County Meet to Be Held Here April 8-9th

The Interscholastic League Meet of Runnels county will be held in Winters April 8th and 9th. This is the first time the meet has been held here since the spring of 1924 and the authorities are planning to have a bigger and better meet than ever before. Plans are being made to entertain some 1,500 people during those two days as the interest in the literary and track events has been growing annually.

Beginning at 1 p. m. of the 8th the following program will be followed: Tennis, Playground Ball, and Girls Volley Ball. At 7:30 p. m. the preliminaries in debate will be held, however this will be behind closed doors and only the finals will be open to the public.

At 9 a. m. April 9th, Declamations, Spelling, Arithmetic, etc., will be held. At 1 p. m. Music Memory, Essay Writing and finals of the events that were not finished in the morning will be run off.

At 2 p. m. the track and field events for both divisions will take place and at 7:30 the finals in debating will be staged. For the past two years Winters has sent two debating teams to the State Meet at Austin which is a singular record since Winters enjoyed the distinction of being the only town in the state of Texas to have two debating teams to be sent to Austin. We sincerely hope that the feat can be accomplished again this year.

Miss Gladys Joseph is working with the debaters and declaimers and states that both sections are doing fine work. The girls debating team will likely be composed of Marie Hill and Marie Griffith. Perry Barber and Auburn Neely will debate in the boys' division. It will be remembered that Auburn Neely was a member of the team last year that won second place in the state, being eliminated in the final round by the boys' team of Holland. Perry Barber reached the semi-finals of the boys' declamation contest. We are counting on both these teams to win again this year.

The following boys have entered the contest for declamation and the try-out will be held some time in the near future. Truett Barber, Fannin Lowe, Albert Holliday and Robert Burton. There will possibly be other entries before the elimination contest. In the girls' division of declamation are Christine Barnett, Kathleen Johnson, Mary Helen Nicholson, Isabel Adams, Valera Duncan and others.

Contestants in track and field events that have reported to date are George Newby, Fannin Lowe, Jno. G. Key, Mac Dedmon, Alton Roberts, R. V. Hardegree, Albert Keifer and Otis Lankford. Despite weather conditions these boys are making a splendid showing and Coach Smith says that he believes that they will win their share of the points in the county and district meet.

When asked as to the prospects of Winters winning her share of the honors, Supt. A. H. Smith said, "At present Winters holds all the Class A Loving Cups in the county, boys' debating, girls' debating, girls' basketball and championship of Class A. The liberal support of the people has made this possible and we expect that support continued in order that those cups may become permanent property of our school. We are looking forward with pleasure to entertaining these visitors and are glad of an opportunity to show the people of the county our new high school building and athletic field."

R. L. Goolsby began work this week on a modern residence on North Main street. Mr. Goolsby sold his home some weeks ago to R. A. Cramer and is erecting another just across the street. The house will be a splendid addition to that part of town.

Miss Mary Ella Bradley, who is a student in Simmons University, was at home the past week-end.

Electric Range Campaign Starts Here Tuesday

Beginning next Tuesday, March 15th, and closing Friday, the West Texas Utilities Co. will give a demonstration of the comforts of cooking with the Hot Point Electric Range.

In a half page ad in this issue a special invitation is extended to friends and customers to attend these demonstrations and learn the cleaner, safer and easier methods of cooking.

For the four days of demonstrating this modern means of cooking, the services of Mrs. Stella Floyd, home economist, and Mr. Hoffmaster, factory specialist, have been secured and with each range sold during the campaign a nice electric appliance will be given free.

Valuable information will be given of the most economical methods of cooking with electricity and users of the Hot Point Electric Range, as well as those who have not used this clean, cool way of cooking, are invited to attend these demonstrations each day.

$349.50 Secured For Band Uniforms

The committee from the chamber of commerce has done some good work toward securing uniforms for the Junior Band. The chief trouble is that the band has been growing so fast that the number of uniforms necessary is now very large. Over fifty boys and girls are enrolled for the summer concert work and about forty-seven are eligible for the trip to Waco for the State Contest. Late yesterday afternoon the committee with Carl Davis as chairman had secured money enough for forty-four uniforms. The following men and firms have donated toward the proposition, as follows:

Musser Lumber Co. $16; City Drug Co., $8; A. H. Smith, $8; Winters Enterprise, $8; Dr. T. V. Jennings, $8; Dr. J. W. Dixon, $8; Jordan's Studio, $8; Fred Bedford, $8; West Texas Utilities Co., $16; Farmers Gin Co., $8; Geo. T. Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary Here Tuesday

A dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pumphrey last Tuesday in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary came as a surprise to the couple, as their children came in each bringing well filled baskets for the feast.

Mr. and Mrs. Pumphrey were among the earliest settlers in this county, coming here in 1899 and settled in the community which now bears their name. They have eleven children, thirty-four grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren, who were all present at the celebration with the exception of three children and their families, who were unable to attend.

A beautiful set of silver was presented the parents by the children.

Bradshaw Organizing Ball Club For Coming Season

Bradshaw, March 7.—A meeting of the Bradshaw baseball club was called last Saturday afternoon and the following officers were elected: Don McCasland, captain; Joe Sanders, business manager, and Ocie Hunt, director to Tri-County Baseball League.

Bradshaw was the winner of last year's pennant in the Tri-County League and after taking a survey of material available for this year, the outlook is very promising. McCasland, the captain, stated he would have practically all his old players and in addition about four or five recruits from high schools.

A new diamond has been located and it will likely be in shape for practice games by next week.

Bradshaw, March 7.—The Bank of Bradshaw has shipped in a large quantity pure Dwarf maize planting seed and is selling them at cost to the community. In addition to assisting in getting the pure seed, the town is offering substantial prizes for the best maize raised in the community this season.

Bradshaw, March 7. — Drilling, night and day, continues on the Halbert well west of town and at midnight Sunday it was at a depth of 500 feet, still in red clay.

Much interest is being taken by the folks of the surrounding communities, as large crowds visit the well nearly every night.

Cyclones Win County Championship

Basketball in Runnels county for the year 1927 passed on Friday with a brilliant exhibition between the Cyclones and Maverickites on the Ballinger court. The Maverickites were undefeated for two years and held the loving cup for the season of 1926. It was a great battle that the Maverickites put up in defense of their prized trophy, but when the last whistle was blown the score stood 21 to 12 in favor of the Winters High School Cyclones.

The Cyclones won on a combination of powerful defensive and offensive work. Captain Newby and Brooksie Justice started the game as guards and held the Maverickites to one lone field goal in the first half, but six counters were made from the numerous free pitches that came as a result of many fouls. Mary Helen Nicholson relieved Newby at guard the last half when Newby was shifted forward to relieve Erma Lee Lackey. Erma Lee played a consistent game at forward the first half scoring four points. She received a bruised knee as the first half closed, which caused her removal from the game. Mary Helen Nicholson, who substituted for Newby at guard, held her forward to one field goal the last half. The Maverickites were forced to shoot from long range throughout the entire game, which proved to be unsuccessful due to the high wind.

Mildred Spill and Kathlyn Lamberth put up a great fight at center. Lamberth was pitted against the best center in Runnels county, V. Hardy, who played a stellar game for the Maverickites. Kathlyn was able to hold her own throughout the game, playing much better than her opponent the last quarter. Mildred Spill played her best game of the season. It was the defensive work of Spill that broke the hope of the Maverick sextet in the center of the court. Time and again she broke up the Maverick offense and started the ball back to the Cyclones' goal.

At forward Christine Barnett was the star of the game and high point scorer with a total of 10 points. Captain Newby played her best game of the season and during the last half broke through the Maverick defense for 7 counters.

Christine Barnett did not flash as brilliant playing in this game as she did against Crews and Wihgate, due

Five Boys to Enter Tract and Field Meet at Ft. Worth

Coach C. R. Smith left today with five boys to enter the track and field meet that is being held in connection with the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth. George Newby will enter the short dashes and the low hurdles. John G. Key, Jr., will enter the dashes while Auburn Neely will attempt the mile. R. V. Hardegree will probably run the half mile. Fannin Lowe will enter the 440 yard dash.

The members of the Lions Club made a contribution Tuesday which will help take care of the expenses of the boys while they are on the trip.

Farm Bureau Meeting Here

There will be an open meeting of the Runnels County Farm Bureau at Winters in the chamber of commerce hall Saturday, the 12th, at 2 p. m. Every member of the organization is urged to be present and bring some one with you.

Young Couple Wed Here Saturday

The marriage of Miss Frances Lamberth and Mr. Doye Campbell was solemnized Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian Manse, with the pastor, Rev. Hal F. Smith, officiating.

She was graduated from Winters high school with the class of 1923 and spent one year in Abilene Christian College and took a business course at Draughon's Business College. She is a valuable employe at Gardner Bros. dry goods store and is held in the highest esteem by all who know her.

Mr. Campbell has made his home here for the past two years, coming here from Hillsboro and was employed at Joe Baker's barber shop until September when he became associated with the Nance-Brown Motor Co. He is an able young business man and his splendid character and pleasing personality have added many loyal friends to his chain of friendship.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left for San Angelo where they spent several days visiting relatives and are now keeping house in the Bill Moore home on Wood street.

The heartiest and most sincere good wishes of a host of friends are expressed for the future happiness and good fortune of the happy couple.

National Entertainer Here Tomorrow Evening

Mr. Thomas Elmore Lucey, author, poet, humorist and composer, an international entertainer, will present a program at the Methodist church tomorrow (Saturday) evening, March 12th, at 7:30 o'clock, which will be a rare opportunity for citizens of Winters to hear an entertainer who has delighted his hearers in every corner of the globe.

Mr. Lucey comes under the auspices of the Literary and Service Club, for the benefit of the local high school. Every number on the program will be remembered by the children as well as the adults as one of the best ever heard. Mr. Lucey is a treat, personally and professionally and a man of many cultured accomplishments. His oratorical, classical, musical and sketching demonstrations are very remarkable and his programs are of a very high educational and inspirational standard.

Tickets are on sale at all drug stores. Admission 35c and 50c.

H. F. Alves of the State Department of Education paid an official visit to the High School yesterday. Mr. Alves was very high in his praise of the new school building and offered many complimentary remarks about the work of the teachers and student body. A full report of his visit will be given later.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Chapman and children were guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Middleton at Abilene last Sunday.

Norton Couple Honor Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Ira McNeill of Norton, entertained a number of friends and relatives on last Sunday with a dinner in honor of the birthdays of their fathers, J. T. Stephenson, who was fifty-one years of age, and John McNeill, who was sixty-seven. Both birthdays coming close together, their children planned a joint celebration.

A delicious dinner was served to Messrs. and Mesdames Chapman, Mackey, Ed. Bryant, John McNeill of Norton, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stephenson of Winters.

Trade at Home Impressed on Lions Club Tuesday

The Winters Lions enjoyed another wonderful meeting Tuesday, however, several men returned home hatless.

In accord with the "trade-at-home-campaign" that is being conducted by the chamber of commerce, Geo. C. Hill made a search of the hat room while the other Lions were enjoying the luncheon plate, where four of the hats revealed from the names of the dealers that they had been purchased outside of Winters. After a short talk to the Lions on trading with the home institutions, Mr. Hill proceeded to cut the four hats up and threw them on the floor, stating this would give those whose hats had been cut up an opportunity to do some trading at home. (The hats cut up were four old ones gathered up at the local tailor shops) Riot almost existed among the visitors and several of the local Lions.

J. D. Motley, secretary of the Ballinger chamber of commerce; C. W. Lehberger, county farm demonstration agent; C. W. Buchanan, county supervisor for the Farm Bureau Association, all of Ballinger; Mrs. Blair, Thos. H. Haney, Paul Rothermel, Misses Nicholson and Lavere Neely were guests of the club.

Delegates to the state convention of Lions to be held at McAllen in May were elected, as follows: E. A. Shepperd, Albert Spill, S. H. Nanace and O. C. Williams. Alternates are R. E. Bacon, Jno. Q. McAdams, Buford Owens.

Miss Lavere Neely favored the club with two popular vocal numbers and Miss Mary Helen Nicholson gave two readings which were thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Mary C. Blair of Buffalo, Kans., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lyle Deffebach, told of her trip to Europe last summer. Mrs. Blair is a Gold Star Mother, having lost a son in the late war, and her story of the various scenes of her trip was thoroughly enjoyed. The description of the American cemetery near Romannes, where her son lies sleeping beneath the poppy-strewn sod, was one of inspiration to everyone who lived through that titanic struggle. All present got a thrill out of the discussion which came directly from the heart of Mrs. Blair.

J. D. Motley, in making a short talk, paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Blair, while expressing his appreciation of mothers and the talk which Mrs. Blair has just made.

The committee appointed to prepare the program for the next meeting is composed of Dr. Henslee, Geo. C. Hill and C. L. Green.

Rev. W. I. Dunn returned last Friday from Abilene, where he had been in a sanitarium for the past two weeks. We are sorry to report that his condition is very little if any improved.

Mrs. W. F. Meadows returned the first of the week from a visit to her daughter at Kingsville.

Turpin Injured In Car Collision

E. E. Turpin, local superintendent for the F. A. Mote Construction Co., sustained painful injuries Sunday afternoon in a car accident near Ft. Worth. Mr. Turpin was returning to Winters from Dallas where he had been visiting his family and while attempting to pass a car a few miles out from Ft. Worth he collided with another car. His own car was turned over twice and according to Mr. Turpin's report he has no idea what happened to the other car. Neither party was seriously injured, however, both cars were badly demolished.

Mr. Turpin suffered some very painful cuts but is able to be about his work this week. The cause of the accident was the crowded condition and the glare of the evening sun which is always bad on that road.

Occasionally you see the shell of a building which fire evidently gutted a long time ago. That charred shell is testimony. It tells you that you can be sure of money to rebuild or replace your property when fire destroys it, if you insure the property, before the fire. Insure here, NOW!

FRIENDSHIP

There is an old, old saying, "let not a day pass that thou dost not make a friend." In these days of money and wealth and hustle and bustle, with easier means of gratifying almost every wish, we are inclined to place less and less value on friendship. Most of us are too "busy" to cultivate friendship, yet it is a precious possession for rich or poor alike, for old and young—a possession that can be received only in the proportion that it is given. A man without a country may be lost, but a man without a friend is damned.

The Federated Council of Churches pays tribute to radio broadcasting as an agency of spiritual inspiration. The resolution sets forth that "the radio has filled the continent with morning prayers." It might also be mentioned that the radio has girdled the world with jazz.

OLD, OLD STORY

This year it took sixteen million dollars worth of valentines to tell the old, old story in the United States. The modern girl may have her skirts cut short, her hair bobbed mannish style and enjoy a Turkish cigarette, but she delights in receiving a lace-fringed love token in the shape of a valentine, just as her grandmother did years ago.

"You Never Know Women" Is Teeming With Thrills

Lovers of thrills! Give heed and attention! Listen!

Our scene is the deserted, darkened stage of a theatre. The characters, —a pretty Russian performer and a wealthy worldling who is enamored with her. Considering this the logical moment for a bit of wooing, he speaks of his love and devotion.

She, who has just that afternoon witnessed the seeming death of her real sweetheart, rebukes him. Repulsed, he becomes a madman. In desperation, she jumps into the large magic cabinet, formerly used by her true lover.

As the villain rushes toward the girl, a tall, powerful figure glides from the folds of the curtain. In his hands are a dozen gleaming knives. Dexterously flying, they pin the pursuer to the wall. The last blade, aimed for his heart, is poised in midair.

What happens? Who is the rescuer? This may be taking advantage of the reader's good nature, but if you want to know what happens in that tense moment, go to the Queen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 16th and 17th. "You Never Know Women," starring Florence Vidor, and featuring Lowell Sherman and Clive Brook, is the attraction. William Wellman directed for Paramount.

TWO TYPES OF STUDENTS COMPARED

In every school there are several students that always do their assigned work no matter what might exist to prevent them from doing so. There are others that always have an excuse for not performing their requested literary assignments.

Let us consider these two quite different types of students. The first is very energetic, always ready to do what ever is assigned them, and always succeed in bringing them up on the required day. The other is quite different from the first. They find something to use as an excuse for not bringing up the required assignment on the date that it was to be performed.

The first type of student is commonly called the "teacher's pet" or "sissy" by those who do not care what they do, or what is accomplished. "Teacher's pet," however, is a very appropriate name to be applied to the energetic and ambitious student and when a student is so called, he may consider himself complimented. The teacher naturally admires the student who always brings up his assigned work, in spite of difficulties or things that might have prevented him from doing so. This admiration is very helpful to the student and aids him more than any other thing. He becomes more interested and tries even the harder to accomplish his required duties.

It is not the second type of student that makes the true American citizen, it is the first that now preserves our democracy and makes America the greatest of all nations. It is not the boy that puts things off that is going to lead the future America or be the intellectual leaders of tomorrow. Neither will they find the pathway of life as happy, as beautiful, as the student who always accomplishes his task and performs them on the time assigned.

Remember this statement when a literary assignment is given you. "What type do you come under—the energetic boy or girl who always succeeds whether it be perfect success or not, or do you come under the type of the uninterested and the one who "puts things off."

After school life is over and the pathway of life is before everyone of us, ask yourself this question, "Shall I perform that task? and immediately answer in the affirmative. Any task can be accomplished by the determined person.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW

How time flies. It seems that the days, weeks and months pass before we realize they are gone. On the other hand, there are times that we feel that the time will never come. This is the case with the student body of our high school. The students have waited patiently for the time when they could move into the new school building. These months of waiting is the time that has passed slowly. The students are realizing that they will have only about two months in which to be in the new building.

It won't be long now. At the present time is thought that the students will be able to move in about the 18th. Even though each student is counting the minutes, let's be patient. It won't be long now.—Gladys Geistman.

BOOKKEEPING IN OUR HIGH SCHOOLS

It is being realized more each day that our high schools should prepare the boys and girls for future life. This does not only include how to become a good citizen, but how to earn a living. If the boys and girls who go out into the world cannot earn a decent living then they will be tempted to get it dishonestly. This is one of the great problems which is facing the world today.

In trying to solve this great problem, bookkeeping has been added to the list of high school courses. There are many students who wish to enter the business world but their lack of training prevents it. Not every boy and girl can secure training by taking a business course in some affiliated business college and if they receive their training in high schools they will be prepared to enter the business world after finishing high school.

Therefore, after much discussion, it has been found that our list of courses cannot be said to be complete without this valuable subject.

It was added to the courses of Winters High in 1925. Many who studied the course last year have already found their knowledge of book-keeping useful, without the added year in college which so many consider necessary. This year a class of brilliant boys and girls are studying this subject and are preparing themselves for the higher things of life.—Nestella Branaman.

RAMBLING THOUGHTS

"The Dreamer"

Dreams, beautiful dreams, are necessities for the real success of tomorrow. The dreamer has been severely criticised but when one takes into consideration that ambitions and ideals are dreams, that former criticism will fade and a high appreciation will soon exist.

The dreamer, the dreamer of real success, the lover of the beautiful, has visions of perfection and continuously prays for the fulfillment of his ambitions and the glorification of his ideals. The dreamer sees an ideal land, where nature and nature's God continually exists, where nothing but happiness and joyfulness is found. All through the pathway of his life, he seeks that goal, he seeks to spread happiness among the sorrowful and make the world about him a little brighter, that builds the many things that bring sunshine to the rainy day.

The dreamer is traveling toward the goal of success, he seeks the true pathway of prosperity, and sings aloud with praises till he reaches success. In the end, his ideals are realized and the world remembers him as having fought a good fight and ended his goal with victory.—Jack Callan.

WEEKLY CHAPEL CALENDAR

Rev. Slater Talks to Student Body

On Wednesday of last week the student body was honored by a very interesting and inspiring talk by Rev. Slater of Oklahoma. He was accompanied by Bro. Colley of the Christian church of this city.

MISS WILSON GIVES ART LECTURE

Thursday Miss Wilson from the arts department in the grammar grades gave an interesting lecture on a few of the 150 art pictures which were displayed last week.

SENIORS ENTERTAIN WITH PROGRAM

Last Friday the members of the senior class entertained the high school with a very interesting chapel program. Auburn Neely, editor of the Glacier, gave an interesting talk on the supremacy of the Senior class. He declared that members of the other classes should recognize the seniors with royal dignity. Some of the other classes did not agree with him.

Christine Barnett gave a very beautiful reading, which was followed by a vocal duet by Marie Hill and Marie Griffis which was equally enjoyed.

Parham Witt gave an interesting 'oration' on "So This is Texas," revealing some of the wonders of our state and closed with a comparison between the senior and other classes, stating that the seniors were to the other classes as Texas was to Delaware, the smallest state in the union.

Monday—

There was a ring of overjoyed voices as the curtain arose Monday. The stage was decorated with the blue and white Blizzard blanket with a basketball and a loving clup. This is a result of hard fighting on the part of the Cyclones and they are due considerable honor for their work. Mr. Childers stated that Winters High held every loving cup in the county. Winters people should be proud of this fact.

Tuesday—

Supt. A. H. Smith lectures to the student body and tells of his trip to Dallas. He spoke of the perfect conduct which existed in a certain high school in Dallas. We wonder if he thinks the same of us?

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN WITH CHAPEL PROGRAM

(Too Late For Last Week)

Last Friday the members of the Junior Class entertained the student body with a special chapel program.

The program began with Junior yells and songs. This was followed by a piano solo, beautifully rendered by Miss Mildred Boone. Erlene Brown demonstrated a new phase of school entertainment by a negro impersonation. Madie Elliott and Lavere Neely rendered a vocal duet which was followed by a reading by Miss Mary Helen Nicholson. Buster Roberts, the Junior Class president, presided over the program.

THE HONOR ROLL

Following is the honor roll for the first period of the second semester of this school year. From the following one may come to the conclusion that the Seniors and Freshmen are the scholars of the school. The seniors have the highest average as well as the highest individual grades: Nestella Branaman and Jack Callan are first with an average of 94 per cent. Brooksie Justice and Lela Pruser tied with the high average of 93 per cent. This fact proves that the Seniors are a "hard working" bunch. Other seniors on the honor roll are: Gladys Geistman who averaged 90 per cent and Gladys Palmer with 89 per cent. The juniors have only two members of the class on the honor roll. They are Fannin Lowe, who averaged 91 per cent and Mary Helen Nicholson, 86 per cent. Those on the honor roll from the Sophomore class are: Billie Bailey, 92 per cent; Margaret Nicholson, 89 per cent, and Evelyn Davidson, 88 per cent. Next to the Seniors, the Freshmen have high honor. Fannie Lou Stokes made an average of 94 per cent and Clara Giestman 92 per cent. Others are Monroe Dodd, 91 per cent, Helen Spill, 90 per cent and J. W. Dixon, Jr., 90 per cent.

COACH SMITH SPEAKS TO STUDENT BODY TUESDAY

On Tuesday of this week, the student body enjoyed a speech by Coach C. R. Smith on the subject: "An Illustration of Scientific Possibilities For Future Progress From a Physiological Standpoint." In other words he discussed many of the phases of science and invention.

Classmates will be glad to learn that Myron Pumphrey, a popular junior, is improving from a recent operation and will soon be back in school.

Messrs. Carl Henslee and Bert Lov visited the economics class last week. The class is now studying banking and the talks proved very beneficial to them.

THIS AND THAT

The entire school was honored by a special art exhibit which was demonstrated last week. Miss Wilson of the Art Department from the grammar grades acted as guide and told the story or described the greatness of all the pictures, which were the world's masterpieces in art. The fund derived from the exhibit will be used for buying similar pictures for the new high school building which will be completed soon.

Hurrah! Hurrah for the Cyclones. They won the county championship and a beautiful loving cup besides.

The senior class is to present a very interesting comedy drama soon, which will be presented in the new High School auditorium.

Mr. Childers states that Winters High holds every loving cup in the county. Let's keep them. Fight for the blue and white, whether it be in tennis, volley ball, track, spelling, declamation, debating or any of the other activities.

Joe V. Hinds and Robert Bacon visited Ft. Worth the past week.

Boy: I can. "Bird-cage."

Teacher: Excellent. Now tell why the hyphen is used.

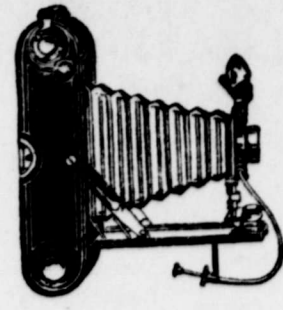

Boy: For the birds to sit on.

Lavere Neely: I didn't.

Parham: It's shorter.

Outstanding Strength IN YOUR BANK

IT IS RECOGNIZED as good practice for a business house or a bank to put aside a portion of its income as a surplus fund.

A LIBERAL Surplus is in effect an addition to capital resources and serves as an added bulwark of protection and strength.

CAREFUL UPBUILDING of surplus has been consistently adhered to by this bank. Our surplus today exceeds the original capital, placing The Winters State Bank on the Roll of Honor among banks throughout the country.

AMPLE CAPITAL and surplus also enable this bank to meet the needs of persons requiring large banking accommodations. Our strength and our ability to render every needed financial service attracts a steadily widening circle of depositors as is evidenced by the fact that our total deposits now amount to more than in any other bank of the county.

YOU, TOO, will find this strong bank of ample service a good place to make your banking home.

Miss Marjorie McAdams Hostess At 6 o'Clock Dinner and Theatre Party.

On last Tuesday evening at the lovely home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Q. McAdams, Miss Marjorie entertained a number of her friends with a birthday dinner party and a theatre party.

The four course menu was served at a table laid with handsome napery and silver appointments and graced in the center with a pink birthday cake holding pink candles. Place cards were butterfly maids dressed in pink.

Marjorie was the recipient of many lovely gifts and an enjoyable evening was spent with radio music and a theatre party.

Covers were laid for Misses Maggie Sue Key, Ina Mae Owens, Lucile Hartzog, Marie Hill, Mary Helen Nicholson, Gladys Geistman, Margaret Nicholson, Fannie Joe Bartlett, Clara Nell and Marjorie McAdams.

Green-Copeland Wedding Solemnized.

The marriage of Miss Ora Mae Green and Marion Copeland of Crews was solemnized here last Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian Manse with the pastor, Rev. Hal F. Smith, officiating.

Both the bride and groom are well known in Winters and will make their future home at Crews.

Sonny Smith's Birthday Party.

Saturday afternoon, March 5th, twenty-nine little friends of Sonny Smith gathered at his home on Main street to help him celebrate his fourth birthday.

As each little guest entered they presented Sonny with a little birthday gift, which afforded as much pleasure to the other little guests as it did to Sonny. When the packages were opened and out came picture books, French harps, climbing monkeys, balls, handkerchiefs, socks, guns and many other toys.

They were finally seated in a circle in the living room and enjoyed an hour of story telling. After this they played various games on the lawn.

At four-thirty the dining room doors were thrown open and Sonny led the way to the table. A large Angel food cake with four pink candles formed the center decoration. After much squealing and laughter, each little guest was served cherry ice cream and cake. Mary Maddox cut the piece of cake with the dime and Willine Smith cut the piece with the thimble.

At five o'clock each little guest was called for and they left wishing Sonny many happy birthdays. Those present were Harold and Gerald Dixon, Sarah Lou Owens, Neta Merle and Donald Lindley, R. L. An interesting Bible contest proved a happy diversion of the afternoon and the shower of gifts was presented in a clever manner. Many lovely gifts were displayed as the packages were opened attesting the love and esteem in which the honoree is held by the members of the society.

A dainty refreshment plate of hot chocolate and sandwiches was passed to Mesdames Zafe Bridwell, J. L. Downing, E. C. Collingsworth, J. R. Woodfin, W. J. Park, J. H. Mitchell, Fannie Hamilton, E. G. Vernon B. Campbell Entertains Boys' Club.

On last Tuesday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Vernon B. entertained the H. O. F. Club and their lady friends.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed with music, games and other pastimes. Misses Ruth Gressett and Wilma Straley of Ballinger were the out-of-town guests of the club.

An Impromptu Kitchen Shower

On Wednesday morning, March 9, at 5 o'clock about eighteen telephones and alarm clocks were heard in various parts of Winters and that many sleepy heads popped out of bed and made a hasty toilet. Their hearts were light and eyes merry as they fastened ties and powdered noses—they were on mischief bent.

At 5:30 several cars were parked at Nance-Brown Motor Co., full of girls, boys, old maids, bachelors, cooking utensils, and breakfast paraphernalia. At the appointed time the cars went in a body to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doye Campbell where the unsuspecting host and hostess were greeted with songs and yells, and guests rushed in and piled their packages on the breakfast table.

In a few minutes the new cook stove was put into use and the bride's kitchen was the scene of busy maids preparing breakfast.

During the breakfast snatches of songs were sung in the kitchen and were gaily re-enforced by the young men's tenor and bass voices in the living room.

After a few casualties a breakfast of eggs on toast, bacon and coffee was served to the following: Misses Modesette, Young, Ganaway, Wilson, Justice, Robbins, Tucker, Bartlett and McElroy; Messrs. Norman, Neely, Bedford, Hall, Rhoden, Joe Scott, Dowe Scott, Nance and Colley, and Mr. and Mrs. Doye Campbell.

After breakfast the guests gathered in the living room and sang "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Campbell much happiness they departed at 7 o'clock.

PAXTON BIBLE CLASS ENJOYED OYSTER FEAST

On last Tuesday evening in the basement of the First Methodist church the Paxton Bible Class met for a good time and feasted on fried oysters, pies, pickles and other good things to eat. Having left the women folks at home, the men had things to suit themselves, fried the oysters to suit their fancy, and if they did not like them fried, they ate them raw.

S. H. Nance, president of the class, acted as toastmaster and used wise judgment in not calling on any one for a speech until after all were filled, and as a consequence the speakers were too full for much utterance, however, the following responded when called on to speak on some subject which the speaker was best informed upon. That being the rule the talks were naturally short.

Gerald Black and Earl Cook both responded with a delightful discussion of the topic that had been assigned to them, but have requested that we not announce the subject of their discussion. Following these two A. O. Strother discussed the subject of every-day living—the subject of consistency. Rev. Gid J. Bryan talked on the subject of "Builders of Character." J. Frank Paxton, the instructor of the class, talked on points of interest to the class. Superintendent of the Sunday School, A. H. Smith, told why he was glad that he had an opportunity to attend the dinner and how much he thought of the class of men and the good dinner that was prepared.

Following the after dinner speeches, a short business session was held in which it was decided to better equip the Sunday School room and make it more attractive for the work, after which all who were able to do so reported to the kitchen and helped wash the dishes and scrub the floor, so that the women would let us use it again.—Reporter.

Victors

Always the happy, exultant, joyful shout of victory carries with it a delightful feeling of ecstasy, an emotional thrill unexplainable and this is none the less true in the victory achieved by our high school girls in basketball. They have brought to our school the County Championship and a beautiful Loving Cup, proof of their supremacy won on the field of contest.

Congratulations and best wishes that every department—the literary, the athletic and even the moral of the student body may continue to excel in every contest—without a single instance—always.

Beware!

Don't Trade with the Door-to-Door Peddler

IN LEGAL parlance there is a term "caveat emptor" which means "let the buyer beware." In other words you buy at your own risk--no comebacks, no redress.

But community business isn't done that way nowadays. Your local merchant in the "store just around the corner" guards his reputation and the future of his business too well to subscribe to any such policy. He gives you service and satisfaction after, as well as before, the sale is made.

The door to door peddler and the transient trader, they are the "caveat emptor" kind. They sell you and as many of your neighbors as they can cover in a day--then back to the hotel, the trunk is packed, checked into the "baggage car ahead" and gone forever--"let the buyer beware."

Do you want to deal with a sort of a "fly-by-night" trader? Or do you want to deal with your steadfast, reliable, home-town merchants--the men who make up the list of your best citizens, largest tax payers, public benefactors and community builders?

Why should you have to beware when you buy? Buy from your home-town merchant and be sure of good, reliable goods, of guaranteed quality and satisfaction at any and all times that you drop into "the store just around the corner."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PAULINE Malligate has been strangely absent from her home in London for 18 months. Her mother and sister, Lorna, have been forced to communicate with her through a forwarding address in Paris.

HENRY Emerson, stepfather of the two girls, has now disappeared from a summer resort where he had been staying with Mrs. Emerson and Lorna.

DR. JULIAN Emerson, who claims to be a relative of Henry Emerson, has told Lorna that her stepfather is missing because he had no right to marry her mother. Lorna in turn has explained to her mother that her husband was rushed to London because of sudden illness.

LORNA and her mother accept Dr. Julian's offer to take them to London, but are instead hurried to a strange house in the country, where they are held virtually as prisoners.

GERALD Craven, Lorna's lover, has exhausted every possible means to find his sweetheart. He has finally related the whole story to Mrs. Bertha Northwood, a mutual friend. They pick up a possible clue when Mrs. Northwood recognizes Pauline in the restaurant of her hotel. Investigation brings out the fact that Pauline, known as Mrs. Creswell, is living at "The Moat," in Yorkshire, not far from Mrs. Northwood's country house.

DR. JULIAN has gone to London leaving Lorna and her sick mother in the guarded house. Lorna has strolled into the garden seeking some means of communicating with someone outside the wall which encloses the grounds.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

LORNA found that the garden stretched a long way beyond the back of the house and that there was a high wall cutting it off from curious eyes. But the trees were old and splendid, and when she was at the bottom of the garden, looking up into the branches of one of these fine old trees, she caught sight of a wire. It looked like a telegraph wire or one attached to a telephone. She had noticed in the hall that there was a telephone instrument but when she had taken it up no bell sounded, so she realized that it was not in working order.

Straining her eyes, she traced this wire through various branches of the trees, then found as she walked back towards the house, that it ran down the trunk of one of the trees and then had been arranged by the side of the wall, where it was half hidden by a flower bed.

She resolved not to investigate too closely. Who could say whether she was not being watched? So she contented herself with picking some mignonette and walking slowly across the lawn, where tea had been prepared.

Mrs. Brown had just laid the tea

The girl hurried forward, wiping her damp hands on her apron. She made a little curtsy as she approached the pony carriage.

and as she moved away, Lorna stopped her.

"Is my mother still asleep?"

"Yes, miss—resting quite peacefully. I think she looks a good bit better this afternoon."

"What is the name of that Indian man who waited upon me at lunch?" queried Lorna, as she sat down in the chair. She spoke casually and sniffed the mignonette as she did so. "His name is Kassan, miss."

Lorna glanced up at that moment and saw that Mrs. Brown gave a little shudder.

"You don't like him?" she said involuntarily.

The woman smiled faintly. At that moment a motor was heard approaching. It evidently was being driven up to the front entrance.

Mrs. Brown muttered something and hurried away. In another minute or so Julian Emerson emerged from the house and advanced across the lawn.

"Just in time for a cup of tea," he said. And then he added: "How beautiful and sweet it is here. Don't you think you are far better off than in that noisy hotel, or in a crowded London street?"

A wave of feminine subtlety swept suddenly through Lorna's brain. She had tried defiance; she had flung down the gauntlet as it were to this man. Now she would try other tactics. She gave him a smile.

"Very much better." And then as she took up the teapot, she added: "How do you like your tea? Milk in first?"

He gave her a very sharp look as he pulled forward a chair.

"I leave it to you—I am really not a great tea drinker, but I am hot and tired and a good deal worried, so I think I will try what a cup of tea will do for me."

As he took the cup from Lorna, he added: "You look better! Have you rested?"

"I slept for nearly two hours and a half to three hours this morning. I was very tired," said Lorna, "and like you, I was worried until the telegrams came from my stepfather. News that the operation had been successful and he is doing well has been a great relief both to my mother and to myself."

She gave him one quick glance from under her lashes as he was stirring his tea, and she saw that he was a little perplexed and not quite sure how to deal with her.

What indignation and just wrath had not been able to achieve, cunning and patience might bring about perhaps sooner than might have been expected.

Mrs. Northwood was out early the next morning.

She ordered her pony carriage to be ready soon after breakfast, before the heat of the day got very oppressive, and putting on a shady hat, she drove in the direction of The Moat.

She had to pull up more than once on her way to greet and be greeted by those who were so glad to see her back again. One of these was a doctor of the neighborhood, an oldish man who was driving himself in a little two-seater car. He was unfeignedly glad to see Mrs. Northwood (they were old friends) and he got out of his car to speak to her. She led in a roundabout fashion to the subject of The Moat and its inmates.

"I hear that queer old place has got some new tenants. Have you been called in professionally?" Dr. Barlow shook his head. He was stroking the near pony and admiring both animals warmly.

"No. As a matter of fact, I don't know anything about these people. I was told the other day in the village that somebody was ill in the old house, but perhaps it was only gossip. You know what the village is, Mrs. Northwood. They are only too glad to have some new subject to discuss, and these people have afforded a good deal of matter for gossip and talk."

"You must come and dine with me," said Mrs. Northwood. "Choose your own night—I shall be here for a week at least."

After she had parted from Dr. Barlow, Mrs. Northwood drove on and then skirted the village where the postoffice was and made her way by another road in the direction of The Moat, which lay, as has been described, a little way out of the village.

She was stopped more than once on her morning drive, or pulled up to speak to one of her pensioners. And at one old cottage by the roadside, she sat forward and beckoned to a girl whom she caught sight of hanging out some clothes on a line.

The girl hurried forward, wiping her damp hands on her apron. She made a little curtsy as she approached the pony carriage.

"Well, Kitty, and how is your grandmother? Is her rheumatism any better?"

In a shy fashion the girl gave an account of the old woman with whom she had lived and had brought her up.

And then Mrs. Northwood asked after her sister Ellen. And as they were speaking, a trim, neat looking elder girl came out of the cottage. She, too, made a curtsy to Mrs. Northwood.

The two girls belonged to a family in which Mrs. Northwood's husband had been very interested, and she now made the suggestion to the elder girl that she should come into her service.

The girl grew very red in the face. "Oh, ma'am," she said. "I am so sorry—but I've taken on a situation—I am going to it tonight."

"Oh, that's all right," said Mrs. Northwood. "I'm very glad you have a situation. Where is it, Ellen?"

"It's at The Moat, ma'am. I'm to be a housemaid, and to do a little waiting for the lady. You see, I

Little Theatre Show To be on March 25

The date for the next production of the Little Theatre Group has been set for March 25th, at which time a selected cast will present "Kempy," a three-act comedy which is guaranteed to please the lovers of drama in Winters. As has been previously announced, "Kempy" is a play that has proven popular with other little theatre groups in Texas and has enjoyed its share of the glory on Broadway.

The cast has been working hard lately to make the play everything that it should be and the director announces that plenty of feature vaudeville numbers will be provided between acts to guarantee the worth of every penny spent. The Ball-Bearing Quartet will appear again with several new numbers, a vaudeville in the form of a dialogue will be given and in addition music will be furnished by E. M. Shepperd's orchestra.

The proceeds of the show will be given to the Parent-Teacher Association for the purpose of paying for a piano for the new high school building. The Little Theatre Group will make it their policy to always give the proceeds of their plays to some good cause and no person will receive anything for their services, all work because they love the business. Don't forget the date of "Kempy" for it will please you beyond anything that you have seen this season. If you would laugh there are many funny situations; if you would learn new and better methods of doing business be there; and if you would get enthusiastic over a love scene, be at the new High School Auditorium on the evening of March 25th.

Save One Man's Wages at Planting Time

Here's the cotton and corn planter that was designated especially to reduce planting costs for the Texas farmer. It plants two rows every trip across the field—saves one man's wages and does a better job of planting.

JOHN DEERE NO. 209 TWO-ROW COTTON AND CORN PLANTER

does an accurate job of planting under all conditions.

The famous John Deere Saw-Tooth Type Steel Picker Wheel plants even the lintiest seed just as you want it planted—one seed at a time, or more, in any quantity per acre.

It handles wet cotton seed without clogging. While designed especially for bedded land, the No. 209 is adaptable for any method.

Equipped with the John Deere No. 999 Natural-Drop Seed Plate, which plants a variety of seed as accurately as the human hand.

Another big feature is the John Deere tongue truck, with tilting lever, which relieves horses of neck weight. The wheel runs steadily and casters freely when turning.
