions, has been very difficult to maintain. However, that he has done so is proved by the large volume of business which

School Set

It was announced today by Richard Bunting, Office Manager, Texas Employment Commission in Lubbock that his office had requested a training project be approved under the Manpower Development Training Act (MDTA) to train Farm Equipment Mechanics. The training project is expected to be approved to start some time in July.

Mr. Bunting reported that the training will be conducted in the Lubbock area, but the location is not yet known. The exact requirements for the training have not been announced, but in general, any person with mechanical experience or aptitude, 18 years or above with 10th grade education or equivalent, may qualify for the training. Training allowances are paid in most instances.

Mr. Bunting announced that his office is compiling a waiting list for this training project and invites anyone interested to contact T. K. Morris at the Lubbock office, at 1602 16th Street.

Nation's Outstanding Young Farmers

The nation's four Outstanding Young Farmers of 1966-67, and Andrew A. Urban of the National LP-Gas Association, who with the U. S. Jaycees, sponsor the annual event.

Galeano over a span of years has built his operation from 120 to 964 tillable acres, on which he raises cotton, alfalfa, beans, oats, hot house tomatoes, and potatoes.

Machek is the world's largest grower of cut flowers, which he supplies to commercial florists.

Myers started in the business of farming with an agricultural degree and $2500 savings which he spent as down payment on 10 cows and a second-hand tractor. Today he has a herd of 450 cattle on his 1100-acre farm, and in addition raises cotton, corn, wheat, and soybeans.

Richards started with an agricultural degree and debts of $25,000 which he repaid in four years from his farming operation and today operates a 1600-acre cattle and corn farm.

The four were chosen from a field of 46 Outstanding Young Farmers from as many states, at the annual awards program at Harrisonburg, Virginia. The state representatives were survivors of an original field of 12,000 Outstanding Young Farmers participating in programs in some 1200 communities the length and breadth of the country.

Ex-Students Picnic

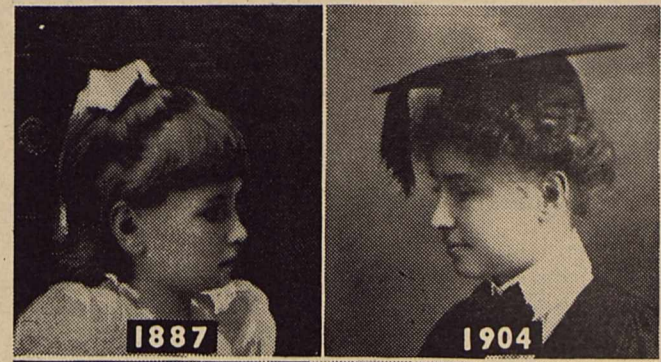

An ex-students of Plains High School covered dish picnic and visit has been planned for Saturday, July 1, beginning at 5:00 p.m. Everyone that was a part of the classes of Plains graduating in 1951, 1952, 1953 and 1954, or anyone interested in visiting with these classes are invited to attend.

The picnic will be held in Stanford Park and everyone is invited to attend and to bring a covered dish along with tableware. Also if you know of someone that might be interested in attending the party please let them know about it.

After the picnic there will be a family swimming party at the local pool.

Helen Keller Celebrates 87th Birthday

Helen Keller, one of the most admired and honored women of all time, will celebrate her 87th birthday on June 27. Miss Keller, world-famous for her triumph over blindness and deafness, will mark the day quietly with close friends and family at her home in Connecticut.

The graduation of a deaf-blind person from a university was considered a miracle in 1904 when Helen Keller received her degree from Radcliffe. Since that time she has devoted the major part of her life to helping other blind and deaf-blind persons in this country and throughout the world.

Although she is unable to participate so actively today, she maintains her interest in the work of the American Foundation for the Blind and the Helen Keller World Crusade for the Blind. These two organizations, headquartered in New York City, continue the programs which Miss Keller pioneered in providing blind and deaf-blind people with the opportunities for education and a full, independent life.

Through her travels for these organizations over six continents she met most of the leaders of our time, all of whom have felt the wonder and warmth that she inspires. Countless others have learned of her attainments through her books, which have been translated into more than 50 languages, and school children in all corners of the globe study her life story.

Mayors, governors, presidents and prime ministers are expected to send congratulations to Miss Keller on June 27. Others will honor her by supporting the programs for blind people which she led for many years.

Rain! Rain!

General rains fell throughout the South Plains and Yoakum County over the weekend registering at least three inches in areas that had missed earlier rains.

Farmers were preparing to get into the fields at press time to finish planting.

For the first time in months the economic picture of the farm area looked brighter. Many farmers had not received enough rain to plant their crops on and time was running out.

The rains were the heaviest between Lovington and Plains with up to five inches being registered in places.

The rains fell slowly and gave the maximum amount of help to farmers in the area.

Ranchers were also reported to feel optimistic about the help that was given to the pasture lands by the general rainfall in the area. Much of the area had not received more than an inch or two of rain since last August when 16 inches fell during the month.

Read Now

If you have a little one that enjoys being read to, be sure to take them to the library on Tuesday evenings at 3:00 P.M. The reading program lasts from 3 to 4 and volunteers are entertaining the youngsters with their best loved stories. Six listeners came Tuesday afternoon and listened to Pamela Harrelson read. Also, the Summer reading program is underway at the library, with 74 signed up at this date. Each one is reading fast trying to get their six books read so they will receive their summer reading button. Everyone is invited to join the reading program. In order to receive a certificate each participant must read at least 12 books before August 31. Be sure to spend some of your leisure time with a good this summer.

Circle Meets

The Tidenburg Circle of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday morning for their regular meeting. Those attending the meeting were Mesdames: Gayle Craft, J. C. Charnbliss, Herbie Pickett, Gaylon Tekell and Carl Spears.

The program that was presented was about the guidelines to follow to help organize a Southern Baptist Mission which will work in the Utah and Idaho areas.

The next meeting of the W. M. S. will be held on July 11th from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon at the First Baptist Church.

Everyone is invited to attend the meeting. A nursery is provided.

Senator Tower Speaks on Morality

Senator John G. Tower I have spoken in recent weeks to a number of college audiences. Without exception I have found today's college students deeply concerned about the problems of Vietnam. It is not surprising that they should be concerned just as all Americans are, but it is significant, I think, that our students also are widely read, well informed and digging constantly into the deep political and moral ramifications of this Vietnam confrontation between freedom and communism. I heard a good deal of campus discussion about the question of whether or not the American position on Vietnam is a 'just' one—about whether Vietnam is immoral or mo-ally correct. On this question of morality, I would like to quote for you recent words of The Reverend Edward Elson, minister of Washington's National Presbyterian Church. Said Dr. Elson: 'Military force as such is neither morally right nor morally wrong. It is the uses to which it is put—the times, the places, the amount and the purposes—which determine the moral or immoral use of force. 'And in this stage of the development of mankind,' Dr. Elson continued, 'failure to use military force in the proper time and place, and for the proper purpose, can be disastrous and highly immoral.'

Those words sum up, I believe, the morality question in Vietnam. There is involved in Vietnam a transcendent moral ethic—the right of mankind to determine its own destiny. Certainly this is at the heart of the Judeo-Christian ethic which teaches that man is created in the image of God, by which we mean that he is given free will to determine his own destiny. Applying this standard to the conflict in Vietnam, is our cause just? I believe that the answer is an unequivocal yes, because our objective in Vietnam is to permit the South Vietnamese to determine their own destiny.

It is clear to me that the war in Vietnam is no simple civil conflict. Its roots are traceable in history. Its inspiring, tactics, and even its language are familiar to all who have studied communism. It is an attempt by North Vietnam to impose an unwanted rule on a sovereign nation, an attempt clearly nourished by massive support from Red China, the Soviet Union, and other communist nations throughout the world. In a word, what we see in Vietnam is aggression. It is a fact that brutality and wanton terrorism are deliberate tools of the communists in Vietnam, as they have been elsewhere in the world. It is no surprise when the most talented members of a village are threatened, beaten, kidnapped, or forced to serve the enemy. It is deliberate when the enemy destroys schools and hospitals. It is intentional when he attacks the heart of cities.

Knowing these things, I find it difficult to understand the convoluted logic which leads some to condemn this nation for 'immorality' and to defend terrorism as a heroic struggle. In the world of today, the national interest of the United States is international. Our role of leadership is inescapable. We cannot fulfill a meaningful destiny as an affluent but passive witness to great principles in contest. We have, as you know, not been passive. For more than 20 years we have made a major contribution to the security and stability of Western Europe. As a consequence, that area has prospered economically, and both peace and freedom have been preserved. Again, in Korea, we stood fast for the principle of self-determination. Today, South Korea is freer than it has ever been, politically responsible, economically resurgent, and able to play a leading role in Asian affairs. In Southeast Asia, as a further extension of our leadership role and our support of self-determination, we committed ourselves through the SEATO treaty. All these commitments to principle, and our similar interests in other world areas, are interrelated. A principle worth defending any place is worth supporting in other places. A promise kept in one place gives integrity to promises made in other places. Aggression halted in one place discourages aggression in other places. We must stand behind the commitments we have made if we hope to preserve peace rather than permit raw and naked power to govern. We act in our national interest when we stand behind those commitments; we act against our national interest when we do not.
