Poultrymen To Hear Tarleton Dean

Expects To Install Custom Cannery

Winters has for some time felt the need of a method of taking care of surplus vegetables and fruit and meats that we have at certain seasons of the year. In accord with this demand there are several methods of remedying this loss of food. Many farmers and housewives are buying home canners and are making a success of them. But every home cannot afford a home canner so through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce a local business man has been interested in installing a custom cannery.

Oma Robertson, proprietor of the Runnels County Hatchery, expects to open such a business early in the summer or as soon as the vegetable crop comes along. These foods will be canned at a nominal charge thereby saving the surplus of corn, beans, tomatoes, peas, etc. that occurs on every farm at certain seasons of the year. It is the custom every place where there is a custom cannery to bring in the vegetables already prepared for canning and the proprietor furnishes the cans and cooks and seasons the food. The system has proven very popular every place that it has been tried. Towns such as Cuero, Seppin, Fredericksburg, and Farmersville have made wonderful records with their canners.

If every person, both farmer and business man, will plant a surplus of corn, beans, peas, tomatoes, butter beans, etc., it will help our people to realize our objectives of living at home sooner and the entire country will profit thereby. Mr. Robertson is thoroughly sold on the project and believes that the idea will prove popular with the people of the Winters section. Let's plant a little surplus now and save the difference. Any one interested in the matter may receive further information from Mr. Robertson at the Runnels County Hatchery.

Miss Nellie Jordan Injured in Car Accident In N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Jordan received the news the past week that Miss Nellie Jordan, who lives in Pearl, New Mexico, had the misfortune to sustain a broken hip in a car accident.

Many friends here will remember Miss Nellie as she was employed at Jordan's Studio at one time and will regret very much to hear of the misfortune.

Express Shipments of Cream, 3410 Gallons in 31 Days

According to figures secured from the local agent of the American Railway Express Co., there has been shipped out of Winters during the thirty days between February 20th to March 20th, 341 ten gallon cans of cream. A reasonable estimate of the money received by the producers for this product would be placed at $8.00 per can, which would bring the revenue to producers from this source the tidy little sum of $2,728.00. Of course, there may have been cream produced here and shipped out from other points other than the local express company, which if obtainable, would bring the total revenue from this source to a somewhat higher figure.

Winters Furnishes College Debators

A fact which was brought to our attention recently is that Winters is furnishing a number of debaters at different colleges and universities. Benton Neely, who with his brother, Auburn, won second place in the state last year, is debating for McMurry College and is making a fine record. Charles Dorsett is on the Howard Payne College team and will debate the John Tarleton Agricultural College team tonight, (Friday) and we are expecting Charles to win.

Glee Ingram, who won county and district for Winters High two years ago and "on to Austin," for the past two years has made a splendid record on the Simmons University team, and Thomas Patterson is on the Simmons boys' team and also president of the debating club.

Miss Myrtle O. Barber, who was coach of debating here for two years is coaching debate at Montezuma College. Miss Barber was a splendid coach and is partly responsible for the fine record made by the Winters debaters.

In fact, all Winters students who are away at college are doing good work and splendid reports are heard from each of them.

RUNNELS COUNTY AUTO TAX WAS $71,787.77

In the past year, automobile taxes collected in this county by W. L. Brown, tax collector, amounted to $71,787.77, according to figures compiled in his office Wednesday.

Of that amount $50,485.29 went to the State Highway Department while the remaining $21,302.48 was turned over to the Commissioners' Court of Runnels County.

The commissioners spent this money on county roads—not designated highways, which run from Bradshaw on the north to the Concho county line on the south, and from Talpa on the east to the Tom Green county line.

Precinct No. 1 received $8,139.16; No. 2 received $5,948.31; No. 3, $3,071.10; and No. 4, $4,143.91.

The average tax against cars in this county was $12.59.

This year the county will get almost as much more to spend on its roads as in 1926, Mr. Brown stated. This is due, he said, to the fact that 30 per cent of the weight fee of the county will be turned over to the commissioners. This amount will figure between $14,000 and $15,000, which will give the commissioners between $35,000 and $40,000 to spend on roads which are not designated state highways.

Show Date Changed To Next Thursday

Due to the fact that the new high school auditorium will not be ready for use by tonight the Little Theater Group has decided that it is best to postpone the presentation of "Kempey" until Thursday evening, March 31st. Authorities feel sure that the auditorium will be ready for use by that date and that everyone will have the pleasure of seeing the building at that time.

Remember the show has in its cast all of your favorite comedians with Carl Henslee carrying a part that is really a scream from start to finish. John Norman will carry the juvenile lead and will get into many situations that will win tears and laughs at regular intervals.

E. M. Shepperd's Orchestra will furnish music for the occasion. Other feature numbers will be the Bawl Bearing Quartet and a vocal solo by Marie Hill. Remember that the proceeds of the show will go to pay for new stage equipment and that it will be one of the best ever shown here.

Local Chevrolet Agency Changed Hands Yesterday

Late yesterday afternoon a deal was consummated between the Whitefield Motor Co., the local Chevrolet agency and Messrs. T. B. Akin, Claud Allen and Marvin Patrick, all of San Angelo, whereby the latter named gentlemen became the owners of the agency, taking charge of the business today.

Marvin Patrick, a former resident of this city, but who recently moved to San Angelo, will return to Winters and become the manager of the new concern, while Messrs. Akin and Allen, who are the San Angelo Chevrolet dealers, will be his silent partners. Mr. Whitfield, in retiring from the business, has not stated just what his future plans will be.

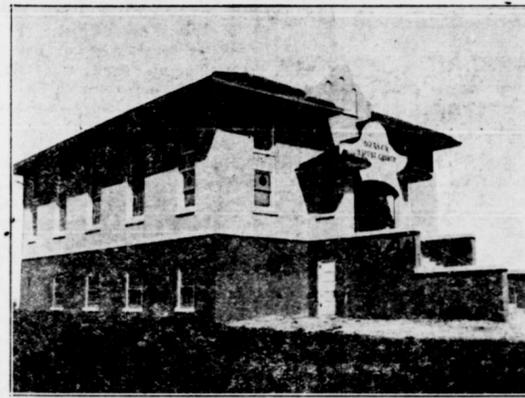

The Enterprise welcomes the new concern into the business life of the city and especially Mr. and Mrs. Patrick back to their old home, and bespeak for the local Chevrolet agency a large share of the automobile business under the capable guidance of Mr. Patrick.

H. N. Whitecotton, a former citizen of Winters, who for the past three years has made his home on the north plains, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woodrow.

J. T. Stevenson In Race For Mayor

By referring to our announcement column readers will find the name of J. T. Stevenson, who is making the race for the office of mayor of Winters.

Mr. Stevenson has been a resident of Runnels county for the past twelve years, the greater part of which time he has lived in the city of Winters. Believing that he is capable of making the citizenship a progressive and economical executive, he is offering his name for consideration of the voters with the assurance that he will conduct the affairs of the office, if elected, to the best of his ability. Mr. Stevenson asks that his friends and the general public consider the appearance of his name in the announcement column as a personal solicitation of their vote and influence in the city election to be held on Tuesday, April 5th.

Lions Are Given Intelligence Test

Last Tuesday at the regular semi-monthly luncheon at the Methodist church basement, the Lions were favored by two charming piano solos by Mrs. L. T. Smith, after which the club heard and endorsed President S. H. Nance's views on closing each meeting promptly at 1:15.

The secretary was asked to wire the club's endorsement of Judge N. N. Rosenquest of Eastland, who is a candidate for District Governor of the Lions, the vote upon his candidacy being unanimously favorable.

Lion Geo. C. Hill announced the Little Theatre's play, "Kempey," which was to have been staged this (Friday) evening, but which has been postponed until next Thursday evening owing to the fact that the new high school auditorium was not finished. He urged the patronage and support of the efforts of this organization which is working for no selfish reason, but for the different movements which have as their aim the equipment of the new high school auditorium, and other public-spirited projects.

R. A. Cramer, a guest of Lyon Carl Davis, was called upon and made a short talk, expressing his pleasure in luncheon with the Lions and said he found them at the luncheon table just like he found them around town, having a good time and working for the upbuilding of the city.

Dr. R. H. Henslee was then introduced as toastmaster, and he immediately launched an intelligence test (and the questions he asked were "stunners," too). The members were evenly divided and the test was carried out something like the old time spelling matches—if you missed a question, you had to sit down. Honors were evenly divided between A. H. Smith and E. A. Shepperd, with C. R. Robertson running a close third.

A "dirty Irish" trick was attempted upon Lion Shepperd, but he smelled a "skunk" and "erummed" the deal. He had been assigned a subject upon which to speak, and members were "all set" to walk out and leave him talking—but alas! you can't "put anything over" on Lion "Shep."

The committee to arrange the next program is composed of J. H. Hodge, chairman; H. O. Jones and A. H. Lovvorn.

The Girls' Basketball Club of the local high school, who won the county championship some two weeks ago, will be guests of the club at the next luncheon.

Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Saunders of Alamo, Texas, are spending this week in the city transacting business and greeting their many old friends.

Work is now under way on the new residence being erected on the site of D. E. Bartlett old home place on North Main street. The Bartletts moved across the street pending the completion of their new home.

Drasco "Every Member" Day to Be April 17th

Letters from the Drasco Baptist church are being mailed out announcing the "Every Member" Day which is to be held at the church on Sunday, April 17th. The letter follows:

"To Members, ex-Members and Friends of the Drasco Baptist Church: The Third Sunday in April (April 17th) is to be 'Every Member Day' at Drasco. It is the hope of the pastor and church to have every member present that day for a roll call, and all others are invited.

"It will be a day of inspiration from 10 a. m. until after the night service. At 10 we want the largest attendance in Sunday School we have ever had. Dr. R. C. Pender will speak at 11 on Buckner Orphans' Home and take an offering. Lunch will be served at the church at 12:30.

"In the afternoon the Special Workers of Simmons University will give a program.

At 7:30 p. m. everybody is asked to be in a B. Y. P. U.

"Dr. W. F. Fry of Simmons, will preach at the evening hour.

"Come, bring your dinner and stay all day; make it a day of fellowship for Christ's cause.—Perry Wood, J. R. Woodfin, Committee."

T. & P. Coal and Oil Company Entering Local Field

A site has been leased by the Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil company on the Abilene & Southern right of way in the Northern part of the city and a construction crew arrived in the city the first of the week and started work, erecting two large oil tanks, building warehouse and office to take care of the business which the new concern will start here upon completion of the buildings.

We have been unable to learn who is to have charge of the new agency as no one seems to know anything about it other than that construction work has been started.

John Hudson, after spending a few days in the Winters country visiting relatives and friends, returned to his home at Happy Wednesday.

Bert E. Low, Joe Baker and Rev. H. H. Stephens are attending the B. Y. P. U. and Sunday School Convention at Midland this week.

Charles Dorsett, student of Howard Payne College spent the past week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dorsett.

Last year, farmers and poultrymen in this country bought at least 500,000,000 chicks from commercial hatcheries alone.

On Friday Night April 1st, the poultrymen of the Winters section will have an opportunity to hear two speakers who rank high in the realm of poultry raising and the education of the young men of Texas toward better farming. Dean J. Thomas Davis of John Tarleton Agricultural College of Stephenville will be in Winters and will speak to those interested in poultry raising. He will bring with him Prof. Homeyer who is head of the Department of Poultry husbandry, and has been conducting the National Egg Laying Contest at Stephenville this year. He should be competent to advise the poultrymen of Winters on their problems and will no doubt bring a helpful lecture.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and especially are the poultrymen urged to be present on Friday night, April 1st at 8 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce Hall.

Winters Couple Wed at Coleman

A wedding of interest to many friends here was that of Mrs. Lillian Quindlen and Mr. Ralph Lloyd which was solemnized Sunday evening at seven o'clock at the Presbyterian Manse at Coleman.

Both the bride and groom are well known and are favorites in a wide circle of friends. The bride has made her home here for a number of years and has won many friends by her pleasant and always happy manner. She is a business woman of ability and has held responsible positions with some of the largest firms in Winters recently resigning her position in the office of Dr. T. V. Jennings.

The groom was reared here and graduated from Winters high and spent two years in Simmons University and is a graduate of Baylor Medical School of Pharmacy. He is a member of the firm of Lloyd Brothers, owners of the Main Drug Company and is a fine young business man and is worthy of the high esteem in which he is held by all who know him.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd returned to Winters immediately after the ceremony and left Monday morning for Snyder and Roscoe where they visited relatives several days, and are now at home in the new home recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Faris Collan.

The heartiest and most sincere good wishes of a host of friends are expressed for the future happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lloyd.

A. P. Jordan left Thursday on a business trip to Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Awalt of Pumphrey are the proud parents of a new son, born March 23.

Noel Knight, wife and son of Wilson, Texas, spent the past week visiting in the home of Mr. Knight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pumphrey attended the funeral of Mrs. Pumphrey's mother in Goldthwaite last week.

P.-T. A. to Stage Ladies' Ball Game

The Parent-Teachers Association will stage a base ball game Friday April 1, at the Athletic Field between the lady teachers of the school and the mothers. Both teams are in training and an exciting game is anticipated. An admission price of 15 and 25 cents will be charged.

Snowmobile Defies Weather

Converting a Chevrolet car into a Snowmobile mounted on skis and tractor wheels has solved winter transportation problems for Charles Surrell of Newberry, Mich.

Faced with the necessity of making long trips through a territory frequently covered with snow drifts 20 feet deep and where temperatures often hover around 38 degrees below zero, Charles Surrell, of the firm of M. Surrell & Son, Chevrolet dealers at Newberry, Michigan, has constructed a novel Chevrolet "snowmobile", utilizing a Chevrolet motor and chassis.

The front end of the queer looking vehicle, which attracts unusual attention wherever it appears in the snow-covered upper peninsula, is fitted at the front end with wooden skis, attached to the regulation Chevrolet axle and steering knuckles. The car is easily handled despite the heavy snow drifts and the aver- countered in his daily travels. Mr. age depth of 30 inches of snow en- Surrell says. The rear end of the car is fitted with two sets of Che- vrolet wheels, set tandem style, over which and endless tractor belt equip- ped with flanges operates.

So powerful is the special tractor equipment when powered with the standard Chevrolet motor that Mr. Surrell has often been called upon to tow heavy cars out of snow drifts where they have become hopelessly stalled. The extensive alterations required to transform the Chevro- let into a snowmobile were all made in the service station of M. Surrell and Son. The Chevrolet motor had already put in four years of active service on a Chevrolet touring car before it was utilized for special winter service, Mr. Surrell says.

WEENIE ROAST

As a result of a contest in the Adult B. Y. P. U. the losing side en- tertained the winners last Thursday evening with a weenie roast.

At an early hour thirty-five mem- bers met at the church and went to the Howell pasture where the fun began. Quite a bit of merriment was caused by impersonations of familiar characters seen at church services each Sunday.

Evidence was plentiful that the evening was enjoyed by all present and the desire was expressed by several that the place be visited by the Unions again soon.

Misses Dorothy Green, Louise Poe, and Leon Campbell of Simmons Un- iversity spent "between terms" with their parents this week-end.

Misses Lavena Collingsworth, Merie Nance, and Louise Stephens, who are attending McMurry College, spent the week-end in Winters.

Chevrolet Forecast Good Business

An optimistic note on the spring business outlook in the automobile industry, discounting the "saturation point" bugaboo and pointing out favorable conditions throughout the country, is sounded in a statement just issued by William S. Knudsen, President and General Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"In forecasting a continuance of good business prospects for the Spring months, I am perhaps influ- enced by the aspect of our own sales which have never been better in the history of the company," said Mr. Knudsen.

"As evidencing steady growth in automobile production during this period, statistics issued by the United States Department of Commerce for the last three years covering the six months from January 1 to June 30 are interesting. The figures for these years follow:

1924	2,054,561
1925	2,173,525
1926	2,450,780

With these figures showing busi- ness on the upgrade generally, there are only two reasons which could be advanced for a possible decrease in sales—first, reaching the so-called "saturation point" and second, a general decline in business producing a reactive tendency in buying.

"No one has ever been able to advance any reasonable formula for figuring the 'saturation point'. The 'two or more' car trend is so pro- nounced that former theories are constantly upset. If we knew the total area which would be occupied if all cars produced were running within that area, making it impos- sible for this space to accommodate any more cars some basis would be available for figuring 'saturation.' But such a situation is impossible—and we may leave the 'saturation point' for the future to determine, inasmuch as the human mind will find it possible to open up any bottle- neck of traffic congestion which might develop.

"As for the general trend in busi- ness, country-wide reports show the usual spring activity is opening up twenty days ahead of schedule. With the winter fairly mild, marked only by severity in spots, rapid accelera- tion of municipal and private con- struction operations is indicated. Farming should start early due to the good weather and manufacturing operations generally are in ex- cellent condition.

"Rapid turnover at smaller profits is the keynote throughout the indus- try as reflected by our country's business. With this policy can only come a demand for more transpor- tation.

"The shippers are demanding bet- ter freight service; the business trav- eler is demanding better train ser- vice and the automobile user is de- manding better service of his car, and the firm that is in a position to assure the buyer this better ser- vice can have nothing but bright prospects for the spring of 1927."

A letter from Emmet Huntsman, who is in the U. S. Marine Hospital at New Orleans for treatment and possibly an operation, to relatives here states that he is getting along nicely and that it will be determined within the next week whether or not he will be operated upon. For the information of friends who might wish to communicate with Emmet, his address is 441 Henry Clay Ave., New Orleans, La.

Early hatched chicks are usually more profitable than the late hatched ones. Leghorns should be hatched by the fore part of May in most parts of the country—that is, if you want them to be in good laying condition by the middle of October or the fore part of November. Heavier breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, and Wyandottes, should be hatched not later than the middle of April—if you are going to have them laying at the most profit- able season of the year.

Dallas Cops Watch Protruding Cigars

Dallas, Tex., Mar. 18.—Prohibi- tion officers are regarding with sus- picion Dallas men with cigars pro- truding from their pockets.

They have learned that a Dallas bootlegger has adopted a novel meth- od to peddle his wares. The rum seller uses glass tubes about the size of a cigar, in which there is just enough liquor for a drink. The tubes are wrapped in tinfoil with an imi- tation band around the middle. The bottles are handed out at 50c each.

That crop rotation is almost effec- tive as farm manure and complete commercial fertilizers in maintain- ing and increasing soil productivity has been demonstrated by experi- mental yields of wheat, corn, and oats taken collectively.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Harrell left Friday for Taylor, Texas where they were called to attend the fun- eral of Mrs. Harrell's sister, which was held at that place Saturday after- noon.

A lot of thrifty housewives in the vicinity of Winters have begun to plant the spring chickens.

The total value of fruits and vege- tables used annually by the 3,000 canneries of the country exceeds 615 million dollars says the United States Department of Agriculture.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
MARKS OF CHRISTIANITY

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 27: Marks of a True Christian. Devotional reading: John 3:16-21.

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.

He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.

For everyone that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved.

But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.

It is important that we study what a Christian should be. But it is vastly more important that we apply the knowledge we have gained to the acts of our daily life.

The example set by Jesus gives a definite basis on which every Christian may build his life, pattern his ideals, determine his courses. Here all our theory meets the test; the life of Christ is the final grounds of comparison. To be Christian is to be like Christ.

Words of Jesus

The words of Jesus himself, as offered in the Golden Text of this lesson, give the application of Christianity: "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments." The devotional reading with this lesson gives the true background of Christian life—the marks of a true Christian.

It is not so hard to discover how to be a Christian, but the carrying out of Christian principles often gives us the test. A professor can teach hundreds to skate, but may be unable to skate himself. Great football coaches number in their ranks men who never have played a game.

Evangelism

To be a Christian, one must study and practice the ideals of Christ. He must consider the nature of the Christian life, its ends, its dangers, privileges, relationships. Its outreach and expression. The real meaning and purpose of Christianity, as our lessons reveal, is evangelism—the reaching out and saving of others.

Christianity and aloneness inevitably fail to mix. A man cannot be a true Christian without wanting others to share in his experiences. He becomes a proclaimer of the gospel in his acts as well as words.

Faith

The background of Christianity is the love of God for the world, expressed in the gift of His son to be the world's savior and redeemer. As "God so loved the world," so must the Christian love his fellow men.

Faith in God is almost the first requisite. Without it of course Christianity is impossible. "He that believeth not is condemned already."

Sell Your Bugs and Beetles

(Charles N. Tunnell In Farm And Ranch)

Authorities estimate that millions of dollars are lost annually on American farms through destruction from insects, but only the farmer himself is able to realize just what these losses mean.

There is at least one way to convert the destructive insects into cash which is being used successfully by progressive farmers. Turkeys are the agents that not only reduce the actual loss from insects on the farm, but they insure the farmer of a supplementary cash crop that often equals that income made from the principal crops of the farm.

The farmer that expects to grow a few hundred turkeys without any effort and attention on his part is doomed to disappointment. Turkeys do not require a great amount of attention, but during the early life of the turkey some special attention must be given the young fowls. The first few weeks of the turkey's life is the deciding factor. Most poultry raisers consider them even more delicate and sensitive to environment than young chickens. But after passing this stage the turkey is very independent and thrifty.

Poultry houses and coops for young turkeys should be well ventilated, as free circulation of air is a direct advantage to the fowl, but all such poultry houses must be well covered and on high dry ground. Dampness is one of the worst enemies to the young turkey. If allowed to leave the shelter before the sun is up and the dew dry from the grass and weeds, the mortality rate is greatly increased, but if the young insect chasers are kept penned until towards the middle of the morning they will grow off with a vigorous growth.

As soon as the turks are well started on their growth and largely out of the danger zone, they are ready to make war on the farmers' worst enemies—insects. Turkeys are easily trained, and they can be made to range where desired. The garden plots and truck patches are usually the first places of the farm to be attacked by the early insects. This attack is quickly curbed if there is a fair-sized flock of turkeys to take care of the situation. By driving them to the place where they are to range for a few successive mornings they will go on their own accord. An early start made on the insects mean fewer of the pests to fight during the later season. Practically every insect gives rise to many new crops during a single season with a result that hundreds of the destructive pests come from a single parent.

With the turkeys on the job in the early spring, gardens, orchards, cotton patches, grain fields, and other farm plots, the early insects will be greatly reduced. Naturally, as the garden begins to mature and vegetables appear the turkeys must be made to range in other parts of the farm in order to prevent their destroying the young vegetables. Very little damage is ever done to growing plants by turkeys before the plants begin to fruit.

A fight on early insects may mean the saving of a great deal of money to the individual farmer, while the army of turkeys will certainly mean an added cash crop.

Dissatisfied Customers

No business institution dealing with the general public ever existed that did not, at some time or other, have a dissatisfied customer. Human nature is pretty much the same the world over, and no man or institution has ever yet attained that pinnacle of perfection where he or it has been able to please all of the people all of the time.

This company is no exception. Time rolls by, and, in the daily stress of effort to render one hundred per cent satisfactory service, occasionally something goes amiss and a dissatisfied customer appears. Either his service has not been as he thinks it should have been, or his bill is more than he thinks is justified by the service he has received.

While a dissatisfied customer is to be regretted, and always counts as a black mark against the cherished record for good will and friendly relations with the public, this company also tries to impress upon the men and women in its employ that a dissatisfied customer, wherever he makes himself known, is also an opportunity—an opportunity for closer personal contact and an opportunity to demonstrate that this company actually does practice what it preaches, that honest and efficient service rendered at a fair and equitable price is its paramount task and responsibility.

The men and women employed by this company are just ordinary human folks like all of us. And like all of us they are not infallible. They work hard at their jobs and they are trying earnestly all of the time to avoid mistakes. But mistakes do occur, and when they do the company is just as anxious as the customer who has suffered by that mistake that it be corrected, and corrected quickly and satisfactorily.

Many times, again, dissatisfaction on the part of the customer is due to misinformation or lack of information about the company and its services. And here again the company is honestly anxious to clear up the difficulty by careful, courteous and complete explanation.

If the man or the woman in the employ of this company to whom you go with your troubles does not meet you in this attitude, then that man or woman is not the kind of employee the company thought he was when it entrusted him with the responsibility of carrying out its policies and its ideals.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PAULINE MALLINGATE has been strangely absent from her home in London for 18 months. Her mother and sister, Lorna, have communicated with her through a forwarding address in Paris.

HENRY EMERSON, stepfather of the two girls, has now vanished mysteriously from a summer resort where he had been staying with Lorna and her mother.

DR. JULIAN EMERSON, claiming to be a relative of the missing man, has persuaded Lorna and her sick mother to leave the resort with him. This after he has told Lorna that her stepfather had no right to marry her mother; and Lorna in turn has explained Henry Emerson's absence to her mother by telling her he has been to London for treatment. Dr. Emerson, however, breaks faith with the two women by taking them to a strange house in the country, where they are held virtually prisoners.

GERALD CRAVEN, Lorna's lover, in hunting for some clue to the missing family, tells the whole story to Mrs. Bertha Northwood, a mutual friend. That same day, in a restaurant, Mrs. Northwood recognizes a young woman whom she believes to be Pauline. Investigation shows that the mystery woman is known as Mrs. Creswold, residing at "The Moat," not far from Mrs. Northwood's place in Yorkshire.

In driving through the village Mrs. Northwood meets Ellen Storey, who has accepted a situation at "The Moat." Questioning brings out the fact that the girl was hired by Mrs. Creswold.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

GERALD CRAVEN was going to Yorkshire on the urgent entreaty of his friend; the truth being that Mrs. Northwood was beginning to worry about the young man.

She drove to meet him, and was grieved to see how worn and changed the young man was.

"I thought I had plenty of pluck," he told her, "but the fact is that this anxiety is too much for me! If one could only get in touch with them; if one could only know if all is well with them!"

Bertha Northwood could give him really no comfort, but she tried to speak hopefully and cheerfully. The point she argued was what she had already advanced, that people could not disappear as Lorna and her mother had done without there being some clue or other cropping up before very long to end the mystery.

"Ghosts!" said Mrs. Northwood, and she looked across at the girl and laughed.

"It will come in the most unexpected way!" she declared.

And then she told him about the strange part that she was convinced Pauline was playing.

"I have not seen her again," she said, "since the evening I spoke to her outside the station, but I know I made no mistake, and I have been debating with myself, Jerry, whether I should not take the bull by the horns and go straight to The Moat and face Pauline."

"If you are sure that this is Lorna's sister, well I think I have some right in approaching her, since I am going to marry Lorna," the young man urged.

"We will talk it all out," Mrs. Northwood said.

After she had conducted her guest up to his room to rest before dinner, Mrs. Northwood was going to her own apartment, when one of the maids spoke to her.

"Oh, madam, I don't know if you've been told that Ellen Storey is here wanting to see you?"

"Oh!" said Mrs. Northwood. "Send her to me here. I'll see her in my reading room."

She was seated by the window, glancing at the newspapers which Gerald had brought down from town when there came a tap at the door and Ellen Storey entered.

Mrs. Northwood greeted her kindly.

"Come in, Ellen," she said, "and sit down there. You don't look well," she added.

Ellen Storey laughed lightly.

"Well," she said, "I made a great mistake, ma'am. I told you I wasn't afraid of ghosts; I find I don't like them. In fact, I am not going to stay at The Moat; I told Mrs. Creswold so this morning. I've only been there twenty-four hours, but it's quite enough for me!"

"Ghosts!" said Mrs. Northwood, and she looked across at the girl and laughed. "Now, Ellen," she said, "you are a very sensible young woman—do you honestly want to tell me that you have been seeing ghosts?"

"Haven't seen anything!" Ellen Storey replied promptly. "It's what I've heard, ma'am. And most of all, it's Mrs. Creswold herself. If you believe me, ma'am, she's that sad and troubled, she makes your heart ache, that she do."

"Well, tell me all about it. What have you been hearing?" questioned Mrs. Northwood, the interest deepening naturally.

Well, ma'am, the first night I was there Mrs. Creswold said as she'd have her dinner upstairs. She didn't want much, she said, and I could bring it all up on one tray. The funny thing is, I found when I got to The Moat there was no one to help me. I engaged to be a housemaid and do a little waiting on the lady, as I told you, but if you believe me, ma'am, I have been the only servant there, except for a queer old man who does the cooking, who's either an Italian or a Frenchman. I don't know which. But he's very difficult to understand."

"But he wasn't a ghost, was he?" queried Mrs. Northwood.

"Oh, no! He's live enough," Ellen Storey answered, and then she talked on. "Well, ma'am, I took up the dinner on a tray, and Mrs. Creswold she took it from me, just opening the door a little way, barely enough to get it through. She'd got on a gray dressing gown, and her hands were trembling—but she thanked me very kindly; she's a nice mannered young lady," Ellen added, "and I got downstairs again, and then it was I got the creeps!"

Mrs. Northwood encouraged her to go on with her story, and the maid obeyed.

"It was cheerful in the kitchen, because the lights were blazing and the cook was sitting there smoking, but he didn't look any too pleased to see me when I went in, so I didn't stay. I just ate a bit of supper and then went up and knocked on Mrs. Creswold's door. She answered it in a great flurry, just as if she was afraid—and I said, 'Do you want me any more, ma'am? Shall I take down the tray?' and she said: 'Oh no—no—don't you bother—tomorrow will do. You go to bed and have a good night's rest.'"

"Well?" queried Mrs. Northwood again.

"Well, ma'am, I got undressed and then I got into bed. And I can promise you I said my prayers twice over. Anyways I dropped off, and I must have slept a goodish bit," Ellen Storey said, "when I woke up with a big start, frightened like."

"What frightened you, Ellen?"

"I don't know, ma'am, and that's the truth, but I heard someone moaning and crying out, and I jumped up in bed, ma'am, and I do assure you, my heart went thump, thump in my breast just as if it would come out!"

"What sort of moaning was it?—as if some one were very ill?" queried Mrs. Northwood.

"As if someone was being 'urt," said Ellen Storey stoutly. "And I ain't sure, but I feel convinced I heard a woman's voice, too—a woman crying and making a great do!"

"A woman!" said Bertha Northwood thoughtfully. "That must have been Mrs. Creswold, I suppose, Ellen, if there were no other maid servants."

Ellen Storey sighed. "Maybe it was, but I don't know, and I didn't dare get out and go see. At last I dropped off to sleep, ma'am, and when I woke up, the sun was shining straight across my face. I opened all the doors and windows; I thought I would let the fresh air in, and the sunshine, too."

NEXT CHAPTER: Ellen Storey continues her narrative.

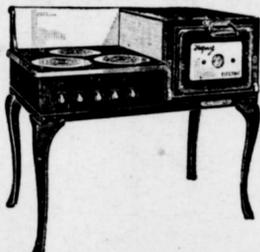

WANDERLUST

Now that the weather is getting a little warmer, many persons are getting the wanderlust. People are already studying over auto maps and planning jaunts in the family car. Many enjoy planning imaginary trips, which are at least inexpensive.

(From Our Exchange)

J. M. Farnsworth and family are one, among several of our Concho county families who are living almost altogether off the home farm. Mr. Farnsworth has a cannery, bought late this fall. He has put up enough fresh meat to last all the year. They have canned about 450 cans of meat. These include the canning of a young beef, pork sausage, twelve turkey gobblers, some chickens, and they expect to can enough vegetables in season for their home use. Then besides, they of course have an abundance of fresh butter, eggs, milk, honey, and vegetables out of their garden. Just now they have crisp lettuce heads and turnips greens as well as fresh mustard. Then, too, they have all the hams, bacon and lard they can use, raised and cut up at home. How much do you suppose their grocery bill will be for the year? Without all these things it could not be less than $600, probably $1,000, as there are six or seven in family when the children are at home.—Concho Herald.

Miss Lora Farnsworth who taught school here last year.

Mr. J. A. Tyler received a telephone call from Winters Thursday night, announcing the arrival of a daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Gay Edwards, Thursday, March 17th, at 9:30 p. m. The little baby has been named Evelyn Pauline and weighed seven pounds. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Nettie Tyler before her marriage on March 31, 1926.—Mills Messenger.

J. Norris Hinds spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Hinds. He is attending school in Winters.—Miles Messenger.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram of March 21, carried a picture of Harold F. Merrick as the honor student of Peacock Military school with the following explanation.

"This introduces Cadet Harold E. Merrick, son of Mrs. Maud Merrick of Floydada, treasurer of Floyd County. He made the honor roll for excellence in his studies at Peacock Military School, Woodland Lake, San Antonio. Merrick is to receive a gold medal at commencement for distinguished and outstanding service to a fellow cadet, whose life he probably saved in an emergency when he quickly bound the wounded limb and staunch the flow of blood when one of the boys had been wounded accidentally by a fellow cadet. Harold is henceforth known for this year as the hero of the school.

Harold, with his parents, moved away from Winters when he was just a small boy and many Winters citizens will read this bit of news with interest.

Clifford Brown, of Winters, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. R. E. Brown, and other relatives.—Ballinger Ledger.

Social Activities

Miss Oliver and Mrs. Skaggs hostesses at St. Patrick Party.

Miss Gladys Oliver and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs were hostesses to the Literary and Service Club and other guests, Thursday, March 19th, at the pretty home of Mrs. Skaggs on State Street. The artistic rooms of the home reflected a touch of the St. Patrick colors, which, combined with the springtime motif of sweet peas in pastel shades and Calla lilies, formed a beautiful setting for the afternoon's entertainment.

The tea table was presided over by Miss Oliver and presented beautiful appointments with cover of green tarlton dotted with shamrocks. The center of the table was marked with a gorgeous bouquet of sweet peas, while silver candle sticks held tall green tapers and silver baskets held candies of the same color.

Eight tables with novelty St. Patrick covers were arranged for forty-two, and St. Patrick suggestions marked the tally cards and score pads which were hand painted. The table favors were wee-bit green hats filled with candies and plate favors were diminutive figures of an Irish Colleen and Irish holiday noise makers.

St. Patrick colors were used in the very beautiful refreshment plate of pressed chickens, moulded fruit salad, cheese balls, wafers, pickles and ice tea.

The guest list included Mesdames C. R. Robertson, Floyd Smith, R. T. Thornton, A. H. Smith, E. A. Shepperd, J. H. Rhoden, L. Owens, G. E. Nicholson, Harris Mullin, J. Q. McAdams, B. E. Low, W. E. A pretty party of the past week was given at the home of Mrs. J. C. Meredith Friday afternoon when Mesdames Meredith, Chandler and Ables entertained the Wesley Workers Sunday School Class with a forty-two party of pretty appointments.

The guests were served punch on entering the reception rooms and during the series of games punch was passed. At the conclusion of the games the "Pollyannas" were revealed.

The hostesses served a dainty refreshment plate of ice cream and angel food cake with violets as plate favors to Mesdames Carl Davis, Gid J. Bryan, A. Krauss, T. V. Jennings, Harry Tompkins, A. O. Strother, J. H. Rhoden, G. A. Edwards, Adams, Lawrence, J. E. Cooke, Lee Johnson, Harold Norman, J. S. Neely, Frank Williams, Sam Cooke, Jim Johnson, Chas. Chapman, M. P. Mrs. T. D. Dunn Honors Guests With Surprise Party

Mrs. T. D. Dunn was the charming hostess on last Saturday evening at a cleverly planned party given as a surprise in honor of her week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Haynes of Coleman and Miss Marcia Livingston of Talpa.

Four tables were tastefully arranged for a series of forty-two games with tallies and score pads suggestive of the springtime season.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. J. W. Dixon served lovely refreshments of pressed chicken with mayonnaise dressing topped with nuts, olives, Saratoga chips, ice tea, Bavarian cream with whip cream topped with cherries and cakes, on attractive trays centered with bouquets of violets, pansies and lilacs, using violets as plate favors.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Deffebach, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Maddox, Mesdames G. Gibson, Sims Saylor of Snyder, C. R. Robertson, Misses Loyle Kornegay, Gladys Geistman, Evelyn Gannaway, Gertrude Morgan, Messrs. Bill Carlisle, Albert Affebach and the honor guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hall Entertain S. S. Teachers.

The basement of the Methodist church was the center of a carefully planned St. Patrick's party on the evening of March 17, when Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hall were host and hostess to the teachers of the Senior and Intermediate departments of the Sunday School and invited guests. The rooms were attractive and homelike while the color scheme of green and white was prominent everywhere.

Upon arriving each guest was requested to register in a green hat-shaped booklet and was presented a program of the evening's proceedings (or entertainment) names of members of the "Murphy" family and the "mullingan family were pinned on each one present. The "Cops" then assembled their families in separate parts of the room and various games and plays were contested by families. Much rivalry prevailed in every contest. "Wearing of the Green," "Flat Heads," "The Grand Hunt," "Potato Balance," and "Race to Ireland" brought forth gales of laughter and shrieks of merriment for sometime. All were glad to quiet down for "A Verdant Love Story" and "Irish Melodies." The families were then favored with the songs, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "If You Knock the 'L' Out of Kelly" by Miss Lavere Neely and with a pianologue "Wearing of the Green" by Miss Isabel Adams. The hostess was assisted through the evening by these young ladies.

The climax came in the "Trip to Ireland" where the families marched in single file to the rear of the basement and were made to pay with crowns, grins, giggles, etc., for a daintily prepared plate of chicken salad, olives, Saratoga Flakes, salted pecans in miniature green hats, and hot tea. This was followed with a second course of green and white brick cream and shamrock cookies iced green.

Those present were Messrs and Mesdames S. H. Nance, A. H. Smith, F. J. Brophy, E. A. Shepperd, J. H. Rhoden, E. M. Hall, Gid J. Bryan, Misses Lavere Neely, Isabel Adams and Alonzo Bryan.

Mrs. R. L. Stokes Entertained Intermediate B. Y. P. U.

The Baker B. Y. P. U. enjoyed a social hour at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. A. L. Stokes last Friday night.

Games and contests proved a happy diversion and were enjoyed until a late hour.

The hostess served a dainty refreshment plate of ice cream and cake to twenty-five boys and girls.

GARDENING TIME

Now is the time for all good men to come to the help of the country. By that remark we do not mean to print an advertisement for a type-writer, but to call attention to the fact that gardening time is here. The season is rushing toward us. Gardens are fine things for those who like them. Gardening does not demand a large income for its enjoyment.

To grow the largest tomatoes, the first roasting ears or take first prize for the best collection of vegetables at the county fair is as proud an honor as to win a cup in the golf tournament, and it is a prize which attracts far more competition.

It is possible for the owner of a small lot to create in his garden beauty which the greatest of artists could not surpass.

DOOR POUNDERS

The peddler will tell you, of course, that your local merchant is overcharging you, that you are not getting value when you trade with your local stores. He will hand you a bunch of commercial "applesauce" about saving your money and giving you the advantage of wonderful bargains and unheard of values.

In nine cases out of ten, you'll find as good or better merchandise in your local stores for less money. Compare. Satisfy yourself.

Nobody is asking you for charity. Your local merchants aren't begging. It is a straightforward business proposition.

You will win in the end by patronizing your local stores.

GET IN TUNE

First get in tune with your home, your town, your state and your nation. A man out of tune with his surroundings is like an instrument out of tune in a band or orchestra.

OLD SPEED LAWS

The first American speed laws were enacted at Fredericksburg, Va., in 1787, according to a recent magazine historian. The law stated that anyone who galloped his horse on Main street, if a free man, should be fined, and if a slave, should be given 29 lashes at the public whipping post.

It would appear that excessive speed is a relative matter.

A BIG JUMP

From the pony express to the air mail is a big jump, as is the transition from the parlor photograph album to the motion picture, but the greatest change is to come in a few months. The lads from Annapolis on next summer's cruise will not load coal with back-wrenching labor and in pore-filling dust. They will turn a valve and fill the bunkers with fuel oil. It will not be romantic, but now that sails have been discarded nothing makes much difference. A filling station is as inspiring as a coaling station.

AHEAD OF EDISON

Edison is burning the midnight lamp in his laboratory, trying to evolve a tire that will save expense to motorists. There are men in Runnels county who are away ahead of him in their ideas of tire economy. They are the fellows who save rubber by never applying their brakes at street crossings, road intersections and at school stops.

IT PAYS

Nowadays when people want anything they look in the home newspaper to find where to get it. If they want the services of a painter, a carpenter, a plumber or any other tradesman, they expect to find a card in the paper. They look for it. If they find one the advertiser gets the job. Judicious advertising pays.

NOTICE

Notice is given that the commissioners court of Runnels County, Texas, will receive bids for the purchase of one or more road maintainers up to ten o'clock a. m. of April 11th, 1927.—Paul Trimmier, County Judge. 46-4tc

"The Fool" Crowded With Entertainment Vividly Thrilling

The much heralded screen version of Channing Pollock's greatest stage play, "The Fool," comes to this city on Monday-Tuesday, March 28-29 at The Queen theatre. Produced by the Fox company and with a year spent in its making, this film adaptation of "The Fool" is rated as one of the finest pictures of the season by critics and public alike who have seen it.

"The Fool," as many local theatre-goers will remember who have read the play in book form, or who have seen its stage presentation, is the story of the adventures and romance of a young minister who believed that he could live like Christ in the twentieth century. It has been ranked as one of the greatest plays ever written for stage or screen, not only because of the significant moral message it contains but also for the sheer thrill and entertainment of its melodramatic action and climaxes.

All of the leading members of the cast were especially selected and Edmund Lowe, handsome young Fox screen star, scores the greatest success of his meteoric career in the role of the hero minister, Daniel Gilchrist. Another big part, one which Lowell Sherman made fame in on the stage, is that of Jerry, played by Ray Bloomer in the Fox screen version, Brenda Bond, a new and pretty face in motion pictures, but well known on the stage, has the role of Clare. Others among the leading members of the supporting cast are: Anne Dale, Riley Hatch, Mary Thurman.

IF FORD "CASHED" IN

Washington, February 14—If Henry Ford cashed in all his wealth put the money in his pocket and set out to spend it, he would have a wonderful time.

Ford, according to witnesses at the Couzens tax hearing here is worth between one and a half and two billion. Using the smaller figure as a basis for calculation, the motor magnate could:

Buy the entire state of Idaho, land, buildings, lock, stock and barrel, unless the barrel contained something not listed in census bureau reports of wealth of states.

Buy all the land in Colorado, Louisiana, Minnesota, or Iowa, figuring on a basis of assessed valuations.

Pay the combined net debts of all states of the union (as of 1925) and have $250,000,000 left over.

Purchase 75 billion newspapers at two cents each, thus providing something to wrap the laundry in for several generations.

He could buy 1-175 of the total wealth of the United States—industries, farm products live stock and everything.

If he wanted to turn his fortune into gold it would require all the gold produced in the world since the close of the world war to pay him off.

He could go into the open market today and buy control of the U. S. Steel corporation, Pennsylvania railroad and General Motors and have money left.

He could buy approximately 1000 seats on the New York stock exchange.

His fortune equals 1-25 of the total income of all individuals and corporations in the United States for the year 1923.

Delving into the past for data, Ford with his present fortune, could have:

Purchased the entire output of womens clothes in this country in 1923, thus for the first time in history keeping all the women of a family from complaining they had nothing to wear.

Bought the entire telephone system of the country including the wrong numbers.

Acquired the combined wheat and oat crops of 1925, though what a motor magnate needs with horse feed may be questionable.

Bought 4,000,000 and then some of a popular make of small motor car, enough, if stretched end to end, to give a traffic policeman an awful nightmare.

Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison are the world's most famous buddies.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs and J. H. Rhoden left for Ft. Worth Wednesday. Mrs. Skaggs is attending the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Martin who has visited Winters on numerous occasions.

SOPHOMORES GIVE CHAPEL PROGRAM

Last Friday at the regular chapel period the Sophomores gave a special program which was well rendered.

Leta Rountree gave two readings which were well received. This was followed by a one-act play entitled "Two Lunatics." The cast was "appropriately" selected. Maggie Sue Key played the part of one of the lunatics (a boy) and Evelyn Hartzog played opposite her (or 'him') as she was a "him" in the play.

DEBATERS AND DECLAIMERS TALK IN CHAPEL

On Tuesday of this week two of the debaters, Marie Griffis and Perry Barber, and Truett Barber, senior boy declaimers declaimed in chapel. The remaining debaters and the declaimers, extemporaneous speakers and others will probably speak during chapel each day this week. The debaters proved to be very good and show an improvement over last year.

Truett Barber proved to be a splendid declaimer and he will probably win at the county and district interscholastic meet.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION STUDENTS HAVE PICTURES MADE

On last Friday a false fire alarm was given and the high school students assembled out on the campus. They soon were informed, however, that no fire had occurred but that they were to be "fired" upon for their pictures to be made for the Glacier.

Two positions were taken of the physical education class.

WARD WINDS

Sub-Junior and Junior Spelling

The second elimination was held in Sub-Junior and Junior spelling. The first contest included all pupils of the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grades and all others under fourteen years of age who wished to spell. The first contest eliminated all but five from each room and only these could enter the second contest. In the last contest, the four highest were to be chosen; two to make the team and two to be trained as substitutes. The winners in the Junior spelling are: 1st William Cryer, who missed five words from a list of 180 words, 2nd Alta Fae Patterson, who missed seven words, 3rd Archie Branaman, who missed nine words, and 4th Lota Fae Terry who missed ten words. In the Sub-Junior contest there was a tie, which will cause another contest to be held. Of the 120 words given Benjamin Clift, only four words were missed, and Adelle Ashby, Mary Strother, Barney McCastland, and Annie Lee Cobb missed eight words.

ARITHMETIC

There are seven boys and girls being trained in arithmetic and of these seven, five will be selected to compete in the county meet. These boys and girls are: Thelma McDonald, Archie Branaman, Otis Lankford, Owen Forbes, Minnie Belitz, J. L. Polk, and Wilbur Dittrich. They all realized that they have their part in winning the loving cups and are striving hard to win first place.

Next Monday and Tuesday will be devoted largely to examinations for the second six week period.

With a salary of $70,000 a year Babe Ruth will be knocking down pretty good pay.

SPRING

Spring comes tripping in garments white. Bringing flowers for your delight. Yellow daffodils, buttercups too, And the little blue violets of delicate hue. DRASCO 4H CLUB

The Drasco 4H Club met at the home of our local club leader, Mrs. J. C. Watts, at eleven o'clock Monday morning, March 21, 1927.

On account of our demonstrating agent, Mrs. Hollingsworth having car trouble, we did not have time to have our business meeting but went ahead with our party. The roll was not called but there were twenty-two girls present. Mrs. Hollingsworth took up our cup towels and gave receipts for five different kinds of candy. She assigned each girl a task.

While some of the girls made candy others were given instructions on making a pot holder. As some of the girls were busy with the candy and could not hear the instructions they will be given again on our next meeting day for the benefit of everyone. We want every girl to bring material for a pot holder so we can finish them, if possible.

By the time the four kinds of candy, coconut, fudge, divinity and peanut brittle were finished, they were all almost gone. Many compliments were passed on the candy and the only objection was there was not enough. All the girls had a nice time and were glad they were club members.

Mrs. J. C. Watts was very nice to us and she seemed to enjoy the party also.

We were glad to enroll a new club member, Alice Partlow, and hope to have others during the year.—Club Reporter.

WHAT'S DOING In West Texas

McCamey—Construction is under way by the Orient Railroad on additional storage trackage. When completed, the car capacity of the Orient's yards will be increased 175, making a total capacity of 1,010.

Midland—The local light company and properties was sold recently to the Texas Power and Light Company. Another move of immediate importance to the town was the sale of the Curtis property to Clarence Scharbauer. Scharbauer plans to erect a modern twenty-five room hotel on the property.

Sweetwater—At the suggestion of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Judge W. C. Crane has suggested the name of Tonkawa Hills for a picturesque wooded range extending toward Buffalo Gap. The name suggested would perpetuate a tribe of friendly Indians who aided Texas plainsmen against the Comanches. Manager Wade has been asked to lend support of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in securing legislative designation of the name "Tonkawa Hills."

Chillicothe—Five new brick buildings are being erected by Wofford Brothers, west of the Touchstone & Linceum Motor Company. The contract, let to J. K. Stuckey, calls for a modern fire proof tile and concrete building to be 115 x 80 feet. This makes a total of 13 brick and concrete business houses to go up in Chillicothe in the last three years.

Jeff Davis—The Jeff Davis County Chamber of Commerce has been organized with more than forty paid members. A membership of 75 is expected before complete organization. One of the first official acts of the newly formed body was to take out five memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Wichita Falls—Scores of towns are already sending in their names promising to bring large delegations to the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held here May 16 and 17. Active interest in the part to be played in the mammoth pageant of nations is displayed. Lots are to be drawn by the various towns who will send delegations to see what nationality they will represent in costume, colors, and flags in the huge pageant.

Lefors—Contract has been let for the construction of a modern sanitary water and sewer system here, and work has already begun.

Slaton—Plans for installing a new and modern common battery plant or flashlight system for improved telephone service in Slaton are announced by officials of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Dallas.

Today's Ford Car

Before you buy any make of automobile, let us show you Today's Ford Car.

You may consider that you know the Ford Car. You may have been a Ford owner for years and think you are familiar with the splendid satisfaction which the Ford gives, and yet unless you have made it a point to examine the Ford Car as it is BUILT TODAY—to drive it and note its improved engine performance—relax in it over rough roads, and experience the increased comfort it affords, and to learn of the many recent improvements, you do not know the Ford Car as it is built today.

Many of the new Ford Car features are obvious—balloon tire equipment—wire wheels—pyroxylin finish—a choice of colors—improved upholstery, etc., but the big satisfaction to you, as the owner of Today's Ford Car is to be found in the way in which it will fulfill your expectations of what a modern motor car should be. You will be amazed at the increased power resulting from the new Vaporizer, the smoother engine operation, the increased gasoline mileage, the improved riding qualities, and above all, in the way in which this car handles and performs in traffic and on the open road.

In short, you must drive a new Ford Car to be a fair judge of present-day motor car values.

We invite your inspection of Today's Ford Cars.

ARTISTS MODEL ORGANIZES "SLOW CLUB" TABOOING PETTING AND RUM.

Miss Olive Potter, an artist's model of Chicago, presided over the first meeting of the "Slow Club" recently, when over 200 young people attended, in an effort to combat the hip pocket flask and petting movements among the younger generation. The organization proposes to have weekly parties where they will dance and sing and enjoy themselves in a manner pleasing to the most circumspect of grandmothers. The "Black Bottom" will also be tabooed.
