Winters Celebrates the Coming of Natural Gas Tuesday

What Are You Going to do For Winters Tuesday?

Just now the city of Winters is in the midst of one of the most far-reaching campaigns in her history. We refer to the Enlargement Campaign of the Chamber of Commerce. What will be accomplished in the future for Winters and her institutions and people by this organization will depend largely upon the outcome of this drive which terminates, and we hope successfully, next week.

The burden of the work, both morally and financially, is negligible when the citizenship as a whole shoulder their individual parts, and when the organization receives that character of support, moral and financial, Winters will go forward faster and more substantially, than ever before.

The organization has one of the most capable and hardest workers to be found in West Texas today in its secretary-manager, S. W. Cooper, and with the loyal support, moral and financial, which he and the organization deserves, nothing will be impossible, for in unity there is strength.

The leaders in this organization have no false ideas that they are running Winters, but they are doing their utmost to help "pull" Winters to the front and assist the surrounding communities to develop their resources to the fullest, and when you get in the wagon, we'll all make it go faster.

The test of your loyalty and your progressiveness will come next week. What are you willing to do for the Winters of the future?

We, here and now, morally and financially, pledge the best support possible of The Enterprise that our home town may go forward and take her place as the most progressive and best town in West Texas.

We believe every city and town, like any successful business concern, should have a directing body to look after its interest. The chamber of commerce is the logical body to protect and look after the interest and welfare of our community and should have the liberal cooperation of every progressive citizen of our town and community. We appreciate the intelligent efforts that are now being put forth and the results that are being achieved.—Nance-Brown Motor Co.

We have no doubt but that our chamber of commerce has undertaken a program which, if carried to a successful conclusion, will result in a more substantial town and a more desirable place in which to live. We hope that our people generally will give this program their support as without a governing head towns rarely ever build for success. The present secretary, Mr. Cooper, has the reputation of being one of the most efficient men handling secretarial work and now as a citizen of Winters let's give him our support.—Jno. Q. McAdams.

The chamber of commerce is not an organization seeking the location here of "fly-by-night" concerns, but is seeking to enlarge Winters' trade territory and develop to the highest point the institutions she already has. If there ever was a time for cooperation it is now. No matter how small your financial support may be, it, together with your advice and counsel, is needed.—A. Krauss.

I believe in Winters and Winters trade territory, but at the same time I believe the best way to get everything that's coming to us out of this territory is by cooperative effort. There is only one organization here in which the undivided efforts of our people may be centered and that's the chamber of commerce. I, personally, and the institution with which I am associated, are going to get in on this proposition. While I am a new comer in Winters, I want to lend all the encouragement I can to the Enlargement Campaign now in progress.—I. N. Wilkinson, Active Vice President, First National Bank.

I have no doubt but that the chamber of commerce is doing more substantial and constructive work just now than ever before in its history. I am entirely sold upon the organization's work and when our people get together, as we believe they will,

2,961 BALES OF COTTON GINNED HERE TO DATE

According to figures furnished us by the gins of the city there has been 2,961 bales of cotton ginned here up to a late hour yesterday, counting round bales as halves.

Jack Pierce is a patient in the Baptist sanitarium at Abilene, having submitted to a serious operation Saturday morning. Mrs. Pierce is at his bedside and will remain until he is improved.

there is no organization that will accomplish more good for the community than the chamber of commerce. We believe that "casting bread upon the waters" is one sure way of getting returns.—G. E. Nicholson, Mgr. Higginbotham's Bros. & Co.

I have always stood for everything that would advance the interests of Winters, hence I have always been a supporter of the chamber of commerce, but I would like to say here and now that with our present secretary, if we will all get behind him and "stay put" we believe more will be accomplished the next twelve months than ever before in the history of the organization. We're going in strong and hope you will, too.—J. Frank Paxton, Manager City Drug Company.

The City of Winters has come to a place where a decision must be made. Either we will have a worth-while organization in the chamber of commerce or we will have a mill stone about our necks. We will either build or we will, by merely remaining unconcerned, let the prosperity of the country be diverted to the growth of other towns round about. Heretofore our growth has been, more or less, thrust upon us, but the time is here when we will have to fight for all we get, which demands concerted action from all the people. The raising of the chamber of commerce budget this time is an emergency which must be met. We cannot raise $8000 by assuming an indifferent attitude. We must invest some real money in this organization if for no other reason than what it will mean to each of us individually.—E. A. Shepperd.

Every town must boost and be boosted. This only comes through a

Young Man Injured Full House Greeted Here Yesterday Play Presented By Little Theatre

Guy Atkins, about 18 years of age son of Mrs. Lee Atkins of the Wilmeth community, was seriously injured yesterday morning about ten o'clock when he was struck by a telephone wire and dragged from the top of a load of cotton.

Young Atkins was assisting Drashard Moreland in hauling some bales of cotton to town from the Wilmeth gin and he, with two other boys, were riding upon the cotton when the accident occurred. It is stated that the truck was making about 20 miles per hour when it ran under a telephone wire which crosses the road about a mile west of town. The wire struck Atkins under the chin and dragged him from the top of the bales of cotton which were stacked in the truck two deep, and after an examination by local physicians, it was stated that several ribs were broken and other internal injuries were sustained which may prove fatal. The other two boys who were riding on top of the cotton must have seen the wire in time to escape by ducking, as neither were injured.

The injured man was carried to the local sanitarium.

Wilson-McKown

The many friends of the family will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Margaret Wilson to Mr. W. F. McKown, which was solemnized at Ballinger last Saturday.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. J. R. Wilson and has many friends here who will wish for her much happiness and prosperity.

good, healthy chamber of commerce. We believe that now is the opportunity time. Everything is prospering—seems this section is returning to the days of yore. Let everyone boost — help our chamber of commerce secretary. Exchange ideas—just one thought or expression from some member may be a great turning point for our town and its territory.—J. M. Skaggs.

We are now entering upon a new era in the history of Winters, with the coming of gas and the prospects of oil. We are expecting a steady growth. To meet this situation it is imperative that we have the unqualified support of all our citizens, and we know of no better way for cooperation than through our chamber of commerce. Let us give our efficient secretary our very best support.—Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., R. E. Bacon, Manager.

When the curtain went up on the first act of "I Want the Moon," a three-act comedy drama, presented by the Little Theatre Group of Winters last Friday evening every available seat in the large auditorium of the new high school building was occupied by one of the most appreciative audiences that ever witnessed the presentation of a local talent play and, in a small measure at least, the success of the evening might be charged to the appreciativeness of the audience which burst forth with a two-minute ovation with the opening of the show.

Music for the evening was furnished by an orchestra under the direction of Mr. Nordyke, while between acts vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Ruth Ramsel and Miss Marie Hill.

The cast was composed of Messrs. Prentiss Garrett, Jno. W. Norman, Auburn Neely and Mr. Homann; Misses Naomi Hunt, Leon Campbell, and Ruth Jones.

"I Want the Moon" was one of the heaviest plays staged thus far by the Little Theatre Group, but we have heard the cast complimented time after time upon the merit of the presentation and among the good things said about the last offering of the Little Theatre Group was, "Just as good a show and acting as any tent theatre offers here."

Mrs. Williams Dies at Ballinger

Mrs. J. A. Williams, 51, of Ballinger, mother of O. C. Williams of this city, died in that city during the early hours of Tuesday morning and was buried in the cemetery at that place at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Williams had been in ill health for the past few years, and although relatives were expecting the end, her death caused genuine sorrow not only in Ballinger, but here also, where her son has made numerous friends during his residence here as manager of the Winters Ice & Fuel.

Among those attending the funeral from here were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis, F. D. Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henslee, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. G. Key and others whose names we failed to get.

The Enterprise, along with the many other local friends of Oscar, as he is familiarly called, offers sincere condolence in the loss of his mother.

Just seventy-one days ago last Tuesday the Lone Star Gas company was granted a franchise by the city council to bring natural gas to Winters, and on last Tuesday evening a large portion of the citizenship gathered at Tinkle Park to celebrate the turning on of gas here.

Music throughout the evening was furnished by the Winters band under the direction of Mr. Nordyke, and Supt. A. H. Smith of the local schools was master of ceremonies.

The main gas line was tapped, and after the gas was lighted by Mayor A. F. Roberts, the flaming pipe was turned high into the air, which lighted things up for blocks around.

Supt. Smith introduced the Rev. Gid. J. Bryan, who in a most fitting way welcomed the new enterprise to our city, after which Mr. Ross Mason, assistant superintendent of the Community Natural Gas company, responded, among other things saying that his company would do everything possible to advance the welfare of the city, as the company now feels that they are a part of the town and are deeply interested in its welfare and growth. He also announced that gas had been turned on at the hardware and furniture stores and other places in town where gas stoves and fixtures were on sale, and after the evening's program invited those who cared to do so to visit these places and see the stoves in actual operation.

"Bacon's Bawl-Bearing Quartette" was introduced and rendered two numbers which drew much applause, after which Miss Naomi Hunt gave two readings, which captivated the large crowd.

It was announced that the Community Natural Gas company would maintain an office in Winters and that a Mr. Gray would be the local manager for the company.

Jack Callan left today for Fort Worth where he will enter Texas Christian University. Jack made a splendid record in high school and we feel sure he will make good in his college work.

Richard Seagler left Monday for Stephenville, where he goes to enter John Tarleton College for the fall term.

Mrs. N. J. Parrish of Wichita Falls, Rev. and Mrs. G. C. Lee of Petrolia, are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Pumphrey and other relatives.

TWO PROMINENT SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM —LADIES URGED TO ATTEND—NO SOLICITATIONS OF FUNDS AT THE BANQUET

The annual banquet of the chamber of commerce will be held at the Methodist church next Monday evening, starting at 7:45 o'clock. Committees are now making arrangements for one of the biggest and best banquets ever held in Winters.

Four different teams are out with tickets and are meeting with much success in their sale. At first it was not planned to have the ladies attend this banquet, but later plans were changed to include them, so, if you have already bought your ticket, you should look up one of these committees and secure tickets for the ladies also.

The entertainment or program committee, headed by Roger Adams, announces that it has secured as principal speakers for the evening Dr. Salkeld and R. W. Haynie, the latter being president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Salkeld is not a stranger here, having some months ago addressed the Lions Club of this city and we believe every Lion who heard his address at that time will vouch for the statement that in his address alone you will be more than repaid for your time in attending the banquet.

Another feature of this banquet which all should understand is that there will be no solicitation of collection of funds, but the sole purpose is to get Winters people together for an evening's entertainment which, we have no doubt, will long be remembered for the good time it will afford. Then, too, there have been numerous stunts planned for your pleasure.

Tickets for the banquet should be secured early, so proper arrangements may be taken to take care of the large number expected to attend.

M. E. Miller, prescription clerk at the City Drug Co., is transacting business in Lampasas this week.

Cemetery Association to Meet

We are requested to announce that the Cemetery Association will meet in the basement of the Methodist church this evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and to transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Every one who is interested in the "City of the Dead," and every one should be, is urged to attend this meeting.

Will Occupy New Building With Full Line of Cars

Announcement is made that S. P. Floyd will occupy the 75x115 concrete building on West Dale street, now being finished up by Gus Pruser about the first of October.

Mr. Floyd states that the new location will afford a new drive-in station, display rooms, shop, and wash rack, and that when the new place is opened up he will have on display a full line of late model cars. He also stated that his present place on South Main street will be continued until the first of the year, when both businesses will be consolidated in the new building on Dale street.

Oil Often Causes Fires

It may seem of small moment where you keep an oil can, but it isn't. If you keep one in your house or barn be careful of its location.

Always take every precaution to prevent fire, and assure yourself that your fire insurance is adequate. This agency of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company will welcome the opportunity to explain fire risks and sound insurance to you.

4-H CLUBS

One of the most powerful organizations in present day modern agriculture is the 4-H club. Though its members do not function in determining the trend of markets and effecting major decisions relating to agriculture, they are a most powerful and important group from the standpoint that they will be tomorrow's leaders. Their work is on a definite and practical basis.

Their aim is not only to promote agriculture through the growing of better farm crops under improved practices, but to carry it forward by developing rural life from a modern standpoint.

Girls are taught things which will make them good homemakers; will inspire in them the home spirit. Boys receive education through practical training that will enable them to make a profitable business of farming. There is no better social atmosphere and certainly no better business training fostered anywhere than that of the 4-H clubs. They should have our loyal support.

The future of our state depends upon the proper direction of present day youthful energy.

"OVER THERE"

America's second A. E. F. is paying its second visit to Europe next week and should win without difficulty. It is called the ninth annual convention of the Legion, and Paris veterans are responsible for the invitation which takes some thirty thousand Americans overseas this month. The international occasion is unusual. It should be of great value to the two countries most concerned, and a demonstration not without significance in the world. The second "expedition" is expected to further cement the friendship formed in the past.

THE REASON WHY

More grade crossing accidents happen on Sunday because people have more time to ride on that day. Although they have no particular place to go, they invariably try to get there in the quickest possible time.

THE LINDBERGH TOUR

Colonel Lindbergh is capturing the hearts of his countrymen on his air tour of the United States. This quiet, unassuming conqueror of the Atlantic is representing aviation, not himself, on this tour, sponsored by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the promotion of aeronautics, which will take him to every state in the union and to 75 cities in these states, and his mission is meeting with splendid results.

Most of the thousands who see "the lone flier of the Atlantic" and his Spirit of St. Louis will become to some degree converts to the cause of air travel. Lindbergh is a flyer first, last and all the time. With a world-wide ovation ringing in his ears, and with ease, luxury and untold fortune to be had for the asking, he is still able to think of his chosen career. He is doing quite as much for aviation by the way he wears his laurels as by the way he won them. Col. Lindbergh is not an ordinary man, and he has shown his wisdom beyond his years.

NEWSPAPER ADS BEST

The newspaper is the best advertising medium to develop business, a big Kansas City florist told the Kansas City Florists' association at its annual convention. This florist uses big space regularly in the daily newspapers.

The speaker quoted Gladstone to the effect that only the mint makes money without advertising, in urging the florists to use the newspapers largely in the development of their business.

"The man who does not advertise thinks he probably knows his own business best—but few other do," the speaker asserted.

Lone Star Items

The farmers of this vicinity have stored most of their feed crops, and are taking advantage of these beautiful days by picking cotton in earnest.

Miss Vera Porch of this place is attending the Winters high school. The people of this vicinity, and especially her classmates who will attend school at other places, are wishing her success with all of her work.

Almost every one around here is interested in oil. Quite a number of the land owners have leased their land.

Several of the people from here attended a singing last Sunday night which was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bates. Several also attended the E. Y. P. U. play and church services at the Baptist church at Crews.

L. T. Jenkins was fortunate in having finished his new tank on Sept. 2nd, for a good rain fell on the next day and filled it to overflowing.

Quite a number from here attended the speaking at Crews on the night of Wednesday, August 29th, when Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth the county home demonstration agent, and Miss Lyneite Stokes gave a concise report of their recent trip to California, Utah and Colorado. Several of the boys and girls who attended the farmers' short course at A. & M. College also spoke of the trip and what interested them most. A number of Crews citizens and several business men from Ballinger spoke on "Community Cooperation."

Bryan Clayton, who lives on a ranch near Benoit, visited here last week.

Sam Mathis, W. L. Porch, A. W. Madison and Walter Cox transacted business in Ballinger last Saturday.

Irvin Burson is giving his new house another coat of paint.

Willie Gray and family of Winters visited Mrs. Gray and L. T. Jenkins last week.

Walter Cox and Irvin Burson have finished a new barn for Mr. Cox.

Lloyd McBeth of Sweetwater was in this community on business last week.

Edna Smith and little daughter, Laura Ruth, visited in the home of Corda Burson last week. They canned fruit and vegetables for winter.

Dead May Come to Life, Insurance Men Find

A WOMAN went out to take a bath in the sea and she never came back. In a cove by the seashore, they found her poor clothes, and they concluded her mortal body was adrift somewhere, battered and beaten by the pitiless sea. So they declared her dead.

For four years Mrs. Susannah Bevan was dead. Her relatives put on mourning.

And now with all the neighbors and friends having forgotten the tragedy of the sea, the dead woman is charged with being very much alive.

How It Happened

A frail white-haired woman of 52 faces charges of conspiring to defraud an insurance company, of manufacturing false evidence to mislead the courts, and of obtaining money by false pretenses.

And it all happened because her daughter-in-law received money from New Zealand. It's the most extraordinary dead woman case the British courts have ever had to deal with.

Until 1922 Mrs. Bevan had been living in Cwmllynfell in Wales. In December, 1920, she had taken out a policy on her life. In February, 1922, she made a will, leaving all her estate to her son, David.

In the spring of 1922 she had a motor accident and in June, still suffering from the bad effects of it, she went to Hracombe to take the sea bathing. She stayed at lodgings there and on June 20 she disappeared.

After her clothing was found on the beach and after prolonged search was made, her relatives gave her up for dead.

In the following November the British High Court granted an application for leave to presume her legally dead. Accordingly, in the following March the insurance people paid over to the executor some $14,000.

The Voice of Gossip

Bad luck seemed to pursue the family. In 1924 her son bought a motor car with part of the money, run into a brick wall and was killed.

Gossip was aroused by the fact that at varying intervals his young widow got sums of money from New Zealand. This came to the ears of the insurance company. A quiet investigation was started with the co-operation of the New Zealand police. As a result a woman who was teaching school out there was arrested and brought back to England, charged with being the Mrs. Bevan who had died four years ago.

The attorney for the insurance company, in outlining the case, alleged that Mrs. Bevan, far from drowning, had turned up that day in the ancient town of Exeter. Here she is said to have gone to the Girls' Friendly Society, saying she was a member of a similar organization out in Australia.

They believed her hard luck story and got jobs for her as cook in various families. These she held until February 12, 1925, when she sailed for Auckland, New Zealand.

Modes of the Moment

A Masterful Presentation of the Authentic

The Krauss Dry Goods Company, famous and well known as the leaders of the mode of every season, comes forth once more with apparel so beautiful and bright—so bristling in style that type cannot begin to describe their many variations of the made.

Here are Dresses from Apfelbaum & Stern, Classy Jean and Louie Grauer, who are specialists in their line, and their frocks show care and thought in every detail. They possess an air of individuality that will at once appeal to the most fastidious.

Loveliness, indeed! A showing this season which has never been equalled in all our years in business.

Pumphrey

Rev. J. E. Nicholson filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Saturday night and Sunday morning. Rev. J. R. McCorkle, the Runnels county missionary preached. Sunday night the B. Y. P. U. had a special program and diplomas were presented to five Seniors, two Intermediates, and seals were presented to two Seniors, and ten Intermediates, as study awards, after which there was preaching by the pastor.

FIVE DESSERTS FROM OLD NEW ENGLAND

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of unusual cooking articles running exclusively in this paper.)

Sweets belong in the daily food quota. And what more logical than that they be served as desserts? Almost every lunch and dinner is better when topped off with dessert. But never serve a heavy, rich dessert with a hearty meal. Light, easily digested desserts—fluffs or custards—are the rightful accompaniments of such meals.

Miss Lucy G. Allen, principal of the Boston School of Cookery, and author of several cook-books, gives tested recipes for five pleasing desserts.

MISS LUCY G. ALLEN

Pineapple Fluff
To one-half cup of juice from canned pineapple add one well-beaten egg, one dessert spoon of sugar and one-half of scalded milk and cook until thickened. When thickened, remove from stove and add one cupful of pineapple cubes cut from slices of canned pineapple. When cool enough, fold in gently one-third cup of heavy cream beaten stiff with an egg-beater and flavored with one-eighth teaspoon of vanilla. Place in sherbet glasses or in a large glass dish if preferred, and chill. This amount will serve six persons.

For a Lighter Meal
Baked Indian pudding makes a filling addition to light salad-and-soup meals.
Mix six tablespoonfuls of corn meal with three tablespoonfuls of flour and dilute with one-half cup of milk. Add this to one pint of scalded milk and cook until thickened. In a bowl break one egg and beat slightly, add one-half cup of sugar and one-third cup of molasses, one-half teaspoon of salt and one cup of cold milk.
Add this mixture to the hot mixture, add another cup of cold milk and pour into pudding dish. Dot over with tiny lumps of butter and bake in a slow oven for three hours or more. Sweet apples or pears sliced and added using two or three of either, make a pleasing addition. Serve with cream or with butter.

A woman can always use shelves in the kitchen. One up-to-date oil stove has a handy base shelf which can be used to hold utensils.

Cracker Plum Pudding
Just about as hearty as the baked Indian pudding is cracker plum pudding.
Roll quite fine eight cooking crackers, add five cups of milk, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, two-thirds cup of sugar and four eggs slightly beaten. Add three-fourths cup of seeded raisins, flavor with a few grains of nutmeg.
Place in buttered pudding dish; over the top scatter two tablespoonfuls of butter in small pieces and bake in a moderate oven about two hours. Serve with or without sauce.

Delightful Bread Pudding
No one will ever object to eating chocolate bread pudding. It just touches the spot when one's sweet tooth is aching. And, better yet, from the cook's point of view, it uses up stale bread.
Scald one pint of milk, add one cup of stale bread crumbs which have been rubbed through a sieve, and set aside to cool slightly. Beat one egg slightly, add one-third cup of sugar, one-eighth teaspoon of salt and add to scalded milk.
Melt over hot water one square (one ounce) of cooking chocolate, stir to a smooth paste with three tablespoonfuls of boiling water and add to mixture.
Four into a buttered pudding dish, set dish in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven. It will take about one hour. Serve with either cream or a hard sauce.

Apple Pan Dowdy
Inexpensive and quickly made. These are two of the virtues of old-fashioned apple pan dowdy.
Fare five or six large apples, cut in eighths and put into an aluminum saucepan. Add three tablespoonfuls water, one quarter cup of sugar, one teaspoonful grated nutmeg, or one-half teaspoonful cinnamon if preferred.
Cover and cook about five minutes. Mix thoroughly 1/2 cup bread flour, three teaspoonfuls baking powder, and one-half teaspoonful salt. Cut in with knife two teaspoonfuls butter, then add one-half cup of milk, stirring with knife.
Handle as little as possible and spread the dough over the apples, cover closely, place on an asbestos mat over the flame and cook until done without lifting cover for about one-half hour. Invert pudding upon serving dish and serve with sugar and cream or the following sauce:
Frothy Sauce: Beat very stiff the white of one egg and then beat in 1/4 cup of powdered sugar; transfer egg beater to yolk of one egg and beat until thick and light-colored, then beat in 1/4 cup of powdered sugar. Cut out and fold mixtures together, beat in two tablespoonfuls hot cream or top milk and flavor with vanilla.

All of these desserts are simple and easily made according to Miss Allen's tested recipes.

For cleanliness. And freedom from smoke and odor. That's why some oil stoves have long chimneys. The extra length of the chimneys insures complete combustion of the oil.

Clean heat

No black kettles & scour!

How much pleasanter cooking is, when there are no black pots and pans to scour afterward! Every woman who cooks with a Perfection Oil Stove is spared that horrid nuisance.

There is never a speck of soot. For in the long chimneys, every drop of oil is completely burned before the heat reaches the cooking.

Soot, as you know, is half-burned kerosene—just wasted heat. With Perfections you have real fuel economy, as all the oil is changed into cooking heat. They burn only kerosene, the safe household fuel.

Perfection flames stay at the height you set them, so you need never fear they will "creep up" and make the kitchen sooty.

With Perfection you will have wonderful cooking results, and your utensils will stay shiny as new. See the newest Perfections at any dealer's—1 to 5 burner sizes. Priced from $7.25 to $130.

When Ex-Open Range Cowpunchers Get Together

(By Josephine Heavenhill)

"Jim always said less and got more done than any cowman I ever saw." L. P. (Luce) Wood was talking about J. M. Johnson of Winters, who, at the eighteenth annual reunion of the Ex-open Range Cowpunchers' Association of Runnels County and adjoining counties, was re-elected president of the organization for the eighteenth consecutive time.

Luce Wood wasn't explaining why ex-range men when they meet in his pasture on Elm Creek for their annual round-up each Tuesday night and Wednesday, on or before the first full moon in August, always re-elect Jim Johnson as their president. He wasn't even commenting on the fact that Mr. Johnson is the only president the association has ever had. What he said was just one cowman's simple tribute to another. But it doubtless expressed the feeling of every ex-range man at the reunion last month, and it might explain, if there were need for explanation, the sort of silent understanding that Jim Johnson is to be boss of the annual round-up as long as he rides this side of the cowman's last range.

It might explain, too, if one were to follow the brief comment to its fullest meaning, why Jim Johnson's long career as an open range man, included practically every job in the early cowman's program and about every experience ever set down in a cowboy's unwritten diary.

Mr. Johnson's part in open range history of Runnels County and adjoining counties began in the summer of 1876, when he came up from Gonzales county, a youthful cowhand in the employ of Tom Matthews at a salary of $20 a month, and continued until the range lost its identity under a network of barbed wire fences some fifteen years later. At that time he was boss of the Parramore and Lewis ranch, whose famous 7-H4 brand was worn by upwards of 10,000 head of cattle, and had built up a considerable herd of his own, with which he stocked his own ranch a few miles north of the present site of Winters, when the range days were over.

Talks Little, Does Much

The story of his activities during this interval, pieced together from reminiscences picked up about the camp fires and the barbecue dinner table at the recent reunion, bears out the statement that he was one of the men who said the least and did the most when things were happening on the range and along the trail.

Before young Johnson came out to the West he had hankered to go up the trail, but he hadn't had his chance. That was why Tom Matthews was willing to let him go back to Gonzales county in the spring of 1877 to trail to Dodge City, Kansas with 3100 head of cattle owned by the late Major George Littlefield and Colonel Bob Houston.

For the trip he and a man named Jim Towers were assigned to ride at the lead points of the herd. There were many streams to be crossed between Gonzales county and Dodge City, and whoever rode at the right of the herd would bear the brunt of the effort to keep the cattle from drifting with the current when it was necessary to swim a stream. The two tossed a coin to settle the matter and Jim Johnson drew the right hand side.

Then the lead riders made a proposition to their boss: They, with a trusty negro cowhand, would stand night guard every bad night during the trip, if they could be off duty every other night. The other five or six hands chuckled and the boss agreed.

The night before they were to start it rained. They swam their herd across the Guadalupe river to get out of Gonzales county. It continued to rain and they swam practically every other stream of any size to Dodge City, and floated the chuck wagon across on log rafts. Always the young lead rider swam below the herd, but with no mishap and the loss of comparatively few cattle. Telling the story 50 years later he gave credit to his horse and to a few big long-horn steers, which he said always plunged into the swollen streams and led the herd across.

The night guard contract turned out to be a rather grim joke on the two Jims, for more than half of the nights were bad. But they and the negro hand stood by their bargain and always stayed with the herd.

A Wild Stampede

Always except once, that is, and then they stayed with the remnants. It was just after they had struck camp on the Arkansas river near Dodge City. A cold, blowing rain was on and the night guards were riding ahead of the herd to hold the restless cattle in check. Jim Johnson's horse slipped and fell, with the rider's leg fastened beneath, and 3100 head of cows went wild. He held the horse down while the stampeding herd passed over. Then he overtook a bunch of cattle and got them bedded down toward morning, then he rolled up his slicker and, in spite of the sleet and a freezing wind, managed to sleep a little. Townes and the negro fared similarly with another part of the herd. It took the three men all of the next day to get the cattle back to the wagon. Meantime the boss, the other cowhands and the cook had taken their satchels and departed.

Major Littlefield, who was in Dodge City to receive his herds, then sent Jim Johnson in charge of the herd with which he had trailed and sent Townes to another wagon whose boss had left under pressure of the blizzard. As soon as possible, "tenderfeet" were sent out to take the place of the absconding hands, and classing and shipping went on.

"Those were the only two instances I ever knew of a boss quitting his herd and that was an unusually trying time," Mr. Johnson said.

In the fall of 1877 Jim Johnson was back at the Matthews headquarters. Early the next year he took two four-horse wagons to Fort Worth and hauled lumber back to build a two-room ranch house for the Matthews family, who had been living in a post oak shanty covered with cow hides and dirt.

After having ranged their cattle over the unfenced stretches of Runnels county for more than four years Matthews and Mr. Johnson rounded up the herd in November, 1880 and set a date for starting with them to the Pecos river, where they expected to strike permanent camp. On the morning set for their departure, Mr. Johnson recalled, he and other cowhands who had slept around the camp wagon, dug themselves out of six inches of snow just as the boys who had stood night guard rode in to tell the herd was scattered along all the ravines and draws in the southeast part of the county.

Clear Into Wyoming

After that the Pecos trip was abandoned and the next spring Matthews and Mr. Johnson drove the herd of 220 head to the Belle Fourche river region in Wyoming.

At this time a sizable bunch of the cattle belonged to Mr. Johnson and he expected to stay in Wyoming with his partner-boss. But there were things to be considered. Cheyenne, the nearest provision point, was 250 miles away, and the closest post office was 100 miles across a trackless prairie. The young Texan sold his cattle to his employer and was soon back in Runnels county with a job on the 7-H-4 ranch.

One of the first things he did, he recalled, after joining the Parramore outfit, was to go to Shreveport where he bought 800 head of cattle for the range. Some of these were his own. They were among the first cattle to be shipped into Abilene, the Texas & Pacific railroad having arrived there a short time before.

In a few months he was made boss of the Parramore ranch and acted in that capacity until 1889, when he moved to his own land.

During this time range ranching in Runnels County and adjoining counties was at its height and it was about incidents of this period that many of the reunion reminiscences centered.

Men with graying hair and dimming eyes grouped themselves together and talked of that memorable era when range riding and line-holding and round-ups were affairs in which cowmen in half a dozen counties participated.

They recalled the strenuous winter of 1884-1885 when eight or ten outfits established a line from the 18-Point crossing on the Colorado river to the mouth of the Concho and held thousands of head of cattle in check until Christmas. Then, because of the extreme cold weather and the shortage of grass and water, the line was broken and the cattle were allowed to range farther south.

Jim Johnson was the line boss and when it was broken he was put in charge of a wagon to follow the cat-tle. Luce Wood and Dave Bradshaw and two other men were with him.

They drifted south as far as the Nueces river, and then in the spring after having received recruits from home traveled west as far as Eagle Pass, picking up cattle bearing the brand of all the cowmen in the Runnels county section. Enroute they fell in with another wagon or two, and when the combined forces returned home their trip was marked down as the longest cow hunt in Runnels county range history.

Round-up De Luxe

They spoke of the semi-annual round-ups when the wagons of 15 or 20 outfits with as high as 200 men and more than 1000 horses met at appointed times along the Colorado or the Concho to drive in and separate and brand their cattle. G. G. Odom, with his OG brand, R. K. Wylie, with his "Cross," John Blocker of APB fame, Parramore and Lewis, known by the 7-H-4, the Coyote outfit, Miller and Vaughan, Plaster and Joe Johnson, the Brewers, the Hunts, the Webbs, all of them Runnels county interests, were there. And a few surviving representatives of these outfits, exchanging memories at the reunion, mentioned that Jim Johnson was always in charge of activities, and that it was especially due to his tactful handling of these round-ups year after year that he made and still holds the reputation of saying the least and doing the most of any cowman on the range.

While the hunt was on he was always in the saddle, directing the

Many Present at Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary Here

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Mosely was the scene of a most happy occasion on Monday, September 12th, when they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

The constant stream of callers with their many beautiful tokens of love, from 10 a. m. until a late hour at night, was a fitting tribute to the love and esteem in which this couple are held.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosely were married in Terrell September 12th, 1877, and have lived in Winters 18 years, Mr. Mosely being superintendent of the Winters Oil Mill all of this time.

They were happy parents of seven children, three of whom lived to be grown, who, together with their families enjoyed the festivities of the day. Mrs. A. F. Seay, a sister of Mrs. Mosely was also present.

The house was tastefully decorated in gold and white, the white representing the wedding gown of the bride, the gold the fiftieth anniversary. The yellow and white tulips and bridal roses placed about the living room added to the charm of the beautiful occasion. In one corner of this room was an improvised alcove made of festoons of gold and white crepe paper, draped from the ceiling to the wall. In the background of the alcove were the dates 1877 to 1927, in gold. This was banked with beautiful ferns and flowers and was a neat and appropriate place for the bride and groom to renew their plighted troth.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mesdames Stephens, Skaggs and L. E. Low, who presented them to the bride and groom and after extending hearty congratulations and best wishes, they were ushered into the living room where they were served delicious punch and gold and white cake by Misses Leta and Nell Rountree, granddaughters of the home.

The table from which the punch was served was beautiful with an old lace cloth over gold, and several vases of yellow roses.

When the wedding hour arrived, the guests were seated in the living room and Leta and Nell Rountree sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul," to the tune of "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and after this the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, played by Mrs. Gid. J. Bryan, announced the approach of the wedding party.

The groom came in with Joe Baker and the bride, dressed in gold and brown satin, upon the arm of her grandson, James Rountree.

At the altar under the date 1927, Bro. Stephens, with beautiful and well chosen words performed the ceremony which renewed the vows of earlier days. Bro. Bryan then offered an inspiring prayer.

After this congratulations to the bride and groom were extended, and impromptu talks were made, telling of the love and respect for Mr. and Mrs. Mosely. Mr. Lynn very fittingly told of what an inspiration Mr. Mosely had been to him in a business way, and said that what he said about Mr. Mosely in a business way applied to Mrs. Mosely in a spiritual way. Mrs. L. E. Low and Joe Baker spoke of what a privilege it was to have such Godly, Christian people for neighbors, and Dr. Sanders spoke of Mrs. Mosely's loving attention to the sick.

Bro. Stephens spoke of their love and loyalty to their church, how they were always ready to serve, and that he leaned heavily on Mrs. Mosely's prayers for his Sunday services. Mr. and Mrs. Creacy, lifelong friends of Mr. and Mrs. Mosely, spoke of what a blessing it was to have such friends. Others who spoke of the beautiful Christian characters of these two people and of the love they bore them were Bro. and Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Coupland, and Mrs. Lynn.

Leta Rountree and Mrs. W. D. Sanders gave appropriate readings that were enjoyed by all.

Besides the many Winters people who called during the day and evening, the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Rube Creacy of Ballinger; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lynn, Ballinger; Mrs. Townsend, Ballinger; Mrs. A. F. Sealey, Electra; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Mosely and family, Wichita Falls.

The following poem expresses the sentiment of the whole community towards Mr. and Mrs. Mosely: True to the call of duty, They come with willing feet, To take up their burdens Where the past and present meet.

Stainford Wedding Community Meeting Held at Victory

The following, taken from a Stamford exchange, is reproduced here because the groom, Beri L. Lacy, is well known locally, being a cousin of Mrs. Grover Davis:

The marriage of Miss Billie Swafford, daughter of Mrs. Era Swafford of Pikeville, Tenn., and Beri L. Lacy of Abilene, occurred Wednesday evening at 8:30 in the First Christian church, Rev. M. B. Harris, pastor of the church performing the ring ceremony.

Prior to the entrance of the bridal party, Mrs. R. R. Robertson played a violin number "Love's Greeting," and Mrs. H. F. Gable sang "For You Alone," with Mrs. H. R. Fuller at the piano. As the bridal party entered Mrs. Fuller played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, which was sung by Misses Dorothy Harlan, Rebecca Harlan, Mary Bryant, Margaret Smith, Mabelle Baird, Patsy Durret, Lois Perkins, Frances Donalson, Edna Haynie, Mattie Middleton, Katherine Tadlock, Mmes. H. F. Gable, Byron Lewis, Alton Brady and Doyle Middleton.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Dallas Southard, as matron of honor; Miss Luella Lacy, sister of the groom, maid of honor. Misses Dorothy Bunkley, Mary J. Payne, Erma Taylor of Snyder, and Lota Clyde Head of Ovalo, as bridesmaids. The groom was attended by Charles Eaton, of Abilene, the ushers were Edgar Goodnight, Raymond T. Bynum, Julian H. Latham, all of Abilene, and Otis Hawkins of Fort Worth.

Little Miss Helen McClendon of Abilene in pink georgette crepe frock scattered rose petals in the path of the bride, and Master Billie McDonald in white satin, carried the diamond circlet in the heart of a rose on a small satin pillow.

During the ceremony Mrs. R. R. Robertson gave "To a Wild Rose," Mrs. Gable sang "I Love You Truly" before the recessional, Mendelsohn's Wedding March.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Dallas Southard, was beautifully gowned in white satin with rhineston trimming. Her veil was caught at either side with a band of orange blossoms, and flowers were bride's roses showered with valley lilies. Mrs. Southard wore powder blue beaded georgette and carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds. Miss Luella Lacy wore a frock of pink chiffon and taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds, and gladiolas. The bridesmaids were dressed in pastel shades of taffeta and their flowers were gladiolas and ferns. The girls in the chorus wore pastel shades and carried gilt baskets of pink roses.

A garden scene formed the background for the ceremony. In achieving this effect a fern-entwined trellis, with roses and gladiolas were used by Mrs. J. H. Miga.

At the home of Dr. and Mrs. Southard an informal reception was held following the ceremony. Tall floor baskets of gladiolas and ferns throughout the entertaining suite were decorations, and in the dining room the table was laid in Madera over pink with pink tapers at the four corners. The centerpiece was the wedding cake, a three-tiered heart-shaped confection baked by Mrs. Nichols, famed for her elaborate cakes baked for Woodrow Wilson and others, for special occasions. This was served with pink ice by Anne Bunkley, Sarah and Margaret Upshaw, Fay Rhine of Wichita Falls, and Adele Baker.

Mrs. E. V. Hardwick presided at the bride's book which was tied with real orange blossoms, and painted by Mrs. W. P. McDonald. Miss Nina Booth rendered violin selections with her mother, Mrs. Jack Booth, at the piano.

The bride's going away suit was an imported model of navy crepe. The couple's destination was kept a secret. They are expected to return to Hamlin in a week. Mr. Lacy is manager of the Lacy Hardware Co.

The bride is a graduate of Simmons University and Columbia University, New York City.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lacy of Abilene, parents of the groom; Luella Lacy, Charles Eaton, Edgar Goodnight, Raymond Bynum, Julian Latham, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hughes, Mrs. W. C. McClendon, Claudia and Regina Olsen, all of Abilene; Irma Taylor of Snyder, Lota Clyde and Joynie Rose Head of Ovalo, Thelma Andrews of Albany, Mrs. E. V. Hardwick of Anson, Otis Hawkins and Mrs. Conrod Hightower of Fort Worth, Miss Fay Rhine of Wichita Falls, Isabelle and Pat Hud of Goree, and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Davis of Winters.

Victory is certainly the right name given to one good community. From the determination and general community spirit of this fine little neighborhood, it can clearly be seen that they are likely to gain many victories.

On Tuesday they phoned the secretary of the chamber of commerce that they were going to have a little entertainment and asked him to "come out." He did and carried his "better half" and it would be very hard, indeed, to express fully their enjoyment.

The folks out there are busy people like most everybody now, and many of them worked until dark and then made their way to the school house to have a social and business hour. A good crowd was there and beginning the program with business, they invited Mr. Lehmborg, county agent, to take charge. He did, and gave some interesting things about the county fair. Mrs. Hollingsworth, the county home demonstration agent was the second speaker, and she brought an interesting message. Following Mrs. Hollingsworth, Secretary Cooper made a short talk on community organization and its advantages. Mrs. Cooper was invited to "say a word," but she didn't. She took several minutes which was largely on a "come-back" at her husband.

The Victory community is arranging to carry an exhibit to the county fair and from what could be found out, the women of that good community are going to have a real surprise for the entire county. They also voiced an approval of helping Winters to arrange an educational booth at the fair. If this is put over it will show what can be done in this territory, and will especially show what can be grown. All communities are urged to assist in this, for it is only through them that it can be done.

Blizzards Play Merkel Hi Friday

Tomorrow, September 15, the Blizzards football team of the Winters high school will go into action against the Merkel eleven on Blizzards Field for the second practice game of the 1927 season. Football is in the air and there is a hundred thrills in every game. This second game is doped out to be a little tougher than last Friday's tussle and it is predicted that the Blizzards string will have to show some real action to get the upper end of the score when the final gun is sounded. This is the first time in three years that Merkel has invaded the territory of the Blizzards and we well remember the drubbing that they gave us the last time the two teams met.

R. H. Dinnam and family of Elliasville were guests of W. D. Dunnam and family the first of the week.

Miss Leon Campbell left Tuesday for Stephenville where she will enter John Tarleton college. Her many friends predict for her a successful year of college work.

Charlie Mosely, educational director of the First Baptist church at Wichita Falls, was here for the week-end and remained for the fiftieth wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Mosely, Monday.

Establish A Personal Contact With Your Banker

The occupation of farming presents many unusual and individual problems. Situations arise from time to time when credit at the Bank is a matter of grave necessity.

Begin now and build up a personal acquaintance with the Winters State Bank—don't wait for the pressure of necessity. This indicates foresight, and foresight is always an important asset to reckon with in obtaining credit.

Borrowing is not a question of favors but a matter of sound business, and it is important and profitable to keep in close touch and feel free to consult with us at any time.

Man Captured By Neill Implicated in Murder Charge

One of the three men arrested two weeks ago here when they wrecked the stolen car in which they attempted to escape from officers has been implicated in the death of her husband by Mrs. Ida Morgan of Barger, held on murder charges at Childress.

The partly decomposed body of Mrs. Morgan's husband was found pushed into a culvert on a ranch north of Childress last January, according to press dispatches. In a statement to officers she implicated one of the two men being held at Wellington on charges of robbing a bank at Dodsonville, Collingsworth county.

Two of the men arrested here were taken to Wellington to answer the Dodsonville robbery charges. The third is in jail at Sweetwater. They are also under charges in Harmon county, Oklahoma, and in connection with the robbery of a filling station near Sweetwater, according to local officers.

The capture of the trio created unusual excitement in Runnels county. Sheriff Earl McWilliams had been tipped off that they would pass thru Ballinger, but they eluded the officers at that place, but after an exciting chase were captured here by Chief of Police Neill. Quickly turning their car they had almost outdistanced the chief when their car collided with a truck, wrecking it. One of the men came out from under the car with a pistol but was disarmed. Sheriffs of Collingsworth and Childress counties, Texas, and Harmon county, Oklahoma, reached Ballinger, where the men were taken in a few hours, and took two of them to Wellington. Chief Neill received $100 of the $300 reward offered for the capture of the three men.

Delbert Faulkner left the latter part of the past week for Snyder, where he goes to take a position in the dry goods department of Higginbotham Bros. & Co.'s store at that place.

WHAT'S DOING

In West Texas

SILVERTON — Agricultural students in the Silverton high school are making practical application of the vocational work offered them by constructing a frame building to the school system which will be used as a home for the newly added music department.

ROCHESTER — The Traveler's Hotel is the name of a new hostelry opened in Rochester. The building is first-class and well equipped.

BRECKENRIDGE.—September 24 has been designated as "West Texas Chamber of Commerce Day" at the third annual Oil Belt Fair to be held here September 20 to 25 inclusive. Officials of the regional organization will be represented on a special program and many diversions and entertainment features will be provided for the delegation of West Texas membership expected to attend from many points.

OLTON.—Olton's new high school auditorium-gymnasium has been finished and the school system is now prepared to take care of its student body with one of the best, modern and well-equipped structures of this territory.

BANGS.—Awning lights are being placed in the business district of Bangs. This constructive work is being done by the local office of the Texas Power & Light Company.

ALPINE.—All previous building records have already been shattered here this year, with the amount passing the quarter million mark. One of the latest developments is the construction of a $100,000 addition to the Holiand Hotel.

ARCHER CITY.—The Archer City Wolf Association met recently and conducted a wild chase which netted at its close an animal of small broad stripe instead of the expected beast. The organization has proved effective in ridding the section of wolves in hunts held at various times.

ARLINGTON.—A mammoth lake is to be constructed at a point three and one-half miles north of town, and will cover more than twenty acres. The bed of the lake will extend some three miles above the dam with numerous necks and coves. The place will be stocked with duck and fish.

STERLING CITY.—The county caterpillar tractor is being used as a stump puller in clearing the Sterling City and Del Rio road on Sterling creek of timber. The road will be opened for travel as soon as the fences are adjusted.

OLNEY.—The old Townsite building, located on the corner of Third street and Grand Avenue here is being remodeled and will be converted into an up-to-date store and office building.

SEAGRAVES.—A farmers' short course was conducted here recently, extending over three days. The first day was devoted to home and crops; the second day dealt with livestock, poultry, and other phases of agriculture. Practical demonstrations of field crops and canning were given during the course, these being directed by the Gaines county agents.

JUNCTION.—The Wolf Club of Kimble county met recently and outlined plans for raising funds to start a predatory animal eradication program in this section. The commissioners' court is cooperating with the movement.

GORMAN.—The De Leon highway is to be hard surfaced to the Erath county line. This work will benefit materially trade operations and activities in the Gorman section.

FARWELL.—The local high school plant will be one of the best in this region when construction work is completed on the new gymnasium and auditorium just started here.

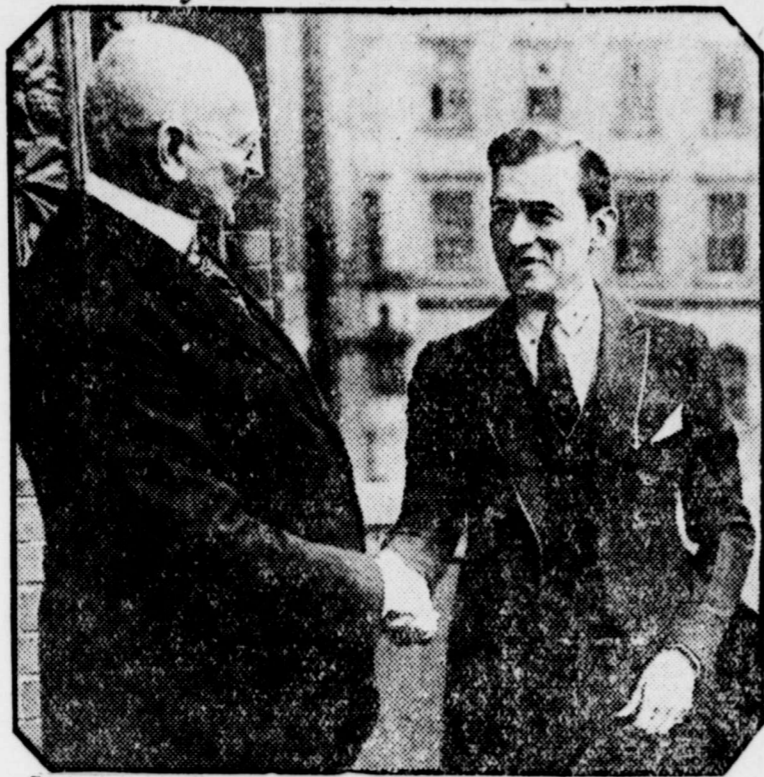

New Swings at Park

The West Texas Utilities Company, always looking for an opportunity to do something to make Winters a better town to live and do business in, have placed three child's swings in Tinkle Park. While attending the celebration held at the park Tuesday evening on the occasion of turning natural gas into Winters, we were asked many times where the new swings came from, which we couldn't answer at that time, but we had a pretty good idea that V. Vanzandt, local manager for the West Texas Utilities Company could answer the question, so yesterday we elicited the information from him that his company was responsible for the new swings.

THE KINGDOM DIVIDED

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for September 18. The Kingdom Divided. 1 Kings 12:12-20.

So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come to me again the third day. And the king answered the people roughly, and forsook the old men's counsel that they gave him.

And spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke; my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions. Wherefore the king hearkened not unto the people; for the cause was from the Lord, that he might perform his saying, which the Lord spake by Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

So when all Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: to your tents, O Israel; now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents. But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

Then king Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the tribute; and all Israel stoned him with stones, that he died. Therefore king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.

So Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day. And it came to pass, when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come again, that they sent and called him unto the congregation, and made him king over all Israel: there was none that followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.

AFTER the glory of Solomon and the building of the temple comes the ignominy of Jeroboam's folly occasioning revolt in Israel and the division of the kingdom.

There is much to cause reflection in what is written in the record and in all that one can read between the lines. In the first place we are reminded that apparently all that was associated with the glory of Solomon's reign and the building of the temple was not in harmony with the true glory of God.

When Solomon died, however, the smoldering dissatisfaction of the people came to a head and they immediately demanded that their burdens should be lightened. Jeroboam, who succeeded Solomon, consulted two groups of people as to what answer he should give those who besought him concerning the nature of his rule.

The old men whom he consulted advised him to accede to the demands of the people and to establish his rule in good will by doing all that he could for the alleviation of their burdens. The young men, however, advised him to assert his kingly authority in other words, to be a strong man and not show any weakness at the beginning of his reign by succumbing to popular demands.

Jeroboam decided to follow the advice of the young men, and when the representatives of the people came to receive his reply, his answer was, "My father did chastise you with whips, I will chastise you with scorpions."

Tyranny Its Own Poison

The result was such as one would anticipate. All tyrannies carry within them the seeds of their downfall. Sooner or later they bring their inevitable consequences.

The people revolted against Jeroboam, though two tribes continued loyal to the Davidic House and tradition. The ten tribes set up a separate kingdom with Rehoboam as their king. This kingdom was known as the Northern Kingdom, or the Kingdom of Israel, whereas the other kingdom was known as the Southern Kingdom, or the Kingdom of Judah.

Our lesson represents this division of the kingdoms as brought about by Jehovah. We may possibly take such a statement too literally just as men have taken too literally the idea that kings and governments are ordained of God. It is worth while, however, to note that this writer in ancient times justified revolt in the nation and set upon it the seal of divine authority.

Divinity of Right

There is no such thing as divine right except the divinity of right. No formal prestige or power, no historic tradition or claim of authority, can make a thing right that is inherently wrong.

There is a tendency in America today to attach to law that claim of divine right that formerly in older communities was attached to kings. No true citizen will minimize the importance of the law, but it is a profound mistake to demand from people obedience to law simply because a thing is law.

It is the rightfulness of law that ought to be emphasized, with this fact always in mind, that where the chosen representatives of a democracy have made laws, that in itself constitutes a certain rightfulness of the law until it is repealed, unless the law is inherently repugnant to conscientious convictions of right.

Ray Griffith Has Merry Time in New Film at Lyric

When the wedding bells are thrumming there are the bills to pay, but sometimes there's a great deal more to it than that, as the action of "Wedding Bills," Raymond Griffith's latest Paramount comedy coming to the Lyric Monday and Tuesday, September 21 and 22, proves.

If you've been a harassed best man, you can appreciate how Ray feels when the life is just one wedding after another with no immediate relief from the arduous duties of chief nuptial assistant. He swears off all weddings, but to no avail, for his best friend decides to get married, and Ray has to be there to lend moral support. A blonde vamp and a supersensitive bride contribute to the sum of uncertainties, and the trouble commences. Ray is elected to pacify the vamp who is much perturbed over the coming wedding since she was once the sweetheart of Tom Milbank, the bridegroom. Moreover she holds certain letters of his that if shown to the jealous bride would break up the romance. The price of her consent to the marriage seems to be a $20,000 necklace.

Ray contracts to get this on approval at the jeweler's, and steal it back from the vamp later, but, alas, for all well laid plans. He gets the jewels all right, but in doing so falls in love with a beautiful unknown, and when he finds that she secretary to Tom's father, her proximity adds to his confusion. The necklace develops a way of disappearing, and the panic is on. The clever Ray, however, hits upon the solution, but only after a series of episodes in which the well-known high hat comedian exhibits every trick in his well-stocked repertoire. The laughs are plentiful.

"Wedding Bills" is Griffith's latest vehicle and will be at the Lyric Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 21 and 22.

Miss Myrtle Mayo has been a guest in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Watkins. Either Miss Myrtle or her sister, Miss Fern, stay with these elderly people at all times.

Herbert Adami is staying in Winters during the school term. He has a position in one of the stores.

Ira Stanley is at home from south Texas. Ira is a fine young man and the Dale people are glad to have him in their midst once more.

Sidney Neely left the latter part of the week for Garland where he will be a member of the faculty in the schools at that place.

Spurgeon and Douglas Bell and Miss Eleanor Bell of Abilene, enroute to Gatesville, stopped over for a short time Monday. Misses Mattie Smith and Marie Hill accompanied them to Gatesville where they will visit relatives for a few days. Miss Marie will go to Waco the latter part of the week and enter Baylor University for the fall and winter term.

Preaching by the pastor, 7:45 p. m.

God has appointed that man should cease from labor one day of each week and keep that day a Sabbath, holy unto the Lord. God has ordained the gospel which is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.

Come to church. Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.

movements of all the groups, and when the cattle were rounded up he was on the job until the last cow was where she belonged.

"Remember how Jim managed it?" somebody asked. "Used to put numbered slips in his hat and let the boss of each outfit draw. Then No. 2 hands held the herd while No. 1 fellows cut out their cattle; No. 3 held while No. 2 cut, and so on until the work was finished."

Then the old range men drifted into miscellaneous reminiscences. Mr. Johnson recalled that it was along about 1883 that J. H. Parramore fenced his first league of land in Runnels county and advised the younger men that they, too, ought to be getting a foothold.

Another mentioned that it was in 1887 that the last herd of 7-H-4 cattle were driven up the trail—this time for delivery in Colorado, and that Jim Johnson was in charge of the herd.

About the same year, it was remembered, Mr. Parramore brought the first thoroughbred Hereford cattle to the county, a few years after Colonel Wylie had introduced the Durham breed.

An Ancient Lariat

Somehow it leaked out that Luce

Wood still carries around under the seat of his car a three-ply rawhide lariat which he used when he went with Jim Johnson on the long cow-hunt to Eagle Pass. This he was called on to exhibit, for the "younger fry," while the range men looked on and smiled at the wonderment it caused among their children's children.

Throughout the reunion talk there were references and inquiries concerning ex-range men who were unable to attend the meeting. Dudley Tom of Fort Worth, Billie Scott of Uvalde, Ame Flache of Brownfield, Phil Wright of San Antonio, who in range days belonged to the Webb outfit and because of his extreme youth, was known as the "Webb Kid"; Joe Wilmeth of Fort Worth, at whose suggestion the Ex-Oxen Range Cowpunchers' Association was organized at Ballinger 18 years ago, and many others.

Finally the annual round-up drew towards its close. The reminiscences were over. The cow camp supper of Tuesday night and the barbecue dinner of Wednesday were already becoming pleasant memories. But before they separated, these men who once followed the herd by day and slept on the open prairies at night, met in a brief, informal business meeting and re-elected J. M. Johnson president of their association for the eighteenth consecutive year.

There's just a common understanding among them that the man who bossed winter lines and directed round-ups and managed trail drives back in the eighties is to be the boss of the Ex-Open Range Cowpunchers Association of Runnels and Adjoining Counties as long as he rides this side of the cowman's last range.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and loving words of sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved husband, father and brother. Also for the beautiful floral offering. Mrs. A. B. Chapmond, Mr. and Mrs. Ofis Davis, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chapmond, Mrs. Eva C. Taylor, Oscar Chapmond, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ogden, Elmer Shepard.

Dr. Burrus of Crews was in the city the past week-end. The doctor is an enthusiastic community worker and is always boosting for the Crews section.

Dr. D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas State Park Board, was in the city yesterday. He came here at the instance of the chamber of commerce, and while in the city took up with Mayor Roberts and others propositions which may prove of untold value to this territory.

Grover Davis and family attended the wedding of Mrs. Davis' cousin, Bery Lacy, at Stamford Tuesday evening of last week. Mr. Davis has promised us some details of this happy event in the near future which we will be glad to publish, for we understand the groom is quite well known in this section.

Wallace Drinkwater is on the prohibition staff of Oregon.

Your Kitchen

ALWAYS SPOTLESSLY CLEAN WHERE THERE IS A HOTPOINT !!

Crisp, snowy-white curtains, immaculate walls, floor and ceiling, shining cooking utensils, and a stove that glistens are the pride of every woman.

Electricity creates no smoke, soot, nor fumes. Dirt and dust from carrying and handling fuel and ashes are a thing of the past.

Pots and pans keep bright and shining without continual scouring and polishing for the simple reason that electric heat creates no smoke, and therefore can deposit no soot nor stain. There is no oxygen-consuming flame, which causes the gases, smoke, and soot of old-fashioned cooking methods.

This absolute cleanliness of electric heat prevents the gradual blackening of cooking utensils and the necessity for their frequent replacement. It saves many hours of arduous labor.

Blizzards Beat Hold Sunday School Clyde, 31 to 0 Institute Here Tues.

The first game of the 1927 football season was played here last Friday when the Winters Blizzards defeated Clyde 31 to 0. The Blizzards seemed to be able to score at will all during the game until Coach Smith run in a long string of second squad men, and never but one time was their goal threatened. Clyde crossed the goal line once, but was called back on offside and finally lost the ball. Up until the last quarter Clyde only registered two first downs. The enemy then opened up with forward passes, at which they seemed proficient, but at the critical time they couldn't get enough shove behind the old ball to score. It now looks like it's going to be the same old story of last season.

A Sunday School institute for the western part of the Brownwood District, including Runnels and Coke counties, was held at the Winters Methodist church Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The pastors and workers from every charge were present. A carefully prepared program was carried out. A general view of Sunday school work and its various departments was discussed. Dr. A. D. Porter of Brownwood, Presiding Elder of the District, spoke in the closing hour on "Evangelism," giving a most forceful message, which an experienced pastor stated was the clearest elucidation of the subject he had ever heard.

LOCAL BOYS WITH MARINES ARE BOUND FOR CHINA

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 15.—Some of the interesting events now transpiring in China, where the four hundred millions of people of that empire have been in the throes of a revolution for some time, are likely to be witnessed by Charles H. Key and Herbert H. Harrell, two Winters boys who recently left the western base for service with the expeditionary force of U. S. Marines at Shanghai.

They were with a detachment of marines who sailed on the transport Thomas, with Shanghai as their destination. Due to the rapid shifting of troops, however, the local marine detachment may wind up at Tientsin or some other point in China, where U. S. marines are guarding American lives and interests.

Three or four thousand marines have been ordered to China since last February and from time to time small detachments are likely to be ordered there, remaining for an indefinite length of time. Charles is a son of Jasper N. Key, and Herbert is a son of Martin E. Harrell of this city. Charles joined the Marine Corps at San Antonio, and Herbert at Fort Worth, last April. They were stationed at San Diego when selected for service in foreign lands.

Those from out of town here to attend the funeral of A. B. Chapman last Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Davis and baby, Dallas; Mrs. L. N. Burnett of Mena, Arkansas; Elmer Shepperd, Hot Springs, Ark.; G. G. Miller, Marcos Castlow and family, and Mrs. Cecil Webb of Roaring Springs; O. S. Gilbreath, of Anson, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirc of Ballinger.

If A. Krauss and H. O. Jones will bring their cars to us next week, we will wash or grease them free of charge.
