The freak windstorm which was travelling in a North-Northeasterly direction leveled the TV Antenna on the McGinty home and unroofed a 40-foot shed and a 12-foot wide saddle room. Corrugated tin and lumber from the roof was scattered for 200 yards north of the barn.

The storm, which had passed North of Plains, had been traveling in a South-Southeasterly direction. The storm had split West of Plains and another part of it had passed Plains on the South. Mr. McGinty reported approximately 1/2 inch of rain at the home, but only .21 inch was received at the Plains weather sta-

Editorial World Situation

The world situation is tense. Wars and rumors of wars spring from every corner. It appears that the whole world is setting on a powder keg. The recent Korean episode, the shooting down of an American reconnaissance plane, has severely intensified the tenseness.

The Vietnam situation can hardly be accredited with signs of improvement. With the average-daily-death rate of American soldiers being estimated at 50 per day, the price for settling others difficulties appears extremely high and isolationism becomes enticing.

The desire for escalated war in the Far East shows no sign of abatement, and the indications now are that the greater powers have no intentions of permitting any escalation without their involvement. The recent announcement of purchases of uranium by Germany from South American Countries arouses fear in Europe of another all-powerful Germany with nuclear weapons.

Russia is deeply concerned with the amassing of an American fleet in the Korean area. And Japan is in panic at the sight of anything pertaining to nuclear energy, peaceful or otherwise.

Student uprisings continue in almost every country in the world. The United States more embroiled in racism and social revolt than any country where intellectuality is at a premium, permits the colleges to settle their campus differences without police intervention. Advice and criticism pour forth from all sources from the man on the street to the halls of Washington, D.C. But no definite action is forthcoming.

In spite of all of the comments from all sources of the news media it is the view of "THE PLAINS REVIEW", that judgment of the President and his cabinet should be withheld. Public opinion is too diversified and the situation too complicated for careless or snap judgement. Confidence in leadership is a high priority under such crucial conditions.

Civil Defense

Civil Defense should always be of deep local concern as well as the first concern of the highest tribunal of the nation. Nevertheless to be of any value it must be up-dated and modernized to be of any value.

The ABM system advocated by the last administration has come under fire criticism. However, President Nixon and his advisors see sufficient merit in it to seriously advocate its usage.

The old original idea of going under ground with bomb shelters lost its popularity soon after it was originated. It may have some merit, but when it failed to be the great financial pump priming that was expected by the financiers that exploited it, the fever created for the shelters was soon drowned in the cost of construction. It continues to hold interest for some localities.

Denver City will hold an intensive "simulation" demonstration Thursday of this week utilizing much of the counties equipment and personnel. It was reported that the demonstration would include a bomb explosion, fall out test and use of shelter drill.

Whose Voice on the Telephone?

Rare is the person who has never gotten a playful telephone call asking him to "Guess who this is." But all too often, identifying the caller on the other end of the line is no joking matter.

For example: Who was it that telephoned the parents of a kidnapped child about the ransom money? Who made those obscene calls to a terrified widow? Which bank employee, questioned by telephone, okayed a check that was no good?

Generally speaking, the law puts considerable faith in a listener's ability to recognize the voice he hears on the telephone. The modern instrument works well enough to reveal distinctive vocal characteristics.

Thus, a blackmail victim was allowed to testify that he recognized, from prior acquaintance, the voice that had threatened him on the telephone. As one judge commented:

"The recognition of persons by their voices is a common occurrence, and is often the only means of identification."

Suppose you don't recognize the voice at the time of the call. May you still identify it later on? Consider this situation:

The father of a kidnapped child received several ransom calls from someone whose voice was not familiar. Later, when a suspect was arrested, the father talked with him face to face—and decided the man had the same voice he had heard on the telephone. Here, too, the court held the identification was sufficiently reliable to be accepted into evidence.

What if you don't remember what the voice sounded like but do remember what it said? A case like that arose when a lumber dealer tried to collect for merchandise which a customer said he had never ordered.

"I can't remember what the caller sounded like," said the dealer in a court hearing, "but I do recall that he used this customer's name. I had no reason at all to suspect that he wasn't telling the truth."

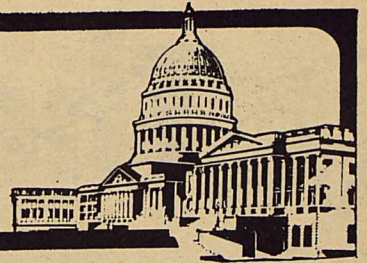

But the court ruled that this kind of identification of a caller was not adequate as legal evidence. The judge felt that, with no voice recognition or other corroborating circumstances, it was all too possible that the call was indeed a hoax.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Is New York Necessary?

At one time beside the Tiber there was a mighty city.

And to this city there flocked all the dispossessed, the neer-do-wells of the world plus those just down on their luck.

But along with this group this great city displayed an opulence that far exceeded anything the world had known up to that time, and in this city there was a constant construction of dazzling new edifices.

Needless to say, those who had not, looked with envy on those who had, and this created considerable unrest.

Now the political system was somewhat topsy turvy at times. At times there were senators, at times consuls, and at times emperors, all anxious to keep their jobs.

So they felt very strongly about the unrest of the masses, and after considerable thinking about the situation, came up with the viewpoint that the unrest in the streets of the city was not a local problem, but an empire problem.

So it was decreed that the whole world should pay tribute to Rome and from all the far corners taxes poured into Rome.

Of course, a great deal of this largesse was siphoned off by graft, corruption, and incompetence, but a substantial part was passed out to the great city's discontented which in those days was crudely referred to as the rabble. But the more that was given the discontented the more discontented they became, and the day came when lots in the city were even useless as prizes at bingo games. Around this time the Christian era began, thus it is presumed there was bingo.

There is perhaps no parallel to be drawn, but it is interesting that New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller has made a strong plea for the Congress to continue the ten per cent surtax as a permanent feature of the income tax, with the funds diverted to the big cities, which usually means New York.

In short, he proposes that the residents of Iowa be taxed to support New York in style to which it would like to become accustomed.

In other words, 192 million should pay tribute to maintain a city of some 8 million.

Obviously, if such a move is necessary to keep New York City in a reasonably viable condition, then it is reasonable to ask if New York City is necessary. The city is, of course, a magnificent thing to behold, but it is also too expensive for any but the affluent to live in, and thus to tax everyone to maintain a reasonable degree of living for all who want to flock into its limits is probably a luxury far too great for the rest of the nation. Thus, instead of thinking of a greater New York City, it is perhaps time to consider a lesser New York City.

vaccine date can be set. Licensing will then be combined with the vaccination. With this identification of ownership of the desirable and wanted dogs established, the problem of eradicating the balance of the population should be greatly lessened.

WATER PROGRESS

Don Laverentz of the Du Pont Co. in reporting the progression of the Plains desalination plant stated that eight of the permeators have been installed. Don was in Lubbock Tuesday to oversee the shipment of the other permeators. Don stated further that by Thursday all sixteen should be installed. Operation of the plant should be soon starting.

Dog Problem

The city council which met Tuesday night were confronted with the annual difficulty of what to do with the year's dog crop. It seems that each year presents this same problem. The dog population is regulated at vaccinating time but has a tendency to grow out of proportion each year.

During discussion of the problem, it was learned that the city has a strict and ample dog ordinance that is quite capable of coping with the situation. However, the council decided to delay action until a rabies

TOPS To Be Organized

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) was started because of the great need for an organization to help the overweight. TOPS was founded in 1948 by Ester S. Manz. It has no commercial interests and because of this it has achieved great success. It concerns itself strictly with losing excess poundage and learning the causes.

In 1960 there was only 985 clubs. Now there are 9,578 TOPS Clubs.

TOPS is a non-profit organization based on the principle of "group therapy." Group therapy means getting together those who have a problem in common, getting them to talk about it without fear of being laughed at or misunderstood. It is not a course of short duration. It is a planned, continuing program dedicated to helping the overweight. TOPS does not permit gimmicks or Fad diets.

Members are urged to get their diet, exercise program and needed medication from their doctor. They also want the doctor to advise the members on their desired normal weight goal. TOPS through incentive, encouragement, studies in nutrition and proper eating habits, urges its members to take off pounds sensibly through consistent weekly losses.

Anyone interested in TOPS may notify Mrs. Milton Bayer. Her phone number is 456-4567.

Maid Of Cotton Contest

The second annual "Miss Cotton of Yoakum County" contest has tentatively been set for May the 24th in Plains. The event is being sponsored by the Yoakum County Cotton Promotion Club.

Information and rules have been mailed to approximately 100 girls in Yoakum County. A contest must be a junior or senior in Plains or Denver City High Schools at the time of the county contest and unmarried. Each will model two cotton outfits - a cotton formal and a sports outfit. The garments may be made at home or purchased. Each entry will give a two-three minute talk in her own words on the importance of cotton and its promotion of today.

The county winner will receive $100. from the Cotton Club to be used toward her expenses on the trip to the state contest in Dallas held during the State Fair. Modeling and special appearances will also be available to the local winner.

The 1968 Yoakum County Queen, Patricia Hanks of Denver City, placed third in the state contest. The state queen receives a $300. scholarship and several smaller prizes in addition to special appearances and modeling opportunities. The first runner-up receives a $200. scholarship.

The county first runner-up is eligible for the state contest if Miss Cotton is unable to attend; the second runner-up will be eligible if Miss Cotton and the first runner-up are unable to attend.

Girls of the county are urged to participate. Ones planning to buy or make a new formal soon are asked to get ones of 100% cotton so that it may be used during the contest as well as for school events. Often clothes have a touch of trim that may or may not be all cotton but as long as the garment itself is cotton, a small amount of trim of another fiber will be acceptable. Accessories should be selected to compliment the garment and may

by Sudie Thompson

What is your opinion about poultry meat in frankfurters and bologna?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has proposed that certain cooked sausage products, such as frankfurters and bologna, be allowed to contain up to 15 percent poultry, without affecting the product name.

Sausages containing more than the 15 percent poultry would be required, as now, to reflect the presence of poultry in the product name. When poultry is included it must be named in the list of ingredients.

The Consumer and Marketing Service--the USDA agency administering both federal meat and poultry inspections--says the nutritional qualities of poultry are similar to those of other ingredients in cooked sausage.

Trained testing panels have found that up to 15 percent poultry did not alter the characteristics of cooked sausage.

The proposed regulation has been requested by the poultry industry. Interested persons are invited to make written comments about the proposal during a 45-day period which began April 9, 1969.

Two copies of such comments should be filed by May 26 with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., 20250. All comments submitted will be available for examination by the public in the Hearing Clerk's office.

Also, USDA has proposed certain wording to be used in the ingredients statement of cooked sausage containing poultry.

If the poultry ingredients included fat or skin beyond their natural proportions in the bird, this fact would be additionally noted in the ingredients statement.

The contest is also set up on a basis that it will not interfere heavily with end-of-school activities. There will probably be one or two practice sessions which will be set at a time convenient for all entries.

Girls interested in entering can obtain entry blanks by writing to Mrs. Harold Parrish or Mrs. Teny Lester, both of Rt. 1, Tokio, Texas 79376. Deadline for entry has been set for May 19th.

FFA DAIRY JUDGING TEAM WON 3RD PLACE IN MESA DISTRICT

Dairy Judging Team

The Plains FFA Dairy Judging team placed third in District competition at Wilson on Wednesday, April 16. Team members are Rolan Taylor, James Stewart, Wayne Wauson, and Tommy Beal. Loop placed first and Brownfield placed second. These teams, along with teams from other districts, will compete in Area competition at Texas Tech on April 26.

Dairy cattle judging has been instrumental in arousing in young people an interest in good dairy cattle. They learn what characteristics are required for a long, useful life of high production and a low incidence of digestive and udder disturbances. They also learn that such characteristics are essential for efficient low-cost production.

Plains FFA Grass Judging team won 3rd in the Mesa District Judging Contest. The members of the judging team are: L-R-Bryan Wilmeth, Rolan Taylor, James Stewart, Ace Hamm and Randy Lehmberg, Voc. Forgiveness

We often pray "forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us." These words are uttered fervently and sincerely enough but with only consideration for the "forgive us" as the words that follow are merely uttered because they were written there without any thought of their meaning or significance. Forgiveness is a spiritual outflowing of the Divine Spirit that exists within each individual. The Divine Spirit is a creative and progressive spirit. It only flows in one direction. This spirit never reverses itself and never contradicts itself. It flows ever outward from the source within. When flowing, the result is forgiveness. When this spirit is suppressed, the flow ceases and no one is forgiven, not even one's self.

JOE BEAL

Beal Elected

Joe Beal, son of Mr. & Mrs. J. W. Beal of Plains, has recently been elected pledge Vice-President of Tau Kappa Epsilon, a social fraternity at Sul Ross State College in Alpine. Joe is a 1968 graduate of Plains High School and is a freshman at Sul Ross.

Brush Control

By Leo L. White, County Agent
Landowners of Yoakum County are being called on to make a contribution for research work. Every county in the state has an organized committee to collect funds to be used for this purpose. The amount is one cent per acre for a five year period. G.W. Cleveland is the committee chairman in this county and he is hopeful that the land owners here will make a sizeable contribution to the program.

A total investment of five cents an acre over the next five years could easily result in good returns to the land owner. At the present time, the cost of applying one application of herbicide on shin oak or mesquite is about $1.90 per acre. It is believed that research people can develop new materials or new methods of application within a five year period that will lower the cost of treatment considerably. If the treatment cost can be lowered by 50 or 60 cents per acre as a result of this program, then the landowner who paid five cents an acre for the research would reap the profits.

Mr. Cleveland has the pledge cards and is collecting from landowners as contacts are made. He will be sending the money to the central depository of the Brush Control and Range Improvement Association in Abilene soon after May 1. In order for him to send in a representative amount on this first check, it will be necessary for a good number of landowners to hand him a check within the next few days.

This is another program similar to the screwworm eradication program which has worked so well and been a real help to the livestock producers. Screwworms are no longer a big problem for cattlemen in the county. Mr. Cleveland reports that the contributions from this county to the screwworm program were far below what they should have been. Those who paid their share received the benefit and those who did not pay received the same benefit. Here again, the landowner who does not pay will be able to take advantage of any new weed control chemicals that are developed as a result of this research.

Brush infested land that will not produce forage for more than 20 head of cattle per section is not considered to be valuable grazing land. The value of this land would automatically be increased if economical methods of brush control could be developed.

It would be similar to an acre where field bindweed had completely taken over irrigated farm land. The land was unsuitable for crops and it was selling for about $20 an acre for sheep grazing land. Now that new chemicals have been developed and field bindweeds can be better controlled, this land is selling above $100 per acre with the bindweeds on it.

The person who does not own land at the present time, will have to pay for the brush control work in the cost of the land when he buys land that has been improved.

This is a program that costs but it is also a program that can pay good dividends in the long run.

At the April 4th class the school was organized and now has its own officers. Mr. Manuel Ramos was elected president, Elsa Flores was elected secretary, and Louis Barrentes was elected treasurer. Mr. Ramos reports that there is a nursery available for those with children. He also expressed the need for toys for the nursery. Any one having un-

A grower is eligible to vote on the referendum if he produces upland cotton in the county. Ballots will be mailed to all known cotton producers on May 2nd and any cotton producer who does not receive one by mail is urged to immediately get in contact with the ASCS County office. The ballots may be mailed in or brought to the county office anytime within the voting period but to be counted the ballot must be in the county office by closing time on Friday night or post-marked not later than the May 9th date. The vote will not affect the transfers of upland cotton allotment by sale or lease from one farm to another within the same county and it will not affect transfers across county lines from one farm owned by a person to another farm owned or operated by the same person. The May referendum affects only the 1970 crop year.

ACP PRACTICES: Farmers are reminded that May 10th is the final date to file applications for summer cover crop practices to be considered for ACP cost-share. As in the past to be eligible for ACP payment on any practice, a request must be filed before the practice is started.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO NOTARIES PUBLIC

Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr. announced that all qualified Notaries Public desiring re-appointment for the new term which begins June 1, 1969 and ends June 1, 1971, must pay the required fee and file a new oath and bond with the county clerk between May 1, 1969 and May 15, 1969, inclusive.

Mr. Dies emphasized that Notaries Public should not send requests for re-appointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State inasmuch as the law specifically requires that the county clerk approve Notary Bonds and forward copies of the Application to the Secretary of State.

Secretary of State Dies further stated that any person not now a Notary Public who desires appointment for the beginning of the new term on June 1, 1969 should apply to his county clerk before May 16, 1969. The applicant must be at least 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States of America and Texas, and a resident of the county for which appointed. The required Application Forms may be obtained from the County Clerk.
