

The Plains Pride

VOLUME 1 NUMBER 21

Plains, Yoakum County, Texas

AUGUST 25, 1985

VOLLEYBALL SEASON is in full swing, with the Cowgirls attending a tournament in Monahans this weekend.

State Representative Jim Rudd Meets With Plains Lions Club

Jim Rudd who represents the 77th Legislative District, was in Plains, Thursday, Aug. 15 to speak to the local Lions Club and assembled guests at a noon luncheon.

Representative Rudd, who is from Brownfield, was introduced by Jim Barron. A democrat, Rudd is serving his fifth term of office.

Present to discuss the constitutional amendments to be decided by the people of Texas on Nov. 5, Rudd points out that our state constitution has been amended 269 times since 1876. He explained to the group that, "the people's voice is heard when we vote on amendments, but it is not wise to vote at all if we do not understand the proposed amendment."

"West Texas is a minority voice in the legislature. The powerful rural constituency in East Texas just doesn't think like we do," says Rudd, "for instance, on the proposal concerning school monies."

PROPOSITION ONE will be the constitutional amendment to authorize issuance of an additional $980 million in Water Development Bonds. It also provides for a bond insurance program to cover bonds of local water entities.

PROPOSITION TWO will be the issuance of $200 million in agricultural water conservation bonds.

Rudd emphasizes that "these two proposals are sure to draw considerable attention, due to the size of the bond issuing authority, and the fact that Gov. Mark White has promised to support the amendments."

PROPOSITION THREE authorizes the Legislature to pass laws and levy assessments for relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property.

PROPOSITION FOUR would permit the trustees of the Permanent School fund to sell land designated for that purpose and to invest the money for a greater return.

PROPOSITION FIVE will permit the state rather than the individual hospital districts to regulate funding for health care.

PROPOSITION SIX is a proposal permitting Texas prisoners to be placed in penal institutions of another state pursuant to an interstate agreement.

PROPOSITION SEVEN would authorize Chambers County to be divided into six precincts instead of the present four.

PROPOSITION EIGHT would provide for $500 million in additional bonding authority for the veterans housing assistance program, and would also change the definition of veteran's eligibility.

PROPOSITION NINE would authorize prior approval for expenditure of emergency transfer of state appropriations.

PROPOSITION TEN would allow the issuance of $500 million in additional bonds to give financial assistance to qualified individuals for the purpose of buying farm and ranch land.

PROPOSITION THIRTEEN will initiate judicial redistricting by the Judicial Districts Board or by the Legislative Redistricting Board...which Rudd adds, "Large cities are eager to have this amendment passed but for rural judicial districts such as ours, it might mean traveling to another county to obtain a judicial order."

PROPOSITION FOURTEEN

Volleyball Season Begins; Cowgirls Win Over Coronado

The Lubbock Coronado Mustangs traveled to Plains Tuesday to play the Cowgirls in their first volleyball game of the season. Plains came out on top with scores of 15-11, 15-17 and 9-15. Cristi Stephens served 12 points in the match.

The Cowgirl varsity squad consists of Julie Culwell, Ruth Ann Diaz, Kristi Harris, Traci Nance, Toni Lowrey, Terrie Spears, Cristi Stephens and manager, Stacy Hinson. Coaches are Charles Cain and assistants Joyce Pierce and Sandra Foster.

Following the performance of Tuesday's game, Coach Cain stated, "he was pleased with everyone's effort. The girls came back to win the match after losing the first game and falling behind in the second.

JV

The Plains Cowgirls JV volleyball team, coached by Joyce Pierce, opened their season on a winning note here Tuesday night with a victory over Coronado JV 15-8 and 15-7. Karen Cobb served eight points in the match.

Coach Pierce commented on her team's win Tuesday night, saying she "felt the entire squad played well! We made a few mental errors, but because of our team work I felt good about their overall fundamental play. Diligent work during two-a-day workouts has proved beneficial for the Plains JV."

Call WATERWATCH

Name the world's most healthful beverage. Need a hint? It's also the most economical and effective skin care treatment. Give up? The answer is water!

In fact, on the average, each of us uses about 60 gallons of water a day for cooking, cleaning, drinking and personal care. Usually we take water for granted. But there is growing concern about the quality of drinking water as an increasing number of communities discover potentially harmful contaminants in wells, reservoirs, lakes and rivers.

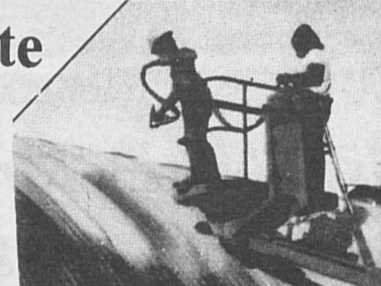

Because local, state and federal agencies all share responsibility for the quality of water, many consumers can have difficulty in getting answers to their questions. As a public service, Culligan International Company has established the WaterWatch Information Bureau — a special organization dedicated to answer consumer questions about water quality.

By calling toll-free 1-800-792-0092 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Central Standard Time, consumers can speak with specially trained operators about home water sources for cooking, washing, bathing and drinking. WaterWatch Information Bureau operators are qualified to answer a wide range of questions concerning water quality. Here are a few samples:

- What to do if your water tastes or smells bad.
- What to do if you learn that your water supply is contaminated.
- Which contaminants can cause health problems and which will not.
- Selection of home water conditioning equipment.
- How to select a home water conditioning professional.

MRS. TIMOTHY SHAUN BARNETT

Miss Shults - Mr. Barnett Recite Vows August 10

Miss Keri Annette Shults of Brownfield and Timothy Shaun Barnett recited wedding vows in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony Aug. 10 in Union Baptist Church.

Rev. Eddie Tingle, brother-in-law of the groom, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kermitt D. Shults of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. James O. Barnett. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Shults of Brownfield and Mrs. Ray Copeland of Plainview. Beatrice Barnett of San Angelo is grandmother of the groom.

Vows were spoken before an altar adorned with a fifteen branch candelabra accented with white, lavender and purple silk flowers. Flanking the altar were spiral candelabras with 13 white tapers entwined with fresh gypsophila and greenery. The bridal aisle was marked with white satin bows accented with lavender and purple silk flowers.

Nuptial selections were played by Debi Barnett of Marshall, sister-in-law of the groom. Prelude music included "You And I," "Twelfth of Never," "My Own True Love" and Theme from "Ice Castles." As candles were lighted, Sylvia Goree of Georgetown, aunt of the bride, sang "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do."

As the bride was presented to the groom, Lori Shults sang "For Bobbie." She and David Barnett sang "Here We Are Now" as the parents lighted the family tapers nestled with the unity candle. David also sang "To Me."

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown which she and her mother designed and made. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice of delicate English netting lace and slipper satin with lace yoke featuring a Queen Anne collar and sweetheart neckline with deep scallops. A matching lace inset adorned the neckline. The back was designed with a low pointed yoke of lace with satin continuing to the pointed waistline accented with scalloped lace. Dainty satin covered buttons finished the yoke and cuffs of her full Victorian sleeves. Seed pearls embellished the lace of her dress. The skirt was styled with satin ruffles which swept up to a point in back. Rows and rows of ruffles finished the skirt into a cathedral length train. A satin rose, fashioned by a family friend, Mrs. Earl Cornett, accented the point in back.

Sprinkled with pearl accented lace flowers, her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a satin rose to her lace and satin English derby hat. Fashioned by her mother, the hat featured delicate English netting and lace covering the brim and a crown of soft satin.

She carried a European cascade of snow white silk sweetheart roses, carnations, pixie carnations and forget-me-nots with touches of lavender ginger blossoms and lavender spirea with English ivy laced throughout. Cascading from the bouquet were satin streamers tied in love knots. The bouquet was designed by Marta Decker.

In her bouquet, the bride carried a crocheted linen handkerchief which had been made by her maternal great-grandmother as "something old." Her wedding gown was "new." She "borrowed" wedding rings of her maternal and paternal grandmothers. She wore the traditional blue garter and, in her shoe, carried pennies minted in the years of her own and the groom's birth.

Lori Shults was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Darla Duncan of San Angelo and Gena Neill of Lubbock. Brenna Barnett of Marshall, niece of the groom, was junior bridesmaid.

They wore lavender taffeta gowns fashioned with fitted bodices and sweetheart necklines. Ruffles formed cap sleeves and self-fabric bows accented their shoulders. Their full length skirts were enhanced with self-ruffles. They carried arm bouquets of lavender silk orchids, purple forget-me-nots, purple candlesticks, lavender gypsophila and purple violets tied with lavender satin ribbon edged in purple. Each wore a halo of matching silk flowers.

Candles were lighted by cousins of the bride, Amy and Angie Shults of Wolfforth. They wore deep purple gowns fashioned with self-ruffles at the yoke and hemline. They wore wristlets of lavender orchids with purple forget-me-nots.

Dana Barnett of Marshall, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a deep purple taffeta dress with puffed sleeves and fitted bodice. A white organza pinafore completed her attire. She carried a small cascade of lavender and purple silk flowers and a basket fashioned from the same English netting and satin as the bride's dress.

David Barnett of Marshall, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Tracy Welch of Plains and Tony Meil of Amarillo. Jeffrey Goree of Georgetown, cousin of the bride, was junior groomsman.

The groom was attired in a silver tuxedo tail coat with matching pants, cummerbund and tie. His attendants wore coordinating silver tuxedos with lavender cummerbunds and ties.

Rings were carried by Jason Goree of Georgetown, cousin of the bride, atop a pillow of satin and lace. He wore a tuxedo identical to the groomsmen.

Guests were seated by Don Barnett of San Antonio, uncle of the groom, Terry Copeland of Frederick, Md. and Randy Copeland of Denver, Colo., uncles of the bride.

Emily Tingle of Big Spring, niece of the groom, presided at the guest register at a table laid with a purple floor length cloth overlaid with a lavender cloth drawn into six poufs. The bride's book was covered with lace, satin and pearls. A candle made by Sheila Stephens graced the table.

Betty Shults of Wolfforth, aunt of the bride, coordinated the wedding.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with a lavender cloth overlaid with a white lace cloth crocheted by the bride's great-grandmother. Crystal candleholders imported from Finland, with white tapers graced the table. A white lattice highlighted with lavender and purple flowers provided background.

The white three-tiered wedding cake featured a fountain at the base with three heart-shaped satellite cakes highlighted by Precious Moments figurines. The outside cakes were adorned with figurines of a bridesmaid and best man with ring bearer and flower girl figurines atop the center heart. Topping the cake were a miniature bride and groom framed in a heart-shaped arch of lace and delicate flowers. Greenery with purple violets and baby's breath lay at the base of the cake.

Purple punch and lavender mints were served from crystal bowls. Presiding at the table were Sadie Schneider, aunt of the bride, Teresa Lewis of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, and Trina Hewitt.

Laid with a purple cloth draped with a grey cloth, the groom's table was also graced with Precious Moments figurines in a centerpiece of greenery. Hors d'oeuvres, fruit balls and coffee were served by Pam Tingle of Big Spring, sister of the groom, and Kendra Hale of Lubbock.

Sylvia Goree coordinated the reception.

Rice rosettes were distributed by Greg Shults of Wolfforth, cousin of the bride, and Jason Tingle, nephew of the groom.

Members of the houseparty were Peggy Wilks, Geneva Neill, Lois Harvell and Pat Fulton.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride chose a fuchsia dress with purple and turquoise accents. She added a corsage of white silk sweetheart rosebuds and fuchsia hibiscus tied with white satin picot ribbon. Her throw-away bouquet matched the bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home in San Angelo where they will continue their studies at Angelo State University.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Holiday House Restaurant Friday evening. Cupie, the clown, was a special guest.

The bride was honored July 13 with a miscellaneous shower in Yoakum County library, a kitchen shower July 13 in the home of Mrs. Ronnie Floyd, a miscellaneous shower July 20 in the home of Mrs. Robert Wilks and a lingerie shower July 20 in the home of Mrs. Elvise Duncan.

Fish Might Lower Risk Of Heart Problems

Here's some advice to take to heart: eating fish may lower your risk of heart problems.

According to the August Reader's Digest, some of the oils found primarily in cold - and deep-water varieties of fish - salmon, mackerel, herring and sardines - are rich in the kind of polyunsaturated fats (PUFAs) that give your body "a preventive tuneup against heart disease."

These PUFAs, a form of omega-3 fatty acids, are two to five times more potent in lowering blood cholesterol than their omega-6 counterparts from vegetable oils. They also make blood "thinner," slower to clot and less likely to contribute to atherosclerotic lesions on artery walls - "all pluses for people at risk for heart disease," The Digest notes.

A number of researchers believe that PUFAs are used by the body to build the oily membranes that surround cells, making the membranes more fluid. With a high intake of PUFAs, the clots that trigger most heart attacks may not form as easily.

Researchers are also encouraged by the way in which omega-3s sweep cholesterol out of the blood. Fish oils somehow change the delicate balance of blood components, called lipoproteins, that shuttle cholesterol around the body. Omega-3s force down the levels of low- and very-low-density lipoproteins that carry cholesterol and - particularly - tryglycerides into body tissues, and may push up the level of high-density lipoproteins that are thought to carry cholesterol away.

In light of the emerging benefits of omega-3s, especially in preventing heart disease, Americans should add more high-fat fish to their diets, researchers say.

From The Superintendent's Desk

Something good is happening at school! It is time to begin a new school year and our teachers will report for duty this coming week.

Our school facilities, with the exception of the junior high school, are ready for the beginning of the new school year. We will have nine classrooms complete in junior high and will have to use our industrial arts shop, band hall, vocational agriculture building, auditorium, and cafeteria for various classes throughout the day. Many of our junior high students will not be affected by the construction however approximately one third will move from one classroom to another in different buildings. Classes will be conducted with as little disruption as possible. We hope that the project is complete by the Christmas holidays. All junior high students will enter the building through the back doors. Bus loading and unloading will be behind the school as usual.

Our teachers have been working on scope and sequence materials during the summer. We will have a written outline of objectives and lessons to be taught in each grade. All areas are addressed in addition to being able to document the mastery of essential elements. The scope and sequence guides identify all items to be taught in each class, plus reinforce skills taught in previous lessons or grades. We feel these materials will be of great benefit to both our students and our staff.

We look forward to the 1985-86 school year with great anticipation. We hope this will be the best year ever for the students of Plains I.S.D.

THE TROPICS

Plan Now To Fertilize Fall Wheat

It's not too early to start planning a fertilizer program for winter wheat production.

Fertilizer requirements will depend on a number of factors, says David Kight, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Yoakum County.

For producers who plan to follow wheat with wheat, fertilizer recommendations will depend upon fertilizer rates applied to the previous crop and yields obtained. Also, fertilizer carryover may have been higher than normal due to heavy rust infestations which plagued 1985 wheat production and reduced the crop's ability to utilize much of the applied fertilizer.

These factors and other unusual circumstances influencing the nutrient status of the soil indicate that a soil test should be a sound investment at this time.

Producers who have not yet made a final decision to plant wheat this fall, but wish to leave the door open to plant corn, grain sorghum or cotton this spring, can submit a soil sample now and request fertilizer recommendations for all cropping alternatives. Resulting fertilizer recommendations then can be used to assist each person in making cropping decisions.

The Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratories at Texas A&M University and Lubbock are ready to assist wheat producers in making these economically important decisions. Although new automated laboratory procedures and computerized integration and reporting of soil test results have improved speed and precision, soil test recommendations can be no better than the quality of the soil sample analyzed.

Therefore, it is important to collect soil samples which are truly representative of the field being tested, says Kight.

A composite soil sample should consist of 10 to 15 subsamples randomly collected with a probe or shovel and thoroughly mixed together before taking the composite sample. To sample the soil, remove the top inch and collect the soil samples to a depth of six inches.

Soil sample bags and detailed instructions can be secured at the local county Extension office.

Dear Editor

Delbert Burt

Dear Editor:

I just found out this week that a new paper had been started in Plains.

Pat and I lived in and around Plains for 20 years until 1969.

When we left Plains, The Yoakum County Review was still in print. We took this paper until it stopped being published.

We are still concerned with the good people that we left as friends and neighbors 16 years ago.

Please send us your paper and please publish plenty of columns about your people. Margaret Box and Fern Lowrey used to write columns in Brownfield's paper.

My congratulations on starting a new paper and may you have much success.

Real Estate Courses To Be Offered At SPC

Five real estate courses, including a new one titled home construction, will be offered this fall by South Plains College.

Home construction applies both to real estate professional and interested homeowners, according to Keith Paxton, Levelland builder. How to choose a lot, building permits, reading blue prints, foundations, exterior finishes and other topics will be covered, along with field trips to construction sites.

Home construction will meet 7-9:35 p.m. Mondays in SPC's Technical Arts Building, Room 121.

Additional real estate courses include principles of real estate, scheduled for 5:30-6:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; real estate finance, 8:20-9:35 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; real estate math, 6:55-8:10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; and real estate law, 5:30-8 p.m. Thursdays.

Levelland attorney Larry Glazner will teach the real estate law course, emphasizing the legal concepts of real estate, land description, real property estates in land, contracts, conveyances and other topics.

Additional courses will be taught by Rohlin Sullender, Levelland realtor.

Sullender noted that licensure for real estate salespersons requires 12 semester hours, with an additional six hours before they can be fully vested. Persons wishing to become brokers must complete 60 semester hours, he said.

SPC also offers a number of academic and technical courses required for the two-year associate degree in real estate.

SPC's evening registration will be 5:30-7:30 p.m. Aug. 27 in the Student Center. For more information, contact SPC at (806) 894-9611 or Sullender's office at (806) 894-3505.
