That time is here again—hope you didn't miss the bus this morning. If you're like me, the closer school starting time came, the later I wanted to sleep.

We want to give our personal welcome to all the new teachers and tell the others that we're glad they're back. Hope all can take a few minutes now and then to come by and get acquainted and visit. I'm glad to see school start because it always give a good nine months of stories and pictures to work with!

Charlotte Kennedy has been off work for a few days and has been babysitting with little Randy Allen Kennedy while his mom, Linda, is in the hospital with a new brother for him. Charlotte was by for a moment and reported the news of the Buster Kennedy's new son, and she was having a time getting all her chores and running around done so that little Randy could take his customary nap.

Another welcome visitor this week was Derah Gaudin. Derah was kind enough to bring us some of her big delicious peaches. We have certainly enjoyed them. They were so juicy, I felt like a kid again trying to eat a popcorn!

Randy Lehmberg came by to bring us the plaque he accepted in our place at the recent vo-ag teachers state meet. It is a pretty thing and I'm real pleased to have had a small part in the paper receiving it. It's sitting in the window in front of my desk in case you care to come by and see it!

Had a real nice surprise visit with old friends and classmates, Louie and Joyce Drannan, Tuesday. The couple and their children had stopped in Plains to eat lunch on their way to the mountains. We all went to school together at Welch. We ran into each other at Alma's.

Johnnie Fitzgerald was in a moment and we were talking about the rash of wrecks the past few days. He reported that he loaded his family up and left town for the weekend to avoid being in one, since they were happening so fast and furious. The Fitzgeralds traveled to San Antonio to attend the HemisFair and reported a good time had by all.

When your entire family just up and leaves, it certainly pays to have good neighbors! When husband and son went fishing and daughter went to granny's, neighbors Wilma Anderson and Pat Curtis offered me a room at night and I will add that they were gratefully accepted!

Enjoyed a visit with Kerby at the barber shop Tuesday. He wanted me to add that if anyone had trouble finding the little white building with the green door and windows, just look for the little rock building. I don't think anyone will have trouble finding it since there are only four corners on the square and it's the only building with green windows!

One of the most humorous stories I've heard this summer is the one about reneagers Angela Romans and Susie Strickland asking to borrow the car to go to the Steak House for Lunch. That in itself is nothing unusual, but it is humorous when you know that Angela's mom and dad, Betty and Harvey, own and manage the Longbranch Cafe, and Susie's mom and dad, Mary and Ray, own and manage the Cowboy Grill. Eating at their parent's place of business all the time is probably just like eating at home every day!

Land Bank Makes Plans

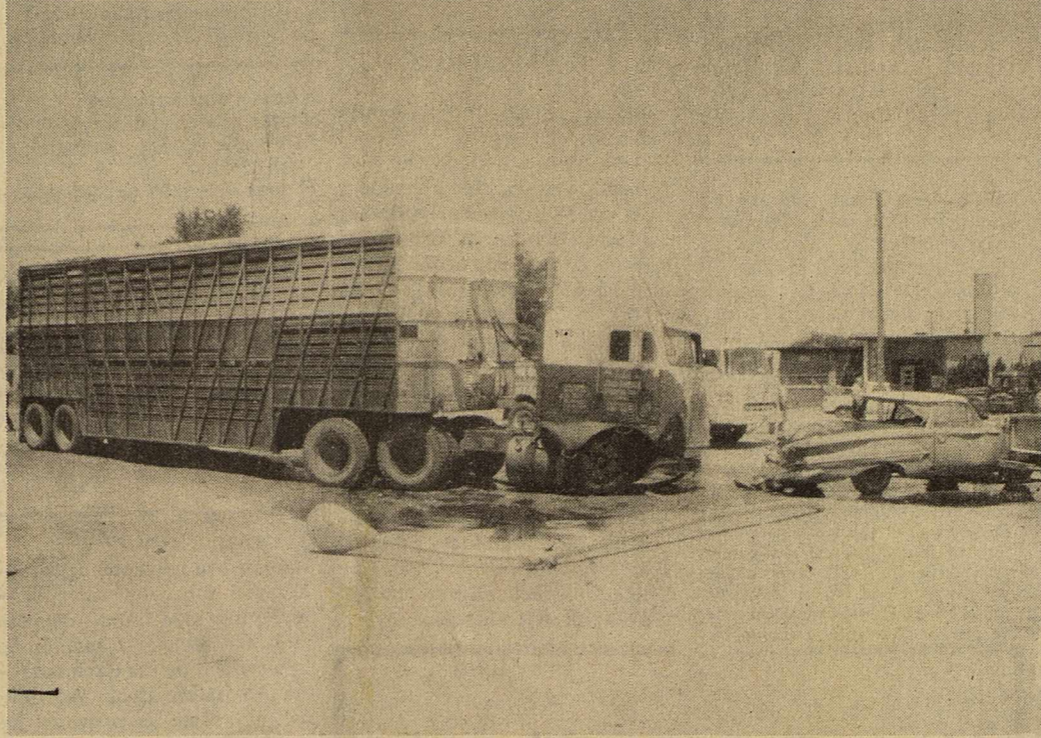

Mr. Joe Breed, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Levelland, announced this week that the Federal Land Bank System has adopted as a permanent slogan, "Serving America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty." The local association is a part of a national network of twelve regional banks and 695 local associations.

The Land Bank System, which last year celebrated its 50th anniversary, is moving ahead into the second half-century of operations with renewed dedication of purpose to meet the essential long term financial needs of the nation's farmers and ranchers.

"Our system has coped with a variety of great demands made upon it during the past 50 years, all the while maintaining a dependable loan service to farmers and ranchers. As agriculture continues to increase its productive capacity through technology, it will be our purpose to continue to serve the changing credit needs of farmers and ranchers," Mr. Breed stated.

The Land Banks and associations comprise a system which is operated entirely on private funds and is owned by its 394,000 member-borrowers whose elected directors formulate its policies. The Board of Directors of the local association are as follows: Lawrence F. Schoenrock, president, Levelland; Leon Lawson, vice president, Levelland; Hugh Hanson, Morrion; G. L. Sims, Brownfield; J. F. Steele, Levelland.

The Levelland Association's Annual Stockholder's Meeting will be held this year on Friday, Sept. 6 at 2 p.m. in the District Courtroom at Levelland. All stockholder-members are urged to attend, Mr. Breed said.

Cattle truck pictured after devastating collision at Hawkins Food Market on Main Street last Thursday. Over $9,000.00 in damages were caused by the smashup. One man received head injuries from a falling lamp post.

Thousands of dollars in damage and two serious injuries were the results of a freak accident in Plains last Thursday when a truck loaded with cattle smashed into a parked car and caused a situation filled with panic and danger to engulf the area around Hawkins Food Market. Damage was estimated to be almost $9,200.00.

Two men were injured in the wreck. Kenneth Barrow, 26, of Littlefield and driver of a 1968 white truck tractor which was pulling a double-decker cattle trailer loaded with about 40 head of calves. Barrow received a gash on the left foot. Also injured was Bill Frost, 28, of Plains, who was struck in the head by a heavy street light which was struck in the crash and fell as Frost ran from the path of on-coming trucks involved in the accident.

Patrolman Cox reported that the cattle truck was traveling eastward through Plains and as it neared Hawkins Food Market, its driver was forced to swerve to avoid striking an automobile which pulled into the truck's lane. The automobile was a 1967 Chevrolet sedan driven by Nell Duff, 72, of Plains, who had pulled around a car waiting to make a left turn.

The truck driver chose to strike a 1960 Chevrolet pickup legally parked at the south curb in front of the grocery rather than hit the occupied moving vehicle. The pickup belonged to Ford Hawkins, owner of the grocery.

The truck pushed the smashed pickup for about 100-150 yards into the intersection of a side street eastward from the store.

Frost was driving a 1957 Ford pickup belonging to Gene Ingle of Plains and waiting for traffic to clear so he could turn on U. S. #79. When he saw vehicles coming toward him Frost leaped from the pickup and began running, when the oncoming vehicles hit the lamp post. The post came down and struck him on the head and left arm. His pickup received minor damage as the other vehicles came to a halt.

The injured men were taken to the Yoakum County Hospital where they were treated and released.

Sheriff's Deputy Bill Jones investigated a wreck about 10:30 p.m. Friday which involved a 1966 International pickup driven by Gene Phillips, Plains, five miles out on the old Lovington Road.

Jones reported that defective steering mechanism caused the vehicle to turn completely over once, throwing the driver's wife, Marcene, from the pickup.

Mrs. Phillips was taken to the Yoakum County Hospital by private car where she was treated and released. The driver was not injured.

Cox and Jones also investigated another car incident Sunday afternoon which involved an automobile belonging to Bruce Hill. Officers reported that the car was parked at Flores Fina Station when the inside of the vehicle caught fire and burned completely out.

The two officers also investigated a wreck at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday which involved a 1966 Rambler sedan driven by Jesse Lee Fleming, 26, of Lubbock and owned by the Lubbock-Amarillo Armored Service, Inc.

Officers reported that Fleming had his seat belt fastened and was uninjured in the flip-over. Fleming advised officials that he was attempting to pass another vehicle which speeded up. Because of an oncoming car, Fleming had to pull back in the right hand lane. The driver oversteered and ran into the right bar ditch causing the car to skid sideways and overturn once. Damage was estimated at $750.

An unofficial report was made late Monday in a wreck on Private Property which involved a 1968 El Camino pickup owned by George Blount. The pickup was parked at George's 66 Station when a truck, being filled with gas, rolled back into the pickup and smashed it. It was reported that the brake s leaked off the large truck causing it to roll. The pickup was estimated to be a total loss.

BUDGET AIRED IN PUBLIC

A public hearing on the county's proposed budget for 1969 was held by the Yoakum County Commissioners Court at 10 a.m. Friday with the budget being set at $1,492,890, an increase of approximately $70,000 over the 1968 budget.

The new budget proposed a tax decrease for Yoakum Countians. The basis of assessment for taxes is scheduled to be taken from 16 per cent of true value to 13 per cent and the tax rate is scheduled to be reduced from $1.10 per $100 of assessed value to $1.07 per $100 of assessed value.

Financing the budget will be $833,085 from tax resources and an estimated $659,805 from non tax sources.

Budgeted for the jury fund are $7,840 as compared with $10,938 for the ending year. Road and bridge allocation for the new year is listed for $45,985 as compared with $48,810 for 1968.

The general fund is set down for $474,005. The figure for 1968 was $418,753. The county's migrant health project is listed for $35,614 as compared with $30,414 for 1968.

The officers' salary fund is set for $192,336 as compared with $184,373 for 1968. Yoakum County Hospital is budgeted for $487,080 as compared with $358,833 for 1968. While permanent improvements are down for $15,681 as compared with $8,333.

Interest and sinking funds total $136,415 as compared with $175,680 for 1968. Making possible the 1969 tax reductions in basis of assessment and in tax rate is a $9,000,000 increase in valuations of properties within the county, largely because of oil field secondary recovery operations. The valuation is set at $80,000,000 for 1969.

The county has two tax rates which, when combined, total the $1.07 per $100 assessed valuation. The county ad valorem tax is 77 cents per $100 assessed value. To this is added a special farm-market lateral road tax amounting to 30 cents per $100 assessed value. Valuation of property to which the special tax is applied is listed at $78,000,000. The 77-cent rate applied to the $80,000,000 valuation will make an estimated $603,741 when delinquencies and commissions are deducted. The 30-cent rate applied to the $78,000,000 will produce an estimated $229,343 when delinquencies and commissions are deducted, according to budget figures.

Other courthouse news included the recent meetings of Commissioners court on August 12, August 16, and August 19. During the August 12 meeting it was approved for voting precinct lines to be moved. Station KKAL Changes Owners

An application for change of ownership of Denver City Radio Station KKAL has been prepared for submission to the Federal Communications Commission in a report to the Record Monday by Jim Smith.

If approved by the FCC, the station would be sold to Smith, 35, a former Fort Worth television announcer writer producer, and his wife, Karel, who now are operating the radio station under an interim management agreement pending filing of the application and transfer of license.

Applicants for ownership of the station would operate under the name of Yoakum County Radio Broadcasters and would acquire ownership from Cal McAdams who put the station on the air approximately nine years ago.

In assuming management of the station, Smith announced a change in station personnel and announced plans for new programming. Joining the staff as chief engineer and community music disc jockey is Billy Light, formerly of Post. Joining as announcer and engineer is Marion Joe Clark, formerly of Hobbs.

Smith reported that joining the group as a teen-agemember will be Gary McGlasson of Denver City.

Smith also said that new programming will lean heavily toward local and county agriculture news and community service style of radio. The majority of public service time will be devoted to local projects. It was emphasized that news and services will include the entire county and not just one area of it.

The addition of Associated Press new wire service is planned also. As well as the daily opening and closing report of the stock market.

The applicant is a native of Oklahoma City. He attended Oklahoma A & M College before entering the entertainment field as an accordionist with name bands, some of which, in the 1950's, were Lawrence Welk, Charley Spivak and Charley Barnett.

From music, he entered radio and newspaper work. He is former sports editor of the Muskogee (Okla.) Morning News and now is in his 12th year of radio - newspaper-TV experience.

For the past 3 1/2 years, he was an announcer, writer and producer for WBAP-TV in Fort Worth.

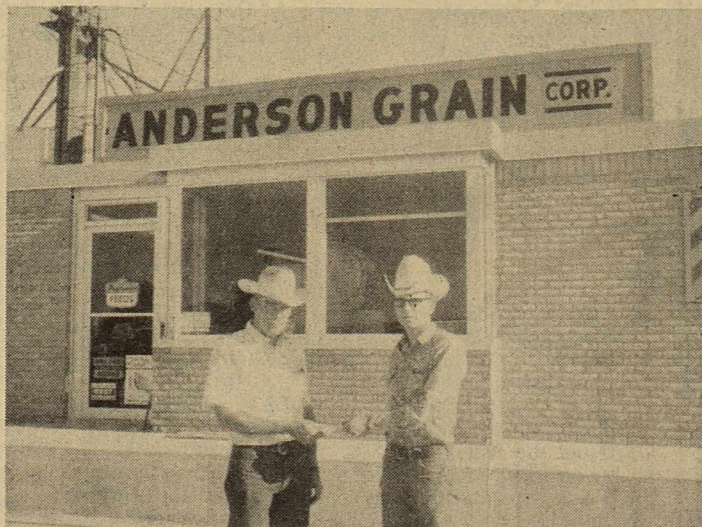

Smith and his wife, residing in a mobile home at the station transmitter site, have three sons, Phillip, 9; Jimmy, 8; and Scott, only 7.

Mrs. Smith is a native of Anadarko, Okla.

Smith is a past president of the Northwest Oklahoma City Lions Club and director of the West Side Lions Club of Fort Worth. He is a former county republican chairman in California and former central committeeman for GOP in Tarrant County. He is a graduate of George Williams College, YMCA school, at Chicago with a major in psychology and minor in sociology.

A deacon in the Christian Church in Fort Worth, he managed a Little League Baseball team during the past season.

Many Stockmen Form Cattle Associations

Farmers and cattlemen are acquiring needed land resources by forming grazing associations and obtaining financial assistance from the Farmers Home Administration, the agency's Yoakum County Supervisor, Homer P. Cole said this week.

A grazing association is composed of a group of family farmers and ranchers who join together to acquire and develop land to provide seasonal grazing for livestock belonging to its members. The non-profit association is owned, operated, and managed by its members.

"Small farmers," Mr. Cole said, "can increase their incomes, make better use of land and water resources, and develop larger equity in land through use of a grazing association. This program often provides small farmers with their only opportunity to remain in farming on a profitable basis."

Other advantages of an association include providing opportunities to improve livestock quality, gain bargaining power in the market place, build more stable operations and strengthen the rural community.

"Results benefit the entire community, Mr. Cole said, 'because associations accomplish better use of land and water resources and provide expanded tax bases and more local buying power.'"

The grazing associations now in operation in Texas range in size from 4 to 43 members, depending on the number of livestock to be supported and dimensions and quality of the land.

Eligible to form associations are:

Sudie Thompson CHDA Says...

Shopping for Johnny's or Mary's school wardrobe is more of a pleasurable experience this fall. Manufacturers have, as never before, teamed that lovable twosome-fashion and washer-ability- to come up with the brightest, most fashion right, and easiest-to-keep clean garments ever.

Mothers have been given a boost to their morale, in the past few years, through the development of durable press and soil release finishes. Modern science has now further improved the effectiveness of durable press; consequently, children's wear coming out of the washer and dryer will retain its neat, new look longer.

A new process being utilized on boys' pants will actually strengthen knee areas without bulky patches or stiffening resins. This is especially important in durable press trousers where the chemicals used to retain the press tend to speed up wear in knee and seat areas. In a season or two, this strengthening agent will be used to permanently waterproof raincoats.

Improvements have also been made in that fashion favorite, the knit. Knit-itchiness has never been more important, and the new fibers practically do away with even touch-up ironing. You will see little girls' dresses that can be twisted into tight knots and come out with a trace of a wrinkle, synthetic fiber sweaters that look and feel like cashmere yet never pull, lose their shape, or need special care. All can go straight from the washer and dryer into a drawer or closet, ready for wear. In fact, many knits actually become softer and more luxurious with each washing.

When it comes to outerwear, who would have dreamed that mother could safely toss a pile lined corduroy jacket into a washer and dryer? Jackets, rainwear, coats and bulky sweater bounce back like new. Some of the new snow pants have special thermal linings and jackets that feature a half inch layer of insulating material between the outer fabric and lining. These are guaranteed 100% washable, dry in a jiffy.

One important look of fashion this year is imitation leather. There are little "leather" jackets with the western look with leather trousers to match. Just spicing with soap or detergent suds will whisk away spots and soil.

Many other outfits feature this "leather" in combinations of leather and corduroy, leather and canvas, and leather and knits. Whether it's actually a part of the garment or used as accent for pockets, collars, cuffs, or button trim, it's leather-leather everywhere and not a bit of it from a cow!

Ruffled blouses with jabots will be worn by girls, while boys sport turtle-necks.

The most important look is the Nehru suit or sport jacket for boys, often styled in a luscious velvet-like ribbed corduroy.

Girls, too, go for the Nehru look in dresses and blouses that they love to wear with those plaid dirdl skirts that are so popular. The shirt 'n skirt silhouette is alive and well. In addition to Nehru styles, look for the Victorian, jabot, or Mao blouses for even the tiniest girl in the family. The little peasant look, with lovely Tyrolean embroidery on the sleeves and bodice of smocked dresses, is soft and cute for the lunchbox set. The wash-fast colors are usually bright on off-white or ecru.

Pre-washing treatment. Wash-and-wear apparel often presents problems in stain removal. Try these pre-washing treatments for certain stains:

Grass-sponge with alcohol. Milk or cream-sponge with Good liquid spot remover. Grease or oil-sponge with spot remover. Mud-Allow to dry completely, then brush and sponge with cold water. If stain persists, sponge with diluted alcohol.

BLouses ARE SUdsABLE

The return of the waistline has brought the return of the separates look, and extra importance for blouses. Though there are many different moods of silhouettes to choose from, most new blouses have one quality in common: fabrics which are super-easy to keep clean, requiring only a swish through soap or detergent suds or a gently cycle in a washer. Most of them can be tumble-dried since durable press finishes are extremely popular.

The romantic look is probably the single most important influence in the blouse field. Ruffles are everywhere, billowing and cascading at neck and sleeves. There are blouses with bows and blouses with high-riding ascots; blouses with demure rounded collars and blouses with slashed surplice cuts reminiscent of the 1930's.

Most surprising is the attention given to sleeves, which formerly came in two versions: long and short. Sleeves in current collections are sometimes high buttoned with leg o'mutton tops. Like Gibson Girls of the 1910 era, sometimes they start narrow at the shoulder, to reach a full lantern silhouette at the wrist before narrowing sharply into a trim cuff; sometimes sleeves are long and slim, ending in a fluff of delicate ruffles.

Two shirt fashions are frankly provocative. The body shirt is tailored enough, but cut in a clinging, feminine fabric so it hugs every contour. The see-through shirt, in voile or even chiffon, is usually worn over a pretty chemise-type top.

There is a fabric news, too, riding with the tide of the 1930's, crepe is returning-now woven of synthetic fiber yarns for safe washability.

MR. AND MRS. BOBBY TAYLOR, NEE JANET SEALY

Vows Read

Miss Sheila Sealy became the bride of Bobby Taylor in ceremonies at 2-00 p. m. Saturday, August 10, in the Plains First Baptist Church with the Rev. J. L. Bozeman officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Sealy of Plains. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Taylor, also of Plains.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose to wear a full length gown of white tulle, trimmed in Venetian lace and accented by seed pearls. The dress featured a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, cuffed with lace. A double train fell from the waist. A veil of English silk illusion fell from a seed pearl crown to form the chapel length veil. The bride carried a bouquet of orchids and carnations with streamers of white satin atop her grandmother's white Bible.

The marriage vows were read before an archery of greenery with white bells accenting the center and stood between two baskets of yellow and white carnations and satin ribbons. Small clusters of greenery accented the pews of the center aisle.

During the procession, a white rose was presented by the bride to her mother. A white rose was also presented to the bridegroom's mother by the bride in the recessional.

LaVern Davis of Uvalde served her sister as matron of honor. Janet Sealy, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Both were attired in street length dresses of white lace over yellow taffeta, trimmed in yellow satin. Each wore a cluster of yellow daisies with short veils and short white gloves. Each carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

Billy Taylor served his brother as best man, Groomsman was Butch Hawkins of Dallas, and cousin of the groom, Keith Carnley of Higginbotham and nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Vanessa Sealy, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Ushers were Jimmy Taylor, brother of the groom, and Clyde Lynn with Charlene Gayle registering guests.

Kathy Anderson and Suzahn St. Romain sang "Hold My Hand" and "The Marriage Prayer".

After a week long honeymoon in Arkansas, the couple will make their home in Austin, where both will further their educations.

A reception followed the wedding in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Miss Linda Blair and Mrs. Butch Gayle served guests from a table laid with white lace over yellow.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

THE JACKASS THAT DISCOVERED THE WORLD'S GREAT MINE

Unbelievable but true, the bray of a strayed jackass led a prospector to the strike that turned out to be one of the greatest silver-lead finds in history.

Back in 1885, N. S. Kellogg, a carpenter in his sixties, turned prospector when the gold boom in Murray, Idaho subsided. The building boom was over also, a ghost town was in the offing, and Kellogg found himself unemployed and almost destitute. If gold had been discovered in Murray, he reasoned, why wouldn't there be more gold in the mountains?

He sought help from many until two persons, O. O. Peck, a contractor, and Dr. J. T. Cooper, a former surgeon in the British navy, consented to grubstake him. But not handsomely. He found out, for they gave him less than twenty dollars for food. To this they added a jackass—which they bought for three dollars—to carry his pack. The jackass was a vagrant about town, having been running loose on the streets for months, braying day and night. Miners and their families had indicated a desire to shoot him.

For two days Kellogg moved into the mountains. The second night in Milo Gulch, he untethered his pack and tethered the jackass. The next morning the jackass was gone, his tether broken.

Without that blankety animal he has lost, so Kellogg, his age working against him, labored up the mountain. As he approached the summit, all hope of finding the jackass gone, a harsh bray floated in from somewhere above him. He found the beast grazing contentedly on the mountain. Excited from the climb, Kellogg let down to smoke and rest. It was then that his hand dislodged a rock from the ore beneath was almost galena. With a pick, he pried down the mountain, across gulch and up the opposite side, finding a continuous vein of silver-lead mineral running through

"John I found this letter in your coat pocket this morning. I gave it to you a month ago to mail."

"Yes dear, I remember. I took that coat off for you to sew a button on and I'm still waiting."
