TWENTY FIVE CENTS

Larry Murphree Is Candidate For Commissioner, Precinct 4

Larry Murphree, candidate for Commissioner of Precinct 4, has lived in Yoakum County 24 years.

"I am running for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 4," he states, "because I believe I have some ideas that will allow the citizens of Yoakum County to continue to enjoy the advantages that we now have, but at the same time reduce our large budget.

"With a proposed budget in excess of $7,885,000 for 1986, Yoakum County is considered "Big Business". Being employed by one of the largest corporations in the world for the past 14 years, I am familiar with big business," says Murphree.

Murphree states, "In my management capacity I deal with setting budgets and also cutting them if necessary. I deal with forecasting, meeting quotas and exploring market potential. I have to be responsible for millions of dollars of inventory every year, and how to get the most return on money invested in that inventory. I have 10 people working with me, so I am familiar with supervising personnel. I am also familiar with the working of machinery and equipment. I believe with my management experience I am qualified for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 4.

"With continuing decline in our oil, agriculture and cattle industries, it is time to economize. The word economize means to "avoid waste".

If elected I want to be the type of Commissioner that will help avoid that waste, so taxes will not have to be increased to compensate for the declining industries. I also want to be a commissioner that will do the job required of him throughout the four year term, not just during the election year and one that will keep in contact with the people, to listen to their ideas, advice and constructive criticism."

Murphree says, "I feel lucky to have lived in Yoakum County 24 years. I realize how blessed we are. I not only want what is best for Precinct 4, but for all of Yoakum County."

LARRY MURPHREE

Official Proclamation

By
Paul Cobb, Yoakum County Judge

WHEREAS:

Child abuse and neglect are tragic problems which may afflict as many as ten percent of all children in Texas.

Child abuse and neglect not only cause immediate human pain, but also cost society by preventing our children from adequately reaping the benefits of our education system, by contributing to problems of crime and incarceration, by causing victims to lack the self-esteem they need to successfully function as adults and by perpetuating themselves from one generation to another.

WHEREAS:

It is both morally and practically imperative that a humane society respond to the needs of youngsters and families before the devastating victimization of children occurs.

There are numerous organizations in Texas providing and promoting services to assure the fundamental rights of all children, which include the right to safe and nurturing family relationships.

Community commitment, volunteer efforts and the support of all citizens are crucial to assure the availability of such services to Texas children and parents.

Therefore, I, Yoakum County Judge, do hereby proclaim the month of April, 1986, as in Yoakum County, and urge citizens to report child abuse or neglect to the appropriate authorities.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 31st day of March, 1986.

SCS To Publish Information On Swampbuster & Sodbuster

The Sodbuster and Swampbuster provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill went into effect Dec. 23, 1985, when the President signed the Food Security Act of 1985.

"That date is very significant for any producer who plows out highly erodible land or drains wetlands after the law was signed," says Edwin Livengood, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Plains. "It could mean the producer would have to forfeit USDA program benefits in 1986 if the land is used to produce a crop in 1986.

"The Department had not had time to publish and implement rules and regulations since the legislation was signed," Livengood continued. "That is why we do not know the specific criteria that will be used to determine which lands will be covered."

Anyone who plans to plow out or drain land not now in cropland should realize that there is a possibility that such land will be subject to the Sodbuster and Swampbuster provisions.

"We have been advised by our national headquarters that the rules and regulations providing detailed information should be published within the next 90 days," Livengood concluded.

Water Conservation Services Are Available At No Cost

In these times of tight money and low markets, farmers are having to look at every option available to them. The utilization of irrigation opens doors if used efficiently and wisely says, Charles Oswalt, of the Soil Conservation Service.

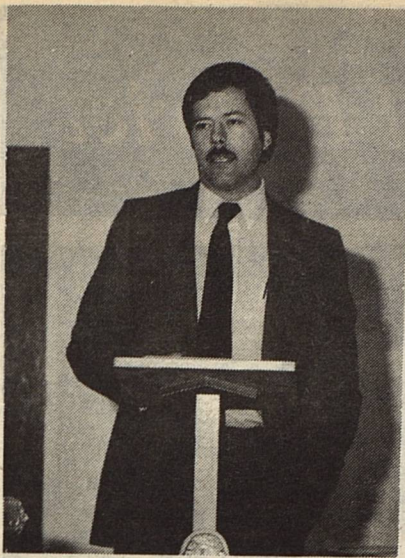

Water is a natural resource that cannot be replenished and must be utilized by the most efficient method. Waste and poor management costs others than just farmers. It costs everyone. For this reason, the use of irrigation water should be the most efficient and cost effective possible.

The Soil Conservation Service has several water conservation services available to farmers at no cost to them. Irrigation evaluations include the amount of water farmers are putting through their systems, pattern of the spray as it reaches the ground, bad nozzles, leaks in the pipe and the overall efficiency of the system. Pumping systems can be evaluated for efficiency. The SCS also designs irrigation systems, pipelines and located centers for circles.

More information about water conservation is available through the Soil Conservation Service at Plains.

From The Superintendent's Desk

DEAN ANDREWS

There were several important events on our calendar this week. On Monday, March 31st and Friday, April 4th, many of our students travelled to Shallowater Schools to participate in University Interscholastic League literary events. U.I.L. competition, as discussed in an earlier column, is a very important part of our school activities since these events allow our students to compete with students of other schools of the same size.

Students develop many useful skills in preparing and participating in U.I.L. events. Not only are study habits reinforced through the constant practice but also skill in the subject area is developed and fine tuned. In addition students develop confidence in test taking skills and situations. Many of our students thrive on competition but others need the encouragement and practice provided by participation in U.I.L. events. Our teachers spend many hours coaching students in these skills.

Events scheduled this week were: Debate, Informative Speaking, Persuasive Speaking, Poetry Interpretation, Prose Interpretation, Oral Reading, Modern Oratory, Impromptu Speaking, Editorial Writing, Feature Writing, Headline Writing, News Writing, Calculator Applications, Music Memory, Number Sense, Picture Memory, Ready Writing, Science, Short-hand, Spelling, Storytelling and Typewriting. The One-Act-Play contest was held in Seagraves and athletic events continue throughout the year.

Our school board members are also involved in learning activities this week as they travel to the National School Board Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada. School board members from around the nation will meet and exchange ideas and share proven practices. Our board members will participate in daily presentations and workshops dealing with many different phases of school operation. A sample of topics is as follows: How to Evaluate Your Own Board; How We Find And Help - Really Help - Poor Readers; How to Survey Your Community's Expectations of Its Schools; How to "Turn On" Kids Who Are "Turned Off" by School; and How to Set Goals for your School System. In all, one hundred and four workshops are offered.

One of our most important events this week is our Trustee Election on Saturday, April 5, 1986. Our school boards works hard for you, the public, as well as for our students and employees. Please support our school by casting your ballot on Saturday. You may vote in the old high school library between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Special Bilingual Program To Be Offered Kindergartners

Plains Independent School District will offer a special bilingual program this summer for children who do not speak and/or understand English as well as they should. It will be available for students who will be in kindergarten in the fall of 1986.

Parents are not required to send their children to this summer program but participation is encouraged.

Students will be given a language test before being accepted into the program. Parents of eligible students will be notified of the results before students are admitted to the program.

Beginning June 30, the school will continue eight weeks, through Aug. 22. Classes will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. There will be no charge. Certified teachers will be employed and regular attendance will be requested.

The school will not provide meals or snacks during the school and transportation will not be offered. Parents must provide transportation to and from school for their children.

Persons who feel their children would qualify for this program are asked to contact Dean Andrews, 456-7401, during regular school hours.

JACK SPEARS

Candidate for the PLAINS SCHOOL BOARD

When I announced six years ago that I was planning on running for the School Board, some people asked if I had an ax to grind. The answer was no, but I did have some basic beliefs about public schools. Some of these beliefs are as follows: 1. That I should pay my dues by serving the public school system that met my needs (I was born with a cleft-palate). The medical corrections did not provide me with speech that could be understood. The Special Education Program in our Public Schools of Texas provided me with a specialist in speech training. This special training helped me to articulate sound or words and thereby graduate from high school and go on to college. 2. That public schools should meet the educational needs of ALL students (pupils). 3. That an effort be made to determine why students are failing and to provide programs that will motivate them (pupils) to want to learn. 4. Provide potential drop-outs with a salable skill.

I have helped to implement these programs the last six years. I would like to serve one more term to help carry them further.

Engaged in farming, I own and operate Spears Drilling Co. My family and I are members of the First Baptist Church. A member of the local Masonic Lodge, I have served 10 years on the Farm Bureau Board, four of which I served as president.

I have three children attending Plains Public Schools and believe I can make a contribution by running for school board one more term and will appreciate support of all who believe that public education is for the benefit of ALL PUPILS.

EDITORIAL

"One Down - ? To Go"

Last week's issue of The Plains Pride marked the end of year one and volume one, having had 52 issues printed since the first week of April 1985.

We realize that our area - indeed, our nation - is in the midst of very difficult times. Our economy is very uncertain and things seem to be a little shaky for everyone. We understand this and realize that we're all in the same boat. We believe, however, that the faith that built this land will help bring us through rough times once more.

We pledge to continue our efforts in publishing your newspaper, though our future is sometimes questionable. We are often asked by so many of you - "How can we keep The Plains Pride going?"; "What can I do to help - I don't have anything to advertise?" and "What can we do?"...and we have in return suggested that Plains people support their local merchants and businesses as best they can and in circulating their money at home and not out-of-town.

Paying a little more to keep Plains thriving is worth it. The markup on most merchandise of small town shops is necessary because of the low inventory they carry compared to that of warehouse-like stores of larger cities. The store down the street comes in real handy when it's nearly supper time and you need a loaf of bread or a bottle of ketchup - or when you've got one more board to hammer up and you've run out of nails. That's when you're really grateful that there's a store in your neighborhood you can count on, instead of driving 15 miles. Some may say, "Well, I'll go out-of-town to shop before I make 'Mr. Jones' a rich man - and if this is continued - you may have no other choice, but to drive those extra miles for that loaf of bread, sack of nails or bottle of ketchup. Eventually, the time and travel expense would eat up your savings and you'd have to do without. People in small towns that spend 50 percent or more of their income out-of-town will eventually cut their own throat. The smaller communities spend their money in the larger towns which helps their economy and does nothing for their own. Everyone appreciates the convenience of having hometown shops - and to insure their continued existence a small community must learn to shop at home and progress at home when at all possible.

Think PLAINS - it is a community worth building on. People who are interested in making Plains a better place to live, can join the Chamber of Commerce, become an active member and put some of their own ideas to work that will enrich this community.

The Plains Pride, as most other businesses, will remain functioning as long as YOU, the people of Plains want it to. It has been a very interesting year for us, as we look back through Volume 1. We have met a lot of really good people we otherwise would not have known and we thank you all for your compliments and encouraging words - and hope that we will be able to continue this service for years to come.

Commissioner's Court

Yoakum County Commissioners Court convened Monday morning in regular session.

Commissioners Bob Thurston and Johnnie Fitzgerald gave reports on the West Texas Judges and Commissioners Conference held recently in Abilene.

Johnny Marsh of Brownfield made a presentation on pre-paid legal services program. No action was taken.

Judge Paul Cobb read a letter from Texas Department of Health regarding unauthorized dumping of solid waste in the county by A-I Container Service of Lubbock.

Adult Probation Officer Mary Guetersloh provided information concerning her department's budget cuts. She requested the county pay half of the Probation Department's secretary's salary. No action was taken on the request.

The court voted to advertise for bids for a rubber tire tractor for Precinct 3 with bids to be received April 22. Also approved was the decision to advertise for bids on a used bucket truck for Precinct 2, Plains Park and Denver City Park. Bids will be opened April 22.

Payment of the bill for installation of an autoclave at the hospital was approved with the auditor to make the decision from which fund the $1,673 bill will be paid.

The court voted to deny the requested raise and discontinue paying for services of the woman for the school crosswalk in Plains since the school agreed to assume full responsibility.

Crop Residue Can Be Profitable

The use of crop residue can be profitable if left on the ground to protect the land from soil erosion. It will also preserve the moisture that falls on the land says Charles Oswalt, Soil Conservation Technician, stationed at Plains.

A crop such as grain sorghum with a yield of 3000 pounds will produce about 4000 pounds of residue per acre. Using this residue instead of destroying it with tillage will save farmers money because of fewer trips across the field. For instance one trip across a field with an offset disk will reduce crop residues by 50 percent. Many of the benefits provided by residues are lost by this process.

Many farmers in Yoakum County are finding that the utilization of crop residue in their cropping system reduces wind erosion by raising the wind above the soil surface which reduces movement of soil particles. Particles in the air which are blown great distances are what hold fertility in the soil. What is left is sterile sand. Farming costs more because it takes more fertilizer and cultivation to make the soil perform comparably with soil that has been protected by residues.

The use of a crop residue is good management that will help everyone in Yoakum County, says Oswalt. For more information on residues and soil protection contact the Soil Conservation Service in Plains.
