Street Paving Will Begin Here Soon

Concrete mixers and other street paving machinery was unloaded here yesterday preparatory to starting the paving program rolling. Mr. Sloan, construction superintendent of the Thurber Construction Company, with his family, are now located in Winters for the duration of the construction period, and he and Mr. Brown, of the same company, were busy yesterday directing the unloading of the machinery.

Six-inch cast iron water pipe has been ordered by the city to be laid under the paving, and work is expected to start immediately on West Dale street just across the railway tracks.

At present it is not known just how much paving will be laid at this time, but it is thought that as the work gets under way more paving will be done than was at first contracted for.

Richard Seagler, student of John Tarleton College, has returned to Stephenville after a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Seagler.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shepperd attended the Simmons-Howard Payne game at Abilene Thursday.

Ballroom Dancing Soon to Disappear Is Statement

Amarillo, Texas, Nov. 26.—(UP)—Ballroom dancing will disappear entirely in the next few years, said Ted Shawn, internationally famous dancer, in an interview here.

Calmly smearing on streaks of grease paint in preparation for his act in the "Zeigfeld Follies," he proceeded to upset the whole pleasure-mad philosophy of youth.

Not satisfied with bowling the foundations from under the modern conception of a "hot time," he made an even more startling statement: "Dancing will be intelligent," he said.

A London scientist recently predicted that dancing in a hundred years would be purely a matter of the cerebellum, and that the legs would no longer be a factor at all.

Now comes Shawn, the leading exponent of dancing in America, with another prediction, which most considerably leaves the use of the legs, but subordinates the role of the cerebellum to that of the cerebrum in dancing of the future.

All of which arouses interesting speculation concerning just what a London professor knows about dancing.

From observations made throughout a life devoted to the study of dancing and from meticulously watching the changes in public sentiment in regard to dancing, by means of his annual tours over the continent, and barnstorming trips to the Orient, Shawn insists he is forced to take a more optimistic view of the dance than Professor Low does.

The professor, with his test tubes and beakers, gives us a vision of oscillating floors, intoxicating perfumes and curious foods necessary for the enjoyment of rhythm. Shawn paints a picture of solo dancing in the open air and broad daylight, and he substitutes it for Black Bottom contests and hoof dragging marathons.

The dance enthusiast in the new age will not be jerking out puppy love tunes to the accompaniment of snapping fingers and rotating hips, Shawn said. He or she will find pleasure instead, by participating in rituals and dance dramas and religious ceremonies.

50 Jersey Cows Unloaded Today

Realizing the need of more dairy cows for the Winters section, G. E. Nicholson has purchased two carloads of pure-bred Jersey milch cows which he intends to dispose of to the people of the Winters country. Mr. Nicholson bought the entire herd of a state-inspected dairy and all have been tubercular tested. The herd arrived and were unloaded here today.

Injunction Sought In Ladd Well Sale

San Angelo, Nov. 28.—Runnels county initial producer, L. D. Ladd and others' No. 1 McMillan, is the center of another court action. H. W. Flowers of Callahan county, has filed suit in the Thirty-fifth District Court at Ballinger, seeking to enjoin L. D. Ladd, one of the owners, from carrying out the contract of sale of an interest in the well and acreage to the Vacuum Oil Company for a sum of less than $200,000.

Flowers states in the petition that he is owner of 50-300th of the well and 3,100-acre block and believes the property is worth $1,000,000. Therefore, he claims, the owners are using bad judgment in selling the well for $200,000, the price reported when a sale was announced, though it is unconfirmed.

48 Home Products Served in Dinner

Coleman, Tex., Nov. 26.—Groaning under the weight of 48 individual and especially prepared home-grown products, R. L. Bates, for 27 years a farmer in this section, had as guests a score of representative Coleman and Runnels county citizens.

As a typical example of diversification which is being fostered among farmers throughout Texas, the dinner at the Bates farm has doubtless never been excelled. At the Runnels county fair in Ballinger recently, Mr. Bates exhibited 68 distinct products, all of which were raised on his farm of 457 acres, half of which is in Coleman and a like amount in Runnels county.

W. E. Dunnam has returned from Eliasville after spending a few days looking after business interests.

Miss Lenna House left the first of the past week for Levelland where she will teach school.

Committee on Water Rights Meets Today

Dallas, Dec. 1.—(UP)—The statewide water rights committee, which has held several meetings in recent months, is scheduled to meet here today to conclude its report on the water rights controversy.

The committee's scheduled meeting at San Antonio, October 31, was postponed at the request of J. A. Kemp, Wichita Falls, chairman, who ordered it to reconvene here today. The committee hopes to prepare a report that will be agreeable and acceptable to the power interests, rice growers and agriculturists of West Texas, all of whom are interested in the disposition of water rights on Texas streams.

Cotton Ginned to Date Here Totals 16,097 Bales

A report from the gins of the city, gathered at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, showed that there had been 16,097 bales of cotton ginned here up to that hour, and it is believed that it will crowd it to reach 18,000 bales for the season.

Cotton ginned in the county prior to November 14th totalled 48,597 bales, as against 50,342 bales up to the same date last year.

LITTLE THEATRE IN FINAL REHEARSALS FOR PLAYS

The Little Theatre organization is to offer a new form of entertainment next Tuesday night, December 6th, in the high school auditorium, when they will present three one-act plays.

The curtain raiser is to be "What Would You Do?" a light comedy full of funny situations that are really laughable. The characters who are to appear in this play, which was written for no other purpose than to make you laugh, are Miss Ethel Bob Montague and M. C. Penn.

"Judge Lynch" is a drama full of tense scenes and dramatic lines. It is the play that the Dallas Little Theatre won first place with in the New York tournament, afterwards accepting an inviting offer to make a vaudeville tour with it throughout Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma. A special scene has been painted for the local production. Miss Naomi Hunt, Miss Iva Modessette, P. G. Garrett and Jno. W. Norman are carrying parts in it.

Another domestic comedy is "Suppressed Desires," which was awarded first place in the dramatic tournament held at Austin last spring. "Suppressed Desires" is a clever comedy that makes you wonder what in the world next. The characters are portrayed by Miss Gladys Joseph, Carl Henslee and Miss Evelyn Gannaway.

Between curtains will be a chorus by popular high school girls, a violin quartet, and a male quartet. An orchestra under the direction of T. B. Nordyke will furnish the music.

Box Supper

There will be a box supper at the Mann school house Friday night, December 9th. Every one is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis and little daughter, Carl Lesta, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cramer and children were visitors in Abilene Thursday.

Miss Leon Campbell, who is attending school at John Tarleton, Stephenville, spent Thanksgiving and the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

The Full Story of the New Ford

The full story of the new Ford automobile, described by Henry Ford as being "superior in design and performance to any now available in the low price, light car field" will be told first in Winters tomorrow, December 2nd, according to announcement today by Nance-Brown Motor Company, local Ford dealers.

A public reception is to be held here, simultaneously with similar gatherings at every Ford dealer in the United States, thus constituting a part of the greatest automobile show in the history of the industry.

After six months of "saying nothing but sawing wood," Henry Ford today announced the specifications of the new Ford car which succeeds his famous Model T. A bare listing of those specifications presents a picture of an automobile that in performance, appearance and mechanical features has heretofore been associated with a considerably higher price class.

Unusual speed and acceleration are among the outstanding features of the new car. It is announced as being able to make 55 to 60 miles an hour with ease. In recent tests it has made ever more without difficulty. What is more important, it is stated that when traveling at such speeds it holds the road easily and with comfort to driver and passengers. It is also stated with equal positiveness that it performs in an equally spectacular manner on bad roads. In its design Mr. Ford has held to his original idea of a car which can meet all conditions and types of roads.

Appreciating the constantly increasing importance of acceleration, the Ford Motor Company has given a great deal of study to this feature of the new car. In high gear tests with two passengers in a Tudor sedan it has shown an acceleration of from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 8 1/2 seconds.

The new Ford car also introduces a new type of four-wheel brakes. An exclusive Ford development, they are of the mechanical, shoe-expanding type, and are self-centering. The brake pedal and the hand brake each operates all four brakes. It is stated that this is the most reliable and the simplest type of four-wheel brake, and also the easiest to adjust, all adjustments being made from the outside without removing any parts.

An engine that is practically vibrationless develops 40 horse power at 2200 revolutions per minute. This low revolution speed in relation to the high horsepower is illustrative of the unusual efficiency of the engine. Also, it means longer life, the lower engine speed insuring less wear on engine parts. The low revolution speed is also a substantial factor in lessening vibration. The bore is 3 7-8 inches, stroke 4 1-4 inches. The unusually large crankshaft, which is both statically and dynamically balanced, weighs 28 pounds. This balancing, combined with the lightness of aluminum alloy pistons, further combine to reduce vibration and increase the life of the engine.

Lions Talk Good Roads at Luncheon

The local Lions Club held their regular semi-monthly luncheon at the Hotel Winters last Tuesday with R. E. Bacon, president, presiding over the opening exercises.

Visitors introduced were Mr. Schlaboch of Houston, guest of A. Krauss; Rev. H. E. Lightfoot, new pastor of the Methodist church, the guest of Dr. F. J. Brophy; and Rev. Hal F. Smith, guest of R. T. Thornton, Jr.

Toastmaster J. M. Skaggs told of the advancement of Winters during his eighteen years residence here, and introduced the following Lions who "roared" at length on the subject of good roads: E. A. Shepperd, S. H. Nance, C. L. Green and S. W. Cooper.

Rev. Lightfoot expressed his pleasure in becoming a citizen of Winters and stated that the good roads subject was a topic which meant much to the churches of the city.

Rev. Hal F. Smith also endorsed the good roads talks made by the other speakers, and stated that Winters was sadly in need of a city auditorium, saying that he had been calling the attention of the public to this need for some time past and expected to keep right on agitating the proposition as long as he lived, or until it became a reality.

The membership committee acted favorably upon the application of Rev. Lightfoot for membership and he was duly elected to membership.

The program committee for the next meeting is composed of A. O. Strother, chairman; R. T. Thornton, Jr., and Dr. Fred Tinkle.

Do you expect your insurance agent to trade for all kinds of odds and ends?

MAN OF THE HOUR

No one has done as much as young Charles Lindbergh to center public attention upon aviation. No one has done so much as Lindbergh to restore public confidence in aviation following the many unsuccessful flights of the summer. The Guggenheim Fund has done well. Lindbergh is free to advance the science he loves—as free as a bird.

This courageous aviator has been retained by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund to come and go and fly and speak and experiment when and where and how he sees fit, and the task is most fitting.

Those who came in contact with Col. Lindbergh during his tour of the 48 states, and millions saw him and talked to him, were convinced that they are convinced that his greatest tactical mail pilot who flew to Paris, he is much more than merely the specimen of interest in life is aviation. He can be trusted to keep the improvement and extension of aviation always in mind.

BEGIN NOW

Begin your Christmas shopping now. Have you realized how near the Christmastide has approached?

It is "just around the corner," with all its immemorial sentiments and practical demands. It is not unusual to urge early Christmas shopping for humanitarian reasons—because of the overworked salespeople, mail carriers and others. But there are others. When one has time one must be able to make better selections of the things desired for the holiday celebration. No one can do this in the last minute rushes preceding the day of days.

COME ON, SANTA

Nicholas Longworth, who holds the distinction of being the only violinist so far as any one knows, now presiding over a legislative body, says Congress should give us a substantial reduction in taxes before Christmas. And there is no one, we suppose, who would object to Nick in the role of Santa Claus.

THE ROLL CALL

Mercy moves on the wings of the morning, and its flight is as swift as the arrows of light. Mercy and the Red Cross are synonymous. Surely it is a privilege to hold membership in an organization that stills the cry of hunger, implants hope in the heart of the despairing and rescues the perishing.

One dollar will inscribe your name in letters of gold on the Red Cross scroll and list you with those who love their fellow men.

This greatest of mothers is calling the roll. When your name is called answer "Here!"

THE BUGGY RIDE

Only 8,000 buggies were made in this country last year. During the previous year more than 20,000 were created. Here is an industry—one

Daring Drama Lays Bare Soul of a Beautiful Girl

Only in extremely simple plots can the motion picture reach intense dramatic heights.

So believes Henry Hobart, producer of First National's "The Crystal Cup," which comes to the Queen Theatre Monday and Tuesday, December 5 and 6.

Many worthwhile film stories, the producer believes, are appreciably lessened in dramatic value because of an overly complicated plot. The essential drama is weakened because of the necessity of wasting the greater part of the space available in a picture of ordinary length on irrelevant explanations.

Too many characters in a story make for the same difficulty in that valuable space is wasted in introducing them and keeping them from being confused in the mind of the audience.

"The Crystal Cup" based on Gertrude Atherton's daring novel of the same name, is simplicity itself, and narrows down to a study of a few personalities, each one being carefully worked out and built up by well selected incidents and scenes which build up the definite nature of each personality.

It is a story, in short, of a young woman who receives a terrific fright early in life, and who never completely recovers from the shock of it. The harrowing experience influences her personality to a tremendous extent, and the drama is provided by the manner in which she conquers the inhibitions caused by it.

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall play the featured roles in "The Crystal Cup."

ARE WE?

The great sums of money involved in promotion of so-called sports in America are appalling when considered in the light of how they are spent and what they buy. On horse racing and prize fighting alone it mounts into many millions. We sometimes wonder if we are losing the ability to play without a money incentive.

By turning on draft you can get a quick fire. By turning it off you can hold fire 24 hours.

With ordinary coal you must keep draft open to prevent fire going out, which wastes coal.

A DOGWOOD FIRE CAN BE REGULATED TO SUIT WEATHER CONDITIONS, materially reducing amount of coal used. Save the difference.

To the Council Commander and Sovereigns of Winters Camp No. 1111, Woodmen of the World:

We, your committee, appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our deceased Sovereign, Wm. H. Butler beg to submit the following:

Again the death angel has invaded our ranks and removed from our midst our respected Sovereign Wm. H. Butler, it is vain to clothe in words the deep sorrow of human life occasioned by the announcement of the death message which comes at an hour when least expected, and at the same time we conceive probably to be the meridian of our existence, while these are really truths we humbly bow our heads in submission to the will of our great Master, and drop a sympathetic tear in token of the reverence in which we held our Sovereign who was called from labor to rest.

Sovereign Butler was born in 1870 in Tennessee, and died November 23, 1927. When a young man he came to Texas, married one of her choicest daughters and reared a family of eight children, all of whom survive and are honored citizens. At the time of his death he was a member in good standing of Bluff Creek Baptist church.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we accept the decree of the all-wise Supreme Ruler of the universe and emulate the virtues of our deceased Sovereign; in his going the Camp lost an exemplary member who was always faithful to any trust, small or great, imposed upon him.

The community has lost a citizen whose honesty knew no compromise, and the family loss will be irreparable in the departure of this good man.

It is the desire of this committee that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our records book, a copy furnished the family of the deceased and a copy furnished The Winters Enterprise for publication.—J. W. Corum, R. H. Inman, T. O. Carroll, Committee. Itc

We are glad to report that Ann, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Oliver, who has been seriously ill, for some time, is improving.

Bert E. Low and family of Abilene spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Low.

Miss Zelma Dawson spent the past week end with her parents near Miles.

Turney Whigham and wife of Spur spent Thanksgiving day with relatives and friends in the city.

Watch our windows for display of Christmas Gifts for men and boys.—A. L. Barlow.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Oliver are entertaining a new daughter in the home since Saturday, November 21

Methodist Church

Rev. Lightfoot, of the Methodist church, stated to an Enterprise representative that he has just about gotten established in Winters and is delighted with the town and the church. He says the Methodist of Winters have been very gracious in their reception but have not been alone in their welcome, as the whole town has displayed that characteristic Winters hospitality. The entire congregation of the Presbyterian church visited his congregation Sunday evening. He wishes to express his appreciation for this kind reception through The Enterprise.
 Rev. Lightfoot says of the many things which have so favorably impressed him in Winters is the fact that the Sunday school as a body attends the worship service of the church. This is not so much a compliment to the minister as it is to the spiritual state of the town and the Sunday school.
 The calendar for the week is:
 Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. A. H. Smith, superintendent.
 Morning worship 11 a. m. Subject: "Is There Anything in Religion?"
 Evening worship 7:15 p. m. Subject: "Viewing Christ From the Side-line."
 Special music at both services.
 Three Leagues meet Sunday evening at 6:15.
 Mid-week services, Wednesday at 7:15 p. m.
 Woman's Missionary Society Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Mrs. S. H. Nance, president.
 Choir rehearsal Thursday evening at 7:15. Walter Neely, director and Mrs. A. H. Smith, pianist.

 The Cradle Rool department, under the supervision of Mrs. A. O. Strother, announce they will maintain a nursery in their department during the morning and evening hours of worship. This service will begin next Sunday morning and mothers are invited to bring their babes and children and leave them with these efficient workers during the hours of worship.

WINNING the title of "Miss California" was a step toward fame for Billy Copeland. Now she has signed a contract with a movie company.

"Drums of Desert" Is Thrilling Tale

The tom-tom of the Indians, that persistent pulsation of the drums that carries its message for unbelievable distances and has never been satisfactorily solved by science, forms the basis for "Drums of the Desert" adapted from Zane Grey's romantic story "Desert Bound," which reaches the Queen Theatre to be shown soon.

Translated to the screen by Paramount under the direction of John Waters, that interpreter of Zane Grey novels into terms of screen action "Drums of the Desert" visualizes the colorful action of the original story. In it is told the tale of the Navajos and of the liquid gold that underlay their sacred shrines in the Arizona desert, the story of a white man's conspiracy to defraud them of those lands and of the frustration of that conspiracy by another white man. Underlying, as in the original, are the tom-toms of the Indian—those incessant drums calling the red men first to council and then to war against the encroachment of an enemy.

Through the story moves the heroic figure of John Curry as played by Warner Baxter, friend of the Indian. Opposite Baxter is Paramount's new European player, Marietta Millner, fresh from triumphs abroad, whose first intimate glimpse of American life was on the Navajo Indian reservation where "Drums of the Desert" was made.

J. D. Harrison, 15 years ago moved upon a Guion hillside. People predicted that he would starve rooting trenches through the sand. Today Harrison is known throughout central west Texas as the man of prosperity, because he intensely diversifies. Every day he has something to sell, and he just gives away his smiles. If the farmers of west Texas as a whole purchased no more groceries than Harrison spends for table food, all of this section would have to adjourn and the factory wheels that turn out tin cans would stop.

At the present time in the Harrison cellar are more than 500 jars of home packed vegetables, jellies and jams. Hams hang from the roof poles close enough to touch, and sides of bacon press each other for room. Sausage forms coil in the corners like bales of hempen rope. One hundred White Leghorn hens are cackling on the haystack and all around the barn. Pure bred hogs are feeding on the clover patch and on the pumpkin rinds. Fine Jersey cows are grazing in the meadow. The potato bank is loaded to the mouth and warping the door. Broilers are running after the grasshoppers and turkeys are picking at the weed seed pods.

But on the Harrison farm there is not a stalk of cotton.

Not only is Harrison enjoying life luxuries that he grows on the farm but he is annually increasing his guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mitchell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Smith visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hudson Saturday night.

Miss Laudie Hoots visited with her friend, Miss Minnie Lee Drake, Sunday of last week.

Claud Drake, Junas Byers, Joe Aywalt and Charlie Puckett left Sunday morning for a business trip on the plains.

Misses Minnie Lee and Mary Drake, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hoots, Alcie, Anna and Laudie Hoots visited Virgil Daniel at the Winters sanitarium Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scott visited Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cole Sunday.

Miss Ellene Bridwell visited Miss Mary Drake Sunday.

bank account. Last year he sold more than $2,000 worth of berries, $1,500 worth of grapes, $1,000 worth of sweet potatoes and enough other fruits and vegetables to give the fellow a feeling of richness who lives on the cotton farm.

And Harrison doesn't have to pick his berries and haul them to the gin and then to market. For a radius of more than 50 miles people come for the Harrison products, picking them on shares. The owner has almost forgotten how to pull dewberries from the stem.

And recently Harrison's vision grew and his concept began to expand.

"I am planning to grow more prosperous as I gain years," stated the diversifier, "and I have just set 100 paper shell pecans. Between these trees I will harvest a full crop of peas, pumpkin, potatoes and peanuts."

Not only is Harrison noted for his diversified crops but he is regarded as one of the most progressive citizens of central west Texas. He is a man who not only votes for good schools and good roads, but leads the campaign for the necessary changes as greater improvements are brought to civilization.

A large part of the Harrison success is due to the splendid spirit of cooperation of Mrs. Harrison. Harrison says: "It's her good foods that keep me in trim for dreaming and working, and keep away the doctor and the complaints of the stomach."

At the recent Bradshaw fair, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison exhibited more than 50 crops that were grown upon their own farm. The combined articles found in the average grocery store were seen on the Harrison exhibit shelf.

And Harrison has forgotten how to grow cotton.—Star-Telegram.

The Gale

The Kingdom of Iceland

Where'er you go, please let people know
That in Winters the "Blizzards" are strong.
The "Cyclones" blow where'er you go,
And they sometimes bring a "Gale" along.
Oh, yes, we have "Glaciers", too, you bet,
Just a "Kingdom of Iceland" called a school.
And you can't tell, but we may have yet
A lot of "Whirlwinds" under our rule.
There may be "Eskimos" before we're through,
In this kingdom of ours, oh, yes, sir,
We're sure you'll approve of anything we do,
For we always keep things in a stir.
So just watch out for "Cyclones" and "Gales,"
And anything that's liable to come around.
From "Winters High School" we gladly hail,
In the best and the busiest little town.
—Erline Brown.

Progress of Annual

Work was begun in earnest on the annual and rapid progress is being made. We are striving to have the Senior section finished before Christmas in order to complete the annual before the close of school. This can be accomplished if every student will put forth every effort to give us their hearty cooperation and active support. Students, let's cooperate with the staff and make the annual of '28 the best ever. We can do it; so why not?

Support the Annual.

The Cyclones

The Cyclones have been seen on the basketball court for the last few weeks, practicing with the vim and determination that goes to make a successful team. We are looking forward to many victories this season, and we are sure the Cyclones will do their part in winning these victories and perhaps the "basketball hopes will replace the football regrets," although they are very little regrets.

Support the Annual.

With the Seniors

The Senior Class met in their regular bi-weekly meeting Monday morning and plans were discussed for the progress of the annual. A committee was also appointed to bring before the class suggestions for the Seniors' gift to the school. On this committee are the following: Valera Duncan, Erline Brown, Estelle Hornburg, Bill Phillips and Vernon B. Campbell.

Have your picture made.

The Junior Play

Coming: "The New Co-ed," to be presented by the Junior Class December 9, 1927. Don't miss it; the hit of the season, with a cast composed of the following: Ted Williams, Louise Burton, Maurine Speer, Freddie Edwards, Bennie Woodrow, Margaret Nicholson, Gladys Goolsby, Evelyn Hartzog, Leta Rountree and Dillard Wood.

"T" Pot Still Boiling

On Tuesday, November 9th, the "T-Pots" met with Annie Mae Ragsdale for a short meeting. The girls had some business to attend to and so got busy at once.
Watch for our pictures in the Glacier. By the way, bring your money to town Saturday and we will show you what good cooks the girls are.
After our ideas and suggestions clashed for an hour or so, we went to see "It." Some of the girls say they have "It." We're wondering if it isn't a joke. Still Elinor Glyn says it can be a characteristic of the mind. If any of them have "it" that must be what it is. Watch us go.—Reporter.

Service Class Entertained
By Mrs. C. T. Rives

Mrs. C. T. Rives, assisted by her son, C. T. Rives, Jr., entertained the Service Class of the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening of the past week with a six o'clock dinner.

The pretty home was decorated throughout with pot plants, chrysanthemums and autumn foliage.

The three-course menu of chicken and dressing, midnight salad topped with cherries, hot chocolate, angel food cake and ice cream, was served at a table with handsome linen and silver appointments, beautifully decorated in the class colors of red and white, with silver-candles holding red tapers.

Stories and jokes were told between courses, each boy showing his ability in fun making, and after dinner the guests were invited to the living room where they joined hands and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Those present were Howard Chapman, William Clift, Ernest Vanzandt, Jno. Q. McAdams, Roger Robinson, William Dry, C. T. Rives, Jr. and Rev. and Mrs. Hal F. Smith and Dr. C. T. Rives.

Methodist W. M. S. Entertained
At the Skaggs Home

Chrysanthemums and roses added the floral decorations to the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs on last Monday afternoon when Mesdames Skaggs, W. L. Pratt and A. H. Smith were hostesses to the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church when they met in regular monthly social meeting.

Following a short business session an unusually good program was rendered. A piano solo by Mrs. Chas. Chapman was followed by a reading by Mrs. W. D. Sanders, and a vocal solo by Mrs. E. H. Lightfoot. A Bible contest furnished a diversion for the afternoon.

Dainty refreshments of caramel nut cream, lady fingers and salted nuts were passed to thirty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clark
Given Shower

A surprise kitchen shower was given to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clark at their new home seven miles east of Winters on last Monday evening.

About one hundred neighbors and friends gathered in bringing gifts and enjoyed an evening playing various games until a late hour.

Full Story of Ford--

crease riding and driving comfort and safety.

In addition to the freedom from vibration, it is announced that the car is unusually quiet, a great deal of attention having been paid to this feature by Ford engineers. In the engine, the timing gears are made of bakelized fabric, which is much quieter than metal. The cams on the camshaft have been so designed as to prevent valve clicking.

The coach work of the car is as distinctive as its performance. There is a noticeable European touch in line and contour. It is not only designed for exterior beauty, but has, as well, the interior roominess, convenience and luxurious appointments to be found in much higher priced automobiles. On an instrument board of satin finished nickel are mounted the speedometer, gasoline gauge, ameter and ignition lock, with a dash light in the center. The new military-type sun-visor, with crown roof and round corners, are features of the closed models. Unusually narrow pillars and very wide doors and windows give maximum vision. Nickle radiator shell and headlamps further accentuate the exterior attractiveness, while choices of four colors in pyroxylin finish are offered.

Simplicity in design has also been carried to the ignition. There is only one coil, in a waterproof case. There are no vibrators to adjust and no exposed cables to work loose or short circuit from water. The distributor is located in a readily accessible position on top of the engine.

Centrifugal water pump, large radiator and airplane propeller-type fan provide a cooling system which makes the car very difficult to overheat, except from abuse, such as running without enough oil or dry radiator.

From 20 to 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline, depending upon driving speed, is the gasoline consumption announced. Feed to carburetor is by gravity.

The oiling system, also a distinctive Ford design, is a combination of pump, splash and gravity feed. The new transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, with standard shift, three speeds forward and one reverse. The main shaft runs on ball bearings, the counter-shaft on roller bearings and the reverse idler on bronze bearings, a power-saving design unusual on light cars. Shifting of gears is noiselessly and easily accomplished, at the pressure of a finger.

Multiple dry-disc clutch, rear axle of three-quarter floating type housed in electrically welded steel, and spiral bevel gear drive are interesting features. The axle shafts carry none of the weight of the car, the wheels running on roller bearings on the housing. Newly developed springs of the transverse semi-elliptic type and hydraulic shock-absorbers prevent excessive up-and-down movement and remove side sway.

Irreversible steering gear, which prevents shocks from being transmitted back to the hands of the driver, makes handling exceptionally easy. Maximum steering safety is further provided by a gear housing of welded steel forgings, and a steel tube steering column welded into the housing, making a sturdy and exceptionally safe one-piece unit.

Ford-designed steel spoke wheels, completely welded into a one-piece assembly, are provided.

There are six models of the new car. They are the phaeton, roadster, sport coupe, coupe, tudor sedan and Fordor sedan.

Local dealers are preparing for a public reception at their show rooms next Friday, when models of the new line will be shown in photographs and charts. Prices and full particulars are also to be announced on the same date.

Messrs. Nance and Brown inspected one of the new models in Dallas last week, and state the new Ford is a better car than they had hoped for. They also stated that they are proud of the new car and feel certain that its appearance and performance will attract attention among automobile owners.

Mae Murray's Best Since 'Merry Widow'

Not since "The Merry Widow" has Mae Murray had a picture that compared in artistry to "Altars of Desire," in which Conway Tearle plays the featured male role. This new production which was directed by Christy Cabanne will be shown at the Queen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, December 7 and 8.

"Altars of Desire" is a delightful combination of comedy and drama that is never played with a heavy hand. Her Clare Sutherland is a new type for Miss Murray, in that it depends largely for its appeal on subtlety and whimsical situations. The first half of the picture the star plays with a pretty insouciance, and in the latter scenes proves herself an excellent dramatic actress.

Conway Tearle plays the part of John Elrod, a young southerner, who becomes enamored of Clare and against his better judgment. Tearle gives an excellent picture of a man torn between his heart and his mind. It is a pleasure to see this actor in an outdoor part after so many dress-suit roles.

The story is of a southern girl who, on her initial trip to Paris, meets and becomes fascinated by a Frenchman, Count Andre. He pursues her back to America and makes every effort to make her run away with him, finally persuading her to do this during a momentary misunderstanding with John, a neighbor, whom it has long been planned she should marry. Andre, however, shows a bit of honor at the last minute, and confesses that he has a wife in Paris whom he is suing for divorce, though he tries to force Clare to stay with him and promises to marry her as soon as possible. In the ensuing struggle, Clare strikes Andre with a weapon which he has playfully given her to protect herself, and he falls, apparently dead. The following sequence is an extremely dramatic one in which she goes to John for protection, and the denouement comes as a striking climax to the story.

One out of every 354 in Institution Supported by State

Austin, Texas, Nov. 28.—(UP)—One Texan out of every 354 is in one of the institutions supported by the state, the eleemosynary census of the board of control shows.

Total institutional population on November 21 was 14,320. San Antonio, which claims to have the greatest population in the state, can also claim the largest population in any one institution. The state hospital there for mental cases has 2,253 inmates. Terrell state hospital is next, with 2,161 and Austin state hospital is third with 2,151.

Austin leads all cities in combined institutional population. In addition to the state hospital there are 354 in the Confederate home, 100 in the Confederate women's home, 231 in the blind school, 508 in the school for the deaf, 200 in the deaf, dumb and blind institute, and 621 in the Austin state school.

Population of other state institutions is: state orphan home, Corsicana, 559; home for dependent and neglected children, Waco, 139; state training school for girls, Gainesville, 240; juvenile training school, Gatesville, 1,091; Rusk state hospital, 1,293; Wichita state hospital, 1,073; Abilene state hospital, 907; tuberculosis sanatorium, Carlsbad, 439.

Chicago boasts a population of 3,719,910 which is certainly something to shoot at.

I. C. C. Hearing on Freight Rates is Opened at Dallas

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Completion of the taking of testimony in the hearings conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission into freight rates was expected to be completed at the hearing opened here today by Commissioner Thomas F. Woodlock.

Representatives of the various organizations of the cotton industry expect to present testimony showing that rates on cotton are excessive. The cotton growers will save more than $12,000,000 a year if the 20 per cent reduction in rates asked by the cotton industry is granted. The hearing into shipping rates was launched under the Hoch-Smith resolution adopted by congress. The case opened at Atlanta, Ga., October 26, moved to Gulfport, Miss., Nov. 18, then to Oklahoma City. It is expected to be completed here.

Officials of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association will present arguments tending to show the federal rate making body why they consider cotton rates excessive. The case is the most important involving raw cotton that has been heard in recent years and represents the most drastic cut in freight rates ever proposed in the cotton industry.

What' Doing in West Texas

Blackwell—A new and modern ice plant is under construction here. A high line from Bronte has been connected up just recently, giving the town twenty-four hours service and various other improvements are under way.

Sweetwater—The last of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce district conventions for 1927 was held at Sweetwater November 30, when delegates from the Central Texas District convened to hear Governor Dan Moody, principal speaker. Ten other sectional meetings have already been held this year in districts whose host towns were Stanton, Baird, Crosbyton, Childress, Alpine, Cloudcroft, N. Mex., Wellington, Perryton, San Saba and Bowie.

Lueders—Quality production, in poultry and dairying movements of West Texas has been set as a major aim of the new Poultry and Dairy Bureau of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which held its second meeting on November 22 at the river home of its chairman, Col. R. L. Penick. In line with adoption of this action, a general conference of railway agricultural representatives, county agents, officials of the Texas Technological College, feed manufacturers, dairymen and poultry raisers, and allied interests will be called at an early time in the new year.

Stamford—From Florida to Wisconsin, from Old Mexico to Maine, from many points and many places come requests for information about West Texas and about the function and activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. A flood of inquiries are received weekly at the headquarters office here of the regional organization, asking for descriptive literature and for explanation of the function and duties of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The annual motorcade and traffic service activities are among matters about which information is wanted.

San Antonio—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will watch West Texas interests here early in January when its traffic representative will attend the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in this city on the Cotton Seed Case. The hearing was set for San Antonio, following one to be held in Fort Worth
