Plains Roper Injured

Morris Rushing, a member of the Plains Roping Club, was injured Tuesday night when he was thrown from his roping horse.

Just as he leaned out to throw his rope at a calf, Morris' horse broke into a pitching spell. Morris, who is a very good rider, was caught off balance and thrown before he could recover riding position. He was carried to the Yoakum County Hospital where he was placed in traction for an injured 5th vertebra.

Morris is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Polly Rushing, a veteran roper and bull-dogger who has appeared in rodeo performances in Plains for many years.

Statewide Farm Bureau Convention

TOM WARREN TO REPRESENT THIS COUNTY

Mr. Tom Warren, president of the Yoakum County Farm Bureau, will represent this county at a statewide Presidents' Conference August 27-28 in Brownwood.

The Brownwood meeting is part of a statewide effort involving county Farm Bureau leaders in developing a plan to upgrade the Farm Bureau program in Texas. Presidents of the 203 organized county units in the state are expected to attend the two-day session.

"Our county organization is taking an active part in helping create a more effective organization that will better serve the needs of farmers and ranchers in the years ahead," Mr. Warren said.

The Yoakum County Farm Bureau Board of Directors held a special meeting July 6 to 1970 to evaluate the total Farm Bureau program and to make suggestions that will be incorporated in the ideas to be considered at Brownwood.

At the Presidents' Conference, the county leaders will also receive a report from a team of specialists from Texas A&M University on projected changes in market demand, financing agricultural operations costs of production, numbers of agricultural producers, etc.

The leaders will be separated into group workshops, based on subject matter, to consider both the report from county leaders as well as the information supplied by the agricultural experts. They are expected to recommend programs for making the organization more effective on both county and state levels.

Boy Scouts

For several years now, the City of Plains has been without a Boys' Scout Troop. However, scouting is being revived and leaders of both the Boys' Scouts and the Cub Scouts have been appointed. Aubrey Altman will be the leader of the senior group and Jim Barron will lead the cubs.

Harold Drummonds, Representative of the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts of America, will be present at the Plains Lions Club dinner today, and will present the Charter to the club who will sponsor the Boy Scouts in Plains.

The Plains Lions Club has sponsored the Boy Scouts in the past and it was through their efforts that the splendid Boy Scout hut was made available.

COWBOY COUNTRY

by Calvin Smith

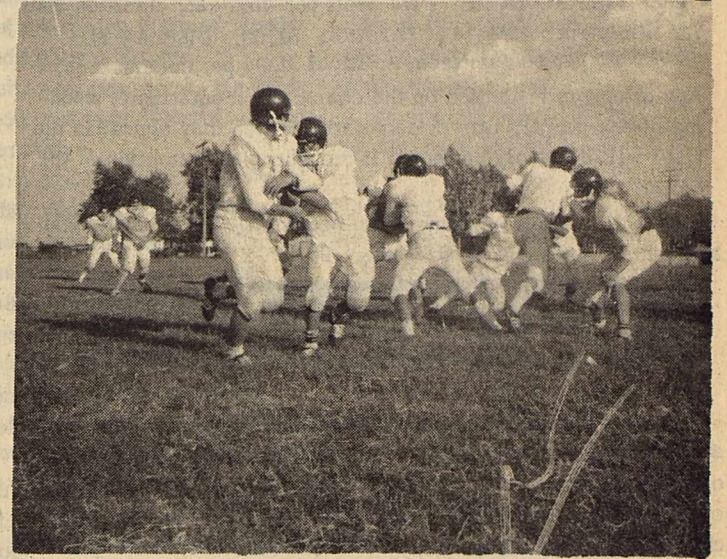

The crack of dawn, Monday morning, brought something old and new to thousands of young athletes across our state, and Plains was no exception. The fighting Cowboys gathered early to discuss their objectives, then donned their pads and hit the gridiron with a very impressive enthusiasm.

Spectators and fans will see a proud and determined team hit the field this year. They've already left the impression with me that they mean business because of the pre-season workouts. Almost every night, one could pass by the park and see a large crowd of boys getting ready for the coming season. Long hours of practice spell success.

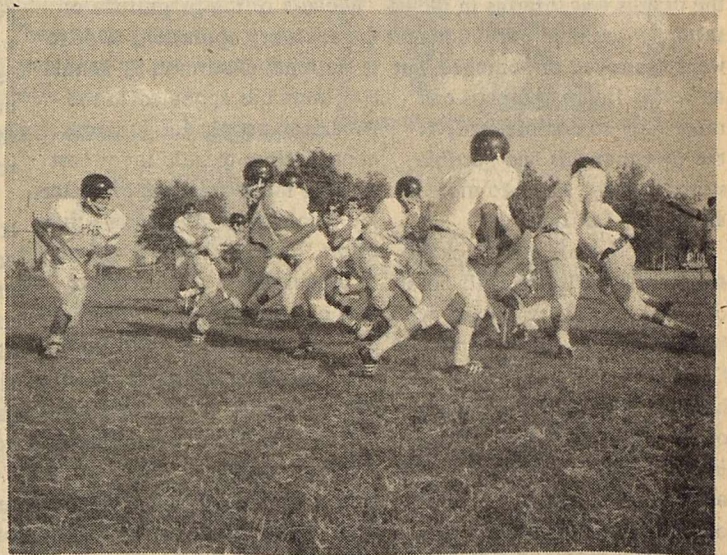

Seagraves heads the polls in District 5-A, but with hard work and few injuries, the Cowboys could spread a few feathers in Eagle territory. Cooper will be trying to make the going rough as will Wink and O'Donnell. The Cowboy team is still young by grade classification; however, determination and desire can make up for a lot of that.

The first workouts found the Cowboys in pretty good shape. They went through the exercises and drills and then worked on different phases of offense and defense. A short scrimmage was held afterward. The offense promises a great year with such standouts as Gary Livesay, Joe Lowe, Tony Chandler, and Tony Winn. Tony Winn shows hope with his speed, as does Chandler. Chandler will be at fullback and his size, combined with speed will keep any defense honest. At one-half back slot will be Gary Livesay. Though not a bolt of lightning, Gary uses swift movements and good judgment to slip past defensive linemen. Probable starter at the quarterback position will be Joe Lowe. Joe has a good arm and a clean fake that could leave a lot of people wondering where he hid the ball. Of course, none of these backs could maneuver without the constant bulldozing of the line. Some of the standouts in the line will be Eddie Moore, Shelly Simpson, Cleve Kerby, Richey Brantley, David Barnett, Gary Randall, Mike McCrae, and Ace Hamm. All these backs and linemen are returning lettermen. They will be leading the drive and teaching the Cowboys that are coming up, the pride of being a Cowboy. The defense is also being molded and it also looks impressive.

Their first scrimmage will be held Friday, August 28th, at Andrews, against Iraan at 5:00 p. m. ficate and expects to graduate in September. The GED is equivalent to a high school diploma. Ramos is an active member of the Corpsman Assembly.

BUILDING A BETTER WORLD

The civil engineering profession, as the most comprehensive engineering discipline, is constantly looking to the future, trying to anticipate the facilities that the public will require. Most advantageous use of available land is a major concern of the planning being done by today's civil engineers. In the future, in addition to dispersal of metropolitan centers, much will depend on new concepts in transportation systems. Some of the lively transportation concepts that are now being discussed are:

- A transportation network where jet-powered underground trains might streak between cities at speeds up to 500 miles per hour.
- A pipeline transportation system that speeds perishables from farm to market to consumer.
- New living areas where now unused fresh water at the earth's polar caps can be channeled to vast areas of the continents that need it.

According to the American Society of Civil Engineers, the formulation of realistic solutions to water resources and transportation problems presents civil engineers with an unparalleled challenge and opportunity for building a better world. Now designing for the future, the civil engineer will more than likely be able to see the result of his talent--usually a large, one-of-a-kind construction project which benefits a large number of people.

A civil engineer's formal education emphasizes mathematics, science and engineering--but the humanities and social sciences are not overlooked. It is the civil engineer's function, in a sense, to put today's breakthroughs in scientific knowledge to work for the benefit of mankind. In order to do this, civil engineers are now hard at work preparing to cross the bridges of the future before the rest of us even know about them.

Panhandle South Plains Fair

LUBBOCK--Skipper, the performing porpoise which has been delighting audiences from coast to coast, will appear as a free attraction throughout the 53rd, annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept. 28 - Oct. 3.

Skipper will be going through his aquatic antics in a transparent plexiglass tank, 25 feet in diameter and six feet tall. The tank will be erected in the area of the Agriculture building on the southwest corner of the Fair Park. Free shows will be presented at 2 p. m., 4 p. m. and 8 p. m., daily. However, Skipper will remain in the tank throughout each day for public viewing.

Although the trained porpoise and his handlers present a fun-filled act jammed with hijinks, what goes on behind the scenes with the 450-pounder is almost as amazing as his show.

The Skipper crew travels more than 24,000 miles a year making fair, sports and boat shows and shopping center promotions. Transporting Skipper is a problem in itself. He travels in a custom truck, riding in a specially fitted "coffin" about nine feet long.

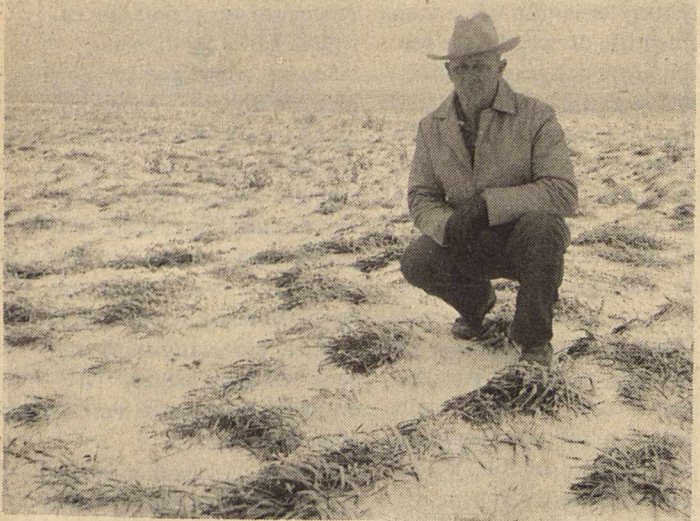

Actual auto safety belts are used to secure him tightly so he cannot harm himself while thrashing about on the road. While traveling, an automatic sprinkler system regularly showers the porpoise and keeps him wet.

Each week, two tons of salt are added to the water, together with numerous chemicals to create an artificial sea water.

Moving week after week tearing down 2 1/2 tons of tank, then getting it up as fast possible in order to get Skipper back into salt water is a tricky feat.

It is the second straight year for officials of the fair to book a special feature attraction. Last year Danny Sailor thrilled huge crowds climbing a 100-foot pole doing headstands atop it, then dropping his hat from the top of the pole and beating it to the ground.

Cover Crop Planting Urged

BY Wilson Duke, Soil Conversationist

Many farmers in the Yoakum Soil and Water Conservation District are planting or getting ready to plant some type of cover or diverted acres land. Land that has been summer fallowed in order to control Johnson grass will be planted to small grain such as wheat, oats, barley or rye.

Some have indicated that they plant millet on summer fallowed land. Millet will develop a quick growth and then die with the 1st frost of the winter. The dead plants then would serve as a cover and also would help the soil to hold moisture until spring plowing time.

For best results, cover crops should be planted now or by the 1st of September. Generally in the Yoakum SWCD there are approximately 8,000 to 10,000 acres of land planted to cover crops. This year, the District is hoping more acreage will be covered, thus a better job of wind control this coming spring.

Disaster is a human tragedy on a mass scale, in fact, that it is often hard to comprehend. A case in point is the misery caused by Hurricane Celia recently in Texas. The American Red Cross reports that, in addition to the deaths and injuries in the disaster, more than 64,600 homes were destroyed or damaged. But an added figure, perhaps one more easy to comprehend, is the fact that this one horrible storm brought losses to more than 65,000 families.

STAFF CHANGES

Newspaper personnel are subject to change as are other professions, and it seems that the Plains Review has had its share of changes. In a small place such as Plains, it is difficult to find experienced help so when an employee has been trained and become competent, it is regrettable to have them leave.

'Twixt the optimist and the pessimist, The difference is droll; The optimist sees the doughnut, The pessimist sees the hole."

One morning last summer while I was ill, I was awoken from sleep by a singing bird. I had never paid much attention to the songs of birds as they have always been a part of the "background music" of everyday life.

I knew instantly that it was a mockingbird, but I had never heard one singing with such abandonment, such full-throated beauty... it was like no other mockingbird I had ever heard. I just relaxed and listened, marveling at what beauty there could be in the singing of a bird.

Even though the bird whose song made such a great impression on me was one of our more ordinary specimens, I shall never forget the experience. I had heard mockingbirds sing before and I have been familiar with mockingbirds since childhood.

Now I am wondering how many more of life's seemingly common-place experiences that we miss just because we only look for the glorified experiences.

Since this awakening by the singing of the mockingbird, I have tried to study nature more, and I have had many similar experiences. Not long ago as I was sitting on the banks of the Ruidoso River, enjoying the rippling of the water as it went on its way, and observing the different shapes and varieties of rock, I noticed a fern growing from the side of one of them.

What does this have to do with my mockingbird experience? It indicates to me how much more meaningful and significant any experience can be if we are ready for it. All change, all growth, all development is from within, outward. There is nothing to be gained by lamenting unpleasant conditions or complaining about unsatisfactory circumstances.

You have been told about my Manx mother cat, her one year old kitten, and the four baby kittens that were born about three months ago. Well, about a month ago, my one year old cat became so thin that I was worried about him or her, whichever it happened to be.

The optimist remembers the rose by its bloom, the pessimist the bush by its thorns.

Accent on Health

Before 1921, the person with diabetes didn't worry about leading a normal life. He worried about death. But then insulin was discovered and a daily shot helped keep the diabetic alive. Although the discovery of insulin was a major scientific discovery, the search continued for an orally active anti-diabetes drug. The first oral drugs have been developed. Now the diabetic is no longer a slave to the needle. Diabetes is a condition in which the body is unable to use food properly, especially the carbohydrates in the body. Diabetics have difficulty turning these sugars and starches into energy. An individual's body normally produces a substance called insulin, which enables the body to burn up sugar for energy or store it for later use.

NEWS RELEASE

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION REGIONAL OFFICE
1400 North Valley Mills Drive
Waco, Texas 76710

Veterans who attended classes during the GI Bill should make sure their Certification of Attendance cards are returned to the Veterans Administration immediately, Jack Coker, Director, VA Regional Office, Waco, said today.

Coker explained that unless the cards are returned, veterans cannot be paid the educational money for their last month of training. Neither can they be paid for their first month of training when they return to school this fall.

A veteran attending college should fill out and sign the card he receives with his monthly check and return it each month to his regional VA office. The card must be signed by a school official.

The veteran who lost his attendance certification card should request another from his nearest VA office. He should then return the completed card to his nearest regional VA office, Coker advised.

Veterans intending to go to school this fall who do not have a VA Certification of Eligibility are urged to contact their nearest VA office immediately.

NEWS BRIEFS

BY THE EDITOR

Verda Lee Robertson received a phone call Tuesday morning from her daughter, Linda and husband, Tom Murray. Tom has obtained a new job with an oil company in Odessa, and Verda Lee was very happy about the new position, plus having them nearer to Plains.

Judge Gene Bennett flew to Cincinnati Friday to see the football game Saturday night that his son, Chip, was playing in. Chip has gone professional football and he is with the Cincinnati Bengals this year. Judge Bennett reported that the country there was beautiful with green rolling hills and that the coliseum was huge and beautifully designed. It will hold 59,000 people, and the night Judge was there, the crowd numbered 52,299. He flew home Sunday.

Wilda Overstreet and her husband, William, left Saturday for Andalusia, Alabama where they attended his father and mother's 64th Wedding Anniversary. They drove home Monday, arriving in Denver City at 4:00 a. m., Tuesday morning. Mr. W. Ernest Overstreet is 84 years of age, and his wife, Minnie Overstreet, is 81 years of age. Wilda and Bill reported that they enjoyed the visit even though it was a very short one.

Bridget Smith, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Fray Smith of Lubbock, and grandniece of the owner of the Plains Review, made a tour this summer to England, France, Western Germany, Austria and Russia. She stated that she believed that if each U. S. citizen would at least make the trip to Russia and the communist held countries, and see some of the pitiful homes and ways that most people had to live, that we would all be more satisfied with our great country.

Perhaps if our government would spend the money that it takes to clean up a place after the hippies and belligerents have been there, and the money that it takes to replace the wilfully destroyed and pilfered cities and colleges, by the unregulated mass of insubordinate and communist fed students, round them all up and send them to the communist held countries, especially Russia, for a few months, they would come home as good solid citizens and recognize how fortunate they are to be living in the U. S. A.

Our children, while on the trip to Colorado, met a man and wife who had escaped from Czechoslovakia in 1948 and came to the U. S. in 1952. He told them that there, if you had a house with four or five rooms, you were told that was too much and you would be placed in one room, with other families in the other rooms. He told of other circumstances that are almost unbelievable to a U. S. citizen.

TAX MAN

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Austin:-- Traffic crashes during July tapped the wallets of Texans for $59 million, according to the Texas Safety Association.

TSA says there has been a continuing increase in the number of traffic crashes and fatalities on the states Farm to Market road system. Preliminary reports for July show collisions on the rural road system are up 26 percent over the same period last year. A similar trend was first reported by TSA in April.

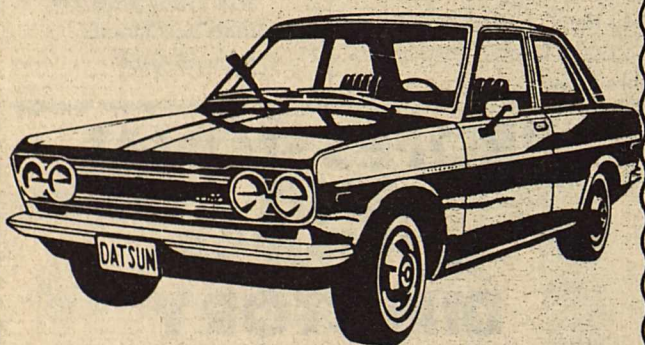

The statewide safety group said today that traffic crashes during the first seven months of the year have cost nearly $400 million.

Whole the Farm to Market roads are experiencing increases in accidents and deaths, towns with populations under 2,500 are showing a 10 percent decrease in accidents and a 16 percent decrease in fatalities.

The Texas Safety Association says motorist using the states rural road systems need to exercise extra caution since there are special hazards like slow driving and slow-moving vehicles.

TSA also pointed to the need for motorist to utilize their safety belts while driving on any roadway, since their use can increase chances of survival if an accident does occur. The group also said accidents and fatalities can be reduced if Texans will obey traffic laws and "Drive Friendly".
