Girls Win Nationals !!

By Little Dribbler Moms
The Plains Junior League are the National Champions in the Continental Division. It only took three games straight into the finals for Plains to cinch the title. This team of nine and ten year olds are the first girls team to bring back a National title.

In the first game played Thursday, June 8 at 9:45 p.m., Plains defeated Evadale 37-12. Evadale is about 20 miles north of Beaumont. Robin Squyres scored 20 points and pulled down 17 rebounds, Tessa St. Romain hit for six points and along with Kassie Lowe each had four steals. Kyley Bearden and Bridget Bernal scored five points apiece. Kyley pulled down six rebounds and had eight steals to her credit. Evadale scored eight points in the first half and only managed four free throws in the second half.

In the second game of the tournament, played Friday, June 9, at 6 p.m., Plains defeated Buffalo in a tense game 35-33. Buffalo is about 70 miles east of Waco. Plains arrived at the gym ready to play and found that the tournament was running at least an hour behind. When the game finally started, it turned out to be the closest one of the tournament. Tessa St. Romain led the Cowgirls with 13 points and had three steals. Robin Squyres hit for 10 points and pulled down 12 rebounds from an opponent a few inches taller. Kyley Bearden hit for seven points, had three steals and five rebounds. Bridget Bernal scored five.

Plains knew in their hearts that they would see Buffalo again. Buffalo moved through the losers bracket and in the Finals on Saturday, June 10 at 6 p.m. Plains met Buffalo again. But this time the girls knew what to expect and with some brain work on the Coaches part, they made some important adjustments. Plains defeated Buffalo this time 33 to 20. Robin Squyres made 17 points and pulled down 13 defensive rebounds, 17 total rebounds to lead her team. Kyley Bearden scored eight points, had seven steals and eight rebounds for the Cowgirls.

Tessa St. Romain scored six points with three steals. The Plains defense held Buffalo to only four baskets and two free throws in each half. The fourth quarter, which is the only quarter a team may full court press in Little Dribblers, was one of Plains' best. The Cowgirls seemed to be getting stronger instead of weaker, as got faster the girls from Buffalo became more frustrated.

Plains has made it to the National Tournament finals three times - the Junior and Major teams played in 1986 but were defeated by S.W. Louisiana. Then in 1987, the Junior League repeated to the finals and again were defeated by S.W. Louisiana. This is the first Championship for the girls since joining Little Dribblers Inc.

Fifty-eight teams competed in Brownfield last weekend in three age levels, and three divisions of sizes. The Junior League is the nine and ten year olds. The Major League is the 11 and 12 year olds and the Senior League, which Plains does not have, is 13 and 14 year olds. The towns or schools are divided into divisions according to population of school districts. The Continental Division is 2500 and less, the American Division is 10,000 and less, and the National Division is 20,000 and less or one high school district. Some of the teams that traveled the farthest were one Continental team from Longville, La. and one American division team came from New Baden, Ill. This year was a rare treat in having the National Final so close to home. Last year the tournament was near Tyler, Texas in Brownsboro. Next year it will probably be on the other side of the state again, as it usually rotates.

The Plains Little Dribblers would like to thank everyone who bought pizza kits from the players or came to cheer for the girls this year. You are very important to us. We would like to thank Paul Cobb for paying for the Best Wishes on the marquee.

The girls and parents would also like to try and express our heartfelt gratitude to Coach Tony Winn, who has been coaching since the boys started in February and donating more time than any of us could comprehend; to Rickey Bearden and Joey Lowe who assisted Tony and tried to relieve him a little. These three men have shared something very special with these 12 little girls and they will always remember this spring. All three of these Daddys are very special, giving individuals. Thanks a million Coaches, your help and influence has been priceless!!

Evaluating Hail-Damaged Cotton

Almost every year some producers must decide whether or not to replant hail-damaged cotton.

Deciding whether to replant or to keep the old stand of injured seedlings is not an easy decision, said Kirk Lewis, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Factors that must be considered are the degree of damage to plants, how much crop season is left, and the number of plants per foot of row.

If the damage situation is a case of extremes - slightly injured plants with a good chance of recovery or heavily damaged plants with little or no hope of recovery - then the decision is relatively easy, Lewis said. But what about injured stands in the so-called "gray area", when seedlings have sustained a moderate degree of damage?

Seedling recovery depends on the degree of undamaged bud tissue that remains either in the terminal and/or axil of the leaf, said Lewis. Recovery is more certain and more rapid if some leaves or leaf fragments remain. However, when seedlings are cut off low by hail - below the seed (cotyledonary) leaves - recovery is impossible.

Memorial Books Given To Library

"Code of Ordinances" has been given to the Yoakum County Library by the City of Plains. The book has been placed in memory of Hugh Abercrombie, Tom Warren, I.L. Smith and Glenn Morehouse, who served the City and who all died within a month's time.

Present city administration members are T.J. Miller, mayor; W.L. (Leroy) McCravey, Jim Warren, Kevin Guetersloh, Hershel Smith and Barry Green, aldermen. City Administrator is Ruth Murphree, City Clerk is Gracie Lazos; and Supervisor is Mack Reeder.

"Cowboy Poetry" has also been placed in the library by Arvel and Marie Snodgrass, in memory of A.O. Pippin.

"Memorial books are a lovely way to remember your friends and the library appreciates the gifts," said a library spokesman.

A key factor that producers must consider in the replanting decision is how much season is left to produce the crop, Lewis said. The decision to replant is the likely choice when hail damage occurs early in the season near the optimum planting date. If hail damages the crop later in the season, producers need to take a hard look at the injured stand before replanting. A good stand of late cotton doesn't always produce a profitable crop come harvest time.

Another important factor in deciding how to deal with hail-damaged cotton is the minimum number of seedlings required to produce a crop, said Lewis. For 38 to 40-inch rows, an average of two healthy plants per foot and no long skips is still adequate. For 30-inch rows, an average of one-and-a-half plants per foot is sufficient.

It is important to give injured seedlings sufficient time to recover before making a snap decision to replant, Lewis said. Damaged plants will start to show signs of recovery within 24 to 48 hours after a hailstorm if they have the ability to do so.

'Home of the Cowboys & Cowgirls'

From The Superintendent's Desk

Dean Andrews

The 71st Texas Legislature adjourned on May 29, 1989. During this session they passed key legislature that will impact our school. House Bill 2566 - Career Ladder will affect all our teachers. I will try to outline the major parts of the bill.

Appraisal Criteria:

The bill sets additional appraisal criteria that the State Board of Education would adopt for evaluating teachers who apply for placement on career ladder levels three and four. Placement on the career ladder is based on current year evaluations. The bill also requires that the uniform training program for appraisers include training in the recognition of a variety of effective teaching methods and innovative teaching strategies.

School districts that adopt stricter performance criteria than outlined by the S.B.O.E. would have to do so by September of the school year for which the criteria would be used. A district could reduce or revoke the criteria if it is determined that funds are available to place more teachers on the career ladder.

Career Ladder Level Criteria:

The bill repeals the law outlining the different classes of teaching certificates (9-01-89) and the provision that makes the first year of teaching probationary (9-01-92). The performance evaluation category of "satisfactory" is changed to "meets expectations". In the event that a level one teacher fails to perform at a level that meets expectations, the teacher shall be retained at the current salary level and the district shall be required to prescribe specific remediation that the teacher must satisfactorily complete during the following school year. A district may not renew the contract of a teacher who fails to achieve at least performance that meets expectations during either of the next two years.

To enter level two a teacher would have to be rated as "exceeding expectations" during the current year and at least "meets expectations" during the other evaluation years.

The provision for entering level three is changed from "exceeding expectations" three of the previous four years and "satisfactory" during the other year to "clearly outstanding" during the current year and one of the preceding two years and at least "exceeding expectations" during the other year. Teachers have to apply in writing to be considered for placement on level three. A teacher would be reassigned downward from level three to level two if the teacher's performance at level three was not rated at least "exceeding expectations". The teacher could also be reassigned if the teacher taught less than 60 percent of the time or did not perform at least one master teacher duty every three years as directed by the school district.

Other Provisions:

The bill requires teachers to complete all necessary higher education course work or advance academic training prior to September 1 of the school year in which they wished to be considered for advancement to a particular career ladder level. Teachers who have not been employed in teaching for two years or less could be assigned to the same career ladder level they were on before they left teaching. Teachers who have not been employed in teaching for more than two years could be assigned to one level below the career ladder level they were on prior to leaving teaching. A teacher re-entering the career ladder would have to meet the same requirements as any other teacher for advancement on the career ladder.

The bill requires that teachers receive the career ladder supplement to which they are entitled no later than August 31 following the school year in which they earned the supplement. The changes to the requirements for entry to a career ladder level outlined in the bill would be effective for all teachers beginning with the 1989-90 school year.

'Conservation Compliance' Deadline Looming Ahead

Farmers who want to retain eligibility for USDA program benefits, including commodity price supports, loans and crop insurance, need to be aware of the "Conservation Compliance" provisions of the 1985 Food Security Act.

This relatively new provision requires farmers who have "highly erodible cropland" to have a conservation plan approved and to begin actively implementing that plan by January 1, 1990, said Lewis, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The plan must be fully implemented by Jan. 1, 1995. Each farmer should determine whether or not these provisions apply to his land. These provisions are equally important to both the landowner and tenant, Lewis said.

In some counties, limited cost-share funds will be available to assist farmers in implementing their plans. Those funds available through the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), the Great Plains Conservation Program (GPAC), and other programs are limited and will be distributed in the usual manner. Therefore, individuals who have their plans in place and make appropriate application will be in a much better position to receive those funds than those who lag behind, Lewis said.

Farmers who have questions about Conservation Compliance or whether or not their land meets the highly erodible lands definition should check in county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the Soil Conservation Service.

Developing the conservation plan is a relatively simple process, Lewis said. Once the soil type and land condition are known, SCS Conservationists will provide farmers with several options for "significantly reducing" erosion. In many cases, farmers are already meeting required erosion reductions. In those cases, the plan will consist of documentation of what farmers are already doing.

If further reductions in erosion are needed, a farmer can select from various alternatives to complete the conservation plan, said Lewis. The farmer has the option to develop a plan covering only the highly erodible fields or to prepare a plan for the entire farm. SCS Conservationists make a record of the decisions, and the local Soil and Water Conservation District is then asked to approve the plan. Once a plan is approved, it can be revised as needed.

Farmers are encouraged to act as soon as possible to complete this necessary process to assure continuing compliance and eligibility for USDA programs, Lewis concluded.

'Sodbuster' Program Outlined

Farmers who are planning to break out new land for planting crops need to be aware of the "Sodbuster" program dealing with highly erodible land.

If the land to be broken out is highly erodible land as defined and shown on maps by the Soil Conservation Service, then a farmer needs to have a conservation plan in place before taking any action, said Kirk Lewis, county agent. Failure to do so will result in the farmer losing his eligibility for virtually all USDA programs on all land he operates.

Any farmer who anticipates dozing out brush and trees or plowing out grass for the purpose of developing croplands should check with the Soil Conservation Service to determine if this provision applies to his land. If it does, he should take appropriate steps to assure continued eligibility for USDA programs, Lewis said.
