Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Banner and baby, Patsy Jane, of Las Cruces, New Mexico, spent a few days the last of the week visiting in the home of her uncle, C. E. Woodrow. Mr. Banner is superintendent of the Stone Webster Electrical company of Las Cruces.

Let's Not Get Too Hardboiled

We understand that yesterday a stranger in our city was fined something like $12 for letting the motor of his car run idle while he stepped into a drug store for a minute or two. The stranger's home happened to be in Kansas where, according to the gentleman in question, there exists no such law as he was fined for violating.

We believe in law enforcement but we do not believe in fining strangers within our gates who have unconsciously violated some traffic regulation, and just as sure as we allow this kind of thing to go on, Winters will surely suffer the consequences in adverse publicity, and there's no telling just how far reports similar to the one in question will travel. We'd rather strangers were given friendly welcome to our city and be asked for their cooperation in observing our traffic regulations, than to be dealt with too harshly, for a town is like unto a person in that it can not have too many friends.

Postponed Play To Be Given Next Tuesday Evening

After the manner of the ancient tale of the boy who called "Wolf, Wolf!" the news has been spread time and again that the Little Theatre Group would present "Kempy." At last the argument has been settled, the building completed, the doors opened and the public is invited to attend the opening bill in the auditorium of the new high school building Tuesday evening, April 12, at 8:15. As has been announced the specialties will consist of an orchestra concert before the curtain rises and several vocal selections. Bob Bacon's Bawl-Bearing Boobs will be one of the popular headliners.

The entire cast is ready to give one of the best shows that they have ever given to the lovers of comedy. Your favorite comedians will be in the cast and they will bring tears as well as joys from time to time. Do not forget that the house will be packed so be sure to get there in time to get a seat and hear Sheppard's orchestra.

See the "Flapper Grandmother" Friday evening, April 15, at High School Auditorium. Itc.

Mrs. W. Love James and baby of Galveston visited in the home of Mrs. Jim Eoff Tuesday of last week. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Eoff accompanied her guests to Coleman where they visited relatives and friends Wednesday. Mrs. James and baby returned home Thursday.

Messrs Lanham Brown and S. H. Nance were transacting business in Dallas a day or two the first of the week.

H. W. Lynn was expected home yesterday from Memphis, Tenn., where he had been in attendance upon a meeting of the rules committee of the National Cottonseed Crushers association. While absent he visited relatives in Covington, Tenn.

Lions Club Banquet Girls Basket Ball Team

The Lions Club enjoyed the pleasure of entertaining the High School Basketball Girls last Tuesday at their meeting. The girls had the good fortune to win the championship of Runnels county and to be awarded a beautiful loving cup for their trophy for one year. Each of the girls was introduced by Coach J. E. Childers and during the routine of their business Miss Mildred Spill was elected as captain of the squad for the next year.

In the absence of President S. H. Nance, Vice-President R. E. Bacon took charge, attending to the necessary business, after which the meeting was turned over to Lion J. H. Hodge who was chairman of the program committee and toastmaster for the occasion. Miss Gladys Joseph entertained the club with two readings in Italian dialect. Mrs. B. G. Owens gave a selection of popular piano music which was really an accompaniment for two famous waltzers who were behind the scenes. All those present were at a loss to know who the artists were; later they learned that they were local talent, and B. G. Owens and R. C. Maddox were hailed as masters of the ancient art of waltzing.

Lion Hodge stated that complaint had been registered by those serving the luncheon that silverware had been missed after each meeting so Bert Low was authorized to search each one present. When Lion Low could not find anyone concealing silverware, the talltweiser was asked to search the searcher. Lion Low was found to have certain pieces of cutlery about his person, and was let off on the condition that he made a nice address to the basketball team which he did in a splendid manner, praising them for their success and urging them to play the game of life as hard and as clean as they did the court game.

Visitors present were J. R. Coon, assistant manager of the Rock Island Plow Co. of Dallas, Mrs. W. E. Murray and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald, all of Oklahoma City; Miss Gladys Joseph, and Mr. White of the Higginbotham, Bailey, Logan Co. of Dallas.

Roberts Again Elected Mayor

Albert Roberts, present incumbent, was again elected Mayor of the city of Winters in last Tuesday's election over J. T. Stevenson. The count showed:

Roberts.....125 votes
Stevenson.....55 votes

There seemed to be a misunderstanding among the voters about the number of aldermen to be elected. Some voters did not understand that there were two to be elected and as there were only two names on the ticket, they thought one of them had to be scratched, hence for alderman the vote was somewhat lighter than in the other two races, however, J. W. Copeland was reelected and Fred Bedford was elected to fill the vacancy left by Wiley Hands, who, we understand, refused to stand for reelection.

Mrs. Roxie Floyd, who had offered for City Secretary for the second term, lead the ticket with 180 votes.

Two Wells Insure Reserve Supply Water for Winters

The city of Winters can now feel reasonably sure of a safe and pure water supply in dry times. Through the expenditure of a part of the money derived from the $30,000 bond issue which was voted last September the City Council has erected a reservoir on the land acquired from the Daugherty property northeast of the city and has put down two wells which have tested about 100,000 gallons of water each. Other wells are being dug and so far none of the wells have any effect upon the other. Authorities believe that there is an unlimited supply of water to be obtained there and plans are being made to utilize the water out there to supplement the regular supply from the city lake.

Runnels County Bankers Meet At Wingate

The Runnels County Co-Operative Bankers met last Tuesday evening at Wingate, the meeting being held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dugan Hensley, the latter being cashier of the Wingate Security bank, when the following program was carried out:

Report of committee, Jno. Q. McAdams, R. G. Irwin, J. S. Marrett. "Service charge; should it be applied?"—Discussion led by Mr. McAdams.

"Am I in favor of the service charge?"—Round table discussion from each member.

"Should our organization continue?"—If so, election of officers.

Harry Lynn of Ballinger was elected president of the organization while Lyle Deffebach of this city was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The next meeting of the organization is to be held in Ballinger on the 4th Tuesday in May.

The main topic for discussion at the Wingate meeting was what is known as a service charge, meaning that where a customer does not keep a daily average deposit large enough to justify the bank in handling the account, a charge of 50c per month should be assessed against it in order to justify or keep the bank from losing money on it.

The organization is planning an educational campaign in an effort to inform the public along these lines and are doing so in the belief that if the public becomes properly informed on the subject, the levying of a service charge may not be necessary.

W. J. Behrens of Abilene, was transacting business in the city a day or two the first of the week.

Rev. and Mrs. Hal F. Smith, Mrs. V. Vanzandt, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hall and perhaps others whose names we failed to get, attended Presbytery in Menard Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Huffhines came in Wednesday from Hot Springs, Ark., where they have been in the interest of his health. Mr. Huffhines is much improved in health and will be back at his post of duty at Hardin Lumber company.

Here's $5 in Cash For You

Do you read the advertisements in The Enterprise? They are constantly telling you of what's new in every line and goods that will bear the light of publicity will meet with your approval—but it is always best to "steer clear" of merchandise that is not worth advertising. If a merchant is willing to pay out good hard cash to tell you of his wares, you may rest assured that he is thoroughly convinced of the merit of what he has to offer.

This week The Enterprise is selecting five names of subscribers which will appear in the advertisements of five different merchants and if it happens to be your name and you find it, if you will take it to the merchant in whose ad it appears he will give you one dollar in cash—not merchandise. There's only one condition—you must turn in your name and get your dollar before Tuesday noon of next week.

Car Accident Victim Buried Here Monday

One of the saddest deaths it has ever been our duty to chronicle was that of Miss Grace Floyd, daughter of Mrs. Roxie Floyd, which occurred last Sunday afternoon when the car in which she was riding was overturned, killing her instantly.

Grace Louise Floyd was born August 22, 1906 in Sarah, Miss., and came to Texas with her mother when she was 16 years of age, her father having passed away when she was about four years of age. She was a sweet tempered girl and had become a close companion of her mother, filling as best she could the place left vacant by the going of her father. She was converted at the age of nine years and prior to entering John Tarleton two years ago, was an active worker in the primary department of the Baptist Sunday School and while attending Tarleton continued her work with the small children whom she greatly loved.

There is no language nor deed within the power of man which is able to soften the heartache and loneliness of those left behind when this young lady was summoned to her eternal home so suddenly, yet there is comfort for every heart-throb of pain in the presence of the great Comforter whom Christ sent until He comes again in glory and with the reward of the faithful in His hands.

Surviving her besides her mother are one brother, Max Floyd, Dallas and Mrs. Al Jennigs of Lubbock.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church Monday afternoon at four-thirty, conducted by Rev. H. H. Stephens, and the body was laid to rest in Fairview cemetery.

Pall bearers were Gladden Bedford, John W. Norman, Vivian Colburn, C. R. Syler and the flower girls were Ruby Nell Roberts, Thelma Colburn, Lucile McWilliams, Ballinger and Melba Sue Bledsoe of Baylor college.

The body was prepared for burial

Last week the citizens of Winters were called to witness three accidents that varied in interest from mere casualties to horrible tragedy.

On Saturday afternoon the nine-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Compton was knocked down on West Dale street at the front of Higginbotham Bros. & company and was dragged a few feet under the rear wheel of a car driven by Mrs. H. W. Robinson of this city. The boy stepped out from behind a car that was parked at the curb and was struck before either the driver or the boy could stop even though the car was travelling at a very slow rate of speed. Norman Compton, the unfortunate victim, was rushed to the office of Dr. Henslee where he was given first aid and examined. He was later carried to the local sanitarium where further developments could be watched. According to reports he is improving rapidly and will likely be up in a few days even though he is bruised internally.

Saturday night a party of young people who were returning from a picnic were forced from the highway into the ditch south of the Country club grounds. No serious injuries were received, however, some of the occupants are sporting a few minor cuts and black eyes. The car was driven by Richard Sullivan who was accompanied by Paul Rathomel, and Misses McElroy, Modisette and Oliver.

The third incident in the series was the horrible tragedy which caused the death of Grace Floyd, Sunday about 4:30 p. m. Ruth Cathay, an employe of Harwell-Hickman, but whose home is at Wingate and Miss Floyd of this city were driving from Wingate in a Dodge touring car belonging to Tad Richards of that section. According to witnesses the car was travelling at a high rate of speed and after passing some cars about seven miles out of Winters the driver lost control of the car and ran headlong into an embankment which caused the car to be turned completely over. The driver escaped with severe cuts about her body and is still in a serious condition. Miss Floyd was pinned beneath the rear door of the car and killed instantly. The weight of the car crushing her chest. Passing autoists rushed to the scene but were unable to release the body from the debris. Miss Cathay was rushed to a physician at Wingate while an ambulance was called from Winters and local doctors hurried to the scene but only to find that there was no hope. A lady, who was one of the first to reach the wreck, said that Miss Floyd never showed any signs of life after they had reached her. The body was brought to the Higginbotham Undertaking parlor and prepared for burial.

Jordan's Studio will be closed all next week as we expect to attend the Northwestern Photographers' association which meets in Dallas. Anyone wishing to have pictures made will please call at the studio today or tomorrow. All Kodak films and other work will be given our careful attention upon our return. Please leave films in box at the door.—Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Jordan. Itc.

by Higginbotham Bros., funeral directors, who had charge of funeral arrangements.

Tenderest sympathy is expressed for the lonely and sorrowing and they are commended to God whose promises may all be claimed for their consolation.

It Can't Be Done

YOU CAN'T STOP A HAIL STORM

On top of crop disappointments of last year we are now wondering what the 1927 harvest will be.

Sprinklings of hail storms over the country remind us that the Winters section is not immune from disasters of this kind.

The most successful men of the country hedge against such losses. Then why should anyone take a chance on a lean year for the relatively small sum that it takes to buy hail insurance.

LOYALTY

Every citizen who buys away from home not only helps to wipe out local business but lessens the value of his own home property.

The home merchant has just as fine values as the mail order house. In addition he gives you an opportunity to look over his goods, feel the cloth and estimate the quality. He then gives you credit and delivers the goods to your home. The home merchant pays taxes and makes possible the community. The home merchant, if he is prosperous, is helping the value of every piece of property in the town.

Winters would not be much of a town if the business district were suddenly wiped out.

CAUSE AND ACCIDENTS

During a "no-accident week" campaign conducted in Chattanooga, Tenn., recently there were only eight minor accidents and not a single fatality. This record demonstrates conclusively that accidents don't just merely happen but are caused and can be prevented.

THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL

No wonder the White House is considered the most desirable place of residence in the country. The very ground on which it stands is appraised by Uncle Sam at more than ten million dollars. The original price was $15,000 so that as an investment it was a peach.

FINE EASTER DISPLAYS

You'll enjoy visiting Winters' stores the current week to see the fine displays of new merchandise for Easter and the spring season. Local merchants have unusually attractive stocks this spring and you will find on display dozens of items that you need.

KEEP SMILING

Taxpayers are urged to look upon the assessor as a friendly visitor, but when they see what happens to their money it calls for great fortitude to indicate pleasure.

THE "TALKIES"

Thomas A. Edison doesn't think that talking pictures will ever be successful in this country. There are probably no "sour grapes" about that opinion, either. It appears that Edison himself invented a device of the sort about 15 years ago, and thought so little of it that he considered himself lucky to sell it for a few thousand dollars.

"Americans prefer silent drama," he says. "They are accustomed to the moving picture as it is, and they will never get enthusiastic over any voices mingled in. There will be a novelty for a little while, but the glitter will soon wear off and the movie fans will cry for silence or a little orchestra music."

Maybe he is right. To many, the silence of the present moving picture theatre is one of the blessed things of this jazzy world. But there is no telling. We shall find out soon, for it is certain that there will be good talking movies available before long for those who want them.

CLEAN UP TIME

Now is the time to clean up the yard. After the winter there is an accumulation of dead leaves and other playthings of the wind under the hedges, around the shrubbery, in corners of buildings and fences. There may be also some dead and dried plants from last year's garden littering up the yard.

Now is the time to give Nature a free hand in beautifying your yard. You cannot make a flower or a bush or tree or grass, but you can help by giving Nature a clean canvass on which to paint the picture.

FREQUENT PAY DAYS

Judging from the weekly reports in the exchanges, the cream, egg and poultry checks are no small part of a farmer's income. These checks seem to be growing with the years, causing interest in that direction to do likewise.

Miss Minnie Rieta Hutchison of Midland is a guest in the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. V. Jennings.

A "get-rich-quick" performer used to show some mental ingenuity. At present he merely turns bandit.

Mayor Probes Fire Department

Will Rogers, the noted humorist and traveling mayor of Beverly Hills, Calif., is shown here on one of his rare trips home. Judging from the photograph, Will is investigating the fire department.

'Kid Boots' Series Of Laughs, Thrills

Going from an east side second-hand clothing shop to the links of an exclusive golf club, Eddie Cantor in "Kid Boots," leaves a trail of laughs behind him that has seldom been equalled in this city.

The picture, adapted from Florenz Ziegfeld's musical comedy success by Tom Gibson, opens at the Queen theater on Wednesday and Thursday, April 13 and 14.

Although one of the stage's great comedians for years, "Kid Boots" is Cantor's first film. And—if his inaugural effort may be accepted as a criterion, as it should—Eddie's future is already assured! Why? Because "Kid Boots" is one of those things we so seldom see, a screaming comedy with a real melodramatic punch.

Cantor is introduced as the "come-on" in a second-hand haberdashery. By a rapid-fire series of incidents he becomes involved with Malcom Waite. The latter's enmity increases when both find themselves vying for the hand of entrancing Clara Bow.

What seems to be a fortunate meeting with Lawrence Gray leads Eddie into a jungle of trouble. Gray heir to a large fortune, is endeavoring to escape from Natalie Kingston who has tricked him into a marriage. With Cantor's aid he temporarily succeeds. They go to a suburban golf club, Larry posing as a professional and Eddie as his caddy. What follows reaches a crashing climax in one of the funniest situations yet seen on the screen.

Frank Tuttle's craftsmanship as director of "Kid Boots" is apparent at all times and Billie Dove as the winsome miss who wins handsome Larry, is superb. 'Nuff said!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express as best we can our heartfelt thanks to the many friends who stood by us so faithfully during the trying ordeal through which we have just passed. Nothing was left undone that would tend to soften the blow. With your splendid floral offerings you have made it possible for us to carry always in our hearts the memory of our loved one sleeping in the most beautiful surroundings it was possible for loving hands to create. This memory will comfort us through all the days that must pass till we meet her on the other side.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

PETER'S LESSON IN TRUST

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 10: Peter's Lesson in Trust. Text: Matthew 14:22-33.

Text: Matthew 14:22-33.

And straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, while he sent the multitudes away.

And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone.

But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary.

And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea.

And when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit; and they cried out for fear.

But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid.

And Peter answered him and said, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water.

And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me!

And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?

And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased.

Then they that were in the ship came and worshiped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God.

LIFE is like a voyage at sea.

Throughout human thought and literature the comparison runs, and there is none more apt—a sailing toward an unknown goal beyond the blue horizon.

A mysterious ship we are, sailing a mysterious and changing sea that represents life, in its tempests and calms.

The soul, like Peter, has its trying moments. In these times of stress the words of Christ: "Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid," are the doubting man's salvation.

Doubts Assail Peter

Here is one of the Bible's sweetest stories in trust, the lesson that Jesus taught to Peter. In the midst of the sea of Galilee the disciples were fearsome when they saw the figure of Christ come walking over the waters.

Then Peter, in his impulsiveness, man's natural impulsiveness in life, started out to meet him. But as he began to sink all the old doubts assailed him, all the human limitations that man finds it so hard to overcome. So Peter cried out, "Lord, save me!"

Then the reply as Jesus lifted Peter safely into the boat: "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

It is the story of a miracle, of the wonder-working power of Christ in the mind and heart of man. Peter, lifted up from the stress of his fear exclaimed with the others on the boat, "Of a truth thou art the Son of God."

Man's Limitations

Man, in his weakness asks for proof, for a sign of greatness, of sincerity, of genuineness. His faith must have that which is concrete to rise upon. Peter's experience comes in the life of every man—the hour when worldly experience almost smothers the spiritual light that is our heritage.

Beyond the safety of the shallows we come into deeper water than we had expected, and the soul in its fear is given a rigid test. We feel the need of a hand to guide and steady us, and the need of a greater being to lead us on. We feel our insufficiency.

Then spring the words to our lips, "Lord, save me!" and in this crisis Christ comes to succor, as he came to Peter's side when the waters of fear closed up around him.

Upon the uplifting, ennobling power of the Savior we depend for that great miracle of faith—the quickening of the soul when all around us looms failure.

Do you come to church to be entertained or to worship God? The church is not a place of amusement. Do you stay away from church because you really do not want to worship God? Have you quenched the spirit of worship in your own heart? The Lord is in His Holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before Him.

Cecil Womack of Waco, was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bacon a day or two the first of the week.

Miss Laura Kittrell, popular employee of Uncle Sam's post office here, spent a few days the past week end with home folks at Cisco.

If trousers are adopted by women we just wager there will be frills arounds the edges.

People are advised to look ahead but in these days it would be well to glance both ways.

Mrs. T. W. Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald of Oklahoma City, Okla., spent a few days in the city the first of the week, transacting business and renewing old acquaintances. Before her marriage Mrs. Fitzgerald was Miss Helen Murray. The Murrays at one time were residents of Winters, and have many friends here who enjoyed their visit very much. Mr. Murray, who was detained at home, was at one time mayor of Winters and he and his family had much to do with upbuilding of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Smith of Mc-Camey visited friends here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Tyson are the proud parents of a new daughter, born April 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bedford are entertaining a new daughter in their home since April 4. Mother and little daughter are doing nicely.

Bradshaw Couple Married Here

The marriage of Miss Lorene Nebhut of Terrell and Mr. Elmer Lee Rose of Bradshaw was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage Wednesday evening with the pastor, Rev. Gid J. Bryan, officiating.

The bride is one of the teachers in the Bradshaw school and quite popular in social circles. After finishing high school she attended Simmons university and also Trinity university. The groom is well known in the community and is a prominent farmer in that section.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose will make their home at Bradshaw, where they have a host of friends who wish for them much happiness and prosperity.

Star Bakery Making Nice Improvements

The Star Bakery, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. A. Beltz, has been remodeled and nice improvements have been made. They now occupy the entire building and fresh bread, cakes, pies and in fact all bakery products are baked each day.

The new arrangement affords Mr. and Mrs. Beltz a better opportunity to serve the public and ample room to display their products.

Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Rice have a new daughter in their home, born March 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Knight are the proud parents of a new daughter, born April 5.

The U. S. still has a number of pretty women who have not yet appeared in Listerine ads.

Harmony

Why doubt the whale story if God made the whale? Study Jonah Sunday night and get it straight. A great story! Jonah pouts, prays, repents and preaches; studied in B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. Come early and get a thrill. Bring a friend! 6:45 o'clock.

We are glad to report 95 enrolled in our Sunday School. We had 82 present last Sunday.

Miss Evelyn Will spent Tuesday night with Miss Vivian West.

Mrs. Ruben Kiger of Wichita Falls is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tunnell, at present.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pumphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Branham and Mrs. Cora Cummings were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seals Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Billups were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tunnell Sunday.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Andrew Cable being on the sick list this week.

Quite a number enjoyed the entertainment at Mr. and Mrs. Floy England's Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Adelle Parker of Novice visited Mr. and Mrs. Charley Jackson Sunday.

Mrs. Maye Boegard and children of Winters visited Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher and Floyd England Friday. E. H. Vernon and daughter, Miss Fay, Misses Bella and Louise Jackson and Lee Seals visited the new oil well near Blanton Sunday.

Two of the Harmony teachers took their pupils to surprise the first day of April and took them to the Blue Gap mountains for a picnic. Mesdames Frank White and Lee Seals went along to help chaperone the children. All reported a delightful time without any accidents happening to spoil the fun.

Miss Fay Seals spent Saturday night and Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parks near Winters.

Miss Jewel Holliday spent Saturday night with Miss Vivian Hill.

Mrs. Delty and sons, Messrs. Paskel and Sidney of Crews, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Branham were in Ballinger Tuesday.

Mrs. E. A. Meadows of Winters spent Sunday night with her daughter Mrs. Cora Cummings.

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Joe Worthington Tuesday afternoon with eleven members present. We transacted quite a bit of business. Hot chocolate and Angel Food cake was served to Mesdames Jim Tunnel, J. M. Giles, Gladys Hobbs, Clara Cummings, Gilbert Carter, Lee Seals, Clyde Tunnel, Truett Billups, Billie Reele and Fred Rhoades. We will meet with Mrs. Truett Billups Tuesday, April 19.

An Explorer and His Spoils

After traveling over thousands of miles in Dutch Guinea never before traversed by white men, Prof. W. M. Stirling, explorer for the Smithsonian Institution, has returned to Washington, bringing the implements used by a pygmy tribe. The explorer is shown here with a pygmy ax, a Papuan ax and a sago dish (used in mixing food), brought from the strange lands.

Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Sanders, who have been spending the winter in South Texas at Alamo, have returned to Winters and will be here through the summer months. Dr. Sanders will resume his practice while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Jennings, after attending the funeral of Mrs. Jennings' sister, Miss Grace Floyd, here Monday left Wednesday for their home at Lubbock. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Jennings' mother, Mrs. Roxie Floyd, who will visit a few days in the home of her daughter.

What are they hiding in Haiti?

Cochran School Enjoys Outing

The pupils of the Cochran school chaperoned by their teacher, Miss Adah Barber, enjoyed an outing last Friday afternoon, celebrating "April Fool's" day.

All classes met for their regular work in the morning and at the noon hour they went "hiking." Kodak pictures were made and a ball game and other outdoor games were enjoyed.

Death Claims Mrs. C. S. Brown

While the friends and relatives of Mrs. C. S. Brown knew that the patient suffering for more than a year would terminate soon in her death, yet when she quietly passed away Friday afternoon at the family home here the entire community was shocked and grieved by the going of the patient sufferer and there are many friends who will read the following biographical sketch with affectionate remembrance of the kind and affectionate mother and will feel a pang of sorrow that she is with us no more:

Mary Mildred Giles was born in Franklin, Tenn., March 7, 1851 and died April 1, 1927. She moved to Texas with her parents when eight years old and settled in Falls county and later moved to Kendall county. She was married to C. S. Brown December 24, 1868 and to this union nine children were born. She was converted and joined the Methodist church at Brownsboro at the age of eighteen, and has lived a consecrated Christian life. With her husband and family she moved to Toke in 1901 and for the past few years has lived in Winters. Her husband preceded her to the grave six years ago last December and one son, C. M. Brown, died in Arizona.

Surviving her are her children, J. E. Brown, New Mexico; B. F. Brown, Abilene; T. E. Brown, Springfield, Tenn.; C. S. Brown, Jr., near Lawn; Mrs. Pearl Brown McAdams, Ovalo; Miss Cordelia Brown; Almon C. Brown of this city; 17 grandchildren and one great grand child; one brother, J. I. Giles, San Antonio and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Gathing, Oklahoma.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist church Saturday afternoon at 3:30; conducted by the Rev. Gid J. Bryan. Interment was made in Dewey cemetery at Lawn, Texas, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Tenderest sympathy is extended the sorrowing children and other relatives.

Among the great peacemakers the Marines are entitled to honorable mention.

Mrs. J. R. Wilson and children spent the past week at Electra where they visited her parents.

And now they are hatching eggs by electricity to "lighten" the burden of the hen.

The essay contest was held Monday afternoon. The Senior entries are V. Marie Stephens, who won first place at the county and second at the district, and Jack Callan. The Junior writers are Clara Geistman and Altus Shipman. The results of Mondays contest will not be announced until Wednesday or Thursday as the essays were sent to Abilene for judgment.

To date it has not been announced when the high school will move into the new building but it is hoped that the contests for the interscholastic meet which is being held today and tomorrow will be given in the new building.

"The Glacier" cannot be ready before school is out unless the editor and his staff receive more encouragement from the faculty and better cooperation among the student body.

BEAT BALLINGER TODAY

Are you for the school? If so Boost it!

Proof that the debaters rank among the best in the state was demonstrated when our boys, Auburn Neely and Perry Barber, won over Abilene last Friday. The girls lost with a decision of one to two.

"For it is not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game."

THE VICTORY USUALLY GOES TO THE BEST MAN

It is the boy or girl that undertakes his tasks with a spirit of determination that usually wins the victory. The best man usually wins.

But who is the best man is one of the foremost questions of the day. Who is the best man? In every race, the races in track events or the great race of life, there is always one man or woman who proves to be the best man.

The best man in every phase of life's social and literary activities is the one who sets in with the determination to win and with the phrase "I must win for my town, school and honor" continually on his mind he proves to be the best man. This man or woman dreams about his success, he practices his future tasks over and over with grit, pure grit, the chief element of his ambitions. The boy or girl in school dreams of his tasks in the literary field of activities or in athletics. Why? Because he or she loves his town loves his school, and the immortal colors which represent their love and determination. This boy or girl is the best man and the "best man usually wins."

Today and tomorrow an interscholastic contest is being held in our own town. In the many events of this contest, remember that the best man usually wins. Remember that the effort put forth by the school student body shall determine the results of this contest; shall decide who is the best man.

Again I urge you to all remember that the best man usually wins the victory. Remember these words, use them as your guide and your chance for victory shall be increased. Without a love for their school no one can be the best man, without the spirit of their colors, without grit, it is an impossibility for our town and school to be victorious "The best man usually wins." You are the best man if you have those elements outlined above.—Jack Callan.

ARE YOU FOR WINTERS HIGH?

The time is drawing near when you will have the opportunity to show whether you are for our "Dear Winters High." Only three more days and we will be put to the test.

So far the Blue and White reign supreme. But will it still be defying the world to deny its supremacy after it has clashed with the Black and Red? You have the answer to that all important question, and it is up to you to show your love for our high school by lending your untiring support in keeping its colors unspotted by defeat.

The trophy case is finished, the cups are ready to take their places in it to show forth to our town, and to the world, that "Winters Wins."

Have you had a part in winning those cups? Do you want a part in keeping those cups? If you do, make it known on the 8th and 9th by entering some event, and by entering that event to win!

Are you for Winters High? What a supreme challenge to every loyal hearted High School pupil to do their best.

You may not think you can do anything, that you don't have the gift of spelling, declaiming, essay writing or many of the other phases of competition, and maybe you have not. But there is always something you can do just a little better than some one else. Find out what that something is and for your High School's sake apply it in the coming contest.

But if you don't find that there is something that you can enter, there is one thing that we all can do, and that is stay behind those who are entering the contests. Show them that you're expecting them to win, and above all do your best to keep up the "pep" and Keep the Win in Winters!

And then when the last shot has been fired and when the last decision has been made we can all well say regardless of the outcome, we are for Winters High.—Perry Barber.

KEEP A-GOING"

By Leta Rountree.

When you feel like all is up
 When the bitter fills the cup,
 Why not try another way.
 Keep a-going.

When you tumble from the top,
 When you are about to stop,
 Just brace up and try again.
 Keep a-going.

Tain't no use to sit and whine,
 Smile again, and keep a-trying,
 Help some one else along.
 Keep a-going.

See the wild bird on the wing
 See the good in everything,
 When you feeling like sighing, sing.
 Keep a-going.

Try, some one will help you.
 Quit, your friends are few.
 Don't be a quitter, there is good that you can do.
 Just keep a-going.

This Judge Has Heard 22,000 Divorces, But He Still Can Smile—and Hope

THERE is a man in Chicago who knows more about Love perhaps than any other human—Judge Joseph Sabbath, dean of all divorce court magistrates in the land.

During nine busy years on the bench Judge Sabbath has listened to more than 22,000 applications for divorce.

He has cut the tie that binds time without number.

He has seen homes wrecked, children separated and the thing that was once Love's young dream turned into the bitter ashes of despair and hatred.

And yet with this constant disillusionment passing in review before his stand, Judge Sabbath has kept the faith.

Marriage he says still is beautiful and love a priceless gift from the gods themselves.

Salvage, Wherever Possible
Salvaging from the human wreckage wherever possible he has aided in reconciling more than 2000 couples. But his record of 22,000 divorces, as substantiated by the records, is the greatest number known to have been heard or listened to by one man during a lifetime.

From the welter of such experience Judge Sabbath has written a play now staging its debut here with great promise of success. He has called it "The Trial Divorce," and it presents over the footlights all of the folly and waste which Judge Sabbath believes unwise marriage and wasteful divorce bring in their train.

"Happy wedlock should be the rule and not the exception," this wise old man says.

His Own Marriage
And he smiles as he says it because behind him there is the memory of his own happy marriage.

Judge Sabbath married at 18. It was an elopement. He now is 57. He has four granddaughters and his wife—the same one—still is living.

"There could be but one," he says referring to her.

"So many tales of blasted hopes,

Judge Joseph Sabbath

So many stories of disappointment. All day long they run their weary way. And an old man with tolerant smile upon his face listens to them. That is Judge Sabbath. At the day's end he is weary indeed. But the smile still is there. The same tolerant nod of the head bows to this one and that.

The old man's heart has become in sympathetic tune with the miseries of a world which does not understand.

"Just a little patience," he says. "Just a little, my boy. Be kind to her, my son. Love him, my girl." Thus he advises. And the warm heart of the man seems to feel its way into the hearts of the sulky couple. It warms them, too. Sometimes they leave together. That is as Judge Sabbath would have it.

And to the world he says from this point of vantage where the human heart in all its finny shortcomings is bared as to the sun's scalding.

"To marry the right girl to find the right wife or husband, shop for him. Shop for her. Do as you would do if you were buying a new suit. Go to many places. Look at many things. Take only the one which is correct in every detail—one that will wear well.

"The trouble today is that a great many of young people are rushing headlong into marriage as a sort of stimulant to relieve emotional depression.

"There are too many gin parties and very often young people attending these parties meet strangers they ordinarily never would meet.

"Sometimes they get drunk and under the influence of liquor rush by car into a neighboring state. They wake up any old hour of the night, and next morning they wake up sober and regretful, to find that they are married."

According to Judge Sabbath there are now almost ten times as many divorces as 50 years ago but he believes this ratio with the growing population has not thrown the percentage of averages out of proportion. The number per thousand of population in this country remains about the same as always, he believes.

War marriages now constitute a great part of the chaff being ground from the divorce mills, he says. Many of the former were entered into under emotional stress between unsuited parties. Other fodder for the same courts is being provided by the "gin party" vogue, he says.

Often a Godsend
Divorce is often a "godsend," Judge Sabbath says. And the divorce problem does not center so much in divorce as it does in marriage for solution.

"I believe that a lapse of at least 50 days should intervene between the time the license is granted and the wedding ceremony takes place," he says. "Such delay would provide time for reflection, promote sobriety and let the holy institution of marriage to the dignified plane it deserves instead of making of it just a gesture and burlesque."

"Uniform state marriage laws would help solve the problem. And it should be the obligation of all men to select the kind of wife whom they would be glad to hear their children call—'Mother.'"

Band Guests At Picnic at Country Club Tuesday

Last Tuesday evening at the Country club grounds the chamber of commerce honored the members of the junior band with a basket picnic which was attended by more than two hundred people. Practically all of the fifty-five members of the band were there accompanied by their parents. About 7:30 the tables were spread with every good thing that is to be found in the category of delicacies along with the good old substantial fried chicken and sandwiches.

G. E. Nicholson, chairman of the entertainment committee of the chamber of commerce took charge of the program and called on C. R. Robertson to say a few words in regard to the work of the band and to welcome those present. After praising the work of the band and assuring those present that the entire membership of the organization was working toward winning the first prize in the Six Months Class at the contest in May, he commended the work of E. M. Shepperd.

In regard to the prospects of winning the contest Mr. Shepperd said that he believed that the band would be capable of winning and that he knew if the parents cooperated with the band in regard to practice as well as the Wichita Falls trip there would be no doubt as to the winning of one of the three prizes offered.

After a greater portion of the feast had been consumed by a host of hungry boys and girls capably assisted by their parents the guests were served ice cream. Games and yells were directed by Mrs. E. M. Shepperd, while Miss Mildred Shepperd rendered a reading entitled "Texas," which was loudly applauded.

A. P. Cleveland of Austin visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cleveland Tuesday.

Must Have Card To Country Club

We have been requested to state that persons who do not have membership cards or permit cards are not entitled to the privileges of the club and will save a lot of embarrassment if they will refrain from entering these grounds as they are strictly private.

Of course, if you are on the club property as a guest of some member who has a right to invite you there or a member of some other country club, you are always welcome to all the privileges of the club.

Some few local people have been taking advantage of the club grounds who are not entitled to do so, but in the future do not be surprised if the keeper asks for your card and if you cannot produce, it would be best for you to stay away.

Better still, you might try purchasing stock in the organization or at least secure ground privileges.

Third Change Of Venue Likely In Paul Kirk Case

Sweetwater, April 5.—The possibility of a third change in venue in the Paul Kirk case changed to almost a certainty here last night when the jury which had been deliberating since Saturday failed to reach a verdict and was discharged. The vote stood 8 to 4 for acquittal after the jury had been out for 40 hours.

Kirk is charged with murder in connection with the death of Crawford Tabor in 1923. The first trial was at Ballinger where he was carried from Abilene on a change of venue.

The jury reported to Judge Fritz R. Smith at 9 o'clock Monday morning that it was unable to agree, but he ordered it to retire and continue its balloting in an effort to reach a verdict. "I want, if possible," he said, "to save the expense of another trial. The costs in the case to date have been $2,802.24 of which

$2,295.34 was for witness fees and $402 for jury fees." The clerk stated that of 139 witnesses paid by him, only 30 were used.

Parents Win From Teachers--28-27

Before one of the largest crowds to gather on the high school athletic field in quite a long time, the P.-T. A. baseball team took a 5-inning baseball game from the teachers by a score of 28 and 27.

The game was full of thrills and comical situations and several of the ladies clotted the ball for home runs. Something like $50 was realized which will be used to pay for the baby grand piano which was donated to the new high school building by the P.-T. A.

The ladies have asked that we thank the business houses of the city for closing for the game.

BOB GANNAWAY AGENT FOR NEW OIL CONCERN

Last week mention was made of the fact that the T. & P. Coal and Oil Company were establishing a wholesale oil agency in this city, but at that time we were unable to secure the name of the agent. Later we were informed that Mr. Bob Gannaway is the agent and is now open and ready for business.

Quick Starting isn't Enough

Of course, in colder weather, you want your motor to start without overtaxing the battery—but your motor fuel must do more than merely start readily. It must insure rapid pick-up in traffic and full power and mileage.

Conoco Gasoline does all of these things—the year 'round. That's why it is called the triple-test motor fuel. It meets the three requirements of the ideal gasoline.

So every time you fill at the Conoco sign you may be sure that you are getting the cream of the standard-priced gasolines. The long experience and reputation back of the Conoco name make that a fact.

Social Activities

Mrs. J. H. Rhoden Entertained at the Country Club.

The Mothers' Culture Club met at the Country Club in a social and program meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Rhoden hostess.

A very interesting lesson was enjoyed with Mrs. J. M. Pyburn as leader. The subject was, "Nature's Provision for the Perfection of Animals by Special Mental Gifts and by Special Physical Characteristics to Their Needs." Mrs. Gaston gave a splendid sketch on "Protection of Animals by Color." Mrs. Hall gave "Resemblance of Nature in Insects," Mrs. Pyburn on "Protection of Birds by Color" and Mrs. Wetzel "The Story of An Orphan Bear."

A delicious plate of sandwiches, ice tea, potato chips, olives and cake was served to Mesdames Mary Blair, Lyle Deffebach, B. G. Owens, A. L. Barlow, A. H. Van Pelt, R. C. Maddox, E. M. Hall, L. R. Gaston, Carl Davis, J. M. Pyburn, Howell Cryer, Wetzel and F. V. Gates.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, April 20, with Mrs. Robinson as hostess and Mrs. Maddox leader.

L. T. B. Club Enjoys Outing

Several members of the L. T. B. club met at the home of Miss Lucile Hartzog early Saturday morning, and "hiked" to the bridge southeast of town. Lunch was spread and Kodak pictures were made. The return trip to town was made in a farm wagon while the girls sang popular songs.

Upon their arrival in town they gathered at the home of Judge and Mrs. House where piano and Victrola music was enjoyed until they adjourned at 4 o'clock.—Reporter.

Dorcas Class Enjoy Social Meeting

Mesdames Brannon and Vinson entertained the Dorcas Sunday School class of the First Baptist church in a business and social meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brannon.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Grover Davis, and the devotional was led by Mrs. Phelps, followed by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Mrs. Carol Cook and prayer by Mrs. Wilbanks.

A pleasant social hour followed in which Victrola music was enjoyed. Novel contests furnished much amusement and a special feature of entertainment was a Spanish song, "The Broom," by Mrs. Castillo.

The class presented Mrs. Castillo many little love gifts. The hostess served dainty refreshments of sandwiches, ice tea, marshmallow whipped cream, Angel food and devil food cake to Mesdames Nicholson, Davis, Dodson, Phelps, Wilbanks, Pounds and Castillo.

Methodist W. M. S. Elect Delegate to District Meet

The Missionary society of the Methodist church met in regular session Monday, April 4, in business meeting with the president, Mrs. Nance, presiding.

Roll call was answered with interesting facts on our missionary work. Mrs. Bryan was elected delegate to our district meeting which meets at Brownwood May 19 to 22 and Mrs. Black as alternate. Our president urged as many as could to attend the meeting at least one day.

We will meet next Monday in mission study. The book on "Moslem Women" proves a very interesting study and every member is urged to be present.

Don't forget the Bible study each Monday afternoon at 2:15. We are studying "Life and Letters of Paul" with Mrs. Gid J. Bryan, teacher. Come, see for yourself what a treat we are enjoying.—Reporter.

Surprise Birthday Party Given

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neely entertained a number of young people on last Friday evening with a surprise party in honor of the birthday of their son, Turney.

Three tables were arranged for a series of progressive games which held the interest of the players until a late hour.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake was served to Misses Wilma Hodges, Lenna House, Ma Mae Oliver, Helen Atkinson, Laver-

Neely, Mida Collinsworth, Messrs Gladen Bedford, Gordon Warren, Vivian Colburn, Wilburn Hartzog, Brevard Bedford and Turney Neely.

Methodist W. M. S. Met Monday

The Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church met in a social and program meeting Monday afternoon, March 28 at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Denham with Mesdames Blair, Cook and Chapman as hostesses.

The reception room was made more attractive with vases and baskets of lilies.

Mrs. Stevens led the devotional after which a very interesting program on China was given.

Mrs. Strother in her pleasing manner gave a beautiful reading which was heartily enjoyed by all.

A very interesting "penny" contest was a special feature of the afternoon, the guests were then asked on an Easter Egg hunt which afforded great merriment.

A delicious refreshment plate of ice cream in shape of Easter rabbits and Angel food cake was served.

INFANT DIES SUDDENLY

Celia Mae, fifteen months old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Smith, passed away at the family home Sunday morning at 3 o'clock.

The little one was taken suddenly ill Saturday and all was done by physicians and loved ones to allay the malady and restore her to health but God had use for her He tells us that His kingdom is of such.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock at Fairview cemetery, conducted by Rev. H. H. Stephens. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Higginbotham Bros., funeral directors.

We extend to the bereaved parents our deepest sympathy in their loss. May God comfort and cheer them.

THAT ELUSIVE EASTER HAT!

IT HAS CHANGED VASTLY SINCE THE DAY WHEN IT WAS MEANT FOR "SUNDAY ONLY"

BY HARRIET
THERE is really "no such animal" as "the Easter hat."
The "Easter hat" belongs to a day when women had two dresses, the everyday dress and "the Sunday dress." This latter dress was considered a dismal failure if it could not "stand alone" and last at least 10 years.
The "Easter hat" was purchased with no little heart palpitation. For this was no annual feat. Most "Easter hats" were worn at least two seasons.
The "Easter hat," as befitting its importance, featured much trimming. It resembled a platter loaded with fruits, vegetables with a few knots of ribbon and clusters of feathers thrown in for garnish.
Today's Casual Bonnet
There really is a very direct connection between the over-trimmed, pretentious bi-annual "Easter hat" of not so many years ago, and the very simple, very ordinary, casual hat of today.
When a hat was bought so seldom it had to "show something for its money." But today's woman who buys her hats with almost the same frequency as her shoes, and who has learned well her lesson that every costume demands its harmonizing hat, does not demand so self-consciously new and elaborate a chapeau.
The hobbled head explains the small, tight-fitting unpretentious hat of today, also.
The Line's the Thing
Stark headlines must prevail both within and without the hat. Generally speaking, the less-trimmed, the smaller the hat is this year, the cheer it is. The line, and line only, is the thing!
The most expensive hats may be trimmed with nothing but a simple hat ornament piercing the hat band at front or side or inserted through the hat proper. This ornament may be the popular rain-stone pin, a loop of jade with black enamel, or a pearl ornament.
The composite effect of blending shades of the same color is very good. Felts are trimmed with straw bands or ribbons in composite effects. Ribbon and satin hair blend two or more shades of the same color, and straws achieve the composite effect with blending ribbon bands or ribbon cockades.
Vogue of Felt
Hat dealers complain that the felt hat has almost ruined the hat business. Women will not easily relinquish the comfort of the soft felt which can weather rain and wind, be patted from one becoming shape to another, and soften the face, which is why

Here are four suggestions in attractive spring and Easter millinery. The central figure illustrates an effective combination of white jersey with hat of gray felt. At the top is shown one of the new composite models, two shades of green felt used in the hat and band. Below (left) is a smart headgear of crocheted straw. This is effective in many colors. To the right is shown a ribbon hat, with trimming in corded effect.
The spring bonnet is as apt to be felt as straw, and perhaps a little more apt.
Black is perhaps the outstanding spring hat color, though, strictly speaking, black is not a color. Anyway, black hats of straw, satin, ribbon, or felt trimmed with a simple felle band or a hat ornament will be seen in volume this year.
Larger Models
Navy blue and the lighter blues, powder blue, Alice blue, copenhagen blue, sand, rose and orchid are good spring hat colors. The annual agitation for big hats is evidenced by the showing even now of huge floppy garden hats of horsehair and maline. But the woman of really good taste will select a small, tailored, sleekly-fitting hat for general wear. Buy it now, and wait for June before hiding under the shade of a garden hat.
But, but not least, when you buy your spring hat, consider not only the hat but you self who will appear under the hat.
Do not buy your hat without seeing yourself full-length. Survey the rear and side views as well as the front!

Magnolia Station Changes Owners
Messrs Con Benson and J. E. Johnson have bought from Mr. Glenn, the Magnolia Filling station on North Main street and took charge on April 1. These gentlemen will dispense Magnolia products along with Kelly tires and tubes and auto accessories. They invite their friends and the general public to call in and see them in their new place of business and give them the privilege of serving them when in need of anything in their line. They are also maintaining road service, so when you run out of gas out on the road, they would be pleased to have you call them up.

An Announcement
We purchased and assumed the management of the Magnolia Filling station on April 1st, and we are now ready to serve our friends and the general public with Magnolia products, Kelly-Springfield tires and tubes and auto accessories. And, too, the next time you run out of gas, we want you to call up and try our Road Service.

WHAT'S DOING In West Texas

Stanton—A meeting of all commissioners courts and chambers of commerce of the 17 counties containing non-taxable university lands has been called to convene here April 19, by J. V. Bush, manager of the Stanton Chamber of Commerce. A delegate from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be present to help formulate a plan of procedure. The idea of the meeting is for all counties to decide just how they want to handle the situation and let the West Texas Chamber of Commerce attempt to put the proposition over.

Plemons—A bond election for voting on issuing of $1,250,000 bonds for paving or hard surfacing roads in Hutchinson county will be held here April 16.

Lampasas—Distinct pleasure at the reception they received during the Heart of Texas tour was expressed by President Arthur P. Dugan and Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here at the close of their good will trip through the Oil Belt district. The tour was started immediately following the banner convention at Baird March 23, and the itinerary included Cross Plains, Rising Star, Cisco, Garman, Comanche, Brownwood, Mercury, Brady and this place at which the trip ended. Well attended, enthusiastic meetings greeted the officials at each town visited.

Graham—Contract has been let for construction of the road from this point to the Stephen county line.

Austin—Delegations from a number of West Texas towns met Thursday evening in the Stephen F. Austin hotel for a preliminary conference under direction of Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to formulate a plan of procedure to be followed at the final hearing of the State Insurance commission. The West Texas representatives aimed to fight as a unit against the proposed raise in insurance rates, believing that granting such a raise would sanction and encourage a policy of continued raising of rates annually.

San Angelo—San Angelo's new sewerage plant will be put into operation within the next few weeks.

Stamford—The law firm of Andrews and Coombs is to make use of the upper rooms of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce building. Judge Coombs, past mayor of Abilene, will serve among other duties at the Stamford office, as council for the Swenson Cattle and Land company. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce building was erected to care for growing needs of the organization and until such time as expansion will make necessary, the upper floors will be rented out.

Vernon—A paving program which cost the city and citizens of Vernon approximately $175,000 has been completed here.

Albany—The Albany postoffice has made application to the department for installation of two new sections of 180 new postoffice boxes in order to relieve general delivery congestion.

Lometa—The sheep raising industry is increasing materially in this section. More and better flocks than ever before are being raised. Most of the spring clip of wool has been contracted for at a reasonable price and as a result many thousands of dollars have been put into circulation here.

Sweetwater—Work on the Bankhead highway is being pushed to the utmost so that the 18-mile stretch that has already had the nine inch sledge stone base put down will be completed before the real tourist season gets in full swing.

Haiti evidently has no idea at all of senatorial courtiest.

SCHOOL LIFE
(Type: "Tipperary.")

It's a good thing to get together,
It's a good thing to know,
When we all can pull together,
We'll make a great big show.
Goodbye to all the knockers,
Welcome the booster crowd,
And we'll all get out and hustle,
For our high school, we're proud.

It's not hard to get them going,
It's a good way to go,
For this nifty bunch of boosters
Is anything but slow,
It's pleasant to do our duty
And we'll make a great crowd.
So get busy all you students,
Of this bunch we're surely proud.

A TOAST

Here's to one of sterling worth,
One of the finest men on earth,
Broad of vision, true of heart;
Ready and willing to do his part.
A superintendent tried and true,
Beloved by all who truly knew,
The noble heart within his breast;
True friendship that they possess,
And may his life always be blest,
Each year increase his happiness,
With health, prosperity and friends
And true, deep joy that never ends.—Gale Postess.

Tires Pay Bigger Dividends With More Attention

Many motorists now realize that just putting a tire on a car and not paying any further attention to it is much the same as operating an auto without thought for grease or oil until serious trouble develops.

According to Mr. Brown, of Nance-Brown Motor company, Firestone dealers in Winters the way to get the most mileage and best service from tires is to have them looked over frequently and regularly.

Like the old adage about a stitch in time, a little care will often prevent serious loss of tire mileage.

The treads should be inspected for cuts and bruises, and any small repairs needed should be made at once.

It is important to have the wheels aligned and the proper air pressure maintained if the motorist is to get all the service he is entitled to from his tires.

Always use valve caps. Screw each one down tightly by hand. This will prevent air leakage and underinflation difficulties.

As usual another coal strike is in prospect, the papers inform us. Evidently this is a perfectly normal year.

PAY UP

It is a definite and specific obligation one owes to the firm granting him credit.

Every bank extends credit, but every bank also demands in exchange security worth the amount received by the borrower. To protect his credit and redeem his security one must repay the amount at a time fixed when loan is made. Your merchant is more lenient. He will lend you his goods on your mere promise to pay. He is glad to do so if it offers you an accommodation and it usually is an accommodation to the customer.

But the moment you carry home the goods for which you have pledged your credit, you have assumed a definite obligation. Morally it is just as specific an obligation as your signed note. That obligation is to pay for the goods when the bill falls due. Unless otherwise specified merchandise should be paid for on the 30-day or as agreed term basis. The one who does not pay or arrange to pay on the basis is shirking his responsibility.

The fact that one intends to pay and has the money is not sufficient. The obligation is to pay when due—not a month or two later. Good credit is founded on the prompt redemption of every obligation.

PAULINE MALLINGATE has been strangely absent from her home in London for 18 months. Her mother and sister, Lorna, have communicated with her through a forwarding address in Paris.

HENRY EMERSON, wealthy stepfather of the two girls, has now vanished mysteriously from a summer resort where he was staying with Lorna and her mother.

DR. JULIAN EMERSON, claiming to be related to the missing man, persuades Lorna and her mother to leave the resort with him, after telling Lorna that her stepfather had no right to marry her mother. Lorna, however, has told her mother that her husband was taken to London because of a sudden illness. Dr. Emerson has broken faith with the two women by taking them to a strange house in the country instead of to London as agreed. They are being held virtually prisoners.

GERALD CRAVEN, Lorna's lover, has joined forces with Mrs. Bertha Northwood, a mutual friend, in attempting to find some trace of the missing family. Mrs. Northwood believes that Mrs. Creswold, residing at "The Moat," not far from her own place in Yorkshire, is Pauline Mallingate.

ELLEN STOREY, a young woman of Mrs. Northwood's acquaintance, has taken a situation with Mrs. Creswold. She has come to tell Mrs. Northwood that she is going to leave "The Moat." She tells of strange cries and moaning heard the night before, and how this morning Mrs. Creswold ordered a man from the house after she had told him "I'm through—I'll do no more—go back and give that message." The man, Ellen continues, insisted on having his suitcase and some money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Take your time, Ellen," Mrs. Northwood said. She herself was quivering with excitement.

"Thank you ma'am, it does me good to speak to you. Well she opened her bag and took out some money and she gave this to the cook. She called him by a foreign name, and she spoke to him in his own language. But I caught on as she told him to give the money to the man, and she made him hand the suit case too. And as she stood with her two hands pressed against her breast as she watched the cook walk down the tangled path and put that had fellow outside. And we were standing there when the telephone rang. At first she took no heed, then she turned to me and then she said, 'Ellen go and answer that. I am very shaky, but if it is anyone for me, say that I will come.' Well, I went to the telephone and it was a trunk call. The clerk said 'London wants you,' and I stood there maybe a minute or two before I heard anything. Then a man's voice came through—a sharp voice that asked, 'Is that you, Pauline?' and I said 'No, I'll fetch Mrs. Creswold.' So I went back to her and I told her she was wanted and then she walked all trembling back to the telephone."

Bertha Northwood caught her breath; it was on the tip of her tongue to say, "How I wish you had heard that conversation!" but she restrained herself. Already she had enough evidence that the woman living at The Moat calling herself Mrs. Creswold was Pauline Mallingate.

And at that moment the door opened and Gerald Craven came in.

Mrs. Northwood hesitated a little while, and then she said:

"Gerald, this is Ellen Storey. I have known her for a couple of years. I am interested in her and all her family. She is for the time being a maid at The Moat."

Gerald Craven turned quickly and looked at Ellen.

Mrs. Northwood took a quick decision; she turned to the girl and pulled a chair forward.

"Sit down, too, Jerry," she said, "and listen quietly."

Very briefly she put before him the story Ellen has just given her, and she saw he was sharing her excitement and her nervous anxiety.

"Have there been any telephone communications, Ellen?"

"Not one since the one I told you about, ma'am," the maid answered, "but we had a bit of bother with the telephone this afternoon. It were about an hour after I'd took in some lunch for her and Mrs. Creswold had been sitting with her eyes closed in a chair for all as if she was sleepin' sound, and then suddenly she got up and she went to the telephone. There's two of 'em in the house and this wasn't the one as rung her up this morning."

"Did you hear the number?" queried Gerald Craven eagerly.

Ellen shook her head.

"No, there wasn't no number, sir. Mrs. Creswold she just took off the receiver and then she waited."

Gerald Craven turned to Mrs. Northwood.

"A private wire," he said. "Communications never go through the exchange on a private wire."

And then he turned to Ellen again.

"What happened?" he asked almost breathlessly.

"Well sir," the maid answered, "evident there was something wrong, for Mrs. Creswold stood there ever so long, and she got no answer, so after a while she put down the receiver and she said to me: 'I can't understand it! I can't get through.' And then she added, as if to herself: 'Perhaps he isn't there.' And then she sat down again, and she shut her eyes, and I could see she was fair put on her outdoor things and she got the car out of the garage. I must say she's very clever with that car. There isn't no chauffeur, you know, ma'am, and the car's in a nice state! It's covered with dust, and wants cleaning that badly! I think I'll have a go at it tomorrow."

"Wyebourne," said Mrs. Northwood, and she gave Gerald Craven a significant glance.

The young man understood her. He guessed at once that the mistress of The Moat had no intention of letting the village know what was written in the telegram she sent.

But they kept this thought to themselves. And after a little pause Ellen got up and said:

"Well, I really must be going, ma'am. I only asked to be out for a couple of hours, and I've got a goodish walk back."

"Oh," said Mrs. Northwood, "You need not walk back; I'll send you home in my small car. Jerry ring that bell please."

When the car was ordered, Gerald Craven turned to his hostess.

"Why shouldn't I drive Ellen back? It will do me good and she can tell me which way to take."

So Ellen Storey found herself a passenger in a pretty little two-seater and being conveyed towards the village by a "swell" driver.

And then he turned and drove back as quickly as he could to Mrs. Northwood.

His tired air had vanished, he was full of eagerness.

"I've been thinking," he said. "If Mrs. Creswold sent a telegram, undoubtedly it must have had something to do with the telephone being out of order. Now what we have to do is to try to get in touch with that telegram."

Mrs. Northwood nodded her head.

"Yes! I wonder? . . ." She paused a moment. "Of course, they know me very well at Wyebourne. I wonder if they would let me look at the telegram, Jerry. It would be a wrong thing to ask, of course, unless I could prove that I had some right to make the request, but," she paused again and then shook her head. "I shouldn't like to arouse any sort of suspicion in the minds of the postoffice people. No, I can't ask to see the message."

"What sort of place is Wyebourne?" inquired Craven.

"Oh, it's just another village. I wonder while she was about it, why Pauline didn't drive to the Junction."

"Perhaps she did," said Craven.

"If only it had been an ordinary telephone, and Ellen could have remembered the number! Then we should have been well on the track. Or if she could have overheard the conversation this morning."

"The farther we advance in this matter," said Mrs. Northwood after a little pause, "the more I am convinced that it is not only mystifying, but it has all the elements of a conspiracy."

"You might go to Wyebourne," Mrs. Northwood suggested. "I'll come with you. It will do me good to have a drive in the cool and we'll put back for dinner."

The store to which the postoffice was attached was still open, but the telegraph operator had gone home. Mrs. Northwood pretended to be very much annoyed.

"Oh what a bother. I'll write my message, and you will ask the girl to get it off as soon as possible in the morning won't you?"

The storekeeper was only too pleased to do anything in his power for Mrs. Northwood and she and Craven went to the end of the shop where the postoffice was.

Sure enough, on the form on which she was going to write Mrs. Northwood caught the signs indicative that a message had been written with a sharp pencil on top of it. She tore off this form and gave it to Craven.

NEXT CHAPTER: Lorna's mother reveals a secret.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Jordan will leave Sunday to attend the Southwestern Photographers' association which meets in Dallas April 11 to 13.

None too early to start the clean up campaign.

So Ellen Storey found herself a passenger in a pretty little two-seater and being conveyed towards the village by a "swell" driver.

worried." "Didn't she try the other telephone?" queried Craven. Ellen shook her head. "No sir. I asked her if I should ring up for her, and she shook her head. 'It wouldn't be no use,' she said sir." And then she said: "I'll have to send a telegram. I'll take it myself." And I said, 'Won't you let me run to the village with it, ma'am?' and she answered: 'No, I shan't send it through the village postoffice. I'll drive to Wyebourne.' "And then she went away and she

Light Vote Is Polled in The School Election

The annual school board election that took place last Saturday received very little interest according to the number of votes polled. The three candidates were Albert Spill and W. E. Hickman for reelection and John Curry to fill the vacancy left by W. B. McCaughan. A total of 45 votes were cast which attests the fact that the public is satisfied with the work of the present school board. During the past three years the school system has made great progress, jumping from an insignificant system with a tax rate of fifty cents to one of the best school plants in all West Texas.

Many times a light poll means a lack of interest in the question involved, but whether the people are satisfied with the system or not they should turn out and vote. We usually take it that a small vote means that the public is in harmony with the policies but on the other hand it means that in some cases the body elected has a pledge of support from a small minority of the public. One of the things that the American citizenship has always held sacred was the right of suffrage, yet, we are growing into a careless habit of letting elections pass without voicing the power that is entrusted us as citizens of a commonwealth.

Many times in the election of school boards it is the hope that very little interest will be taken for fear of opposition but when there is a heavy vote the right will win usually in spite of opposition and the system, whatever it is, will be bettered. As proof of this we may cite the tax increase election of 1924 or the bond election of last year for a new school building. In either of these elections there were more than twelve times the number of votes cast than there has been in any trustee election in the past two or three years. It is just as necessary that the present equipment be well handled and our boys and girls well taught as it was in other elections to provide suitable buildings and proper equipment.

Commission To Consider Highway Request

The chamber of commerce is still making an effort to secure a designated highway from Sweetwater to Coleman via Winters. The roads committee of the chamber of commerce has made every effort that seemed practical to obtain the road even to the expenditure of several hundred dollars in putting up a part of the road. Since the new highway commission has taken charge of affairs the question has been raised with them and the following letter has been received concerning the matter:

Austin, March 30, 1927. Mr. C. R. Robertson, secretary chamber of commerce, Winters, Texas, Dear Mr. Robertson. Replying to your letter of March 23rd relative to designation of new highway from Sweetwater to Coleman via Winters, you are respectfully advised that it is not the policy of the commission to make any new designations until such time as we may be able to bring our present highways back to a reasonable standard of maintenance, such as required by the Federal department, and it will likely be several months before our maintenance can be brought back to an approved standard. At such time as we feel we are able to properly care for the present designated system of highways, we shall be glad to consider with you the proposition of making the above designation. Very truly yours, W. R. Ely, member State Highway commission.

Country Club To Retire Notes

The Board of Governors of the Winters Country club met for a business session at the club house last Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, those present being Messrs. A. Krauss, Wiley Hinds, R. C. Maddox, Jno. G. Key and R. E. Bacon.

The main business of the evening was the indebtedness of the club, there still being out some $4000 in notes against the property. After discussion it was decided to make an assessment of $20 against each member or stockholder, the assessment to be collected with the monthly dues on May 1st. With this money one of the notes of $1000 and interest, which brings the total up to $1320 will be paid off. It is the purpose of the Board of Governors to retire one $1000 note with interest each year until the entire indebtedness is wiped out.
