G.D. Kennedy Asks Help To Get Kids in School

G. D. Kennedy, Superintendent of Plains schools, has announced that the school is asking the assistance of all its residents in reaching every school age child residing in the district with its educational program.

If for some reason a patron feels that a child is not complying with compulsory attendance laws, he or she is urged to contact officials of the school who will investigate the matter.

The most important asset of any community is its educated citizens. An education is absolutely essential for the citizen of tomorrow—not only for his personal welfare, but for the welfare of the community and nation also. To succeed in school a child must be regular and prompt in attendance, Mr. Kennedy stated.

The following quotations from the Texas School Law Bulletin provide a summary of school attendance requirements in the State of Texas: Article 297: School attendance required. Every child in this state who is 7 years and not more than 16 years of age, other than a high school graduate, shall be required to attend the public schools in the district of its residence. Or in some other district to which it may be transferred as provided by law, for the entire regular school term of the district in which said child attends school.

Article 299: Duties of parents or guardian.—If any parent or person standing in parental relation to a child within the compulsory school attendance ages who is not properly excused from attendance upon school for some exemption provided by law fails to require such child to attend school regularly for such period as required by law, it shall be the duty of the attendance officer who has jurisdiction in the territory where said parent or person standing in parental relation resides to warn such parent or person that this law must be immediately complied with, and upon failure of said parent or person to immediately comply with the law after such warning has been given, the official discharging the duties of the attendance officer shall forthwith file complaint against such parent or person, which complaint shall be filed in the county court, or in the justice court in the precinct where such parent or guardian resides. Any parent or guardian upon conviction for failure to comply with the provisions of this law shall be fined for the first offense $5.00, and for the second offense $10.00, and for each subsequent offense $25.00. Each day that said child remains out of school after said warning has been given or after said child has been ordered in school by the juvenile court, may constitute a separate offense.

Home & County Agents Attend State Gathering

Home Demonstration Agent Sudie Thompson and County Agent Leo White returned home recently from the biennial state conference for all agricultural extension service employees held on the campus of A & M University Aug. 26-30.

The theme for the conference is "Working Toward Perfection in Extension AL Programs". In addition to outstanding speakers for each of the morning sessions, the agents related that each Extension worker had the opportunity to participate in three different special training programs during each of the afternoon sessions.

These programs, they added, covered many of the major subject matter areas and were planned not only to present new information in the various fields but also to give County Extension workers educational techniques which may be used in the many new programs under way.

A major benefit from such a conference was the opportunity to visit with agents and staff members from other sections of the state and exchange with them ideas and experiences which have worked for them.

Speakers included Extension Directors J. B. Clear from Illinois, W. M. Bost from Mississippi, Dean H. O. Kunkle of A & M's College of Agriculture, and Texas Director John E. Hutchinson.

Lions Club to Honor The Faculty

All Plains Lion Club members are reminded that an ice cream supper will be held Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. for the members and their wives and teachers of the Plains schools.

This is an annual event sponsored by the local Lions Club in order to welcome all teachers to Plains.

The event will be held in the school cafeteria with C. Murrel Thompson in charge of arrangements.

PASTURE LANDS IMPORTANT

Irrigated pasture of bermuda or other grasses still have an important place in the economy of livestock production in Yoakum county. There is something over 5,000 acres of irrigated pasture in the county. This acreage can carry about 2 cows per acre for five months each year or 10,000 head. On the basis of 10 cows per section year round stocking this is equal to 1,000 sections of native grass for five months or an increase in beef production for the county of about 4,000,000 lbs.

Several of the owners and operators have elected to use this acreage of grass land for diverted land which is expensive but does provide a good cover and protection for the land being diverted from crop production.

Good Grazing.

Irrigated pasture has returned as much as $160.00 per acre net profit in Yoakum county for the livestock man who did a good job of irrigation, fertilization, cattle buying and selling. The soil is here, the water is here, the market is here and all that is needed is the management and the will to make a go of it.

King Cotton Gets Crown As Area Leading Crop

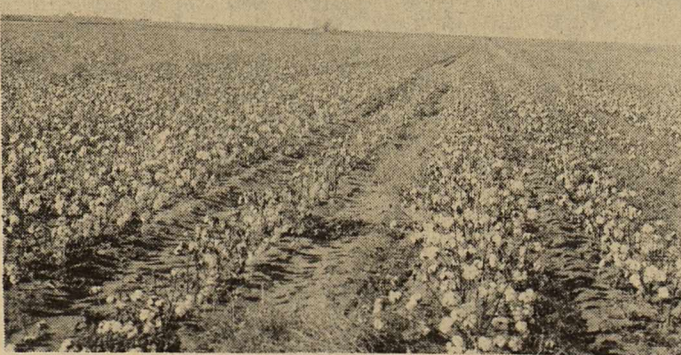

King cotton might just be king once more. This year Yoakum county has 33, 228.1 acres to harvest which is a near record amount and is the largest acreage since 1965 when 36,000 acres were planted. This year the production has a good chance of going far ahead of past records in both quantity and quality due to good rainfall, more fertilization and better varieties of long staple cotton.

Dry land acres make up over half the total acres and much of this acreage is looking like a bale or better per acre. Irrigated cotton has not needed much irrigation this year which means considerable less cost of production, other costs such as planting, cultivation, insect control and harvesting will be about the same except in the area where beet army worms attacked early and had to be sprayed from one to several times.

Market prospects for the oncoming crop look good according to local ginners and producers. This year's market will not be as 'Bullish' as last year's but all signs point to a good demand for good quality cotton with the possibility of 1200 to 1400 points over the loan being offered for the better cotton.

What is needed now is hot, dry weather to mature out what is already on the plants.

Maize Crops Look Like Bumper Stands in Area

Grain Sorghum, Maize or feed whichever you call it makes little or no difference because Yoakum County has what looks like a bumper crop this year. Harvest has already started on the few areas of drouthy or burned spots. The high yielding fields of course are not ready for harvest yet. There are reports of yields or expected yields of as much as 3500 lbs. per acre on dry land and 6000 lbs. per acre on irrigated land. There is a total of over 160,000 acres of grain sorghum to be harvested this year in the county and most producers say it never looked better.

Bill Loyd in maize field.

Its harvest time in Yoakum county and the fruits are good. Watermelons are not an entirely new crop but they seem to gain each year in number of acres and the number of producers. This crop is grown without irrigation and only a small amount of fertilizer. Cultivation or plowing is only done to control weeds and insect control is done by aerial spraying.

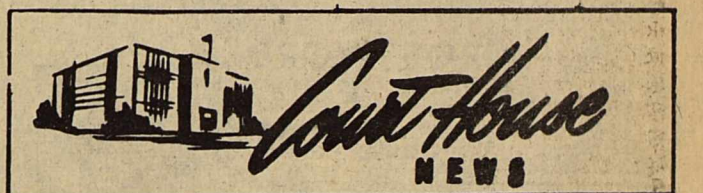

The sandy soil of Yoakum county is generally very favorable for the growing of fine tasting and good size melons, in fact the area is becoming known for the very good quality of watermelons from California to Pennsylvania, according to Pat Twiddle of San Antonio, a broker who has purchased 80 acres and is shipping melons just about everywhere. Twiddle says he has been in the watermelon business for 31 years and the melons he is harvesting in Yoakum County this year are the best tasting and finest quality and quantity he has ever seen.

There are approximately 1000 acres in the county this year and production is running from 20,000 to 30,000 lbs. per acre. This means a gross return of 200 to 300 dollars per acre. And this for a non-irrigated crop. The main varieties are Charleston grey, Black Diamond, Garrisonian and Jubilee.

Shipments from Yoakum county have been made to San Antonio, California, Cleveland, Ohio, Buffalo, N. Y., and Chicago, Ill. Shipments have been made to Montreal, Quebec, Ontario, Canada, and London. There have been reports of praises from all buyers.

Yoakum County Commissioners Court met in special session Tuesday with Judge Gene Bennett presiding.

The order of business included the court approving 3-0 that Mrs. Sandra Ellison be put on a monthly salary full time as a deputy district clerk at a salary of $335.00.

Others attending the session were Commissioners Vance Brown and Johnny Fitzgerald and county Clerk Ruby Heald.

Cases filed in criminal court the past week included Jimmy Murphy Brown, driving while license expired; A. J. Nelson, D.W.L.; Placido Gomez Borrego, driving while license suspended.

Marriage licenses issued during the past week included ones for Sidney Wade Underhill and Janice Kay Whisenhunt; Andrew Dale Lanhan and Virginia Ellen Reddin; Alfred Eugene Thomas and Brenda Mae Duke; Harvey Lynn Rhyne and Doris Elaine Phegley; Wayne West Adams and Juanita Adams.

Voting Information Given By County Clerk

Voters who have lived in Texas less than a year must apply for a ballot during a 15 day period beginning Fri., Sept. 6, if they want to vote for President and Vice President in the coming general election, Ruby Heald announced today. Applicants must appear in person at the County Clerk's office.

This will be the first time that persons having less than a year's residence in the state will be able to vote in a presidential election, Ruby Heald said. A law passed by the Texas Legislature last year permits a voter who moved to Texas from some other state less than a year before general election day to vote for president and vice president, but for no other offices, if he will have lived in Texas at least 60 days on election day. In order to vote he must possess all of the qualifications required of electors under Texas law except the ordinary residence requirements, and it must also be shown that he was either a qualified elector in another state immediately before his removal to Texas or that he would have been eligible to vote in the presidential election in the state where he formerly lived if he had remained there until election day.

Ruby Heald said that a person who has been issued a voter registration certificate voter identification card, or other document showing that he was a registered voter in the state from which he moved should take this document with him when he goes to the county Clerk's office to apply for a ballot. If he does not have written proof of his registration, it will be necessary for the clerk to obtain verification of his voting eligibility from the voter registrar or other appropriate election official at the place of his former residence before he will be accepted for voting.

Applications must be filed with the clerk by 5 o'clock (closing hour) on Friday, Sept. 20. However, the voters will not actually vote until the period of Oct. 21-Nov. 1, when they will return to the clerk's office and cast their ballots. The County Clerk said that each applicant will be given written notice informing him whether his application has been accepted after the clerk receives a reply from the voter registrar in the state of former residence.

Persons voting in the presidential election under this special procedure need not be registered as voters in the county where they now live.

County Clerk Ruby Heald emphasized that this voting procedure applies only to persons who have lived in Texas less than a year on election day. If a person moved to Texas before Nov. 5, 1967 he must be registered with the county tax assessor-collector in order to vote in the general election on Nov. 5, and he will vote in the regular election.

Candlelight Services Held For Miss Upton, Hillhouse

Frances Charlene Upton and John Joseph Hillhouse were married in a candlelight ceremony Thursday evening at 8 p. m. in the Tokio Baptist Church. Rev. Don Knight officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Upton of Tokio and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hillhouse of Tahoka.

Vows were solemnized before an altar centered with a candelabra tree with votive candles accented with lemon leaves and white carnations and a white kneeling bench. These were flanked by two candelabra holding tapers accented with lemon leaves. Pews were marked with white satin streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white bridal satin and Alencon lace featuring an empire waistline. The all-lace bodice was designed with a round neckline and long sleeves accented by the use of seed pearls and tiny self-covered buttons. A chapel length train falling from the empire waistline was secured by a cluster of roses and petals. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was caught to a cluster of illusion leaves highlighted with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white feathered carnations and white irises.

Kathy Wilmeth of Plains was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Sharon Upton, sister of the bride, and Rosemary Upton cousin of the bride, from Seminole. The attendants wore formal gowns of hot pink crepe. The princess style gowns featured an empire waistline complimented by a cluster of roses and leaves. Their headpieces of matching tulle were caught to clusters of roses. Each carried a colonial nosegay of white tulle and hot pink carnations. Donnie Goodrum of Lubbock was best man and groomsmen were Jerry Convat of Plains and Larry Bearden, cousin of the groom of Seminole. Flower girl was Cheri Hugglett, cousin of the bride and ring bearer was Guy Williams, cousin of the groom. Candlelighters were Debra Bearden of Plains and David Mobley of Denver City.

Ushers were Don Williams of Plains and Doug Taylor of Tahoka.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Murrell Thompson, Plains, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Loy K. Black, Denver City.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. James Futch before an archway entwined with greenery flanked by baskets of white mums and gladiola. Cathedral candles burned in seven-branched candelara. Candles were lighted by Miss Glenda Black, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Jana Futch.

Pews were marked by greenery tied with white satin bows. Wedding music was played by Robert Field, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length white satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and fastened down the back by satin covered buttons. Self-covered buttons accented the long sleeves which came to points over her hands and the long train fell from a large satin bow at the waist.

Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of lace and seed pearls.

She carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis on a white Bible.

The bride was attended by her sisters-in-law Mrs. Murrell Allen Thompson of Denver City and Mrs. Charles Ray Thompson of Lubbock. They wore street length dresses of pink crepe and each carried a long stemmed pink rose.

Ushers were Rickey Henson and Lloyd Bingham, both of Denver City.

Miss Sandra Black registered guests in the bride's book. The bride presented her mo-er with a single long stemmed pink rose during the processional and she also presented a pink rose to the bridegroom's mother during the recessional.

The ceremony was followed by a reception.

Because of its unique features, the Tri-Matic Irrigation system has been copied by many other manufacturers. But Tri-Matic remains in a class by itself. There are now over 1500 Tri-Matic Systems being operated successfully in all parts of the country. The Tri-Matic moves forward, backward and endways under its own power and requires only one man to operate several systems. Four or five one-quarter mile sprinkler lines assure a better, more efficient water pattern which conserves water. Sudie Thompson CHDA Says...

September is the "between month" so far as food supplies are concerned, because summer's abundance is declining and autumn's harvest is only beginning.

Despite this "betweenness," September promises some plentiful foods, mainly dairy and peanut products plus broiler-fryers.

This is the first time that broiler-fryers have rated the U. S. Department of Agriculture's monthly plentiful foods list since February.

September marketings of young birds are expected to run about two percent larger than a year ago and wholesale prices about the same.

To get the most meat per pound in relation to bone select the large four-pound fryers. When you buy these whole birds at 30 to 35 cents per pound or less, you can serve the six meaty pieces of chicken--two drumsticks, two thighs, the breast and the pulley none--for about 20 to 25 cents each. How well this compares with the cost per serving of other meats.

And there's a bonus. The remainder of the chicken will provide enough meat for a casserole, sandwich spread or chicken salad.

Butter and cheese stocks are heavy, although milk production has been running slightly below a year ago for the last six months. Also, other processed dairy foods re in better than average supply.

Peanut butter, peanut oil and just plain peanuts will be record high supply as farmers harvest a peanut crop even larger than last year's record crop.

This localized plentiful foods list is compiled by USDA's Consumer and Market Service from facts supplied by processors, wholesalers and other members of the food trade; also, federal and state agencies.

"Quick and easy" classifies most menu preferences of homemakers during August.

Naturally, such wheat products as macaroni, spaghetti and noodles rank high in popularity. For instance macaroni can be ready to serve in 7 to 15 minutes, depending on its shape and thickness.

An added plus is economy. Macaroni "extends" or "stretches" the number of servings of more expensive foods--and adds its own texture and nutrition.

Use of macaroni for food dates so far back in history that no one knows for sure when it was first used. Legend credits Marco Polo for introducing macaroni food to his native Italy in the 13th century when he returned from China.

Almost all of macaroni, spaghetti and noodles of the highest quality are made from a semolina flour which is derived from a variety of amber-colored wheat called durum. This wheat was first brought to the United States in 1853. But it was not until a U. S. Department of Agriculture wheat scientist bought some durum varieties from Russia that this wheat was grown successfully in this country.

Today durum wheat is a major farm product in some of our midwest states. About 30 million bushels are harvested yearly and used almost exclusively by the macaroni indusper. Heat to brown meat. Add tomato paste, water, tomato sauce and bay leaf. Bring to a boil. Then simmer uncovered over low heat 45 minutes.

Remove garlic. Add sugar and simmer 15 minutes longer. Place hot spaghetti on a platter. Cover with meat sauce. Sprinkle with cheese.

Homemaker's Dream Come True

Space For Everything - And Each In Its Place

Space for everything, and everything in its place. That's the dream of every homemaker - particularly when it concerns the kitchen. Imagine having recipes neatly filed... bread near the toaster... and items such as plastic wrap and tea towels within fingertip reach of the area where they're used most often.

But this usually isn't the case in most kitchens. "Must have" gadgets have a habit of piling up in drawers, while spices, paper towels and other kitchen standbys are crammed on a shelf - or worse, on the counter.

Be an Organization Woman and reorganize everything according to where it's used, with cutlery near the cooking area (and out of children's reach) and measuring cups near the flour and sugar.

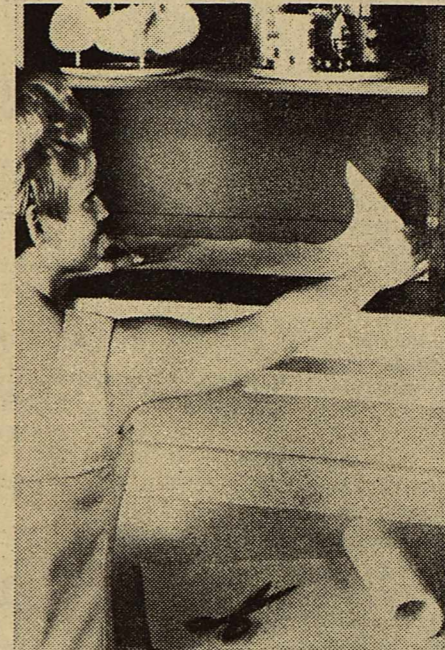

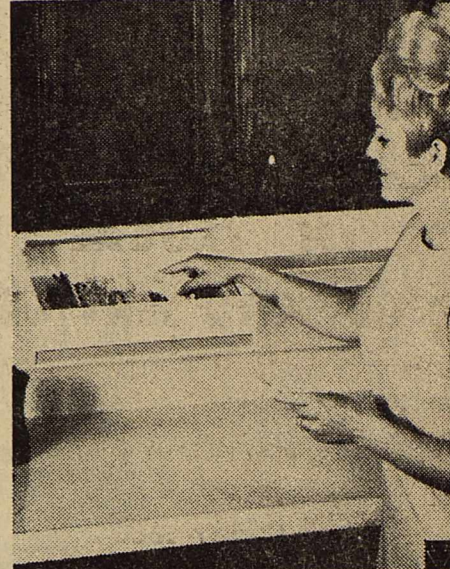

To help you with extra, wherever-you-want-it storage space, Rubbermaid has introduced Spacemakers. These slender drawers offer a spacious storage spot, 15 1/4 inches wide by 12 1/2 inches long, right under the kitchen wall cabinets.

The Spacemaker drawers hold anything from small cereal boxes and baby foods to cutlery and small utensils. A slightly deeper bread drawer stores baked goods. The towel and wrap dispenser, with serrated cutting edges, keeps paper towels, foil and plastic wrap accessible.

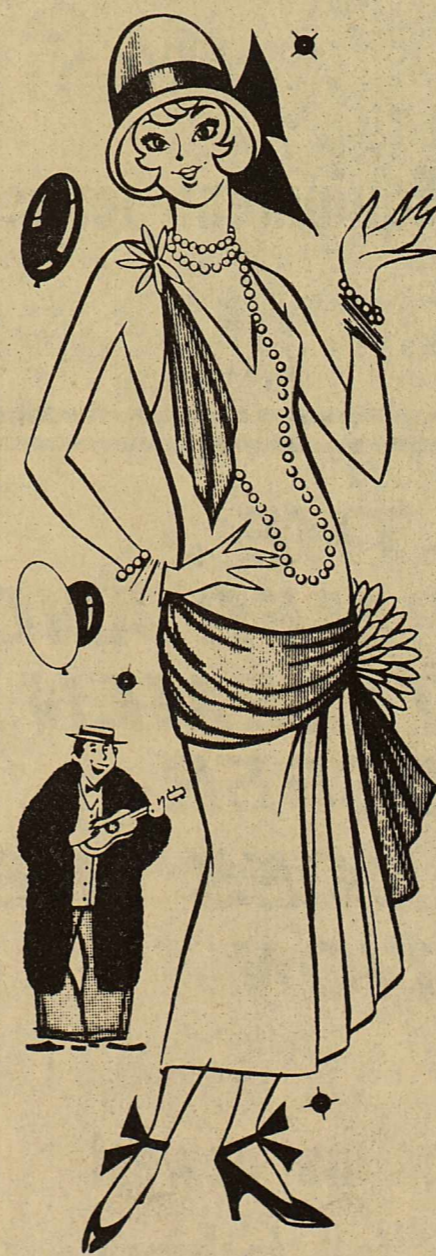

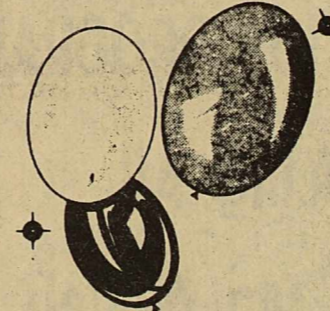

The drawers are as attractive as they are practical and will tie in with your kitchen color scheme with any of the five color strips that come with each drawer. Or, the drawer can be trimmed with leftover wall paper. Each Spacemaker is installed with a single bolt, and when the drawer is closed, a built-in latch keeps it in its closed position.

While you're straightening the kitchen and putting everything in place, you'll probably want to treat cabinet shelves to fresh shelf liner. A new vinyl liner is easy to install, and it stays in place without adhesives or tacks. The linen finish liner is available in five colors, and wipes clean with a damp sponge.

If you'd like more tips on how you can create more storage space (and better organization) in your kitchen, you'll find them in a booklet, "New Room in Your Kitchen." For a free copy, send your name and address to: Home Service Center - Dept. D., Rubbermaid Inc., Wooster, Ohio 44691.

We get Letters

Dear Sir:
Many people fail to recognize that there is a Communist backed Revolution already underway in America. Surely if you watched the Republicans and Democrats in action you should be able to see that something is wrong. They are experts at "Telling it like it is", but have you heard either party tell us how it got that way? Has either party furnished the poor people, black or white anything but frustration and false promises?

Do you really believe there would be significant change in January if we elected either of the two major party candidates in November?
No matter what the Socialist and Communist may brand him, Governor Wallace of the great southern state of Alabama, is the only one who had the courage and foresight to break away from the Democratic Party and give us a choice to vote for in November. If we believe in Human Rights, State Rights and genuine Civil Rights for all, let's find out about this man Wallace ourselves. Let's call our America Party County Chairman and get the facts. Let's go out and work for what we know is right. Let's not appease the Communists. Let's tell them where we stand. Let's STAND UP FOR AMERICA.

All Life Depends on SIX INCHES OF EARTH!

The land we live on is covered by six inches of rich top soil. Without it, all life would cease—Nature's bountiful gifts of water, woodland and farmland would become wasteland.

Fire, flood, drought and improper planting can all lead to soil erosion. It is up to each of us to protect against these hazards. Follow the rules set down by the Soil Conservation District, to conserve that six inches of soil that is our very life.
