ASCS County Office News

By W. M. Overton, County Executive Director

Many inquiries have been made at the county office by dryland farmers in regard to the cotton program regulations concerning cotton program payments and history if rains do not come in time to plant. June 15 is considered the final planting date for Yoakum County and other West Texas counties east and south of here.

not part of normal farm operations. The county office will be closed, MONDAY, MAY 31 for MEMORIAL DAY.

Baccalaureate Service For Graduates

If sufficient moisture to plant does not come soon enough for dry land farmers to plant by June 15 they may, if they wish file a request to have the cotton land released for planting to other crops. By doing this payments may be made and cotton history preserved. Some farmers may want to plant later than June 15 if sufficient moisture is received while others may not. It is expected that irrigated land will be planted. However irrigated farmers perhaps cannot irrigate the number of acres on a year such as this as they could on a normal year.

Sunday evening, May 23, at 8:00 p.m. the graduating Class of 1971 entered the Plains High School Auditorium attired in their snowy white caps and gowns for the Baccalaureate Service. The processional was played by Mrs. Jack Hayes. The Seniors were seated on the first three rows of the center section. The invocation was given by Bro. Jim Ray Mosley. The Plains Fine Arts Choir sang "It's A Me" (Spiritual), with soloist Mrs. Bob White. Next they sang "One World" with soloist Mrs. Terry Bacon. Mrs. Darrell Lindsey accompanied the choir. The Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Klel Quesenberry, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Plains. The Fine Arts Choir then sang "My Cathedral" featuring the trio, Mrs. Rhonal Teaff, Mrs. Calvin Smith and Mrs. Wayne Carter, accompanied by Mrs. Darrell Lindsey. The benediction was then given by Mr. W. O. Batten and the graduating Seniors marched out to the recessional played by Mrs. Jack Hayes.

Commencement Held Monday Night

The Commencement Exercises of Plains High School were presented Monday evening, 8 P.M., May 24, 1971.

The prelude was played by Aaron Smith, a very talented young man. The processional was played by Mrs. Jack Hayes as the graduating Seniors of 1971 filed into the High School Auditorium for their final performance as students in Plains. After being seated on the stage, the invocation was brought by Bro. H. A. Tarkington. Mr. G. D. Kennedy, school superintendent, welcomed the guests and explained that due to an emergency appendectomy Sunday night, Glenda Fay Miller, would not be able to deliver her Salutatory address. Earl Kreig, highest ranking boy delivered the Salutatory written by Glenda Fay.

Jan McCravey accompanied the duet, Sue Cleveland and Cleve Kerby singing "We've Only Just Begun".

The Class History was given by Jimmidene Murphy. The History related that 18 of the 30 graduating seniors commenced their education in the Plains Schools.

The Valedictory address was delivered by Jan McCravey.

The special awards presented were as follows: A music scholarship presented by the Fine Arts Club for outstanding musical ability. Mrs. Bob White made the presentation to Jan McCravey. Mrs. R. B. Jones presented the Tsa Mo Ga award which is the coveted trip to Girl's State to two Junior girls, Judy Smith and Rojanna Harvey. Dick McGinty presented the American Legion award for leadership, patriotism, service and honor to Jan McCravey and Earl Kreig.

The Scholarship awards were presented by Mr. Kennedy to Earl Kreig for a scholastic average of 93.20%, who has chosen Texas A & M in which to further his education; Glenda Fay Miller for a scholastic average of 94.95%, who had chosen Baylor University and to Jan McCravey who maintained a 96.35% average and has chosen South Plains as the college she plans to attend.

Kenneth Hale and D. N. Taylor then presented the diplomas after which the benediction was given by Bob Graham and the Seniors marched out while Mrs. Jack Hayes played the recessional. Upon reaching the lobby, the Seniors shouted "Well, we made it in 1971 -- Yeh-h-h-h!" Tears, laughter and bursting fireworks brought to a conclusion this joyous occasion for Class 1971.

Report Of Council Meeting

The following present: Mayor Roy E. Edwards, Mayor, Aldermen Miller, Smith, Graham and Perkins and Secretary Hugh Abercrombie. Visitors were Brunell Harvey and Wade Howell of the Engineering firm of Freese, Nichols and Esmond of Odessa, Texas and J. A. McConnell of the Plains Review.

Mayor Edwards introduced Mr. Howell to the council. They stated that they understood the City was in need of engineering services and were here to offer theirs. When asked about their charges, Mr. Howell stated that on jobs of less than $25,000.00 they usually worked on a per day fee. Jobs larger were negotiated on percentage basis variable as to the size of the job. No action was taken by the council as to employing them.

Reports were presented as to the progress of the two water wells being drilled West of town and the 6" water main extension on 8th street. Mention was made of damage to a telephone cable at 7th street and Avenue E. After some discussion, it was decided that a policy be adopted whereby in future construction, the telephone company would be asked to dig out and expose the buried cable and place some protective covering on it ahead of the construction. Mayor Edwards made the following appointments to the Equalization Board: Neil Taylor, Russell Faulkenberry, V. Glover, D. C. Newsom, Jr. and Neil Parks.

A letter from Mr. Bennett Reaves of the Engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper was read by the mayor. It called attention to a contract their firm has with the City dated Jan. 30, 1967 and the fact that the City was proceeding with water improvements without their services. Termination of their contract was asked for along with payment of $1717.69 in fees for performing items 1 through 5, section A of this contract. No immediate action was taken. The payment of other bills presented and approved and the meeting was adjourned at 9:05 p.m.

Water Program

Latest reports on the City's water improvement projects show that the ditching for the 6" transite water line being laid from seventh and Ave. G to eighth street and Ave. C has been completed and the pipe has been laid. Paving and back filling are in process. The well at the Kerby location west of town was completed last week and pumping out of the sand has been in process since last Friday. No report was available at press time regarding the completion or the potential output of the well. The work of completing the well has been done by Councilmen, I. L. Smith and F. W. Graham, with pumping equipment furnished by the Ross Irrigation Co.

At press time the second well to be drilled, located on the St. Roman tract was in the process of setting the production string of casing. Pumpout and testing of the second well is slated to begin following the completion of the number one well.

All engineering of the water improvement projects has been done by members of the City Council with the aid of the City Manager.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D. Director National Institute of Mental Health

What Is Mental Illness?

What the nature of the mental illnesses is, their extent, and how they affect people are questions that concern everyone at some point or other in his lifetime.

Most know that mental disorders are widely prevalent, but may not realize their real extent, which make them one of the major, if not the major, public and individual health problems of the Nation.

It has been estimated that about 1 in every 10 persons in the United States suffers from a mental or emotional disturbance.

But we do not have precise figures, partly because the boundaries between mental health and illness are as yet dimly defined—and partly because many people with emotional disorders do not seek treatment.

When it comes to the number of people actually treated each year for mental illnesses, we are on firmer ground; and the number of these is figured at around 3 million persons. Far from all of these, of course, are hospitalized, but are treated in a mental health center, clinic, or the office of a private practitioner.

For the individual or family concerned with mental illness directly, however, the nature and kinds of mental illnesses are far more important than the grave statistics of their extent.

Mental disorders can be classified under four major headings: psychoses, neuroses, personality or character disorders, and psychosomatic diseases.

Psychoses, which are usually what are referred to when the old term "insanity" is used, are generally characterized by strange feelings and behavior and a distortion of reality. This may be minor or so extreme that it becomes schizophrenia, the most common of the severe forms of psychoses.

Neuroses are less severe emotional disturbances, although in some cases thinking and judgment may be impaired. Neurotics may be continually bothered by feelings of anxiety or depression.

Character or personality disorders are difficulties in adjustment that show themselves in the kind of disturbed behavior that is seen in the drug addict, the chronic alcoholic, or the delinquent.

Psychosomatic diseases are ailments whose symptoms are primarily physical, but which may have a large emotional component. Included among these are asthma, peptic ulcer, colitis, hypertension, and certain kinds of arthritis.

More information on the kinds of mental illness, facilities for treatment, research, chances for recovery, and what the average citizen can do about mental illness is brought out in a recently revised booklet for the public, "What is Mental Illness." Public Health Service Publication No. 505, available for 10¢ from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

It is not the person who stays awake at night who is a success in life. It is the person who stays awake during the day.

Speaking of the drought in West Texas, it seems that Raymond Bookout, our County Commissioner of Precinct No. 3, has come up with the largest tale of all.

He said that the other day he was talking to a farmer who said that he had been watering his hay, and the water was so dry that he had to rake it up and burn it.

Bless Raymond! A person can be feeling blue and downhearted, but when he appears, he has such a happy outlook on life, that it is not long until his joy permeates your person and the moody emotional sensation is gone, and the vacant spot is filled with a consciousness of happiness.

While we were in California, the Plains Review arrived and in it was an article where some of the Plains students were on the Honor Roll of their colleges. Tony exclaimed: "Yes, I see quite often where there has been outstanding students, but you have never said a word about my certificates when I was on the Dean's Honor Roll." The reply was: "I would have been very pleased and proud to write an article on my son if he had only let me know about it."

Pat, in writing, had mentioned a number of times about Tony's high grades, making mostly all A's, but she had not said a thing about him being on the Honor Rolls of his college.

Tony is working 8 to 10 hours a day for 5 and 6 days a week, goes to school at night, and still maintaining a high average in his college work.

The night before we had planned to visit San Francisco, the City had an earthquake that measured 4 on the seismograph. Very little damage was done but one that strong can break out windows.

The next mornign we were speaking about it, and our granddaughter, Nita, flung her head and said: "Oh, wherever the Lusk's are, it will be safe." This gave us a great thrill to find such faith in a child. It is the faith of "God is with me, and all is well." Everyone will have trials and temptations, but with such faith, you may be assured that they will be far less than for the person who is always afraid of something. When we can look life in the face with faith, courage and trust, all will be well because our good will come to us in such measure as we ourselves measure it out in our own experience.

At the eighth grade promotion, Tuesday night, Mr. G.D. Kennedy gave an amusing illustration on "Incentive."

He related how he came to the school one day last summer only to notice two girls playing tennis on the 6 foot fence-inclosed tennis court. Having the key to the gate in his pocket, he asked the girls how they managed to get inside. They replied by saying they had climbed the fence. He suggested they get out the same way they got in, --- They did, ---

"This", he said, "is INCENTIVE!"

Memorial Day Weekend At Ruidoso

Racing Secretary Dean Mc Kinney has put an interesting 12-race card together for Friday's slate at Ruidosa Downs. The card will kick-off three days of racing over the Memorial Day weekend, climaxed by the finals of the Ruidosa Quarter Horse Derby, Sunday May 30.

The eleventh and featured race on Friday will be run in honor of Patty Weaver and M Mark Greenfield, the ABC-TV "Dating Game" couple, who will spend the weekend in Ruidoso as the guests of Ruidoso Downs Race Track and the Chaparral Motor Hotel.

Eight razor-sharp sprinters will go to post in the six furlong outing for four-year-olds and up. Pinky Dee, a perennial favorite at Ruidosa Downs has drawn the lightweight assignment at 122-pounds, with jockey Robert Young due in the irons. Nova-Levu, who closed fast for third place in an out last Sunday, will likely be a favorite although topweight has been given to Raycor, Jack Wallace will again be on board.

Rounding out the field will be Porters Magic (Burgess), Miss Nu Trim (Asmussen), Like I Say (Lovell), King's Kid (Bannowsky), and Aurora King (Myles).

The tenth race of the day will be a $3,500-claimer for three-year-olds at a distance of five-and-a-half furlongs. It will be run in honor of the Ruidoso Band Booster Club. Jerry Burgess, who posted five wins on opening weekend to grab second place jockey honors behind Willie Lovell, will be in the stirrups on Mandy's P Q at a topweight of 122-pounds. Also sharing topweight billing will be Start Winning and Jeanne Dress.

Others in the race will be Rosnaree, Netties Courage, Cold Bond, Lisetta D., Warnomore and Roman Alibhai. For quarter horse fanciers the fourth race of the day will feature maiden two-year-olds who remain eligible for the Kansas, Rainbow, All-American or New Mexico futurities. Post time will be at 1:30 P. M. (MDT)

So says the VA. Last year, all John Benson saved was $54.32. This year, he joined the Payroll Savings Plan.

Poor John. Money just seemed to slip right through his fingers. Every time he planned to stash something away, there wasn't anything left. Then John decided to join the Payroll Savings Plan where he works. Now, an amount he specifies is automatically set aside from his check before he gets it. And invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Because John has become such a systematic saver, he's almost forgotten about it. When he gets around to remembering, he's going to have quite a nest egg laid away. And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

If you keep forgetting to save something out of your check, join the Payroll Savings Plan and let somebody else do the remembering for you.

Failure to complete and return the cards on the part of both college level and below college level trainees will make it necessary for the VA to automatically stop payments.

Health "Insurance" Fire Hazards Are Everywhere For The Traveler

If your family plans a trip this summer, better give some thought now to the things you hope won't happen.

What do you do—heaven forbid—if someone becomes seriously ill hundreds of miles from your doctor and the home-town hospital?

What precautions can you take to prevent or alleviate the less-serious, trip-spoilers— toothache, diarrhea, headaches, cuts, bruises and the like?

First a medical check-up for each member of the family before you set out makes good sense. Is anyone taking medication regularly? If so, ask your doctor for a prescription so you can have it refilled if need be. At home or on the road, nothing's worse than a toothache, so visits to the dentist are in order, too.

If you'll be camping or otherwise exploring the hinterlands, be sure everyone's immunization shots are up to date, especially for tetanus and typhoid. For most overseas travel, the government requires proof of smallpox immunization, and sometimes against other diseases, before you can get back in this country.

Of course, you can't buy advance protection against some ailments.

A compact well-stocked traveler's medicine and first-aid kit is a good bet. Bandages, aspirin, a motion-sickness remedy for the potentially car-sick or air-sick might be a good idea—especially in a small town, a camp-site or foreign city where a drug store may not be available. You might ask your doctor for suggestions on what to pack.

Some common problems you may want to prepare for: diarrhea, which is aptly called the tourist's disease—at home or abroad. The change of drinking water or eating uncooked fruits or vegetables may trigger an attack. Many seasoned travelers take along Kaopectate, which is packaged in an unbreakable plastic bottle, for such an emergency.

The inevitable minor cuts, bruises and abrasions you'll want soap, water, bandages and perhaps an antiseptic ointment. There are several reputable products. Mycitracin for example, that is helpful and have the advantages to the traveler of being non-stinging, having no odor and not staining for most fabrics.

Make a mental note of the larger towns and cities along your route which are likely to have adequate medical facilities in case you're faced with a crisis. Perhaps your local medical society or physician can give you some advance information on this. Check on your medical insurance before you leave—and don't forget to carry proof of coverage.

A final word of caution: Don't be in too much of a hurry to get where you're going. In other words, don't spoil the fun by driving yourself to exhaustion. A good rule of thumb is, limit daily traveling to 300 miles and get off the road by 5 p.m.

By Leo L. White, County Agricultural Agent

The extremely dry conditions that prevail this year make accidental fires pretty easy to come by. Most accidental fires can be extinguished before extensive damage is done; but, the fire that gets out of control on a windy day is real hard to put out.

The main thing for Yoakum County residents to be careful about is range fires. There are thousands of acres of range land in Yoakum County that is in good shape to burn. Of course, there are also many places where there is not enough turf left to catch on fire. Some ranchers are reporting that there is nothing but dry sand left in their pastures and it won't burn.

Perennial broom weeds, commonly called turpentine weeds, are usually green at this time of the year, but not so in 1971. These little dry weeds have something in them that acts like gasoline once a blaze gets started. They are real thick on some of the range land and they create a deluxe fire hazard.

Extreme care should be taken when there is an open fire near dead grass and weeds. Burning trash barrels are the source of many accidental fires, both on the farm and in town. Once a burning paper blows out of a trash burner and falls in the dry weeds, the trouble is on. Most people have experienced the result of leaving a pressure can in the trash burner. The exploding hair spray can will sometimes cause a fire to start some distance away from the trash burner.

Prevent accidental fires by staying alert and being careful. Dry weeds and grass should be cleared away from the area where trash burners are located. All pressure cans should be punctured with an ice pick or similar instrument before putting them in the trash. Set fires at a time when the wind is not a danger factor. Maintain fire guards around range land. Check all fires fighting equipment and be sure it is in working order. Talk fire safety to your neighbors. Maybe your talking will cause them to shape up.

Even though there is not much left to burn, we do not want what little there is to go up in smoke.

Memorial Day

June is a time for doing things outdoors -- eating is one of them! And nothing beats products from the dairy for outdoor food!

With Memorial Day ushering in the summer-month, what better way is there to celebrate than with a picnic. Whether it is outside on the patio, or miles to the lake, a picnic lunch is brightened with a variety of sliced cheese, icy cold milk, cream cheese dips, and baked goods.

Put these in front of the kids and see how long they last between rounds of touch football and dips in the pool.

Old Fashioned Butter Cookies

3/4 cup butter	3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar	Cream butter in mixing bowl. Gradually add sugar; continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add the egg, milk and vanilla extract. Beat well.
1 egg	Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Blend dry ingredients gradually into butter mixture. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes, until golden brown. Makes about four dozen cookies.
1/4 cup milk	Since potatoes are also plentiful this month, don't forget that old favorite--a steamy baked potato topped with a melted butter-chive sauce, or use whipped butter and fresh chopped parsley. For picnics, try cold boiled potato chunks on hors d'oeuvre sticks with a choice of blue cheese-butter dip or a favorite sour cream dip.
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon Baking powder

TOPIC: CONTRIBUTIONS

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The rules on how much you can deduct on your contributions to a charitable organization have been revised under the 1969 Tax Reform Act. Some exempt organizations that depend on charitable donations report that they are not getting as many contributions since the change in the tax law. They apparently feel that most of the difference in the amount of the contributions is due to a misunderstanding about the taxability of contributions and that some taxpayers feel that they will have to pay income taxes on the appreciated value of a gift that would have been subject to a capital gain if sold. There is no tax due on a gift under the new law, but the amount of the deduction has been reduced in some cases. However, if you have valuable property that you would like to donate to an exempt organization (church, museum, educational institution or other charitable organization approved by IRS) you can still get a substantial benefit on your income tax through the donation.

FRIGI-BIN DRI-HOLD system by Frigidome Division of Aluminum Company of America cools and dries grain through refrigeration, a revolutionary concept in grain conditioning and storage. It enables farmers to preserve grain for longer periods, while minimizing nutrient loss in the drying process. It also eliminates all the undesirable characteristics of heat drying, such as cooked kernels, stress cracks, accumulation of combustibles and undesirable quantities of foreign materials.

Develop New Grain Drying Technique

PEORIA, Ill. — A revolutionary breakthrough in grain conditioning has been scored with a new storage system developed by Frigidome Division of Aluminum Company of America.

The Frigi-Bin Dri-Hold system uses refrigeration to cool and dry grain, a concept superior to conventional gas-fired drying techniques.

A simple mechanical system permits farmers for the first time to eliminate all known abuses common to present methods of heat-drying grain for storage.

"The system, which has been tested for five years, is more economical to operate than any conventional equipment available," said Robert W. Frudeger, Frigidome president.

Natural air drying sustains the moisture content of grain over longer periods of time, providing the farmer significantly more marketing flexibility.

With specially designed air handling equipment, the all-electric, two-bin system uses condenser heat to dry shelled corn in one bin, reducing moisture content from 28 percent to 20 percent.

Corn is then transferred to a holding bin, where refrigeration lowers the moisture level to 18 percent or less, keeping it in good condition. Meanwhile, more corn is dried in the first bin.

Efficiency results from use of warm air, generated while cooling corn in the first bin, to dry corn stored in the holding bin.

With a 45,000-bushel capacity, the Frigi-Bin Dri-Hold system offers lower drying and holding costs per bushel than conventional systems. It enables farmers to preserve grain for longer periods, while minimizing nutrient loss in the drying process. And, it eliminates all the undesirable characteristics of heat drying, such as cooked kernels, stress cracks, accumulation of combustibles and undesirable quantities of foreign materials.

By extending the keeping quality of grain, the new system also will give elevator operators more time to service their customers during peak harvest, when quantities of grain must be processed immediately.

Information about the Frigi-Bin Dri-Hold system is available by writing Frigidome Division, Aluminum Company of America, 2335 West Altorfer Drive, Peoria, Ill. 61614.

NEWS ABOUT 4-H

4-H Clothing Program Aids Members In Choosing Fashions Right for Them

SPECIAL - There really is no predominant look in today's fashions. Young people have a wide choice of styles from which to choose.

One of the prettiest fashion trends is the back-to-nature look - with soft style ideas taken from the pretty pioneer with ruffles and lovely prints. Then there's the Western look with denim the "in" material and everything with a bib. Of course, the pantsuit is still right.

Then there are all those groovy accessories to make each new outfit extra special - The crazy Mickey Mouse watch, the dog collar for accent around the neck and wide, wide belts sliding around the hips.

The idea is to find the right fashion that is "you."

How does a young person keep an up-to-date wardrobe on a limited budget?

Nearly three-quarters of a million girls and boys between the ages of 9 and 19 are finding the answers as members of the 4-H clothing program, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H activities. The program is designed to aid them in choosing the clothes they make and buy and to use good judgment and creativity in planning clothing and accessories.

Coats & Clark Inc., New York, N.Y., is national donor and has sponsored the clothing program for the last 31 years. The company provides 4-H members with various incentives and recognition including four gold-plated medals of honor in each county. The state award is an expense-paid trip to the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28 - Dec. 2.

From these winners the Cooperative Extension Service will select recipients of six national educational scholarships of $700 each.

The company also provides the young people with various instructional material on sewing. A recent free leaflet gives instructions for making macrame belts, one of the new fashion ideas for teens.

More information about the 4-H clothing program and other 4-H activities is available from the county extension office.

HAVE FUN!
By LEE BRYAN

An antique collector passing through a small village stopped to watch an old man chopping wood with an ancient ax. "That's a mighty old ax you have there," he remarked. "Yup," said the villager, "it once belonged to George Washington."

"Not really!" gasped the collector. "It has certainly stood up well." "Of course," admitted the old man "it's had three new handles and two new heads."

Want Utopia!

We've all heard from time to time about how Sweden is becoming the workers "Paradise" - how Socialism finally was put into practice, how no one was out of work, how everyone was taken care of.

"Paradise?" Better to say "Pair o' dice" - that came up snake eyes!

Income taxes at the world's highest rates take 43 to 65 per cent of income. And a comment from one civil servant summed up what is called the "festering wound" in the country: "We simply cannot afford to live in Paradise any longer. The idea is nice, but the reality is too costly."

The reality is also very grim, with 150 strikes in the past 15 months. Professional people are leaving at an increasing rate - doctors, dentists, scientists. Large firms are moving out of the country. In 1968, 30 per cent of all firms had showed no profit at all and in the same year, 528 firms hiring 22,700 people went out of business - due to high capital taxes to finance the "Paradise."

Direct and indirect taxes take 43.6 per cent of Swedish gross national product, compared to 27.3 per cent in this country.

A murderous, 38-day strike by 47,000 civil servants, seeking a 23 per cent wage boost, was stopped only by the Swedish Government passing a law making it illegal. And if you wonder who the "civil servants" are, consider the Swedish Government's National Federation of Independent Business.

John C. White, Commissioner

AUSTIN-- Prompt action by the Texas Department of Agriculture's Plant Quarantine Division has curtailed a disease that could have been a major threat to the state's stand of St. Augustine grass.

Charlie Chapman, head of TDA's Quarantine Division said St. Augustine Decline (SAD) was spotted in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Result was a survey of 3,000 acres of land along the Texas Gulf Coast and in the Valley. Some new cases were found during the survey.

Chapman explained that the disease can kill grass within three to four years. A long growing period is needed for renovation.

"The grass is weakened to a point of death or invasion of weed plants," Chapman explained.

He said one must remove all diseased roots and stolons to prevent reinfestation of newly sowed grass. To kill the remaining diseased grass sprigs, spraying with a herbicidal oil is required.

Symptoms of SAD were observed during 1966 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and have been identified in Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Fort Worth and other Texas cities and towns.

Chapman said the virus is mechanically transmissible, pointing out that lawn mowing trials conducted in Corpus Christi and Weslaco indicate SAD can be spread by contaminated lawn mowers.

Bobby McCulley, entomologist for TDA and stationed in Arlington, directed the survey, which took two weeks to complete.

Six hundred million dollar tax bill was signed by the Governor and will go into effect July 1.

Cultural practices to produce higher protein in hybrid grain sorghum crops is the aim of a grain sorghum quality test to be conducted this year at High Plains Research Foundation.

To determine how cultural practices affect protein in sorghum, scientists have designed a test that will compare double-rowed and single-rowed sorghum under two irrigation methods, two rates of herbicide application and 18 different fertilizer treatments.

Included in the fertilizer treatments will be experiments to determine if sulphur applied with nitrogen will increase the amino acids now deficient in sorghum.

Scientists at the Foundation point out that cultural practices, as well as genetic factors may be a key to increasing protein quality of irrigated sorghum due to the higher protein content in dryland sorghum.

They say the test also is practical from the farmer's point of view. It has been reported that a few feedlots are paying premium prices for dryland sorghums because of increased protein content.

Strange Origins Of Some Common Words

"CORFEU" - We hear this word a lot today, though it still has an old-fashioned flavor about it. It started in the Middle Ages, when peasants were required to cover their fires before nightfall. The signal for this was the ringing of the "cover-fire" bell. French for this is "couvre-feu." The 11th Century Normans took the word to England as "corfeu" - the bell warning citizens it was time to be safely home.
