PROSPECTS LOOK GOOD TO LIONS CLUB MEMBERS

MEMBERS TELL OF PREPARATIONS FOR FALL BUSINESS.

Tuesday's Lions Luncheon was given over to short talks by members who told of preparations being made for a good business here during the fall and winter. Every member of the club was given opportunity to tell of the large stocks being shipped in by his individual institution in anticipation of an extra good business season, or the service given by his concern, and while all realize that crops have been damaged considerably by the recent extremely hot and dry weather, still a good yield of cotton is anticipated and optimism was expressed by every member.

Featuring the entertainment part of the program were two vocal solos by Miss Anita Maddox, accompanied by the piano by Miss Anna Lee Cobb.

County Agent J. A. Barton was a guest of the club, and in a short talk, among other things, said that he was the county agent for the entire county and had no favoritism to show one town or section over the others, but wished to be of help to the entire county. By unanimous vote Mr. Barton was elected to honorary membership in the club and invited to meet with it whenever he was in Winters on Tuesdays, regular luncheon days, J. O. Brown, wholesale and retail agent for the Sinclair Oil Co., was also a guest.

Club members were also pleased to have A. Krauss, who has been ill for the past eight months, in attendance at the luncheon. Mr. Krauss expressed gratitude for the many kindnesses and courtesies shown him during his long illness. While not fully recovered from his illness, Mr. Krauss is slowly regaining his health.

Club president, C. L. Green, was in charge of the opening exercises, while H. O. Jones was toastmaster.

FIRE DESTROYS KEEPER'S HOUSE AT COUNTRY CLUB

PREPARATIONS BEING MADE TO REBUILD AT ONCE.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the keeper's house at the Winters country club last Sunday at 5:30 p. m. The house was occupied by Anthel Fisher and family, who succeeded in removing most of his household effects from the burning building.

Announcement was made yesterday that the loss of the building was partially covered by insurance, and that plans are now being made to rebuild at an early date.

It is thought now that a new site for the keeper's home will be selected, the one now being most favorably considered being just west of the club house, but much nearer the club house than the old site.

COMMUNITY SINGING AT METHODIST CHURCH SUN.

Fort Worth Frontier Centennial Radio Program Over WBAP Last Thursday Is Dedicated to Winters and Ballinger

PUBLICITY WAS MADE POSSIBLE THROUGH THE CO-OPERATION OF THE W. T. CHAMBER OF COMMENCE; WINTERS-BALLINGER DAY.

Through the cooperation of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the local Board of Community Development, Winters was given quite a bit of publicity on the Frontier Centennial Radio program over WBAP, August 13—Winters and Ballinger Day at Fort Worth. The program was broadcast by Mr. Merle Tucker, radio director of the Frontier Centennial.

While the day was designated Winters and Ballinger day, only a few Winters citizens were in attendance. Many have already visited the Frontier Centennial and many others plan to go at a later date. T. D. Coupland, secretary of the Board of Community Development was in attendance.

For the benefit of those who failed to listen in we are printing the program as it was given.

"The Fort Worth Frontier Centennial is pleased to dedicate its program today to two of the most progressive cities of West Texas—Winters and Ballinger.

"An excellent spirit of co-operation exists between these cities of Runnels county during the year, except when the football season starts. Then friendship ceases. Intense rivalry prevails. As many as 5,000 spectators attend the annual classic—Winters vs. Ballinger. The game over, whoever wins, friendship and cooperation are restored for another year.

"It is not too much to say that these cities are in the heart of one of the most compact and diversified farming sections of West Texas.

"Winters may be justly proud of its citizenship. It is composed of 99 per cent Americans, less than 1 per cent being foreign and negro.

"At the risk of being tedious, listen to the exports of this prosperous city of 2,500 population: "192,000 pounds of butterfat, 98,000 cases of eggs, 24 carloads of dressed turkey, 10 carloads of live poultry, 150 carloads of wheat, 175 carloads of maize, 60 carloads of oats, 10 carloads of barley.

"In addition to carload shipment, mill and elevator sold locally more than 100 car loads of feed and ranchers, some buyers coming as far away as New Mexico. In spite of the fact that the cotton crop last year was only 60 percent of normal, 18,000 bales were shipped from Winters.

"And here is one for Ripley. There are twenty-two sets of twins living in and around Winters. As far as the records go, for a city and community of its size, it has the world beat in twin production!

"The citizens are up and coming, buttressed by two of the most substantial banks in West Texas. Good luck, Winters, and make it 30 pairs of twins in 1937!"

Ballinger

"If there is a more wide awake town of 5,000 population in West Texas than Ballinger, it had better speak up. Ballinger is a key town to four State Highways and three U. S. Highways.

"Here is the story of this remarkable city in six paragraphs: "Altitude, 1,660 feet; mild and invigorating climate; beautiful homes, natural gas; electricity; abundant and fine water; a modern and efficient school system; attractive churches; inviting and restful parks, and the city tax rate is only $1.05—Ballinger gets a lot for its money.

"If a tentative plan to build a dam across the Colorado river near Bronte, is carried out, it will impound sufficient water to irrigate 100,000 more acres in Runnels county.

"And say, Mr. Tourist, when traveling through Ballinger around meal time, just stop at the Central Hotel! What food! It's home-cooked. Can't be beat!" "Ballinger doubled its population in 1920-1930 period. The probabilities are that the 1940 census will show a very substantial increase.

"The business men in the various lines of wholesale and retail trade are builders. They are responsible for Ballinger being an excellent trade center and such industries as cotton gins (7 of them), cotton compress, cottonseed oil mill, oil refineries and poultry dressing plants.

"Ballinger more than lives up to her slogan: "Just a Good West Texas Town." It's one of the best, and going strong."

ALL CANNING WILL BE DONE PROMPTLY AT LOCAL CANNERY

Now that the rush has been pretty well cared for at the local cannery, those who have vegetables of any kind will not have to book dates for their canning previous to bringing vegetables to the cannery. Miss Loreta Wallace, who has charge of the plant, stated yesterday that those who have vegetables should bring them in at any time and be assured prompt service.

There has been some misunderstanding about shelling peas. Peas may be brought direct from the patch and will be shelled at the cannery.

ELECTION TOMORROW PROMISES TO BE A VERY QUIET AFFAIR

INTEREST CENTERS IN REPRESENTATIVE RACE.

The run-off primary election, locally, promises to be a very tame affair here, as not much interest is manifested, and what interest is in evidence is centered on the race for State Representative of the 92nd district, being run by Horace B. Sessions, incumbent, of this county, and James M. Simpson, Jr., of Concho county.

Only two run-offs are to be voted on in the state, and they are for the offices of Railroad Commissioner and Commissioner of Agriculture. In the race for Railroad Commissioner, the incumbent, Ernest O. Thompson had a commanding lead in the first primary over his nearest opponent, Frank Morris, and the prediction is being freely made that Commissioner Thompson will be re-elected. In the other state race, that for Commissioner of Agriculture, the incumbent, McDonald, is being hard-pressed by Terrell, who was runner-up in the first primary.

In the race for State Representative, Sessions, incumbent, lead the ticket in the three counties composing the district—Runnels, Coke and Concho—his vote being 3,089. Simpson, runner-up, had 2,265 votes while D. M. West, the eliminated candidate, polled 2,110 votes. Predictions locally are favoring both candidates, however, most people seem to be agreed that this race will be close.

In Commissioners Precinct No. 3, County Commissioner Troy Carter is opposed by Tad Richards. Carter was high man in the July primary with Richards runner-up.

Polling places over the county will be open Saturday, 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. as in the July primary.

ELECTION RETURNS TO BE FURNISHED BY THE ENTERPRISE.

The Winters Enterprise will furnish election returns Saturday night from the run-off primary, but owing to the extremely short ticket the election board will not be created.

The returns will be gathered at this office and given out in the form of bulletins, so if you are interested in the outcome of the election, you are cordially invited to attend the election party.

Owing to the fact that only a few contests are to be decided at the polls tomorrow, complete returns should be available at an early hour Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tinkle of San Antonio are spending a few days here transacting business.

SIMPSON JOHNSON WINS SADDLE AT S'WATER RODEO

Simpson Johnson, 58-year-old ranchman living on the Lail ranch north of Winters, was the winner of a saddle in a calf roping contest in the old men's division at the Double-Heart Ranch rodeo held recently. Mr. Simpson also won a saddle in a similar contest at Stamford last year.

The contest included boys, sixteen years and under and old men, 55 years and above. Mr. Johnson has entered numerous calf-roping contests and two years ago he entered eight consecutive contests, winning seven first places and one second place.

Winning the two saddles has barred him from entering the contests at Stamford and the Double Heart Ranch to compete for the prizes, but Mr. Johnson expects to enter the contests for sport.

Although Mr. Johnson has no need for the saddles, money could not buy either of them as he is very proud of his prizes and expects to keep them as mementoes.

Drought Cattle Invade Capitol Grounds

BISMARCK, N. D. . . . Hungry cattle whose rangelands are now barren dust-covered plains, finally invaded the North Dakota state capitol grounds here last week, nibbling at such sparse grasses as had survived the scorching heat which gripped this state for weeks.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS ELECTED THREE NEW TEACHERS FOR YEAR

DATE FOR OPENING THE SCHOOL IS SET FOR SEPTEMBER 2.

Three new teachers have been added to the faculty roster of the Winters schools to fill vacancies, one in the elementary grades and two in high school, and everything is in readiness for the opening on September 2, according to Supt. E. D. Stringer.

Miss Dorothy Stewart, who holds a degree from Baylor university, will teach foreign language and J. E. Patterson will teach high school math and direct the high school band. Miss Ann Katherine Cooper, who will teach in the intermediate grades, holds a degree from McMurry College.

Activities of the school will begin on September 2, when a faculty meeting will be held at the high school auditorium at 2:30 o'clock. Registrations will be Thursday, September 3, with juniors and seniors registering between 8 and 11 o'clock, sophomores and freshmen between 1 and 4 o'clock. All children of the elementary schools are expected to report to their class rooms Thursday morning, September 3, for books and assignments.

Parents are urged to see that their children register at the time designated for them as no registrations will be made on Friday and all students will be in regular class work on this day. Children should come early and at the time stated in order that all registrations may be made on schedule time.

High school teachers and subjects taught are: T. E. Caskey, principal, math; Bob Fulkerson, coach, history; Amon Johnston, assistant coach, science; J. M. Williams, vocational agriculture; Mrs. C. S. Jackson, English and typing; Miss Meiba Read, English; Mrs. Phil Davidson, English and public speaking; Miss Lucille Galloway, home economics; Miss Dorothy Stewart, foreign language; J. E. Patterson, math.

Teachers in the intermediate grades are R. V. Hardegree, principal; Mrs. R. K. Russell, Miss Mattie Cooke, Mrs. Foy Davis, Miss Volva Sharbutt, Miss Ann Katherine Cooper, Miss Marie Hill.

Primary teachers are Miss Jewell Kilpatrick, Miss Christine Boone, Miss Ruth Woodrow, Mrs. Doris Blackwood, Miss Mayme Gregory and Miss Fannie Lou Stokes.

CITIZENS TALK ADDITIONAL WATER SUPPLY AT MEET

DEFINITE SOLUTION NOT REACHED AT THE MEETING.

Thirty men, including the mayor and members of the city council, met last Friday evening on the lawn at the city hall, at which time additional and better water supply for Winters was discussed.

O. D. Dillingham and O. C. Williams, of the Banner Creameries of Abilene, operator of the Banner Ice Co., here, attending and Mr. Dillingham told the gathering of difficulties his plant here was having in utilizing the present water for ice making and in using it in his chicken feeding plant.

Much discussion of the situation was indulged in by those attending the meeting. Mayor J. W. Copeland stated that the proposed municipal hospital would be disposed of within the next two weeks, one way or the other, and the meeting was adjourned with the agreement to hold another meeting of citizens with the council after disposition of the hospital project.

Practically all of the thirty men in attendance upon the meeting were agreed that the major problem of Winters was the securing of an additional and better water supply and signified their intention of giving serious thought to the problem.

WINGATE WILL CLOSE BALL SEASON NEXT SUNDAY

WINGATE HAS WON 18 OUT OF 25 GAMES PLAYED.

The Wingate baseball club will close the season next Sunday afternoon, when they play the team from Divide. The game is scheduled to start at 4 p. m., and the public is invited to attend the game.

Wingate has had a very successful season, taking eighteen out of the twenty-five games played to date.

Victories won during the last ten days include Bronte, 4 to 0; Maverick, 10 to 1; Divide, 10 to 8; Norton, 8 to 2.

If you like a good baseball game, see Wingate and Divide close the season next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at Wingate.

INFORMATION ON FARM PROGRAM GIVEN BY AGENT

Information regarding the government rented acres was given out this week by County Agent J. A. Barton. Farmers moving to other places are in doubt as to what disposal can be made of crops growing on rented acres, and many inquiries have been made at the county agent's office recently.

Mr. Barton explained that farmers may be permitted to harvest their government rented acres which were planted since July 1, 1936, provided that their feed crop has been unusually or abnormally decreased by drought or other unavoidable causes. Before this can be done, however, a statement must be secured from a member of the county committee.

If any farmer failed to get his rented acres planted before July 1, 1936, he can comply by terracing such land not later than October 1.

Sudan grass can be pastured, cut for hay or seed, turned under or left on the land. Other sorghums may be left on the land and still receive the extra $1.00 per acre and their other soil conserving payments. If Sudan grass is cut for hay or threshed for seed, there is no restriction on its uses. It may be sold or used at home.

No definite information has been given out as to when the land will be measured, according to Mr. Barton, but he is expecting it will be in the next few weeks.

Miss Gladys Riddle, who is special representative of Venia's Almond Beauty Wash and giving demonstrations at Smith Drug Store, is visiting in the home of her uncle, W. S. Riddle, while in Winters.

$41 PRIZE MONEY COLLECTED FOR 1ST, 2ND BALES

JAKE DAVIDSON GINNED SECOND BALE LAST FRIDAY.

Prize money made up by Jno. W. Norman and Louis Johnson last Friday, to be divided sixty-fourth between the first and second bales of cotton ginned here, amounted to $41.00.

Second bale of cotton was ginned last Friday by Jake Davidson. It was brought in by S. S. Childers, who lives on the Ballinger-Crews road. There were 1710 pounds of seed cotton, the lint out-turn being 820 pounds, however, only 585 pounds were put into the bale. Mr. Davidson bought the bale, paying 13c.

Correction

In reporting the first bale of cotton, which was ginned by Co-Operative Gin Co. of Winters, a mistake was made in last week's issue in giving the lint out-turn. It was stated that there were 1680 pounds of seed cotton, with lint out-turn being 466. The paragraph should have read: "There were 1380 pounds of seed cotton, which turned out a bale weighing 466 pounds."

Practically all gins of the city have ginned their first bale of the season, all of whom donate to the owner of the first bale they receive, bagging, ties and ginning. First and second bale prize money was divided, $24.60 to Jake Cortez and $16.40 to S. S. Childers.

The list of those donating to the first and second bale premium fund included:

R. A. Cramer, Winters State Bank, First National Bank, C. S. Jackson, Marshall Grocery, Jeanes Co., Midwest Poultry Ass'n., S. E. Hunt, C. L. Green, Kirk & Mack, The Enterprise, Higginbotham Bros., Smith Drug Co., Geo. T. Rosson, Economy Food Store, Gardner Bros., J. B. Sharp, Owens Drug Store, A. D. Lee, Spill Bros. & Co., Kendrick Motor Co., Jones Chevrolet Co., Bourne Motor Co., Badgett Implement Co., Baker's Grocery & Market, Bishop & McCoy, Main Drug Co., Hickman & Graham, Russell Market, Banner Ice Co., West Texas Utilities Co., Winters Mutual Aid Association, Safeway, Winters Warehouse, Musser Lumber Co., Jno. W. Norman, Winters Cotton Oil Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ganaway and little daughter, Patsy, of Cedar Hill, spent last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gannaway. They were accompanied home by Robert Gannaway and Douglas Roberts of Abilene who spent a few days visiting the Centennial at Dallas.

Mrs. J. S. Aldridge of Plano has returned to her home after spending two weeks visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Kendrick. Mrs. Aldridge is the mother of Mrs. Kendrick.

Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," Portrays Cinderella Story of Rural Boy, Here Sat.

"BORDER FLIGHT," ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE OF LIFE IN AIR CORPS BROUGHT TO SCREEN IN TALE OF WAR ON SMUGGLERS.

A new laugh and love team takes America by storm! Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur in a grand romantic comedy topping Frank Capra's own great hits, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" will be the featured attraction Saturday at the midnight premiere at the Queen Theatre. A war against fur smugglers carried on high above the clouds by members of one of the government's most dangerous-enforcement branches will be seen in "Border Flight" showing today and tomorrow.

"Brides are Like That," First National's latest rollicking comedy romance is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday. Charles Farrell and Charlotte Henry are featured together in "Forbidden Heaven" showing Thursday night only.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town"

Tells the fascinating story of a young man in a small town, Mandrake Falls, if you're curious to know, who falls heir to $20,000,000 left by an eccentric uncle. Longfellow Deeds, the hick, doesn't give a hoot about the money; he wants to be left alone in Mandrake Falls, where he's having a good time playing the tuba in the village band and serving as a volunteer fireman. However, he is brought to New York by his late uncle's attorney and dropped in the midst of a bunch of grafters—the attorney among them who are out to leave Deeds as little of the fortune as possible. Of course, his advent into the metropolis is a field day for the newspapers. One clever editor assigns Babe Bennett, a sob sister, the task of getting the story on Longfellow; she does but she also succeeds in falling in love with him and allowing him to fall for her. Her stories bring much unhappiness and things begin to happen fast. Jean Arthur has the role of the sob sister opposite Gary Cooper who successfully plays the part of Longfellow Deeds.

"Border Flight"

The story is built around the battle of the West Coast unit of the United States Coast Guard air corps to put down the activities of fur smugglers. Two ace fliers of the small corps find themselves rivals for the attention of the same girl. Stunt flying of one of them, happy-go-lucky Grant Withers, brings his expulsion from the service and anger leads him to become a pilot for the smugglers. The peacetime warfare of the air corps with the outlaw band, which has been slipping furs into the country by a boat-to-plane route, provides opportunity for some of the most thrilling aerial shots in film history.

"Brides Are Like That"

In addition to its comedy angle, the picture carries a fascinating romance and a touch of drama. It retains all the humorous angles of the original stage production and has added some more for good measure. Ross Alexander and Anita Louise have the romantic part, the former playing the part of the neer-do-well with a great gift for flattery by which he is enabled to work his way into the good graces of his townsfolk, although it also gets him into plenty of trouble. Alexander handles his part with the same great competence that has characterized all his roles since he recently deserted the Broadway stage for Hollywood. Miss Louise makes a charming small town belle, who loves the great flatterer, but becomes engaged to his rival, when the former is presumptuous enough to buy her an engagement ring without first proposing to her.

"Forbidden Heaven"

Charles Farrell is a well-educated young Englishman, sympathetically concerned with the masses, and he seeks to elevate the lowly lot of his people by winning a seat in Parliament where he can plead their cause. Charlotte Henry is a pretty young American show girl, penniless in London. Beryl Mercer is a kind old woman of rather indeterminate antecedents. Fred Walton is a strange bit of flotsam on the banks of the Thames, an ancient derelict bearing the sandwich sign of a defunct tea room. This strange quartet meets in the forbidden confines of Hyde Park, and their adventures provide the meat for one of the most powerful stories to be presented on the screen in many a day. Their tales are simple and straightforward, but gripping in their dramatic intensity, as each one of them finds true happiness, despite overpowering adversity.

LYRIC THEATRE

"Westward Ho" comes to the Lyric Theatre Saturday for one day only. It is the story of the early movement to California of those hardy pioneers who endured so many hardships in order to gain a foothold in the new-found land of plenty. The plot opens when John Wayne's father and mother are mercilessly slain and his young brother kidnapped by a band of marauding desperadoes. Left for dead, Wayne is found by a wagon-train of settlers and nursed back to health. John takes a solemn oath to find the murderers and avenge his parent's death. Upon reaching his majority Wayne organizes a group of vigilantes called the "Singing Riders" and patrol the trails and protect the settlers against hostile Indians and bandits.

SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRESS REPORTED

Ft. Worth, Aug. 19.—Nearly 49,000 farmers, business men and agricultural leaders visited Soil Conservation Service demonstration projects and ECW camps in Region 4 during the past 12 months, according to a statement on the progress of field activities issued by Louis P. Merrill, regional conservator.

For the most part the visitors to the 20 project demonstrations and 57 soil conservation camps consisted of groups of farmers and land owners who were interested in seeing the complete coordinated erosion program of the Service as applied on the farms of cooperating farmers. Recent surveys throughout Louisiana, Arkansas, and Texas indicate that a high percentage of the total number of visitors returned to their homes after seeing and having complete erosion control program explained to them and instituted similar programs on their own farms.

Other statistical information regarding the field progress of the Region 4 Soil Conservation Service follows: 4,473 farms under agreement; 673,242.0 acres under agreement; 10,101 Soil Conservation Association members; 48,741 visitors to project and camp areas; 18,937.1 acres retired from cultivation; 43,118.9 acres of pastures sodded; 29,188 miles of contour ridges and furrows; 33,379.9 acres protected by strip crops alone; 88,427.3 acres protected by combination of strip crops and terraces.

In addition there are: 5,875.6 miles of terraces constructed; 121,268.3 drainage area of terrace outlets protected; 1,509,091 square yards of terrace outlets sodded; 974.4 acres of meadow strip terrace outlets established; 3,035 acres of timber stand improved; 6,595.1 acres of woodland planted; and 10,911,650 trees planted.

Recipes And Menus

Denton, August 19. — Every efficient housewife has an emergency food shelf. Of course she plans adequate food for the group she intends to serve, but so often unexpected guests arrive, and it is her business to supply sufficient food for the group.

A well planned emergency shelf might contain a small supply of evaporated milk or milk powder, canned meats, fish, soups, fruits, and vegetables. With dried fruits, a small assortment of wafers or crackers, and the usual daily supply of quickly prepared fresh foods, a meal can be prepared on time regardless of interruptions. At least one hot dish should be supplied at each meal. Canned chicken or vegetable soup can be quickly served.

Filled Cookies

1 c sugar, 1-2 c shortening, 1 egg, 1-4 c milk, 1-2 t salt, 1-2 t baking powder, 1-2 c flour, 1-2 t vanilla. Filling: 1 c dates, cut in pieces, juice of 1-2 lemon, 1-2 c sugar. Mix the dough using additional flour as needed. Roll less than one-eighth inch thick. Cut with medium size cutter. In the center of each place a scant teaspoon of the date mixture. Cut out the center with a small cutter less than one inch. Place over the fruit. Bake in a moderate oven. Filled cookies keep very well for several days.

Bacon Omelet

1-4 c bacon cooked, 4 egg yolks, 1-4 c cream, 1-4 t salt, 1-8 t celery salt, 1-8 t paprika, 1-8 t minced parsley, 4 egg whites, beaten, 2 T butter. Beat yolks with cream and seasonings. Fold in whites and pour into butter, heated in frying pan. Heat slowly until omelet has become puffed on top and is brown underneath. Sprinkle with the cooked bacon and fold half over. Cook 3 minutes. Carefully turn onto heated platter.

Corned Beef Sandwiches

One c ground cooked corned beef, 1-3 c salad dressing, 3 T chopped canned pimentos, 1-4 t salt. Mix thoroughly the corned beef, salad dressing, the chopped pimentos and salt. Spread between slices of bread spread with butter. Makes about 1 cup filling and fills from 6 to 8 sandwiches.

Apricot Loaf Cake

1-2 c fat, 1 c sugar, 1 egg, 2-3 c milk, 1 t vanilla, 1 t grated orange rind, 1-3 t grated lemon rind, 1-3 c chopped dried apricots, 1-3 c nuts, 1-3 c chopped candied pineapple, 2 c flour, 2 t baking powder, 1-8 t soda. Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat thoroughly. Pour into loaf pan lined with waxed paper and bake thirty-five minutes in moderately slow oven. Cool and serve, cut in thin slices. This cake requires no frosting.

Lady Took Cardui , When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

PERFORMANCE!

A Good Refrigerator
must . . .

- Keep Foods Safely!
- Freeze Ice Quickly!
- Operate at Low Cost!

FOR TRUE VALUE . . . BUY AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR!

• All refrigerators are not alike. All do not offer the same value or provide the same performance. Neither price nor appearance determine true refrigerator worth. The basic test of any refrigerator is its ability to provide satisfactory trouble-free performance all the time. Many buyers overlook this fact.

Buy your refrigerator this way!

First, and most important, demand that it maintain temperatures below 50 degrees. Many refrigerators cannot. Yet in temperatures over 50 degrees, food spoils quickly and endangers health.

Second, demand that your refrigerator freeze ice quickly. If it cannot, you are not receiving true refrigerator value. You must have fast-freezing ability in summer when ice needs are many and when frozen desserts are an important part of menus.

Third, look for low operating cost. But remember, low operating cost is worthwhile only when the above performance is maintained.

Demand evidence of such performance when you buy. If you do, you will choose a modern electric refrigerator and receive the utmost for your money!

★ MORERNIZE . . . CHOOSE AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR ★

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

There was a chorus of assent and Mrs. Holmes read in the faces before her a unanimity of opinion that dismayed her. "But I'll swear to it," she faltered.

"You've sworn to one story—"

Dimly the woman realized that the promptings of that mother love which had finally assumed shape within her, instead of saving her son had merely served to completely discredit her, and if anything to lessen her chance of assisting him. Again she experienced that wretched feeling of impotence, of frustration. With this feeling the animal in her came to life, blazed into fury.

"You—you fools! You idiots!" she stammered shrilly. "You're doing your best to make a murderess of me. And so is Vogel. But you shan't. He's my boy! I'm a bad woman. I've been a bad mother to him, but he's fine and clean and—you shan't hurt him. He's a genius; he has my talents and his father's. It's not his fault that I'm a vain, selfish old—He didn't send me to the dogs! Publish my story, every word of it! D'you hear? It's the truth and I'll fight you. I'll fight Vogel. You shan't hurt him. You shan't. He's mine—mine." Her voice, which had risen steadily, cracked, became an incoherent cry of anguish. With her clenched fists she pounded weakly at the arms of her chair and her face was horribly distorted.

Efforts to calm her hysteria were futile. Somebody hurried for a glass of water. One of the attorneys drew Hazel aside and tried to tell her something, but she understood nothing of what he said for her own agitation equaled that of Gerald's mother. She clung to the old doorman at her side, sobbing.

"Jacob! Jacob! It's too late. Nobody's going to believe her."

The confusion abated somewhat. A man was telephoning for the house doctor and the reporters were preparing to leave, when Jacob Riggs stepped forward and spoke to Mrs. Holmes.

"Don't take on so, Miz Holmes. Jerry's innocent and I ain't going to let anything happen to him. I know how you feel. It's the same with me and Hazel. She was given to me as a daughter, and according to Ruth 'a daughter is better than seven sons'."

Miss Woods turned her tear-stained face towards the speaker; men who were leaving paused to listen.

"The Lord struck down Amos Ethridge for he was an evil-doer and he delighted in his wickedness. But Jerry wasn't His instrument. He used Jacob, the son of Isaac. Ethridge was a prince of the country like Schechem, the son of Hamor. He saw Jacob's daughter and he took her, and his soul clave unto her. The Bible tells you what Jacob done. Jacob slew him and the Lord was pleased and He told Jacob to arise and go up to—somewhere and build an altar. If Vogel and the policemen had read their Bibles they'd know who killed Amos Ethridge, the son of Hamor, for it's all written down. The proof's there. They can't blame Jerry."

"What are you talking about?" Hazel inquired sharply.

"I'm Jacob!" The old man's answer was broadcast to all his listeners. A peculiar resonance crept into his voice as he quoted; "Break thou the arm of the evil man!" He wrought folly in lying with Jacob's daughter and I slew him—"

"Jacob!" the girl wailed. She hid her face in her trembling hands, for now she understood. To think that even he believed her guilty!

The others were slower, but they, too, finally grasped what it was the old doorman was trying to tell them. They shot questions at him; they scribbled down his answers. Someone dashed to the telephone and put in a call for Vogel. Mary Holmes strained forward, clutching at Jacob's arm; her lips were moving, her eyes were riveted upon his face.

Stripped of its garbled Biblical quotations, the old fellow's story was simple and easy to follow, and it bespoke a mind deranged but not wholly unhinged—the mind of a religious fanatic. Not one of his hearers doubted the truth of his words.

He loved Hazel and he had mistrusted Ethridge; he had moved out to her house in order to watch over her. What he saw had awakened in him a great anger, but he could not make up his mind what to do about it until inspiration came from his reading. He was Jacob, and Jacob, so he read, slew the son of Hamor, for the same sin Ethridge had done. As a mark of approval, God had revealed himself to the slayer and had made him great. Once the doorman had realized that this was a divine command, peace came to his soul and he calmly prepared to obey. He bought a revolver—Jacob told where and when—and on the Thursday night Ethridge had called on Hazel he took the trolley, rode to the end of the line, and laid in wait at a spot where nothing could intervene to prevent him from doing the will of God. But he wore no robe and no disguise. When he had killed Ethridge he laid a cross upon the body and prayed over it, then he trudged all the way back to town—the electric cars had ceased running by that time. At the first bridge on the way back he had dropped his revolver into the stream. Jacob described the exact spot and said the weapon could easily be recovered.

That was about all. He voiced no regrets; on the contrary, he was genuinely exalted and it was plain that he anticipated no punishment whatever for having done God's bidding.

Vogel arrived in due time. He listened attentively to what was told him, then he questioned the old man searchingly. After a while he and Jerry's lawyers left, taking Jacob with them. The newspaper men had gone some time before.

Hazel would have followed them, for she reasoned that Jerry would soon be at liberty and would naturally come directly here, but Mrs. Holmes was wretchedly unstrung and implored her to remain, for a while at least. It was impossible to desert a woman so genuinely in need of assistance until she had time to pull herself together, so the girl stayed.

A really noticeable change had come over Gerald's mother. The process of voluntarily stripping bare her soul and exposing it to the light had served the purpose of cleansing it and purifying it to some extent. She showed it in her words, her actions, in the apprehension she displayed at the prospect of meeting her son. She wondered if he would be harsh with her. She made pitiful, fluttering attempts to better her appearance, but her recent ordeal had left her almost helpless and Hazel was compelled to do the work of her hands.

Jerry arrived before the girl could escape—Vogel, it seemed, was capable of cutting red tape when he felt like it. He entered the room, breathless, radiant. Without a word, except the one cry, "Mother!" he ran to Mary Holmes' chair and knelt beside it. Hungrily she put her arms about him, pressed him to her breast. Her face was glorified with an expression it had never worn before. Its grossness was burned away and in its place shone a suggestion at least of the beauty that had been Maria di Nardi's. She crooned over her boy, she patted and she petted him, stroked his hair and kissed it.

Hazel looked on through a mist of tears. She resisted blindly when, after a while, Jerry rose and took her hands in his. "They told me how you stood by us," she heard him saying. "How you hired those lawyers for me and everything." He ran on with something more, something about demented old Jacob and the necessity of making sure that no punishment was visited upon him, but Hazel understood little because of the roaring in her ears.

Of course Jerry was grateful, she had expected nothing less. She assumed, however, that this meeting must be as distressing to him as to her, and she blamed herself for inflicting this unnecessary pain upon them.

Mary Holmes fathomed the cause of the girl's peculiar agitation and it indicated the change that had occurred in the older woman when she forgot herself and her own concerns sufficiently to say:

"Jerry, dear, we owe everything to this child. She did as much for me as for you. And yet she wants to run away! If you can forgive me for what I've done you can surely forgive her."

"But he has nothing to forgive," sobbed the girl. "That's just it. You don't understand. Nobody understands. If I were guilty I'd deserve punishment, but I'm not. They called me a scarlet woman; they preached sermons about me; they lied and slandered—and they didn't give me a chance to defend myself! Even old Jacob believed—"

Jerry's voice rose above her heart-broken cry and its tone more than his words quieted her. "I never believed it. Why, if I had doubted you, for an instant, I don't think I'd have had the courage to endure what I went through."

"Honestly?"

The young man nodded. In a strangled voice the girl cried:

"Then you've got to hear the real truth. Mr. Ethridge may have been a bad man, but he was good to me. Perhaps he had—ideas about me at first. I dare say he had, but he learned to know me and to respect me. He said he loved me; anyhow he asked me to marry him, and I can show you his letters to prove it. That wouldn't convince other people, but you know he wasn't the sort of a man to marry a girl he couldn't respect. You know that don't you?"

"Yes. But even if it had been—otherwise, it wouldn't have made any great difference so long as you had learned to truly care for me. You taught me something about charity. You proved to me that nothing matters very much if two people really love each other."

Mrs. Holmes nodded vigorously. "Good boy, Jerry! I'm glad you're a man! She's a dear, foolish girl. She thinks she ought to marry you—afraid she can't live this down. But, pshaw! Young people like you can live anything down. The world forgets. It forgot Maria di Nardi and it will forget the girl in the Ethridge case. Maybe it will even forget the 'goose woman,' if she behaves herself. She's going to derelict and—But, for that matter, we're all three derelicts! Isn't it better for us to drift together than to drift apart? Certainly! Afraid she'll ruin your career! Humph! Why, she'll make it—"

The mother ceased speaking, for she realized that neither Jerry nor Hazel were listening to her. They were standing close together and looking into each other's eyes; they were quite oblivious to her presence.

Landon Runs Strong in Straw Vote Poll Being Taken By Weekly Papers of the Nation; Returns Not Complete

New York, August 19.—First scattered returns in the Presidential poll, to reach Straw-Vote Headquarters here this week, score Landon highest in the initial tabulation of the nation-wide weekly newspapers' poll.

Ballots were received and tabulated from 23 states. But votes in sufficient number to actually be considered indicative of what the final returns may show, were available in only five of those 23 states.

Nevertheless, on all returns from the 23 states, as between the two leading candidates only, the ballots show voters' choices as follows:

Landon 54 per cent
Roosevelt 46 per cent

The 23 states from which first scattered ballots were received here for national tabulation are: California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, Vermont, Washington and West Virginia.

Bearing out early surmises of political observers that support of the Union party candidate, Lemke, would come from the small towns and rural America, the tabulations of first total returns from the same 23 states, discloses division of choices in this manner:

Landon 50.9 per cent
Roosevelt 45.5 per cent
Lemke 3.4 per cent
Thomas 0.13 per cent
Colvin 0.03 per cent
Browder 0.06 per cent

In only one state, Michigan of the 23 from which first returns were received here, was the vote of sufficient volume, at this early date, to warrant tabulation which might be considered an authoritative straw which accurately indicates the direction of the August political winds.

The Michigan vote shows:
Landon 45.9 per cent
Roosevelt 45.5 per cent
Lemke 0.43 per cent
Thomas 0.24 per cent
Browder 0.19 per cent

Another distribution of first returns from the 23 states, as between Roosevelt, Landon and Lemke, only shows:
Landon 52.2 per cent
Roosevelt 44.4 per cent
Lemke 3.4 per cent

Poll Wide Spread
The early interest shown in this poll by publishers throughout the country, plus the continued increase in the number of weekly newspapers that are cooperating, by conducting the straw-vote in their territories, indicates most clearly that the final returns in the nation-wide balloting will be the most representative pre-election expression of political sentiment ever tabulated from small towns and rural America in a national election year.

Extra effort has been made to keep this poll non-partisan in every respect. All weekly newspapers, whether they be Democratic, Republican, or Independent in policy, have been invited to join in on the poll. Hundreds of them are now conducting their local polls. They will then forward their ballots to the national headquarters.

Maize Root Rot Demonstration at Rowena Aug. 22

Saturday morning, August 22, at the farm of Frank J. Gully, 1 1-2 miles east of Rowena on the Olfen and Rowena road there is being called a meeting of all farmers who are troubled with "Maize Root Rot."

This meeting is called for 8:30 a. m. and will not last over an hour, according to J. A. Barton, Runnels county demonstration agent.

On the farm of Mr. Gully is a clear-cut demonstration on the resistant of certain maize seed to overcome the maize disease. This demonstration is so plain and outstanding that County Agent Barton states that he is very much interested in every farmer who is troubled with this disease to come and see for themselves the great difference in this resistant maize as compared to native maize.

Maize Root Rot was first observed at Garden City Kansas Experiment Station back in 1929 and at that time the Superintendent of the Station, F. A. Wagner, at once started the selection work that has resulted in nearly a complete resistant to our maize troubles in this county as shown in this demonstration on the farm of Mr. Frank Gully. According to Mr. Gully, he obtained 4 pounds of this resistant maize from the Kansas Station in 1935 and planted it on his farm which proved to be entirely resistant, and then again he secured 4 pounds for 1936 planting and this last planting is the demonstration that the field meeting is being called.

In this demonstration 4 acres of the Kansas Station Maize is planted along side about an acre of the native maize, all planted the same day, worked alike, same land, and every farmer who is troubled with maize root rot is invited to attend this field demonstration and see for themselves the great difference in these two maize plots.

Runnels county farmers plant from 50 to 55 thousand acres of maize each year, and produce around 500,000 to 600,000 bushels of grain, and one can readily see that this maize root rot, which has destroyed around 20 per cent of the crop for the last two years is of tremendous importance to farmers of Runnels county.

WINTERS V. A. BOYS MAKE LONG TOUR

Members of the Winters Future Farmer chapter returned recently after a seven day trip covering over thirteen hundred miles of Texas and New Mexico territory. The boys traveled in three cars, carrying their bedding in a trailer. The tour was given a rousing send-off as the boys visited the Centennial Exposition in Dallas on their first day out of Winters. Exhibits of every nature were there to add to the boys' entertainment while the great mid-way, with its various attractions, did much toward relieving the burden of carrying a large pocket book. The Centennial trip was climaxed with a visit to the agricultural division of the show. The boys will long remember the animals seen in these exhibits. The huge buffalo that was so determined to see that her offspring was not harmed—the old Texas steers with a yard or so of horns—South Texas cattle with their backs constructed somewhat like a camel—and, to cap it all, a milking parlor where the cows were milked, the milk weighed, strained, cooled, and bottled without as much as a glimpse of the air about us. All of these processes took place under glass and the final product represented the cleanest milk that money can buy. After the livestock visit came Cavalcade, a show the boys will never forget. 500 actors took part in this great play that gave us the historical background of our great state. This was a fitting climax for the day's visit. The boys spent the night near the Centennial grounds, within a circle of automobiles under the blue skies, where they probably dreamed of the old wagon trains and midnight attacks by the Indians. On our second day, the group of boys were the guests of Swift & Company in Fort Worth. The day included a visit through the stock yards, where the boys saw cattle, hogs, and sheep being bought by packers and other buyers from the commission men. A visit through Swift's Packing plant where slaughtering, butchering, and processing of meat and its products, takes place. At noon, the group was given a luncheon at the expense of Swift & Co. The boys enjoyed the lunch very much but a few of them did not care so much for the meat portion of it after seeing such an amount during the morning.

The third day saw our caravan move to Spur, Texas, where one of Texas' largest experiment stations is located. The boys made the trip around the farm, observing the many experiments that are being carried on. Experiments of special interest included the one on contouring of pasture land, where two thirds more grazing has been realized from the contoured strips. The erosion strips where the amount of soil loss is measured from strips of various slopes. And the two hundred acre field that utilizes the water from a 1200 acre pasture with the use of syrup pan terraces. The latter experiment was by far the most interesting spectacle to be seen. The water is secured from the pasture land by means of a large level terrace and diverted onto the experiment plot. Each of the terraces on this plot is constructed level with the ends left open so the water may continue from one terrace down to the next. In this way, the entire field is flooded with water. The value of such a practice can be shown by observing the great difference in this experiment plot and the land just across the fence that has not received such treatment.

On the evening of the third day, the boys were in Lubbock where they visited Tumble N swimming pool. From Lubbock, they continued on into New Mexico and arrived at Carlsbad for a trip through the caverns. The boys traveled the 6 1-2 miles distance of the cavern without any difficulty and all reported an enjoyable trip. They did not, however, expect such a hole in the earth as they found that day.

After the trip through Carlsbad Cavern, the boys made the journey back to Winters by way of Pecos, Midland, Big Spring, and Abilene.

The group of boys were accompanied by J. M. Williams, V. A. instructor, Walter Lee and W. S. Proctor. Boys included Ellis Lee, Merle Proctor, Gerald Proctor, Cecil Vinson, Frederick Stephens, Leland Mills, Weldon Mills, Frank Brown, Franz Belitz, T. J. Adams, Virgil McDaniel, Willis Davis, Eugene Hope and Grady Baker.

NOTICE
The Dale Home Demonstration club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Adams on August 27th at 3 o'clock. All members of the club are requested to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Edwards of Akron, Ohio, came Monday for a visit in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Dixon. They will visit with relatives in Tahoka and the Centennial in Dallas before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Irvin and children, Elowise and Thomas, returned last Saturday from a visit to Bartlett. They also visited her father in Jackson, Mississippi before returning home. It was the first time they had been together in several years.

Uses Want-Ads

If The Winters Enterprise had been published back in the old days, a famous Greek legend would never have been written. Old Diogenes would have put up his lantern, spent his evenings playing pinochle and found his honest man in a jiffy with a two-line Want-Ad.

For The Enterprise Want Ads are like the famous Mounties. They invariably "get their man"—which means that they do what you want and expect them to do. If you're trying to sell your furniture or your home, if you are looking for a renter or a roofer, if you want to buy a business or a band-wagon, remember that a Want-Ad will find your man and do the job for you quickly, easily, economically.

SOCIETY

Unique Social at Country Club by Methodist W.M.S.

A unique social was sponsored by Mrs. W. A. Pace, assisted by Mrs. Lula White and Mrs. Chas Chapman at the Winters Country Club Monday afternoon for the Methodist W. M. S.

The large comfortable and cozy room was decorated with colorful crepe myrtle, queens wreath, canna sand dusty millers. The table in the center of the room was covered with a pretty crocheted cloth and centered with a basket of pink crepe myrtle and dusty miller.

A program was given as follows: "The Way of the Cross" by Mrs. W. A. Pace who asked questions on the subject which were answered by Bible verses which she had previously handed to the guests; a trio, "Take Time to Be Holy," by Misses Mary Lou Fields, Estelle Baldwin and Leona Inman; a one-act play, "The Guide Post," by Vivian Cryer and Estelle Baldwin; two impromptu songs, "Old Black Joe" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" by selected groups with Mrs. Chas Chapman at the piano; an impromptu debate "The Dishrag and the Broom," Mrs. Wm. Stevens, the affirmative and Mrs. Ella Ritch, negative.

Delicious watermelons were served to Mesdames Lula O. White, A. D. Lee, E. N. Miller, B. F. Guin, John Denton, Lula O. Dailey, D. Y. Taylor, C. F. Maddox, Guy Mullins, Ella Ritch, Chas. Chapman, W. A. Pace, M. E. Leeman and Ann, F. F. Bennett, Homer Marshall, A. B. Carter, E. L. Crockett, W. T. White, Wm. Stevens, Misses Estelle Baldwin, Vivian Cryer, Mary Lou Fields, and Leona Inman.

Mrs. J. A. Click and children of San Angelo visited her mother, Mrs. J. R. Burton and other relatives in the Harmony community the first of the week.

Epworth League Monthly Meet at Ballinger Tues.

Regular monthly meeting of the Epworth League was held in Ballinger last Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church. The program was given by the Winters chapter.

"Scripture" was given by Lazzelle Ashley; Solo "Saved by Grace," by Hally Hallawager; A talk on "Leadership Training," Mary Lou Fields. The program was concluded by a one act play entitled "The Guide Post" given by Henry Mann and Estelle Baldwin.

After the business hour the group was led to the basement of the church where Ping Pong tables and other recreational games were in wait.

Sandwiches, cookies and punch were served to twenty-eight representatives from Winters, eight from Pumphrey, and eleven from Ballinger. The chapters that were absent were sincerely missed and it is hoped that each is present at the next meeting with at least 150 representatives.

Telephone Group Holds Outing at State Park Sun.

Holding their second annual picnic, employees of the Southwestern States Telephone company of the Ballinger District, gathered Sunday at the Abilene State Park for the day.

The group met at the telephone office at Buffalo Gap at 9 o'clock and went to the park for the picnic lunch and watermelon feast, which was followed by swimming and games. S. A. Bowman gave the noon invocation.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Canady, Frances Lewis, Ophelia Haynes, Thelma Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Melton and children, Oleta and Homer, Jr., Mrs. Grace Thomas and daughter, Marie and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McConnell and Ben Harris of Talpa; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Melton and son, Robert Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mayfield, Eugenia Manns, Vera Boone, Doris Dunn, of Winters. Invited guests were Miss Ruby Garrett of Coleman; Harlan Thomas, Harold Canady and Miss Fay Canady of Ballinger; Miss Johanna Taylor of Sonora; Miss Marion Hamilton and Mrs. Howard Poe of Winters.

J. V. Carwile and Mrs. Lackey Are Married Saturday

The marriage of J. V. Carwile and Mrs. Lillie Lackey was performed Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of County Judge Paul Trimmier in Ballinger. The only witnesses for the ceremony were Mrs. D. W. Duncan, sister of the bride and Mr. Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carwile are both well known in Winters and are sales people in Higginbotham Bros. store. They have lived here for many years and are held in the highest esteem by all who know them.

The couple will make their home on the Hillyard farm just north of town.

FOR HOME OR BUSINESS
Pattern 8732: This frock has a way of "fitting into the picture," whether at home or in the office. One must admit that it looks business-like in its clean cut well-defined proportions. And still its obvious that there's the dash and modishness required in youthful styles. Therefore we class 8732 as a heavy odds favorite to please all style conscious, activity minded women. With notched lapel-type collar and 3-button yoke opening, one sees instantly the utility of this frock. Short sleeves with turn back cuffs, the narrow belt, affords use of distinctive buckle of your own preference. Skirt lines are good. Center panels front and back ending with popular action pleats. Two useful pockets at either side give balance and smartness to the frock.

An Enduring Value

In a time of shifting values, there is one which does not change, and that is the value of character. It is a solid rock against which the storms may beat, but which they can never damage.

We have always endeavored to make The Winters State Bank an institution of strength and character, and want to deal with people who also believe that character is important.

If you have no banking connection, come in, and perhaps we can form a lasting relationship which will be mutually agreeable and profitable.

TRY A SIDELINE SURVEY

Going down to the depot to meet a friend from the West, I found he had miscalculated his time of arrival, so there was an hour to wait. Ten years ago this would have annoyed me. In those days I felt that my time was very important; delays made me impatient, and the inefficiencies of other people ruffled my disposition. Since then I have travelled around the world, spending several months in the Orient where time means nothing, and where the philosophy of the people has best been expressed by old Omar Khayyan:

"And fear not lest Existence closing your Account, should lose, or know the type no more;
The Eternal Saki from that Bowl had pour'd
Millions of Bubbles like us, and will pour."

It was in the morning, when commuters were pouring through the station. Half of them—the younger half—leaped off the trains and jog-trotted toward their offices, their face set and straining. By getting up ten minutes earlier they could have taken a train that would have allowed them plenty of time. Most of the older commuters had learned this. They had learned also that ten minutes out of a single life is relatively unimportant in the eternal scheme of things.

Another interesting experience was to watch the reunions of travelers and the relatives and friends who had come to meet them. By and large, people are not very good looking; they are marred by many defects. Yet these folks, rather dull and scared and commonplace, rushed into each other's arms and cries of "darling" and exclamations to the effect that "you are the most wonderful thing in the world."

A grand and appealing thought it is that no man or woman is so ill-favored or unimportant but that there is some one somewhere to whom he or she is beautiful. One of the finest lines in all literature is: "He setteth the solitary in families."

DON'T SHOUT FOR BOLTS

Meeting my old friend Strickland Gillilan, the humorous philosopher, I asked: "How are things going?" This was his answer: "They are going the same as ever, which is to say, swell. Of all men living, I have the most unique and interesting source of income. I live on bolts from the Blue. If ever the good old Blue runs out of bolts I will be ter from an editor ordering a 'piece,' and the Gillilan family is safe for another while."

CONSUMER CO-OPERATIVES

We have been hearing a lot lately about Consumer Co-operation, and it seems likely we shall hear a great deal more about it when the American Commission, appointed to study the workings of European co-operatives, returns and makes its report.

Many persons who have seen the reports of the wonderful success of cooperative retailing and purchasing associations in Great Britain and Scandinavia, wonder why they have not been equally successful in America. Part of the answer seems to be that, up to now, our people have not been bound by circumstance or environment to a fixed station in life or a permanent place of residence. Another is the American tradition of individualism, of every man for himself, which negates most cooperative efforts.

Nevertheless, many recent developments indicate that consumer cooperation in America seems to be working out well. This is particularly true in numerous cases where consumer groups have united to buy their gasoline cooperatively. Many cooperative retail stores in several different parts of the country are also thriving.

HONOR IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE

Every little while the cables carry a bit of news from England which reads strangely to Americans. Such, for example, is the report of the dismissal from office of Sir Christopher Bullock, permanent secretary of the Air Ministry, because he had attempted to use his official position for his personal benefit.

"What does a man take a government job for if not for his personal benefit?" is the natural question of any American familiar with our political methods.

We look upon all public office as political. The British system leaves the Civil Service entirely out of politics. Cabinet members are, of course, politicians; but the men under them, who actually run the affairs of the Empire, are what we would call "career men," who cannot be dismissed so long as they do their work, never for political reasons, and who make administration their life work. Nobody asks in England whether a public servant belongs to this party or to that. He is above and outside of party and political influences.

In his official conduct, moreover, he is bound by a code of honor which though unwritten, is as rigid and as high as that of the Army and Navy. Never, by word or act, may the British Civil Servant violate that code. Especially he may not use his public office as a springboard from which to jump into private employment.

Sir Christopher Baldwin was tried and convicted of "interlacing the public negotiations entrusted to him with the advancement of his personal interests," which, the trial board pointed out, was completely at variance with the tenor and spirit of the Civil Service Code.

Perhaps, some day, we shall succeed in America in establishing an equally high standard of honor and devotion to the public interest. The present Civil Service system in England was established about 100 years ago. Previous to that, graft, inefficiency and partisanship were even more prevalent than they have ever been in America. The British Civil Service had an uphill fight for many years.

ADVERTISE TEXAS ON FIVE-YEAR PLAN GAINS MOMENTUM

LIEUT. GOV. WOODUL SUGGESTS CAMPAIGN FOR TEXAS.

Advocating a five-year state advertising campaign, Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul, who is chairman of State Centennial Commission of Control, which has in charge the Texas advertising and publicity campaign conducted this year, has started the ball rolling in the right direction to increase the population of Texas and develop the vast natural resources of the state.

Below we are printing a statement issued recently by Mr. Woodul in which he declares that Texas must continue to advertise in order to obtain the fullest benefit from the current campaign.

"During 1936, tourists have flocked to Texas until transportation, feeding, sheltering and entertaining them have become one of our best-paying businesses. Such business would be sadly missed if it were to end—particularly since Texas' great need in further developing industry is increased population and capital. Texas could accommodate one-third of all the Nation's people and still not be as crowded as, for instance, Ohio.

"Says Printers' Ink, a leading monthly: 'Texas has merchandised herself—merchandised herself with advertising, for which funds were appropriated by her legislature. And she has seen ripping results.

"And now, in the Texas Weekly, Booth Mooney urges that after the Exposition closes, the advertising go on. 'The advertising given Texas during the last several months,' he writes, 'is of inestimable value.'

"Texas has acquired the momentum; and when something the size of Texas starts rolling, Mr. Momentum-Observer, then you've got something!"

"The world has learned that advertising pays. Texas this year is the talk of the nation and, from reports, her investment will be well repaid in increased gasoline taxes, not to mention the hundreds of other indirect and lasting benefits. No state or country has the advantages, resources and possibilities to capitalize on through advertising and publicity as has Texas. Look at the phenomenal growth of Florida and California and what has been done for those states.

"Population is shifting. Farmers are seeking new and more virgin lands; industry is decentralizing; and the tourist crop is the bumper crop. Old man Texas can set on his haunches, let nature take her course, and increase our population and development ten per cent in ten years; or he can bestir himself and acquaint the world of his wares and increase the state's population twenty per cent in five years. And such an accelerated growth would help the farmer, the laboring man, the manufacturing industries in Texas, bring in new industries, increase the prospects of everyone, including the newspaper publisher, because a twenty per cent increase in circulation would be helpful, not to speak of increased advertising in their columns due to expanding consumer markets.

"Texas is so large and her possibilities are so varied I feel the state should undertake a five year advertising and publicity program of not less than a million dollars a year. The direct return from increased gasoline tax would more than repay the investment. To do this will require a constitutional amendment and I shall propose, urge and work for same at the coming regular session of the legislature to the end that Texas may speedily make the most of her possibilities.

"By advertising herself, Texas has had the world singing 'The Eyes of Texas are Upon You' this year, but after this year, will other states be saying that Texas was 'Cinderella for a day?' When the silk flags have ceased fluttering along the Esplanade of State, when the Casa Manana show is over, when the last Centennial-year visitor has had his look at the Alamo and the missions and the Valley, what is going to keep up the Texas advertising bombardment? The Texas that has started rolling with 1936?

"Texas must find the answer while the ten-gallon hat is the hat of the hour. Otherwise, invaluable State progress will be lost, and next year the traveling and investing public will be talking about some other state and some other Fair. I believe the answer is to be found in a high-powered five-year advertising plan. A daring, fore-sighted million dollar a year advertising program would keep the Texas advertising fireworks crackling—business men recognize that it infinitely more simple to keep a project rolling and crackling than to let the momentum die and try to re-capture it again later.

"Leaders of Texas industry have indicated that such a plan would drive Texas forward by leaps and bounds the next five years—as fast in five years as it would normally develop in twenty-five.

"Texas, being the biggest state in the nation and consequently having far more sections, more business opportunities and more tourist attractions to glorify, needs to top the list of state advertising appropriations. It is generally known that Texas is as large as four or five other states combined, but, for instance, how many people know that our Valley has more fruit trees than has either California or Florida?

"Attention would be called nationally to the economic possibilities of Texas' unmined deposits of sulphur, quicksilver, coal, lignite, clay, salt, lime, granite, brim stone and natural gas.

Money should be spent producing expertly written and well illustrated literature dealing with Texas' agricultural, industrial and tourist advantages and other valuable booklets as follow-up data, market analysis, etc. Also, this would enable the state to help specific industries as citrus growers, rose culturists, pecan growers, tomato growers and others get started in promoting co-operative advertising and marketing programs to promote the sale of their respective products.

"All in all, five more years of 'Centennial growth' would be a rich prize for Texas. Farmers would have more sales for their products, and get better prices. Industrial expansion would mean more outlets for the fruit grower, the rose grower, the spinach grower and the cattle rancher. Resort spots, as Mineral Wells, Marlin Wells, Davis Mountains, Glen Rose, Lake Worth, Lake Dallas, San Antonio, Kerrville and the Gulf Coast, would enjoy a boom. City dwellers would be benefited by the increased purchasing power of the State.

"Texas' Five Year Advertising Plan" Would keep the Centennial thunder roaring, and Old Man Texas' tourists right in his own corral."

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, August 19.—All the gold in the United States is now in the possession of the Federal Treasury. There are $10,000,000,000 of it. Gold is worth $35 an ounce, so that there is a total of 285,742,857 ounces of gold owned by the United States Government. This figures out at 17,858,928 pounds, or almost 9,000 tons.

Those figures are of immediate interest in Washington, because this whole 9,000 tons of gold is just about to start on its way from the vaults of the Treasury and of the Federal Reserve banks to its secure hiding place in the great new gold vault which has been constructed at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

The problem of transportation has given the Treasury considerable concern. If this 9,000 tons of gold were to be shipped in ordinary freight cars of the standard capacity of 30 tons, it would make a train of 300 cars.

That isn't safe enough, however, so specially designed armored freight cars have been provided. These will be coupled into trains filled with armed guards, and it is expected that more than 50 such trains will be required to move the nation's treasure to its new home.

Reason for New Vaults

There are two reasons why the gold reserve is being stored in Kentucky. One reason is that the gold storage vaults in the Treasury at Washington and in the Federal Reserve banks are overcrowded. The most important reason, however, is that this is a measure of military preparedness.

Washington and New York, military experts believe, are too exposed to attack from a foreign power in case of war. While the chances are greatly against any successful raid upon the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, yet that is a possibility, and for years the military and naval authorities have been urging the concentration of gold and of basic industries in the Mississippi Valley, between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, to make them more secure in time of war.

Whether the United States can avoid being dragged into another general European war is a hotly debated question. That Europe will be at war within two or three years, even although the Spanish situation may not be the immediate precipitant, is now generally believed here. The hard-boiled and somewhat cynical observers of long experience feel certain that, whatever our present intentions, America cannot help being involved if the expected war should drag on for a year or two.

War and Currency

There is pretty general agreement that one effect of war in Europe would be world-wide currency inflation. Indeed, the international armament race has already resulted in greatly increasing the demand, and consequently the price, of a large list of commodities required by armament makers. Industrial production and consumption of goods is rising steadily.

Nearly all European nations are financing their deficits by inflation of bank credits. Thus all of the world's moneys have a lower purchasing power, measured by the gold standard, than they have had at any time since the great inflation of the German mark in 1920-21.

While the neutrality laws passed by Congress last year are an effort to prevent American bankers from financing a foreign war, the latest reports indicate that there are more than $6,000,000,000 of foreign money invested in American securities, which the governments of the various countries involved could commender and convert into dollars, thus enabling them to purchase war supplies here in our own money.

Anything like a United States government loan to a foreign nation for war purposes is prohibited under the Johnson Act, to any nation which has not settled its obligations to the United States. It is anticipated here that the impending war situation may result in offers from some of the larger European nations to settle their debts remaining from the last war on some compromise basis. No serious move in that direction has been made, however.

World Market Changes

The whole problem of international relations becomes more complicated as nation after nation makes further efforts to become self-contained, and to compete in world markets with commodities in which the United States has long held the dominant position.

Up to a very few years ago, America was the world's principal source of supply of cotton, for example. Normally, 60 per cent of our cotton goes to foreign markets. Taking the average of the past ten years as a basis, however, India has increased its cotton production six per cent, the Egyptian cotton production has gone up 18 per cent and Brazil has made the amazing increase of 216 per cent in its cotton output. In the same period the production of cotton in the United States has decreased by 26 per cent. These are the ratios for the last crop year, compared with the ten-year average.

Now come reports that Mussolini is planning to develop cotton production on an enormous scale in Ethiopia. The problem that confronts America, then, is how to find new uses for cotton inside of the United States, while fighting to retain and regain its foreign markets in the face of this enormous increased competition.

So far as the foreign trade in cotton and other commodities is concerned, economic experts say that the only permanent solution would be the equalization and stabilization of all the currencies of the whole world. It is obvious, they say, that cotton which has to be paid for in high-priced dollars cannot compete with cotton produced with low-priced Indian rupees or Brazilian milreis.

Log Roller Challenge

SEATTLE . . . Miss Lydia Passos (above), is a log roller in her own right and even though elected "Queen" of Lake Sammamish for 1936, she's issued a challenge to all male log-rolling champs to come on and just try to dump her, during the annual festival.

Our Speed Girl

BERLIN, Germany . . . Here's a picture of the United States' flying speed girl, Helen Stephens of Fulton, Mo., who broke the world's record for women in the 100 meter dash in 0:11.5 seconds, to win the Olympic crown.

WHEW!! . . . but Stylish

NEW YORK . . . These August style shows of furs are this year testing the staying-powers of beautiful models. The luxurious evening hood of imperial silver fox, as worn by Miss Rose Walker, above, is mighty fashionable for the new season . . . also plenty warm to exhibit in the August heat.

Hypnotism Baby

COLUMBUS, O. . . . Above is a 10-pound girl whose mother volunteered to be hypnotized by Dr. A. H. Kanter, to relieve the pain at her birth. Dr. Kanter says the method of hypnotism at childbirth is widely practiced in Russia and that he will experiment further here, but it can only be successful when the expectant mother is willing to be hypnotized.

SAGA OF AN EMPIRE AT TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Dallas, Aug. 19.—The Cavalcade of Texas, saga of the building of a mighty empire from a "wild and barbarous land," recreates the splendor, courage and faith of the past at the Texas Centennial Exposition. Top from left to right, Phil Lerner as Stephen F. Austin; the landing of the Cavalier Le Sieur de La Salle at Matagorda; Sam Houston, Texas Liberator, played by Paul Moore; second row, grand finale on the largest stage in the world; stage coach of the early pioneers; bottom row, the Battle of the Alamo; John Christopher Columbus Hill before General Ampudia at the surrender of the Mier Expedition; and Neila Goodelle, singing star, going native on the Cavalcade set with a Chief of the Tejas Indians.

Acting P.-M.-G.

WASHINGTON . . . William W. Holmes (above), is now acting Postmaster General to fill the vacancy brought about by the resignation of Postmaster General Farley. Mr. Holmes was first assistant postmaster general to Mr. Farley.

New Furs Arrive

NEW YORK . . . This coat is for sports or about-town and one of the new tunic-length furs for the season ahead. It is black Persian. The four flap pockets, the belt and the buttons are of heavy black calf, a new touch for fur treatment.

Who's Sister

NEW YORK . . . American Olympic mermmaids to Berlin will get their daily workouts in the pool abroad the S.S. California enroute to Germany in a new swimming harness which Katherine Rawls, national U. S. Medley champ, is lacing on Erna Komp. It is a "teetering" harness which will permit a dozen swimmers to workout all at once.

Jacqueline's Dad is 82

GRADYVILLE, Pa. . . . William Mathus, 82 years old (above), might well claim a record of some kind as he holds his new 1-month-old daughter, Jacqueline, in his arms. Mrs. Mathus is 40 and the mother of seven children, the oldest of which is 16 years.

Demands Soft Seats

WASHINGTON . . . A. F. Whitney (above), president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, has filed a complaint with the ICC on behalf of 128,000 trainmen, charging that the seats in all locomotives are too hard. He demands spring cushions, foot warmers and arm rests.

Centen's Sweetheart

SAN ANTONIO . . . Janice Jarrett, this town's model beauty, has been commissioned the "Sweetheart of the Texas Centennial" by Governor Allred, to rule during the celebrations now under way.

Old Glory at Berlin

BERLIN, Germany . . . Here is a picture of the American flag, Old Glory, as she was run to the top of the pole in the American section of Olympic Village which houses Uncle Sam's champion athletes to the world's greatest sport festival.

Tires of Hero Role

LONDON . . . Gordon Dick, 36 (above), a traveling salesman going his placid way a fortnight ago, has found the role of hero rather trying. He is the man who knocked the gun from the hand of the assassin, now charged with threatening the life King Edward recently.

First Texas Commodore Since 1844

The title of Commodore has been revived in Texas as an honorary title on the staff of the Governor, with the first commission of this rank since 1844 going to David S. French, assistant to the president of the Chrysler Corporation. Presentation was by Ginger Rogers, twinkle-toed motion picture star from Texas, who holds the title of Admiral in the personnel of the military force that was merged into the United States Navy at annexation of the Lone Star Republic in 1845.

Chained Sons to Post

DENVER . . . His boys, Jimmie, 12, and Wayne, 10, would not mind him or their mother, said Ray Hamblin, 42-year-old Brighton WPA worker, above, and as both he and his wife had to work, he chained them to a post in the basement of their home. . . . The court fined him $50 and 60 days in jail.

Ohio River Queen

HAVENWOOD, W. Va. . . . Kitty Belle Foulk of Wheeling, W. Va. (above), is to reign as Queen Daphne over the annual Ohio River Festival, here, September 5-6-7. She will rule over a court of fourteen Princesses representing as many cities, located from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati.

Farm Boy Mercy

LINCOLN, Nebr. . . . Because members of Shirley Temple's family think Sterling Powell, 16 (above), farm boy of Grant, Nebr., is only an impulsive and imaginative youth, they have suggested to Federal authorities that he be prosecuted for writing a threatening letter demanding $25,000.

Genius Grows Up

NEW YORK . . . Back in 1922, Miss Natalie Crane of Brooklyn (above), was hailed a child poet genius at 9. Now Natalie is 23 and this fall goes on the lecture platform to fulfill the literary promises of her childhood.

New Fabrics Feature Fall Fashions

HARMONY

Mr. and Mrs. Chod McKee and little son, Jack, of Mabank, Mrs. W. T. Brennan of Stubbs, Mrs. C. S. McKee of Dallas, visited their brother, D. B. Wright and family and other relatives here last week. Mr. McKee is a nephew of Mr. Wright. They all had a very pleasant visit and like the West fine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Attaway and little daughter, Mr. E. D. Attaway, Mrs. V. A. Brown and children of Winnsboro, have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laird. Mr. Attaway and Mrs. Laird are sisters of Mrs. Frank Laird. This was Mrs. Brown's first visit to the West. She was well pleased with the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis' little boy is reported on the sick list. Hope he soon will be well. The Baptist meeting closed at Harmony Wednesday. Brother Cooper did some good preaching which was enjoyed by all who attended. There were several additions to the church. The farmers are busy cutting and hauling in their feed. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cole and children who have been on a bit down in South Texas have returned.

Miss Edna Atnipp of Ballinger is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Smith. She is a sister of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Allie M. Brooks, who has been spending the summer months with her mother in Cisco, was here Thursday making preparations for the opening of her school supply shop just off the campus. She will return the first of next week and will open her shop at the beginning of school.

Mrs. Emma Speer of San Antonio is here at the bedside of her son, Edwin Speer, who is quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meredith and daughter, Ruby Faye of San Angelo and Weldon Sudberry went to Dallas Tuesday for a few days' visit at the Texas Centennial.

Misses Evelyn and Elizabeth Best returned home last week from a month's visit with relatives and friends in Oklahoma.

CARD OF THANKS I express my sincere thanks to friends who extended courtesies to me during my recent illness. Especially do I thank those who helped with my crop.—Bill Turk.

HON. W. MARCUS WEATHERED VISITS MASONIC LODGE HERE

TWENTY-TWO LODGES REPRESENTED AT MEETING.

Hon. W. Marcus Weathered, Grand Master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Texas, paid an official visit to the Winters Lodge No. 743 August 10, and addressed the Masons of this lodge and the surrounding territory. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Winters high school.

The Grand Master made a splendid address and brought out some of the beautiful thoughts of Masonic symbolism hidden in the mysterious origin of the Ancient Craft.

Other noted Masons present were Right Worshipful Jim White of Colorado, Texas, member of the Committee on Work of the Grand Lodge of Texas; Right Worshipful C. C. Kincaid of Hylton, and W. H. Cochran of Bronte, District Deputy Grand Masters of the Seventy-eighth and One Hundred and Fifty Masonic Districts, respectfully. They were accorded the honors due their exalted positions. Past District Deputy Grand Masters A. E. Story of Miles, W. B. Halley of Ballinger, Jim White of Colorado and R. G. Rosse of San Angelo were also introduced at the meeting.

Seventy-two members, representing twenty-two different Lodges were present. Of special interest on this occasion was the presence of thirty-two Past Masters and Masters of Lodges.

GREATER VARIETY OF MAGAZINES AT THE FREE LIBRARY

The magazines donated to the Winters Free Library last Tuesday by Mrs. Gladden Bedford will enable us to furnish readers with any sort of magazine chosen because in the 33 magazines we find a greater variety than the Library has ever before been able to furnish its readers. Each patron who wishes a magazine to read should be able to find some they want among these. Already over thirty readers have signed the reader's agreement which accompanies each box of books loaned to us by the State Library. We have had these books only during a part of the month. The most popular books are two for children and have been read by seven boys and girls already. "Frawg" and "Angus and the Ducks" in large type and fully illustrated are the choice of the smallest readers. This library needs at least fifty such books while we have less than ten that are suited to the youngest readers' requirements.

The care and appreciation that the children show for these books justify the effort to furnish them with something they can read and enjoy.

Library hours are from 2 to 6 p. m. each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and every reader is invited at those hours to make selections for reading.

RETURN FROM VACATION Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilkinson returned home Saturday from a vacation tour to Seattle, Washington and by Canadian Steamer to points of interest in Alaska. Enroute they visited Salt Lake City, Yellowstone National Park, Glacier National Park, Coolidge Dam, returning home down the Pacific coast to San Francisco, San Diego, Los Angeles through Arizona and entered Texas at El Paso. They report a delightful vacation.

Mrs. R. F. Shaffer, a former resident of Winters, now living at Sweetwater, was a guest Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hall.

LOCAL TEACHER TO RECEIVE M.A. DEGREE FROM SIMMONS

Among the forty-nine students to be awarded degrees from Hardin-Simmons University at the close of the summer term, one local teacher, Miss Mattie Cooke, will receive her master of arts degree.

Miss Cooke has been a member of the faculty in the local schools for several years and has achieved her masters degree by taking special work through the summer. She is majoring in education and minors in mathematics and English.

RETURNS HOME

Vernon B. Campbell, who had been in a sanitarium in San Angelo for the past two months, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home here. He is improving slowly from a serious illness which followed an operation for the removal of his appendix.

Mrs. Carl Carr of San Angelo is visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Goets returned home Wednesday, after spending several days in San Antonio and other South Texas points. While away they also visited the Centennial celebrations at Fort Worth and Dallas. Mr. Goetz said yesterday that in no part of the state, he had visited were crop prospects any better than in the Winters country, and in most of it conditions were much worse.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Strother and family are in Dallas transacting business and taking in the Texas Centennial Exposition.

Mrs. Mattie George of Sweetwater was a guest Wednesday in the home of Mrs. D. Mitchell.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HEAR REV. M. C. BISHOP SUNDAY

REV. J. W. JOINER IS CONDUCTING REVIVAL AT MASON.

Rev. M. C. Bishop, Baptist minister, will fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Joiner, who is conducting a revival at Mason.

Rev. Bishop has recently moved to Winters and is engaged in the grocery business. He will be remembered here by the elderly citizens as he made his home in Winters many years ago. Everybody is invited to come

TO THE VOTERS OF TEXAS

I take the liberty of handing you herewith some reasons why I favor Geo. Terrell for our Commission of Agriculture. Having had the unusual experience of having served the State in the capacity of the Pecan work under the appointment of Fred Davis, Geo. Terrell and J. E. McDonald, I favor Mr. Terrell because of his good moral character, honesty of purpose, his knowledge of the law concerning his duties and responsibilities. He is morally clean in both his public and private life. The citizenship of the State can point with pride to Geo. Terrell as a worthy example in of-official life; to the youth as an example worthy of their emulation.

The office of Commissioner of Agriculture is of greater importance to the citizens of the State than Governor or any other office in the gift of the people. — J. H. BURKETT, Clyde, Texas. (Adv.)
