COWBOY COUNTRY

by Calvin Smith

LET'S MAKE OUR 100% GOAL ON THE FIRST KICKOFF

Yes, that's exactly what happened, but oddly enough, the score doesn't show it. Such games rarely happen and few people believe them unless they are there to witness the onslaught. Most people want to forget a game of this nature, but I'm sure the Cowboys won't and I hope the fans never do. WHY? Well, if you were there, you saw the Cowboys march up the field in command, running wide and up the middle, passing occasionally to break the defense, and making running room where there was none. You saw the defense as they halted the Indians time and again, picked off an occasional pass, and blitzed with determination that found a lot of folks getting up and dusting themselves off. You saw a hard-working crew of young men made up of mostly sophomores, a few freshmen and juniors, and three seniors tackle a team of Class-AA size. You saw them trounce the Indians for three solid quarters until scattered minor injuries, and the poorest run of luck since Custer's outing in the low place, brought them down. You saw a proud bunch of boys, who allowed the Indians to touch the ball only 14 times the entire first half. Plains carried the ball for 33 plays in the same half. Morton made 3 first downs only 44 yards on the ground to 80 for the Cowboys.

The opening kick-off viewed the Cowboys putting a tight grip on the Morton run-back. Morton paced off two quick first downs before the Cowboy defense started plucking feathers. The Cowboys downed the punt at their own 40 yard line. From there they marched down the field in a lengthy series of plays to the five yard line. Facing a third and first situation, Tony Chandler, scampered through the Morton line, untouched, for a touchdown. A truly brilliant play only to be called back because of an off-sides penalty. Plains failed on the fourth down and the ball went over. Morton carried for two more plays before the time ran out for the first quarter. They marched back up field for approximately 30 yards, where the Cowboy defense tightened once again. After two exchanges of hane the Indians connected for a 45 yard pass play, setting up their first quarter touchdown. Their fullback carried it in from ten. The extra point attempt failed. There was never a waiver of spirit as the Cowboys took the kick-off with 3:50 on the clock and marched steadily toward their destiny. Finally, from the 25 yard line, Chandler broke through the middle and did not stop until he'd crossed pay dirt. Once again, the ball was brought back to the five yard line. The ruling was that Chandler had gone to his knees. With only seconds remaining, the Cowboys failed to deliver from the two yard line.

Cowboy enthusiasm greeted bewildered fans as the second half of play got underway. The Cowboys took the kick-off and headed up field once again. The Indians held at about their 40. The ball changed hands several times and it looked as if it would be a stand-off for the third quarter. Unfortunately, another play came about that could happen to anyone and at any time. The Indians were in hot water at their own 35. They punted, and in an attempt to move from the balls path, it pounded off the back of receiver Tony Winn. Believe it or not, this wasn't the bad part of the action. The Plains defense came on the field with revenge in their eyes. On fourth down with four yards to go for a first down, the Cowboys battered the Morton fullback and knocked the ball loose from his hands. Momentum carried the ball forward from his hands. Momentum carried the ball forward and a Morton player stumbled onto it. How many breaks can one team get in one night? Well, there were more. Plains started having injuries at inconvenient times. None were extremely serious, but all were on much needed Cowboys. Morton took the ball on in from this run of incidents and made the score 12 to 0, in their favor. They ran the extra point play, making it, 14 to 0. The ball changed hands several times and eventually found Morton with striking distance. Morton worked slowly down the field. The Indian quarterback took it over from the one yard line. The point after attempt failed, leaving the score 20 to 0. The Cowboys were down but not out. With minutes left in the game, Lightning Lowe gave a final effort to put the Cowboys on the scoreboard. Starting from their own 30 the Cowboys bounded upfield. Spectators saw Lowe flip the ball to Livesay and then back up the middle with Chandler taking charge. While entertaining the defensive line with fakes, as well as rumbling reality, Lowe hurled three dazzling passes into the waiting hands of halfback, Tony Winn. Winn didn't stop at just catching these passes. He made them good for 56 yards of this last drive. Things were going too good to suit Lady Luck. The following play found Lowe lying on the ground, and out of action. With seconds remaining the Indians took charge and ran the clock out. The score ended 20 to 0, but those who saw the game, know that the two had no relations theoretically or otherwise.

I believe I speak in behalf of the entire community in saying, "Good game, Cowboys." They stayed for the whole fight and lost only in numbers. They are winners because they are Cowboys, and because they stuck together through the worst of it. This is a sign of good coaching, and I think we have the best, in that field, also. I saw a car Saturday after the game, and it was soaped with the words, "Beat Sundown." It made me feel better to know that the boys are still fired up with enthusiasm. That's what it takes, so remember Morton Friday night when you soften up the Sundown Roughnecks. GO GET 'EM COWBOYS!!!!

Fields Crop Tour

by Leo L. White
County Agricultural Agent

One of the interesting stops seen on the Annual Field Crops Tour held Friday Morning, September 11, was the grain sorghum crop on the R. G. Hartman Farm. This field had been adequately fertilized and watered in an effort to produce maximum yield. The crop has been guessed to produce a above 5,000 pounds per acre. Some have guessed as high as 7,000 pounds. On this same farm last year, the yield was 5,000 lbs. per acre and the crop was planted in 27 inch rows. The field is practically weed free, even though no chemicals were used to control weeds. The crop was sprayed one time for green bug control.

The 46 people on the tour saw some good crops and also some poor ones. There were fields along the route of the tour that were fairly free of weeds, but there were enough weedy fields to make them realize that weed control in grain sorghum crops is definitely a problem. Farmers are anxiously awaiting the development of a herbicide that can be safely used in sandy soils. The weed control demonstration on the M. T. Smith farm shows that some control can be obtained from chemicals provided they are properly used.

The demonstrations seen on the tour will be recorded in the Crops Demonstration Handbook scheduled to be compiled about the last of February.

Texas State Fair

There will be something fishy going on at Fair Park when the "Exposition of the Seven Seas" opens the 1970 State Fair of Texas in October for a 16-day run.

A sailing vessel, the S.S. Seven Seas, lies at anchor in the Women's Department ready to launch a bevy of beautiful models who will be in the swim with "See-Worthy Fashions of the 70's". These lovely "mermaids" will make a big splash with the crowds who will attend the daily free fashion shows in the auditorium.

To further implement the "Seven Seas" theme a blonde, blue-eyed hula dancer from the "Paradise of the Pacific" will dance the hula on the mid-stage; gaily costumed Czechs will be doing a bouncy polka on the maxi-stage and Texas cow-girls wearing western togs will gallop into view riding Texas-size sea horses.

A marine setting will be achieved in the decor of the auditorium where the stage curtains have been changed to shades of blue, sea green and sand, and the walls ornamented with such sea creatures as finny fish, playful dolphins, crabs, and oversized turtles.

A variety of free entertainment including choral groups, Indian dancers, a brass choir, a singing swinging assemblage of young musicians and drama production will be presented in daily programs for the enjoyment of fairgoers.

"The Fair is traditionally a family affair," said Mrs. Elizabeth Peabody, director of the Women's Department, "and each year we strive to include competition which will challenge the men and boys as well as girls and their mothers. This year two new divisions, photography and scale models, have been added to the premium list as a special enticement to the men of the family."

Friendly Chats With Faye McConnell

"The man who is too big to study his job is as big as he will ever get."

Yes, after putting to rest my dear sister-in-law, Anna Lusk Terry, Wednesday, September 2nd, I was only home two days when I received a call from Dallas Saturday morning, September 5th saying that my sister Ruth Ragsdale would not possibly be alive by the time that I could arrive there; however, she lived one week lacking three hours, and we stayed almost continually at the hospital as she was in the intensive care ward and we could only see her once every two hours. She passed away Friday night, September 12th at 12:10 mid-night. We laid her to rest Monday, September 14th at 4:00 P. M. I hope you will forgive me, but it is too hard for me to write and tell you the details at this time. We do sincerely thank all who sent flowers.

We did have one lovely experience while there. One night, a young man, perhaps 19 or 20 years of age, was sitting in the waiting room with us. He went to sleep with his chin in one hand and with one of the sweetest smiles I have ever seen on a person's face; later, we noticed him again, and he was leaning against the wall with the same sweet smile. When he awoke, one of us asked him to tell us the name of the girls that he was dreaming about. His reply was: "I always sleep with a smile on my face. I first say my prayers, and then I go to sleep thinking about God, and the smile is always there, regardless of where I am sleeping."

Nicole McGinty, 2-1/2 year old daughter of Dixie Ruth and Steve McGinty, is one of the sweetest and smartest children I have seen in a long time. She is continually happy and goes around singing little songs that her mother has taught her. The other day, Dixie Ruth put her in the bath tub for a bath, and while sitting there playing in the water and singing, her brother Steve turned the shower on her head. Instead of crying and becoming angry as most children would, she only laughed and sang: "Raindrops keep falling on my head."

Certainly everyone is entitled to their own ideas and this, generally, is a healthy condition. However, when these ideas break into society to create the ruination of property, then it is time to put on the brakes.

1st man: "That girl is fresh from the country and it's up to us to show her the difference between right and wrong."
2nd man: "O. K., you teach her what's right!"

LEVELLAND (Special) The oldest in years but one of the youngest in spirit enrolled at South Plains College this semester is 73-year-old Mrs. Nancy Freeman.

The college, in its community program reaches out over a wide area to make available courses of people of all ages.

Mrs. Freeman, who lives on a farm between Plains & Seagraves, travels 70 miles three days a week for classes at SPC. She has to get up early in the morning to make the trip and be on time for the 8 o'clock class. Then she stays over for the 2 o'clock class in the afternoon.

A grandmother, who has reared eight children of her own, plus six others, has, for years longed to take art lessons and develop painting. She prefers the western or plains scenes and at present is looking for a double windmill with a weight, to paint. She recalls these from her early days and wishes to put the image on canvas.

When asking her reason for wanting to study art, she said she saw a picture she wanted to paint and needed some instruction before embarking on the project. It was then that she decided to enroll at South Plains College and get the instruction she needed. She is taking from Don Stroud and Burl Cole and is keeping in step with the young people in her class.

She did not start painting until she was 68 years of age, and has sold a number of paintings in Lubbock and San Antonio since that time. She plans to paint for a hobby but at the same time she hopes to make a business of art.

Some member of the Freeman family has been attending South Plains College for a number of years. Mrs. Jane Long, a daughter, attended SPC. A Niece Mrs. Arcola Martin of Seagraves graduated from SPC and is now teaching in the Seagraves public schools. A granddaughter, Betty Huffman, is currently enrolled as a sophomore.

Mrs. Freeman has a one-room studio in her home and works with ceramics and plastics as well as oils. Not ever having had crayolas as a child, art was a new project for her when she was finally able to acquire the needed materials.

As a young wife and mother, Mrs. Freeman lived the Dick Brownfield Ranch, where her husband was a ranch hand and she did ranch chores. They also had land of their own and as time went on, acquired more land, living in Denver City and in Yoakum County about 50 years.

So the lady is now interested in art did not have the time to indulge in hobbies in her earlier years, but is now enjoying them to the fullest.

NOTES, COMMENTS

Smartness, rather than sincerity, ruins many people.
Compliment someone and you'll get smiles for a week.
The optimist believes in luck, the pessimist in fate.
The trouble with most speeches is that they are audible.
Hard work hurts few people because so few give it a chance.
Courtesy is so cheap that most people take no interest in it.
Three good rules for success: Advertise, advertise, advertise.
Too many individuals try to be smart instead of truthful.

Tax Man Sam Sez

In a recent report on federal tax collections the Internal Revenue Service says that the total Internal Revenue collections for the United States in the calendar year 1969 was $195, 141, 923, 000. Texas tax collections ran more than $8 billion for the first time. Collections in the Dallas District, covering our area in northern Texas, amounted to $3, 593, 898, 000, of which $2, 791, 651, 000 came from individual income and employment taxes. Since each of us must pay about 1/5 of our total pay as our share of our country's cost, it is obvious that taxes are and will continue to be very important to us.

News Release

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated nine accidents on rural highways in Yoakum County during the month of August according to Sergeant H. E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in three persons injured and an estimated property damage of --- $11, 115. 00

The sergeant reminded all Texas motorists that vehicles bearing red motor vehicle inspection stickers with the large black numeral "9" in the lower left-hand corner of the windshield must be reinspected before mid-night, September 30. All motor vehicles and certain classes of trailers registered in Texas are subject to the mandatory inspection of certain equipment which includes brakes, lighting, horns, and warning devices, mirrors, windshield wipers, steering, wheels and rims, exhaust system, exhaust emission system, and front seat belts in vehicles where seat belt anchorages were part of the manufacturer's original equipment on the vehicle.

The inspection fee is $2. 00, with adjustments or repairs extra if needed.

SPICES AND MUSHROOMS
By Sudie Thompson

Spices, that have sparkled the flavor of foods for centuries, have outgrown the old spice shelf as greater interest has developed in them.

Aromatic seeds from around the world have invaded the spice shelf. Poppy, Caraway, Sesame, Anise, and Fennel, five aromatic seeds, are called baking seeds because they add flavor plus a crunchy texture to breads, cakes and cookies.

Spices provide numerous ways to vary the taste of foods and so contribute to the food budget. Buttered snap beans take on a new flavor when showered with toasted sesame seeds. Baked potatoes make a tasty side dish when seasoned with toasted poppy seeds, scrape the pulp from the potatoes, season and add butter and a little hot milk plus toasted poppy seeds. Put back into the shell and brown in the oven. Apple pie becomes a second-helping tempter when fennel seed is sprinkled over the sliced apples before sealing with the top crust.

Air-dried mushroom pieces, having a flavor comparable to that of freeze-dried mushrooms selling for twice as much, is a recent development of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Air-dried mushrooms are dehydrated pieces that retain the distinctive flavor and light color of fresh mushrooms. The mushroom pieces will keep for at least seven months without flavor loss, if processed according to USDA research.

The mushroom pieces were developed to enable the domestic mushroom industry to compete with imported mushrooms.

ASCS Elects Committeeman

Bill Overton with the local ASC office announced that James Warren received the highest number of votes in the ASCS Committee October 1.

The voted ballots were tabulated Monday night by ASCS clerks Elsie Pierce and Teny Lester.

Carl Lowrey, whose term expires this September and who was also listed on the ballot, received the second highest number of votes and will become first alternate. Mr. Lowrey has served three years as county committeeman. The past year has been as chairman of the committee.

Bob Long, who lives in the southeast part of the county received the third highest number of votes and will become second alternate for the 1971 program year. Mr. Long has served on the committee several times in the past.

Serving with Mr. Warren, the newly elected member, for the 1971 program year will be R. G. Hartman and J. B. Ashburn. The elected county committeemen are elected for a three year term. Mr. Hartman has two more years to serve and Mr. Ashburn has one more year in his term.

The duties of the County Committee are many. They are generally responsible for administering ASCS programs approved for the county. Some such duties include: (1) functioning as a committee rather than as individuals (2) reaching decisions as a group (at least two members must be present to conduct official business) (3) directing county office operations by setting policy and goals within national and state limits (4) carrying out program responsibilities as directed by the various program handbooks (5) includes reviewing, approving and certifying farms, reports and other documents as required (6) recommending desired program changes to the state committee (7) cooperating with other agencies to assure the best possible service to farmers (8) setting allotments and yields in accordance of program regulations and many other duties to numerous to mention.

The committee will meet the first part of October to organize. At this meeting a chairman, vice chairman and regular member will be selected. A total of 468 votes were cast in the election. Most all voters in the county cast a ballot. All persons listed on the ballot received a good vote with a few write-in votes for persons not listed on the ballot.

Library News

by Latrell McDonnell

The Library has received several books by a famous author, man, minister, teen-age counselor. David Wilkerson is a minister in the Assemblies of God Church. He is also the founder and head of an organization started when he began preaching in the streets, in borrowed churches, and in the hideouts of heroin addicts. Today, Teen Challenge has its headquarters in a new half-million-dollar international headquarters in Brooklyn. Now he has written "Parents on Trial", a book that should be in the home of every parent, clergyman, child guidance counselor, and judge. This is not my words, but the words of leamed people. Some of these books in the Yoakum County Library are "Hey, Preach You're Comin Through!", "Purple-Violet-Squish", "The Little People", "Man Have I Got Problems", "Twelve Angels From Hell", "The Cross and the Switch Blade", "I'm Not Mad at God", and "Parents on Trial".

These books are about the problems of teen-age dope addicts, teen-age drinking problems, children born in homes where they were unwanted poor, deprived teen-agers, teen-agers with sex problems, and teen-agers that have lost their will to live. David Wilkerson can, with the help of God, get through to these young teen-agers and give them hope and help them find themselves and their purpose for being born into this world.

For those needing a shelter he has overseen the building and keeping of Teen-Challenge Center, a home for homeless teen-agers. This is good heart rendering reading, and these books are in your library. Find joy in reading at the Yoakum County Library in Plains.

Earth and Science Energy

The growing study of earth science will get a boost in Texas public schools this year with the distribution of a new booklet by the Oil Information Committee of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. "Earth Science and Energy," authored by Robert E. Boyer of the Department of Geological Sciences at the University of Texas and Richard Hale who teaches in the Austin Independent Public Schools, will be furnished to Texas educators without cost. Designed to supplement standard texts, the booklet is the first in the 20 year history of the Texas Mid-Continent program to be written by Texans. "The earth science study provides much needed information of which there is very little available at present," says G. C. Bankston, state OIC chairman. "It links earth science and energy in a natural way. Included are both established principles and tentative theories, the latter leading to open-ended questions and a spectrum of answers. It covers such topics as flow of energy in earth systems, interactions of earth systems and man's place in these interactions." Also available without cost is a new booklet explaining the development and use of computers, including how they work. Titled "Yes, No... One, Zero," it is written by Dr. Kenneth M. King, director of the Computer Center at Columbia University. The Texas Mid-Continent award-winning school program, which is sponsored by the petroleum industry, distributes through local oil men more than half a million pieces of literature, films and teaching aids to Texas schools each year. Supplementary educational materials are provided on chemistry, physics, mathematics, economics, conservation and history.

News from First Baptist Church

Blood Bank To Be in Plains
The American Red Cross Blood Bank will be at the first Baptist Church from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. September 23, 1970. We are striving to have more donors than ever in this drive. We are making this a memorial for Jeanne Stroup. In the last few weeks of her life, Jeanne Stroup had to have large quantities of blood. Won't you help with this tremendous bill by giving a pint of blood? If you wish to donate for someone else, that will be appreciated also.

AID SENT TO CORPUS CHRISTI
The young people of First Baptist Church spent one evening going to homes to gather up canned goods to send to Corpus Christi. They wish to thank all who helped make this project a success. Bro. Jim Mosley, Pastor, and his wife took a pickup load of canned goods and some clothing donated by Moore & Oden Dry Goods to this storm hit area. They reported that it was deeply appreciated and much needed. Again we would like to say "thanks" to each of you who donated to this cause.
