BUSINESS CLOSES AND CITIZENS JOIN TO MAKE "LAS VEGAS DAY" A BIG OCCASION

With the starting of the monster ed that the marshal and his assistants trades parade from the old circus had made their plans carefully and grounds at the north end of Sixth well. There were no unnecessary and stret, the First Annual Reunion of tedious delays to get the people out the Cowboys of New Mexico blossomed of patience with the program. into life this morning. After The day dawned a trifle cloudy and months of preparation and hard work looked a little threatening for a few on the part of the committees, the hours. Toward the middle of the biggest event that has ever taken place morning, however, the weather clear- in New Mexico was inaugurated to- ed, and this afternoon gave prospect day.

Crowds thronging the streets, artistic decorations on a large majority of business houses and dwellings throughout the city, more than 100 entries, including some of the best are without equals in New Mexico, and the assurance that every possible arrangement for the comfort and convenience of the spectators has been made, bring home to the people the realization that the reunion is one of the biggest things in its line in the country. The three days' "blowout" started today in the right style, there being something doing every minute to keep up the interest of the crowd. Today was chock-full of excitement, and the programs arranged for Friday and Saturday make it almost a necessity for a person to "be twins" in order to take in every feature.

Las Vegas Day

Today was Las Vegas Day of the reunion. Commencing at a little after 10 o'clock this morning with the parade, the townsfolk demonstrated a great amount of interest in the program. Of course, the visitors were on deck to take in all the "doings," but the most eagerness to see all that there was to see was displayed by the Las Vegans. The parade was a big success on account of the desire displayed by the people here to get into the line. Those who did not participate came out to watch the procession as it passed by.

At a little after noon today the crowds commenced flocking to Gallina spark, the grandstands filling rapidly. When the first event commenced at a little after 1:40 o'clock this afternoon, every available seat in the park was taken, and people were standing. The first events went off with a dash and vim that was pleasing to the spectators and contestants alike, and which demonstrated that the marshal and his assistants looked a little threatening for a few hours. Toward the middle of the morning, however, the weather cleared, and this afternoon gave prospect of a fine day. The day was a trifle cooler than yesterday, making it more comfortable for the crowds.

Track in Good Shape

The track at the park was in the best possible condition. It has been carefully tended during the last week, and showed the results of the work put on it. The track was fairly fast today. The stables have been arranged for the convenience of the entrants. The grandstands were in good shape, having been repaired during the last few days.

After watching the parade this forenoon and taking in the carnivals that are playing on the East and West sides, the crowds repaired to the grounds. The transportation service of the Santa Fe railroad to the park was excellent. The first train ran out at 11:30 o'clock this morning, carrying only a sprinkling of entrants, the remainder staying in town to watch the events here. The next train at 12:30 o'clock proved more popular, carrying a large crowd who wished to get to the park in time to see everything that was seeable. The third train at 1:30 o'clock, also was crowded with spectators. A number of late arrivals traveled to the park on the last train out at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Stores are Closed

Almost without exception the stores throughout the city closed at noon today in order to give their employes an opportunity to get to the park. The stores will close at noon tomorrow at the same hour, and in addition the banks will close at noon.

The merchants, as well as owners of private dwellings, have shown the right spirit in the manner in which they have decorated their places of business and their homes. Everywhere one turns he is greeted with red, white and blue bunting and flags, and purple and gold, the official colors of the reunion. Expressions of welcome, as well as some unique and clever decoration schemes, put the city in gala attire.

A meeting of all the entrants was held last night at the Commercial club and each man was asked to state what events he wished to enter. The men seemed enthusiastic over every event, a large number signifying their desire to enter the various contests. After all the entries were all in, each man was given the number that he will wear during the reunion and which will serve to identify him to the judges in the various events.

General Chairman Phil H. LeNoir announced that a public spirited citizen, who wished to keep his name a secret, had donated the sum of $30 to the executive committee with the request that the members choose one race each day and add $10 to the prize money. After this announcement, the cowpunchers immediately gave long yells for John W. Harris, sensing that he was the donor.

Afflicted with Stomach Trouble

"I was a victim of stomach trouble for over two years, and although I doctored continually during this time and spent many dollars for medicine and doctors' bills, nothing did me any good until I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. Charles E. Hann, Shortsville, N. Y. "These tablets helped me at once, they rid me of that dull, heavy feeling after eating, strengthened my digestion, and cured me of constipation." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

OLDEST BALL IS TREASURED BY EMPORIAN

O. M. WILHITE OWNS SPHERE
THAT FIGURED IN A GAME
IN 1857

New York, June 26.—Veteran baseball fans, whose memories carry them back to the early days of the national game, are discussing the recent report from Pittsburgh that the oldest baseball in existence had been insured for $1,000 against loss by fire or burglary. This sphere, which is covered by one piece of horsehide sewed in the center, is said to be 53 years old, having made its initial appearance in a game played between the Eclipse club of Kingston, N. Y., and the Hudson team of Newburgh, N. Y., on June 20, 1862, which was won by Kingston players, 49 to 18.

While this ball is undoubtedly one of the old time spheres, it is not the oldest by some years if the records regarding this department of baseball can be relied upon. A baseball which antedates the Pittsburg one by five years is, or was, until recently, in the possession of O. M. Wilhite of Emporia, Kansas. This sphere was used in what is claimed to be the first championship game ever played in this country. It figured in the contest between the Tri-Mountain club of Boston and the Portland, Maine, team in a game played September 9, 1857.

Like the Pittsburg ball, it has a one-piece cover and measures 10 inches in circumference. The contest in which this ball, now preserved by a coating of gold leaf and suitably inscribed, was used, was played on Boston Commons and was won by Portland 47 to 42. The match was memorable in other respects since it was the first played under the nine-inning rule and the first in which the pitcher was permitted to pitch instead of being forced to use the toss or underhand throw.

Will Control Auto Races.

The Speedway Association of America, recently formed to control auto racing on the speedways of seven cities throughout the country, marks a new era in automobile racing. The association, which is broadly defined as a gentleman's agreement among the promoters to avoid conflict of dates, excess bidding for entries and other features where co-operation is more effective than strife, includes speedways at Indianapolis, Chicago, New York, Omaha, Sioux City, Minneapolis and Tacoma, with Detroit as a possible member of the near future.

The organization as composed at present represents seven speedways with a total seating capacity of close to 400,000 and 15 miles of track. More than one-fourth of a million dollars is to be offered in purses during the year and the list of events arranged upon a non-conflicting basis so far as possible. Indianapolis and Minneapolis have the largest courses, both being two and a half miles to the lap. The other cities in the association have two-mile tracks. Three tracks are wood, three of asphalt and one brick. More than ten million dollars' worth of property and buildings are represented in the organization.

Early Football Practice.

Early calls for practice are to be the rule in eastern university football circles this autumn. Both Harvard and Pennsylvania will assemble a large portion of their squads some days before the opening of the universities in order that the players may be coached in the fundamentals of the game before the serious work of the season begins. The Quakers will report at Mt. Gretna, Pa., on August 28, for two weeks' work before the training at Franklin Field, and Harvard candidates will begin to get acquainted with the pigskin on September 13, two weeks before the Cambridge university opens its scholastic doors for another year.

All-Eastern Tennis.

The all-eastern tennis team consisting of Williams, Church, Washburn and Mathey, selected to represent the east in matches against the Pacific coast stars, makes its first official appearance at Pittsburg today in the clay court championships. The form shown by this quartet will be watched closely, since it is expected to give a line on the probable outcome of the West vs. East matches to be played at San Francisco about the middle of July. The personnel of the western team has not been made public as yet but it is known that the Pacific coast has a number of racquet stars to select from, including McLoughlin, Bundy, Murray, Johnston, Fottrell, Griffin and Strachan. The first five of these are ranked in the leading 10 players of the United States, singles and doubles considered, and it will be no easy task to defeat the western team, especially since the play will be, in all probability, on asphalt courts.

Last season Williams defeated Johnson twice, winning five out of seven sets, only one of which went to duce. Murray, Fottrell and McLoughlin all fell before Williams, while his only defeat administered by an American was that by McLoughlin at Longwood. Washburn won from Fottrell and Johnston but lost to Murray. Church defeated Murray but also lost to the same player as well as to Griffin. Mathey, who is classed in the third division, 21-30 players, is primarily a doubles star, but McLoughlin and Bundy made short work of Mathey and his partner, Church, in the challenge round at Newport last August. The preponderance of past performances points to victory for the west in the play at the Golden Gate next month.

Fighting in London

That the war has not deprived English sporting events of interest is indicated by the controversy regarding the Bombardier Wells-Sergeant Dick Smith heavyweight battle, recently fought in London. Public points have devoted considerable space to the question as to whether Wells was not knocked out by Smith previously to the round in which Wells was awarded the fight.

In the eighth round Smith sent the Bombardier to the floor with a right to the body and the referee who was outside the ropes, according to the English custom, had to enter the ring before beginning his count. Wells arose at nine and in the next round knocked out his opponent. As a result this bout is likely that the English system of counting will be changed.

The boxing expert of the Evening News attacks the whole system of timing at the British ringside. The method he characterizes as "extremely unsatisfactory and unreliable from the point of view of every one concerned." He continues:

"Boxing is the one grand old English sport that ought not to be endangered by pandering to the interests of the contending parties. Every boxer ought to know what when he is knocked off his feet he must get on to them within ten seconds, or lose. The limit of the ten seconds ought to be marked in only one way, and that is by the gong."

Interesting Sporting Event

A number of sporting events of more than ordinary interest are scheduled for various sections of the country today. The Harvard stadium at Cambridge will be the scene of the Amateur Athletic union eastern try-out games for the purpose of selecting a team to compete in the national championship, at San Francisco on August 6-7. At Chicago the new two-mile speedway will be formally opened with a 500-mile automobile race in which the leading drivers of the country will compete while tennis enthusiasts will turn toward Pittsburg, where the national clay court championship tournament begins.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game in New York; the Pacific northwest amateur golf tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the international polo trophy in 1912, are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Casey of Providence, Gilhooley of Buffalo and Shearn of Providence are running one-two-three for International league batting honors. Swell chance all these "furrin" pastimers have of driving the sons of Erin out of the ball yard.

SUMMER PRUNING

The importance of summer pruning young apple trees is little understood by many fruit growers. The habit has become so firmly fixed that all pruning is invariably done during the late winter or early spring months.

While winter pruning will always be most important, because less injury is done to the trees at this season, especially to old bearing trees, yet for the best success with young trees, summer pruning should be as regularly performed as winter pruning. After the shape of the tree has been obtained through winter pruning, the filling out of the branches and the trunk should be accomplished by summer pruning. This is especially true during the fourth and fifth years after planting. As a rule, most fruit growers prune their young trees too heavily during these years. Growth becomes too excessive, especially in length, and the branches do not become properly braced at the crotches of the tree. If summer pruning is done between the middle and the latter part of June, when the growth in length has reached from 12 to 15 inches, by cutting off the terminal buds, it will invariably check the growth in length and increase the thickness of the trunk and branches. Further, it tends to produce fruit spurs by checking the flow of the sap.

Summer pruning may also be practiced on older or bearing trees in connection with the thinning of the fruit. In this case, there is very little occasion for cutting and pinching off the terminal shoots, as older trees make little or no wood growth, and cutting out a number of fruit spurs will give a larger amount of food supply for the remaining ones and the size of the fruit borne is greatly increased.

In Colorado, especially, we are troubled with overbearing, that is, most of our trees have too many fruit spurs, and set too many fruits, making it difficult to obtain the proper size. While thinning the apples by removing them after the fruit is set is a remedy against over-bearing, yet this is less efficient than the actual removal of a certain number of fruit spurs. In cutting out the fruit spurs, they should be cut off close to the branches, and in such manner as to leave the remaining spurs well distributed on the branches.

The time for this kind of thinning, or summer pruning is after the apples are well formed and the June drop is past. The operator can then gauge the number to be removed or left, without any difficulty.

A pair of light pruning-shears is the best tool for this purpose.—E. P. Sandsten, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.

DAUGHTER OF BANKER A BRIDE

New York, June 26.—A special train convened the guests from this city to Westbury L. I., today, for the wedding of Miss Kathryn N. Steele, daughter of Charles Steele, member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan and Company, and F. Skiddy Von Stade. Among the bride's attendants was her sister, Mrs. Devereux Milburn, wife of the well known society leader and polo player. The wedding ceremony took place in the Church of the Advent at Westbury and was followed by a reception and breakfast at Sunridge Hall, the country home of the bride's parents.

MISS MARY WANAMAKER A BRIDE

Philadelphia, Pa., June 28.—St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church was the scene of a large and fashionable wedding today, when Miss Mary Louise Wanamaker, daughter of Rodman Wanamaker, became the bride of Mr. Gurnee Murn of Washington, D. C. The Rev. Elliott White, rector of the church, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. John W. Williams of Chelsea, N. J. Following the church ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wanamaker, at Lindenhurst.

We read so many flattering reports of the greatness of Ouimet, Evans, Hagen and other young golfers that we entirely overlooked the old war horse, Jerry Travers. But then all that Travers ever has done was to win four national amateur and five metropolitan championships and now

Current Magazines

Ostrich the Goat of the Bird World

The ostrich is a bird of so much character, architectural and otherwise, that it has become one of the commonest creatures to point a moral and adorn a tale. He is the goat of the bird world, in fact. Except that he is no "butter," the ostrich and the goat have the same cosmopolitan appetites. They will eat anything. My youngster said to me the other day, "Dad, would an ostrich eat a lit lamp?" Not being quite certain on the point, I said I supposed he would. "Then, dad," continued my intelligent offspring, "would that be a light diet?"—A. Z. B. Baker—"B. B." the well known jungle humorist, in The Strand Magazine.

A Fight for Life in Mid-Air

(Since the advent of the military aeroplane there have been many thrilling flights high above the earth, but peaceful industry sometimes affords instances of struggles no less heroic. Here is the story of a thrilling rescue that took place last December on a great chimney shaft high above the electric power works of the Leeds Corporation.)

A cry—a groan—a crash!

The workmen at the foot of the great chimney at the Whitehall road electric power works, Leeds, sprang to one side and looked hastily skyward as a big hammer came hurtling through the open iron gridered roof of the old boiler house into the debris of broken metal work and masonry that lay around the foot of the chimney.

Two hundred feet above the ground, against the blue sky of a clear but bitterly cold December day, soared the great square column of the chimney that was shortly to be demolished. Its massive head, overhanging the face of the chimney itself by several feet, was crowned with a cornice of huge stones, each one of which weighed over a ton. Three men were working high up above, on the face of the chimney, and as the hammer came crashing to the ground the workers at the base instinctively looked aloft, for the cry they heard was a sudden yell of warning, while the groan that followed sounded like the last inarticulate exclamation from the throat of a man who had received a death blow that had knocked the breath from his body. The hammer, crashing to the ground an instant later, told its own terrible story. There was trouble up aloft. A ladder had just been fixed and the men were easing off the descending end of the rope when suddenly the line caught the heavy hammer in Rafter's belt and pulled it out. Rafter made a clutch for the hammer, and nearly jerked himself off the ladder in doing so, but too late. He cried out to warn the man below, but the hammer fell almost as fast as the sound traveled. Instinctively Mayall ducked his head and twisted one leg around a rung of the ladder; then, with a sickening thud the hammer struck him a terrible blow on the back of the head, crushing in the back of his skull, and with an awful groan he collapsed.

As the men in the works below and the passersby in the street looked up they were horrified to see Mayall suddenly throw up his arm and fall backward. There he hung in mid air, one leg twisted round a rail ladder, his body upside down, and blood streaming from his head. Death seemed inevitable, for that twisted leg could not hold the weight of his body very long, and if he slipped the fall of a hundred feet meant certain death; while, even if his leg held out, he must speedily bleed to death from the ghastly wound in his head. Luckily the instinctive twisting of the leg round the ladder gave Mayall his one hope of rescue, for the work of fixing the ladders had been well done, and that particular ladder held firm even under the sudden wrench when the unconscious man fell outward and hung head downward in the air.

An instant later the onlookers were thrilled to witness the start of one of the bravest deeds in the annals of the steeplejack's profession.

A single glance below was enough to show Rafter what had happened; a single glance aloft told "Uncle Sam" the same tale. Four steps at a time, sometimes slipping by his hands and sometimes seeming almost to drop a few feet down the sheer face of the chimney, Rafter rushed down to where his unconscious comrade hung, while at the same time "Uncle Sam" hurried up toward him from below.

Seizing hold of the unconscious Mayall with one hand, Rafter held on to prevent him slipping until "Uncle Sam" had climbed up from below. When the unconscious man was reached, however, the real difficulty only began. How was he to be lifted up right and how was his leg to be untwisted from the ladder, a hundred feet in the air, by men who must themselves cling on somewhere to the slender rungs? Here was the problem that must be solved, and solved quickly, for Mayall was rapidly bleeding to death. Moreover, under the strain of his weight his leg was untwisting, and at any moment he might slip and crash to the bottom of the shaft, taking his companions with him. The difficulty was great and urgent.

Clinging to the ladder with both hands "Uncle Sam" got his head under the shoulders of the unconscious man and slowly pressed him upward, while Rafter, clinging to the ladder with one hand, strained every muscle to lift.

At length the desperate efforts of the two men began to tell, and slowly Mayall's inert body was raised, little by little, until at last it swung clear of the ladder and hung, a hundred feet in the air, suspended merely by the rope round one man's neck and resting on the neck and head of another man. It was a situation full of peril.—From the Wide World Magazine.

ROAD GOSSIP

Santa Fe, June 28.—State Engineer James T. French and party returned last night from the good roads convention at Springerville, Ariz. With detours the party covered 1,100 miles and met no mishaps. In fact, not a single puncture was recorded.

The state highway commission today received from the printers a deluxe edition of "Through New Mexico on the Camino Real," a handsome volume of half tone pictures printed in dark sepia on tinted paper. The pictures show the various forms of road construction in New Mexico and give glimpses of El Camino Real that must be alluring to the automobilist and tourist. Eight logs of the road from Raton to El Paso are inserted and form a portion of the first official log book of the state. A road map of the state is also given. The book is handsomely bound between dark brown covers tied with silk cord and makes a beautiful presentation volume as well as a most valuable piece of publicity for the state.

GALLINAS MINES PRODUCING

Santa Fe, June 28.—The first car of ore from the Red Cloud group in the Gallinas mountains, Lincoln county, was shipped yesterday by the lessees, L. E. Schaeffer, R. E. Hoffman and S. Adams. Lead is the principal value although the ore also carries a fair per cent of copper. The values aggregate $30 per ton. Captain D. W. Roberts shipped from his Mocking Bird group a car of fine grade copper lead ore, to the El Paso smelter. There were 20 tons in the shipment and upon the returns will depend further operations.

SANDOVAL REARRESTED

Santa Fe, June 28.—Daniel Sandoval, accused of horse stealing and who broke out of the Lincoln county jail, has been placed behind the bars again, being returned to the custody of the jailer by Sheriff Chavez. Sandoval is an old hand in breaking out of jail to visit his old haunts in the Manzano mountains but is regularly recaptured without much difficulty.

NEW TRUST COMPANY

Santa Fe, June 28.—The Bankers' and Stockmen's Trust company is a new bank that is being organized at Deming by M. R. Bruckman and W. E. Gell of Dallas, Texas. About $400,000 of the proposed $1,000,000 capitalization has been subscribed. The company plans the erection of a modern office building according to promises made in Deming. The stock subscriptions are payable on December 1.

STORM IN COLFAX

Santa Fe, June 28.—A disastrous hail storm is reported from the Miami valley in Colfax county. Wheat, rye, barley, alfalfa and oat fields were leveled to the ground, and corn was badly damaged. Many of the gardens were completely ruined. Rev. M. Smith had 20 acres of barley cut down completely which he had expected to begin cutting the day after the storm. Fruit trees were completely stripped. The hail followed a heavy rain and came across the Gonzalitos mesa, switching around several times. The stones averaged the size of marbles.

GENERAL WOOD THE SPEAKER

Northfield, Vt., June 24.—Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, U. S. A. was the principal speaker today at the graduation exercises of Norwich University.

WOMEN IN A RIOT

Paris, June 30.—An incipient riot of housewives and street vendors at the Central markets recently has done more than the polemics of the press and menace of politicians to advance the campaign against high meat prices. What angered the women was the seizure and destruction by sanitary inspectors of several tons of meat and poultry that had spoiled in storage while if it had been sold the same day as received as required by the rules, it would have forced prices down to a reasonable figure. The women insisted upon the re-establishment of the public sales that were suspended at the beginning of the war, charging the commission merchants with selling only as much of the meat consigned to them as could be disposed of without cutting prices. The public sales, or "sales by crier," establish the official central market quotations. Since they have been suspended the commission merchants have it all in their own hands—eliminating all influences of supply and demand. A committee has now recommended the re-establishment of the sales by crier. Under this system the commission merchant may fix a minimum price for meat or produce consigned to him. The crier declares that price and anyone may buy at that figure if no one offers more; sometimes no offer is received and the commission merchant must lower his price. Another reform proposed is the publication in the Municipal Bulletin each week of a list of the provisions and kinds of meat and poultry that are most abundant and advantageous for the economical housewives. The daily receipts are also to be published in tables alongside the estimated needs of the population.

And now that tricky scoundrel Joe Wood, the Red Sox heaver, has caused Ban Johnson to become a prohibitionist—that is a certain kind of prohibitionist. Joe's proclivity for the use of foreign substance on the pellet has compelled Ban to prohibit the use of emery, resin, licorice and talcum powder by American league pitchers.

Connie Mack's Athletics may not miss Collins, Baker, Plank, Coombs and Bender, according to Philadelphia dope, but in reality Bender seems to be about the only one who is not missed.

They say that Pat Moran of the Phillies was fortunate in that he was given a formidable outfit to lead. Formidable outfit now, perhaps, but when Pat took charge the Phils looked just about strong enough to get on and off the field without assistance.

We had always figured that Charley Comiskey's affection for the American league was equaled only by his devotion to his wife and family. And now look at the "Old Roman" busting up the league.

NEW MINE DISCOVERED

Santa Fe, June 30.—A strike of apparently much importance has been made on the south end of the Jarilla range in Otero county. The fissure vein which has been uncovered is more than four feet wide and is traceable for several thousand feet. The property has been named the Refugee gold mine and surface assays yield 4 per cent copper with $5 in gold. On nearby United States Observatory hill W. B. Bates of El Paso has located another fissure vein six feet wide, carrying at the grass roots 3 per cent copper and gold and silver. Regular shipments are being made from the Jarillas by T. B. Raines, who is operating the By Chance, W. J. Fisher and C. K. Hartley, operating the Garnet; Donald Best, operating the Nannie Baird; W. H. Lowery working the Lucky, the Mollie Gibson and the Copper King.

METALLIC SKULL CAPS

Paris, June 30.—It is estimated, according to the latest figures, that 13 per cent of the men hit since the inauguration of the war of trenches are wounded in the head. Doctors Dentu and Deuraigne recommend the use of metallic skull caps as a protection. Of 55 soldiers wounded in the head treated by Dr. Deuraigne, 42 had no such protection, and 23 of these suffered from fractures and 19 from scalp wounds. The remaining 13 were provided with metallic skull caps and five of these were only lightly slightly wounded. Dr. Deuraigne declares that officers and surgeons are favorable to this protection and if the soldiers are hostile it is because only two or three sizes are made and in most cases fit badly.

PLENTY OF SNAKES

Santa Fe, June 30.—That the snake and prairie chicken crop is unusually large in eastern New Mexico along the Texas boundary this year, is the report from the United States surveying camp of Wendell V. Hall near Alie, in northeastern Chaves county. The surveying corps is killing rattlers every day, the largest thus far dispatched measuring almost eight feet. Four townships are being surveyed after which the corps will be transferred to Cuba, northern Sandoval county.

NEW POSTOFFICE

Santa Fe, June 30.—A postoffice has been established at Ferndale, San Miguel county, and Maude K. Reindorp was appointed postmistress. The office is to have special service from Mineral Hill. The site of the postoffice at Ruidoso, Lincoln county, will be moved 300 yards north of its present site on July 1. George A. Friedenblum will be appointed postmaster. On July 1 Star Route mail service will be established from Farwell, Texas, to Texico, Curry county.

WAR IS OLD STORY

Paris, June 30.—While there may be no diminution of patriotic sentiment as the war drags on, military spectacles have become an old story to the passing throng in Paris. Italian reservists rejoining their posts recently reawakened the boulevards, because the Italian intervention was new and welcome. But not so many people as formerly stop to greet the limping soldier or to watch sympathetically the passage of ambulances—these have become so numerous. In country railroad towns, however, stations are as thronged on the arrival of every ambulance train as at the beginning of the war, by women, old and young, girls and children, well provided with sweets and comforts of all kinds and flowers. A train of wounded from Thann, Hartmannsweilerkopf and Donnemarie, passing through the Franche Comte the other day, accumulated offerings of this sort at every station until when it arrived at Besancon every soldier's cloak was garnished and the racks and windows of every car were filled with field flowers of France; blue bottles, wild poppies and daisies. The roofs of the cars had disappeared under green foliage; the train looked like a traveling flower show.

BIG WOOL SALE

Santa Fe, June 30.—The sale of 3,000 sacks of wool, 750,000 pounds, is announced at Magdalena for July 1. The entire clip of this district, Socorro county, is placed at two million pounds.

ZINC MINERS STRIKE

Joplin, Mo., June 30.—Virtually all the large zinc mines of the Webb City-Carterville district closed today while 2,900 miners refused to work unless given an increase in wages. The men maintain that because of the high prices which the operators are getting for the metal, the workers should have more money.

BANDITS AT FAIR

San Francisco, June 30.—Bandits on the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds who robbed John Dinkelspiel, son of the commissioner general to the exposition from Siam, and two companions, were sought today by the police and by detective agencies. At the offices of the exposition guards it was said no report of the robbery had been received. Two young men with clubs herded the three boys into a secluded spot on the grounds yesterday and took away their money—$2.30 in all. One of the boys said later he reported the matter to a guard, who took no action.

"The robbery occurred as reported," said Commissioner General Dinkelspiel today. "Because of my official position I did not care to report it."

BECKER STILL FIGHTS

New York, June 30.—Counsel for Charles Becker has arranged to meet Governor Whitman in Albany on Thursday to make application for a hearing of Becker's plea for clemency, it became known today. Becker's execution for the murder of Herman Rosenthal has been set for the week beginning July 12.

IN SESSION AT CAPE MAY

Cape May, N. J., June 30.—Many lawyers and jurists of wide reputation were in Cape May today for the opening of the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar association. An attractive program has been prepared for the three days' sessions, Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania and James M. Beck of New York are scheduled as the chief speakers.

In George Sisler, the University of Michigan star pastimer, the St. Louis Browns seem to have grabbed the greatest Western league player of the season.

NEW MEXICO'S BUILDING

Santa Fe, June 30.—Arthur Stanley Riggs, a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of England, spent last Friday at the New Mexico building at San Diego studying the models of historical landmarks, archaeology and history. Mr. Riggs is a celebrated lecturer and author. At present he is collecting data on California and Arizona for his lecture tour this coming fall and winter. He intends to spend the spring and summer of 1916 among the cliff dwellings and in other interesting portions of the state. The following from New Mexico registered at the New Mexico building on Friday: J. E. Sollie and wife, O. W. Strong and wife, Mrs. John Clarke, Charles R. Clarke, Rev. J. M. Moya, Albuquerque; Miss Dorothy Robins, Mrs. Pearl Talbot Robins and Mrs. W. E. Talbot, Albuquerque; E. F. Sidebottom, Santa Fe; Earl S. Sidebottom, Santa Fe; Blanche Kitchell, Mrs. G. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catharrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

ATHLETE A BRIDEGROOM

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 30.—Salt Lake temple was the scene of a large wedding today, when Miss Jane Winegar, of Woods Cross, Utah, became the bride of Lorin D. Briggs. The bridegroom was the captain of the 1914 University of Utah football team and is well known in intercollegiate athletic circles throughout the west.

FEWER SALOONS, LESS REVENUE

Portland, Ore., June 30.—The city of Portland faces a serious problem in the way of greatly reduced revenues, resulting from the failure of many saloons to renew their liquor licenses for the semi-annual period beginning tomorrow. In the past year the number of places selling liquor in Portland has fallen off about 25 per cent, which means that the municipal revenues have been reduced by many thousands of dollars. Whether the city will have sufficient funds to continue through the year is a matter of conjecture.

WAR CUTS DOWN ATTENDANCE AT MEETING

BUT WORLD CONVENTION OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR WILL BE A BIG GATHERING

Chicago, June 29.—A review of the work of Christian Endeavor in every land, plans for its further extension, and the discussion of virtually every phase of religious activity, will come before the world convention of the Society of Christian Endeavor which meets in the Coliseum at Chicago, July 7-12.

It is expected that 15,000 delegates, representing 100,000 evangelical churches throughout the world, will be in attendance.

The convention is the first world's meeting since that at Agra, India, in 1909, and a sudden outbreak of smallpox in Australia necessitated the cancellation of the meeting arranged to be held at Sydney, N. S. W., in 1913. When originally planned, more than a year ago, it was expected that the Chicago convention would be the largest in the history of the organization. The war, however, will materially affect the European representation, and it is possible that there will be no delegates from either Germany or Austria. Representatives from England, France, Spain, Italy, Persia, India, Siam, China, Japan, Australasia, Africa and Latin America already have reached the United States or are on their way.

On July 6 the day preceding the opening of the convention, the 500th anniversary of the martyrdom of John Huss, the Bohemian religious leader who was burned at the stake, will be observed. Another break in the chain of convention meetings will be the Athletic Field day, planned for July 10, on the field of the University of Chicago. The sports will be under the direction of A. A. Stagg, chairman of the athletic department of the university.

The convention as a body will discuss the world-wide topics of temperance, missions and peace. Reports from the field, including many from the various countries involved in the war, will be presented on the closing day.

Among the other topics that will be taken up are: "The Advantages of Christian Unity was Expressed in Co-operative Movements, in Home Missions, in Evangelism, in Foreign Missions and in International Relations"; "The Sunday School," "The Prayer Meeting," and "Social Service."

In discussing church activities, especial consideration will be given to business administration, the country church, the city church, the needs of the layman, and the unchurched.

The social service department will hear addresses on "Religion in Politics," "Cleaning Up a City," and the "Saloon Problem." Bible reading in the public school and the question of Sabbath observance also will be taken up.

The Rev. Francis M. Clark, founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, will, it is feared, be unable to attend the convention on account of illness, but a representative list of leaders from a dozen different countries will be present.

The list of speakers includes men from many walks of life. Among them are Ira Landrith of Nashville, Tenn., until recently president of Ward Belmont college; Rev. George H. Coombs, pastor of the Christian church, Kansas City, Mo.; Rev. W. W. Bustard, of Cleveland, O.; J. Campbell White, general secretary of the Layman Missionary society; Dr. Royal J. Dye, a missionary in the Congo for many years; Rev. Williams Patterson of Toronto; Bishop W. M. Weekley of the United Brethren Church of the middle and western states; Rev. J. C. Caldwell, general secretary of the African Methodist Episcopal church; John Willis Baer, president of Occidental college and formerly general secretary of the Christian Endeavor society; Clinton N. Howard, a well-known prohibition leader of Rochester, N. Y., and William J. Bryan.

President Wilson and Vice President Marshall have also been invited to attend.

UNCLE SAM'S PURSE NOT EMPTY

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Thanks to a rather unexpected inflow from the income tax, Uncle Sam will close the fiscal year tomorrow slightly bent, but far from broke. All things considered, the condition of the government's finances is far better than was hoped for some months ago. Owing to the provisions of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation act for the fiscal year beginning day after tomorrow, the number of employes will be reduced in some of the departments, but it is stated that no wholesale discharges are in prospect. The force in the pension bureau will be the heaviest sufferer by the retrenchment policy, but it is hoped that virtually all of the employes let out there will be provided for through transfers to other bureaus and departments.

WEDDING GUESTS ARRIVE

Bowling Green, Mo., June 29.—Guests from far and near are arriving in Bowling Green for the wedding of Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark, and James M. Thompson, of New Orleans. All the arrangements have been completed for the ceremony, which is to take place at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. If the weather is favorable the ceremony will be performed before an improvised altar in the rose garden of "Honeyshuck," the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Robert Sherman Boyd, a cousin of Miss Clark, will officiate. Eight young women, most of whom are relatives of the bridal pair, will serve as the bride's attendants. Paul Thomson, will be his brother's best man and Bennett Clark, brother of the bride, will be one of the ushers. Speaker Clark will give his daughter away.

ROUGH RIDERS REUNION

Santa Fe, June 29.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt will be accompanied to San Diego on July 26 by Mrs. Roosevelt and his private secretary, H. E. McGrath. The rough rider has asked the railroads to withhold all details of his itinerary for his New Mexico, Arizona and California tour. The party will leave San Francisco on the "Coaster" of the Southern Pacific, on July 25, arriving at Los Angeles at 10:55 p. m. the same day and proceeding immediately to San Diego, where on the next day the Rough Rider reunion will take place and the main festivities be staged at the New Mexico building in charge of Waldo C. Twitchell.

The following New Mexicans registered at the New Mexico building last Thursday: J. T. Clayton, Mrs. J. F. Clayton, Mildred Clayton and Leora Foster, Deming; Emilio M. Baca, Angelina Baca, Paula Baca and Jennie Fortune, Socorro; T. E. Caplinger, Clovis; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Price, Socorro; Willie Derden Matheson, Carlsbad; Mrs. Margaretta Sargent, Espanola; Miss Jean Law and Miss Jessie Law, Santa Fe.

Among the distinguished visitors was Newcomb Carleton, president of the Western Union, and who was director of works at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo at 1901. His praise of the New Mexico building and exhibit was therefore very gratifying.

TRACTOR ON A FARM

(Roy Spanish-American.)

L. A. Canon of Liberty, purchased a new Ford car last week and he and his family drive to town and home again in quicker time than of yore. He also purchased a new Bull tractor which arrived Saturday, and will assist his horses in the heavy work of the farm in future. The machine is a very popular new model of the modern small farm tractor, delivers seven horse power at the draw-bar and 20 in the belt. Mr. Canon plans to drive his new header with it this harvest and plow his land for next year's wheat crop. This makes seven new tractors delivered here during the past three weeks, and four others have been sold. If there is another town in the state that can beat it we should like to hear from them.

ZIONISTS RALLY IN BOSTON

Boston, Mass. June 29.—The Zionist movement, which aims to re-establish the Jewish nation in Palestine, is expected to receive a big impetus as a result of the week's convention and celebration which opened in this city today. The gathering was organized by the Federation of American Zionists, in co-operation with the Sons of Zion, the Young Judeans, and other Jewish organizations of national scope. For the first time since the inception of the movement the Reform Jews have consented to give it their official sanction. A total of 600 delegates, representing many states, reported for the convention today. A leading feature of the program will be a mass meeting at Mechanics hall tomorrow night.

KEEPING THEM ON THE MOVE

(Raton Range.)

The night officers of the city and the Santa Fe have been unusually busy during the past week keeping an army of transients moving on. Last Friday night 32 hoboes were rounded up and told to hike. In spite of these precautions, however, much petty thievery has occurred during the past week, the greater part of it attributed to the light fingered gentry who forage at night. Two individuals, named Ray Denham and F. A. Weber, were taken into custody Wednesday and sentenced before Justice Bayne's

MARKET FOR PEACHES

Santa Fe, June 29.—The peach growers of the Pecos valley have obtained a reduction in the freight rate from Roswell to Denver from 71 to 62 cents a hundred, and in consequence, Pecos valley peaches will find their chief market at Denver and Pueblo this year. The first Elbertas will be shipped in carload lots the first week in August.

FRENCH BARK SUNK

London, June 29.—The French bark Dumfriesshire of 2,656 tons gross, which sailed from San Francisco January 22 for Dublin with a cargo of barley, was sunk today by a German submarine. The crew was landed at Milford Haven.

FASHIONABLE BOSTON WEDDING

Boston, Mass., June 29.—The largest and most fashionable of the June weddings in Boston took place in Trinity church this afternoon, when Miss Ruth Gaston became the bride of John Kenneth Howard. The bride is a daughter of William A. Gaston, one of New England's leading financiers and a former democratic nominee for United States senator from Massachusetts. Mr. Howard, the bridegroom, is a son of Mrs. William H. Howard of Boston and San Mateo, Cal. He is a graduate of this year's class at Harvard.

CONGRESS OF AUTHORS

San Francisco, Cal., June 29.—Gertrude Atherton, Edwin Markham, Jack London, Richard Walton Tully, David Starr Jordan and numerous other shining lights of the literary world are scheduled to take part in the International Congress of Authors and Journalists, which assembled in this city today. Ina Coolbrith, the California poet, presided at the formal opening of the gathering in the civic auditorium this morning. The subsequent sessions of the congress will be devoted to the discussion of matters relating to poetry and the drama, history and criticism, fiction, journalism and other branches of literary work. The gathering will close on Saturday with a celebration of "Authors and Journalists' Day" at the exposition.

FOR JUNIOR GOLF TITLES

New York, June 29.—The junior championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf association opened on the links of the Garden City Golf club today and will continue over tomorrow. The number and high class of the participants indicates that the tournament is likely to be the most successful since the junior event was inaugurated.

LAND RESTORED TO ENTRY

Williston, N. D., June 29.—Today was the first day for settlement on the 3000 acres of land near here recently restored to entry by order of the general land office. Much of the land lies along the Missouri river and is natural alfalfa land. The number of applications already filed at the local land office is believed to be more than sufficient to settle the entire tract.

WOMAN SELLS SHARES OF ESTATE

MRS. WHITAKER LOOKS LIKE "J. RUFUS WALLINGFORD" TO POLICE OFFICERS

Des Moines, Ia., June 28.—When Mrs. Suda B. Whitaker, refined in appearance and fluent of tongue, registered at one of the leading hotels here a few weeks ago and unfolded a plan whereby, for the paltry sum of $25, any resident of the Iowa capital might share in the $400,000,000 estate of Sir Francis Drake, the woman found a surprisingly large number of interested listeners. As the seat of Drake University, Des Moines quite naturally is familiar with the name and career of the great English freebooter. That the existence of the $500,000,000 fortune likewise was known to a goodly portion of the community is evidenced by the fact that several hundred residents of Des Moines and other places in Iowa, all claiming to be descendants of Sir Francis, made an attempt some years ago to recover the money, which is supposed to be held by the English government.

Consequently, Mrs. Whitaker could not have found a more fertile field for her operations had she searched the world over. For several weeks there was a line of men and women awaiting an audience and a chance to hand over their $25 in return for a pink slip stating that they had thereby become entitled to a share of 1-4 per cent in one-half of the Drake fortune. Two thousand dollars, representing the proceeds from the sale of countless sandwiches and cups of coffee, is said to have been invested by the proprietor of a Sixth avenue food emporium. Leading merchants took a chance, farmers from the surrounding country brought in a part of their surplus wealth, and, so it is quietly rumored about town, a judge on the bench thought the scheme looked good enough to him to warrant a little investment.

But, alack and alas, the hard-headed county attorney failed to be dazzled by the visions of wealth untold. And that is why Mrs. Whitaker was haled into court today to explain the details of her scheme and furnish evidence to substantiate her claims to be heir to one-half of the estate of the late Sir Francis of navigator fame. The county attorney did not hesitate to intimate his doubts as to the woman's claims and the veracity of her statements. In fact, he has broadly hinted his belief that the little woman, of refined appearance and fluent tongue, bears a strong family resemblance to one J. Rufus Wallingford and that her Sir Francis Drake scheme has the covered carpet tack idea beat a thousand biles.

Several years ago a Mrs. Whitaker is said to have exploited the same scheme in St. Louis. The woman at that time, whether the defendant in the present case or another, is said to have acquired rights to sell stock in the estate by reason of a purchase from a man in Missouri. Later the scheme was worked in Galesburg, Ill., where the investors, it is said, were to receive their fabulous profits within two weeks' time. After that Bloomington and other cities of Illinois were visited and, it is said, many of the residents found themselves poorer in pocket as a result of their desire to get rich quick.

It is reported that several persons claiming to be direct heirs of the Drake estate have notified the county attorney here that they never have given Mrs. Whitaker power of attorney, as she claimed, it is said. These persons are expected to be witnesses if the woman is held for trial.

One of the oddest features in connection with the case is the fact that the majority of Mrs. Whitaker's alleged victims apparently retain their confidence in the woman and her claims. Nearly 100 of those who have taken interest in the estate, including men and women of high standing, have published a statement in the newspapers in which they resented the intervention of the county attorney, defended Mrs. Whitaker and declared that they were perfectly satisfied with their investment.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP

New York, June 26.—A. H. Woods is the first of the prominent theatrical managers to come forth with a list of his offerings for the coming season. A number of new plays will be presented by Mr. Woods in addition to several of those which already have proven successful enough to warrant their being kept on the road next season. Among these latter will be "The Songs of Songs," "Kick In" and "He Comes Up Smiling."

The new offerings will include a play by Charles Klein, the playwright who perished on the Lusitania. The play is called "Cousin Lucy" and will be used as a starring vehicle for Julian Eltinge, the female impersonator.

Another of the Woods reductions will be "Common Clay," the Harvard prize play by Cleves Kinkead, which was put on by the John Craig Stock company at the Castle Square theater in Boston the past season and enjoyed a run of 20 weeks. A court room scene is one of the strong features of the play. When the piece is produced in New York next fall John Mason and Jane Cowl will have the principal roles.

Mr. Woods will have four "Potash and Perlmutter" companies on tour next season. In addition he plans to produce a sequel to the piece, which will be called "Potash and Perlmutter in Society."

Other plays announced for production under the Woods management include "The Guilty Man," "The Peacock Lady," "See My Lawyer," a new three-act farce by Max Marcin; "The Auction Block," a dramatization of Rex Beach's novel; a new play by Thomas Buchanan, and one by George Scarborough.

"The Girl," a new play in three acts by George Scarborough, is to have its first performance in Atlantic City next Monday night. This is the play which was to have been the second of a series of joint productions contemplated by David Belasco and Charles Frohman whom the revival of "A Celebrated Case" had united after many years of separation. Following Mr. Frohman's death Mr. Belasco decided to go ahead with the plans and produce the play as already arranged.

Their none too profitable experience with the Hippodrome evidently did not extinguish the desire of the Messrs. Shubert to control a big place of amusement in the metropolis in addition to their regular playhouses. The latest announcement emanating from the Shubert sanctum is to the effect that they intend to build and have ready for opening next fall a big ice palace, modeled after the celebrated Admiral's Palitz in Berlin. It occupies a plot on Forty-fourth street, adjacent to the Shubert and Booth theaters.

Frederick Ballard, the Harvard student who wrote the successful play, "Believe Me, Xantippe," has written a new play entitled "My Dog," the story of which concerns a vagabond and his canine companion. The piece has been accepted by Cohan and Harris for production early next season.

Some of the big treats soon to be served up to patrons of the motion picture houses are Meredith Nicholson's "House of a Thousand Candles," Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray," "George Barr McCutcheon's "Nedra," Edward Sheldon's "Salvation Nell," and a screen version of the late Justus Miles Forman's novel, "The Garden of Lies," in which Jane Cowl is to play the leading role.

Annette Kellerman, of mermaid fame, did not think she was featured prominently enough in the "Ziegfeld Follies of 1915." Consequently she has withdrawn from the cast and will seek another engagement in which her act will shine with a brighter light.

Roi Cooper Megrue's new play, "Under Fire," will be given its first performance at the Hudson theater on Labor day. Frank Craven and Lucille Watson have been engaged by Selwyn and Company, for two of the principal roles.

New Yorkers had their first taste of the Gilbert and Sullivan revue this week. The production has been made on an elaborate scale, with sixty persons in the cast. Woven into one story are scenes from "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Penzance," "The Gondoliers" and "Pinafore."

Owen Davis' story, "The Woman Next Door," is to be staged for the picture screen by George Kleine. Irene Fenwick, who achieved fame as the star of "The Commuters" and "The Spendthrift," is to have the leading role.

BIG BULLION SHIPMENT

Santa Fe, June 28.—Two and a quarter tons of bullion, or 200 bars, were shipped by the Socorro Mining and Milling company from the Mogollons during the present month. The Silver Call Mining and Milling company has pumped its main shaft dry to the bottom, a distance of 300 feet.

NEW METHOD OF CURING TUBERCULOSIS TRIED

"ARTIFICIAL PNEUMOTHORAX" IS DESCRIBED IN AN INTERESTING ARTICLE

Santa Fe, June 28.—An important contribution to the literature on certain phases of tuberculosis is made by two New Mexico physicians, Drs. Earl Sprague Bullock, physician in chief, and David Cushman Twitchell, associate physician of the New Mexico Cottage sanatorium at Silver City. The article is "Exudates in Artificial Pneumothorax," and appeared first in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, but is now printed as a monograph.

Rather startling is the opening which says:

"When one has had the experience of seeing a Lazarus rise from the dead, the incident will never be forgotten, and the procedure which enables this to be done will not be abandoned even though such dramatic successes are but few in comparison with the whole number of cases in which artificial pneumothorax is performed. This method is still in the experimental stage and many more years' experience will be required more truly to indicate its limitation as well as the type of cases in which it is likely to prove most successful."

Speaking further of the success of the treatment, the writers say:

"In but one of our 26 cases in which gas could be introduced effectively have we had a large effusion, and in but four an insignificant quantity of fluid, which in one was subsequently reabsorbed and in three a small quantity still persists.

"At Fort Bayard, of 19 cases, three had relatively large effusions and in three cases the effusions were subsequently reabsorbed.

Dr. Shortle of Albuquerque reports 50 cases in which a satisfactory degree of compression was produced. Among these cases nine developed an exudate.

The important conclusion is: "On the high, dry plateau of the Rocky Mountains we do not have effusions in our pneumothorax cases with the frequency witnessed elsewhere, and when they do occur the tendency is to remain small and be reabsorbed. We do not have the colds and intercurrent infections among our tuberculous patients with anything like the frequency observed in less favorable climatic environments."

ANTI-HORSE THIEF SOCIETY

Parsons, Kas., June 28.—One of the most unique secret societies in the world has its headquarters in this city—the A. H. T. A. These initials being interpreted spell the Anti-Horse Thief association, an organization with 40,000 members and hundreds of lodges scattered over eight or ten states. It has been in existence since 1854. The original purpose of the A. H. T. A. was to run down and punish thieves who appropriated the horses of its members. Now it concerns itself with all varieties of criminals who prey upon the farming communities, operating in conjunction with the civil authorities. It disclaims any of the features of a vigilance committee. In the early days of the organization it was the custom to place a tiny brand, "A," upon the hoof of all horses belonging to the membership, and thieves soon learned to avoid all horses bearing that mystic mark.

LIQUOR ELECTION IN PROVO

Provo, Utah, June 28.—On the eve of the liquor election in Provo the prohibition advocates appear confident that this will be the first of the large cities in Utah to vote "dry." The voting will take place tomorrow, following the close of one of the most strenuous campaigns in the history of the city.

GENERAL HUERTA IS HELD IN THE PASS CITY, AND SUSPECTED OF FOMENTING FURTHER STRIFE

El Paso, Texas, June 28.—General Victoriano Huerta, former president of Mexico who with other prominent factors in the Mexican turmoil are under surveillance by agents of the United States department of justice, arose today after a refreshing night's sleep. In a conference granted newspaper representatives Huerta declined further to discuss the events of yesterday which led to his detention on charges of implication in a plot to set afoot a new Mexican revolution. He stood upon his declaration of last night that he would enter Mexico at the head of an armed force. Leaders here of Villa and Carranza factions were silent on recent developments.

Lombardo Gives Approval

"The United States authorities were justified in arresting General Huerta," said Miguel Diaz Lombardo foreign minister in the Villa cabinet, at his conference with newspaper men.

"I regard yesterday's demonstration at the federal building as the best proof that there is an organized movement of Huerta adherents here. Fifteen minutes after Huerta reached the collector's office the building was surrounded by a thousand Mexicans, practically all Huerta adherents and sympathizers. We knew nothing of Huerta's detention until after the arrival of in El Paso."

Orozco Also Jailed

The bond of $15,000 and $7,500 under which Huerta and Orozco were released respectively, Lombardo regards as entirely inadequate.

"It is absolutely not worth considering," said he. "If Huerta or Orozco plans to enter Mexico this bond will not stop them for an instant."

Lombardo stated that he had heard nothing from General Felipe Angeles. He said he would remain in El Paso for two or three days at least, but did not know whether he would proceed to Washington or return to Chihuahua.

A message from Villa to Lombardo, dated Aguas Calientes, said there was no change in the military situation and Villa representatives here and officials in Juarez were watching closely for military activity across the border. Small bands of unarmed men have been crossing the border in the last few days, supposed with the intention of mobilizing at some point south. So far no indications of a concerted movement or an attempt to mobilize have been discovered.

El Paso was flooded today with circulars containing an interview by Huerta and printed in New York at the time of his arrival there. In the interview Huerta characterized the Villa faction as "bandit leeches," and declared that Carranza was standing on an American platform. The interview stated Huerta's belief that peace will be restored in Mexico only when some strong man gets control. The circulars were given wide circulation.

General Huerta arose late from a refreshing sleep after his unusual experiences of yesterday. He breakfasted with his daughter's family. To newspaper men he said:

"I had a refreshing night's sleep. I will make no statement to the press until after my hearing next Thursday."

There were a number of Mexicans waiting to see General Huerta, and as the forenoon wore on others arrived in an almost continuous stream. Little knots of curious folk gathered in the streets around Huerta's residence and throughout the morning there was an occasional "Viva Huerta."

General Huerta looked greatly refreshed when he greeted newspaper men this morning, and spoke in quick sharp phrases. The audience was brief, owing to his determination to make no formal statement.

Juarez, across the river, pursued its usual course today. Throughout the night there were numerous rumors of unusual activity in and surrounding the city, but all proved to be without significance. Reports were circulated that the gambling halls had been closed and the city placed under martial law, all of which were erroneous.

Washington, June 28.—Inside details of the plot to restore a Huerta regime to Mexico, nipped in the bud by the United States, began trickling out today through the net of official secrecy, while General Huerta and his chief lieutenant, Pascual Orozco, are under federal detention at El Paso.

Other Mexicans, nearly a score of whom had a part in the plot that failed, and probably some Americans, are under surveillance by the department of justice.

Americans Were Involved

Secretary Lansing conferred today with Assistant Attorney General Warren, and it became apparent that the department of justice intends to sift the case to find the backers of the new revolution.

Where the trail might lead in the United States is only a matter of conjecture. All officials were silent on that feature, but it is generally believed by those in close touch with Mexican affairs that the coup was to have the financial support of some prominent American interests. Official information was disclosed that weeks ago Huerta, in apparent seclusion at his country place on Long Island, offered his services to General Iturbide, one of the exile colony in New York, and at the same time sent an emissary to Washington to ask if he would be persona grata to this government if he took part in Mexican affairs.

Iturbide declined Huerta's company and simultaneously sent word to the former dictator that he would be persona non grata, decidedly so.

Immediately thereafter, the official advices here say, Huerta renewed his offer to Iturbide with a modified proposal that Iturbide accept Huerta's aid without Huerta's leadership, but with that of his associates. This last offer, officials here and diplomatists with Mexican interests who have been keeping themselves informed, say Admiral Howard on the west coast of Mexico reported quiet in the Yaqui valley, where there have been no Indian raids since June 17.

In view of this information officials are puzzled to know just how much of a part Huerta intended to take in a movement on Mexican soil, although they have no doubt that at least he intended to take charge of affairs on the border. In that connection it is known that for weeks a party of prominent Mexicans, styled by the Carranza and Villa adherents "Huertistas" and "Cientificos" have been maintaining an active junta in El Paso, in constant communication with General Huerta and other members of the exile colony in New York, and made among themselves the form of a provisional government with a president and members of a cabinet. Advices from Mexicans here continually indicated that the junta was planning some definite move.

No More Revolution

Secretary Lansing disclosed today that the initiative had been taken by the department of justice. He declined to say whether any consideration of American policy was involved, but it is known authoritatively that the United States intends that no more revolutionary elements shall be introduced into the Mexican situation and that as far as possible there will be vigorous prosecution of all other Mexicans who may be planning to set afoot a military expedition from the United States.

Assistant Attorney General Warren made it clear that the agencies of the department of justice are being directed not alone against Huerta and Orozco, but against all other offenders affiliated with all Mexican factions who now are under indictment. Officials of the department of justice were much surprised to learn that Huerta and Orozco had been released on bail, and ordered that a close watch be kept on them.

An overnight dispatch from Major General Funston, commanding the border forces, merely said that Colonel Morgan of the Fifteenth cavalry, at the request of the assistant United States attorney, escorted General Huerta to El Paso and that the former Mexican dictator "willingly accompanied" him to the city. General Huerta left his train at Texas, just over the border from Newman, N. M.

Red Cross Excluded

Civil and military authorities in Coahuila loyal to General Villa have served court notice on the American Red Cross that relief supplies will not be permitted to enter that state. Brigadier General C. A. Devol, general manager of the Red Cross at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, has received such messages from General Periera at Saltillo and from the governor of Coahuila. From Durango in the state of that name a report was received today that food supplies which it was estimated a few days ago would last until about August 1, will be exhausted long before then. Officials assume food is being shipped out of the city.

Advices to the state department indicate a disposition on the part of Carranza authorities at Progreso again to interfere with exportation of sisal. The message did not show clearly, however, what was the situation. Officials were not prepared to say what steps were contemplated.

The gunboat Marietta, en route to Vera Cruz from Key West, has been ordered to Progreso. Reports from Admiral Howard on the west coast of Mexico reported quiet in the Yaqui valley, where there have been no Indian raids since June 17.

Laredo Has Food

Monterey, Mexico, June 24 (Via Laredo, Texas, June 28).—Food shortage in this part of Mexico is apparently a condition of the past, having been settled with the opening of transportation into interior Mexico. American Consul General Hanna is supplying Red Cross corn to fully 12,000 persons, distribution of relief being made tri-weekly.

In speaking of the food shortage in Monterey, Consul General Hanna said:

"During the winter I found it necessary for the sake of humanity to provide food for 10,000 persons of the better classes. In the majority of instances these people were widows of ex-army officers of the various factions. All the time I had a small fund on hand, the residue of previous Red Cross relief. This I utilized. Later we made application to the organization for funds. The European exigency made the securing of money impossible, and I was compelled to have recourse to my private funds.

"When we recently established a relief station here to alleviate the hunger of the starving Mexicans many pitiful sights were to be seen."

Consul General Hanna said he believed that by the middle of July the need for general relief will have passed.

Carranza Is Defeated

Washington, June 28.—Further confirmation of the defeat of the Carranza army advancing on Mexico City, brought to Vera Cruz by an American from the capital, was received today at the state department.

The state department's dispatch said Carranza was rushing troop trains from Vera Cruz to the capital, that fighting, at the hour the courier started, still was going on in the outskirts of Mexico City, and that a repetition of the "tragic ten days" which preceded the overthrow of Madero, probably with as great horrors was feared.

Included in the state department's dispatch from Vera Cruz was this:

"Zapata forces defeated Carranza forces in Mexico City. Capital entirely cut off from the world. Carranza rushing all available men to Mexico City. No food in Mexico City."

G. J. Rudolph of Albuquerque was a business visitor in Las Vegas today.

Manuel A. Sanchez, assessor of San Miguel county, returned to Las Vegas last night from his ranch at Villa Colorada.

Harold Batchelor, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Batchelor of this city, arrived in Las Vegas yesterday from his home in Kansas City. He will spend a week here.

Miss Maggie J. Bucher, who has been teaching throughout New Mexico for several years, is in Las Vegas. Miss Bucher, who formerly was superintendent of schools of East Las Vegas will visit here for a short time.

Mrs. Kelly, mother of H. W. Kelly of this city, left yesterday for Phoenix, Arizona.

PREPARING FOR CITIZENSHIP

Without a fit body of citizens our country could not exist. The duty of the public school is to prepare our boys to govern their country, says the Florida Times-Union. Philadelphia as one of the educational centers of the country. Robert Hildreth in the Philadelphia Inquirer has been showing us how well the schools are performing the task set them by making quotations from the examination papers of the pupils in the public schools of his city. Here are some of the answers furnished by students of the class in civil government:

I don't know anything about the constitution, as I was born in Kansas.

The minority is composed of the minors.

The spoils system: The place where spoiled things and waste are kept. The board of health has largely taken the place of this.

An ex post facto law is one that gives officers a right to go to foreign countries and get criminals, dead or alive, and take them back to the place where the crime was committed. It is a law where the crimes of the father descend to his children; they are punished for him.

An appreciation of the services performed by individuals has been declared the best practical fruit of the study of history—an appreciation of the services rendered this nation by its great men might seem necessary to those who must guard the fruits of such service; what do the children of this generation know of such men? Let us see the results of work done in the public schools of Philadelphia:

Benjamin Franklin is the founder of electricity.

George Washington was a land savory.

Lord Raleigh was the first man to see the Invisible Armada. (English.)

Tennyson wrote In Memorandum.

Tennyson also wrote a poem called Grave's Energy.

Louis XVI was getatined during the French Revolution.

Ben Johnson is one of the three highest mountains of Scotland.

Henry I died of eating Palfreys. Caesar was king and went high up on a mountain.

Lincoln had a woman make him a suit of homespun from rails which he had split. They were hickory rails, hence hickory shirts.

Franklin produced electricity by rubbing cats backwards.

What does the nation as a whole pay the public schools? What does the nation get in the shape of instructed service for its expenditures? Is not the capacity to digest independent of the supply of food? Perhaps it would be impossible to keep the average boy of today painfully ignorant provided he had the power to assimilate knowledge; it may be impossible to give the power of assimilation by furnishing a superfluity of knowledge.

THAT TRADE BALANCE

The billion dollar trade balance which Secretary Redfield is blowing about is not going to be prorated among the people of the United States. Don't forget that.

Mr. Redfield sought to cheer up the flagging spirits of the manufacturers of other than munitions of war, the taxpayers, and the unemployed of this country, by prophesying this huge favorable trade balance at the end of the present fiscal year, a consummation which he attributes to the democratic administration, denying that war orders are responsible. But no man will be beguiled by this fair promise into discarding the many aggravating economies, industrial and domestic, which democratic hard times forced upon this nation.

A billion dollars is a juicy expression which sweetens the tongue and tickles the ear, but if anyone imagines that sum is to be a cash addition to our resources his imagination lacks the salt of reason. It will be a long time before Europe will be able to pay us any such sum in gold.

Europe is paying for our exports of war munitions by establishing new credits here. She is borrowing from us the money necessary to pay for the goods which we are selling her. In some instances, American securities now owned in Europe and being returned in payment. Both these methods of payment will, of course, strengthen the credit position of the United States, and the end of the war of the New Mexico Cowboys. It should find us financially in the vanguard of the nations of the earth. But that will be due to the unfortunate necessities of European nations, and not to the activities of Secretary Redfield, Mr. Underwood, and the rest of the free traders.

Nor will we long be able to hold the financial supremacy thus attained, under the democratic tariff policy, as a study of the dwindling trade balances in our favor prior to the outbreak of the European war will convince the most casual reader of our commercial history. Only by a return to republican fiscal principles can we hope to remain permanently in the front rank of commerce and finance.

The Underwood tariff bill was apparently framed on a theory of "free finished products and taxed raw materials." It seems incredible that the democratic party could be so unpatriotic as to discriminate against the American workman and in favor of the foreigner, yet no other conclusion is possible when we view the fact that foreign shoes are admitted free, while a duty must be paid on the 30 different articles which enter into the manufacture of shoes. The effect of this is that the foreigner with his cheaper labor sends shoes to America free, while the American must pay an import duty on the raw materials, and then compete with the favored foreigner in the finished product.

Large receipts from stamp, corporation and income taxes have added to the funds in the Federal treasury, yet the balance on hand at the close of business Saturday, June 19, was only $25,519,973, as compared with a balance of $137,312,682.86 on the same date two years ago, when republican laws controlled the revenues and expenditures. The deficit, as shown by the excess of all disbursements over all revenues for the fiscal year up to June 19 was $120,671,159.81.

Nobody will have the temerity to assert that the democratic party has not had a new idea in 30 years. The political graveyard has too many tombstones marking the final resting places of some once notorious new ideas of that party. And now there are "none so poor as to do them reverence."

REUNION DEDICATED TO OLD TIMERS

On July 1-2-3, for the first time since Colonel Theodore Roosevelt held the Reunion of his famous Rough Riders, back in '99, Las Vegas is to be the meeting place for the Cowboys of New Mexico who will again be able to talk over the days of yore when they were lads on the Range, and to renew the acquaintances which were formed back in the stirring times of the Real West. Many of the old timers who are still with us, will remember as vividly as the yesterday, when they were part of the handful of pioneers who held in check the roving savages, of how it used to be dangerous to venture even from the camp fire without being "heeled", of the hardships and suffering—yes, they remember it all, those times which now are but a memory, but days in spite of all the danger entailed, happy ones, yea, the happiest of their long lives,

This is the First Annual Reunion a permanent event, not only to allow the boys to show their skill in the different contests, but chiefly because of the element of fellowship the reunion has in it. From now on the men who spend the lonely hours on the horizon-wide range will be able to look ahead to the time when they will meet face to face their boon friends and companions. Las Vegas will be the focal point for every man who calls himself a cowboy, as each year rolls around. The reunion promises increasingly, judging from this first reunion, to bring together an army of the Knights of the Saddle and Lariat, the very cream of New Mexico's most daring riders, ropers and steel-nerved performers. But better than this, it will bring together the men and women who, through their loyalty, their belief in New Mexico, have helped to make this beautiful Sunshine State the great empire it is today.

In the centuries past the trend of migration has been ever westward. Most of the brave men and women who dared to fare forth into "The Great American Desert" of only a few short years ago, have gone home to the Great Reunion where an omnipotent and all merciful "Boss," will, we know, judge lightly the few failings of those early pioneers and credit them on the right side of His ledger with the service which they have performed in wresting from the wilderness and the savage an Eldorado, verily, a land "where milk and honey floweth."

It is, therefore, to these brave men whom we call "old timer," "pioneer," whose names will never, perhaps, be graven upon ornate ornaments, but who, nevertheless, are to us the Heroes of Heroes—to these Real Men of the Real West—we respectfully dedicate this First Annual Reunion of the New Mexico Cowboys—P. H. LeNoir in foreword to Cowboys' Reunion program.

STOLEN BEER FOUND

Albuquerque, N. M., June 29.—Higinio Sena, suspected of having in his possession 25 bottles of beer stolen from the brewery, where he is employed, was fined $20 by Judge Craig in the city court this morning. He was fined as a vagrant.

Policeman Martin Byrnes met a man whom he recognized as a brewery employe at Fifth street and Tijeras avenue early yesterday morning with a sack containing 25 bottles of beer. The man acted suspiciously and Byrnes placed him under arrest. The prisoner lay down on the sidewalk, and Byrnes found himself helpless. He finally agreed to let the prisoner go if he would promise to appear in court this morning. The prisoner said he would. He told the confiding Byrnes that he was José Vigil.

Vigil works at the brewery. He was much astonished when he learned that he was expected to appear in court and explain where he got 25 bottles of beer.

Byrnes was sure that he had cited the right man but when he finally became convinced that Vigil couldn't have been in the case he identified Sena as the man with the sack. Sena tried to establish an alibi, but what might have served him in a larceny case didn't go in a matter of vagrancy.

The beer went back to the brewery. Byrnes held on to the 25 bottles when he let the fake Vigil go.

RACE REGENERATION

Chicago, June 29.—"Propositions for Race Regeneration" were presented here today in the bureau of sanitary science of the American Institute of Homeopathy by Dr. Elizabeth Hamilton Muncie of Brooklyn, N. Y. Dr. Muncie said her conclusions were based upon tests extending over a quarter of a century. Her plan included the demand for one standard of morals for men and women, and the ballot for women.

"Man has so miserably failed," she said that "Washington Irving's Clinging Vine" will have to take the place of his 'Sturdy Oak'—but not because the vine wants to make the change. No; every normal woman desires the fellowship of a splendid, strong, noble man, but she does not propose to put up with tobacco and whisky-soaked diseased men any longer."

Dr. Muncie strongly advocated instructors for training parents, compulsory reporting of certain sex diseases, and sterilization of the unfit; and "the prohibition of the liquor traffic, without which prostitution and white slavery could not exist."

IMPROVEMENTS DON'T COUNT

Santa Fe, June 29.—An important land office decision, which will interest hundreds of entrymen in New Mexico has just been handed down and provides that a desert land entryman is not entitled in making annual proof, to credit for improvements made upon the land by a former entryman; that when land is relinquished to the government, the work of improvement must be begun all over; that the transfer is absolute, and just the same as if it had never been entered upon at all by the first occupant; that he or anybody else must comply with the law relating to improvements just the same as if there had never been a dollar spent on the land.

BORAH'S FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY

Boise, Ida., June 29.—William E. Borah, United States senator from Idaho and a possible candidate for the republican presidential nomination next year, attained his fiftieth birthday anniversary today, having been born June 29, 1865. Senator Borah was born in Illinois and received his early education in that state. He was admitted to the bar in 1889 and practiced his profession in Kansas for a short time before coming to Idaho in 1891. He is now serving his second term in the senate.

TO WOMEN WHO OVERDO

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty. In order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. Soon a weakness or displacement is brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse. For 40 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved a boon and a blessing to women in this condition, by restoring their systems to a normal healthy condition. Why don't you try?—Adv.

Word comes from South Africa that Reggie Walker, one of the world's greatest sprinters, has kept in training while fighting against the Germans. Evidently intended as a boost for Reggie as a runner.

TO DAM WHITE ROCK

Santa Fe, June 29.—That the United States Indian service is seriously studying the feasibility of damming the White Rock canyon and of a high line canal to supply all of the Indian pueblos from Cochiti south to Isleta and to sell the surplus waters to others between Domingo and Albuquerque, is the word that comes from the New Mexico building at San Diego. For years private parties have been filing on water and power rights in the White Rock canyon, but Uncle Sam evidently intends to grasp the proposition as he did the Elephant Butte.

CROPS FOR CIVILIANS

Dr. A. V. Kidder, the Harvard scientist, is finding an immense amount of material in the Pecos burial mound he struck accidentally while clearing ground for a dump. Besides skeletons there have been taken out an abundance of prayer fetishes and stone implements but very little pottery. Jesse Nusbaum of the School of American Archaeology, will join Mr. Kidder and his forces on Wednesday morning and proceed to strengthen the foundations of the Pecos mission church ruins. Eugene Ferry Smith, an attorney of San Diego, and Francis C. Wilson, the Santa Fe attorney, went to Las Vegas today to straighten out the title to the ruins which Gross Kelly & Company have deeded to the School of American Archaeology.

A number of the women connected with the convents and belonging to the sisterhoods of the church also were in attendance.

At the completion of the mass the delegates adjourned to the Cathedral school for the first or the convention sessions. Bishop Thomas J. This afternoon the convention divided into section conferences for the discussion of problems relating to the colleges, seminaries, parochial schools and other branches of educational work.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 29.—Harold Bell Wright, author of "The Eyes of the World," etc., has chosen as the model for his $200,000 home and studio near Hollywood, California, one of the dormitories of the New Mexico state university in this city. "Hokcna," the main dormitory for women on the university campus was picked by the author during a recent visit, as the most representative building he had encountered of native American architecture. It is a careful adaptation of Pueblo Indian architecture to modern uses and is used throughout in the university buildings. The author's Hollywood residence and studio will have a frontage of 273 feet, overlooking the San Fernando valley and will be one of the most elaborate structures of a section dotted with rich homes. Since the state university adopted the pueblo style of architecture its buildings have been widely copied not only in New Mexico but all through the southwest.

LANDSCAPE ARTIST GREATLY IMPRESSED

ROYAL HILL MILLESON SAYS HE WAS INSPIRED BY MOUNTAIN
SCENERY

Royal Hill Milleson, the well known American landscape painter, whose home is in Chicago, was in Las Vegas Saturday. Mr. Milleson had been spending a month at Harvey's ranch, painting and sketching. He was impressed with the beauties of New Mexico's scenery. Mr. Milleson left Saturday afternoon for Santa Fe, where he expects to find additional material for his work.

Mr. Milleson said his visit here had been a source of genuine surprise and delight. He described the picturesque features of San Miguel county as "ravishing" and "inspiring" and "glorious," presenting, as they do, an ever changing, ever shifting series of natural charms to attract the painter's brush.

The trip over the scenic trail from Las Vegas to Harvey's resort, among the clouds, Mr. Milleson says is well worth a journey across the continent. Such vistas of blue sky and dazzling white clouds, such grand forests, such profound depths and splendid heights, mingled with the odor of wild roses and pines, thrilled Mr. Milleson's artistic soul, and he went away inspired to do greater work. Mr. Milleson has painted some wonderful pictures and is ranked among America's successful landscape painters. He is the author of a book entitled "The Artist's Point of View," an exceedingly interesting little volume.

Mr. Milleson was shown through the Charles Ifeld company's establishment by the head of the firm, and was greatly surprised and pleased, he said, to see a wholesale house of such dimensions in this part of the southwest. He said the place would compare well with Chicago's big firms.

SILVER CITY NORMAL ENROLLMENT WAS 679

THIS INCLUDED ALL DEPARTMENTS DURING ALL TERMS OF LAST YEAR

Santa Fe, June 28.—The department of education today received copies of the new catalogue of the New Mexico State Normal School of Silver City. Its 166 pages are interspersed with attractive half tones of the school and its surroundings. A complete alphabetical index is rather a novelty for a school catalogue but is convenient. The statistics for last summer show an attendance of 141 in the normal college department and 146 in the high school department, in addition to 14 special and seven institute students, making a total of 308. The winter term attendance was 28 in the college department, 109 in the school, 32 in the commercial department, 13 special students, while the attendance in the training school which includes pupils from the kindergarten to the eighth grades was 160. There were a total of 304 resident students and 67 correspondence students and a grand total enrollment for the year of 679.

President Enloe of the school today addressed the fellowship class of Federal Judge William H. Pope in the Presbyterian Sunday school and tomorrow afternoon at the summer school in the Old Palace will deliver an educational lecture, while Miss Sturdevant will give a dramatic recital and the summer school chorus will render several selections.

MIX AND COMPANY TO ARRIVE THURSDAY

NOTED COWBOY ACTOR AND SE-
LIG TROUPE TO BE LOCATED
HERE FOR A YEAR

The secretary of the Commercial club has received a telegram from Thomas Persons, manager of the Selig Polyscope company, to the effect that the two producing organizations scheduled to be stationed here during the next year will arrive in the near future. The company in charge of Tom Mix, the noted cowboy motion picture actor and producer, will reach Las Vegas on Thursday afternoon. The Commercial club suggests that all persons at the Santa Fe station to take trains for the reunion grounds, and as many others as possible, give Mix and his associates a rousing welcome.

Mix wired yesterday that he anticipated great pleasure in attendance at the reunion. His message came as an answer to a telegraphic invitation from the cowboys to hurry up and get here for the big roundup.

PROFESSIONALS NOT BARRED BY COWBOYS

SEVERAL CHAMPIONSHIP HOLD-
ERS WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION
AT THE REUNION

Included in the list of contestants in the events of the Cowboys' reunion are several professional riders and ropers. These men will likely put on a number of exhibition stunts. The cowboys who are not professional exhibitors, but who are professionals when it comes to practical work on the ranges, are glad of an opportunity to compete with such noted wearers of the chap and the sombrero.

Jack "Forked" Fritz, Johnny Judd, a world's champion roper; Jim Gies of Clayton and Joe Ryan of Cheyenne, formerly with one of the leading motion picture companies, and one of the best riders in the country, will be among the "profesh" contingent.

"Jamboree" Saturday Night

The "big jamboree" of the Cowboys' reunion will occur on Saturday evening between 10 and 12 o'clock. The reunion association will have its annual meeting in the Duncan opera house earlier in the evening. This will be followed by a big parade, through the downtown streets and around the Plaza. Everybody possessing an auto, a buggy, a motorcycle, a bicycle or a pair of legs is expected to participate in the parade. It is planned to use sparklers and tape confetti. Everybody is expected to have a gloriously time. All kinds of harmless fun, even if a little grotesque, will be permitted.

Everybody is requested to decorate his house as well as his store or office. Especially on the occasion of the "big jamboree," the committee desires to have every porch light in the city burning. This will help to make the city look attractive and brilliantly illumined.

EVERYBODY ELIGIBLE TO ENTER BIG PARADE

CHAIRMAN O'MALLEY SAYS THE PAGEANT WILL FORM AT 9:30 O'CLOCK

The merchants are falling in line with offers to place floats in the parade that will open the Cowboys' reunion in a manner that is bringing joy to the heart of Chairman Charles O'Malley of the parade committee. In all about 40 floats will be in line.

Chairman O'Malley wants to make the parade one of the things connected with the reunion that will be long remembered. He wishes it to be understood that the procession is not limited to special persons. Anybody who can beg, borrow or steal a saddle horse, a horse and rig of any description, or an automobile, may participate. The only requirement is that all persons who are intending to be in the parade be at the old circus grounds on Sixth street near St. Anthony's sanitarium at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The committee wishes everybody to join in the parade and help make it a success.

The townsfolk will continue in the parade along the line of march that has been announced previously, until the Plaza on the West side is reached. There the procession will partially disband, the cow punchers and their outfits proceeding to Gallinas park on the Hot Springs boulevard and the townspeople dispersing to their homes to prepare for the journey to the park to witness the opening of the races at 2 o'clock. The parade will be the classiest seen in Las Vegas in many years, it is confidently expected.

French await a clearer insight into the next move projected by the Germans. From Lake Victoria Nyanza, in Africa, the British war office reports a fruitful attack on the German fortified fort of Bukoba, the movement being made both from land and water with the result that on June 25 the fort was destroyed, the wireless station put out of action and many boats sunk and guns captured and destroyed.

GERMANY TO GIVE SATISFACTORY REPLY

AMBASSADOR GERARD SENDS ENCOURAGING NEWS FROM CITY OF BERLIN

Washington, June 28.—A favorable reply by Germany to the last American note on submarine warfare is indicated in today's state department advices from Berlin.

The advices came from Ambassador Gerard, and were notably the first of a definite nature received since the American note reached the German foreign office. The exact nature of the ambassador's message was not divulged and it did not become known whether he revealed any indication of the trend of the forthcoming German reply. The ambassador's dispatch was of sufficient detail, however, to put officials in an optimistic attitude. It was communicated at once to President Wilson at the summer White House at Cornish, N. H.

Ambassador Gerard based his observations on the favorable effect which the visit of Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, emissary of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador here, had produced on officials of the German government. Dr. Gerhard was understood by Ambassador Gerard to have reported that public opinion in the United States had been growing more and more favorable to Germany when the sinking of the Lusitania undid what had been accomplished.

Gerhard made it clear also that the United States did not want war, but wanted a satisfactory reply to its representations. German officials are eager, according to Ambassador Gerard's report, to give such an answer, but they have made it clear that Germany cannot make any concessions which would destroy the effectiveness of the submarine. The German government, it is understood, is seeking to find some method by which Americans traveling on ships primarily used for passenger traffic shall be safe while the submarine continues its activity against freight ships carrying chiefly contraband.

Just what proposal Germany will make officials here can not conjecture, but since Germany seems to be willing to safeguard the rights of Americans on ships primarily engaged in passenger traffic, an adherence to the principles expressed in the American note that non-combatants should be immune from attack—would seem, in the opinion of officials here, to be recognized.

No information had been received on what the attitude of Germany would be toward assuming liability for the loss of American lives on the Lusitania, but the feeling prevails that if a satisfactory arrangement can be made as to the future conduct of marines toward vessels carrying Americans, Germany would suggest a basis for a favorable adjustment of the Lusitania case as well.

SADDLERY MEN MEET

Beginning today and continuing until Friday daily sessions will be held by the Wholesale Saddlery association and the National Saddlery Manufacturers' association, the two leading organizations of the trade in this country.

HUDSPETH GOES VISITING

Santa Fe, June 28.—United States Marshal A. H. Hudspeth spent the past week at his old haunts in Lincoln county looking after his mining and legal interests and private affairs.

STUDENTS TO GIVE FIRE DRILL THURSDAY

ROUTE OF REUNION PARADE IS CHANGED TO PASS NORMAL UNIVERSITY

In order that the students of the New Mexico Normal University summer school may have an opportunity to see the big parade with which the Cowboys' reunion will be opened on Thursday morning, the route of the pageant has been changed. President Frank H. H. Roberts of the school has arranged to have the students participate in a fire drill just as the parade passes the Normal. This will enable the public to witness the efficiency of the fire drill and will bring all the students out on the campus in time for the parade.

The parade will follow the route as announced some time ago until it reaches the corner of Eighth street and Douglas avenue. There it will turn north on Eighth street and go as far as Main avenue. The parade then will follow Main avenue through its junction with National and to the Plaza.

The Normal students will be released from their studies and recitations on Thursday and Friday afternoons, but would not have had an opportunity to witness the parade had it not been for the changing of the route.

COWBOYS' DANCE WILL SURE BE SOME'E-VENT'

BIG SOCIAL EVENT OF THE REUNION WILL HAVE MANY UNIQUE FEATURES

"Butch" Jones of the committee in charge of the Cowboys' dance that will be one of the features of the First Annual Reunion of the Cowboys of New Mexico has completed the drawing up of the dance programs, which soon will be received from the hands of the printers. The program is a handsome affair.

Every indication promises that the dance will be one of the most enjoyable events ever "pulled off" in Las Vegas. Elaborate preparations have been made. The affair will take place in the Duncan opera house on Friday night, commencing at 8 o'clock. The floor will be put in first class shape and every arrangement will be made for the comfort and convenience of those in attendance. Both the Simison orchestra and the Las Vegas Symphony orchestra have been engaged, so the music will be almost continuous.

The program contains 24 dances. The first 12 are real cowboy dances and will be danced only by the cowpunchers who are present in their regular "togs." Every cowboys desirous of participating in these numbers is notified that he must show up clad in chaps, boots and spurs. The second portion of the program may be participated in by all. A short intermission between the first and second portions of the program will be filled with a song, "My Lover is a Cowboy," by Bright Bagley.

Admission to the dance will be $1 a couple. Extra ladies will be charged 50 cents. All wearing the Reunion badge will be admitted to the hall free of charge, and they are privileged to take their families in with them. All members of the committees that will have charge of the various phases of the dance are requested to dress in cowboy regalia. The committees in charge of the affair are:

Committee on general arrangements—Salem Curtis, James A. Whitmore, G. M. Jones; finance committee—John W. Harris, Jr., William H. Springer, Phil H. LeNoir; reception committee—Orrin Blood, James A. Whitmore, B. Bagley, Lawrence Bagley, G. M. Jones, J. O. Neafus; floor committee—G. M. Jones, John W. Harris, Jr., James A. Whitmore, William H. Springer, W. L. Humphries, Hallett Reynolds; door committee—Leslie C. Witten, Walter A. Naylor, "Tex" Austin.

EVERYBODY GETS A BID TO THE WEDDING

CLARK-THOMSON NUPTIALS AT-TRACT ATTENTION OF MIS-
SOURIANS

Bowling Green, Mo., June 29.—Wednesday next will be a red-letter day for the city of Bowling Green and the county of Pike. On that day Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the speaker of the national house of representatives, and Mrs. Clark is to become the bride of James M. Thomson of New Orleans.

For the moment the eyes of the nation will be focused on this picturesque little city. Many of the "big" men of the country will be here to attend the event. Special correspondents will be on hand to "cover" the wedding for the city newspapers and the motion picture men are coming with their cameras and tripods.

To say that Bowling Green is all aflutter in anticipation of the wedding is putting it mildly. The great problem now confronting the citizens is how to care for the army of visitors. When Champ Clark invited every man, woman and child in Missouri to attend the wedding, with leave to bring along the "hun' dawgs," he failed to take into consideration Bowling Green's limited accommodations. The possibility of housing the visitors in tents was suggested by one member of the citizens' committee, but after much debate it was decided the better way would be for the people to keep "open house," as was done at the time of the encampment. The proprietor of the local hotel is preparing to put in cots and the manager of the "Busy Bee" lunchroom declares he will have coffee and sandwiches enough for all comers.

A proposal to decorate the town in honor of the occasion has been voted down as likely to detract from the dignity of the event. However, there is a very insistent minority holding out for the decoration scheme and it is possible that a "welcome" arch may be set up opposite the depot as a sort of compromise. The stores along the main street and around the court house square are furnishing up their fronts so that the town may present a spick and span appearance on the eventful day.

"Honeyshuck," the spacious, old-fashioned home of the Clarks, is a beehive of preparation. The carpenters completed the work of enlarging the old palace early in the week, and now the decorators are giving it a brighter tone inside, while landscape gardeners are beautifying the surrounding grounds. The public has not been let into the secret of what is going on in the big kitchen of the old house, but the presence of the best "old mammy" cook in Pike county, whose fame as a cake baker has spread for many miles around, has led the neighbors to surmise that some great and glorious surprises are in store for those who attend the wedding feast.

Wednesday's ceremony will mark the culmination of a romance begun at the national democratic convention at Baltimore in 1912, where the bride-elect's father was one of the candidates for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Thomson, as a member of the staff of the governor of Louisiana, a state which sent a large "Champ Clark" delegation to the convention, met his bride-to-be at one of the many fetes marking the earlier sessions of the stormy week which resulted in the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

With her brother, Bennett Clark, Miss Clark passed the entire week in the convention city. Chaperoning her was her maternal aunt, Mrs. Anne Hamilton Pitzer, who, as a delegate from Colorado, had a seat on the floor of the convention.

The acquaintance progressed rapidly through many visits made by Miss Clark to Summit Point, W. Va., where Mr. Thomson's father, Dr. Pembroke Thomson, and sister, Miss Helen Thomson, maintain the old family estate. The engagement of the young people was announced last winter, a few days after Christmas.

Miss Clark is 19 years old and has taken a prominent part in the social life of Washington, where she has passed much of her time. She also has taken an active interest in social welfare work and has mastered the intricacies of domestic science.

Mr. Thomson is 28 years old and a graduate of Johns Hopkins University. He is a member of the family distinguished since colonial times in the history of West Virginia and Virginia. For several years he was Washington correspondent of southern newspapers. Later he proved a very successful newspaper publisher in Norfolk, Va. Several years ago he disposed of his interests in Norfolk at a profit of more than $100,000, and has since been engaged as the editor and publisher of the New Orleans Item.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED

Gallup, N. M., June 28.—The bodies of Curt Cronemeyer and C. A. ("Red") McDonald, who were killed late Friday evening near Allantown, Ariz., have been brought here and burial took place this afternoon. The crime seems to be definitely fixed on four Mexicans who were seen at the store by some Indians just before the crime was committed. Officers have been able to track four men going from the store. Two suspects are now held here but the belief grows that they are not the right parties. In view of the pursuit by officers it is not improbable that other arrests will follow. McDonald was shot twice, once through the head. Cronemeyer appears to have been shot only once, the bullet passing through his hand and thence to his body. The indications are that he had given the criminals chase or was chased by them after he had been shot. So far as can be known no money was taken from the store, fright apparently having seized the perpetrators of the crime.

SANCHEZ SHOTS SANCHEZ

Santa Fe, June 29.—The fourth shooting in ten days is reported from Roswell, the victim this time being Pedro Sanchez, the bullet striking just above Pedro's right eye. It is believed the wounded man will recover. Manuel Sanchez was arrested charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

WHITMAN LOOKS TOWARD THE CAPITAL

GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK WOULD LIKE TO HAVE PRESIDENTIAL CHAIR

Washington, June 29.—The report that a "Whitman for president" boom may be launched tomorrow at Amherst, Mass., where the New York governor is to be the speaker at the college commencement, has failed to attract any great amount of attention among the politicians in Washington. The veteran leaders of both the older parties are inclined to regard Mr. Whitman in the light of the puglist who is told to "go out and get a reputation" before he seeks the highest title. That the country at large is inclined to take the same view is indicated by the lack of enthusiasm aroused by Mr. Whitman's recent transcontinental tour. According to accounts that have reached here from numerous points in the middle and far west, the New York governor failed to attract as much public attention in the various cities he visited as had been paid a short time before to Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, former Vice President Fairbanks of Indiana and other of the republican presidential possibilities who have found a visit to the big fair at the Golden Gate a convenient excuse for getting over the country and feeling out public sentiment in regard to the G. O. P. nomination next year.

Mr. Whitman is highly regarded by the rank and file of the republican party, but the general sentiment appears to be that he should wait a while before seeking higher honors. He is young in years and his experience in public life has been comparatively limited. By the time the presidential nomination is made next year he shall have served only 18 months in the gubernatorial chair, which is not a very long period in which to demonstrate his executive ability.

Many of the prominent party leaders, particularly those in the west, are outspoken in their opinion that the time has gone by when the mere fact that a man is governor of New York places him in the running for the presidential nomination. Ever since Virginia's monopoly of supplying the country with presidents ended, as was pointed out in a recent editorial in a New York newspaper, nearly every governor of the empire state has had visions of occupying that high office. Election figures that demonstrated that the people had selected him as their governor have always read like a prophecy to the occupant of the executive chamber at Albany that the nation would surely turn to him as its chief magistrate.

Yet to only three of New York's governors has this dream come true—Martin Van Buren, Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt. Of these Cleveland is the only one who left Albany to go directly to the White House. The other two governor-presidents held other offices in the interim.

All of the other ambitious New York governors fell by the wayside. The brilliant William H. Seward, 20 years after his governorship, went down to defeat in convention before Lincoln, the rail-splitter from Illinois; Samuel J. Tilden, despite his great popularity as a reform executive, had to give way to the claims of Ohio's modest governor—Rutherford B. Hayes.

Charles E. Hughes, Levi P. Morton, David B. Hill, John A. Dix, Horatio Seymour, Silas Wright, DeWitt Clinton—all had stirring thoughts of the White House as they occupied the gubernatorial chair at Albany.

This record would indicate that, even in the past, the presidency has not been handed over to a man merely because he happened to be governor of the state with the largest electoral vote.

Mr. Whitman's reputation up to date rests almost wholly on his successful prosecution of evildoers. In this connection it may not be impertinent to call attention to the fact that nearly all of the public men who have attracted attention in late years through their more or less sensational work as prosecuting attorneys have missed their step when they sought to climb to the top of the political ladder, among the notable cases in point being those of Hadley of Missouri and Heney of California.

Mr. Whitman made an excellent record as district attorney of New York county. Should he make as good a record as governor of the state he naturally would be regarded as a strong possibility for the presidential nomination in 1920. As he is still a comparatively young man—he will not be 47 until next August—many of his friends share the belief that it would be wise for him to lay aside any presidential ambitions he may entertain at present and by waiting four years be in condition to run a better race.

DAY OF PRAYER FOR MOSLEMS

New York, June 29.—A call has been sent out to all the evangelical churches of America by the Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, famous missionary to India, and a number of other workers among the Moslem population, requesting that tomorrow be observed as a day of prayer for the Moslem world. The date marks the 60th anniversary of the martyrdom of Raymond Lull, the first and greatest missionary to Moslems, and a large number of denominations have planned to hold some appropriate observance of the anniversary. The appeal asks that the day of prayer be included in the program, and that those denominations which have not planned any celebration of the Lull anniversary also observe the day with prayer.

Santa Fe, June 29.—A seeker of knowledge in Birmingham, Ala., writes the Museum of New Mexico that he is much interested in the "astegs" and desires to know all that is known about them and about expeditions to the Hopi country. He adds that he is especially interested in "the symbol of the mermaid and a rough sketch of a trident, with many other hieroglyphics," which are reported to have been discovered near a "village locally called Albuquerque." He concludes with: "Kindly send me particulars."

Those exporters who have declared right along that the Boston Braves were only flash champions are now beginning to inflate the upper part of their waistcoats.

The monument has been erected on the site of old Fort Boone, on the crown of the Cumberland mountains, where the old "Wilderness Road," now a modern pike and soon to be known as "Boone Way", passes through the gap. The point is on the Kentucky and Virginia border, about 300 yards from the corner rock of these two states and Tennessee. The memorial marking the site has been erected through the joint efforts of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Interstate Boone Trail committee of North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

TUB TOO SMALL

London, June 30.—In the trial of George Joseph Smith, charged with the murder of three wives who died in their baths. Dr. Spilsbury, a noted pathologist, today gave expert testimony of the varying efforts of a sudden fit or fainting spell upon a person in a bath. In the case of Alice Burnham, one of Smith's three brides, Dr. Spilsbury declared would have been impossible for a person of her size to have been in such a condition submerged in either a sitting or a lying position, in the bath tub that had been produced in court. Replying to counsel for the prisoner, Dr. Spilsbury declared that with the amount of water that was in the tub it would not have been difficult to drown a person forcibly.

BUCHAREST HAVING DELIGHTFUL TIMES

RUMANIA IS PROSPEROUS BECAUSE OF THE GREAT EUROPEAN WAR

Bucharest, June 30.—Bucharest, long known as the "pocket Paris" now boasts of being the gayest city in Europe. The war has brought a great deal of money into Rumania, and those who have benefitted are staying at home to spend their newfound fortunes, for there is little to attract a traveler these days to Paris, or Vienna or London. Much of the money is the result of Rumania's excellent bargaining with Austria and Germany for her last wheat crop and for other articles of wartime need.

It is sufficiently easy to spend money in Bucharest, and it is part of the cult of the city that pleasure can only be commensurate with outlay. Most articles of clothing cost five times as much here as in Paris or London. The hotels ask $6 a day for a very ordinary room, and meals are correspondingly costly.

The women of Bucharest model their style and carriage closely after the example of Paris, but not the chastened Paris of wartime. Feminine heels are higher in Bucharest than anywhere else in the world, and the eastern temperament of Rumania allows more exaggeration in the use of rouge and powder than Paris would sanction. The men—that is, the men of the fashionable set—would be called too well dressed in London or New York.

Society appears at its best in the afternoon, when everyone that aspires to be anyone goes for a drive on the Chaussee. The horse-drawn vehicle is still quite the thing, with coachman and driver in velvet livery and silken sash of gaudiest color. After the drive comes 5 o'clock tea, taken either at home or in one of the fashionable cafes. Tea is followed by a leisurely promenade down the Callea Victoria, which is the Riverside Drive of Bucharest and like it the starting point of many a romance.

The evening is taken up with dinner and the theater. Then at midnight, when the concerts and theaters are finished, the night cafes open. There are cabarets and dance halls by the score, and everywhere plenty of music. Prices are on a scale which it would be hard to beat in New York. The best supper places offer customers a varied entertainment—the latest Tango dances, the newest, wildest Hungarian music from zimbals and pan-pipes, and vaudeville numbers of many types.

Flower women and child beggars in great numbers haunt the neighborhood of the cafes until almost dawn. They are allowed to enter even the best restaurants and circulate around among the tables, where they gather a few coins and many bits of foods.

The afternoon promenade on the Callea Victoria strikes the foreign visitor as a little freer and more unconventional than anything of the same kind to be found in European or American cities. The man who smiles at a lady he does not know is not considered a person to be frowned upon, but is rather regarded by the majority as a commendably dashing and gallant fellow.

BIG CANAL OPENED

Grand Junction, Colo., June 30.—The high line canal, 70 miles long, which will irrigate more than 50,000 acres of government arid land, was opened here today. John J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the house appropriations committee, pulled the lever which put in motion electrical machinery that opened the headgates from Grand river. The house appropriation committee, together with a large number of other government officials and citizens, witnessed the ceremony. The canal was constructed in four years for $10,000,000.

How to Keep Well

(By Charles G. Percival, M. D.)

The United States lost nearly a billion dollars through illness among its wage earners last year according to the United States public health service.

Not only was this a loss in dollars and cents to the wage earners themselves but it was an economic loss to the country. In addition the working efficiency of the wage earners was lowered just so much after the illness and during the time of recuperation from the illness.

Probably 50 per cent of this loss or one half a billion dollars was due to carelessness and ignorance of the common laws of hygiene and could have been saved to the country had those who had been ill been educated on proper diet, clothing, external and internal bathing and the errors of overeating.

The United States government through the public health service is endeavoring to educate the American public at large along these lines and by such education, hopes to do away with this vast loss and with this idea in view has just issued a pamphlet entitled, "Fighting Trim," by Surgeon J. M. Eager who lays great stress upon the value of personal endeavor of every individual as of the highest public importance in the organized war against disease. He claims that the wonderful victories that have been won in combating infectious diseases have had a tendency to divert public attention from the equally important personal body fortification against all disease. He asks, "Are we prepared against the attacks of the enemy?" Dr. Eager lays special stress on the dangers threatening by disease which he calls the permanent enemy of mankind, and says, "Are we all personally prepared for the hand to hand encounter which sooner or later we will be forced into. Unless you are willing to succumb without a struggle, battle you must, no matter how feeble your fighting abilities. Peace between nations may not be an unattainable hope but even when the much desired era of human concord comes around and armed strife among men ceases there still will be the battle against disease. The ceaseless struggle for a few more years of health and life. The foe is a desperate one who so far as victory over the individual fighter is concerned is certain in the end to win the battle against disease.

In the defense against disease two things are necessary—a systematic union of fighters, sanitary organization, personal preparedness, all the product of intelligent and diligent personal hygiene. Personal preparedness is the patriotic duty of every citizen as an aid to national sanitary defense. No man as a member of society is morally free to live unhygienically or to acquire disease through lack of personal care.

Health is a man's most valuable possession. Without it he cannot hold or enjoy anything else that falls to his lot or that he wins in the battle of life. Without health he is a burden to himself and an encumbrance to others. As victims of life's ill chance, they are entitled to the most sympathetic consideration, it is a sad fact that the sick cannot but be considered as impediments in the conflict of existence. Wealth, position, friendship, ability to help others are largely discounted by physical infirmity.

The health-making attitude of mind is represented as a profitable talent and fortunately one that can be easily acquired. Dr. Eager calls attention to the large available mass of literature on health subjects—work, exercise, relaxation, sleep, fresh air, proper temperatures, food, cooking, cleanliness, etc., that should be judiciously selected and studied. Every person must learn for himself what peril threatens in his special place in life.

Studies of health subjects in schools and clubs, its exposition in public lectures, newspaper articles and government bulletins, have the salutary tendency, it is stated, to promote wholesome practices as a habitual exercise and develop the precious quality of automatically choosing in every action and habit of life those courses that conduce to bodily soundness.

RECREATION A MATTER OF PUBLIC CONCERN

PROMINENT PHYSICIAN TELLS HOMEOPATHS EXERCISE IS A NECESSITY

Chicago, June 28.—Recreation has become a matter of public concern, said Dr. Anson Cameron of Chicago, contending in an address before the American Institute of Homeopathy here today that "in the past the attitude toward recreation in America has been that of the Puritan to whom joy is danger."

Dr. Cameron was speaking before the bureau of pedagogy of the institute, discussing the "Effect of Play on Mental Development and Education."

"The fear that the love of play will interfere with the love of work and so undermine character, is groundless," he said. "Play develops organic vitality, nervous energy and skill and interests specific attention and enthusiasm together.

"Work is less effective. It lacks enthusiasm and develops only in a negative way when the child does things foreign to its nature in obedience to commands from an adult. Such lack of activity depresses vitality. Modern psychology teaches that joy is power, that right recreation is not merely wholesome but developmental.

"Modern education, stimulated by recent profound social changes, is experiencing a period of restlessness, discontent and experimentation. Several new types of school are being tried; one is the play school in which the teacher's interest is centered in the children and their activities and not merely in subjects of study. Another new type is the vacation school which recognizes that the child's education is going on every day.

"Then we have also the open air school for the anaemic and tubercular child, but the mass of children are kept indoors to be devitalized and subjected to a string of diseases. To obtain the best educational advantages a child must be blind, deaf, feeble minded or incorrigible. Then he is given exercise, play grounds, gymnasiums, baths, fresh air in abundance, gardens and play shops. Normal children must get along the best they can without them.

"The real business of the child is not to pass examinations but to grow up. The forms of our pleasure seeking disclose what we really are. Work is important, but it is only one of the important things. 'It is always the spirit that plays.' Education must tell us not only how to get the most out of the working hours, but also how to spend most profitably and joyously the hours that remain."

ALFALFA A FAILURE

Santa Fe, June 28.—The State College has taken cognizance of the reports that alfalfa is no longer the profit making crop in New Mexico that it had been advertised to be in former years. In a bulletin just issued the experiment station says: "Alfalfa is a drug on the southwestern hay markets. On every hand the farmer is crying out for help in the sale of his alfalfa. The time will come when it will be absolutely impossible for us to sell any great quantity from our farms that will pay for the water, to say nothing of the baling and cutting. We must have less alfalfa but more kaffir and milo. The kaffir and milo must go into silo and that silage must go into cows." The bulletin also warns against an exclusive diet of alfalfa for hogs. What is said of the over-production of alfalfa and the lack of profit in alfalfa growing, is also true of fruit growing in New Mexico. The college recommends diversified crops and feeding of stock on the farms as a remedy.

PRAISES HOMEOPATHY

Chicago, June 28.—Dr. Royal S. Copeland of New York chairman of the bureau of homeopathy of the American Institute of Homeopathy in an address before the institute today declared that the mortality rate of homeopathic practice is far lower than that of any other school.

"We believe that homeopathy shortens disease, lessens human suffering and prolongs life," he said. "These facts, if they be facts, should be given to society. It is positively criminal to neglect the promulgation of any knowledge that will materially benefit the human race."

Dr. Copeland estimated that at least seven million Americans are being cared for by homeopathic doctors, a number, he said, equal to the adherents of any of the leading religious denominations. He added:

"If homeopathy were as well organized as one of these bodies, it would move forward irresistibly."

NEW YORK'S BIG BOND ISSUE

New York, June 28.—Much interest is manifested in New York banking circles in the sale of the $71,000,000 city bonds tomorrow. The bonds are to bear interest at a rate of 4½ per cent, which is a somewhat higher rate than the bankers had anticipated. The issue represents a higher amount than any previous flotation by the city, with the exception of the $100,000,000 of short-time obligations put out last fall.

NEW MEXICO NEAR CHINA, ENGLISH THOUGHT

EARLY BRITISH WRITER SAID
CATHAY WAS NOT FAR AWAY FROM HERE

Santa Fe, June 26—European books, mostly Spanish, printed as early as 1557, bound in vellum, appertaining to Mexico and New Mexico in great part, were placed on exhibit today in the Thomas B. Catron, United States senator. They are but a few volumes of summer school at the Old Palace, by hundreds purchased by the senator years ago in Durango and Mexico City, being part of the famous Fischer library.

So important was the purchase that Mr. Catron sent to Mexico the late Adolf F. Bandelier, archaeologist and historian, to examine the books and pass upon their authenticity. Father Fischer was a German by birth who was ordained to the priesthood at Durango, Mexico. His life ambition was to write a history of Mexico, and for that purpose gathered a great library. Seven times he wrote the manuscript and seven times destroyed it, and death prevented his making the eighth attempt. He was interrupted by the invasion of Maximilian and became the trusted adviser of the latter. He was appointed private secretary to the emperor and after Maximilian's execution he wandered about Europe purchasing books and manuscripts bearing on the history of Mexico. Especially rich is the library in legal volumes. The collection was brought to Santa Fe and may be found in part in the large library of Senator Catron on the second floor of the Catron block. The books represent a fortune.

Most imposing of the volumes on exhibit is a folio in Latin. The title page is beautifully illumined in red and black. The initials throughout the work are done with extreme care. In fact, the entire lettering is done by hand.

Of perhaps most interest are the bound cédulas, Spanish manuscripts embodying orders of the king relative to New Mexico and Mexico issued 200 to 300 years ago. As one leafs through folio after folio one is struck by the careful penmanship of those early days.

The books will remain on exhibit until late this afternoon so that the visiting editors may see them.

With the Catron books are shown a number of volumes acquired by the School of American Archaeology in Guatemala and appertaining to early Spanish American history.

First English Description

The only volume in English is loaned by Colonel Ralph E. Twitchell and was printed in 1636. It is "A Little Description of the Great World," by Peter Heylen and is the first book printed in England to describe New Mexico, of which it says:

Close to China

"Quivira is seated in the most western part of America, just over against Tartary, from whence, being not much distant, it is supposed that the inhabitants first came into this new world. It is full of herbage and enjoyeth a temperate ayre; the people are desirous of glasse more than gold, and in some places are cannibals. The chief riches of this country are their kine (buffalo), which are to this people, as we say with us of our ale to drunkards, meat, drinke and clothe, and more too. For the hides yeeld them houses, or at least the covering of them; their bones, bodkins; their haire, thread; their sinews, ropes; their hornes, mawes, and bladders, vessels; their dung, fire; their calve skins, budgets to draw and keep water; their bloud, drinke; their flesh, meat. There is thought to be some traffick from China, or Cathay, hither. For when Vasquez de Coronado conquered it he saw in the further sea certaine ships, not of common making, which seemed to be well laden, and bare in their prowes, pelicans, which could not be conjectured to come from any country, but one of these two. Having now said this much concerning Quivira in general, it is time we should proceed to her provinces, which are Cibola, and Nova Albion.

"Cibola lyeth on the east side, and taketh its name from the chiefe citie: the next to which is Totontoa, situate on a river so called. Tinguez burnt by the Spaniard, who under the conduct of Francisco Vasquez di Coronado made this province subject to their king, anno 1540.

"Nova Albion lyeth on the west side towards Tartary. It was discovered by that noble captain, S. Francis Drake, An. 1585, and by him called Nova Albion; because the king willingly did submitte himselfe to our queen. The country is abundant in fruit, pleasing both the eye and the pallat; the people are given to hospitality, but withall to witchcraft, and adoration of divels. The chief city is called after the manner of the province. Here is a hare resembling a want (mote) in his feet, and a cat in his taile; under whose chine nature has fastened a little bag, which she has also taught him to use as a storehouse; for in this having filled his belly, he preserveth the remnant of his provisions. (Prairie dog?) The bound betweene this Quivira and Mexicana is Mar Vermiglio, or California." (Gulf of California.)

INDUSTRIES WILL BOOM BECAUSE OF WAR

EUROPEAN NATIONS WILL BE UN-
ABLE TO EXPORT GOODS
FOR MANY YEARS

New York, June 28.—This country never witnessed business conducted under so many complex conditions as at present. Not even during our civil war was the situation so confusing, for then the conflict was at least within our own borders and the consequences were much more easily measured than in the case of the highly complicated European struggle now convulsing the entire civilized world.

So numerous and so violent are the forces at work that no reliable judgment can be formed as to their ultimate effects; and the wisest men are those who try to walk day by day rather than taking long strides into the future. Opinions as to what will happen are of unquestionable value, where the forces at work are so vast, so unexpected, so volcanic and so utterly ungovernable. This ghastly war is moving slowly, very slowly, towards a finish that still seems quite remote. The fall of Lemberg may prove a serious reverse to the allies; it may not. It certainly affords another illustration of Germany's marvelous military efficiency; but even such efficiency may finally have to give way to time, exhaustion and superior forces.

Home conditions are fairly satisfactory. General trade is quiet, and does not improve as rapidly as desired. The most encouraging symptom is the increasing activity in the steel trade, resulting almost entirely, as said above, from war contracts. This infuses a somewhat feverish condition in that industry, and speculation in what is known as the "war group" of securities has carried market prices in many cases to unheard of figures. Needless to say speculation in these properties at present prices is exceedingly hazardous. The financial situation of the United States is exceptionally strong and satisfactory. Funds are steadily accumulating, and there is an abundance of money at very reasonable rates to good borrowers. In July the semi-annual dividend disbursements aggregating about $270,000,000 or over $4,000,000 less than a year ago will take place. The surplus reserve of the associated banks at New York has now risen to over $200,000,000, the importance of which fact will be realized when it is remembered that the new federal reserve act largely increases the lending power of these reserves. The emergency note issued under the Aldrich-Vreeland bill which expires next week have been practically all retired. Gold imports since January 1 amount to about $120,000,000, and further arrivals must be anticipated; unless Europe either establishes larger credits here or parts with additional amounts of American securities. It would appear to be impossible for Europe to indefinitely postpone such liquidation. In one form or another Europe will be obliged to look to the United States for very important financial assistance which we can readily render. The United States will continue to make was munitions on a vast scale. Europe cannot pay for them in merchandise. It is not desirable that the great banks of Europe should weaken their resources by payment in gold, which we do not want. Big credits can unquestionably be placed here, but even that method only defers settlement. Ultimately Great Britain and other countries in a lesser degree must liquidate a portion at least of their American investments. This market will not accept British, German, French or Russian loans to any large extent. We are quite able, however, and quite willing to take back our own securities in considerable sums. Capital awaiting investment is plentiful in this country, our people are economizing and we have reason for ample confidence in our own financial and industrial future. In these respects, we were never stronger. Thus far British holders have obstinately refused to let go of their American holdings. It remains to be seen how long they will be able to continue the policy.

The stock market is in an unsettled condition and is pulled in different directions; first by cheap money, which makes many good shares seem very desirable and is stimulating; second by the extraordinary excess of exports, which encourages foreign selling of Americans and is weakening and third by the delicacy of our relations with Germany, which may send the market up or down, according to developments.

GERMANS MOVING FORWARD IN EAST

RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE DRIVEN ACROSS GALICIAN BORDER BY ENEMIES

London, July 1.—While the Austro-German armies continue to push the Russians back over the Galician border in their own territory, there are rumors in London of contemplated offensives by the entente allies. The French are credited with the intention of making a formidable attack, on account of the enormous activity of artillery to the north of Arras, where a persistent bombardment has been kept up for the last fortnight, while the Anglo-French forces on the Gallipoli peninsula are said to be on the point of making a supreme effort to capture the massive nill of Achi Baba, which dominates all the country south of the narrows of the Dardanelles.

On the eastern front every change leaves Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland, more open to the drive which the Germans and Austro-Hungarians evidently are making toward that city. Along the northern line the Austro-Germans appear to be experiencing the greatest success for the Russians seem to be making a stubborn fight along the Gnla Lipi while retreating generally between the Vistula and Bug rivers toward Lublin. The fighting of the past fortnight has been without permanent result except in the Vosges, where the French have consolidated substantial gains.

From Vienna the Italians are reported to be showing renewed energy along the Isonzo river, they having brought up more men and guns, but no decisive action is reported.

The German Statement

Berlin, July 1 (Via London).—The German army official statement today says:

"Western theater of war: North of Arras fighting around the trenches under continuous artillery fire is proceeding favorably for us.

"In the Champagne district south-east of Rheims the French attacked without success.

"On the heights of the Meuse and in the Vosges there were only light artillery duels. Enemy airmen dropped bombs on Zeebrugge and Bruges (in Belgium) without doing any damage of a military character."

Ships Torpedoed

The British bark Thistlebank, which sailed from Bahia Blanca, Argentina, April 26, with a cargo of wheat for Queenstown, was torpedoed by a German submarine yesterday at a point off Fastnet, Ireland. Some of the crew were landed at Baltimore, a small seaport 47 miles southwest of Cork.

The Thistlebank was a four-masted bark built at Glasgow in 1891. She was of 2,350 gross tons.

Losses in Dardanelles

London, July 1.—Premier Asquith announced in the house of commons this afternoon that the British naval and military losses in killed, wounded and missing in the operations against the Dardanelles up to May 31, aggregated 38,635 officers and men.

SIX PERSONS KILLED IN OKLAHOMA STORM

REPORTS OF MORE SERIOUS DAMAGE MAY COME WHEN WIRES ARE REPLACED

Muskogee, Okla., July 1.—A tornado that swept parts of Ottawa county, northeastern Oklahoma, last night today was reported to have killed six persons. Three deaths have been verified. The casualties were in the rural district near Miami, difficult to reach, telephone lines being out of commission. Considerable property damage is reported.

TRADE BALANCE FALLS

Washington, June 30.—Exports for the week ending June 26 fell to $41,000,000, and the trade balance in favor of the United States dropped 10 millions to $9,000,000 for the week, the smallest in months. Of the decreases in the balance $2,000,000 was due to increased imports and $8,000,000 to decreased exports. Officials here have no detailed information regarding the decrease in exports, but the presumption is that it was due to reduced exports of wheat and cotton.

And Bob Beschner kicked like a horse when he was turned over to the Cardinals by the Giants last spring.
