The Bobby Lesters attended the funeral of Virgil Addison in Lamesa Monday afternoon.

KEEPING POSTED
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Newsmen anywhere in Kentucky can dial a toll-free long distance number and receive up-to-the-minute reports on state government. The messages are short and timely and delivered by Gov. Louie B. Nunn. The state pays about $500 a month for the service.

Sudie Thompson CHDA Says...

Food additives have been used since primitive man preserved his meat with salt.

Today additives are used in carefully controlled amounts of foods to change the food in some way, according to Extension Nutritionist Sally Springer. They are chemicals—but consumers should not be alarmed by the long complex names of the additives.

All food additives must be safe. Before a food additive is approved for use, it is studied for years. The 1958 Food Additives Amendment was enacted to protect the public by requiring pre-testing of additives. Federal law requires truthful labeling of food additives.

Food additives have many uses to improve the nutritive value of foods. For example, vitamin D is added to milk and other dairy products.

Additives are used for flavoring—salt, pepper, nutmeg, ginger, caraway, to add color and to preserve foods.

On the label of a loaf of bread you have probably seen the words "calcium and sodium propionate added to retard spoilage." These propionates, found naturally in Swiss cheese, have the ability of keeping bread from becoming moldy. Emulsifiers and stabilizers often are added to foods to produce or maintain a desired consistency, reports Miss Springer. Food additives perform other functions; Foaming agents for pressure packed toppings; curing agents for preservation, clarifying agents for preventing cloudiness in vinegar, etc.

The consumer should be aware that the Food and Drug Administration does not approve the use of a food additive unless it is safe for human consumption. If food additives were not used, the quality and quantity of food supply would deteriorate and prices would go up. Thus, additives help to make our food supply plentiful, nutritious, safe, convenient, varied, good tasting, and economical.

Sgt. Blacklock At McClellan

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Staff Sergeant Ronnie M. Blacklock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Blacklock of Post, Tex., has arrived for duty at McClellan AFB, Calif.

Sergeant Blacklock, an aircraft engine technician, previously served at Bitburg AB, Germany.

The sergeant is a graduate of Post High School.

His wife, Gene, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casey Boudns of Denver City.

"Right Now" Books Relevant To Students

By SUE PARKER
How do books fit into a teenager's world? The teen-ager's world is a highly stimulating world — of folk rock, the Supremes, pep rallies, TV, clothing fads, exams and the draft. To this high pressured environment the adolescent brings the complex problems of any maturing young person. If books are to have any meaning they must be related to the young person's personal and social needs. This can be accomplished by books ranging from the modern Hippie Scene to a classic like War and Peace.

These current needs are met and the reading program is expanded by the Paperback Book Club sponsored by Scholastic Book Services. There is the Campus Book Club for Juniors and Seniors, and the Teen-Age Book Club for Freshmen and Sophomores.

Leaflets of "Campus News," a publication of Scholastic Services, are sent to each student. They contain a preview of the books to be ordered that month, and an order blank to be filled in by the student and compiled in one gigantic order. Local book club sponsors receive teaching guides and posters for classroom use, while each student receives one book free for every five books he orders.

to know about dates. Why didn't he ask me?"

Soon there are stacks of neat little bundles. Charlie Brown is snuggled against Lord Jim. One boy is already so involved in the new lives of his book that he has lost all contact with the classroom. One of the "nonreaders" is starting in amazed amusement at the book he decided to order along with the poster for his room. "Now that I paid for the thing, I'm gonna read every word of it," he mutters. Next time he may order two. It only takes one to start.

The main reason Johnny can't read well is because he doesn't read anything he isn't compelled to for the most part. I don't care which books Johnny chooses. Any reading leads to more reading, and wide reading usually results in eventual discriminatory reading. The student's taste begins with Poe and Snoopy, but from there it branches in amazing directions.

The student posters are very popular, and I have concluded that movie titles sell books. How many students would be reading Far From The Madding Crowd if Thomas Hardy hadn't had a big boost from the movie star Julie Christie?

Regardless of student motivation, I receive a great feeling of satisfaction when I see dozens of students carrying paperbacks that are not assigned from class to class and across campus. I know that reading ability is improving and their understanding of themselves and time is constantly growing.

Pathfinders Play Host At Meet

The Pathfinders 4-H Club of Denver City was host to the Yoakum County General 4-H Club of Plains, parents and friends at a salad supper and installation service Oct. 22 in the Denver City Community Building.

Leo White, county agricultural agent, gave the invocation. Donna Warren, outgoing Pathfinders president, acted as mistress of ceremonies. Jerry Brian, elected president of Yoakum County General, led the pledge of allegiance.

Songs were led by Sue Cleveland with Debbie Chadwick accompanying on the piano.

Vicki Rucker gave the devotional on Service using scriptures Luke 22:24-27 and Jeremiah 1:4-7.

County Judge Gene Bennett was installing officer for the installation ceremonies for both clubs. He challenged the new officer to use their heads, hearts, hands, and health to make the the best better for their club, community and country. Judge Bennett also led the congregation in the 4-H motto and pledge. The meeting was closed with the singing of America and the 4-H Prayer.

Mascots Happiest During Football

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Available records fail to show exactly when the first college mascot appeared on the football field. But the idea has been around since before the turn of the century.

Animals as mascots seem to get more attention than a student draped in artificial tiger skin or one who represents a Spartan or a bulldog. There is much less chance of an animal becoming a dropout, or a graduate. On some campuses the animal mascot works just as hard as linemen who try to contain an O. J. Simpson or a Leroy Keves.

Take Cowboy Joe II, a brown and white pinto Shetland pony, who runs around the field after every Wyoming touchdown. Two years ago, after replacing Joe I who was retired to the university farm after 15 years of service, Joe II nearly collapsed from fatigue.

The Cowboys had beaten Brigham Young 47-14. Last fall it was 26-10.

"It's getting to be," says coach Tom Hudspeth, "that everytime that pony sees me coming, he starts wagging his tail."

Navy has at various times had two cats, a dog and a carrier pigeon as mascot. However, the U.S. Naval Academy leans more to goats. The first goat was used in 1893 and goats have served at Annapolis without interruption since 1904. Their latest goat, Billy XVII, hasn't been much of a good luck charm for the Midshipmen. In his first appearance Boston College beat the tar out of the Navy, 49-15.

Since 1899 the mule has been the mascot of the Cadets at the U.S. Military Academy. This season the West Pointers have four mules in service. Trotter, with a huge A on his flank, seems to be the most photogenic and the easiest for one, and sometimes two, cheerleaders to ride.

Yale first had a bulldog as mascot in 1889. A student saw him sitting in front of a New Haven, Conn., blacksmith stable, purchased him and called him Handsome Dan I. The bulldog's stuffed body is in a sealed glass case in the trophy room of Yale's Payne Whitney gym.

Yale's current mascot is Handsome Dan X and when he made his first bark during the 1959 season he was the only undefeated, untied and unscored upon mascot in the nation after the first five games. He was purchased by the Football Y Association from John Sanders, a geology professor at Yale.

All who know the background of Dan X hold him in high regard. His grandfather was Kippax Fearnought, celebrated English import who went best of show at the Westminster in Madison Square Garden in 1954. Dan is fawn color and his game weight is 74 pounds.

Tennessee's official mascot is a blue tick coon hound, a native breed of the state and a dog used for hunting racoons. The present Smokey is the third in the line of such canines provided by the Rev. W. C. Brooks of Knoxville.

Smokey makes all Volunteer football games and in 1967 he was flown to Los Angeles for the UCLA game. He also has traveled

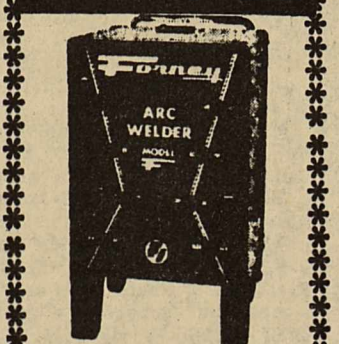

JUDICIOUS ADVICE
PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — William Hazelrigg remembers the time a 78-year-old man, convicted of murder, was sentenced to 20 years in prison.

"I won't live that long," the prisoner complained. "You know my age."

"Well," the judge replied, "you just go along and do as much of it as you can."

Mrs. Ronald Lyn Moose
nee Marilyn Goehry

Moose, Goehry Vows Read In Ceremony

Miss Marilyn Beth Goehry became the bride of Ronald Lyn Moose in wedding ceremonies held at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening, October 26, in the home of the bride's parents in Plains, Texas.

Rev. H. A. Tarkington read the double ring ceremony before an archway of greenery.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Goehry of Plains and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Moose of Denver City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal length Empress Josephine gown fashioned of bridal satin. The bodice featured a portrait neckline and elbow length sleeves edged with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The high rising Empress waist was circled also with the Alencon lace. The cone silhouetted skirt extended into a swallowtail chapel train accented with the same trim used at the waistline and sleeve edges.

The bride's elbow length veil was attached to a pearl crown and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with white orchid and trailing white satin streamers. The bouquet was carried a top a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Kathy Anderson of Plains. She wore a street-length blue dress and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Charles Rice of Denver City served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Goehry chose a gray three piece knit suit and black accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of pink rose buds.

Mrs. Moose, mother of the groom, was attired in a brown and pink knit dress and brown lizard accessories. Her flowers were also a corsage of pink rose buds.

The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception held immediately following the wedding ceremonies in the Goehry home.

For traveling the bride changed into a two piece pink ensemble and brown accessories. She added a white orchid corsage to her attire.

After a honeymoon trip in Western Texas, the couple will make their home at 587 Joy Drive in Fort Worth, where the bridegroom is employed with General Dynamics.

Fine Arts Club To Convention

The second district of Texas Federation of Music Clubs held their eighth annual convention October 12 in Lubbock.

Members of the Plains Fine Arts Club attending were Mrs. Gayle Craft, president; Mrs. Jack Palmer, delegate; and Mrs. Randy Winter.

The group was proud to bring back a blue ribbon for winning first place on their yearbook.

Texas Tech, South Plains, Wayland and Lubbock Christian Colleges presented a music program during the evening.

The program was dedicated to Miss Laura Lee Jones of Levelland, who is serving as district historian and chairman of Senior Club Ratings and Evaluation.

Iota Pi In Regular Meet

Iota Pi met in regular monthly meeting Monday, Nov. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Lowe.

The program was given by Bever Overton and Charlotte Kennedy. Mrs. Overton gave "Use of the Flag." She brought out that the American flag was never to be used in table settings and nothing was ever to be put above the flag other than an eagle. Mrs. Kennedy brought an interesting reading on voting and stressed the fact to be sure and vote Tuesday.

Pearl Tapioca is a product made from moist manioc starch that is steam heated in copper pans and stirred constantly until small gelatinized masses form. These are dried then passed over rollers for smoothing.

Story Hour

Cheryln Johnson and Shelley Williams entertained at the storyhour time recently. These girls read to lots of little eager listeners.

The library personnel appreciates each one coming as a volunteer from Mrs. Lela Warren's class, and without these girls and boys to help out it would be real hard to carry on storyhour successfully.

If anyone has any pre-schoolers who would like to come once a week to story hour, they are welcomed to join the group. Also, anyone wanting to entertain a group of pre-schoolers the library personnel is always eager to have extra help, and some people can be of great help with their hobbies and ideas. Little ones are anxious and ready to listen, look and learn.

Those attending Thursday morning were Teddy and Becky Willis, Stephen and Curt Randall, Clay Lindsey, Judy and Susie Cogburn, Lesa Lowe, Latrice Pickett, Ronda Teaff, Michael and Tye Houck, Shawn Barnett, Brndi Winelle Winter, Berryl Raley, Anita Graham, Russell Warren, Paula Hale, Johna Jo Richie, Billy Skinner, Christie Barron, and Renee' Davis. Gwen Fitzgerald and Stephanie Green read to an entertained the Thursday morning storyhour group at the Yoakum County Library.

Those attending were Stephen Randall, Curt Randall, Stephen Brown, Randy Brown, Billy Skinner, Michael Houck, Tye Houck, Judy Cogburn, Clay Lindsey, La Tricia Edwards, Lesa LOE, Brent Palmer, Guy Morgan, Jody Morgan, Berrlyn Raley, Brndi Winters, Russell Warren, Anita Graham, Tami Kreig, Becky Willis, Teddy Willis, Ronda Teaff, Christi Barron, Shaun

Barnett, Latrice Pickett, and Wanda Pickett.

Story hour is held every Thursday morning at 10:30 and all pre-schoolers are invited to attend.

TOGETHERNESS AT FAIR
DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—The historic feud between sheepmen and cattlemen has ended at the Wyoming State Fair.

For many years, booths of the Wyoming Stock Growers Association and Wyoming Wool Growers Association were located side by side at the fairgrounds — separated by a solid partition. But the partition was taken down this year and visitors to both exhibit booths mingled freely.

South Plains Cotton Report

The three Cotton Classing offices of the USDA in this area classed 47,600 samples of new crop cotton last week ending Friday, Nov. 1, 1968. This brought the total for the entire season to 98,700. 46,000 samples had been classed on the South Plains this time last year.

Predominant grades were Middling, Strict Low Middling, Middling Light Spotted, and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted. These 4 grades represented 90 percent of the total classed.

The average staple length from the South Plains area last week was slightly longer than 1-inch.

Micronaire readings by percentages were: 5.0 or better, 2 percent; 3.5-4.9, 79 percent; 3.3-3.4, 11 percent; 3.0-3.2, 5 percent; and 2.7-2.9, 3 percent.

The average Pressley tests, which is the breaking strength of the fibers, for the Lubbock area was 88,000 pounds per square inch; for the Lamesa area, 84,000 pounds; and for the Brownfield area, 88,000 pounds.

Prices reported to the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA at Lubbock ranged from $13.75 to $18.75 per bale over the Government loan value for White grades in the 3.5 micronaire range.

Average cottonseed price paid to producers was $49 per ton.

WHERE THE ANTELOPE ROAMS

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Metropolitan airports have their woes with overcrowded conditions and heavy traffic. But airlines operating at more remote areas have other problems.

A Frontier Airlines 580 prop-jet with 26 passengers aboard collided with an antelope on the runway while landing at Laramie recently. The antelope was killed, but no one in the plane was hurt.

WINNER AND LOSER

WORLAND, Wyo. (AP)—Newell Sargent of Worland won and lost an election in Wyoming's primary.

Sargent, an incumbent state legislator, was defeated in his bid for renomination in the Republican primary.

But he had better luck in running for the city council. He won that nomination without any opposition.
