County Singers Will Meet April 23-24, Ballinger

The Runnels County Singing convention meets at the First Baptist church in Ballinger tomorrow (Saturday) and Sunday, April 23 and 24. The first session of the convention will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday and will be a business meeting—election of officers, etc. The remainder of the two days will be devoted to singing. Everybody, and especially the singers of the county, are invited and expected to attend. Don't forget to bring your lunch baskets well filled on Sunday as dinner will be served on the grounds.

Storm Victims Buried in Winters

A full realization of the terrible Rocksprings cyclone was brought more closely to bear upon our citizens when the bodies of H. B. Griffith and daughter, Mona, two of the victims were brought here for burial. They were in charge of Byron E. Newby, a banker of Rocksprings, and were held at Spill Bros. funeral parlors until Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Griffith and his daughter were on their way home from town when the storm struck the peaceful mountain town, resulting in their death. He was 44 years of age, while Mona was 12. He was well known throughout this section of the state, having been reared near Glen Cove, in Coleman county, and is a relative of Mrs. J. B. Pentecost. He has taught school for a number of years in different sections of the state, but recently he has practiced law and at the time of his death was county attorney of Edwards county.

He is survived by his wife and one son who are in a hospital at San Antonio, and were unable to attend the funeral.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Christian church at 2:30, conducted by Bro. R. L. Colley, with the Masonic lodge in charge of services at the grave. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery. The unusually large crowd and floral offerings attested the love and esteem in which the family is held.

Relatives here to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Misses Rosa and Leola Norris of Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Henderson and Mrs. Plyler of Abilene, Mrs. Hamlett of Breckenridge, Mr. Haner of Trent, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Sweetwater, Ely Smith of Merkle, Mrs. Fred Strange of Bangs, Mack Griffith of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Griffith of California, Ernest Griffith of India, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Griffith of Santa Anna and perhaps others whose names we were unable to get.

Sincerest sympathy is expressed for the sorrowing and lonely wife and son in the loss of their loved ones and our hearts go out to the stricken city.

Owens Drug Store Announces Sale

An advertisement to which we direct the attention of readers appearing on the last page of this paper, is announcing a Pensler one-cent sale by Owens Drug company for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 28, 29, and 30.

Pensler is the name of a popular brand of drugs and druggists' sundries handled by the Owens Drug company and during these three days you may buy two articles for the price of one by adding only one penny for the second article.

Special preparations are being made for this sale and the Enterprise would suggest that you turn to the last page of this issue and read their ad for prices on the many articles that will be placed on sale during these three days.

S. H. Nance was an Abilene visitor Thursday.

Held as Slayer

Here is a picture of Mrs. Ruth Snyder of New York City, held for the murder of her husband with a picture wire and a sash weight as he slept. Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman of West Orange, N. J., is also charged with the murder. Snyder was an associate editor of a motor magazine.

Contestants Off To San Angelo

Last year the Winters high school won the all round championship of the district at the San Angelo meet. Today and tomorrow the local contestants will make a strong bid to repeat the defeat and are basing their hopes on a strong track team as well as many representatives in the literary events.

The following students will represent the local schools in the meet: Debate, Marie Hill and Marie Griffith; Perry Barber and Auburn Neely;

Declamation: Christine Barnett and Geraldine Gaston;

Tennis: LaVere Neely;

Extemporaneous speaking: Parham Witt.

Piano solo: Marjorie McAdams.

Vocal solo: Marie Hill.

Besides the above mentioned contestants we are sending over to San Angelo our track team of 15 members and the Glee club of 18 members. On to Austin!

Offers to Help Storm Sufferers

While there is no organized effort upon the part of the people of Winters to send money or relief supplies to the storm stricken of Rocksprings, that we are aware of, we have been authorized by the local agent, Harry Tompkins, to state that his company, the American Railway Express, will transport all supplies, etc., donated for the relief of the Rocksprings people free of charge. If you want to send any supplies for this purpose to these unfortunate people, notify Mr. Tompkins and he will see that they get to their destination and without any charges.

Tanner Building Being Remodeled

Workmen are now engaged in remodeling the Tanner building on West Dale street, occupied by Gates & Nunnally Dry Goods store. A modern front is being put in and the interior and fixtures will be entirely remodeled.

The Parmer grocery has just finished the building of a modern new awning in front of the store on Main street which adds considerably to the appearance of this wide-awake grocery.

Alex Orr Signed By Tyler Club

Tyler, April 19—Alex Orr, pitcher late of Dallas Steers and the right-hander with the extraordinary City league record last year, signed a contract with the Tyler Trojans Monday.

His acquisition greatly strengthened and completes the Tyles pitching staff. Orr will likely open the season against the Palentine Pals.

Local Men Will Attend Highway Meet At Austin

The Texas Highway association will convene at the Driskill hotel in Austin Monday and Tuesday, April 25 and 26, for the purpose of discussing plans for closing up various gaps in our state highway system. The meeting is open to county judges, commissioners, chamber of commerce officials and citizens who are interested in highways of Texas. C. P. Robertson, secretary of the Winters Chamber of Commerce and D. W. Yager will attend the meeting.

Baptist Revival Drawing Crowds At Every Service

The Baptist revival which started here last Sunday is drawing big crowds and especially is this true of the morning services which are held every day at 10 o'clock. The large auditorium of the church is being filled each morning while at the evening service every available seat is filled, and the interest is growing with each service.

The messages which are being brought at each service by Dr. T. L. Holcomb, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sherman, are very earnest, forceful and logical, yet they are clothed in such simple language that it is easy for a mere child to understand them.

The singing, under the direction of Joe Trussell of Brownwood, is inspirational and the solo gospel messages of Mr. Trussell at each service are an especially enjoyable feature, while the ten-piece orchestra adds much to the music.

Opportunities to hear such forceful and consecrated preachers as Dr. Holcomb do not come our way so often, and if you are missing these services you are missing something worth while.

There will be three services next Sunday. At 10 o'clock, after a 15-minute session of the Sunday School in the different departments, all will gather in the main auditorium for an evangelistic service when Dr. Holcomb will preach on the subject, "The Way of Life." At the 11 o'clock hour the subject will be "The Certainties For the Christian Life" and at the evening hour the subject will be "Jesus, the Turntable of the Soul."

To Re-Organize Health Ass'n.

Plans for the re-organization of the Runnels County Public Health Association are being considered by those who have been identified with the organization in Ballinger and Winters during the past few years. George H. Craze, field representative of the Texas Public Health Association, has been in Runnels county this week interviewing various people who have been interested in this work and arrangements are being made for a meeting for the purpose of effecting a re-organization of the local group.

The Runnels County Public Health Association has been affiliated with the Texas Public Health Association as its representative in this county, and as such receives its proportionate share of the proceeds of the Annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale by which the state and local programs of health work are financed.

At the proposed meeting to be held about the second week in May, plans will also be considered for a definite program of health educational work, particularly in the schools of the county. In this connection, some interest has been manifested in the question of a county nurse. The state association's representative stated that a most successful work is being carried on along these lines in San Angelo and Tom Green county, where a nurse was engaged last fall and as a result of which a splendid Seal Sale

Mother McAdams Is Laid to Rest Here Wednesday

Tuesday evening about nine o'clock, after a long, beautiful and useful life which lacked only fifty-one days of reaching the eighty-first milestone, the immortal soul of Mrs. Mattie Elizabeth Faris McAdams winged its way to that beautiful city not made with hands, eternal in the skies.

Mother McAdams, as she was lovingly called by all who knew her, had been in ill health for the past few years and her condition had been regarded as critical for the past two weeks. Her death was not the result of any particular disease, but rather just the end of her earthly abode which comes naturally to those who have reached the ripe old age of the deceased. Mother McAdams had expressed the desire that when the time came for her to go home to God that she might fall asleep and never awake, and her wish was fulfilled for she went to sleep last Friday and never awakened, the spirit taking its flight, as stated above, at nine o'clock Tuesday evening.

Mattie Elizabeth Faris McAdams was born June 9, 1846, near Clarksville, in Red River County, Texas, and joined the Christian Church at about the age of fifteen years. In January, 1871, deceased was united in marriage with A. J. McAdams and to this union seven children were born, two dying in infancy and one daughter died in 1918 at the age of 32 years; the other children, Mrs. Clara Callan, with whom Mother McAdams made her home, John Q. McAdams, both of this city, and Ben McAdams and Mrs. C. M. Reed of Wichita Falls, being in constant attendance upon her bedside for the past two weeks and at the time of her death.

The world was made better for the living of just such beautiful lives as Mother McAdams lived. As Rev. Smith stated in our hearing, her life and character was an inspiration to him and he loved to visit and talk with her. And we would say to the heart-broken children and grandchildren, as was said to us some four years hence under the same circumstances, "Be consoled; you know where to find mother."

A very large number attended the funeral services, attesting the esteem and friendship for the children and love and affection for the departed mother, and when the casket was placed in the grave at the cemetery, the large and beautiful floral offerings formed a beautiful mound.

The pallbearers were Carl Henslee, E. A. Shepperd, Duncan Hensley of Wingate, H. W. Robertson, Lyle Deffebach and R. T. Thornton, Jr.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Hal F. Smith, were held at the family residence at 5 p. m. Wednesday, after which interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. C. M. Reed and Ben McAdams, children of Mother McAdams who was laid to rest here Wednesday afternoon, left yesterday for their home at Wichita Falls.

was conducted last December.

Some of those with whom Mr. Craze conferred are: R. E. White, county superintendent; Hoyt Smith, secretary county superintendent's office; J. D. Motley, secretary chamber of commerce, E. Shepperd, Dr. W. B. Halley, county health officer; Dr. E. R. Walker, city health officer; H. C. Lyon, local superintendent and Estes Lynn, all of Ballinger.

Here in Winters the matter was discussed with Bert E. Low, cashier of the First National Bank and treasurer of the Runnels County Public Health Association; Mrs. W. D. Sanders, former president of the Association; Dr. Fred Tinkle, city health officer; Dr. R. H. Henslee, Dr. T. V. Jennings, president Runnels County Medical Society; and A. H. Smith, superintendent of Winters Schools.

Definite announcement will be made later of the exact time and place of the proposed meeting to which all who are interested in the health and welfare of Runnels county are cordially invited.

C. M. T. Camps Draw Big Crowds Of Boys Annually

Since 1921 more than a quarter-million young Americans have been drawn by the "call to the camps" to seek admission to C. M. T. camps.

Of these 158,000 enrolled and attended camps, 96,000 more, an average of 16,000 each year, made application but could not be trained for lack of room.

What reasons impelled them to register in these camps, where the government offered four weeks of training with all necessary expenses paid?

Athletics brought a large part of the enrollment. The government furnished much necessary equipment supplemented by donations from the M. T. C. association and other patriotic societies, civic committees and individuals.

The gospel of health and fitness, characteristic of America, led many not eager to shine as athletes to the camps, seeking conditions which made for bodily well-being. Young men, today, have adopted almost a religion of physical health. Therefore they welcomed the training, reaping results in physical development far beyond their expectations.

Desire for change; restlessness of youth; urge of youth toward new experiences, all accounted for many applicants. They found new scenes, wider acquaintance and a different mode of life.

Academic credit and rewards attracted thousands of high school and college students who formed a large percentage of the whole, not only credits, but scholarships being won by students successful in the C. M. T. C. courses. Economic conditions brought many to camps. Employers as well as employees were benefited by increased economic efficiency gained by attendance.

Heartly encouragement and endorsement of the C. T. M. C. by leaders of American life were vital factors in camp enrollment.

Whatever expectation any of the young men had of the benefits to be derived at camp was realized by him in ample measure.

Are you coming to camp this year? Let's go!

Dr. Henslee will be pleased to talk training camps with the young men of this section—not only that, but he will give you your medical examination without any charge whatever. The doctor's office is over Owen's Drug store.

The marriage of Miss Lillie McMillian to Mr. J. E. Hughey was solemnized Tuesday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, with the pastor, Rev. H. H. Stephens, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughey will make their home in Ballinger where they have a host of friends who wish for them a long and prosperous life.

Epworth League Stages Pageant At Paint Rock

The following is taken from last week's issue of the Concho Herald:

Recently the Senior Epworth league of the Winters Methodist church put on the Anniversary Day pageant, "Golden Youth," which was a presentation of the history and growth of the organization of the Epworth league. Gordon Warren, representing "Father Time" was the leading character and presented his role in a most excellent manner. Brilliant costumes, highly colored tableaux, and the well spoken and performed part of each character made the program a very interesting as well as instructive affair.

The young people should be commended for this and other good work which is being carried on in the various Epworth leagues and other like organizations.

The above pageant and program was rendered at Winters in the Methodist church there, and Gordon Warren is a brother of our sheriff, W. E. Warren. We are glad to note that he is taking active interest in his home town church and social activities.

Holcomb Speaks At Lion's Dinner

Last Tuesday at the noon hour the local Lions club enjoyed very much an address by Rev. T. L. Holcomb of Sherman, who is here conducting the revival now in progress at the Baptist church. Dr. Holcomb stressed the importance of doing your work, in whatever line of business you might be engaged, with enthusiasm and with the thought uppermost in your mind that when the work is well performed you enjoy the feeling of having had a part in the pleasures and satisfaction of those for whom you have worked. The speaker illustrated his thought with the story of a garage mechanic, saying that if you were planning a vacation and took your car to the mechanic to be gone over, greased and put in first class running order, the mechanic in performing his work should think of the part he would have in the pleasure of those going on the vacation if he did his work so well that the car would give no trouble on the trip: Dr. Holcomb told of the rescue of a preacher down on the gulf who had ventured out too far in the water by a number of persons who grasped hands forming a human chain out to the drowning man. Although no one of them could have rescued the man, all of them forming the chain effected the rescue. The doctor said he liked to feel that he was a part of a chain that could accomplish some of the better things of life and that by such cooperation the Lions clubs, Kiwanas and other service clubs of the country were really accomplishing things for their communities.

Guests of the club were Reverend Cumby, Reverend Deweisse, Mrs. Bert E. Low, Joe Trussell, Dr. Holcomb and Gerald Black.

Joe Trussell, singer in charge of the music at the Baptist revival, favored the club with two beautiful gospel solos, being accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bert Low.

H. W. Lynn, who was toastmaster for the occasion, spoke of the illness of the mother of Lion Jno. Q. McAdams and asked that Rev. Gid J. Bryan lead in a prayer for sustaining grace for the children of this grand old lady who was about to cross over the river of death.

Supt. A. H. Smith asked for the cooperation of the club in securing cars to convey our contestants in the district meet at San Angelo today and tomorrow.

The committee appointed to arrange the program for the next meeting is composed of R. C. Maddox, G. E. Nicholson and Van H. Piercy.

Jno. G. Key and S. P. Floyd were transacting business in Dallas Monday.

FOREST WEEK

This year will mark the seventh annual observance of American Forest week, April 24-30. President Harding in 1921 having issued the first proclamation which brought the federal government behind the movement.

Of the numerous weeks observed in the country this is the only one to which the government has given recognition and support.

In proclaiming forest week, President Coolidge emphasizes the importance of farm forestry as a means for lessening agricultural surpluses and meeting the problem of agricultural overproduction, and the resulting depression in the farming industry.

When we consider that our forests are the backbone of agriculture, the cornerstone of lumbering and the heart of industry, it is no wonder we all need to pay heed to the call of reforestation.

IMPROVED CONDITIONS

There is a vast difference between conditions of farm life today and those in the old days, when a trip to town was a laborious and infrequent journey and when between trips all communication with urban centers was virtually cut off. The farmer is often, and naturally, possessed of advantages that once seemed the prerogatives of city residence alone, while he has at the same time retained the advantages of his rural residence.

The rural free delivery service is one of the several improvements in rural conditions that have elevated the lot of the farmer in most appreciable degree. Others are good roads, the automobile, the telephone and the radio.

YOUR NEEDS

You will find the stores in Winters in excellent condition to supply your spring and summer merchandise wants. Stocks are fresh and complete. The styles are the very latest. Quality is the very best and prices are reasonable.

Our merchants are endeavoring to make it worth your while to purchase locally, and special inducements are being offered in the various stores, many of which advertise in the columns of the Enterprise.

A VALUABLE ASSET

This is the season of the year when the small town bands begin to develop. Bands actually build communities, increase trade, arouse spirit, make enthusiastic boosters, provide wholesome recreation and amusement. Business men and community leaders know by experience that a good band is one of their best assets.

THE LONG WALK

Enough lumber is cut and used in this country every year to build a 10 foot walk to the moon, but it is hoped that nobody will carry out this suggestion.

ANY BETTER?

A teacher of journalism says that daily newspapers are better than they have been in any time in the past 40 years. If that is so, it is because the public is better. A newspaper is a mirror reflecting the public. And if the public doesn't like what it sees in the newspapers it should change its own face, for that is what it sees.

In one respect at least, the newspapers are not better than they were 50 years ago. Few of them possess the strong personalities that existed in the days of Greeley, Dana, Medill, Watterson and Joseph Pulitzer.

OH! FOR A THRILL

A caller at the Enterprise office a few days ago remarked that he wondered what the next generation would do for a thrill. He thinks that driving an automobile at a speed of more than 200 miles per hour, flying over the North Pole for observations, and taking a chance on bootleg liquor, will no doubt be tame amusements for the youth of that day.

THIRTY CENTS

They say that a dollar is now worth a trifle more than 60 cents. The way they take it away from you one wouldn't think it worth half that much.

CARD OF THANKS

To all those who so kindly lent their assistance in the sad hour of our bereavement at the funeral of H. B. and Mona Griffith and to those who spoke words of consolation and sympathy, we wish to express our sincerest thanks. May God's richest blessings rest upon the good people of Winters in our earnest prayer.—Families and relatives. 1p

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

CHRIST'S MAJESTY

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 24. The Majesty and Glory of Christ. Text: Mark 9:2-10; 2 Peter 1:16-18.

And after six days Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth them up into an high mountain apart by themselves: and he was transfigured before them. And his raiment became shining, exceeding white as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them. And there appeared unto them Elias, with Moses; and they were talking with Jesus. And Peter answered and said to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles: one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. For he wist not what to say; for they were sore afraid. And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son; hear him. And suddenly, when they had looked round about, they saw no man any more, save Jesus only with themselves. And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that they should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead. And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean. For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty. For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount.

THE Transfiguration, when to the disciples Peter, James and John was suddenly and startlingly revealed the majesty and glory of Christ, is one of the Bible's most dramatic stories.

Along the low levels of life, these three were likely to lose touch with the greatness of the Redeemer. No matter how great an event is, time dulls the edge of its importance. The incident came at a crucial point in the career of Jesus—the testing time for those who followed him.

It Overwhelms

The three men were overwhelmed by the manifestation of spiritual glory there on the mountain top. Their souls were cleared of any slight doubts they may have harbored and the full light of faith broke upon them anew.

In the after years, when bitter trial assailed them, and unbelievers battered at the ramparts of their courage, this revelation of glory must have been to them as a magic staff that held them up through all trouble.

This experience of the Transfiguration we all should share. What happened ages ago to Peter, James and John can as well be our experience today when we leave the level and go to the mountain top to see the glory of the Savior.

Sweetness of Vision

As we go along in the workaday world we should have the only a few attempts to carry progressive enterprise, and the remainder practice the "laissez faire" policy, nothing worthy of consideration can be accomplished.

In the recent track and literary meet, remarkable cooperation existed not only among the student body, but among the parents and business men of Winters. The success of this important annual event was largely due to this fact, cooperation.

Several students and business men have asked the following question: "Why does Winters, a school of only 200 students in high school, always win over the cities of considerably more students?" This question can be answered very briefly. Simply because every student of that 200 work with the determination of winning. They "Keep the Win in Winters."

The Gale staff urges the members of the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes to turn in their poems, essays, editorials and weekly news each week. Remember it must be turned in on Tuesday by the last period of the day.

RULES! RULES! RULES!

Since moving into the new high school everything has progressed wonderfully. Some of the students, however are complaining of the rules which have been enacted since our moving.

Among these rules are the following.

1. No student can leave one room to the other until the 45 minute bell rings.
2. When coming into the school house the student must go to his or her home room and cannot leave until the 9 o'clock bell rings for classes.
3. There is a five minute period between each class. The student cannot go into his class after the bell rings. This causes the student to lose the necessary class work if he is not on time.
4. The typewriting and bookkeeping rooms are locked in the morning.
5. No one is allowed to stop and talk in the hallway. Keep moving.

The Gale staff cannot have meetings and it is with difficulty that this organization succeeds in the publication of the news. This is also sweetness of some great vision such as this to strengthen us against the time's disorders. Into our common tasks and relationships we must bring the spirit of the vision. The courage of the commonplace must be backed by the higher courage—a courage that has "seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life."

A. B. Armstrong died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Porter at Hylton, on Saturday April 16. He had been in poor health for several months, having lost his eyesight sometime ago. The body was prepared for burial by Spill Bros., undertakers, and interment was made in the Hylton cemetery.

A CORRECTION

To ere is human; perfection is divine. We are human and have erred. In telling of the gifts to the high school in last week's special edition the largest gift of all was omitted—that is the baby grand piano in the auditorium.

Gifts should not be measured by their intrinsic value, although if this were done the piano would possibly equal the sum total of all the others.

This was a gift of the Parent-Teacher association, an organization that always comes to the relief of the schools when relief is needed. The work that these ladies do in assisting the schools is limitless and right here it is not out of order to make special mention of the work of Mrs. G. E. Nicholson as president and Mrs. J. A. Lamberth as chairman of the finance committee. Both have worked untiringly.

Also this word for the Parent-Teacher association. If you are not a member, become one. The dollar annual membership fee is little, although it helps. Your presence, cooperation, and sympathy is needed. You can be worth more to the community by being a member than not. Let us plan the biggest membership next year that we have ever had.—A. H. Smith, superintendent.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

WALTER JOHNSON'S WHEEL CHAIR
SMALL TOWN GIRL ATHLETES

COBB'S WARNING

By PHILIP MARTIN

New York—Walter Johnson is much like the late Christy Mathewson. He is still the pitching ace of the Washington Senators and despite 20 years of service still hangs on to that title. The competitive spirit is strong within him. Next to native honesty no characteristic has more worth in play or in work, in sports or in business.

Competitive spirit is born of the desire to excel and is nourished by application, hard work, unselfish devotion to a cause, initiative and courage. Clark Griffith tells us that Walter Johnson spends one hour of earnest practice each day pitching baseball from his arm chair. Walter you know, has a fractured ankle. That is one of the most striking examples of loyalty to team and faithfulness that has come to my attention in years. It should be a lesson for all men who like to call themselves "sportsmen."

The number of new golfers this season will be larger than ever. Now is a good time to organize a Hook-of-the-Month club.

Ty Cobb was fined $100 for his fight with Umpire Frank Wilson of the National league.

That shows that officials believe Cobb was wrong and Wilson right in the setto they had on the exhibition tour in Florida.

It is very easy for a fan to sit in a stand and howl his blinking head off at an umpire when he ejects a temperamental star from the diamond. There were many who believed Frank Wilson was nothing short of a brother of Jesse James. Now the truth is leaking out. Wilson was hounded out of the American league by Cobb—and Cobb is notoriously nasty in his treatment of officials. He has bullied his last ump, it seems—from now on the fans are hep.

Speaking of cut-ups, we know a head surgeon who is so comical he has all his patients in stitches.

Girls in the cities are offered a valuable tip by H. S. Shroup, coach of the girls' team at Caldwell High school, Caldwell, Kansas. If they only take it. Shroup is a strong advocate of walking and he asserts that girls in the small towns are healthier than city girls because they walk more.

Small town girls make better basket ball players, according to Shroup, who led the girls team to fourth place in the national girls' tournament last year. They get more exercise. Walking is one of the requirements of training.

It has been five years since young George Sisler crashed his way to a .420 batting average off American league pitchers. Sinus trouble interfered with his work in 1923 and 1924 and cramped his style. Last year he batted .289. Now that the onus of managship has been lifted from his shoulders, George is making a comeback. Remembering that .420 year, we hope he does.

PROPER INFLATION IS POINT TO REMEMBER

"Tire mileage, life and service depend on several factors," according to Mr. Brown, of Nance Brown Motor company, dealers in Firestone products.

"These factors include the tire, driver, car, roads and last but not least, on using tires large enough for the heaviest load placed on them at any time and keeping them inflated to the correct pressure.

"Nearly every day some one will say to us, 'Why do some people get 25,000 miles from their tires when the best I ever get is around 10,000? How do you account for that?'"

"The trouble is not with the tires, but the way they are overloaded or underinflated. Nothing—man, or mechanical device—can stand up under great abuse. The remedy is to provide tires large enough for the maximum load that may be placed on them and to keep them properly inflated.

"Reasonable care and regular inspection of tires for minor injuries and checking of the air pressure will enable the motorist to get the most in mileage and useful service."

WHAT'S DOING In West Texas

Memphis—Work on installation of 10,000 feet of sewer for the north-west part of Memphis is under way here. The additional sewerage will cost something near $6000 and will be paid for by warrants on a 10-year basis.

Clovis, N. M.—Clovis boasts one of the most complete tourist camps to be found in this state. It is situated with 12 blocks of the business section of the city and is modernly equipped in every respect. There is a community house with a dining hall and a recreation room and public kitchen. Hot and cold shower facilities are also provided.

Panhandle—Construction of a double track from this point to Pampa, a distance of 30 miles, is under way by the Santa Fe railway. The improvements are of an approximate cost of $1,000,000. The 45 miles of second main track under way between Canyon and Panhandle and this section of 30 miles gives the Santa Fe about 75 miles of first class double track in this territory.

Childress—Plans for the next district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held here May 5, are being detailed. The convention will call together member towns of the Green Belt and Lower Panhandle region.

Wichita Falls—Twenty-six cities are already completing preparations to represent as many foreign nationalities in the huge congree of nations planned for the ninth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which convenes here May 16 and 17. Arabia, Egypt, Portugal, Spain, Italy, Turkey, England, American Indians, Holland and many other picturesque alien races will be represented at the meeting.

Girard—Shoes and socks serve as money depositories in this section or citizens carry their exchequers about their person. The reason for this condition is that Girard is in need of a bank. The town is located in a prosperous agricultural region and offers a good location for interested capital.

Levelland—Citizens of this progressive West Texas town and of the county voted bond issues of $150,000 for construction of a Hockley county courthouse here on April 5. Levelland is only three years old, but already has more than 20 modern brick business houses, and is making strides toward a real West Texas city.

Crosbyton—W. A. Wilson of Lamesa was chosen president of the South Plains secretaries association formed here at the close of the district convention of that section held April 7. S. W. Cooper, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, was made secretary of the association. The South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which met here April 7 was another record breaker for the regional organization, with 1500 in attendance, and with over 500 registered delegates. The 1928 convention of the South Plains section went to Lamesa after a close contest with Tahoka for the honor.

Barstow—Franchise for power rights for installation of a power and ice plant and system for this town has been granted and developments are under way in this project.

Hedley—Construction is under way to shorten the road from McClean and Hedley to points south. It is aimed to have the roadway taken over at an early date.

Although the Gale Staff did not succeed in publishing a Gale magazine, they have accomplished many things during the past year which is worthy of considerable honor.

Each week the daily news of the week is recorded in the "Winters Enterprise" along with editorials, essays and short miscellaneous poems and feature articles. This has required considerable work on the part of the staff, its editor and faculty advisor.

Journalism is a new subject in our high school, and it was not until last year that any time was taken in its consideration. With the cooperation of the student body, the last years staff succeeded in the publication of a magazine which showed signs of rare journalistic ability. This year it was an impossibility for the continuation of the publication as a separate magazine, but with the cooperation of the staff and continual work on the part of the editor and faculty advisor, the Gale succeeded in continuing their journalistic study through a weekly publication with the "Winters Enterprise".

It is hoped that next year a separate magazine or paper may be a possibility so that the world may know that W. H. S. is "Keeping the Win" in Winters for their immortal colors, the beautiful Blue and White.

COOPERATION

One of the most essential elements necessary for the success of any enterprise is cooperation.

Cooperation among the community members is a marked necessity for accomplishment of town progress. If only a few attempt to carry out some progressive enterprise, and the remainder practice the "laissez faire" policy, nothing worthy of consideration can be accomplished.

In the recent track and literary meet, remarkable cooperation existed not only among the student body, but among the parents and business men of Winters. The success of this important annual event was largely due to this fact, cooperation.

Several students and business men have asked the following question: "Why does Winters, a school of only 200 students in high school, always win over the cities of considerably more students?" This question can be answered very briefly. Simply because every student of that 200 work with the determination of winning. They "Keep the Win in Winters."

The Gale staff urges the members of the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes to turn in their poems, essays, editorials and weekly news each week. Remember it must be turned in on Tuesday by the last period of the day.

RULES! RULES! RULES!

Since moving into the new high school everything has progressed wonderfully. Some of the students, however are complaining of the rules which have been enacted since our moving.

Among these rules are the following.

1. No student can leave one room to the other until the 45 minute bell rings.
2. When coming into the school house the student must go to his or her home room and cannot leave until the 9 o'clock bell rings for classes.
3. There is a five minute period between each class. The student cannot go into his class after the bell rings. This causes the student to lose the necessary class work if he is not on time.
4. The typewriting and bookkeeping rooms are locked in the morning.
5. No one is allowed to stop and talk in the hallway. Keep moving.

The Gale staff cannot have meetings and it is with difficulty that this organization succeeds in the publication of the news. This is also due to the new rules as no students can meet in conversation except between class periods. This is an impossibility. With the exception of the above, school is progressing nicely.

SCHOOLS HAVE HOLIDAY

Hurrah for the holiday! The student body was rather surprised Tuesday when an announcement was made stating that the students would be given a holiday for Friday. The district meet which is being held in San Angelo today and tomorrow is to be well represented by Winters.

Readers will remember that Winters won the district meet for the past two years. This year we have an extemporaneous speaker and tennis player more for representation than last year. Our chance for victory is therefore better. However, the remaining schools in the district are also better represented and the competition will be greater than ever before. Let's "keep the Win in Winters High."

THIS AND THAT

The high school students are lonesome when the sand storms came because the windows don't rattle in the new building.

If some of the members of the high school student body are losing their pep and enthusiasm since the recent track and literary meet which was held, my advice to them is to look at the beautiful district cup which is now in our possession. Do your part in the district meet which is to be held in San Angelo today and tomorrow. Let's "Keep the Win in Winters High".

The classes had their regular class meetings Monday during the chapel period.

Parham Witt, who won the county in extemporaneous speaking spoke in chapel Monday on the disarmament question. He will go to the district.

It was announced last Friday that different classes would give chapel programs every Friday.

The Glee club is working hard on a selection of songs for a contest to be held in San Angelo.

Marjorie McAdams, a Glee club pianist and a splendid musician, will represent the school in a music contest also to be held in San Angelo.

LOOKING THROUGH THE PAST

It was not many years ago when a group of little boys and girls were in the grammar grades watching with anxious eyes the progress of, Winters high.

The following are a few of the many things which occurred:

In 1918 a certain senior boy moved to Winters. He was at that time in the second grade. Vernon B. Campbell immediately after an introduction stated "You are my friend." They have been good friends ever since.

While in the fourth grade, Jack Callan received a tie for best class recitation, and Erline Baldwin received a handkerchief for perfect class attention under the direction of Miss Stephens.

Win the district meet is the plea of Winters.

Let's "keep the Win in Winters" and keep that beautiful district loving cup.

In the sixth grade under the direction of Mrs. Rhoden, the class went on a picnic and "waded" in Bluff creek. John G. Key (then a little boy) drove his truck and all enjoyed the evening.

Mr. Sanderford was the instructor in the seventh grade when John G. Key, A. M. Patterson, Chester Collinsworth, Brevard Bedford, and others were under his instruction.

During that year (1923-24) the class had their pictures taken. You should see it, if you want to laugh.

The "old gang" came into high school as "minors" the second term of the year. "Big"—well I should smile!

In 1925 (second term) there appeared an article in the "Freshman News Weekly" section of the "Winters Enterprise", entitled the "Seniors of 1927." The article stated that this class (then Freshmen) would be the first to graduate in a new high school building. This prophecy fortunately came true.

Perry Barber remarked in typewriting class Tuesday that he was fatigued (fatigued).

Mr. Wood stated that the only thing that was the matter with Evelyn Piercy was that she needed about

LETS LAUGH

Lucille: "Just tickling myself to see if I can laugh."

A New Disease

Brookside: "Ever had economics?"
Gladys Palmer: "No, but I have had the measles and chicken pox."

Kathleen: "Have you a minute to spare?"
Mildred: "Yes."
Kathleen: "Tell me all you know"

Albert Holiday: "Did you know the library has been quarantined?"

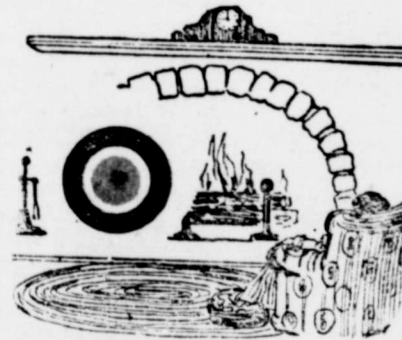

Mr. Childers: "No, why?"
A. H.: "They found small pox in the dictionary."

Christine: "Do you think Buster is a flirt?"
Evelyn Piercy: "Yes. I saw his hair waving at me."

Ross: "What's the matter with your singing, Marie?"
Marie: "Only hittin' on one ton-sil."

FARM BUREAU WILL CONTEST SUIT BY FORMER SENATOR

Dallas, Texas, April 19—The suit filed by John Davis, former state senator, in an effort to collect $3000 from the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association and C. K. Bullard, will be contested vigorously. Mr. Bullard said today. Davis alleged the amount was due him for his efforts in behalf of legislation before the 1927 session of the general assembly.

Mr. Bullard said the bill in question was prepared by him and Aaron Sapiro, and Mr. Davis was employed when it became known there would be opposition to the measure. He asserted there was a telephone conversation between him and Davis in which the agreement was to pay Davis $500 and expenses to go to Austin. Mention of the additional amount which Davis claims remains due was in a subsequent letter, Bullard said.

One-Cent Sale At City Drug Co. Now

The City Drug company, J. Frank Paxton manager, is now in the midst of the big one-cent sale. The sale started yesterday and will close tomorrow (Saturday) evening. Do you know just what a one-cent sale is? Well, it is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Kleenex dental cream is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying one cent more, or 51c, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

The sale was developed by the United Drug company as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting the City Drug company to sell you a full sized package of high standard merchandise for one cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

Remember there are hundreds of useful articles included in this sale and it will pay you well to secure a supply of these items before the sale closes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Northington and Chas. Northington, all of Ballinger, were here Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mother McAdams.

'Flaming Forest' Tells Story Of Canadian Police

The stirring history of the founding of the great Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, an army of a few who conquered the lawlessness of an almost unexplored empire within the confines of the Dominion of Canada, has been reproduced on the screen by Cosmopolitan and will be seen at the Queen theatre Friday and Saturday under the title "The Flaming Forest."

The picture, filmed largely in Canada, famous for his direction of great out-of-doors films, is a screen adaptation by Waldemar Young of James Oliver Curwood's immortal story of the establishing of law and order in a territory of three hundred thousand square miles by some three hundred brave men who dared death daily and always "got their man."

The picture, filmed largely in Canada and Montana, is interpreted by a cast of 20 celebrated players with Antonio Moreno and Renee Adoree in the leading roles. Among the other celebrated players of the cast are: Gardner James, Oscar Beregi, Tom O'Brien, Bert Roach, Claire McDowell, Clarence Geldert, William Austin and little Mary Jane Irving.

Plan to Honor Confederates

Dallas, Texas, April 18—A plan has been devised by the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association to honor the living veterans by enrolling their names in a giant Book of Memory, together with their war record. A gold star will be placed opposite each name and a triple plated gold medal will be presented to each.

This book will be deposited on an altar in Memorial Hall at Stone Mountain as a permanent record and will endure for all time. A charge of $5 is made for the medal and enrollment. Subscriptions are made by business and professional men, organizations, and by individuals such as friends and relatives. After the cost of the medals and enrollment has been deducted the remainder goes toward carving the likeness of Davis, Lee and Jackson on Stone Mountain.

Each county's quota is equal to the number of veterans in the county.

This movement has met with instant and hearty approval throughout the entire South and the response has been gratifying. It is the hope of the association to make this enrollment as complete as possible as it will serve as a very valuable record in years to come, as well as a fitting honor to our veterans.

Governor Moody has endorsed this movement and the following paragraphs are quoted from his letter of March 23., addressed to Mrs. Forest H. Farley, state chairman of the Gold Star Living Veterans roll: "In my opinion the Gold Star Enrollment of these venerable survivors of the Confederacy is one of the most beautiful and timely gestures of devotion that we can tender them. It is as worthy as the Stone Mountain memorial, of which it is a part."

"It seems to me that this is a movement to which the Daughters of the Confederacy, the Sons of Veterans and every son and daughter of the South should lend their whole-

HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT STAMFORD

The third annual meeting of the West Texas Historical association will be held in the city hall, Stamford, beginning at 9:30 on the morning of April 21. You are cordially invited to attend both morning and afternoon programs and help make the occasion one of much significance to West Texas and the Southwest.

The program will consist of an address of welcome by the mayor of the city; West Texas songs and music; addresses and papers on West Texas during the early days. At the noon hour members of the association together with friends will be served a luncheon at one of the hotels or restaurants, at which time a business session of the association will be held. In the afternoon, following the program, members of the society will be given a ride over the city and nearby country.

It is earnestly requested that all members attend this session, for a treat is in store for all those who love the history and traditions of our brave pioneers.

STYLES FIT THE OCCASIONS

SUITABILITY IS TOUCHSTONE OF GOOD DRESS—THE NECESSITIES

Have you ever known the woman who had a whole wardrobe of charming clothes and yet "hadn't a thing to wear"?

That woman is the one not to imitate when selecting clothes for any season. She just picked her frocks, hats and accessories helter-skelter, without thinking of the use to which they would be put, or what should go with them to perfect a costume.

Suitability is the keynote to the art of being well dressed. In selecting spring clothes the occasions upon which they will be worn should be kept in mind. Every spring wardrobe should contain a coat to wear over Jersey or silk dresses, of course. That is a necessity.

Smart Street Costume

But almost as imperative is the smart street costume, be it either a sports model or a trim, semitalored dress which, worn with matching hat, spells simple chic. Just a dress or suit is not enough. The accessories of a street costume make or ruin it. In figuring the cost of street attire, the flower ornament or fur neckpiece should also be calculated.

Browns and tan tone into a perfect symphony in the sports model illustrated here. Novelty tan tweed with a fleck of brown makes the knife pleated skirt and the loose box coat.

Calf skin, with the brown, tan and white fur outside, fashions the loose cuffs, the long revers and the flat pocket book that matches the costume. Light tan Jersey with bandings of brown silk is used for the jumper and the chic hat with its turned up brim and pleated crown is tan felt.

Range of Color

Other sports models include a tremendous range of color combinations and materials. Tweed and Jersey are the most popular materials.

Sleeveless jackets of tweed divide honors with the regulation sports coats. No sports ensemble is just one tone, though. If gray is the color chosen, it is accentuated by darker gray bandings or even a startling color, such as purple.

The Separate Coat

For the woman who chooses the separate coat for street wear, nothing will give her greater satisfaction or more distinction than the smart black silk coat with white relieving it at the collar or by white bandings. A black silk model, with its chic cape sleeves edged with six-inch bands of ermine, illustrated here, is among the smartest of spring novelties.

The coat is surplice in its cut and is tied with a small bow on the left hip. A brimless turban with a single pearl ornament at the right side, white hosiery and black patent pumps with square ornaments completes the perfect picture.

Whatever else is included in the spring wardrobe, the time and care spent in selecting the street costume is more than worth the effort.

Mrs. J. Q. Lankford Honored At Easter Party

Mrs. W. F. Hartzog and Mrs. W. A. Pace honored their friend and neighbors, Mrs. J. Q. Lankford, complimentary to her leaving last Sunday for her new home in San Angelo, on Thursday afternoon, April 14, when a clever and pretty pre-Easter party was arranged for their honor guest.

The Hartzog home was attractively decorated and the Easter color scheme, jade green, bright yellow and white was effectively carried out in the decorations of flowers, candles and shades, tally cards, favors and refreshments of dainty ice moulds and angel food cake.

The bright afternoon sunshine was cleverly shut out with drawn window shades through out the rooms and with the aid of candles and shaded electric lights a pretty, softened, Springlike light shed various tones of coloring that lent a charming background and atmosphere to the various rooms.

Delicious punch was served to the guests upon entering the home by Mrs. Pace, Mrs. Hartzog welcoming the guests at the door.

The entertainment for the afternoon was "42". Seven games were played and the tallies showed splendid playing by quite a few. The favors for the afternoon were novel little baskets filled with assorted Easter egg candies and a fluffy little white chick guarding her treasures.

The guests departed at a late hour wishing Mrs. Lankford the best of fortune and happiness in her future home, and complimenting the hostess on their enjoyable party and the pleasure they had in meeting with them and the honor guest.

The following list of guests were present complimentary to the honoree:

Mesdames J. Q. Lankford, J. M. Pyburn, Mary C. Blair, Lyle L. Defebach, T. D. Dunn, F. J. Brophy, W. C. Nunnally, F. V. Gates, H. W. Lynn, Townsend, T. V. Jennings, Patterson, Buford Owens, Luther Owens, Wm. Stevens, Carl Davis, C. S. Jackson, H. W. Robinson, Floyd Smith, Paul Hamon, W. E. Hickman, W. P. Gardner, Marshall Chapman, Earl Cook, Jesse Wetzel, Harold Norman, A. E. Strother, W. D. Sanders, C. T. Rives and J. W. Dixon.

Mrs. Geo. C. Hill Hostess at Easter Party at Country Club

One of the most delightful affairs of the Easter season was the lovely party given at the Country club by Mrs. George C. Hill Friday afternoon, April 15. Upon entering the living room Springtime was in evidence. Beautiful roses were used as decorations to produce Spring atmosphere, while 10 white clothed tables with center pieces of Easter bunnies in nests of grass surrounded by rose nut cups filled with little candy eggs completed the Easter setting.

The guests were given tallies of butterflies and roses and found their table and a delicious salad course was served before the games commenced. The plates were attractively arranged, serving shredded chicken, tomato rose salad, wafers, olives, and ice tea, with a second course of ice cream moulded in tiny rabbit forms, with pink iced angel food.

After the refreshments the guests spent the afternoon in the ever pleasant game of "42."

Mrs. Hill was assisted by Mrs. Carl Davis, Mrs. Buford Owens and Miss Marie Hill. The guest list included Mesdames Walter Brian, J. W. Dixon, T. D. Dunn, C. S. Jackson, J. M. Pyburn, B. G. Owens, Carl Davis, R. K. Russell, H. W. Robinson, Frank Williams, L. T. Smith, Raymond Hen-slee, W. E. Hickman, L. R. Gaston, F. J. Brophy, R. T. Thornton, Carl Henslee, C. Kornegay, R. A. Cramer, R. E. Bacon, J. Q. Lankford, W. F. Hartzog, G. E. Nicholson, J. F. Paxton, Hal F. Smith, W. D. Sanders, W. A. Pace, Whitfield, Floyd Smith, A. L. Barlow, W. P. Gardner, C. R. Robertson, O. C. Williams, Davis R. Hall, Abilene, J. R. Hill Abilene, Misses Loyle Kornegay and Gladys Oliver—A guest.

Ego Amo Te Club Enjoy Weenie Roast

Mrs. Doye Campbell and Miss Charlie Graham were the recent hostesses to the Ego Amo Te club. Instead of the regular "42" party the entertainment was diverted into a "weenie" roast on the creek with plenty of everything that goes with the weenies.

After the picnic was over and the crowd was gathered around the big bonfire the hostess presented each guest with an Easter rabbit filled with candy eggs.

This was the first outing the season and was a most enjoyable occasion.

Harmony

To give is to live; to deny is to die; for want of our gifts missionaries are dying and fruitful fields are abandoned. What can young Christians do in the present financial crisis?

Study Sunday night your talent and its relation to our present urgent needs in B. Y. P. U. 6:45 Sunday night—be early!

Rev. M. A. Quinlin of Winters was unable to fill his regular appointment at Harmony. He got J. R. McCorkle, the Runnels county missionary to preach Saturday at 11 a. m. and Rev. Tierce of Ballinger preached Sunday morning and again at night. They did some fine preaching.

Will Worthington will conduct the prayer service next Sunday night.

The Ladies Aid society met with Mrs. Truett Billups Tuesday afternoon with four members and four visitors present. The visitors were, Mesdames J. W. Worthington, Wilson, Frank Seals, and Will Worthington. We will meet with Mrs. Gilbert Carter, Tuesday, May 3. The Ladies Aid society of Crews will meet with Mrs. Bolgar Branham Thursday April 21.

Quite a number went from church Sunday to the Billups ranch and spread their dinner on the ground.

Miss Fay Seals visited Misses Madie and Steller Hartly Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Queen visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Queen near Wingate Sunday.

Mrs. Jim Seals spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Edgar Branham.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Carter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Matthews of Star Sunday afternoon.

There was an Easter egg hunt at the Harmony school house Friday afternoon. The kiddies had a jolly time hunting the eggs as there were eight hundred of them hidden in the grass and weeds by Mesdames Frank White, Frank Seals, Truett

Billups, Crouch, Fletcher England, Clyde Tunnell and Miss Vivian Gallant.

Herbert Gearheart won the prize by finding the most eggs, he found 25. The prize was a little basket of eggs. All the eggs hidden were candy.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Branham attended the singing at Winters Sunday.

Clyde Boon of Winters, we note with a considerable degree of pride has been made head manager of the music department of the Hall Music company of Winters. This position not only carries prestige and honor but a very considerable salary with it also. Clyde is the son of Dr. Boon who formerly lived here and the brother of our townsman, Lloyd Boon. He was educated in music, as well as in literary schooling in the blind asylum at Austin. We are glad to see him have such large success.—Concho Herald.

Civil Service To Give Examination Prohibition Jobs

Washington, D. C., April 15—The United States Civil Service commission today launched its countrywide campaign to recruit eligibles for the 2500 positions in the Bureau of Prohibition which were classified under the civil service law by the Act of March 3, 1927. The commission announced open competitive examinations for the following positions:

One chief of field division $600 a year; five prohibition zone supervisors $5200 a year; 24 prohibition administrators $4000 to $6000 a year; 24 assistant prohibition administrators (enforcement work) at $3300 to $5200 a year; 50 deputy prohibition administrators at $3000 to $4600 a year; two field office inspectors at $3800 to $3900 a year; four associate field office inspectors at $300 to $3600 a year; 18 senior prohibition investigators at $3800 a year; 109 prohibition investigators will meet with Mrs. James Alexander next Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss Griffith have moved to Mrs. Kelley's farm near Drasco.

We are very glad to report that Lynn Massengale has returned from the Winters sanitarium where he has been for sometime. He is doing nicely.

Miss Opal Baker will represent the Drasco school in the district meet at San Angelo. May she win the first honor both in district and state.

Rev. and Mrs. Dock West and children of Buffalo Gap visited at Drasco Sunday.

Mrs. W. J. Parks of Pumphrey visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Mayhew Sunday.

Bart McRorer and J. B. Belew were in Winters recently.

at $3000 a year; 53 junior prohibition investigators at $2400 a year; 228 prohibition agents at $2400 a year; 1260 junior prohibition agents at $1860 a year; 102 warehouse watchmen at $1140 to $1800 a year; 74 attorneys at $1860 to $5200 a year.

The Civil Service commission states that the examinations will be practical, each kind specially designated to test the qualifications and fitness of the applicant to perform the particular branch of the work for which that kind of examination is held.

The examinations for investigators below the senior grade, those for agents of all grades, and those for warehouse watchmen will require the assembling of competitors in examination rooms for written mental tests. These will be given in approximately 600 cities throughout the country. The other examinations listed do not include written mental tests in examination rooms.

All of the examinations will include rating on training and experience, a searching oral test, and a rigid character investigation made by the Civil Service commission with the assistance of other government agencies.

In order to give the oral tests it will be necessary for the commission to send investigators to interview applicants in various parts of the country. The character investigations will be made with the most painstaking care. Because of these two features of the examinations, the testing of applicants for the 2500 newly-classified positions under the Bureau of Prohibition is one of the largest single tasks ever undertaken by the commission.

Fingerprints will be made of all applicants who attain eligible ratings these to be used to check the accuracy of the applicants' statements as to arrest, indictment, or conviction of crime or misdemeanor. The Civil Service commission feels that any person who is worthy of appointment to a position under the Bureau of Prohibition will not object to a most searching investigation into his past life.

The act bringing these positions into competitive classified service provides that those now employed who were not appointed in accordance with the civil service law must compete with others in examinations if they wish to have an opportunity to retain their positions.

Copies of the examination announcements and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service commission at Washington, D. C., or from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the post office in this or any other city. The examination announcements give detailed information regarding the scope of the examinations and the requirements for entrance thereto.

What has become of the old-fashioned girl who used to get a "kick" out of hunting up the eggs on the farm every afternoon?

BEGIN HERE TODAY
PAULINE MALLINGATE has been strangely absent from her home in London for 18 months. Her mother and sister, Lorna, have communicated with her through a forwarding address in Paris.

HENRY EMERSON, wealthy stepfather of the two girls, has now vanished mysteriously from a summer resort where he was staying with Lorna and her mother.

DR. JULIAN EMERSON, claiming to be related to the missing man, persuades Lorna and her mother to leave the resort with him, after telling Lorna that her stepfather had no right to marry her mother. Lorna, however, has told her mother that her husband was taken to London because of a sudden illness. Dr. Emerson has broken faith with the two women by taking them to a strange house in the country instead of to London as agreed. They are being held virtually prisoners in a strange country house near the metropolis.

GERALD CRAVEN, Lorna's lover, has joined forces with Mrs. Bertha Northwood, a mutual friend, in attempting to find some trace of the missing family.

Through revelations made to them by ELLEN STOREY, a maid at "The Moat". Through her gossiping they have found a telegram sent by Mrs. Creswold. Gerald starts for London to hunt up an address in the telegram.

Getting back to Lorna and her mother we find the maid delivering a request from Dr. Emerson that she dine with him at eight tonight.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Lorna sat forward and looked at the woman steadily.

"I am afraid that I must refuse this invitation" she said. "I have no change of dress with me, we came away so hurriedly. All my clothes are at the hotel. Will you explain this to Dr. Emerson?"

Mrs. Brown looked troubled.

Lorna sat quietly pondering the situation, and then she came to the conclusion that the wisest thing for her to do would be to fall in with the man's wishes.

"Very well, Mrs. Brown. Please say I will be down at eight o'clock. Have you been in to my mother just lately?"

"Yes miss, she has given me a letter to be posted. It is to her husband—she doesn't know the address, so I told her I would give it to the doctor to be addressed."

Lorna's lip curled in a smile that was half a sneer.

"Quite right." And then she added with a little break in her voice. "Poor mother! But I think perhaps it will be just as well if you give me the letter, Mrs. Brown. It will never be posted, and I would prefer that Dr. Emerson did not read it."

Mrs. Brown made no answer, but she held out the letter and Lorna's hand closed over it. Then she got up and she spoke quite calmly:

"You have a very beautiful nature, Lorna Mallingate! I don't know when I have met a girl or woman who has won my admiration so much as you."

"What are you arranging to give my mother for dinner? I think she might be induced to eat something sustaining. She complains of feeling so weak. I don't know what drug Dr. Emerson administered, but it certainly has upset her very considerably."

"If you will leave it to me," Mrs. Brown said, and she spoke earnestly, "I will see to it that she has a nice little dinner. I quite agree with you that she needs her strength built up. She is very run down, and I should judge that she is very delicate."

"Thank you," said Lorna. "I will leave her in your hands. I am sure you will take care of her."

She found Emerson waiting for her in the hall.

"I don't know if you have been in here," he said, as he pushed open the door of the drawing room. "But it is cool and pleasant in this room."

"Yes, I was in here this morning," Lorna answered him. "It is a charming room and it has some lovely things in it. This is a delightful house altogether—whichever furnished it had very good taste."

"I suppose you don't think that good taste belongs to me?" Emerson said with a laugh.

And she laughed back slightly.

"Well, you are very masculine, and this house has a clearly feminine touch about it, I feel," said Lorna standing in the middle of the room and looking about her, "as if some very delightful woman had lived here!"

"You have a very vivid imagination," tion, Miss Mallingate," Dr. Emerson answered her, and he made her a little ironical bow. "Have you ever thought of writing a book?"

Lorna just gave him a glance.

"Oh yes, I have thought of it many a time. And in the days when I was working, studying stenography and typing, I thought of it very definitely. But I seemed to lack material in those days. I shall have a good many, experiences to furnish me with stuff for a novel when I am through with the present condition of affairs."

"So far," the man remarked, as he followed her to the long window, your experiences have not been unpleasant have they?"

"I have suffered no bodily discomfort," Lorna answered him, "but it is not the most agreeable thing in the world to know that one is not permitted one's freedom."

"You are very young to want complete freedom," Emerson said.

He stood and looked at her, and then he said abruptly:

"You have a very beautiful nature, Lorna Mallingate! I don't know when I have met a girl or woman who has won my admiration so much as you."

At that moment the Indian servant came into the room, making a salaam and intimating that the dinner was served.

Dr. Emerson did not offer his arm to his guest; he merely motioned her forward, and Lorna walked proudly across the hall into the dining room.

It was a perfectly appointed table at which she sat. There was lovely glass and silver on it, and the dinner which was served was perfect, too.

She refused, however, to take any wine, and she noticed that Emerson drank very sparingly.

Gerald Craven was far too excited to sleep steadily when he was in the train. He did drop off into a doze now and then, but always roused himself to start afresh planning his movements.

On reaching London he drove to his room, arriving there before the housekeeper had made an appearance. He found that she had written on a piece of paper two telephone messages. One was from an aunt of his who was passing through London and had rung him up in the hope of seeing him; and the other was from a flying acquaintance of his, one Noel Shannon, who had been at Harrow with him and had also been a great chum of his out in France.

He had a great faith in Noel Shannon! not only was Shannon a very expert and wonderful flying man, but he was very clever in a great many ways. He has a shrewd mind, and there was a bond of friendship between them which only death would break.

"I've a good mind to tell Noel everything," he mused to himself as he hailed a taxi and drove to the club where his friend was staying.

It was early enough to pay a visit, but he said he would wait when he sent up his name.

In a very little while, however, Shannon joined him.

"By jove, Jerry!" he said, "this is a real bit of luck. I was just wondering what on earth I was going to do with myself today. London is so empty! There isn't a chap here that I know. Your old lady at your rooms told me that you had gone for a week or so she thought."

"Are you at a loose end?" Craven asked by the way of answer as they gripped hands.

"Yes, I'm here for a few days. Perhaps you may have read in the papers that I am planning to do a flying stunt for a wager, and I'm having a new engine put into my racing 'bus."

"Are you carrying passengers?" inquired Gerald Craven with a smile. "To join?"

"Just one or two, would you care to join me?"

"I'd love it, Noel, but I simply can't leave England just at present, as you will understand when I tell you all I have to tell."

"Come and watch me eat," said Noel Shannon as he led the way to the dining room, "and then you can get it all off your chest. You know of course, dear old chap, if you're worried about anything, or if things are going wrong with you, you will let me help you, won't you? Remember we always swore we would stand by one another out there, and that goes today just as it did then, doesn't it?"

"Rather," said Craven, "and you mustn't be surprised if I fall heavily on you for advice and even help."

At the breakfast table he poured out the story of all that had happened and Shannon listened in silence.

"Mrs. Northwood is quite correct," he said when at last he spoke. "You are up against something very big, Jerry! It's money, of course, and in some way or another, your sweetheart is an important factor in this case—I mean that in some way or other she is intimately connected with the money."

"Yes, but it's something more than that," said Shannon tersely. "Looks to me as if she were of very great value to these crooks. It's a real queer mess up, Jerry!"

Not Lacking in BRAINS But Correct Illumination

Many a child is now at the foot of the class when from its natural brightness it should be at the head. Teachers often discover the cause, but not always. When the child evidences nervousness, headaches, listlessness, inattention and lack of application in his work nine times out of ten it is improper illumination.

Electricity and Health

At the present time diathermy surpasses any other physical method for producing temperature rises deep in the body and may be properly considered a means of applying internal poultices. Therefore, diathermy becomes a method of applying heat internally and it shares to a much higher degree the virtues which heat applications have enjoyed for several centuries. It is now possible to administer heat to any depth and for any desired regulation of intensity over short or long periods of time by means of an external physical agency.

Runnels County CREAMERY

A meeting will be held at the Court House in Ballinger Monday, April 25, 1927, at 3 o'clock p. m., at which time the proposition of establishing a creamery for Runnels County will be thoroughly discussed.

A thorough investigation of other creameries that have been operating in Texas from four to 15 years has been made and a general report of their experiences will be made.

Both Farmers and Business Men are especially urged to attend this meeting.

BABY CHICKS

HATCHING EGGS—PULLETS

From my Hollywood Strain Single Comb White Leghorns. These Leghorns have been bred for size without decreasing their egg production in the least. Also they are backed by excellent trapnest records. Their eggs are extra large and snow white. My matings are carefully selected for type as well as for egg capacity. A visit will convince you of the high quality of my breeders.

Reduced Prices

Effective at once, I have made drastic reduction in the price of my baby chicks and hatching eggs from my best flock matings, new prices being as follows:

Baby Chicks, 100	$12.50
500	55.00
1000	100.00
Hatching Eggs, $1 per 15; $5 per 100.

I can sell pullets from my best flock matings at 5 to 19 weeks, cheaper than the average poultryman can raise them.—Jeane Poultry Farm, E. Paul Jones, Ballinger, Tex. 48-4tc

At the Journey's End

When a loved one has come to the end of life's journey a peaceful service of beauty and sympathy will prove a comfort to the hearts of those who mourn.

Such a service has ever been the ideal of Higginbotham's. At our chapel or in your home the same simplicity and beauty of the last rites prevails to the final detail, executed by one who gives his personal attention to these details.
