Book review given Monday for Tsa Mo Ga Study Club

Connie McWhirter reviewed Barbara Johnson's book, "Stick a Geranium in Your Hat and Be Happy!" for members of Tsa Mo Ga Study Club Monday.

"Pain is inevitable," writes the author, "but misery is optional. So, stick a geranium in your hat and be happy!"

A Christian writer, Ms. Johnson states that she has an endless hope, not a hopeless end. Her attitude for life is that one can look at situations in a positive manner or negative manner and that she chooses the positive.

Ms. Johnson lost her oldest son in Vietnam and another son was killed by a drunk driver. Another son left home and was not heard from for seven years because of his mother's non-acceptance of his alternate lifestyle. Her husband was injured in an accident and his family was told he would be a vegetable. Ms. Johnson refused to believe this and reports that God has healed him.

Announcement was made that the club will sponsor Heather Bowlin to Girls State and David Bitolas to Boys State.

Members were reminded to pay their dues and fines by the May 10 meeting which is the last meeting of the year. Program theme will be "Use the Best of the Past to Make the Most of the Future."

Hostesses were Edna Chambliss and Mary Lee Swann. Seventeen members were present.

BE CAREFUL WITH THE TREES, PLEASE!

Are you planning to clear land or get rid of dead trees?

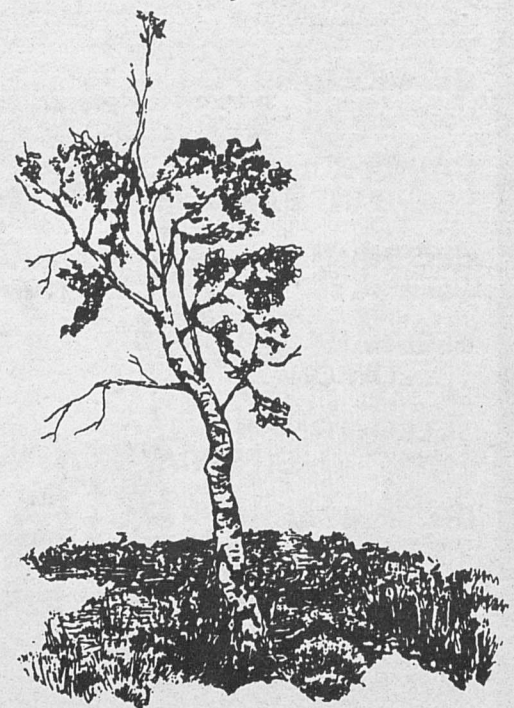

Cutting down trees is serious business, and observing a few rules will help you accomplish your task safely.

- Always look overhead and to all sides surrounding your cutting site. Make sure the tree will not come into contact with any power lines when it falls.
- If a tree does fall into a power line, or you come across a tree that has already fallen, do not — under any circumstance — attempt to remove it.
- Stay clear of the tree and the line, and call us soon as possible. We'll send a crew right away to take care of the problem.

Contact us for more advice before you begin your tree-trimming. We'll be happy to share more safety measures with you.

D.C. Rotary Club & Others plant 10,000 trees for County

Denver City Rotary Club began a new project last August to plant 10,000 trees in Yoakum County or more than one per resident. Chairman of the project is Jim Millsap of Denver City. County Commissioner John Avara participated in the promotion of the project.

Recognizing the need for trees at the new nine holes of the county golf course, Avara arranged for land at the park for an initial planting place. Yoakum County Concrete mixed sand and peat moss for potting soil and trees were obtained through the National Tree Trust in Washington, D.C.

Some 9,700 trees were potted and placed on the ground and another 300, too large for pots, were placed in the ground. Volunteers, young and old, from throughout the county, helped with the project. Trees planted were locust, green ash, bald cypress, Arizona cypress and Samand oak.

Trees will be given away in September to anyone who will provide care. The Rotary-County tree farm can be seen at the county park, southwest of the party house.

McWilliams infant to be complimented

Courtnee Marie McWilliams, infant daughter of Carmeleta and Marc Williams, will be complimented with a lullaby shower Friday, May 7 from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. in Heritage Room of Yoakum County Library.

Friends and relatives are invited. Gift selections may be found at Jerri's Boutique and Renaissance Flowers and Gifts.

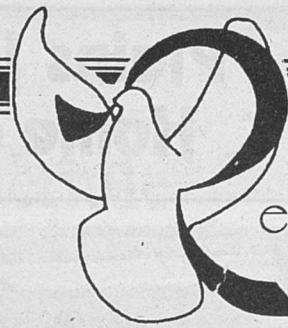

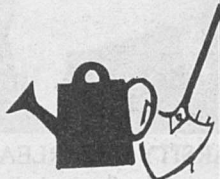

RUDY CALSONCIN feted with farewell luncheon Thursday by fellow employees at Plains ISD. He was presented with a money tree.

ROBOT McGRUFF VISITS ELEMENTARY - Robot McGruff, shown with Cpl. Lee Guerra of Lubbock and State Trooper Mike McClure of Plains, shared safety tips on swimming, biking and strangers for the Plains Elementary students last week.

Time to wage war on pine tip moth

The pine tip moth can be a serious pest of young pine trees planted by homeowners on the South Plains. And right now is one of the few times homeowners can effectively fight back, says Terry Millican, County Extension Agent for agriculture.

The larvae of this moth bore into the growing tips of pine trees, causing them to turn brown. Severely infested trees develop a bushy appearance over time.

The tip moth passes the winter as a pupa within the injured terminals and twigs of the tree. Moths emerge in March and April and begin the first of several generations which will occur during the summer.

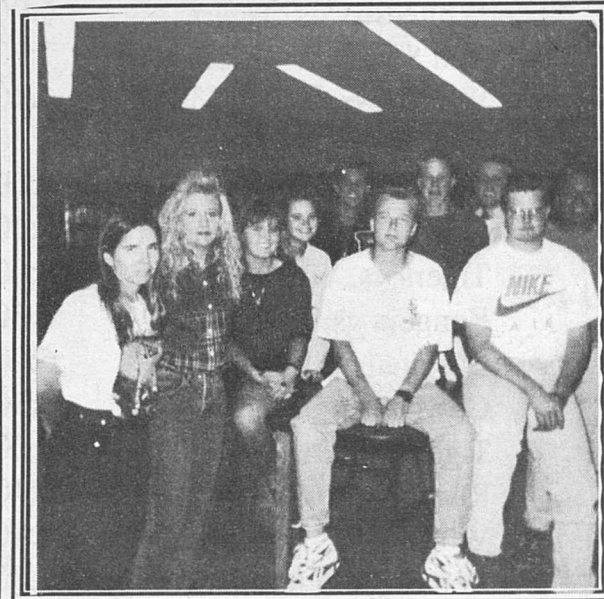

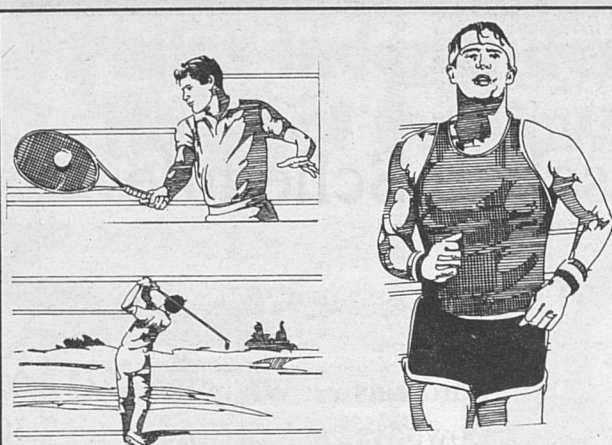

Female moths lay eggs on the needles and stems. After hatching, the young larvae bore into the tip and begin feeding. After several weeks of feeding and constructing a tunnel in the tip of the stem, the larvae pupate. The adult moths then emerge from their pupal cases, and a new cycle or generation begins.

Properly timed application of an insecticide is the best way to reduce pine tip moth populations and damage, the Extension agent said. "Since this pest spends most of its life cycle protected inside the pine tip, foliar sprays are most effective when the young larvae are just hatching from the egg," he said.

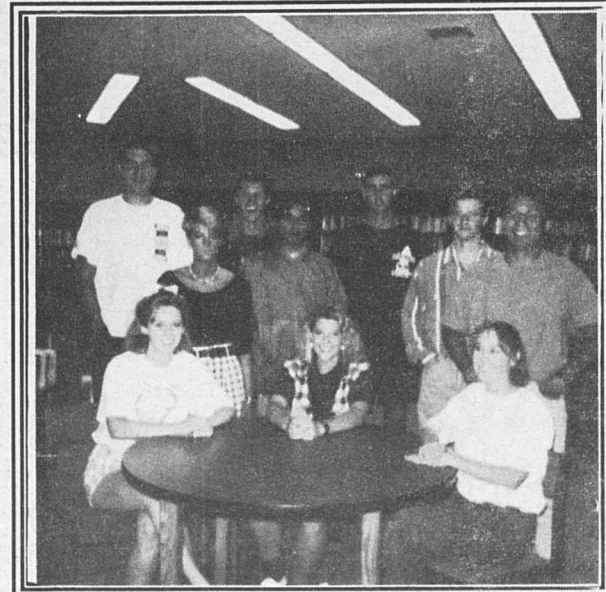

To properly time these applications, pheromone traps are used to detect the presence of adult moths and determine when eggs are being laid by the first cycle of moths. Traps being monitored on the South Plains this spring indicate that now is the time to spray trees for this pest.

Foliar-applied insecticides recommended for homeowners include Orthene, Dursban and Dimethoate. Adding a small amount of liquid soap or surfactant to the spray solution will improve control because it helps the insecticide adhere to the treated trees, the Extension Service agent said.

"Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides," he stressed.
