COTTON PICKERS ARE IN DEMAND IN WINTERS SECTION

PICKERS, PULLERS ARE PAID 75c AND 50c HUNDRED.

Practically all farmers seen on the streets of Winters these days are seeking cotton pickers, as hundreds of bales of the fleecy staple are open and farmers are anxious to get it gathered before rain comes.

While there is no accurate check on just how many pickers are needed here, from the scramble to secure them, it seems safe to estimate that several hundred hands would encounter no difficulty in securing employment.

In some parts of the territory the crop is not turning out so good, owing to the extreme hot weather, a large section of it will average a third of a bale to the acre, and several are estimating that local gins will receive between 12,000 and 15,000 bales. This estimate does not take into account the cotton that will be handled by gins located at Wilmet, Norton, Wingate, Drasco and other surrounding communities.

Prices being paid for gathering cotton here are 75c per hundred for picking and 50c per hundred for pulling.

ASPERMONT MAN INSISTS HE "FEELS ALL RIGHT," DIES

Ft. Worth, Sept. 8.—S. W. Rash, 52, Aspermont automobile dealer, told an ambulance driver to "turn this car around and let's go back." He came to Fort Worth with a load of cattle and suddenly became ill.

"I'm feeling all right," Rash insisted. The driver decided to carry his charge to a hospital for a check-up, anyway. When he arrived, Rash was dead of a heart attack.

Relatives were to arrive today to claim the body.

S. W. Rash, mentioned above, was the father of T. E. Rash, of this city, local salesman of the West Texas Utilities Co. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Rash left early Tuesday for Aspermont to attend the funeral.

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF MRS. HENSLEE ELECTED GOVERNOR

ARIZONA'S GOVERNOR-ELECT WAS BORN IN TAYLOR CO.

R. C. Stanford, governor-elect of Arizona, is a brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henslee of this city. Relatives at Buffalo Gap were notified of his successful campaign Wednesday morning. The governor-elect's wife was the former Miss Ruth Butcher of Buffalo Gap, daughter of Mrs. M. T. Butcher, pioneer resident of that section of Taylor county.

Yesterday's Abilene Reporter gave the following account: R. C. Stanford was born Aug. 1, 1879, at Buffalo Gap, a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Stanford, who settled in this section in 1878. Dr. Stanford was a pioneer physician.

The governor-elect of Arizona was only a few years old when his parents moved to Abilene, and he attended his first school here. He was ten years of age when the family moved to Arizona.

R. C. Stanford was educated in law, a graduate of Stanford university.

Although he and Ruth Butcher were born in Taylor county and played together as children, they did not remember having met when she went to Fresno, California, in 1905 for a visit and was introduced to him at a ranch where he was working during vacation. He subsequently set up a law office in Bisbee, Arizona, and came to Texas for her, the

Extension Entomologist Suggests Fall Clean-Up of Cotton to Prevent Weevils

College Station—"To reduce the number of boll weevils in the cotton fields next year every farmer should plow up all cotton growth as soon as cotton picking is complete," says R. R. Reppert, Extension entomologist.

"Cotton boll weevils feed only on green cotton and develop only in green cotton squares or bolls. Killing cotton growth early thus removes the food of the weevil. If the growth is entirely killed as early as two weeks before frosts, practically all weevils will starve before going into winter quarters.

"Absolute lack of food for only a short period during the active season, that is previous to killing frosts, will cause death from starvation. If allowed to

GINS ARE RUNNING AT FAST CLIP HERE AS COTTON ROLLS IN

2,291 BALES OF COTTON GINNED HERE TO DATE.

As more pickers drift into the Winters country, local gins have been operating at a fast clip during the past seven days, during which time 1,478 bales of cotton have been ginned.

According to figures gathered yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, 2,291 bales had been ginned in Winters from this season's crop, and as more pickers become available, this figure is expected to grow rapidly each day.

Two figures were quoted here yesterday for cotton seed. The market price was said to be $31 per ton, however, local gins were paying $35.00 per ton. Middling cotton was quoted at 12.20, with strict middling bringing 13c.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson and little daughter, Wilma Jane, spent the week-end visiting relatives in Anson. They were accompanied home by Mrs. J. D. Foy, mother of Mrs. Johnson, who is spending the week in the Johnson home.

couple marrying at Buffalo Gap on December 26, 1907.

Stanford is a former superior judge of the state of Arizona and a veteran of the Spanish war. He ran second in the 1934 race for governor, in a field of four candidates. He has a law office in Phoenix, with his oldest son, Riley, Jr., as an associate. Mr. and Mrs. Stanford have five other children.

reach the dormant state, weevils can live several months without food, and it is these over-wintering weevils that breed and supply the next season's hordes," he added.

"A total destruction of the plant substance is not necessary nor desirable," Reppert warned. "All our soils need this organic material returned for continued profitable production. It is enough in the matter of weevil control that the plant merely be killed. "Often a plow set shallow to clip the tap roots just below the surface of the soil is a successful practice. Merely chopping or clipping the stalks will not answer, because the stumps will throw out new growth ideal for weevil food," he concluded.

WINTERS SCHOOLS ENROLL 700 PUPILS DURING FIRST WEEK

NINETY-FOUR RURAL PUPILS ARE RIDING BUSES.

With a total of 700 children enrolled the first week of school, class rooms in every department were practically filled to capacity. Others are expected to enroll just as soon as the cotton picking season is over. High school has 270 students; elementary grades, 234, and 196 in the primary grades.

There are two buses running each day with a total of 94 children from the rural communities riding into school. Probably others will start in the next few weeks.

The school board recently elected Miss Sara Lou Stevens of Coleman to fill the vacancy in the primary department made by the resignation of Mrs. Doris Blackwood. Miss Stevens is a graduate of Texas Tech, majoring in primary education.

COLEMAN STARTS WORK ON WATER PROJECTS TUES.

Ground breaking ceremonies for the first of a series of 12 dams to be built in Coleman county by the Central Colorado River Authority, were held Tuesday morning, two miles south of Gouldsburg.

The Coleman band furnished music, and representatives of Coleman and Santa Anna Lions clubs and the Coleman Kiwanis club made talks. Public officials and members of the state water board were guests.

J. W. Cox was donor of the first 30 acres of land for the lake site, with other residents of the area adding gifts of land. The dam, to cost $14,000, is a works progress administration project, the WPA to furnish $9,000 in labor, and the authority, as sponsor, the remainder in materials and supervision. One hundred men have been assigned to work on the project.

GYPSY SMITH TO HOLD MEETING IN ABILENE OCT. 11

Gypsy Smith, world famous evangelist, who for sixty years has been holding Missions throughout the world, is coming to Abilene for a two-weeks intensive evangelistic campaign. The Gypsy, who was born in a gypsy tent in Eppingham Forest, England, has this year celebrated his Diamond Jubilee there, being congratulated by King Edward, the Archbishop of Canterbury, David Lloyd George and many other notable men prominent in state and religious circles for the marvelous career which has taken him from the surroundings of the gypsy tent and placed him among the outstanding preachers of his time. He is the original Gypsy Smith, the name having been given him when he first started his work under General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. Abilene and West Texas in general are particularly fortunate in securing the services of this man who for so many years has been trying to raise the standard of Christian living. His preaching methods are sane and winsome and through all the stress and strain of public speaking he still retains a sweet and appealing singing voice with which from night to night he delights his audiences with special solos.

The meetings in Abilene, sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance with all the Protestant Churches co-operating, will be held in the Automobile Exhibit building at the Fair Grounds from October 11 to 25th, inclusive. Arrangements are being made by the building committee to comfortably seat five thousand people. Microphones will be installed to send the Gypsy's voice clearly to every corner of the room. Various committees have been appointed and the organization work for the Campaign is going forward to make this meeting one that will leave its mark on West Texas for many years to come.

E. Edwin Young, Dean of Fine Arts of Hardin-Simmons University, Chairman of the Music Committee, who was for twelve years associated with Gypsy Smith is campaigns here and abroad as pianist and director of music, promises a great chorus choir to be composed of the church choirs and the choral clubs of the colleges.

The Ministerial Alliance of Abilene extends a hearty invitation to all West Texans visiting the Dallas Centennial and the Frontier Centennial to avail themselves of the privilege of hearing this great evangelist enroute. Their desire is that the message and influence of Gypsy Smith be extended beyond Abilene and its environs.

Mrs. John Plexico of Brownwood, who was a delegate here Wednesday to the Brownwood Presbyterian at the First Presbyterian church, was a guest in the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Lindley.

Search Begun For Oldest Terraces by The County Agent

Where and when were the first terraces in Runnels county built? County Agent J. A. Barton is anxious to locate the farm having the oldest terraces in order to study the effects of terraces over a long period of years and to compare the productivity of land protected by terraces with fields exposed to erosion.

1930 census gave Runnel county 316,672 acres of cropland and it is estimated that 90,000 acres of this land have been terraced under the supervision of county agents. These terraces have been constructed largely with farm power and often with home made drags. Many hundreds of these acres have been terraced without any cash outlay. In recent years the county commissioners have used road machinery to build terraces on many farms. The cost of terracing with heavy machinery is usually below $1.00 per acre.

In the early years it was difficult for the county agents to persuade farmers to build terraces. Here and there a few far-sighted men agreed to use their farms as demonstrations. Before long the neighbors could see the improved crops growing in the fields where terraces protected the rich top soil from gullying and sheet erosion and hold the water on the land until most of it was absorbed.

Information in the form of a letter or a visit to the office about these old terraces will be given to the newspapers as they are collected.

BLIZZARDS ARE ROUNDING INTO SHAPE RAPIDLY

FIRST GAME FRIDAY, 18, WITH THE HAMLIN PIED PIPERS.

Fierce blocking and hard tackling has been stressed in workouts this week, in an effort to round the Blizzards into top shape for their first game of the season, with the strong Hamlin Pied Pipers, on September 18.

Thirty-three boys have been going through paces each afternoon under the close supervision of Coaches Bob Fulkerson and Amon Johnston. The team this year is much lighter than in the past and is therefore going to have to depend on speed and brains mixed with a fine team spirit instead of beef and brawn as in the past.

Much of the success of the team will depend on the returning 8 lettermen, plus some fine recruits who have been showing lots of hustle and plenty of promise.

The lettermen returning are Bill Rogers and Grady Baker, ends; Pancho Chavarria, tackle; Clois Mapes, guard; Riley Jackson, center; Buddy Ramsel, quarter; Homer Hodge, triple threat full back; and Chas. Gardner, a great little blocking right half. Squadmen are Sherrill Oliver, left half; Cecil Wood, tackle; Lawrence Jennings, guard, and Ellis Lee, fullback.

Some of the new men showing much promise are Bud Wheeler, who is waging a merry fight for a starting berth at center; Bridwell and Wheelless, scrapping light-weight ends; Green and Cook, ends; Briggs, W. Mills, Overton, and Allen, tackles; Moreland, Adams, Belitz, Lacy and L. Mills, guards; J. S. Brown, center; R. L. Woods, D. Rogers, Phelps and Law, halves; Nitsch, full; and at quarterback J. Duncan and Huelan Partain, a new boy, who has been showing much promise as a broken field runner.

"Princess Comes Across" With Fred MacMurry and Carole Lombard Coming to the Queen

ZANE GREY'S "DRIFT FENCE" IS THE CURRENT ATTRACTION; SPLENDID PICTURES BOOKED FOR LYRIC ALL NEXT WEEK.

Mystery and romance on the Atlantic is unfolded in "The Princess Comes Across" which comes to the Queen Theatre first time Saturday night, 11:30, Sunday and Monday. Fred MacMurry and Carole Lombard, the perfect sweethearts, are teamed again in the week-end features. There's gunplay, cattle-rustling, hard-riding and hard fighting action as a background for the tender romance in "Drift Fence," Paramount's film version of Zane Grey's thriller of the same name which is now showing. Pat O'Brien and Josephine Hutchinson in "I Married a Doctor," a gripping story of life, is the attraction booked for Tuesday and Wednesday. Myrna Loy in "Whipsaw" is the feature for Thursday only.

At the Lyric Theatre good pictures are booked for all week with Richard Dix in "Special Investigator" showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and "The Jones Family in 'Educating Father'" coming Wednesday and Thursday.

Midnight Prevue

Two murders in mid-Atlantic and the high-powered sleuthing of five international detectives are merely minor incidents in the plot of "The Princess Comes Across," which is showing for the first time at midnight Saturday night, Sunday and Monday.

The picture is essentially a romantic comedy bringing together Fred MacMurry and Carole Lombard for the first time since their smashing success in "Hands Across the Table." In a story perfectly fitted to their type of romance, the pair clinch their positions as today's "number one screen sweethearts."

They fall in love as the picture opens, when there is conflict as to which shall occupy the ship's suite of honor. Before the liner has docked at New York the romantic tale has been punctuated by two murders, much snooping by five international detectives, and an expose of the real identity of the "princess."

The story has suspense, music, laughs and romance. It has Alison Skipworth outdoing herself; William Frawley, and a host of other good supporting players. But most of all, it has the unusual natural charm of the team of MacMurry and Lombard.

Showing Today and Saturday

Stirring drama, such as one has come to expect of a Zane Grey story, characterizes "Drift Fence" the new Paramount action picture which is showing at the Queen Theatre today and Saturday. It unfolds a colorful story of the days when desperadoes ruled the Arizona cattle lands, and refused to let big ranchers confine their herds within fences.

No one is more adept than Zane Grey in presenting primitive struggles of the vanished frontier days of Arizona. And "Drift Fence" is one of the most engrossing stories that has come from the pen of this wizard of Western tales. Adventure, romance, and humor are skillfully blended in this danger-bristling melodrama.

Interwoven through the fast fight-it-out action is a romance between the ranger and the sister of the young rancher out to protect his grazing rights.

With its cattle stampedes, broncho-busting scenes, and the mounting thrills of the bitter duel between law and outlaws, "Drift Fence" is rich in exciting entertainment.

"I Married a Doctor"

A stirring drama of small town bigotry and intolerance, the Warner Bros. production, "I Married a Doctor," opens at the Queen Tuesday for a two-day showing.

The picture is based on a novel by Sinclair Lewis which caused a furor throughout the country by exposing the cruelties re-

Mary Ellen Twitty, a ten-year-old Dallas lassie, was feted by the Texas Centennial Exposition because she was the 3,000,000th visitor. tant from the attitude of self righteous small town people who judge others by their own narrow standards. It is said to be filled with pathos and tragedy and dynamic scenes, enlivened by romance, sparkling dialogue and comedy.

Pat O'Brien and Josephine Hutchinson have the romantic leads, he being a country doctor who takes his city bred bride to his small home town where she immediately arouses a jealous and bitter antagonism among the women because their husbands and sweethearts are attracted by her beauty and wit.

Thursday Only

Adventure and romance, drama and comedy, are deftly blended in "Whipsaw," which brings Myrna Loy to the screen in a new hit with Spencer Tracy as her co-star.

The picture is booked for Thursday only at the Queen Theatre to take its place among the more important new season screen offerings.

Seldom has Hollywood given American theatregoers a more happily mated team of stars than Miss Loy and Tracy. The latter has a role in which his delightful brand of egotism and bombast is tempered with an entirely human romance.

AT THE LYRIC

Fierce conflict between a girl's loyalty to her gangster brother and her love for a man sworn to stamp him out, provides an exciting, suspenseful romance between Margaret Callahan and Richard Dix in the latter's new picture, "Special Investigator." The husky star portrays a gangland lawyer whose brother is slain by racketeers. The RKO Radio film unfolds his dangerous adventures when, in a white heat of contempt for himself and fellow criminal lawyers—who indirectly caused the slaying by helping the killers beat their raps on previous cases—he ejects all his mobster clients, and becomes a G-man special investigator to avenge his brother's death.

The lovely brunette Miss Callahan appears as the sister of the mob leader Dix is seeking. Happier and Scrappier than ever, the Jones Family, Hollywood's hilarious incarnation of the average American family, comes to the screen of the Lyric Theatre Wednesday and Thursday in a new hit that definitely marks the Jones as one of the screen's most prize possessions.

The biggest thief is one who robs another of joy.

Horticulturist Gives Tips On Preparing For Garden

College Station—"Fall gardening is a waste of time and effort unless the soil is thoroughly prepared," J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist, said recently.

"Most gardeners go wrong in turning under a growth of weeds and dried up spring vegetables. Cutting the weeds and throwing them over the fence before plowing is the first step toward a successful garden," he added. "Turned-under weeds heat and dry out the soil above and prevent thorough cultivation.

"In most barn lots at this time of the year there is a layer of tramped manure that has dried out, losing the acids that burn plants. After the garden has been plowed, spread a coating of one to three inches thick of this 'summer manure' over the surface, then rebreak the ground or disc and harrow it until it is well mixed into the soil. This 'spongy' material will greatly increase the water-holding capacity of the soil and prevent it from packing. When fall rains come, the garden soil handled in this way will be ready for planting.

"It is often hard to get the fall crop of potatoes to come up even when there is enough mois-

Hereford—Ted Rohrbach, wheat farmer in Deaf Smith county, harvested 2,400 bushels of wheat on 300 acres of a dry land farm, according to C. E. Marcum, county agricultural agent.

Rohrbach states that strip cropping, border planting and contour farming made this harvest possible. Rohrbach planted alternate strips of grain sorghum with wheat and along the borders of the field he planted grain sorghum as a protection against dirt that would blow from the neighboring field. He states that his land has in reality been enriched rather than eroded during the last 12 months.

New Braunfels—After using his trench silo for four consecutive years, Herman Mittendorf, farmer from the Watson community in Comal county, is of the opinion that the trench silo is the best thing a farmer can have, according to a report of George B. Ehlinger, county agricultural agent.

Mittendorf constructed the first trench silo in Comal county four years ago after an inspection of one at the Luling Foundation Farm.

This Comal county farmer finds that silage is valuable not only for his cattle but for his horses and mules. He uses some cottonseed meal in addition to the silage in feeding his work stock.

Conroe—"Cleo Calaway of the Willis 4-H club in Montgomery county has found it pays to grow vegetables at home," says Miss Lela Mae Fortenberry, home demonstration agent.

One bushel of certified Irish potatoes costing $3.28 planted on one-half acre brought $32. Fifty pounds of onions were grown for home use. Garden seed and plants costing $3 furnished vegetables to fill 160 containers which are valued at $30.

Dickens—From seed sowed in February, Mrs. J. J. Griffin of Dickens county has nearly a solid turf of Bermuda grass on her lawn, according to Miss Clara Pratt, home demonstration agent. The grass has been mowed regularly and that has helped it to spread.

The lawn was plowed and leveled before the grass seed was sowed. As another part of her yard improvement program, Mrs. Griffin planted native shrubs and trees, and these are growing nicely.

Mason—"In order to make my new linoleum wear better, I have built up the surface with several coats of wax," says Mrs. Henry Kettner, kitchen demonstrator for the Crossville home demonstration club in Mason county.

"Old linoleum can be made to look like new by applying two coats of floor enamel and then waxing in the same manner as for new linoleum," she added.

THIRD INSTALMENT

SYNOPSIS . . . Silas Spelle, high-handed, low-principled cattle baron, is out to smash the local bank and force foreclosure on the small ranchers of the Kanab desert country so that he can seize their range lands. He is opposed by Ed Starbuck, president of the Cattlemen's Bank and by San Juan Delevan, prominent rancher who has been crippled by a fall from his horse. Tex Whipple and his partner, Johnny Clehoe, are cowpunchers employed by San Juan Delevan to fight the rustlers and protect his interests.

"Better make the most of it lil' skates," cautioned Tex. "Gosh knows when yuh'll get any more."

As soon as it was light enough to read sign Tex got busy. First he rode in a wide circle about the Springs, peering closely at the dust and sand of the desert floor. Johnny followed closely at his heels. They completed a circle of about a mile when Tex pulled up and while rolling a smoke peered with keen eyes out to the northwest.

"Delevan had the right hunch," he drawled. "Waffe an' the rest of those coyotes double-crossed their own boss."

Johnny, who had learned a lot about reading sign from Tex, nodded.

"Yep. They jest cut out ninety or a hundred haid an' headed 'em northwest with two men on the drag. The rest they took on to the Box D. They cooked up that yarn about rustlers as a blind an' figgered the wind would wipe out the tracks before anybody could prove 'em a liar."

"Shore, yuh're learnin' son. Lemme see, Wade an' his gang musta left Skeleton Springs about noon yesterday. The tracks show that's about right. That gives 'em about seventeen, eighteen hours start. They can't drive them cattle any too fast 'cause that long drive in to the Springs musta had 'em pretty well fagged. I gotta hunch we can ketch 'em. C'mon."

At noon Tex halted enough to loosen the saddle girths for a moment while he poured a mouthful or two of water from a canteen into the crown of his hat and let the thirsty broncos wash the dust from their throats and nostrils. Then the cinches were taken up again and the steady grind resumed. At about three in the afternoon Tex rose in his stirrups and pointed ahead. There—maybe five miles distant, lay a drifting cloud of dust.

Tex increased the pace perceptibly and an hour later he and Johnny came to the edge of a wide dry lake, across the middle of which weary, thirsty lines of Hereford cattle slowly filed. In the rear, hazing the cattle onward, two men were riding, swinging the ends of lariats across the backs of laggards, fighting the inevitable slowing down of the herd.

"Caught 'em," rasped Tex thru cracked, dust-caked lips. "Reckon mebbe we're in for a fight, son. O' course they may run for it, but I don't think so. Well, get yore hawg-laig loose in the lether."

Tex and Johnny lifted their broncos into a gallop and pounded down across the quarter mile which separated them from the rustlers and the cattle. So absorbed were the rustlers in their work they did not guess at their pursuers' proximity until hardly fifty yards separated them. Then one of them happened to turn and look back. He shouted to his companion, jerked out a gun and wheeled his horse to one side.

"Watch yoreself, kid," yelled Tex. "I'll take the one on the right."

Both the rustlers were shooting now. They were desperate, tired men, their nerves on edge from weariness and bodily discomfort and faced with the knowledge that they were caught cold with the stolen cattle in front of them. To surrender was to put their necks in a noose. They would fight it out.

Johnny picked his man and went at him on a run, leaning low over his bronco's neck. He heard the whisper of flying lead above him, but he held his own fire until not twenty yards separated him from the rustler. Then he reined his horse to a sudden stop, sat up straight and loosed two careful, deliberate shots. In the interval between his first and second shot something lifted his sombrero from his head. But he did not flinch, determined to make the most of his careful shooting. Harum-scarum as the plan was it worked. With the second report of Johnny's Colt the rustler stiffened and pitched headlong from his saddle.

Then Johnny turned to see how Tex was making it. A gulp of fear rose in his throat. Tex's horse was down and kicking. Tex himself lay, half sat to one side, but shooting deliberately. The second out-law was backing his horse away, holding the rearing animal's head and neck before his body as a shield. Johnny gave a yell and dug in the spurs, racing in on the rustler at an angle. Johnny was shooting now, trying to draw the outlaw's attention from Tex. He succeeded but found himself suddenly clicking the hammer of his gun on empty cylinders.

Realizing his predicament Johnny kneed his horse away, snicking back the loading gate and punching out the empty shells as he rode. Quick to grasp his opportunity the rustler poised himself for a careful shot at the fleeing Johnny. For a split second the rustler was stationary and Tex, now on his knees and aiming carefully over his left forearm, pulled the trigger on the last loaded chamber in his gun. Close on the heels of Tex's shot came another. But the rustler's bullet went wild for he was already falling from the saddle, shot in the temple.

Johnny whirled his horse about and galloped back relieved to see Tex rise to his feet and come limping forward.

"Yuh dang fool kid," barked Tex wrathfully, though he knew the wrath was merely a cloak to deepest emotions. "What's the idee o' yore chargin' in thata-way with an empty gun? Wanta get yoreself salivated?"

"Shucks," muttered Johnny. "How'd I know yuh w'nt hit? Yuh was down w'nt yuh? An' him afannin' at yuh all the time? What did yuh want me to do, sit back an' lead the cheerin' section?"

"Well," growled Tex. "Yuh might have some respect for my feelin's. If I'd o' missed him he'd o' got yuh shore."

"Mebbe — mebbe," grinned Johnny. "But believe me I was skedaddlin' to beat hell."

"Where's yore hat?" demanded Tex irrelevantly. "I suppose yuh rode right up to that other jasper an' slapped him in the face with it?"

"Nope," retorted Johnny. "He lifted it off with a .45 jest before I plugged him. Well it looks like we done got a herd o' cattle an' two daid rustlers on our hands, Tex. An' they's two broncos for yuh to take yore pick of. I'll round 'em up for yuh."

While Johnny was busy with his errand Tex rolled a cigarette with shaking, fumbling fingers. He was blinking his eyes rapidly to keep back the moisture.

"Yuh dang, helter-skelter, loyal, gutty young cub," he muttered. "What would I do without yuh?"

Then he blew his nose loudly and set to getting his saddle off his dead bronco.

Tom Burney, book-keeper of the Cattlemen's Bank in Carillion, stared in a stunned, horrified, apathetic sort of a way at the doorway leading into Ed Starbuck's private office. Sprawled on his face across the sill was Ed Starbuck. His one arm was out-stretched before him and a few inches in front of his extended fingers lay the heavy revolver the old man had not been swift enough to use. A little pool of crimson was beginning to spread on the floor near one shoulder of the still figure.

of a rattlesnake about to strike. A thread of pale smoke was trickling above it. Two shots and two men dead! A muscle twisting shudder rippled through Burney's body. He could feel the great blobs of sweat gather on his forehead. In a purely mechanical manner he started to lower his right hand to brush the moisture away.

"Keep 'em up!" came the harsh command. "Ain't there anything but damn fools in this place? Move over to that cage door and unlock it. Keep yore hands in plain sight. One phoney move an' there'll be three dead men instead o' two. Hurry up!"

Moving with the mechanical stiffness of an automaton Burney walked jerkily to the cage door. Burney was a mild little man, totally unused to scenes of violence; supremely contented with his position amid his endless columns of figures. What had just taken place had filled him with dread and horror and had stunned all thought and initiative.

Beyond the barrier the bandit who had done the shooting kept step with him. When Burney lowered his hands to the lock the bandit jabbed his gun through the bars until the muzzle nearly touched Burney's throat. The latter retched slightly. The stink of powder gas was strong in his nostrils. His fingers fumbled at the lock. The door swung back.

Lithe as a weasel the bandit was inside, his gun buried deep against Burney's side. The second bandit crowded in at their heels.

"Now the vault," ordered the killer. "Don't tell me yuh don't know the combination."

"I—I know it," mumbled Burney.

"Get busy then."

Burney bent over the combination. His fingers, fumbling and clumsy, twirled the dial. Once he overshot a number and spoiled the set up. The alert bandit days later he had vanished, taking the trail back to Westhaven. The bank examiner made some hasty calculations and pronounced the bank insolvent. The day after this was announced Silas Spelle rode into Carillion and was closeted for several hours with the examiner. When he left, Spelle's face was twisted in a smirk of triumph. He had won again.

Among the necessities of home is a good, reliable laxative. Don't be without one! Do your best to prevent constipation. Don't neglect it when you feel any of its disagreeable symptoms coming on. . . . We have used Theford's Black-Draught for 21 years and have found it a very useful medicine that every family ought to have in their home," writes Mrs. Perry Hicks, of Belton, Texas. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness, constipation and other ills where a good laxative or purgative is needed. I have always found Black-Draught gives good results."

MAGAZINES ARE NOW AVAILABLE AT FREE LIBRARY

Twenty-five more magazines were donated to the Winters Free Library by Mrs. H. L. Chapman. Since some of the young patrons of the library are checking out magazines to help furnish material for projects in school work even the generosity of many patrons cannot supply too many.

Any child who needs such magazines as we have is welcome to select those he can use on each library day as long as the supply lasts. It is always recommended that the magazines be read first, and then the illustrations and advertising pictures which are often truly educational and artistic, may be cut and pasted, so the magazines given out here may prove of even more benefit than just reading of them would have secured.—Mrs. R. H. MacFarland.

Baby Flies Continent

NEWARK, N. J. . . . 3-month-old Martin T. Ferwerda (above), finally caught up with his mother here after an air flight across the continent, Oregon to New Jersey. Martin was born May 31 while his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ferwerda, were in the West. He weighed 3 pounds, 2 ounces, so could not be brought home.

FORTUNE . . . fresh water

I can tell any bright young man how to make a great fortune and win great fame. Both of those await the inventive genius who will find a cheap large-scale method of turning salt water into fresh water. It is done now, but by means too costly for general use.

The most vital problem facing the great cities upon our coast is how to get enough fresh water. With the oceans at their gates, they go hundreds of miles inland for water, at tremendous cost. Los Angeles pipes water from the Sierras 250 miles away. New York is tapping new sources 150 miles from the city, and eventually will have to go to Lake Ontario for its drinking water.

It is absurd that people should be surrounded by water and still be unable to utilize the unlimited supply of the sea. Go to it, you young inventors!

GOLD . . . in the sea

The sea is full of wealth if we could only get it out. The great bromine works at Brunswick, Georgia, passes billions of gallons of seawater through its pipes every day. Its purpose is to extract the bromine, which is a necessary ingredient of ethyl gasoline, but in the course of their study of seawater the Brunswick chemists have found out many other things about it.

Gold, for example. Every cubic mile of seawater contains a grain of gold. The Atlantic Ocean has many times more gold in it than is in all the bank and treasury vaults of the world. But try to get it out! It can be done—at a cost several times what the gold is worth when you've got it.

I recall a smooth promoter of many years ago who sold shares in a company which was going to extract gold from seawater. It didn't work, and he went to jail; but it would be foolish to say that nobody will ever find a way to recover the ocean's gold economically.

TREASURE . . . lost

Gold in solid chunks, coins and bars, is scattered all over the ocean floor, where treasure ships have been wrecked. The "Merida" which sank off the Virginia capes, had $5,000,000 gold in her strongroom. An expedition with diving equipment has just been fitted out in New York to try to get that gold.

Millions of dollars in gold have been recovered lately from the wreck of an English ship off the coast of Holland. A deep-sea diving expedition got great quantities of gold last year out of a wrecked ship lying in deep water off the coast of Spain. The "Niagara" lies on the bottom of Lake Huron with a million dollars' worth of copper ingots in her hold. The wreck of the "Lusitania" has been located off the Irish Coast, and the effort to recover the gold coin she carried on her last voyage is about to begin.

There's tangible treasure enough in the sea to set up for life anyone who can recover even a small part of it. What a chance for adventure!

MONSTERS . . . and life

All life came from the sea. As my family doctor remarked not long ago, "We're all fish inside. Science has traced the beginnings of animal life on land to the beaches between high tide and low tide.

We are learning more and more about the forms of life which never came out of the sea, but still remain hidden in its depths. Strange monsters of the deep, curious creatures unknown to science sometimes appear on the sea's surface.

The latest report of such a manifestation comes from Newfoundland, where fishermen report having seen a great serpent not once but several times this summer. Men of science no longer jeer at such reports, but admit the probability that huge creatures resembling prehistoric monsters do actually exist in the unexplored depths of the ocean.

SHARKS . . . visit us

Great schools of sharks have appeared this summer off the shores of Long Island and New England, much too close to the popular bathing beaches to be comfortable. I have not heard of any bathers being attacked by sharks this year, though almost every season someone reports that someone else was bitten by one of these huge fish.

There was for years, and may be still, a standing reward of $100 for an authenticated case of a person having been killed by a shark. Many old salts and fishermen hold that it is not the shark but the barracuda which is the real "tiger of the sea." I have personally known of people being severely injured by barracudas in the Gulf of Mexico, one fatally. I have yet to hear of first hand a report of a shark attacking a human being, though I would not like to take a chance by going swimming in the waters off Australia, where sharks 100 feet long have been reported.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sandeford of Guion are the parents of a new son born September 4. He has been given the name Bennie Herbert.

A son was born September 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McSwain. Mother and little son are doing nicely.

SOCIETY

Diversity, Literary and Service Clubs Opened Year's Activities at Morning Coffee and Luncheon

GUEST SPEAKERS ARE FEATURED ON PROGRAMS FOR TWO FEDERATED CLUB GROUPS AT INITIAL MEETINGS SATURDAY.

Activities for the club year 1936-37 began Saturday for two Federated clubs with a morning coffee, favoring Diversity club members, at the home of Mrs. John Q. McAdams, president of the club, and a luncheon for Literary and Service club members and invited guests at the Home Demonstration club house.

The Diversity club will study literature and has outlined interesting programs for study interspersed with several social meetings throughout the year. Members of the club are anticipating a successful year under the guidance of Mrs. John Q. McAdams.

Other officers are Mrs. Roy S. Mack, vice president; Mrs. L. T. Smith, recording secretary; Miss Fairey McCaughan, corresponding secretary; Miss Mattie Cooke, treasurer; Mrs. J. Morey Miller, parliamentary; Mrs. Walter Brian, reporter and Mrs. Foy Davis, critic.

The Literary and Service club, entering the nineteenth year of the organization, has outlined programs featuring "A Bird's Eye View of Spanish America Today." Mrs. A. J. Smith, Jr., will serve as president and Mrs. V. C. Bradford, vice president. Other officers are Mrs. L. E. Low, second vice president; Miss Gladys Oliver, third vice president; Mrs. T. E. Caskey, recording secretary; Mrs. W. G. Bedford, corresponding secretary; Miss Bendena Spill, treasurer; Mrs. John W. Norman, parliamentary; Miss Loyle Kornegay, critic and Mrs. E. D. Stringer, reporter.

LUNCHEON AT CLUB HOUSE

The Literary and Service club officially opened its club year Saturday with a luncheon at the Home Demonstration club house. Beautiful fall flowers artistically arranged carried out the club's color scheme. Of special interest were the year books which served as place cards for the members while programs for luncheon similarly folded, served as place cards for the guests.

The toastmistress for the occasion was Mrs. W. G. Bedford. The invocation was given by Mrs. E. D. Stringer. A piano solo, "Clair de Lune," by Debussy, was rendered by Miss Anna Lee Cobb. In a very concise, forceful and effective manner, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Jr., delivered the President's greetings to the club. Miss Marie Hill favored the club with two vocal numbers, "Open Thou, My Love, Thy Blue Eyes," by Mossenet, and "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert.

Miss Ethel Foster, President-elect of the Sixth District, in her very charming way, brought a very interesting address to the club.

A three course luncheon was served to the club members and their guests who were:

Miss Ethel Foster and Mrs. Roy Foster of Sterling City, Mrs. H. H. Stevens of Ranger, Mrs. E. A. Shepperd of Abilene, Mesdames John Q. McAdams, T. V. Jennings, C. S. Jackson, C. N. Kornegay, Jess W. Wetzel and Miss Anna Lee Cobb.

AT McADAMS HOME

Initial meeting of the Diversity club was the Morning Coffee Saturday at the home of the President, Mrs. John Q. McAdams, which opened the year's study with the annual program on "Art."

An attractive arrangement of late summer flowers in pink and rose colorings gave floral charm to the living-room suite of the lovely home.

Mrs. McAdams, presiding, gave a summary of the aims for service and accomplishments outlined in the program for study and activities for the club year. She introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. George R. Harris of Abilene.

Mrs. Harris, who is a well-known leader in art circles in this section of the state and Regional Director in the Texas Fine Arts Association, spoke on "Art and the Individual." A choice exhibition, assembled by Mrs. Harris, included paintings by Ella K. Mewhinney of Holland, Texas; Sheldon Parsons of Santa Fe, New Mexico, with a group of etchings by James Swann of Dallas and Chicago, and pencil renderings by Harry Anthony De Young of San Antonio.

Mrs. Roy S. Mack, Mrs. M. E. Leeman and Mrs. C. N. Kornegay assisted the hostess in serving dainty refreshments of sand tarts, circle sandwiches and coffee from the lace-laid table.

The guest list included Mrs. A. J. Smith, president of the Literary and Service club, the guest speaker, Mrs. George R. Harris

Daughter of Local Business Man Is Married Sunday

Miss Emma Jean Jones of Ballinger became the bride of Tom Guin of Oklahoma City Sunday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones. Mr. Jones is the manager of the Jones Chevrolet company here.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. McClain, pastor of the First Baptist church. An improvised altar was arranged in front of the fire place which was banked in fern and queen's wreath. At each side were placed large ivory floor baskets of pink asters, calla lilies and blue statice.

Mrs. Jack Nixon, Jr., sang "At Dawning," with Mrs. Alex McGregor at the piano. Mrs. McGregor also played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin by Wagner for the entrance of the couple and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as a recessional and during the ceremony she softly played "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a two-piece sports ensemble of blue wool with black lapin trim and black accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds and fern. Miss Mary Parks was maid of honor and only attendant of the bride and Walter Guin of Austin, brother of the bridegroom was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Guin left for San Antonio for their honeymoon immediately after the ceremony and will make their home in Ballinger on Tenth street.

Crops Going to Market

With crops going to market, now is the time to build up a reserve in this bank for future needs. It is not often possible for farmers to have money coming in at all seasons, and a substantial reserve, set aside now, will be very useful. It will assist in carrying you thru until next year's crops are marketed and converted into cash.

Deposit your 1936 crop money with us subject to check; it will be almost the same as cash in hand, and it will be much safer. Later, you may have greater need for the money than at present. Always, the time to set aside a reserve is when you have the money.

You are cordially invited to open an account with us if you do not have one. New accounts are always welcomed and to the owners of permanent accounts may we suggest that this is an appropriate time to add substantially to your balances.

COMMUNISM VS. FASCISM

Two concepts of government, both relying upon force, are warring for control of the world. They are Communism and Fascism. The present civil war in Spain is distinctly a war between these two forces. When Spain rose in rebellion against its ancient monarchy and expelled its king, the idea of the leaders of the revolution was to set up a democratic form of government, a republic somewhat on American lines.

The Spanish people, having never had any experience or training in self-government, fell an easy prey to the Communist propaganda, and two years ago the government got into Communist hands. Now the leaders of the anti-monarchist revolution are in rebellion against the Communist government, seeking to set up another sort of dictatorship, of the type to which Mussolini gave the name of Fascism. It has been Europe's experience that only a dictatorship can overcome Communism, once that doctrine has taken root among the masses. Communism is international. From Moscow the effort is unceasing to stir up discontent all over the world and convert the workers to its program of seizure of power by force. The first nation to feel this influence after the World War was Italy. Communism threatened the throne and the church. Mussolini's bold seizure of power was a successful effort, with King and Church giving tacit encouragement, to resist force with force and set up a stable government.

Hitler's rise to power in Germany came about in much the same way. A Communist uprising was imminent among the impoverished German people. Hitler seized the opportunity to gain control of the government and its armed forces, and has brought about a semblance of internal order, though at a frightful cost not only in human lives but in the suppression of human liberties. We in America want neither Communism nor Fascism. We have learned how to operate a democracy and we will sustain it.

RANK AND FILE ARE FOR ROOSEVELT

That the rank and file of the American people, regardless of party affiliation, will stick by President Roosevelt in his fight to correct abuses brought upon the country by years of misrule, is the prediction of the Cicero, (Ill.) News in a first-page, powerful editorial printed last week. The News declares that when the President began to correct the evils of government he found it necessary to take away special privileges, "in order to give us of the rank and file a fair chance to enjoy our heritage as free Americans. That is why those powerful people and interests are fighting Roosevelt today. That is why they are trying to block his progress by unfair and dishonest attacks that appear daily in a hostile press that is roped and hog-tied with the vicious dollars of the same powerful individuals and interests. That is why we, as American citizens of the rank and file, should stick with the President.

"When we speak of the rank and file we include, among others, the bank depositors, who can today deposit their dollars in the banks without any fear because Franklin D. Roosevelt has provided them with depositors' insurance.

"When we speak of the rank and file we include the home owners and the farm owners, because the wisdom of Franklin D. Roosevelt's policies has protected the home and farm owner against unjust foreclosure.

"When we speak of the rank and file we include the small banker, because he is no longer at the mercy of the powerful banking institutions and the same insurance which protects his depositors protects him against raids on his bank.

"When we speak of the rank and file we include the business man, who again sees his business paying him a profit and who no longer faces commercial destru-

Washington, Sept. 9.—Regardless of who is elected President on Nov. 3, and whether the House of Representatives in the new Congress has a Republican or a Democratic majority, some highly important decisions will have to be made by the new Administration and Congress at the very beginning of things.

Several of the most widely-discussed laws enacted by the 73rd and 74th Congresses will expire by limitation early in 1937. The new 75th Congress will take office at noon on January 3. President Roosevelt's term, whether he is re-elected or not, will not expire until noon on January 20th. There will be a period of 17 days in which, even if Mr. Landon should be elected President, with a Republican House of Representatives, Congress will be in session but Mr. Roosevelt will still be President.

Congress Must Act
Either in that period or in the ten days following the inauguration, the Congress will have to decide whether or not it will withdraw the authority which the 73rd Congress granted to the President in May, 1933, to devalue the dollar; for that authority expires by limitation on January 30th next. Under this authority, the President, by proclamation, reduces the gold content of the dollar by a shade over 40 percent; under the law he could have reduced it as much as one-half.

Since early 1933, therefore, all of the Federal Government's financial operations and, naturally, all banking and business transactions and calculations, have been in terms of a lower value dollar.

Whatever Congress might do, either in extending or withdrawing the authority of the President to lower the gold value of the dollar still further, or to increase it, would in itself have little effect. The dollars themselves issued under Presidential proclamation would still be dollars, and obligations incurred in terms of such dollars would call for payment in whatever values might be called dollars.

There is a likelihood if the Republicans should be victorious in November, that the new Congress would vote promptly to withdraw this and other powers which its predecessors granted to the Executive, as a matter of party principle, without necessar-tion, because a reasonable monetary policy has given the people once more a chance to get a dollar to spend.

"When we speak of the rank and file we include the laborer, who again faces a period of steady employment, because of Roosevelt policies which started up again the wheels of industry, providing jobs for the multitudes.
"When we speak of the rank and file we include honest people generally of all political parties, who are willing to give credit where credit is due, to the man, whose wisdom, determination and patriotic endeavors have ended the greatest depression in the nation's history."

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me."... BRUCE BARTON Says:

WE WONDER WHY, NAPOLEON?

Lord Northcliffe, who directed the English propaganda in this country, trying to convince us that all the blame for the World War was on one side, fancied himself on his resemblance to Napoleon, and filled his office with pictures and busts. His fellow countrymen, as a whole, consider it a patriotic duty to belittle the Corsican, calling him "Buonaparte," as if that were somehow a clever insult; and even such an independent thinker as H. G. Wells, in his Outline of History, dismisses him as of only passing significance.

Yet in the dictionaries of biography more space is given to Napoleon than to any man who ever lived; every season produces at least one, and usually more, books on some phase or other of the Napoleonic legend, and always there are a certain number of individuals who fancy that they look like him and put forth a desperate effort to play the part. You probably have known at least half a dozen pint-sized lads who made themselves a nuisance to their employes and their wives by adopting the Napoleonic strut.

What is the reason for this strange fascination? He devastated a continent, shed the young blood of millions, and ended up in prison; hardly a single generous deed is recorded of him. Yet little folks in every country look in the mirror, puff out their chests, and whisper his name.

It's too bad that George Washington and Abraham Lincoln were so big and distinctive-looking. I am not aware of ever having met a man who thought he looked like either of them. Their good influence as moulders of character appears to wane, while the bantam rooster influence of Napoleon breaks out afresh in every generation. Will some sawed-off imitation Napoleon please write and tell us why?

NOW MEET A GENTLEMAN

Recently there died a man who always shrank from publicity. Born in 1864 in a community still suffering from the devastation of the Civil War, he attended the public schools and went to work in a little business owned by his uncle. Forty years later it had become a big business, and he had succeeded to the presidency of it. He was a rich man, but he never ceased to be a very simple man. Whenever I saw him he was down at his factory in his shirt sleeves. He liked to tip back in his old swivel chair and put his feet on his battered desk and talk. He liked to have the men from the factory call him by his first name; he liked to have his farmer neighbors drop in to tell about their crops.

After his death stories about him began to come out. It was discovered that he had been the principal supporter and encourager of the hospital; that he had been the largest contributor to the Community Chest; that a half-dozen governors in succession had drawn deeply upon his time and judgment to help them in the reorganization of the business of the state.

Finally the Chief of Police of that city wrote a letter to the newspapers. "As long as he lived," said the Chief, "my lips were sealed, but now, I feel free to tell the story." And he proceeded to reveal how on many a cold winter night this simple man had telephoned headquarters and said: "My name must never be mentioned, but tell your officers to canvass the city and whenever they find a family that is cold tell them to order plenty of coal and send the bill to me." He was a "gentleman of the old school." That school has produced the most generous and modest men and women the world has ever known.

When political parties are not throwing hats in the ring, they are passing them around.

Rip Van Winkle slept for 20 years, but of course, his neighbors didn't have a radio.

One thing is certain: The opposition can't get into Mr. Farley's hair.

THE COLD GERM IS WAITING FOR YOUR DEFENSE TO BE LOWERED!

Don't give a "common cold" an even break! The fact that this is good advice is emphasized by the report of leading doctors who point out that fifty per cent of all disabling diseases start with a "common cold."

It is well known that sudden chilling of the body after overheating will often cause sneezing, watery secretions or nasal obstruction. Of this, there can be no doubt from the experience of generations of people everywhere. Any sudden change in bodily temperature during winter months such as going from a warm room into a cold one disturbs the heat regulating apparatus of the body and lowers your defense against the insidious attack of the cold germ.

If you heat only one or two rooms... if you "huddle" in these warm rooms while the rest of the house remains cold, sudden indoor temperature changes are unavoidable. It's good health insurance as well as good advice to provide adequate heat and a proper circulation of pure warm air in every room of your home during the coming winter months.

LONE STAR GAS SYSTEM

Soon the cold germ will marshal his forces for his health wrecking winter attack.

If you catch cold, consult your doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

Summer jewelry has the icy look of a mint julep. Rings and bracelets are "white and frosty"—but it's the frostiness of composition, not of diamonds. Crystalline and opaque whites are equally smart, crystalline especially with the smoky pastels, opaque white with navy, copper-brown and goya, and with the giddy printed challis and Hawaiian hand-blocked batiks that are breaking out at beach and country club. Often opaque and transparent whites are combined in necklace and bracelet both . . . the color of the gown showing through the transparent sections at sleeve or neckline.

Necklaces are back in the fashion pictures, usually choker length and are as frosty as bracelets and rings. To set off white and crystal jewelry, nails are returning to rich deep reds. Particularly good with frosty white rings are the new smoky red polishes.

With afternoon and hostess frocks, all-gold adds a sumptuous note. Bracelets and pecklaces are made of links, frequently with green-gold and rose-gold alternating. Necklaces are just long enough to edge a collar that stands up partly in the Chinese manner.

Linens jewelry is also smart and effective with summer cottons in or out of town. Use it in deep contrast colors—brown on a rust frock, with gloves and belt in matching brown, wine or raspberry with blue-bonnet, paint blue with mimosa.

For particularly feminine moments, jewelry is following in the wake of the earlier flowermania. Fabric flowers, raffia flowers, carved flower motifs—even the actual flowers themselves are used. Some tie demurely at the back of the neck with a ribbon. Any flower goes from dogwood to daisies.

Shoulder straps of silver flowers, are used to brighten mauve and black evening gowns.

Often people think they know so well the position of the bottle or pill box they want that they do not realize the risk they are taking. All poisons and dangerous medicines should be kept so high on the shelves that children cannot reach them.

A SLENDERIZING FROCK

Pattern 8797: Want to go places in true, cosmopolitan style and comfort? Here's one mighty good and simple way. Make this all-occasion frock in one of the heavy sheers or perhaps a striped silk or gray print. Its capelot is the picture of freedom and graceful simplicity, especially right for those who have outgrown the smaller size ranges. The waist line is raised in front in an inverted V and this detail, too, improves one's center poise. The skirt panels are designed to flatter the hips while the flare, in generous proportion, gives a charming silhouette. Nought but a little flower touch adorns the neckline—just enough to uphold the feminine motif.

"YOU MUST BE PLEASED"

Where Broadway Crosses the Sunset Trail

The saga of the last frontier of western progress blends curiously but effectively at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial today with the new frontier of entertainment. "Sashay All", rousing musical climax from "The Last Frontier", is shown above, scores of Texans participating in modern conceptions of folk dancing of the period. And below is an air-view of "Casa Manana", most talked-of cafe-theater in the world, with its huge circular stage floating in water and revolving the cast before the eyes of 4,000 spectators. Close by these glittering attractions on the Frontier Centennial grounds are "Pioneer Palace" and its Honky Tonk revue, and "Jumbo"—"Bigger than a Show, Better than a Circus."

Great care is needed too in guiding the choice of food during this period to prevent the habit of selecting a one-sided diet. Those foods which are difficult to digest as well as highly seasoned should be avoided. Plain foods should be made as attractive as possible to appeal to the appetite. Cereals, fruits, and vegetable salads should be used freely with only a moderate use of meat.

A suggested dietary for a girl of 16 years of age. Breakfast: Orange juice, oatmeal with cream, toast, butter, whole milk. Luncheon: Split pea soup, chopped egg sandwich, baked apple, cocoa. Dinner: Broiled meat, cake, brown sauce, baked potatoes, spinach, banana salad, French rolls, butter, Washington cream pie, milk.

Menu for a boy of 16 years of age. Breakfast: Banana, oatmeal, milk, corn muffins, butter, sugar. Luncheon: Macaroni and cheese, graham bread, butter, cocoa, stewed apricots, cookies. Split Pea Soup: 1 cup split peas, 1 ham bone, 1-8 t pepper, 2 qts. water, 2 c milk, 1 onion. Pick over and wash peas. Soak them in cold water overnight. MODERN WOMEN

by CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS
President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

There is one woman holding a high executive position in a public utilities corporation, Miss Mary Dillon, the only woman president of a gas company in a very large city.

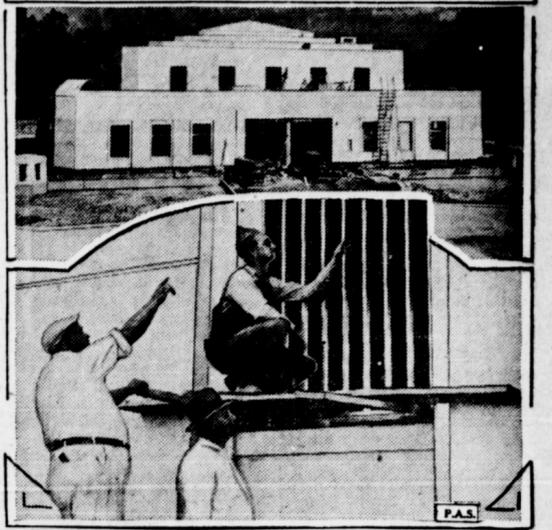

Norway has its girl pioneer flier. Miss Gidsken Jakobson is the first girl of her country to pilot an airplane. Recently she came to America to buy an airplane to fly passengers over the fjords of Norway. She has taken as many as 400 passengers aloft in one day from the largest seaside resort in Norway. She became an air enthusiast when she flew with the pilot of the expedition to rescue Umberto Nobile, the explorer. She also flew on a part of the journey to the Far North to search for Andre, the balloonist, who was lost in the Arctic. Miss Jakobson has taken numerous trips over the continent of Europe.

Washington Market, a famous market in New York City, has started a consumers' institute to help housewives in selecting meats, poultry and fish. Miss Laura A. Cauble, consultant in management and economics, is director of the institute. The institute will also show housewives how to cook. Cooperating with this new venture is the Department of Markets of which Miss Frances Gannon is a deputy commissioner.

The first and, so far as I know, the only woman jurist in Texas, Judge Sarah T. Hughes, has presided at nearly one thousand trials. Many of the cases that come before her are human interest ones, such as divorces and the decision involving the disposal of the children of the divorced parents. Judge Hughes is opposed to alimony in principle, but in most cases none is asked because Texas law does not provide for granting alimony after the divorce is obtained. Personally, Judge Hughes is not in favor of alimony where the woman is capable of supporting herself.

A Fortress For Ten Billion in Gold

FT. KNOX, Ky. . . Here is the super-structure of the vault where Uncle Sam will shortly store $10,000,000,000 in gold. The vault has been built from secret plans. It will be surrounded by a high steel fence and two water-filled moats with a device to flood the underground vault in event of danger. The gold will be moved here in fifty armored trains, guarded by 1,400 regular army soldiers. Insert shows workmen installing stainless steel bars, held by headless jail bolts.

The oldest living alumna of the oldest college for women in the United States, Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts, is Miss Laura Johnson, nearly 99, who was graduated in the class of 1859. At that time Mt. Holyoke was classed as a female seminary, and it cost less to live and study in the college for a month than it averages for a big college. Miss Johnson taught after leaving Mount Holyoke. She now lives near Columbia University, New York.

Mrs. Terese Graham, national Democratic committee woman from Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, is the pioneer committee woman of this country. She has held this office for nineteen years. Women of Idaho have been voters since 1896, when Idaho became a state.

R. H. George, who farms six miles north of town, brought a fine sample of maize head to this office yesterday, the head being very compact and well filled out. It weighed one pound.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

EVER TRY OIL TREATMENT FOR CORNS?

These pests often find lodging, under, on top of, or between the toes. Of course (you all know they are your own fault. They couldn't help appearing; you invited them yourself. Corns never intrude themselves into polite society—they are always invited guests that stay longer than they are wanted, once their character is known.

If your feet need soaking—soak them. But that doesn't help corns very much. As soon as you put that heathen shoe on again; the corns begin to speak up. Pull the shoe off again; if you throw it away, so much the better. Take a small wisp of long-fiber absorbent cotton and wrap it snugly about the toe—as you'd spread it around a lead pencil—so it will stay when you draw on your stocking. Then saturate the cotton above the corn with any kind of good, refined, lubricating oil. Olive oil is excellent, sperm oil is good; if you haven't either, seize your wife's sewing machine oil! I've used it myself, and cured my corns, too.

Dress the toe in this manner morning and night, and wear low heels. Your stockings will get oil on them, of course, but what of it.

If you are extra careful, shave the callous thin before applying the dressing. If you'd rather have corns, keep the high heels and narrow toes.
