Naval Reserve Offers Cruises To Young Men

BROWNWOOD — Young men with no particular vacation plans this summer might be interested in the U. S. Naval Reserve with its active duty for training program, according to a suggestion by Lieut. James A. Hallum, Jr., Commanding Officer of Electronics Division 8-21 in Brownwood. The Naval Reservist is eligible for two weeks on active duty each fiscal year, and since the military year begins each year on July 1st it is possible for the reservist to spend four weeks of the coming summer on duty with the regular Navy. Mr. Hallum pointed out that new recruits would probably spend their first two-week period at San Diego, Calif., at the Naval Training Center. The later two-week tour could be at any one of numerous shore bases or aboard ships for trips to Caribbean ports or Atlantic or Pacific points. The Naval Reservist attached to the Brownwood facility receives a day's pay for each Monday.

 day night drill attended, Mr. Hallum pointed out. When he goes on active duty for two weeks, he receives the same pay and travel allowance that regulars get. In addition, Mr. Hallum said, the Reservist is fulfilling his military obligation.

The Navy is interested in young men between 17 and 18½ years of age who are at least juniors in high school. Mr. Hallum said these men could continue in their studies while receiving the military training, and when the time comes for them to go on active duty they will benefit from the advancements they might have made in pay grade rating.

Mr. Hallum said the Naval Reserve office is open every week day and Monday night at the Navy building on Howard Payne College campus. He invited young men as well as military service veterans to call at the office to investigate the opportunities offered by the Naval Reserve program.
