PLAINS COWBOYS MEET

FARWELL STEERS FRIDAY

Plains High School Cheerleaders and Pep Squad waiting to escort the Cowboys onto the playing field.

The varsity football game between the Plains Cowboys and the Sundown Roughnecks was a good game and interesting entertainment for all. Though the Cowboys again suffered defeat it was a much better team that played Friday night than the team that met Morton the week before. The Cowboys were much more settled and coordinated and handled the ball more professionally. They were well matched with a well experienced team and a fast one. The score was a bit lopsided and as usual some of that could be attributed to what is often called the breaks. However, when consideration is given to the fact that the Cowboys had 13 first downs as compared to the Roughnecks' 12, and Sundown's 4 penetrations to Plains' 3, it must be said that the Cowboys were not fooling around. Sundown has a fine team, they played a good game. Neither team suffered too many penalties and the game was clean and had many exciting moments. Sundown scored on a 55 yard run in the first quarter and several times were able to get away for 40 to 50 yards. The most spectacular play of the entire game was when Louis Howard, the 135 pound Cowboy halfback received the ball on the kickoff and ran through the Roughnecks 95 yards for a touchdown. This is probably the 2nd longest run recorded in Plains history, and an accomplishment rarely experienced by any team anywhere. Touchdowns off of kickoffs just don't happen every day. John Lowe carried the ball most frequently for the Cowboys. He carried 47 times for 159 yards. Gary Livesay carried 7 times for 21 yards. Tony Chandler carried once for a gain of 6 yards and Shelly Simpson carried 6 times for 18 yards. Tony Chandler is the only Freshman in the Cowboy lineup. From the fine showing the Cowboys made last Friday night, a real good game can be expected when Plains meets Farwell at Farwell this Friday, and the fans should be well compensated for the journey to watch the game.

BARNES BACKED FOOD TAX, DESPITE DENIAL, HARRIS SAYS

BY RON CALHOUN
Political Writer

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes worked behind the scenes to consolidate votes for placing groceries under the sales tax, State Sen. O. H. "Ike" Harris of Dallas has told The Times Herald. Following the food tax blow-up in Austin, Barnes was quoted as saying he was never for the tax in the first place—but this is contrary to Harris recollections.

Harris is back in Dallas picking up the pieces of his law practice after adjournment of the hectic special tax-writing session.

The bill to tax groceries was killed in the House Aug. 25 after

TAX REFORM BILL CRUEL HOAX

AUSTIN - Texas homeowners particularly those of modest means or small incomes, will be forced to pay higher city, school, county and state property taxes if legislation now being considered in Congress is enacted, Texas Attorney General Crawford Martin, said this week.

A "Tax Reform Bill" which has passed the House and is now being considered by U. S. Senators is not "tax reform" at all, but a cruel hoax to mislead the American people into believing the legislation will help the "little man," Martin said. Provisions in the bill would remove the tax exempt status of municipal and state bonds. This, Martin said, will result in higher interest rates and a shift of the additional cost to local taxpayers in the form of higher property taxes and increased costs for water, hospital rooms and college tuition fees and many other public services.

Martin said his office was well aware of the impact of the removing of the tax exemption on municipal bonds will have on the public, since his office is charged with the responsibility of approving all bonds issued in the State.

"Last year, I approved one billion dollars in bonds," Martin said. "If the same amount of bonds is issued next year, and the proposed legislation is enacted, it will cost the citizens of Texas $450,000,000 more per one of the greatest outcries of constituent protest in Texas history.

Barnes, as presiding officer of the Senate, backed the bill in word and deed, Harris said.

Harris was one of 15 Senators who supported the measure who attended a private session in Barnes' apartment on the eve of the ill-starred Senate vote Aug. 24.

Backers of the bill had lined up "12 or 13 (votes) real quick," Harris said. "Lt. Gov. Barnes was primarily responsible for rounding it out at 15."

The bill passed in the Senate 15-14 after a 27-hour filibuster, Harris said if it hadn't been for a "time lag" of 24 hours before the House acted on the bill, it would have been law today.

The lag allowed public sentiment to build up against it. Harris said he overheard Barnes make a remark to this effect: "As tax bills go, this will be the most popular tax bill ever passed."

"Barnes told us he didn't know whether it would pass in the House or not, but they (the House leaders) had assured us they would put forth their best efforts," Harris said. "Barnes also said because of the nature of the tax bill anybody who wanted to back out could, but no one did. All 15 stuck," he said.

Interest during the life of the bonds. This will be the equivalent of a head tax of $45 for every man, woman and child in this State. This cost will recur year after year, and the figure increase as the State grows in population.

Martin noted that the mere threat of this adverse legislation has caused a substantial rise in interest rates on bonds that in recent weeks have come across his desk for approval.

The Attorney General termed the legislation "catastrophic", and said the tax-weary people of Texas cannot afford to pay 20 to 30 per cent more, and the corresponding increase in taxes, for desperately needed public improvements such as school houses, water and sewer systems and hospitals.

Martin has filed a formal statement of opposition with the U. S. Senate Finance Committee which is now considering the legislation.

Harris was asked if there were any truth to the story that Barnes drew an imaginary line on his carpet, at La Alamo, and requested those who would stand by the bill to cross it.

"If Barnes did it, I didn't see him," Harris said. "The joking about the Alamo started after we had made our pact."

ONE SENATOR, Harris said, asked to be carried across the line in his chair, recalling Jim Bowie's deed at the Alamo.

Harris, one of two Republicans in the Senate, said he backed the tax on groceries for two reasons: to forestall or perhaps eliminate the need for a state income tax in the future and to take the pressure off the property tax for cities such as Dallas, which would benefit from a broadened sales tax base.

He said many Dallas officials and leaders told him they were in favor of the measure.

Harris said the food tax controversy had no doubt "tarnished" Barnes' image. As for his own image, Harris said, "Any tax bill is going to hurt you, you are bound to make somebody unhappy. But hopefully the people in the 8th District will appreciate the responsibility of the office."

Legislators, he said, must accept the responsibility for raising money when they assumed the mantle of the office.

BOB LESTER HAS 1st BALE OF COTTON

The 1969 cotton harvest opened in Yoakum County last Saturday when the D. C. Newsom Gin at Plains ginned the first bale harvested in the county. The cotton was raised by Bob Lester on the J. M. Deering farm 6 miles east of Plains.

Hoss Newsom threw the switch and the gin started at 8:15 p. m. and at 8:30 p. m. the bale rolled off the press. The ba-

FROM THE OFFICE OF E. L. SHORT

Representative E. L. Short, of the 73rd District, returned Sunday from Nevada, where he and eighteen other Representatives had been selected to tour the Tactical Air Command Fighter Weapons Center. Others besides Representative Short included Representatives Bill Clayton, of Spring Lake, Tom Christian, of Claude, Malouf Abraham, of Amarillo, Senator H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, and Governor Preston Smith's aide and pressman, Mr. Jerry Hall, of Stanton.

Major General Ayers, Adjutant General for Texas National Guards, invited this group of Representatives to acquaint them with their operation and the vital role of the Tactical Air Command's air power in defense of our nation. The group was briefed by the 47th Tactical Fighter Wing, and a display of the F-111's vital plane, which are made in Ft. Worth, Texas, and have been very controversial in the realm of Federal expenditures. They also viewed various plane air demonstrations and the procedures of advanced requirements for pilots going to Vietnam.

Representative Short states that the trip was very educational and has brought a better understanding of the many points concerning National defense. He further states the group was briefed as to the many missile-carrying submarines of other countries a very short distance from our shores, and of the tremendous job of the air command to seek out and keep them under surveillance for protection of this nation.

HARTMAN LEADS ASC VOTES

R. G. Hartman received 183 of the 388 votes cast in the ASC Committee election to lead in the balloting for membership on the ASC Committee. James Warren received 174 votes to become first alternate. R. A. (Bob) Long was elected as second alternate. All nominees on the ballot received a good vote.

The voted ballots were tabulated Monday night by Edgar Winkles, Buster Graham and R. S. Faulkenberry and was open to the public. Mr. Hartman has served one 3 year term on the committee; he farms in the west and south-west part of the county. Mr. Warren farms in the south-west part of the county. Mr. Long farms in the south-east part of the county. Mr. Hartman was elected for a three year term. The two hold overs on the regular committee, Carl Lowrey, who farms in the east part of the county and has one year remaining to serve, and J. B. Ashburn who farms in the north-west part of the county, has two years remaining on his elected term.

The ASC Committee meets the second Monday night in each month and producers are invited to meet with the committee on any meeting date. According to W. M. Overton, local ASC office manager, the committee will be setting up farm cotton and feed grain projected yields shortly and farmers that wish to have their 1966, 67 and 68 production records considered should see that they are filed with the office not later than October 25th.

FIVE MONTHS UNTIL STOCK SHOW TIME

by Leo L. White, CAA

Indications are that the livestock exhibit building will be filled to the brim next February during the weekend of the Yoakum County Junior Fat Stock Show. Some of the exhibitors already have their pigs and lambs and others are hunting for something suitable to feed and put in the show.

Beef calf feeders have made a big increase in the number of animals to be in that division of the show. Yoakum County 4-H Club members have 41 calves on feed and 37 of them will be eligible to participate in the local show and sale. It appears that 12 or 13 calves may be entered by the two FFA chapters in the county making a possible total of 49 or 50 head of animals in the steer show. This figure will compare to 19 head in the show in 1969.

A beef calf weigh day was held on Saturday, September 20, and 26 of the 4-H Club animals were weighed. Steve Beck had the highest gaining calf at the weigh day. His steer had gained 943 pounds during the first 125 days of the feeding period. Others who had calves gaining above the two pounds per day for this period were Keith Beck, Bill Anderson, Gwen Fitzgerald, Steve Smith, Glenn Boomer, Kathleen McGinty and Rickey Bearden.

One important change in the 1970 show and sale will be of interest to all exhibitors. Only ninety percent of the animals in the show will be eligible to be sold at the floor price but they will not go through the auction ring. This is a new rule intended to improve the quality of the animals in the show.

INTEREST RATES FRIGHTENING

The problems of today are many, ranging from social problems to campus riots, from tax reforms to Asian wars and from the cost of living to astral travel and both of these appear to be in the same category. However, regardless of the problem or the solution, all must be financed. In view of all of the present inflation and its effect on the economy of the nation, the last thing needed is curtailment of production.

Higher interest rates as a control for inflation eventually leads to unemployment and soup lines. No one thing can contribute more to a lowering of the economy than exorbitant interest rates which prohibit credit buying. No one thing could affect more people in all walks of life. It could bring production to a standstill. A disaster America cannot afford. The far reaching effects of these practices are well described in the following newsletter by Senator Ralph Yarborough:

THE DANGERS IN THE HIGH INTEREST RATES

By now every Texan is painfully aware that the present high interest rates are damaging him, his country, our state and our cities. The newspapers talk of a prime interest rate of 8 1/2 percent, but anyone who has tried to borrow any new money recently knows that in reality the interest rate is much higher than 8 1/2 percent.

The man trying to buy something on credit, on installment credit, finds that he is often paying 12 percent or even 18 percent and sometimes more.

The interest rates on home mortgages are getting so high that many families are having to give up buying a home at this time. And those families which must buy a home because of personal circumstances have discovered that they often have to settle for a much smaller house because too big a share of their money is going to pay these excessively high interest rates.

It used to be that the average man wanting to buy a home or a car or an appliance was the hardest hit on installment buying by the increasing interest rates. But these latest increases in the interest rates are so high that they are hitting the businessman, the contractors and the developers along with the little home owner. Instead of these big borrowers getting the red carpet treatment because they want to borrow a hundred or two hundred or three hundred thousand dollars or more, they are finding that they are really getting stuck. The builders of shopping centers, motels, home apartment buildings, new subdivisions of houses, feedlot operations in West Texas are all suffering because of the unconscionably high interest rates, often double the 8 1/2 percent. Often the lending institutions require that the builders of these feedlots, these shopping centers, these motels, give them an interest in the business in addition to the high interest rate--give them 20 to 30 or even 50 percent equity in the business itself.

These high interest rates are forcing the state, the county and the city governments to put off building hospitals, schools, libraries and other needed public buildings and public works because these local governments finance construction projects by selling bonds. Now the interest rates that the cities and counties can afford to pay does not attract the big money which is off in search of much higher interest rates. Remember when the cities and counties do sell bonds with these high interest rates in them, it means you, the taxpayer, will have to pay for that high interest rate in the bond.

There are a few institutions who are not suffering from these high interest rates, and that's the biggest banks in the nation. The profits from the nation's biggest banks are soaring, some up as much as 30 percent than this time last year. These high interest rates are all right for these big banks in Chicago and New York, but it is squeezing the economy dry. These interest rates have jumped five times since December. They are the highest in the nation's history; unemployment is certain to follow. Agriculture is already hit and hit hard.

The people must have protection from these continued jumps in the interest rates.

I found out a number of months ago that I was not a good news reporter. Last Thursday evening, I found out that I wasn't a very good photographer. The editor sent me to Mrs. Neil Parks to make pictures for the Garden Club, and if Mrs. Tennie Lester had not been there to take over for me, I am afraid that there would not have been a very good picture taken. My first try was terrible, but thanks to Tennie, we have a picture to place with the Garden Club news. While Tennie was filling in for me, I had pleasant talks with all the ladies of the club. I will practice taking pictures, ladies, so the next time I am sent out, I can do my duty.

Early risers Tuesday morning didn't need the calendar to tell them that it was the first day of autumn. I awoke to find my house cold from a fresh north wind on the official date of autumn's arrival. But long before this, cool, crisp mornings, the smoke-scented air and the hint of color on foliage and trees have heralded the coming event.

The days of autumn known as Indian Summer have been well named. There is something about the smell of fall that is easily identifiable with quiet woodland paths that for uncounted centuries knew nothing but the tread of wild life and the moccasined Indian. This is the vision of America that so many of us would like to preserve as nearly as possible, in fact as well as fancy. And thanks to the efforts of a great many citizens in public and private life, the prospect is growing that the vision will be preserved. Forest trails and wilderness areas are now classed among the nation's most treasured assets.

U.S. Representative Joseph P. Addabbo from New York made this statement: "Perhaps the greatest inequity in the tax law is the fact that a taxpayer must consult an attorney and an accountant in order to file a tax return. Until we simplify the law so that the average taxpayer can understand it, the job of tax reform will remain unfinished." Reading this statement from the paper, it reminded me of my trouble a month ago. I had received from the state a sales tax return, giving several laws on what newspapers are obligated to pay and not pay. I read and reread it until I gave up, and finally ended by talking to an attorney and other newspaper publishers. After getting their opinions and how it must be filled out, we are still in doubt as to the outcome of the return. Can only hope that all of us have interpreted it correctly.

Henry Ford was asked one day if he ever worried, and he replied, "No, I believe God is managing affairs and that He doesn't need any advice from me. With God in charge, I believe that everything will work out for the best in the end. So what is there to worry about?"

HIGHWAYS BRING BETTER LIVING

AUSTIN--The impact of modern highways on cities and towns throughout Texas amply illustrates the theme for Highway Week in Texas this year--"Highways Bring Better Living."

Wherever freeway facilities have been built, there has been a new kind of land rush. Industry wants to showcase its gleaming new plants at the edge of an interstate highway as a visible part of its corporate image.

Developers of shopping areas and office building complexes look for easy access afforded by new freeways and expressways for their new projects.

Land values soar. Cities and counties benefit from the broadened tax base. The highway adds value to abutting land for in excess of the value of the relatively small area it may have taken off the tax rolls for right of way.

Sometimes, offers for land near freeways are nothing short of fabulous.

Increased land value, of course, is just one example of the better living that highways bring.

The Texas Good Roads Association, which sponsors Highway Week in Texas, points out that highways bring better living in thousands of different ways.

Highways permit more youngsters to go to school and college. They enable more people to go to church to attend civic meetings, to vote. Highways permit a greater number of people to travel far and wide seeking the kind of employment they desire and deserve.

That highways bring better living through broader job opportunities was well-illustrated recently by a large industry in Central Texas.

The industry made a survey of where its employees lived and discovered that it drew employees from throughout a 100-mile radius. The workers came in cars, in car pool, tractors, on motorcycles and, on one occasion, a tractor was spotted in the plant parking lot.

But no matter what these employees drove to get to work, it was a Texas highway on which they drove. Highways not only offered them the work but in many cases highways offered them the chance to live in their home communities and enjoy job opportunities not available nearby.

Last year, in a national survey, 88% of thousands of Americans interviewed rated the automobile closest to the ideal mode of transportation.

The 69 thousand-mile Texas highway system brings vacationers to every recreational area in the State. Living through new business to the communities along the way funneling happy hordes of vacationers through the area.

Highways mean better living financially. For the farmer trucking his produce to market, highways are economic lifelines. Highways are equally important for the big city markets

LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Editor;

Thanks to the Lions Club and Mr. Kennedy for inviting Bea and me to the ice cream supper Thursday night Sept. 18. As Bea was visiting her mother in San Angelo she missed the treat. I had expected to eat factory built ice cream, so it was an added joy to me to thrill to the delicious taste of good home made ice cream. Someone did a lot of taming. The huge freezer owned by the school was fascinating. I sure would like to eat at the school lunch room when they serve that home made ice cream.

Informal parties of this kind add to the fellowship and good will among the citizens of any community. Wish we had more of them.

Why don't some one promote a big watermelon slicing before the frost gets the melons?

I better back up a little on that turning part, I think all the freezers were turned by an electric motor. Quite a labor saving device.

Someone did a lot of mixing though.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT APPROVES COUNTY BUDGET

The Commissioners' Court of Yoakum County met Monday, September 22nd for a final hearing on the proposed county budget. A budget for $1,836,641 was approved. The budget will be financed by $979,903 from taxation - $709,396 from a county ad valorem levy and $270,507 from a Farm-Market-Lateral Road Levy.

The $1.07 ad valorem levy per $100 assessed valuation is scheduled to remain the same for 1970 with no increase of taxes. It is broken down as follows:

Permanent Improvement Fund, an increase of $9,857 with a final budget of $25,538;

Road & Bridge Sinking Fund, an increase of $27,383 with a final budget of $84,977;

Three funds had decreases as follows:

Migrant Health Fund, a decrease of $3,765 for a total budget of $31,514;

Permanent Improvement Sinking Fund, a decrease of $2,100 with a budget of $80,161;

General Sinking Fund which was not in the 1970 budget.

JUNIOR COLLEGE PETITIONS TO BE PRESENTED

The Junior College petitions have been given to the Tax Assessor's office to check the list of names. A voter on a bond issue must be a tax paying citizen. 10% of the total signers from the total enrollment of qualified - tax paying voters must be tax paying persons.

The petitions, as approved by the Texas Coordinating Board for Colleges and Universities, had gone into circulation Thursday following a meeting of college boosters at the Chamber of Commerce office in Denver City.

After Mr. Craig has gone over the names to be sure that 10% of the total signers are qualified voters, the college group will submit it to the coordinating board in Austin for final approval. After it has been approved, the petition will be presented to the Commissioners' Court as a formal request for an election.

Many persons interested in a Junior College have been working to this end for several years. But until this year, when a Special State Legislation qualified Yoakum County as a district nothing could be done about it.

The Proposition for the college is as follows:

PROPOSITION "SHALL there be established a Junior College District embracing all of the territory within Yoakum County?"

PROPOSITION "The election of seven Trustees of the Junior College District."

PROPOSITION "SHALL the Board of Trustees of the YOAKUM COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT (in the event the District is created) be authorized to levy a and cause to be assessed and collected ★ Sudie Thompson CHDA Says...

Apparently the moon sample brought back to earth proved to be something other than green cheese.

Maybe it's just as well, though. Moon cheese might have had trouble competing with the texture and flavor of the many fine cheeses produced here on earth.

October's the month of the annual Fall Cheese Festival. This is a time for honoring the cheese industry by utilizing this nutritious food in meals and snacks.

What a tasty treat cheese served with apple wedges and sliced pears make for afternoon nibbling or party treats. Melted cheese also makes a tempting topping for a thick slice of apple pie.

We consumed an average of more than 10 1/2 pounds of cheese last year. Keep plenty on hand to make sure your family gets in on its share of good cheese eating.

As in preparing other protein foods, go easy on the heat when you cook cheese. That way it melts completely and spreads good cheese flavor throughout the whole dish. Cooked too quickly, it gets tough and stringy.

God has given us a body, but He does not bathe us. We have the freedom to take a bath or be a Hippie. The care of our own body is our individual responsibility. Sanitation is a vital part of good health. "Let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit." GOD HAS DONE HIS PART, HE LEAVES THE REST TO US. Good physical health is an individual responsibility, and it is a vital part of Christian living.

A MARKET FOR GRAIN SORGHUM IN KOREA

Grain sorghum promotion in Korea is one of the goals of the West Texas Grain Farmers and The Grain Sorghum Producers Association upon passage of the grain sorghum referendum early in October. Elbert Harp, Executive Director, of GSPA reported, "We are promoting the use of our grain in our own area through an expanding cattle and pork industry. We feel our local markets are the best markets and this is where we must devote most of our attention, however, we must continue to push sales in areas of the world where there are markets developing for our grain. Korea seems to be one of the bright prospects in the near future for expanding our overseas sales. "Animal agriculture and the feed industry of Korea are growing rapidly and should provide a new market for U.S. grain sorghum." This prediction was made by Richard L. Kathe, President, U.S. Feed Grains Council, in a statement addressed to Texas farmers this week.

Kathe continued, "The principal buyer of feed grains from this country and shipped overseas is the feed manufacturer. In Korea, the feed industry has grown from 100,000 tons in 1967, to 250,000 tons last year, and they expect to make and sell 400,000 tons this year. Many in the Orient compare Korea's feed and livestock industry of today with Japan's of 15 years ago. While Japan grew from a few hundred thousand tons 15 years ago to the world's second largest feed industry today of 11 million tons, we don't expect that much from Korea. After all, there are 100 million people to feed in Japan and only 30 million in Korea. Nevertheless, there will be some fast growth in Korea and much of this will depend on imported grains."

The U.S. Feed Grains Council is an international trade, promotion organization financed by farmers, business, industry and the government. The Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Lubbock, is a member. This promotion program for U.S. feed grain is carried out in 18 countries through eight foreign offices in Europe and the Far East.

Kathe noted that Korean President Park has given a very high national priority to expanding animal agriculture. He said, "There are over one million head of cattle in Korea and President Park would like to see the number multiplied several times, all within the next few years. It has been a fact that what President Park wants, is usually done one way or another. We expect to see substantial increases in cattle, swine, broilers and layers in the next few years. To help in this effort, and to assist in consumer promotion of the end product, the U.S. Feed Grains Council will open a new office in Seoul Korea this month. It will be a part of our effort to expand existing markets for U.S. feed grains, and to develop new markets. We believe this is important to Texas producers of grain sorghum since approximately one-fourth of their production is exported to foreign countries, and additional foreign demand would help the Texas farmers from the increased sales."

COTTON MEETING TO BE HELD

Lubbock-(Special)- Cotton farmers will hear a detailed report on their dollar-a-bale program at a meeting here Tuesday, September 30, according to Howard Alford, Lubbock, vice president of Cotton Producers Institute.

Mr. Alford called the meeting for 12 noon at the Red Raider Convention center, 6025 Ave. A (on South U.S. 87, on the Tahoka highway at the traffic circle).

"If you are tired of hearing bad news about cotton, plan to attend this meeting," Mr. Alford said, "You will hear solid evidence that cotton can fight its way back from the market losses of recent years."

The program will be presented by staff members of the National Cotton Council. They will report in detail on research and promotion activity being carried out by CPI and the Council.

The visual presentation will point out how industry funds are being used to make cotton more appealing to consumers, for promotion to convince consumers to buy cotton, and to find ways of producing cotton at lower costs.

"We believe you will leave the meeting with renewed confidence in the future of cotton industry," Mr. Alford said.

YOAKUM COUNTY GRAIN SORGHUM PRODUCERS VOTE BY MAIL

By Leo L. White, CAA
Ballots have been mailed to grain sorghum producers in Yoakum County giving them an opportunity to vote on a referendum proposition to determine if they would or would not be in favor of assessing themselves five cents per ton to finance programs of research and promotion.

It is very important that each producer should mark his ballot and get it in the mail on or before October 6, 1969. The ballots were mailed from the headquarters office of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association in Lubbock. They have also mailed a supply of ballots and return envelopes to the County Agent's office in each of the 29 counties in the area. Grain sorghum producers in Yoakum County who did not receive a ballot through the mail will be able to get one by calling at the agent's office in the Old Courthouse. They can be picked up, completed, and mailed to the polling place in the self-addressed stamped envelopes which are provided.
