CITY HALL BUSY PLACE

Plains City Hall has been the center of great activity this week as the new Du Pont Water plant nears completion and commencement of operation. Many of the officials of the Permasep division of the Du Pont Co. have been paying visits to the City of Plains and inspecting the work at their Permasep Plant.

This being the largest plant of its kind anywhere it duly deserves the great attention being afforded it.

Mr. Harold Holloway, whose office is in Austin, Texas and represents the Marketing division of the company, has been in charge of activities here this week. He has been assisted by Jim Joines of the Company's Public Relations and Don Crab of the Productions division.

The Jam Handy Productions of Detroit, Michigan, have been quite busy this week taking moving pictures of the Permasep installations and some local industries for the Du Pont Company. These pictures are both industrial and of a public relations nature. They will be produced in both color and sound. It is reported that these pictures will be shown in Plains when completed, which will be approximately 8 weeks.

Many of the Plains residents have participated in making these pictures and all seemed highly pleased with the opportunity to participate. The participation by the public was of a 'Candid Camera' nature and who ever happened to be present was pressed into service as actors and actresses, which made it quite enjoyable for all present.

The City of Plains is proud host of the great new scientific discovery by the Du Pont Company and of the many fine hospitable and gracious company personnel who have been working in conjunction with the installation of the plant.

The residents of Plains have ample reason to be proud of their Mayor, Roy Edwards, who has served as their mayor throughout the planning and the transacting with the Du Pont Company for Plains to become the first home of their project. The residents owe a debt of gratitude to those who have served and to those who now serve on the city's council, whose cooperation and deep interest in the city of Plains have made this enterprise possible. As Plains nestles into its rightful niche in the parade of progress the decision of these men will often be remembered.

EVERYBODY SING

Plains will be the host for singers from the surrounding area Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30 P.M. for one hour only at the Building known as the Hillside Church of Christ.

There is no more beautiful music than music straight from the heart, expressed in God's own natural way through the human voice.

COME SING, COME LISTEN, COME PRAISE THE LORD IN WONDERFUL SONG. EVERY ONE JOIN IN. ALL ARE WARMLY WELCOMED, NO QUESTIONS ASK, NO COLLECTION TAKEN. COME, ENJOY A FINE FELLOWSHIP.

LEGION TO MEET

A special meeting of the Plains American Legion has been called for Saturday night, June 6th presumably at 8:00 o'clock. It is reported that there is serious and important business to be considered and every serious minded legionaire that possibly can should attend.

The American Legion is a truly dedicated organization of servicemen who have once served their country in times of war, that their country might be free. These same men are called on here at home today to help keep it free. The Legion needs the support of all of its members.

SHREDDER AVAILABLE

Mr. Johnnie Brown announced this week that the shredder and tractor owned by the City of Plains is in good repair and its services are available to any one who will clear their vacant lots of all destructive debris and then call the City Hall.

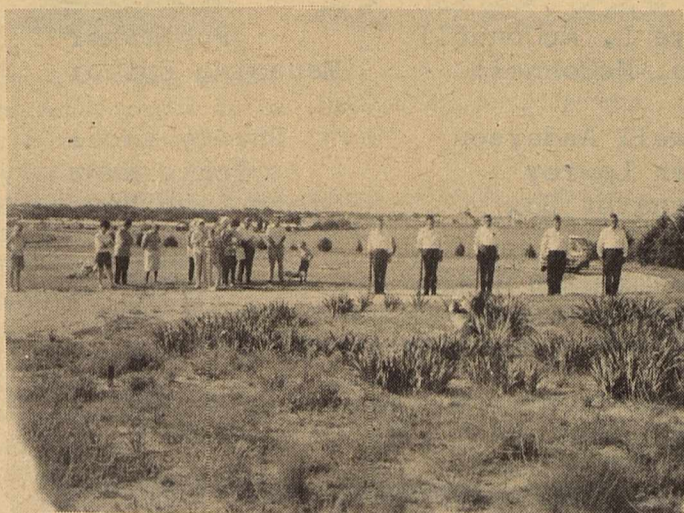

A cleanup service was afforded the residents of Plains by the Garden Club, the City and the County commissioners. The City should not be expected to continue to clean up vacant lots and furnish free shredder service.

Many are complaining about the mosquito infestation and asking for spray service which is also a free service. Tall weeds and grass are a very fertile breeding ground and habitat of the mosquito, and it is very difficult to effectively spray such areas. Clearing and shredding weedy areas contributes greatly to the mosquito control. Besides, it just helps the appearance of the city.

Guest Speaker

Billy Jack Burt, formerly of Plains and Plains High School football player, will be the guest speaker at the First Assembly of God Church Sunday evening at 7:00 P.M.

Billy Jack is well known in Yoakum County and would be happy to see lots of his friends in the special service and renew old acquaintances. His wife and children will also be with him in the service.

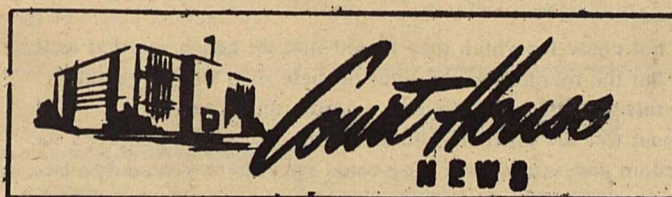

Memorial Day Firing Squad: L-R Jesse Batchelor, D.H. Kerby, Johnnie Fitzgerald, Tommie McDonnell and T.J. Bearden.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD

Memorial Day services were held at 10:00 A.M. at the Plains Cemetery on the morning of Memorial Day. The Plains American Legion conducted the flag raising ceremony with A.E. McGinty reading the service prayer and raising the flag while the firing squad stood at attention. When the flag was raised the Legion firing squad fired a three shot salute in memory of the war dead. The Legionaires serving on the firing squad were Acting Sergeant, T.J. Bearden, Johnnie Fitzgerald, D.H. Kerby, Tommie McDonnell and Post Commander, Jesse Batchelor. Members of the Plains Tsa Mo Ga Club were present for the Ceremony and helped to beautify the cemetery by dressing and decorating graves of non-residents who could not be present.

Mrs. Blanch Dyer, District Clerk announced the following people were called for jury duty for Civil Docket-District Court, June 9, 1969.

HAS PATRIOTISM

VANISHED

Memorial Day is a day set apart for the honoring of the war dead. It matters little with what regard we as individuals hold the particular conflict in which these men have given their lives nor whether they heroically volunteered or were drafted at the decision of the leaders of our nation, nor does it matter what regard we may have had for the leaders of our nation at the time of conflict, the very important fact remains that these lives were given in sacrifice for their country. It was the supreme sacrifice, it was all that they had.

It is not cause for which they fought that we honor, be that as it may, but the memory of the lives of these men who so gallantly made this great sacrifice that this nation might survive.

Without war the thirteen colonies could never have achieved their freedom and without war they could never have survived to become the GREATEST AND FREEST NATION in the WORLD TODAY. These men were not fighting in defense of war, they fought in defense of their homeland that their loved ones and their families might have the freedoms so generously enjoyed by the people of the United States today.

Today it cannot be denied that the sacrifice made by these men has lost its significance. The respect that was once held for them and displayed with flags flying and serious ceremonies at their shrines is now ignored by all but a few. The absence of people at the recent Memorial Day ceremonies is being bemoaned by "those whom pause and remember" throughout our land.

To the great majority of the people of the United States this was merely a holiday from their regular duties that they might sally forth and pursue their many ideas of enjoyment and entertainment with no thought of those who made their freedom possible.

The fault does not lie alone on the young generation who have no regard for the rights of anyone but themselves. The blame must be shared by every parent that ever took the children on vacation rather than to take them to memorial services and have so recklessly reared them without knowledge of the meaning of the word "patriotism," and hardly can we teach something that we do not feel.

Many cry, "Wake Up America," always crying out to the seats of government with no thought of the fact that only in the homes and in the hearts of "AMERICANS," can America ever be awakened.

The present riots and revolts, disregard for law and order and the wasteful destruction of property can, must and will be stopped by our government. But the recurrence of these actions can only be stopped in the homes of America.

The conditions are serious and demand immediate action. The place to start is in the home and let it spread outward. Many will uselessly sacrifice their lives in riots and revolts if they are deprived of that precious knowledge of the meaning of the word, "PATRIOTISM". Let it be taken into the hearts and homes of America and taught there first. No better way can be found to make America strong.

MOVING PICTURES

The Jim Handy Productions, the company producing the moving pictures for the Du Pont company in Plains this week, was jam packed with characters with unusual careers and variable experiences. In all they would be considered a very well experienced crew. It is hoped that we may turn up with several human interest stories.

We have selected Jimmie Mundell as a subject this week largely because he wears an unusual mustache and may help to take a little heat off of the editor who also wears a long and untrimmed mustache, which in this day and age makes an older man appear a bit unusual due to the fact that today it is a habit generally reserved for the younger set and generally accompanied with a shock of shoulder length hair and maybe a beard all of which are untrimmed.

As for the editor---well an editor should have something to distinguish him and if he can't attract folks with his writing he just has to do something, if it is an untrimmed mustache.

Well as for Jimmie Mundell, and that's who we started to write about before we were distracted by this editor's attraction, I have a sneaking idea that that mustache of his is not just because of a particular liking for wearing a lip full of hair. For somewhere it leaked out that Jim is to play a character part, down in Dallas in about a week, in a picture about "Billie the Kid". Now no one said that Jim was to be "Billie the Kid", and I don't recall of seeing any pictures "Pat Garrett" with a mustache. Now believe it or not, "Billie" was a bit before my time, but I have viewed a good many pictures of old timers of "The Kid's" time and trails and many wore handle-bar mustaches. So we just don't know yet who Jim is going to be. I'm not sure that Mr. Coe wore a mustache but I have read that he was a pretty good guy and if he did wear the lip decoration, it could be that he is who Jim will characterize, for Jim is a real good guy too.

Joking aside, Jim is not a stranger to the west Texas country nor to the newspaper business. In visiting with him I learned that during his high school years at Wichita Falls he hung around the office of the Old Wichita Post until he contracted the newspaper fever and the post put him to work.

He worked there both as reporter and photographer until he finished school. After the school years he went to Houston where he spent some time with the Houston Press as copy-boy and photographer. Following the Press experience, Jim spent four years in the Marine Corps as a combat photographer. Nothing was to deter Jim's interest in the news field. After separation from military service, he spent a year with a Texas magazine known at that time as the Texas Weekly. After the years service with the Texas Weekly, in the spring of 1948 Jim joined the Hockley County Herald under the old publisher, Horace Winehold.

I'm lead to believe that the staff of the Herald was some what comparable in size to that of the Review for when I asked him about his duties there, Jim stated that the ad he answered requested a photographer, reporter and photoengraver. Quite a requisite according to my calculations. Jim did not stay with this heavy assignment to long until he moved into television with WBAP TV at Fort Worth and from this into film production on his own.

Jim had his own production company where he produced industrials and political documentaries where he assisted in the campaigns of some of our most noted Texas politicians. On selling out his production company Jim spent some time with CBS in Chicago, which was an achievement that was surely enviable.

At the present time Jim is a free lance director and camera man for movie productions. He has located in Mountainburg, Arkansas by his own choice of locations, having a particular like for that climate and type of scenery. Jim has certainly had a varied and extensive experience which no doubt renders him quite capable in his profession. It also portrays the fact that the news business possesses a fascination that would be difficult to escape even if one cared to.

Directions for safe use are on insecticides. Be sure to follow the directions closely or the bugs in your garden may not be the only ones poisoned.

Never run power lawn mowers, chain saws or snow blowers in an enclosed area such as a garage. Like automobiles, they too can cause carbon monoxide poisoning.

PROFITS

New York--Petroleum company profits after taxes were slightly below the average for all manufacturing firms during 1968, according to Oil Facts. A survey by the First National City Bank of New York shows an average return on net worth of 12.9% for petroleum companies and 13.1% for all manufacturing companies.

ITEM: Non-woven carpets are made by a felting process using for the most part polypropylene olefin fibers. Both the fiber and the method of production are relatively inexpensive, resulting in a less expensive type of carpeting that is widely advertised for both indoor and outdoor use. Color ranges are limited, but improvements are on the way.

ITEM: When working with any floor finish that contains solvents, use caution. Rags that have been soaked with solvents or varnish should be disposed of immediately after you have finished with them. Burn them or put them in a bucket of water. Always work in a well-ventilated area with windows and doors open. This will reduce the chance of solvent fumes accumulating and being ignited.

ITEM: How many knives do you need in your kitchen? A good paring knife with a straight cutting edge and a sharp point, a utility knife, and a larger knife, such as a butcher knife, are basic. Many homemakers like the French or chef's knife for dicing, mincing and shredding foods.

ITEM: Regardless of the type of paint you have used, rinse and comb the bristles of your paint brush, let dry and wrap in heavy paper. Store the brush in either a suspended or a flat position to keep the bristles straight.

ITEM: If you keep pesticides or chemicals around the house for any reason, store them carefully, out of the reach of children. Whenever you use them, read the directions carefully, follow them exactly.

Let's have an Old Fashioned Visit. By The Publisher

Have you ever tried to write a news article propped up in bed? If not, you should try it sometime. It surely has many complications but there is also a feeling of elation and amazement that you can still do something and aren't completely useless.

Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Ragsdale known to us as Ruth and Rags, have a dog named "Duke" who, they think is the smartest dog in the State of Texas.

They have learned not to give him a bone because he goes immediately to the lawn - usually picking the prettiest spot - digs a hole and buries the bone for future gnawing. But Rags has made the practice of giving him an ice cream cone before Rags leaves on his ice cream route.

On one particular day, Duke was not to hungry so he buried his ice cream cone. Later that evening, he decided to uncover it, but when he did, he found only an empty cone.

Ruth said that if there is such a thing as an expression on a dog's face, he had it. He looked at the empty cone with the most surprised expression; then looked at her and Rag, then again at the empty cream cone, and seemed to be asking "Who did it?"

Ruth also thinks she has the smartest and cutest grandchild- ren, Dwaine and Jerry. I will have to admit that they are almost as cute and smart as mine. Anyway she tells this story about them:

Dwaine, the oldest of the two, was told by his mother to clean out from underneath his bed. (He had gotten into the habit of hiding things underneath his bed rather than hanging them in the closet.)

He obeys, but in the process, he throws a few things underneath Jerry's bed. His father seeing him do this, the conversation went as follows:

Father: "Dwaine, stop pushing those things under Jerry's bed and hang them in the closet as your mother told you to."

Dwaine: "I didn't push those things there."

Father: "Yes you did because I saw you."

Dwaine: Ah, Daddy, you're silly."

Then Jerry speaks up, "He is not! -- not unless Mother says he is."

The Kansas Futurity is the first leg of the "Tres Coronas" or the Triple Crown of Quarter Horse racing. The other two stakes are the $200,000 Ruidoso Rainbow Futurity and the $600,000 All American Futurity.

Quarter Horse Racing Secretary Pete Drypolcher announced post time for the first race Friday will be 1 p.m. instead of 1:30 p.m.

More than 8,000 young Texans have been trained in city, county and state government and democratic processes in the 25-year history of Bluebonnet Girls' State, to be held this year June 11-20 at St. Edward's University. From the program's inception, except for two years, it has been headquartered in Austin.

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, with some additional backing from various local civic clubs, Girl's State accepts young ladies who have completed their junior year of high school. These "citizens" then return to their home high schools to spread the beneficial knowledge they have gleaned from this two weeks' experience.

The more than 450 girls who attend the '69 session will study and actively participate in the processes of city, county and state government, as these are structured through Texas by Texas statutes. The citizens are divided into two political parties in order that they may learn about the American democratic system.

4-H Bike Riders Get Safety Tips

A new nationwide bicycle program for 4-H youngsters has been announced jointly by the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. It is designed for boys and girls from 9 to 19, with special emphasis on participation by youth of elementary school age.

Already an estimated 125,000 4-H'ers have bicycle projects, according to the Extension Service. From coast-to-coast, bicycling is one of the fastest growing fun and leisure time activities.

Goodyear Sponsors

The program is sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio. Officials of the company and 4-H representatives negotiated for more than a year in setting up the educational pattern.

A series of annual awards will be provided by the sponsor. They consist of individual certificates for all participating members and a $50 U.S. savings bond for the state champion. Six 4-H'ers will get expense-paid educational trips to the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago. The trips will be awarded on a sectional basis.

Four national $600 scholarships also will be awarded.

Guidebooks and other instructional materials are being specially written for this new program, according to a 4-H spokesman, and will be ready later this year. The bicycle project could well be advanced preparation for driving a motor vehicle. Similar safety rules, maintenance and mechanical checks apply.

Safety Stressed

The 4-H'ers will learn correct hand signals for turning or stopping, which are the same as for a motor vehicle. They are urged to obey traffic signs and signals. They are taught to yield right-of-way to pedestrians and practice courtesy at all times.

A lot of fun has been built into the program, too. Exhibitions of riding skill, games and contests are planned. Safety factors in bicycle selection will be brought to the attention of youngsters and parents as well.

Bikes Right

For example, the popular "high rise" bike may or may not fit the rider; or "regular" bikes may need adjustments. Hand-me-down bikes are not always satisfactory either, according to some authorities, because the size, weight and balance may be unsuitable for the child.

The most recent statistics available report accidents involving bicycles and motor vehicles resulted in 700 deaths annually. Of this number 64 per cent involved persons 14 years or younger.

cally and acientifically practical, the article states.

Meanwhile, the thousands of boys and girls enrolled in a 4-H sheep project this year are interested in other scientific advances in breeding, raising, defleecing and marketing. They soon learn that success or failure depends on their knowledge of up-to-date practices.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the State Extension Service are chief sources of information.

Sponsor of the national 4-H Sheep program is Wilson & Co., Inc., A Subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. More than 60,000 youths are active in the program.

Annual awards are presented to state and national winners. Last year about half of the 39 state awards of $50 U.S. savings bonds went to girls. But the 6 $600 national scholarships and trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago were claimed by boys.

One reason that raising sheep is popular with girls is because the animals do not get too large and as one girl said: "The little lambs are so cuddly." The girls' project records are excellent, said a 4-H spokesman.

The 1969 national scholarship winners will be selected next fall, and announced during the National 4-H Congress.

News Release

New York--United States consumers are sding up the nation's proved reserves of petroleum faster than new supplies are being found.

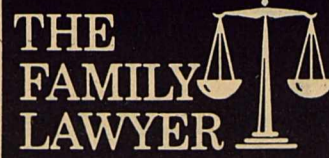

The publication, Oil Facts, points out that this is the result of record-breaking production and a continuing decline in exploration for new deposits. The number of wells completed last year was 46 per cent below the level of 12 years ago.

At the end of 1958, Oil Facts reports, the United States had proved oil reserves equal to 13 times that year's production. Now that figure is down to 10 times current production. In the same period, proved natural gas reserves declined from 22 years' supply to 15, and proved reserves of natural gas liquids decreased from 18 years' supply to 12.

Government officials and industry leaders believe large amounts of petroleum remain to be discovered in this country, Oil Facts adds, but with the nation's need for oil and gas expected to double by the end of this century, there is serious concern about finding these supplies in time to meet the demand.

Missing and Presumed Dead

One fine morning Watson kissed his wife, departed for the office . . . and dropped out of sight. Years passed with no clue to his whereabouts. Finally Mrs. Watson, despairing of his return, put in a claim for her missing husband's life insurance.

But the insurance company refused to pay off without "proof of death." Mrs. Watson promptly took the mater to court.

"Seven years have gone by without any sign of my husband," she argued. "Surely he must be dead."

This made sense to the court, which ordered the insurance company to pay her claim. The judge said:

"A normal person will not, if alive, remain away from his home for seven years without communicating with his family or friends."

By and large, courts follow this "seven-year rule." That is, they accept a presumption of death after seven years of unexplained absence.

But the absence must indeed be unexplained. The presumption does not apply if there is some other logical explanation, besides death, for the person's disappearance.

Thus, another wife's attempt to collect her husband's life insurance was denied, even though she had not heard from him for eight years. The court noted that the missing man had abandoned his family once before, that he was a fugitive from justice, and that his girl friend had vanished at the same time—all good reasons for him to "lie low."

Nor does the presumption of death apply if there has been no reasonable effort to locate the missing person. For example, a court refused to presume that an absent husband was dead, when it appeared that his wife had not even bothered to ask her in-laws if they knew where he was.

Suppose that, after the presumption has been accepted and the insurance paid, the "dead" man turns up alive. In a case where that did happen, the wife was required to refund the money to the insurance company.

The court could see no justice in letting her keep both her husband and his life insurance.

For fleecing sheep all in one piece may one day become a reality, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"No nicks, no cuts, no skills," says an article in Agricultural Research telling about chemically defleecing. Ease of removal is the main advantage, and there also would be a savings of money to the sheep rancher. Highly skilled persons needed today to do the shearing could be replaced by the non-specialist.

However, further studies are necessary to determine if the chemical method is economi-

Approaching the Precipice

It used to be that a man drawing welfare checks while holding down a full-time job at the same time was committing fraud. But now it appears that this can be done quite legally in at least two states.

Under the new law in New Jersey, about a dozen GIs have been added to the welfare rolls. They are drawing regular government pay. One, an airman first class with a wife and child, gets $272 a month in pay and allowances, including $82 for an apartment off the base. The state has determined that he needs $390 a month for an adequate standard of living, and so under the new law it is making up the $118 difference.

***
Service families living off-base are eligible for this welfare supplement, regardless of home state residency. Applications are piling up, and welfare officials are wondering how many servicemen will qualify and what it will cost.

***
Reportedly, some Federal and state officials are shocked over the situation and believe that New Jersey taxpayers should not be nicked because Uncle Sam's pay is "inadequate."

***
And in Ohio, where 777 state employees reportedly earn less than the Federal governments defined poverty level, it's been disclosed that several unskilled state employees earning $3,278 a year also receive state welfare payments.

Cynics might say that, well, at least now they are paying welfare to people willing to work.

***
Supplementing the incomes of persons on the lower end of the economic ladder—whether working or not—is the basic idea of the "guaranteed annual income" which is being strongly pushed by some groups, including organized labor and organized welfare recipients, but hotly opposed by 90 per cent of the nation's independent business proprietors, a poll shows.

***
Apparently, the principal is getting a toehold at the state level despite the fact that many states are in dire financial trouble. Ohio is considering imposing an income tax and other taxes to meet a ballooning budget. State welfare costs are rising so fast that Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York wants the Federal Government to assume them.

***
The question—if welfare supplements to fully-employed persons do catch on—is not so much who should pay, state or Federal, but can either one afford it? which really boils down to: Can the economy and productive taxpaying citizens afford it? Estimates run up to 50 billion a year. Businessmen do not think the economy can carry such a load without breaking down.

***
The big question is whether the guaranteed annual income is going to be adopted in principal. That is the crucial step, like the next step after reaching the edge of a precipice.

USDA Award

John O. Barnes, Assistant Texas State Director for the Farmers Home Administration, received the coveted Superior Award of the U.S. Department of Agriculture from Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

In ceremonies at the Sylvan Theatre adjacent to the Washington Monument, Barnes was cited "for superlative leadership of the Farmers Home Administration during a critical period when the State Director was disabled".

Barnes is one of five selected for the award from among the 6,500 employees of his agency.

Barnes, 48, took full responsibility for direction of the Farmers Home Administration program in Texas, which includes a staff of 430 people, when former State Director Lester J. Capleman was severely injured in an automobile accident last June and was away from his duties for several months.

Because the Texas program accounts for nearly one-tenth of the national loan volume of the USDA rural credit agency, high quality leadership in Texas is essential to success of the agency's programs, the Barnes award nomination noted.

More than $125 million in loans and grants was handled by the Texas Farmers Home Administration office in the last fiscal year, by far the largest state program in the nation. More than 35,000 loans are outstanding from family and community projects.

When confronted with the major challenges facing him as Acting State Director, Barnes could call on more than 16 years of experience with FHA, having joined the agency in 1952 in Jacksonville, Texas. He carried out increasingly responsible posts in Beeville, Carrizo Springs, Corsicana, and Greenville, prior to his promotion to Assistant State Director at the Temple headquarters in 1967.

Mr. Barnes holds both B. S. and M. A. degrees in vocational agriculture from Sam Houston State College in Huntsville. He served in the U.S. Marines during World War II and again during the Korean conflict.

PRESS RELEASE

"I believe the 61st session of the Legislature in Austin has done a great deal toward the education of the public as to the need for citizen participation and interest in our legislative actions."

Governor Signs Bill

SEN. H.J. DOC BLANCHARD

Sen. H.J. Doc Blanchard announced that special ceremonies will accompany the signing of Sen. Blanchard's Senate bill creating a medical school to be housed on the Texas Technical University campus in Lubbock.

"I want to take this opportunity to tell the people of my district that we have worked long and hard for legislation that would benefit our area. And, it is so significant that the Governor and your State Senator have seen eye to eye on this effort. Never in history have the people of our part of Texas received such outstanding benefits from the efforts of leadership in State government as they are being given now.

"Governor Preston Smith is, of course, the Governor of all the people of Texas. But it is so fortunate that his home area of Lubbock is so well represented in decisions in the Governor's office.

"As your State Senator I have tried to stop any legislation that would hurt our area and I have tried to promote legislation that would help our district. I firmly believe we have done a good job and that we will continue to to the last minute of this session.

"The hours we have spent in study of proposed legislation pays off. The time we have spent in committee reviewing the merits of bills that have been proposed certainly has meant the difference in good and bad law in Texas."

"I want to bring these personal thoughts to you through your most excellent newspaper at this particular time. The victory of the Tech medical school for our area is a proper time to emphasize all our benefits from this session."

lieve the Senate is completely aware of the necessity for continued action toward a long-range plan to help our area of Texas and all areas needing more water now and in the future."

"The Senate has 31 members and the Senate must finally approve all bills -- whether they originate in the House or the Senate -- before they are sent to the governor to be signed into law. I think our District has come out of this session in good shape as far as the bills passed. We have had a say-so in most issues and we have been represented in all issues by at least expression of our needs."

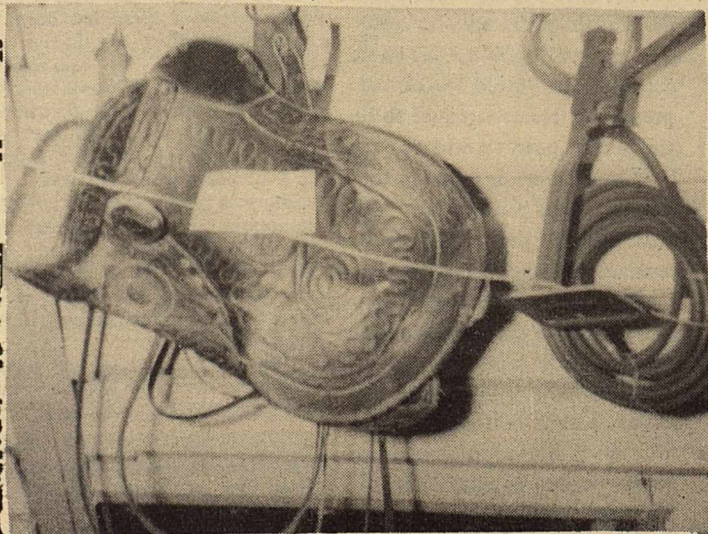

"Good insurance bills have been passed that will protect our citizens as well as all the people of Texas. My legislation, backed up by recommendations of the interim insurance committee of which I served as chairman, will certainly define the law so as to make the buying of insurance a safer action. I feel that these bills are possibly the most important of the general legislation passed this session. We have more steps to be taken and I hope we can pass the needed legislation in the next regular session."

"Really, our purpose in the Senate in Austin is to write the kind of law that meets your needs

"Thou will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee, because He trusteth in thee." Isaiah 26: 3

To meditate is "to think about or contemplate on a subject." Spiritually, it means meditate or think about the nature of God, and the nature of this universe that He created.

It surely doesn't mean to beg for things, or to tell God how you think your life or the world should be run. Do not take your ills or problems into this meditation.

A true meditation is giving yourself to Him in full trust and faith, and giving "thanks" to Him for whatever you have, whether it is great or small "for your heavenly Father knoweth the things you have need of before you ask Him." "Never have I seen a man of God begging Bread."

Sometime during each day, we should retire to our closet (inner consciousness) which is the temple of God, and there dwell upon the things of God.

As we learn to listen for "the still small voice," the spirit of God-the Christ-opens our consciousness to the immediate awareness of spiritual good. To receive the grace of God, we must retire from the world of sense, to silence the material senses, and talk with God.

Through meditation, we become aware of the presence of the Christ, and this awareness remains with us all day and night as we go about our human existence. This awareness of the Christ enters into each experience and prospers every endeavor.

This awareness of the presence of the indwelling Christ is a light unto our feet and a guiding star up to our aspirations. It goes before us to make the crooked places straight.

In your meditation realize that Christ Jesus was also speaking of you when He said "I and the Father are one... Son... all that I have is thine." Or some scripture as "the place whereon thou standest is holy ground... The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want..." and then let the meaning of these words penetrate your consciousness until they are a part of you, without a doubt and with perfect faith and knowledge that these words of God mean just what they say.

Replace fear with love, doubt with full trust of knowing, and all things shall be added unto you.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

People from as far away as fifteen miles from Tatum are bringing their children into Tatum for Vacation Bible School this week. The school started on Monday June 2, with 109 gathered at the Church of Christ building in Tatum. Classes were arranged for the different age groups, and refreshments were served at mid-morning as the youngsters take a break from their study. Little ones, and big ones, young and older, and even a few old people enjoy this get together. Tuesday morning there were 149 present. Mr. Rice from Plains is teaching the adult class, and spark plugging the group singing. A good many mothers have two hours freedom from baby sitting, and the little ones are learning about God and the Bible.

WHAT IS THE LORD'S COMMAND TO YOU AND ME TODAY?

LOVE WORKETH NO ILL TO HIS NEIGHBOR, THEREFORE LOVE IS THE FULLFILLING OF THE LAW. J. Loyd Rice

From Ronald Keeler, Strathmore, Calif.: I can remember when it was windy in the fall we would hurry home from the one-room rural school in Pennsylvania to gather the chestnuts that had blown to the ground. The first one to the tree won the treasure, so to speak.

We buried a barrel under straw and some earth to keep apples during the winter months; then we would reach far inside later to retrieve our precious apples.

For a time, the girls wore paper hair bows in clasps on their heads. They came in a variety of colors. And at school we played a kissing game called "Snap and Catch Her."

One of the popular social events was the corn roast that was scheduled just before the field corn started to get hard. Farmers would hold burning their brush piles so that they could be used for the fires. The corn would be placed on sharp sticks and held over the burning coals. Sometimes the corn would be roasted with the husks on. The roasted ears would be eaten with plenty of butter and salt. One rule observed was that no one, especially the girls, ever went home from a corn roast without having one's face thoroughly blackened with the charcoal from the ashes.

BE STRONG

It may not be necessarily true that the world is darkest just before the dawn. But, who can argue against the old expression "things are not so bad they can't get worse."?

So, what is the answer when it seems the world is against you and fate persists in handing you a joker with every deal? Give up? Roll over and play dead? Go to sleep and wait for tomorrow to bring better times?

Of course not. Look to faith, Look to God for strength, the strength to do something now, to do as much as you can about the situation or the problem at this very moment.

Strength for now is what you need... and it's available. Just don't ask for too much. Don't expect a sign from heaven, nor an instant rainbow. Don't expect problems to be wiped away with a single gust of wind.

But look within yourself for inner courage, for an awareness of what needs to be done, for the sense to know what can be done, and for the urge to begin to do it.

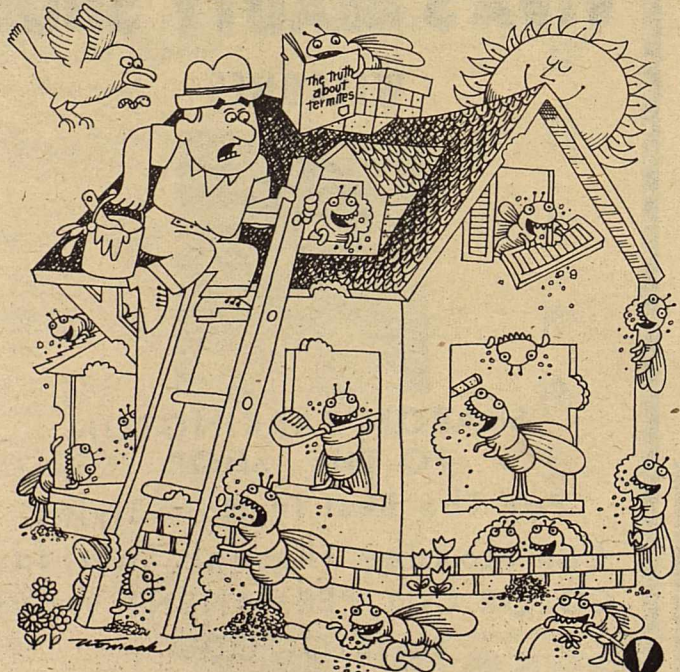

If you would be strong, look to God for guidance, then make a proper move to help yourself.

Texas Poem

"Texas"
I'm glad I am a Texan
And I deem this privilege rare.
I'm glad I live in Texas,
Where I can breathe its wholesome air.

Yes, it's good to be a Texan,
Just to call big Texas home,
For the magic of this historic state
Removes the will to roam.

For Texas boasts its valleys, rivers,
Mountains, and its plains,
It beckons with its changing landscape,
Who is there who could complain?

It has its corn and cotton,
It has its cattle and its oil,
It has its mammoth industries,
It has its fertile soil.

It has its colorful countryside,
Its cities, beautiful and clean
Its north and south, its east and west
Have opportunities of which one dreams.

And Texans love their heritage,
Their heroes and glories, too.
They like to tell their history,
And often times they do.
It's exciting to visit the other states,
Or perhaps a foreign land,
To see the beauties that God has fashioned,
To be awed by the structures of man.

But Texans know where their hearts belong,
Of this they are quite sure,
And they wouldn't want to leave their state,
No other place could lure.

So, Texas, with your long,
strong arms
Gather Texans to your breast,
For in your future, they find their world,
In your strength, they end their quest.

SOCIAL SECURITY

EMPLOYERS OF HOUSEHOLD HELP HAVE TO PAY SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES: Housewives who pay someone $50. or more for household services during any three-month calendar quarter must report these payments and pay the Social Security taxes to the Internal Revenue Service. Mr. Ellis Campbell, Jr. District Director for Northern Texas, said the report for the January-March calendar quarter is due April 30, 1969.

The Social Security tax on household wages is 4.8% for the employer and 4.8 percent for the employee. When the quarterly report is filed, a check or money order representing 9.6 percent of the cash wages for the period should be included with the return.

Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Return for Household Employees, is used to report the Social Security taxes due. After the first one is filed, a copy of Form 942 is mailed to every employer in time for the next quarterly report.

Mr. Campbell said anyone who hires a maid, cleaning woman, cook, governess, housekeeper, caretaker, gardner or chauffeur will be liable for Social Security taxes if cash wages of $50 a quarter are paid to one employee. Money given to employees for carfare is to be counted in total wages paid. However, the value of meals is not included.

Failure to pay Social Security taxes can delay payment and decrease the amount of a maid's benefits when she becomes 65, Mr. Campbell said.

Often when maids or other household employees apply for benefits, it comes to light that all Social Security taxes have not been paid.

IRS then has to secure delinquent returns, form 942, from the employer, sometimes covering several years, with a sub-

FEDERAL GRANT

LUBBOCK--A federal grant of $32,936, announced Wednesday (April 16) in Washington, will be used by Texas Tech researchers to investigate the possible pollution of the Ogallala formation through the recharge of playa lake water.

The Ogallala supplies water for the people, livestock, crops and industries of the High Plains.

The $44,500 research project is supported cooperatively by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration of the Department of the Interior, the Texas Water Quality Board and the University. If findings the first year of the investigation indicate the underground water supply could be polluted by lake water, funds will be sought to continue the study.

Project Director Dan M. Wells, who also is director of Texas Tech's Water Resources Center, said that the quality of water and sediments in the playa lakes will be checked this year to see if they contain significant concentrations of pesticides, herbicides, nitrates and phosphates.

"If we find substantial concentrations of these things," Dr. Wells said, "We propose to select three or four lakes which are equipped for recharge and evaluate the recharge effect on the underground water supply in subsequent years.

"There is a great deal of interest in the artificial recharge of the Ogallala using playa lake water," Wells explained. "Before any large scale recharge operations take place," he said, "we want to know how this would affect the quality of the underground water supply."

Three other faculty members will work with Prof. Wells on the project. They are Entomology Prof. Ellis W. Huddleston, Chemistry Prof. Robert C. Rekers and Agronomy Prof. Raymond E. Meyer.

"It is imperative to conserve the one to three million acre-feet of water which collects annually in the more than 20,000 playa lakes of the High Plains," Wells said, "but it is no less imperative that the Ogallala as a source of water for municipal, industrial, domestic and agricultural uses be protected.

"The quantities of pesticides and herbicides and fertilizers used in High Plains agriculture continues to increase as farmers adopt more efficient farming techniques," he said. "It is imperative to know how these important agricultural practices affect our water supply."

to the forefront and that we are respected and we are going to get what is due us. This is based on the assumption that in the Senate and elsewhere your elected officials will increase public knowledge of our potential and our needs in such a way as to pass needed legislation."

"I would like to add one more item to this statement. I want to express appreciation to the news people in our District for trusting my effort to communicate with our citizens through the news media. I repeat my beliefs that public education and citizen participation are necessary if we are to pass good laws."

NO CURE FOR CRIME

New York, May 6 -- The people should not be misled into believing that the rising tide of violent crime in the United States can be curbed by more restrictive gun laws, the immediate past president of the National Rifle Association told members of the Association of The Bar of The City of New York tonight. Harold W. Glassen of Lansing, Mich., said "It is a terrible mistake to think that crime is going to be controlled and reduced by additional gun control legislation, for, significantly, less than 4% of major crime involves the use of firearms."

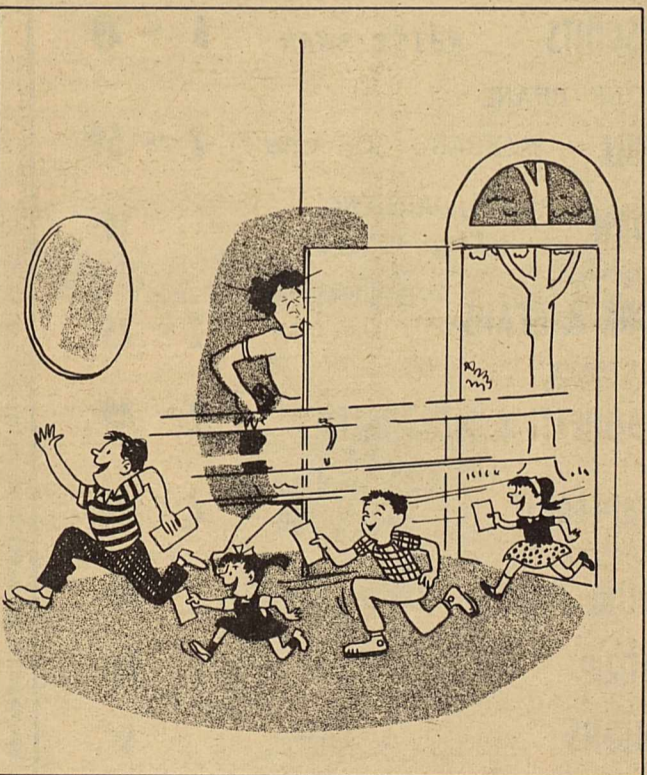

Brush control on the John E. Fitzgerald ranch East of Plains. Mr. John E. Fitzgerald and W.M. Overton, Office Mgr. of the Yoakum County ASCS office are pictured. This is the first year ACP Funds have been spent on brush control work in Yoakum county and several ranchers are taking advantage of the cost share conservation practice. C.M. Thompson, District Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service states that brush such as the mesquite shown in the picture will use about four times as much water to produce a pound of forage for livestock as will most grasses like blue grama, side oats, or other good native grasses. Brush control and grass growing makes more efficient use of our rainfall and our soil. SCS photo

Referring to new Federal gun laws passed only last year, Glasen called for a waiting period, to see if that which has passed will accomplish the task set for it, rather than pressing for additional restrictions on firearms ownership and use. He indicated that many who favor outright

INDIAN HANDICRAFTS ARE BIG EXPORT ITEM NEW DELHI (AP-DJ) - Indian handicrafts are important foreign exchange earners for India, official statistics here show. They were expected to yield $86.7 million in 1968 or $13.3 million more than 1967.

This is almost equal to earnings for traditional items, including tea, jute and engineering goods. Fancy jewelry in 1967 earned $40 million in foreign exchange. Handmade woolen carpets rank next, with an expected revenue of $16 million in 1968. No less than 1.2 million people are engaged in handicrafts work. The government is drawing up plans to improve their working conditions, including old age pension schemes.

Try This On The Boss

A TV Screen For Every Office?

This "tube" does not display violence or sex—only split-second answers to simple or complex figuring problems.

If a large manufacturer of business machines has its way, most offices in the U.S. will soon have a TV screen. Victor Comptometer Corporation has announced a new electronic desk-top calculator that not only shows split second answers to multiplication, division, addition or subtraction problems on a TV screen, but it also operates in complete silence.

According to the marketing vice president of the company's Business Machines Group, V. James Ford, the new calculator has the same price tag ($1095) as mechanical rotary calculators (the kind most office girls are familiar with), but it offers more speed and flexibility.

The new machine is the only calculator that automatically creates a constant in multiplication and division. Once the multiplicand or divisor is entered, it will stay on the screen for use in subsequent problems.

Answers are automatically rounded off at a choice of eight settings.

The only moving part on the calculator (Series 1400) is a silent keyboard. Learning time is brief due to a simple, logical keyboard layout. Problems appear in normal mathematical order.

A visible storage register accumulates results, and an independent memory stores figures for recall at any time.

Up to 14 clearly visible digits appear in every register of the non-glare display. For easy readability, all numbers are spaced in groups of three and are uncluttered by unnecessary zeroes.

So gals, if your office has one of the one million rotary calculators that Victor claims are now obsolete, you might get that TV screen in your office yet . . . and soon.
