MORE MONEY TO SPEND

It is good news which comes from the Department of Commerce, that the national income of the people of the United States for 1935 was $53,587,000,000. By "national income" the Department means all of the money that was spent by everybody in the United States. It includes wages and salaries, money spent for the purchase of materials for manufacture, and so on down to the last penny paid across the retail grocer's counter.

This figure is not as high as that of 1929, when the total money which changed hands was estimated at over $78,000,000,000 but it is higher than in any of the three preceding years. The year 1933 was the low-water mark in which only $44,940,000,000 was spent, and in that year a great deal of the money paid out came from previous savings.

There are probably around 50,000,000 persons, men and women, who receive and spend all of the money that is received and spent in the United States. These 50,000,000 carry the other 80,000,000 on their backs. On that basis of calculation, the average cash income of the American family for last year was a little over $1,000 each. The highest it ever reached was a little over $1,500 per family. We never had a total income of as much as $100,000,000,000 in a single year.

Of course, these figures relate only to actual money which changed hands. They do not take into account any of the subsistence which the 6,000,000 farm families got from their own land. If that could be reduced to a cash basis the total and the average income would be considered increased.

From one point of view this national income of a little over $1,000 a year per person seems very low, but it is practically double the average income of the people of England and of France and nearly three times that of the people of Germany and Italy. We feel hard up in America.

THE CONFIDENCE shown in me by the citizens of Runnels county is sincerely appreciated.

Allred Likely to Win In First Primary, Is Report Austin Hears

Austin, July 18.—This sensitive political atmosphere in the State capital is becoming charged with a feeling that Jimmy Allred has a good chance to win in the first primary.

Political aeriels entirely outside the Allred camp have "picked up" radiations of a first primary victory and the campaign leaders are driving hard for that objective as the last week starts.

The argument is this: Allred is a sure shot for reelection. So why not get it over with in July and thus release thousands of persons and many thousands of dollars for the Centennial observances in Dallas, Ft. Worth and elsewhere?

That argument seems to hold water. In a trip over a good big stretch of South and Central Texas you find a few persons who concede any of Allred's opponents a fighting chance to be nominated.

The two questions flung at you are whether Allred will be nominated in the first primary, and, if he is not, which man will have to take the trouble of beating in the runoff. Reports from North and West Texas are the same and Allred is expected to run stronger in those sections than in South and Central Texas.

Guesses on a race for governor are about as good as guesses on a horse race and the touts are even less dependable. But it is being noised about here in Austin that Roy Sandefer is the man to watch most this time. The personable young senator from old Farmer Jim's home town of Temple, has, undoubtedly, gained unexpected last-minute strength.

As to Fischer, opinion here still tends to put him in the second place, but with the reservation that he has been slipping in the last week or 10 days.

However, all speculation about who will be the second man in the first primary was disposed of with a snort by former Attorney General W. A. Keeling when he introduced Allred here Thursday night. "What does it matter who's the second man when there isn't going to be a second primary?" the sturdy old Democratic warhorse challenged—and the crowd roared approval.

Allred himself isn't saying. That is, not exactly. He is wearing a confident smile, hitting hard, making four to six speeches daily, doing a superhuman amount of campaigning and not talking much about the outcome.

He hasn't a doubt in the world that he will be renominated. He is already making extensive plans for work to be done in his second term. He hopes that he can be freed of the man-killing business of a second primary, of course. But he has not quite predicted that.

He is fighting principally to put his official record before the voters, in contrast with claims made by his opponent.

Against what he calls the "magic money" promises, he recalls and reindorses the tax program on which he was elected, and which received the indorsement of the state Democratic convention at Galveston.

He points to the fact that the ad valorem tax has been lowered, lifting a heavy burden from the backs of the farmers and home owners; that the estimated state deficit has been cut in spite of such great appropriations as $3,000,000 for the Centennial

Seminole Farmer Makes Good Profits on Diversified Farming Project

Seminole — C. H. Westcott, Gaines county farmer and farm record book demonstrator, believes in diversified as well as keeping a record of all his farming activities, according to a report of Lee R. Pool, county agricultural agent.

His gross income from January 1 to May 1 of this year amounted to $1,355.35.

From fat yearlings he grossed $425; from culled hens, $12.32; from mohair, $539.35; from cream, $126.95; from maize, $80; from a colt, $100; and from sale of eggs, $71.75.

According to the county agricultural agent, Westcott also put in a trench silo last fall.

and a $2,000,000 per year hike in rural school aid.

In a withering citation of official records, he shows the absurdity of promises being made to the old folks. He recalls that Messrs. Hunter, Fischer, Sandefer and Brooks were in some political cyclone cellar when he was facing head winds in a campaign to get the old age pension amendment passed.

You may be able to make a fool out of a man if you talk to him about geography and physics but once let him drift into the realm of finance, taxation, spiritualism, etc. he knows a lot.

cultural agent, Westcott also put in a trench silo last fall.

If you value your life have yourself examined physically at regular intervals and, if you are strong mentally, let an expert look over your brain work.

When somebody says a lot of smart things you are dealing with a man who reads much or who has a remarkable memory.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE, 92nd District

Determined to Win the Office of Representative!

This is my third time to try to win the office of Representative. I am interested in this line of work, interested in helping the common people and will appreciate a trial. I am from a thinly populated county and that has been my handicap, but, as I am ambitious to go to the top in politics, and must have a start, I am determined to win the office of representative. So if you want me to quit working you for your votes, you had as well elect and give me a trial.

MOTHER! Here are Facts!

To guide your purchase of a Refrigerator!

DON'T CHOOSE BLINDLY

FOR HEALTH—Your refrigerator must maintain safety food temperatures below 50° all the time. Before you buy, be sure it will do this in the hot hours of the summer time, too.

FOR CONVENIENCE—Your refrigerator must be able to freeze ice quickly—must have a high degree of usefulness. Before you buy, be sure it will produce fresh ice during the hot hours of the day.

FOR ECONOMY—Your refrigerator must maintain the above performance at low over-all cost. Before you buy, be sure.

BUY AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

• If you buy a refrigerator that cannot provide satisfactory, economical performance, all the time, you are wasting your money. It is inconvenient to own a refrigerator that cannot freeze desserts or plenty of fresh ice quickly during the hot hours of the day. It is wasteful to own one that has a high initial cost, though little to operate, if it cannot provide satisfactory performance, all the time . . . under all conditions.

Remember this when you buy. All refrigerators cannot provide all three of these basic requirements. Tests prove this to be true by actual use in the home. So don't buy on claims alone. Ask for and be sure you get convincing evidence of value. Only then can you be certain you are getting your money's worth. Choose carefully and you will choose a modern electric refrigerator.
