The Record

BY JOE HUGHES

JUST BECAUSE a person is in the newspaper business does not mean that he will always know everything that is taking place in the community in which he lives and works.

Without the help of the people living in and near the area served by the local newspaper, it can never successfully do the job that is reserved for it—to inform the public of events in as true and fair a prospective as possible.

The primary purpose of this column, as well as every other column in this and future issues of The Record, is to keep the people of Plains "in the know."

This will be made possible only if the information contained in each issue of The Record is the end result of the efforts and contributions of everyone in the community as well as the stories gathered by The Record staff.

News "tips" are most welcome and your assistance in helping with our coverage of the news will be appreciated. I feel that a newspaper should endeavor to stress local news. The major news stories of national interest are covered adequately by the radio and television news medias. Within minutes, they can be on the air with the highlights of major stories.

A newspaper cannot compete with this type of coverage unless it publishes several times each day, which is of course, impossible in smaller communities.

Society events, which sometimes seem to be a separate portion of any paper, will be staffed by someone from The Record if we are contacted.

Your help is needed and will be most appreciated. I look forward to meeting the people in this area.

E. W. Craig Explains Ballot Confusion

Yoakum County Tax Assessor - Collector E. W. Craig moved recently to dispel confusion surrounding qualifications for balloting in the Nov. 11 special election of District 75 state representative and on six proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

Some persons are confused about which voter registration certificate should be used in the Nov. 11 election, said Craig, pointing out that registration now is under way for qualifying for voting in 1968 elections.

'Persons voting in the Nov. 11 election should use the registration certificates they obtained last year and which are good for elections through Feb. 28, 1968', the tax official explained.

'The registration certificates voters are obtaining now are good only for elections held between March 1, 1968, and Feb. 28, 1969.'

Persons who did not register last year because they were 60 years of age, or older, may ballot in the Nov. 11 election on the strength of the exemption, Craig added.

He emphasized, however, that persons 60 years of age, or older, must register before Jan. 31, 1968, to be eligible to ballot in the 1968 elections.

Registration is free.

Big Gain On Plains In Cotton Harvest

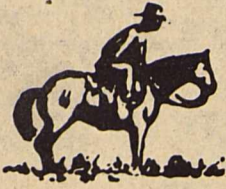

Cotton stripping and picking operations increased in the Brownfield area during the past week, according to W. E. Cain, in charge of the Brownfield Cotton Classing Office of the USDA. This was reflected in the increase of cotton samples received at the Brownfield Classing Office.

Fifty-six hundred samples were classed at the Brownfield office during the week ending Friday, October 27th, bringing the total classed this season from the Brownfield area to 10,900.

Early harvested cotton in the Brownfield area has been of high quality.

Gloryland Quartet Plans Appearance Here Saturday

Lion Boss Johnnie L. Fitzgerald invites the public to attend an old fashioned Gospel singing at the Plains High School auditorium Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. The Gloryland Quartet of Roswell will be in Plains for the program Saturday, and admission is 50 cents for children and $1.00 for adults.

The Gloryland Quartet was a big success, playing to a capacity crowd the last time they came to Plains. Lion Boss Fitzgerald said the funds from the program will be used for Lions Club activities in Plains, which includes the sponsorship of Little League in Plains.

Several months ago when the Gloryland Quartet was in Plains, the group was praised for presenting a fine family type program. The group sings family favorites from a host of well-known hymns.

The local Lion Boxx urges the public to support the Lions Club by attending the program this Saturday. He also adds that he believes it will be a night of the best entertainment that the people will enjoy for a long time.

In other Lions Club news, Fitzgerald announces that the mortgage on the Lions Club has been paid off. A suitable mortgage burning program will be arranged in the near future.

The Lions Club Building is also used as the Boy Scout Hut. Scouting is another project of the Plains Lions Club.

Part of the proceeds from the Gloryland Quartet program will also be used for scouting in Plains.

Fitzgerald said that when a project is needed for the community, that the Lions Club is often called upon to help out. He said the public can return the favor by attending the program at the school Saturday night.

Cowboys Blast Eagles, Face Springlake Friday

The Plains Cowboys remained in contention for a share of District honors Friday night as they branded the O'Donnell Eagles 48-0 at Cowboy Field in Plains.

The Cowboy season mark stands at 7-1, and their hopes for a share of the District honors rests on the outcome of the Seagraves - Coahoma battle which looms as the big game in District 5A this week. Tahoka was eliminated last week, when they fell to Seagraves 12-10, while Coahoma also has hopes left of a share of the title if they can manage a win at Seagraves tomorrow night.

Plains defeated Coahoma in a real battle this year, but the Bulldogs came back strong against Tahoka and powerful Jal, New Mexico in a pair of impressive wins.

The Cowboys' journey to Springlake, where they will be a three touchdown favorite to make a successful invasion. Coach Sewell's Cowhands will take an impressive team against Springlake, and will be strong favorites to set the season mark at 8-1 this year.

The final game of the season will be against the Tahoka Bulldogs at Tahoka next week. The Bulldogs have lost three games this year, but have a good team. Coahoma beat them by two points in the final minute, and the Eagles came from behind to edge them by three points.

Plains will take a strong defense with an impressive ground and air attack into action at Springlake Friday, and the Springlake team is not expected to be able to stop the well-balanced Cowboy attack. The defensive unit for the Cowboys should be in almost full strength to contain Springlake most of the night.

Area Cotton News On South Plains

Carl Lowrey, local Texas Farmers Union President, submitted the following press release to the Record at press time:

Texas Farmers Union State President Jay Naman of Waco commended Agriculture Secretary Freeman for his announced restoration of the diversion payments to the feed grains program for 1968.

Naman stated that he felt the Secretary's action was a step in the right direction, although it will not accomplish the objectives of Farmers Union which is to assure 100 percent of parity to feed grains producers.

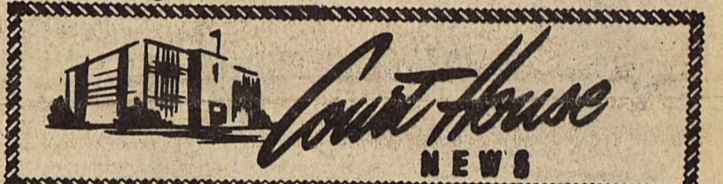

The newly announced program is intended to encourage feed grain producers to divert at least 10 million acres more than in 1967 by giving them the option to divert up to 50 percent of their base acreage. The 20 percent mandatory diversion continues in effect in 1968, but payments at a rate of 45 percent of the total support times the farmers projected yield will be paid for farmers electing to divert up to 50 percent of their base. The price support at $1.05 per bushel on Corn and $1.61 a hundred on grain sorghum remains the same as in 1967, and the mandatory 20 percent diversion continues as during last year.

'With production payments (30 cents per bushel for corn and 53 cents a hundred on grain sorghum) continuing at 1967's higher level along with the restored diversion payments, farmers income will increase some $400 million over 1967 if there is sufficient participation in the program. Most Texas farmers will find it profitable to divert more acres in 1968, which should result in better markets in the coming year.'

'Secretary Freeman has followed the recommendations of farmers at the shirtsleeve feed grains meetings and announced a program which is generally in line with a farmers thinking,' said Naman.

The Texas Farmers Union leader made the announcement concerning feed grains before leaving for Rome, Italy on Tuesday, to participate as National Farmers Union advisor to the State Department delegation at the Food and Agriculture Organization meeting. The three-week conference is held biennially for the purpose of evaluating world farm production and food requirements.

A motion was made and carried to replace a 440,000 BTU cast iron, sectional boiler in the old courthouse during the October 30th Commissioners Court meeting. Commissioner Vance W.

Brown moved to declare an emergency and let Plumbing Service Company of Lubbock install a 450,000 BTU boiler to replace the present 440,000 unit at a cost of $978.

Cowboy Corral

It's no wonder—with a start that included four touchdowns—the Plains Cowboys trounced the O'Donnell Eagles last Friday night.

Gregg Jones made four TD's with Joe Pierce scoring two touchdowns and Gary Liles making the final touchdown proving the final score to be 48-0.

For the season the Cowboys stand 7-1. Let's go Cowboys! We still are in the running. This Friday we will go to Springlake where the Cowboys plan to block the Wolverines. Just two more to go. THINK STATE!

The B team game will be in the O'Donnell stadium where the Cowboys plan to stuff a Bird. Last week they played a good game against Seagraves but this week is going to be even better.

Last Saturday night was an exciting night for a lot of people. It started with the crowning of the 1967-68 Carnivale Queen. This year's queen was Linda Blair, a senior from P. H. Her crown carrier was Rhonda Kraft and the roses were carried by Janet Shram.

After the coronation everyone attended the carnivale. Nearly every class had a booth in which you could win cakes or prizes except for one. This was the dunking stool and here you received the pleasure of soaking Mr. Aikins. 'Hope your cold gets better.'

The F. H. A. Chapter sponsored a U. N. C. L. E. F. drive last Tuesday. This drive was to collect money for needy children in foreign countries.

Sen. Tower Speaks Out On Crime Speed Kills

By Senator John G. Tower

I have been particularly concerned, as I know you are concerned, about the crisis of crime besetting our society. As you know, there are — and should be — definite limitations on what the federal government can do in the field of law enforcement. We all recognize that maintenance of law and order is a primary constitutional responsibility of our state and local governments under their police powers.

However, there are some key places where federal laws can be of more assistance than they are at present. And, in recent days have introduced and supported several pieces of legislation designed to help provide a better federal attack on crime.

I feel very strongly that our nation must address itself to the need to restore a Safe Society in America. And I think we all recognize that maintenance of public safety is the first order of Government.

We do not have a Safe Society today. We are confronted by an increasingly lawless society. The risk of becoming a victim of serious crime increased 10% for each citizen just last year alone.

Crime increased in the first six years of this decade at a rate almost seven times greater than the rate of population growth. And, unless substantial changes are made, all indications are that crime will continue to increase. Most tragic of all, 15-year-olds have the highest arrest rate — with 16-year-olds close behind.

The main thing the federal government could do — that it is not doing now — is to mount a massive and effective attack on the organized crime which is at the root of so much of our street crime. It's the organized crime syndicate which markets dope, and promotes gambling and loans money at impossibly-high interest rates. It's the victims of organized crime who find themselves desperate for more money to buy dope, or repay a loan, or clear up a gambling debt. Such victims of organized crime often are driven to violent attack upon law-abiding citizens and to theft and burglary.

The United States justice Department has been too lax in its attempts to wipe out organized crime — Cosa Nostra type crime — in our nation. I think one of the reasons for this is that present officials of the justice Dept. are too involved in investigating such civil matters as anti-trust suits. No one in the justice Department is paying enough attention to law enforcement in the criminal field.

I have therefore proposed legislation to create a new office of Deputy Attorney General for Law Enforcement. It appears that if the federal government is going to mount an effective attack on crime, it will need a single federal official charged by the law — and by his very title — with law enforcement responsibility. It's unfortunate that present justice Department leaders are not doing this job. Perhaps they are too busy. They certainly have not been successful. I propose to give them some immediate help.

I also have been concerned about recent rulings of the Supreme Court which many federal judges and most police officials feel have unnecessarily hampered law officers in their attempts to investigate criminal acts. One particular Supreme Court ruling has had the effect of eliminating voluntary admissions of guilt as legal evidence.

Amazing as it may seem to laymen, many confessed criminals have gone free because the only immediate evidence against them was their own voluntary admission of guilt.

This is a ridiculous situation, and the legal loop-hole permitting it should be plugged immediately. I have, therefore, joined in sponsoring a constitutional amendment restoring the legitimacy of voluntary confessions. Individuals are amply protected from false-incrimination and self-incrimination by our Bill of Rights. Responsible police questioning and acceptance in court of voluntary confessions does not infringe individual rights, but it does help protect the rights of the innocent to effective law enforcement.

In view of the criminal rioting in many of our cities, I have suggested one additional relief measure. It is a bill providing special, government-assisted insurance to all small businesses for losses suffered in time of civil disorder.

The Small Business Administration already is allowed to make certain disaster loans, but it has not been certain that civil disorders are to be legally classed as "disasters." My bill specifically classified civil disorders as disasters and should make it possible for many more small businesses in riot-torn areas to rebuild and reopen so that commerce and social order can be restored as quickly as possible after a civil disaster.

I'm hopeful that in the future I will be able to make additional suggestions for appropriate federal action to fight crime. In the meantime, I call upon every Texan to do everything he can to support and assist his local law officers.

We charge these officers with upholding the laws we make for our own safety. The very least we can do is be sure law officers have the means to accomplish the difficult task we assign them.

Senator Tower, on Monday, October 23, 1967, introduced legislation to permit disaster

This hard fact of life on the open road is universally accepted by the officers who are charged with the duty of making Texas highways safe, just as it is ignored by many of the drivers using those highways.

Because speed kills — and because the chances of a driver becoming involved in an accident increase with speed — the Texas Department of Public Safety has started a more intensified effort to encourage motorists to stay within a legal speed limit on Texas highways.

"Statistics prove that drivers are more likely to be involved in an accident at speeds over the legal speed limit," explained Major Luther C. Moore, Commander of the Department of Public Safety's Region 5, covering thousands of miles of highways in northwest Texas.

The average motorist might ask some questions about these statistics, and Major Moore can provide some eye-opening answers.

For instance, the motorist might ask if a driver is more likely to be involved in a victims income tax relief for temporary excess living expenses. Here are excerpts from his introductory remarks:

"My bill would let tax payers deduct expenses paid for meals and lodging for their households during a period not to exceed three months and to the extent that these expenses exceed an amount which the taxpayer would normally have paid during the period if his residence had not been destroyed or damaged by natural disaster.

"Under present Internal Revenue Service regulations, deductions for a taxpayer's loss of residency by fire, storm, flood or other casualty are limited to actual physical damage. No credit allowed for extra living expenses incurred while the taxpayer's house is being rebuilt or repaired or while the taxpayer seeks another permanent residence. The cost of living in a hotel or motel and of eating out is, however, a major expense to the taxpayer already burdened with unexpected financial need.

"As a result of Hurricane Beulah, many of my fellow Texans have suffered such expense. This measure would help ease somewhat their burden. Similar situations arise as a result of hurricanes, tornadoes and floods in every part of the nation. Approval of this measure will help in future years, also.

"(As an example, normal housing and utilities costs might run a family $150 and monthly food another $150. Motel rental for a family could run $300 and restaurant food another $250 a month. In this instance the excess over normal costs would be $200 a month and the maximum tax deduction under my bill, if the full three-month coverage were involved, would be $600.)" traffic accident at 70 miles per hour than 65? What about 75 or 80 miles an hour? And if the accident chances increase above 65 miles per hour, then just how much do they increase?

The grim history from bloody Texas highways during daylight hours shows a 20 per cent increase in accident involvement at 70 miles per hour, compared to the 65 mile per hour rate.

Major Moore points out that by increasing the speed from 65 to 75 miles per hour (just 10 miles per hour) the motorist risks a 50 per cent increase in accident involvement, and at 80 miles per hour the risk jumps to 90 per cent.

The fast driver risks even more at night, the Regional Commander explains. Accident statistics show that driver is more likely to become involved in an accident at any speed at night, and at 55 miles per hour the accident rate is nearly two and one half times as great as driving at the same speed in daylight.

Nighttime drivers are more than three times as likely to become involved in an accident at 65 miles per hour than at the same speed in daylight. During night hours 7 mile per hour speeds produce about five and one half times as many accidents, and a 80 miles per hour the accident frequency is multiplied eight times!

And that's not all of it. Studies show that injuries sustained in motor vehicle accidents are more severe as speed increases.

Major Moore explains that researchers at Cornell University learned the severity of automobile accident injuries is twice as great at speeds over 50 miles per hour as slower speeds.

Research also shows that while a driver trying to maintain 80 miles per hour through traffic on typical rural highways can cut about 30 per cent from the time required for the trip at legal speeds, his chances of getting killed in an automobile mishap increase by at least 400 per cent.

In hopes of encouraging drivers to stay within legal speed limits, the D P S is placing more patrolmen on the roads and more radar units beside highways to clock the persistent speeder in an effort to control speed.

1968 Rules ASC Lease; Allotment

By W. M. Overton, Office Mgr. 1968 Cropland Adjustment Program: Funds for the 1968 Cropland Adjustment Program were eliminated from the 1968 Appropriations Bill. This means that there will be sign up for new CAP agreements in 1968. It does not, in any way, affect those farms under 1966 or 1967 agreements. Those under 1966 and 1967 agreements will remain in full effect for the remaining years of the agreement period. Yoakum County has a total of 17 agreements for 1966 and 1967 with total of 3560 acres covered by these agreements and the annual payments total $36627.

1968 Cotton Export Market Acreage: 1968 Cotton Export Market Acreage of 250,000 acres has been established for 1968. To get export acreage, the farmer must apply for it by January 2, 1968. He must furnish a bond of indemnity, export all cotton produced on the farm and furnish acceptable proof of exportation. Eligible producers are those producers with a 1965 cotton allotment, a current cotton allotment and still own the same farm. Farmers participating in the export program are ineligible for cotton price support and program payments on any farm.

"FORM A" Cotton Loans: Form "A" cotton loans on 1967 crop are available at the ASCS office or at either county bank. Grain Loans: The grain sorghum price support loan rate is $1.59 and loans are available at the local ASCS office. To be eligible for a loan the grain must have been produced on a participating farm.
