City to Build Hospital; Bids to Be Opened On December 26

AUSTIN MAN AGREES TO BUY CITY BONDS AT RECENT MEETING

BUILDING WILL BE BIG CREDIT TO THIS CITY.

At a called meeting of the City Council last Monday evening, C. W. Arlitt of Austin proposed to buy the recently voted hospital bond issue of $35,000, upon the condition that the Moore Construction Co. of the same city, was the successful bidder on the project, the council accepted the proposition and is advertising elsewhere in this issue of The Enterprise for bids to be opened at the city hall on Saturday, December 26th, at 4 p. m.

The architect, Jno. G. Becker, of San Angelo, said that while the original plans for the hospital had been curtailed some, the building would contain the same number of rooms as originally planned, would be fire-proof and a credit to the city.

It is understood that present plans call for the new hospital to be built on the old hospital site on East Truett avenue.

ANNUAL FATHER-SON BANQUET HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL TUES.

J. B. RUTLAND, STATE HEAD V. A., WAS SPEAKER.

One hundred and twelve guests attended the annual Father-Son banquet given Tuesday evening in the vocational agricultural department at the high school. J. B. Rutland of Austin, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, was the principal speaker.

A Christmas theme combined with a red and green color scheme in attractive arrangement decorated the rooms and the banquet table. The home economics girls, under the direction of Miss Lucille Galloway, prepared and served the delectable menu consisting of grape juice cocktail, baked turkey, dressing, sweet potato balls, cranberries, hot rolls, coffee, hot chocolate, custard topped with whipped cream.

Kermit Upshaw, pastor of the Main Street Church of Christ, gave the invocation, Merle Proctor, vocational agriculture student, welcomed the guests and John Q. McAdams gave the response. Clarence Krempin gave the F. F. A. creed and Gerald Proctor presented the supervised practice program being carried on by the Winters chapter. T. D. Coupland discussed plans for the home product show to be held the latter part of February.

J. M. Williams introduced the guests which included four agricultural teachers, J. I. Moore, of Abilene; Wallace Martin of Wingate; O. A. Faith of Bradshaw; and D. C. Cox of Tuscola.

Short talks were made by the local business men, C. Kornegay, John Q. McAdams, Kermit Upshaw, Fred Bedford and John W. Norman. Supt. E. D. Stringer introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Rutland spoke on "The Value of Vocational Training to Farm Youth" pointing out how students of vocational agriculture could assist their fathers by imparting to them knowledge gained in class instruction, and impressing the fact that the boys of today are the future farmers of tomorrow.

Jim Davidson, who is in a serious condition in the Sealy hospital at Santa Anna, was reported to be slightly improved late Thursday.

BIG FIGHT FOLLOWS JUSTICE COURT SESSION

FINES FOR THE WEEK TOTAL NEARLY $100.00.

Following a session of Justice of the Peace W. E. Coley's court last Tuesday morning, in which fines totaling near $100 were assessed against Lee White, charged with fighting and simple assault; Leola Clayburn, charged with fighting and assault, and Carroll White, charged with using abusive language, upon pleas of guilty, what promised to turn into a gang fight ensued.

A brother of Mrs. Van Logsdon, whose name we failed to get, after court was adjourned, proceeded to "beat up" Lee White, and took a crack at the Clayburn women, and, if witnesses to the affair may be believed, the young man was quite handy with his fists.

Arriving in town just as court was adjourned, the young man from Oklahoma inquired for Lee White, and when identified to him, he said "he had come four hundred miles just to whip White" and then it was the fight began. After it was over, the young Oklahoman plead guilty to a charge of fighting, and paid his fine.

Cases which had been filed in Justice Court by Lee White against Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison, were dismissed, Mr. Coley stated yesterday.

Thursday Justice Coley assessed a fine against O. H. Engles, charged with drunkenness.

JOBLESS INSURANCE IS EXPLAINED AT A MEETING IN AUSTIN

DETAILS OF WORKINGS OF NEW LAW ARE GIVEN.

Austin, Dec. 9.—Promising sane and constructive administration of Texas' new Unemployment Compensation Law, first explanations of the law designed to stabilize employment were made here this week by R. B. Anderson, chairman of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Anderson's initial explanation emphasized the distinctions between the Texas "job insurance" law and the various phases of the Federal Social Security Act. Because the two laws are distinct, yet interrelated, considerable confusion has resulted, particularly following the current intensive drive of the Federal government to enroll employers and employees.

Differentiating between the laws, Anderson emphasized these points:

1. Under the Federal law, a tax against workers will be collected. With this tax on employees, the Texas law has no connection whatever. The Texas tax provisions are applicable solely to employers.

2. While the Federal social security law includes a division relating to unemployment compensation, or insurance, the administration of unemployment compensation is entirely a matter for the state.

3. Had the state failed to enact an unemployment compensation act, employers nevertheless would be assessed a tax by the Federal government. The state having enacted a law, the same amount of taxes will be collected; but nine-tenths of the total will be paid to the state, and one-tenth only to the Federal government.

The state tax must be paid first; and the amount paid to the state may be deducted from the amount assessed by the Federal government.

Payments Are Not Doles

Anderson likewise emphasized that the law was designated for the sole purpose of helping in times of stress. "The purpose is not to put anybody on a dole, nor to place a premium on idleness. Its sole purpose is to provide a living income to workers during periods of unemployment. Not only are payments meager; they are rigidly limited in duration."

THE BLIZZARDS, DISTRICT CHAMPS, LOSE BI-DISTRICT PUT UP GAME FIGHT BUT WERE OUT-CLASSED.

SAYS TRAFFIC MUST OBSERVE STOP BLOCKS.

Mayor J. W. Copeland said yesterday that he wanted, thru the columns of this paper, to issue a warning against the shooting of fireworks within the city fire zone, which includes practically all of the downtown business district, and also another word of warning to automobile drivers who fail to stop at stop blocks.

The shooting of fireworks within the fire zone and the driving over stop blocks without bringing your car to a dead stop are both prohibited by city ordinances, said Mayor Copeland, and they must be observed.

Cooperation along these lines may save a life and much property, said the mayor, as well as some of your Christmas funds which will be taken in fines if these ordinances are not observed.

As a compliment to the squad upon the completion of a most successful season, the Winters Lions Club will sponsor a banquet for the team and coaches sometime during the early part of January, it has been announced.

SCHOOLS COMPETE WITH FLOATS FOR $30 IN CASH PRIZES

TIME FOR EVENT IS SET FOR TEN-THIRTY O'CLOCK.

Winters is all decked out in Christmas decorations in honor of the personal visit of old Santa Claus, and the big Santa Claus parade which is scheduled for tomorrow (Saturday) morning promptly at 10:30 o'clock.

All surrounding schools have been invited to take part in the parade by entering decorated floats, cash prizes for which have been offered totaling $30.00 and schools not winning prizes have been given $5 to help defray expenses of decorating their floats. B. C. D. Secretary T. D. Coupland has visited the schools of this section with the invitation to enter floats in the parade as well as to attend the festive event, and several of the schools have already signified their intentions to participate.

Winters schools will dismiss Friday, December 18, for the Christmas holidays, according to Supt. E. D. Stringer. Regular classes will begin Wednesday, December 30.

The last word from Santa Claus was received at The Enterprise office Thursday evening, and here's what he had to say:

"Clear the road, I'm on my way, reindeer and all. I can hardly wait until I arrive in Winters Saturday morning. I am bringing with me my funny clowns and story book characters, and I want to see everyone. Children, bring along your letters as I will have them published in The Enterprise as well as take a copy of them home with me, so I can have your gifts ready by Christmas. Oh, yes I will have some candy for the children with me when I get to Winters tomorrow."

And here's a tip to the grown-up from The Enterprise: "You'll find the stores of Winters have extra large stocks of holiday merchandise—the kind you will want to give or receive—so be sure to look them over before buying your Christmas gifts or other merchandise."

Santa Claus letters addressed to The Enterprise will be published in next week's paper and children who would like to make their wants known to "Old St. Nick" should send them in early to avoid disappointment. Letters reaching us too late for publication on that date will appear in the paper on Christmas eve.

"Pepper"

The film opens in a wild rush of excitement and comedy as Jane Withers leads her "gang" through the streets, celebrating the Fourth of July by creating havoc in the neighborhood. The fun ceases abruptly when Jane comes upon a family being evicted from the tenement flat and she sends the other kids out to raise the eleven dollars necessary to pay the rent. When they fall short of their goal by five dollars, Jane decides to get the money from Irvin S. Cobb, a dyspeptic millionaire. Threatening Cobb with an over-ripe tomato, Jane blackmails him for the money. Amused at Jane's impish antics, Cobb takes her to Coney Island and later they visit

Jane's home where Cobb meets Slim Summerville, her uncle and guardian. Much against Cobb's will his daughter has announced her intention of marrying a millionaire. Summerville notices a picture of the engaged couple in a newspaper and reveals the fact that he has met the baron somewhere before—and the baron is a fake. Cobb offers Jane and Slim five thousand dollars if they can expose the baron and prove him an imposter. Then the fun begins.

"The Texas Ranger"

The cast is headed by Fred MacMurray and the Wise-cracking Jack Oakie, the film lifts a page from the history of the two-gun organization which made Texas safe for pioneers, and combines it with a love story unusual in its charm. Jean Parker holds the feminine lead role as the daughter of a commander of the Ranger unit which MacMurray and Oakie join. Though almost incidental to the sweeping theme of the plot, her romance with MacMurray is presented movingly and sincerely. The plot of the "Texas Rangers" revolves about the adventures of MacMurray and Oakie after they have joined the early Texas organization of peace officers and are thrown into opposition with their friend of former out-law days, Loyd Nolan. Edward Ellis and Bennie Bartlett are convincing in their supporting roles.

"Hearts Divided"

The story has a historical setting, in the Napoleonic era and touching on the Louisiana purchase. Leading American and French characters set the stage for a glamorous romance between Captain Jerome Bonapart, brother of the French Emperor and Betsy Patterson, the belle of Baltimore and Washington. Jerome, who is in America as emissary of Napoleon in the sale of Louisiana falls in love with her and becomes her music and French teacher. She loses her heart to him despite the fact that she believes him to be only a tutor and then awakens to the surprise of her life when she discovers his identity. Marion Davies has the role of Betsy Patterson and Dick Powell plays the part of Jerome, whose love for Betsy is far stronger than his desire for fame and fortune. The role of Napoleon is played by Claude Rains.

"Rose Bowl"

The film has many fast football sequences actually set in the famous Pasadena stadium, with competing teams enlisted from the pigskin stars of the University of Southern California squad. Buster Crabbe and Tom Brown appear as rival football players, both from the same small Ohio town and both in love with Eleanor Whitney. They attend different colleges—and ultimately meet on opposing sides in the Rose Bowl game.

Benny Baker, as one of Brown's colleagues, is meanwhile vying with Crabbe for the affections of Priscilla Lawson—a movie starlet. The game which brings rivals face to face in the Rose Bowl provides plenty of excitement for football fans, but the biggest series of football thrills, of course, come in the final game climax.

"Everyman's Law"

It is skillfully directed, well acted by star and supporting cast, beautifully photographed and the suspense is so well maintained that it is no exaggeration to assert that the spectator's nerves were kept at high tension from the beginning of the opening reel to the final fadeout. Certainly Johnny Mack Brown has never shown to better advantage than as the Texas Ranger who masquerades as a badly wanted killer, until he has uncovered the secret operations of crooks endeavoring to drive homesteaders away, so that their lands may be confiscated, and hire gunmen to raid and entirely eliminate those who refuse to be intimidated.

"The Border Patrolman"

George O'Brien meets Polly Ann Young in a forest where she is carelessly smoking a cigarette. She refuses to put it out and they get into an argument which culminates in George carting her bodily to patrol headquarters. When the captain discovers that Polly Ann is a wealthy heiress, he reprimands O'Brien and the latter resigns from the Patrolmen. A gang of international jewel thieves is attempting to smuggle a highly valuable necklace across the border. Roy Mason, head of the gang, reveals the nature of O'Brien's job to Polly Ann and she agrees to elope with the law-breaker. O'Brien gets wind of the plan, however, and in a series of exciting events he breaks up the gang, saves the necklace and wins the girl.

"3 Married Men"

Features three of the screen's most popular funny-men, Lynne Overman, William Frawley and Roscoe Karns, together with Mary Brian, screen sweetheart of many a movie fan. The story is of a young couple, Karns and Miss Brian, who get married in spite of parental disapproval and in spite of gloomy predictions of Miss Brian's two married brothers, Frawley and Overman. They spat on their wedding night, they battle against family interference, and they have a hectic time in general. It all winds up in a hilarious scene in a Pullman car.

The announcement of the approaching marriage was made in a clever manner when Miss Estelle Baldwin told of important events in the bride-elect's life leading up to the marriage ceremony when a mock wedding was performed, with Lavanda and Coy Baldwin serving as bride and groom, Reta Joyce Wetzel, flower girl, Onita Baldwin, as brides maid. Miss Leona Inman sang "I Love You Truly" and Lavanda Baldwin presented the honoree with a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and an oven-wear casserole, a gift from the hostess. ## Methodist W.M.S. Literary Program Is Given Monday

An interesting literary program was given by the Missionary Society Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Methodist church, with Mrs. Walter White leading the program.

The meeting was opened by group singing and Mrs. Wm. Stevens read a few verses of the 40th chapter of Isaiah which taught that a spiritual life was obtained by meditation and prayer. A very gripping paper was given by Mrs. A. D. Lee and the group caught the Christmas spirit as Mrs. M. E. Leeman played three violin numbers, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sang," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and "Silent Night," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Chas. Chapman. A well-prepared paper was given by Mrs. W. L. Pratt.

STATE AID FOR FREE LIBRARIES IS BEING SOUGHT

A Free Public Library for every county or district in Texas! Are you interested in a Library for Winters? State Aid would make it possible for this community to have a county free library comprised of well selected books, magazines and pamphlets and administered by a trained librarian.

Educational opportunity is just around the corner. For several years educators have been talking and wishing for State Aid for Libraries. The year 1937 will see State Aid either made a reality or defeated.

A bill asking for financial aid to libraries will be presented to the Texas legislature in January 1937. Its passage will depend upon the people of Texas. If the people believe that libraries as well as schools and agriculture should receive State support, and if they believe this so strongly that they will fight for the passage of this bill, then State Aid will become a reality.

Why do Libraries need more funds. Because:

1. Texas spends only 10 cents per capita for public library service, and this service reaches only one-third of the people.
2. Texas has only 60 tax-supported libraries for its 6,000,000 people.
3. More than 3,000,000 rural people are without free books.
4. State Aid would supplement the overburdened general fund of the County and thereby aid the Commissioners in establishing County Libraries.
5. Our modern schools require the use of many books.
6. Our complex civilization makes it necessary for adults to keep on learning.

The State Federation of Women's Clubs, The State Parent-Teachers' Association have endorsed state aid.

Are you ready to lend your support to a measure that will raise the Educational rank of the Lone Star State?

Material which will tell you what your community can do so that it can have a free public library at the least cost, will be mailed to you upon request. Send inquiries to Doris Wood,

Modern Gulliver Helps the Little People - - By Knott

One year ago regional headquarters of the Resettlement Administration were set up in Dallas. Since that time, loans have been made to 35,808 Texas farm families who were unable to obtain from any other source the finances needed to carry on farm operations.

Many of these families had been forced to quit farming for lack of teams, tools and supplies, but as a result of Resettlement aid are now self-supporting again. More than one million dollars of the ten million dollars loaned has been repaid, although the loans were made for up to five years.

The next step is to aid landless farmers in becoming landowners, and tenant families are now being nominated as prospective purchasers of 588 farms, the land for which has been already optioned or purchased.

The above cartoon by Knott appeared in a recent issue of The Dallas News.

RELATIVE OF C. W. GREGORY DIED AT HOUSTON TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gregory received a message Tuesday advising them of the death of their uncle, Judge Fank Andrews of Houston. While the telegram did not give definite information of his death it is thought he died suddenly as he was subject to heart trouble. His death occurred at 12:30 Tuesday morning.

Judge Andrews was a prominent railroad attorney and a noted philanthropist. Among the many good deeds he did for others was sending his niece, Miss Mayme Gregory, through Baylor university and several other relatives were also educated by him.

Miss Mayme Gregory, accompanied by her cousin, Woodrow Young of Killeen, who was also a graduate of Baylor through the generosity of Judge Andrews, left immediately for Houston to attend the funeral.

CALENDAR . . . . . again

Unless the League of Nations finds itself otherwise occupied, this is the year in which it is expected to take up in a serious way the matter of calendar reform.

Most of the opposition to calendar reform has vanished, and the main question now seems to be whether it will be a 13-month year, as was advocated by the late George Eastman, or a 12-month year with the months rearranged by subtracting days from some of them and adding them to others. At present the 12-month plans seems to be in the lead.

Changing the calendar is a good deal like changing from standard time to daylight saving time; a lot of people seem to think that it is human tinkering with an act of God. But our present calendar has been revised twice since it was first promulgated by Julius Caesar, and the last revision was directed by Pope Gregory VI. The present Pope has expressed a friendly attitude toward further revision, and so have the leaders of other religious groups. I think something is going to come of this.

It's a Children's Christmas!

Grandmother Had To Be Content With Crude Attempts In Playthings She Possessed.

FORTUNATE indeed, is the child of today, for modern science and invention have remembered children.

Even a cursory visit to a modern toy section will reveal how far the trend has gone in building toys that entertain and educate. Think of a doll that walks, talks and sleeps. And, it's ten to one that some doll can be outfitted from head to foot with a complete outfit, ranging from sports apparel to evening gown. It is quite likely too, that your modern doll boasts of a permanent wave.

Going still further with dolls—for after all they have the identical appeal now, as when grandmother wore pigtails—you will probably find buggies, perambulators and dolls' houses. Yes, dishes too, and cooking utensils, diminutive, but perfect in size for the adored dolls are displayed.

Among other things modern little girls can have to amuse them are stoves, miniature laundry sets, small replicas of mother's furniture and so many things to make a doll really comfortable in her own home that it would take large space to enumerate them.

Santa is going to do just as good a job in supplying little boys with Christmas toys, as little girls. For boys there are trains, trucks, fire engines, motor boats, autos and what not; most of which move under their own power. Too, there are building sets that make a stunning sky scraper or fort—to imaginative youth.

Soldiers and firemen; policemen too, all of whom are heroes to many small boys, are well represented in toy sections. We see squads and platoons of soldiers, appropriately officered, marching up and down—in effect at least. Firemen, on or off their gorgeous red engines, strike the childish fancy. As to policemen; any number of big, jovial fellows keep order and direct traffic in Toyland.

Games for young moderns are varied, to say the least. Some of these games, particularly for children, four, five, six and thereabout, teach the alphabet, how to draw or the names of jungle beasts. Popular among games are small pool and billiards.

Table tennis, as seen in toy departments, keeps many a youngster busy when he is forced to remain indoors. The set includes four paddles, balls and net.

In all, there's such variety in toys for the modern child that the older generation are apt to wonder if the huge collection might not be confusing to youthful minds. This is not so. Watch the children in the toy departments. See their faces light up and eyes shine when something catches their interest. This is a certain way of assuring the right toy gift when Christmas morning rolls around, and helps to guard against the worst disappointment childhood could know—a Yuletide yearning unfulfilled.

It pays to know your toys. There are wheel toys, pre-school toys and games, costumes, automotive toys such as airplanes, steam engines, etc., and even juvenile furniture is considered among toys at Christmas. Dolls are a special group in themselves, and with them go doll houses, furniture, wardrobes, and doll repairing. Large toys are something different again. They usually consist of swings, teeter-totters, wooden hobby-horses, large size autos that take their motive power from the action of the driver's legs, large trucks that actually hold sand, and, of course, countless others.

One of the best things about these larger toys is that they keep youngsters out in the open, promoting good health and exercise. Tool kits will keep many a boy busy during year-long afternoons—for to children, even a half day without prospect of activity, looms as a year. These kits contain practically everything found in a carpenter's kit. Hammers, planes, saws, wood chisels, squares, spirit levels and carpenter's pencil. Other kits go still further in providing equipment, but the average tool box with the above mentioned articles will delight almost any boy with a creative inclination.

For older boys gift possibilities

ities include such items as baseball gloves, balls, skates, tennis rackets, hockey clubs and other equipment necessary for playing popular, outdoor sports. It is safe to assume the boy with such a new thing for play-time hours will be a near-hero with his youthful companions.

How to Coat
Now for the dipping or coating with chocolate. In the first place you must have the right kind of chocolate. There are several brands of a special coating chocolates manufactured for this purpose. Both sweet and bitter coating are to be had and if much dipping is planned you will need both—sweet for covered nuts and fruits and bitter or a mixture of both for sweet centers.
Careful control of temperature of both the room in which the dipping is done and the chocolate itself is of great importance. A dry cool room, with temperature at about 60 degrees F. is necessary. Be sure no other cooking is going on while dipping because escaping steam will make the chocolate gray and streaky.
Break chocolate in small pieces and put in double boiler. Melt over warm water and beat frequently while heating. This insures a smooth, even coating, thick and glossy. Do not put the double boiler over the flame because there is too much danger of over-heating. The melting will take at least thirty minutes. Keep water around chocolate well. Pour immediately onto buttered pan. Flatten or break apart when cool.

THE ROOTS OF WAR

The alliance between Germany and Japan for the avowed purpose of checking the spread of Communism is taken by the Russian government as a direct threat against that nation. To observe from this side of the Atlantic it certainly looks as if Germany and Japan were getting ready to start to carve Russia up and divide it between them. Japan has been steadily encroaching upon the borders of Russia's eastern Asiatic territory, while Hitler, the ruler of Germany, has more than once spoken publicly of the value to Germany of the mining and agricultural resources of western Russia. Mussolini has not formally taken Italy into this anti-Communist combine, but there is no question where the sympathies of the Italian government lie.

The situation very clearly holds the seeds of war. That the rest of Europe is greatly concerned is evidenced by the fact that in both England and France children are being taught the use of gas masks, and great supplies of these protective devices are being manufactured. In Paris and other French cities gas-proof and boom-proof shelters are being constructed underground. Paris is built upon a foundation which is literally honeycombed with caverns, and these are now being converted into shelters against a possible air-raid. In England plans are under way for great underground storehouses for essential food supplies, chiefly in abandoned mines, so that in case of war the English people could not be starved out by a blockade of their coasts.

Stalin, the dictator of Russia, is boasting that the Russian air forces are superior in numbers and fighting power to those of any other nation. Italy, by backing the Fascist revolutionists of Spain, is apparently seeking to extend its power along the whole of the Mediterranean, greatly to the disturbance of the British, who feel that they must keep the water route to their Far Eastern colonies open and under their own control at all hazards.

This whole situation arises from the fact that there are three great nations, Italy, Germany and Japan, whose population is increasing faster than their food resources can be increased, and who have no more room within their own borders in which to expand, and no colonial possessions to which they can ship their surplus population. It is inevitable, under such circumstances, that any nation should try to get possession of the most accessible land not already over-populated. If Germany and Japan carry out their apparent purpose of dividing Russia between them, there is little doubt that Italy would seize the opportunity afforded by the confusion of war to extend its power over Southeastern Europe and occupy Yugoslavia, Greece and possibly Rumania and Bulgaria.

We are fortunately situated in America that we still have almost unlimited room in which to grow and no near neighbors who want to take any of our land away from us, any more than we want to take theirs.

DOUBLE TAXES

The overlapping of taxes and the taxing power by the state governments and the Federal government seems to be bringing about a situation which calls for correction and many readjustments. Some way should be found to place definite limits upon the fields of taxation occupied by the national government and the state governments respectively.

The Treasury Department has recently made a report on "double taxation" from 1930 to 1935. There are six fields of taxation in which both the Federal and the state governments operate. These are inheritance taxes, individual income taxes, corporation taxes, gasoline taxes, liquor taxes and tobacco taxes. While the Federal government took $2,271,440,000 in taxes from these sources in the fiscal year of 1935, the states also collected

MERRY CHRISTMAS

After a year of work and often worry, it is well that at Christmas time we should be merry; not just happy, or joyous, but downright merry. Though it be not decorous nor dignified, perhaps entirely out of line with our usual conduct, let us lay aside our cares and give ourselves to true merriment.

If we can laugh aloud it will do us good, or, if from loud disuse, our diaphragms refuse that vibration essential to the hearty laugh, a lot of good chuckles will provide a reasonable substitute.

There is much which can be done in a practical way to give happiness to others at Christmas time, and by millions of unselfish people these acts of helpfulness will not be overlooked, but what is needed in this world is that Christmas be a time of good cheer, of real merriment.

Our modern mode of living, even with all the wonderful things which it places within the reach of so many, is not conducive of merriment. The thousand complexities of life in this age have sobered us. Material things have come to consume too large a part of our attention. So let us welcome and make the most of a season when even the most serious cannot condemn our merriment.

Twenty million turkeys make this year's record crop, says news item. Well, if that's a record, we'll eat it.

over $1,000,000,000 from the same sources.

From all but one of these taxes the Federal government takes more than do all of the states which levy them. The gasoline tax, however, yielded nearly $600,000,000 to three states and only a little over $160,000,000 to the Federal government. Not all of the states impose inheritance and income taxes, but so long as these fields are left open to the states, the temptation is strong to take advantage of these opportunities to increase the state revenue.

The largest source of tax income of the states and their subdivisions is the tax on real estate. This is a field which the Federal government does not touch. It would seem reasonable for the Federal government to keep out of the gasoline tax business and for the states to leave income and inheritance taxes and tobacco taxes to Uncle Sam. There certainly should be some way found to set up a sharp line of demarcation between the taxing authority of the states and that of the central government.

DON'T DODGE, WADE IN

Not so long ago, when the gloom was thickest, I dropped in at the end of the day to see the only optimist in New York.

He is a big man physically, a former college football player, a successful executive. Two years ago he was put through a series of major operations. For twenty-two months he was strapped to a board, flat on his back in bed.

Most men who are out of the game so long are forgotten. Friends visit them for the first few weeks, but the atmosphere of the sick room grows oppressive. The effort to provide artificial cheer is too much. Gradually they cease to come.

This man's case was different. Whenever I called I found two or three visitors, important New York men.

"How old are you?" he asked me one day.

When I told him, he said: "You have still some time to go before you make the most important discovery of your life. I made it at the age of forty-five, and it changed my whole perspective.

The discovery is simply this—trouble is chronic. Most people get discouraged because they proceed on the false assumption that life is normally joyous, that its problems and difficulties are exceptional blemishes on an otherwise delightful experience.

"That is not the fact. Man is born with no guarantee that happiness is to be his daily portion. Pleasure is no part of the life contract. Life is work and worry and difficulty, with occasional moments of delight. Trouble is not acute; it is chronic.

"When you once get that idea it gives you a whole new outlook. You are no longer surprised and discouraged to find worry in the morning mail. You expect it. You say to your secretary: 'Give me the day's quota of grief at once; let me wade into it first.'

It was one of the bravest speeches I had ever heard. I pass it on for the encouragement of others.

THEN THERE WAS JOHN STUART

In 1865 it was proposed to John Stuart Mill that he should run for Parliament.

He answered that he would be willing to do so, provided the voters understood he would not make any election speeches or put up one cent, and that, if elected, he would support such national issues as appealed to his best judgment and do nothing for the local interests of his district.

He says in his autobiography that "a well known literary man was heard to say that the 'Almighty Himself would have no chance of being elected on such a program.'

Nevertheless, Mill's candidacy made remarkable progress, and just before the election he agreed to appear at a few meetings in order to answer questions.

In one of his earlier books he had made the remark that the "working classes, though differing from those of some other countries, in being ashamed of lying you are yet generally liars." Mill's was asked whether he had written and published it. He promptly answered: "I did."

What followed is so remarkable that I quote it verbatim:

"Scarcely were these two words out of my mouth when vehement applause sounded thru the whole meeting. It was evident that the working people were so accustomed to expect equivocation and evasion from those who sought their suffrages that when they found, instead of that, a direct avowal of what was likely to be disagreeable to them, instead of being affronted they concluded at once that this was a person whom they could trust."

It has long been my conviction that politics has not kept up with popular intelligence, that the people are sick of hokum and the politicians have not found it out.

Recipes And Menus

Spicy and pungent odors will soon be coming from the kitchen indicating that Christmas cookery is under way. The magic word "homemade" is never more appealing than when applied to holiday confections, but busy housewives who find themselves swamped with last minute duties may find a variety of candies in the local stores.

A sufficient quantity of "goodies" can be made to last well into New Year for the family and by carefully packing boxes and storing in cool places they will remain fresh and taste good to the last drop.

Christmas candy is the sweetest gift of all when it comes from your own kitchen and when packed in attractive boxes which may be found in local stores, is an appreciated gift by persons of all ages.

For those who think it "fun" to make their own candies here are some favorite recipes:

Fondant

Two cups sugar, 2-3 cup boiling water, 1-8 teaspoon cream of tartar, few grains salt.

Mix and sift sugar, salt and cream of tartar into a smooth sauce pan. Add water and stir until well mixed. Cover pan and put over a low fire. Bring slowly to the boiling point. Place a pan of cold water conveniently near the pan of cooking syrup. Remove cover and wipe off crystals as they form. Boil uncovered until a soft ball is formed when a few drops of water are tested in a saucer of cold water. The candy thermometer should register 238 degrees F. Be sure to keep sides of pan free from crystals. When syrup is done put the pan immediately into a larger pan of cold water and let it stand undisturbed until cold. Beat with a wooden spoon until creamy. When too stiff to stir turn onto a large platter or marble slab and knead until soft. Put into a bowl brushed with olive oil, cover with a dampened cloth and tie tight. Let it stand at least twenty-four hours before flavoring and shaping.

How to Coat

Now for the dipping or coating with chocolate. In the first place you must have the right kind of chocolate. There are several brands of a special coating chocolates manufactured for this purpose. Both sweet and bitter coating are to be had and if much dipping is planned you will need both—sweet for covered nuts and fruits and bitter or a mixture of both for sweet centers. Careful control of temperature of both the room in which the dipping is done and the chocolate itself is of great importance. A dry cool room, with temperature at about 60 degrees F. is necessary. Be sure no other cooking is going on while dipping because escaping steam will make the chocolate gray and streaky. Break chocolate in small pieces and put in double boiler. Melt over warm water and beat frequently while heating. This insures a smooth, even coating, thick and glossy. Do not put the double boiler over the flame because there is too much danger of over-heating. The melting will take at least thirty minutes. Keep water around chocolate lukewarm, not over 110 degrees F. The chocolate should be about 80 degrees F. during the dipping.

Use Pound of Chocolate
Don't try to work with less than one pound of chocolate because it is impossible to keep less at the proper temperature. Shape all centers before beginning to dip. Place centers at left hand with chocolate directly in front and wax paper covered trays at right.

The dipping can be done with the fingers or a fork, or a regular candy dipper. Drop the center into the chocolate with the left hand, press it down with the right until completely covered, then lift out, wiping off the excess chocolate on the side of the bowl. Drop the covered center on the prepared tray at the right and twist your wrist slightly as the chocolate leaves your fingers to give the swirl on top.

Christmas fudge, nougats, caramels and jelly squares make delectable centers for fondant and are attractively uncoated, too.

Creamy Fondant Loaf

Two cups sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, 1-2 cup chopped dates, 1-2 cup nuts.

Mix sugar, cream of tartar and water. Boil gently without stirring until fine thread forms when portion is poured from spoon. Pour into shallow dish. Let stand 20 minutes. Add extracts and beat until thick and creamy. Knead well and add rest of ingredients. Shape into loaf 1 1-2 inches thick. Wrap in waxed paper and store in cool place.

Fruity Fudge

Three cups sugar, 2-3 cup chopped raisins, 1 1-2 cups milk, 3 squares chocolate, 1-2 cup chopped figs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cup chopped nuts.

Boil gently, stirring frequently, sugar, milk, chocolate and butter. When soft ball forms when portion is tested in cup cold water, remove from fire and let stand 20 minutes. Beat until creamy and thick. Add rest of ingredients. Pour onto buttered pan. When firm, cut into squares.

Spiced Nuts

One cup sugar, 1-2 cup water, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-3 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup nuts.

Mix all ingredients excepting nuts. Boil gently without stirring until mixture changes color slightly. Add nuts and mix well. Pour immediately onto buttered pan. Flatten or break apart when cool.

Divinity

Two and one-half cups sugar, 1-2 cup white Kuro, 1-2 cup water. Cook until it will spin a thread and then pour half of the boiled syrup into the whites of 2 eggs beaten stiff. Cook the other half until it reaches cold water. Then add to both an egg white. Beat constantly and add 1 cup nuts. Pour on buttered plate. Cut when cold.

AMERICAN PEOPLE ATE MORE TURKEY THANKSGIVING THAN BEFORE

The American people ate more turkey on Thanksgiving day, 1936, than they have ever previously consumed on this national holiday. This information was received here today by J. H. Moore, of Safeway stores.

In eating his Thanksgiving turkey this year the American consumer expressed his gratitude because there was a turkey for every pot. Ten days before Thanksgiving there were 20,000,000 of the birds "on the hoof." The average turkey is a dinner for more than six or seven persons, which meant enough turkey for every inhabitant of the United States, with some left over for Christmas.

A turkey in the barn-yard is far from being roast turkey on the table. It was here that the chain stores of the nation, with their unusual facilities for distribution, entered into the celebration of Thanksgiving.

There are more than five million farmers who grow turkeys. In many sections it is one of the few winter cash crops. As turkeys began to move into the markets it was disclosed that there were five million birds in excess of last year's crop. The market was threatened with demoralization.

This brought an emergency appeal to the national Association of Food Chains with headquarters in Washington, D. C. More than 125 urgent telegrams poured in from farm groups, poultry associations, marketing organizations and producers, representing a membership of three million farmers.

The chain stores immediately threw all their resources into the greatest turkey drive that had ever been carried on. They brought turkeys to the consumer with inducements that could not be resisted. By advertising and sales promotion they increased the normal demand for turkey. They stemmed the tide of falling prices that threatened disaster to the producer.

The turkey drive is not over. It will continue during the entire month of December leading up to another big sale for the Christmas and New Year's holidays. It was not possible to consume 20,000,000 turkeys in a single feast and there are many left. The quality of the fowl is exceptional this season, the prices are low and the supply is still equal to the demand.

For many years big turkeys have been favored by buyers. The producers have responded to the demand and bred their birds up to the heavier weights. This year the Thanksgiving demand was for turkeys weighing from 12 to 15 pounds. The 18 or 20 pound tur-

IN MEMORIAM

God made Heaven of beautiful things,
Sweet, young lives and old;
Darling babies with Angel's wings,
Things more precious than gold.

God put on earth a wonderful thing,
Her journey through life was short,
Something was lacking in Heaven,
So God took her, and broke our hearts.

We loved her and—oh how we miss her!
Our grief seems too much to bear,
But remember there's a God in Heaven;
And he all our sorrows will share.

Her ambitions will never be realized,
On this old earth of ours,
But a higher ambition was materialized,
When she journeyed to the land of flowers.

So parents, take courage, because there's still hope
Regardless of the sorrows that are seen;
She lives in peace in a celestial land,
But she's still our Glenadine.

Household Hint: If you're one of those clever people who make exquisite gifts by covering handy little tin boxes with ornamental fabrics and lining them, here's a worth while hint: glue in water will not attach textile materials firmly to metallic surfaces, but when a little glycerine is added to the solution you will have no trouble.

Louis: No I haven't. I've got them here in my pocket.

key is the economical buy. The waste is nearly the same in the small and large turkey. If there are four pounds of meat on a four dollar turkey and ten pounds of meat on a six dollar turkey it is easy to see where the bargain lies. A large proportion of the big turkeys are left for the Christmas trade.

The successful campaign of the chain stores to dispose of a surplus of turkeys has brought many expressions of appreciation from poultry producers in all parts of the nation. For the benefit of agriculture it is urged that the farmer-consumer campaigns of the chain stores be continued.

WE WRAP YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFTS FREE!

LET'S MAKE THEIR HEARTS GLAD AT YULETIDE

From Rags to Riches
This is a broad statement, but there is more truth in it than you think at the first consideration.

Rags and Poverty is the breeder of disease, hate and death, but when a life is protected, loved and trained thru the process of Christian education, it becomes an asset to society, which is richness to the life of the individual and to civilization; and that is what we do when we support our Orphanage at Waco, Texas. We take young, helpless lives like these you see in the picture and transform them into useful citizens.

It is a well known fact that the larger children of the Home are almost self-supporting, but it is the little ones that we have to provide for. Therefore we urge you to begin to make plans for your Christmas offering to our Home. Do not wait for us to call upon you for your gift, but you bring it to the church and turn it over to the church treasurer, Mr. Gattis Neely.—J. W. Sharbutt, pastor.

Frank Williams, instructor of the State Firemen's school, spent a few days the latter part of the week with his family here.

V. C. Bradford of Goldthwaite joined Mrs. Bradford who had been spending the week visiting friends here, for a week-end visit. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Allen Adams and Bobby Lou Cramer spent the past week-end visiting with relatives in Roscoe.

Lieutenant J. Hal Jeffus, of Langley Field, Virginia, spent Tuesday visiting in the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. W. Joiner, visiting also with his cousins, Miss Melba Read and Mrs. Morris Chapman.

VICTORY CLUB SESSION HELD AT PAT GUY HOME

Mrs. Pat Guy was the hostess Tuesday for the regular session of the Victory Home Demonstration club. Eight members were present.

Mrs. H. E. White acted as chairman for the meeting and during the business session it was decided to serve a turkey dinner in Winters Saturday, December 12.

Members present were Mesdames H. E. White, Jim Sowell, Virgil Frierson, Elder, Herman Vinson, Jim Eoff, Earl Rodgers, Ben Featherston and the hostess.

The annual Christmas party will be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Rodgers, Tuesday, December 15.

The Victory school will have a decorated float in the Santa Claus parade in Winters Saturday morning.

B. T. U. ZONE MEETING TO BE AT HATCHEL SUN.

The B. T. U. Zone meeting will be held at the Hatchel Baptist church Sunday, December 13, at 2:30 o'clock.

A splendid program has been carefully arranged by the Harmony B. T. U., according to Mrs. Glenn Seals, president of the union.

All unions throughout Zone No. 2 are expected to attend this meeting and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Miss Ann Catherine Cooper, who has been a member of the local school faculty since the beginning of school, has resigned her position and accepted a place in the school system at Abilene.

Miss Pauline Jones of Fort Worth is spending a few days this week with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Jones.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. H. C. Campbell Monday night for a business and social meeting.

During the business meeting it was decided to send money to Legion headquarters for the American Legion Veterans and also money for the Veterans' children Christmas party. Games of forty-two were played following the business meeting.

Those who attended were: Mesdames Guy Mullins, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Taylor, R. H. Henslee, Joe Mapes, Jimmie Huffines, C. A. Ballinger, H. N. Lyle and H. C. Campbell.

ARMY OFFERS SECURITY

The knowledge of the public in general regarding the United States army consists mostly of what they read in the newspapers about appropriations, comparative armaments, war debts, etc. What they do not know is: "The United States Army offers more in the way of Security, Health, and the opportunity to learn than the average job or position in civil life." Certainly it is true that unless we take a chance in life we will never get very far up the ladder of accomplishment. A young man in the army has the opportunity to learn what part in life he is best qualified for and then he devotes his time in obtaining greater knowledge for a successful career and knowledge is power. Those that desire to remain in the service may do so until they have served thirty years and are retired on a pension with greater security and in better health than the average man in civil life of the same age.

Miss Eva Lou Poe to Attend Aggie Dance

Miss Eva Lou Poe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Poe, has received a letter from the president of the San Angelo A. & M. Club to attend the annual Aggie Dance as sweetheart of Winters, on Christmas night at the St. Angelus Hotel in San Angelo.

C. L. Cooke of Eden was transacting business here Tuesday.

CHICKENS . . . . . tattoo

The principal obstacle to bringing chicken thieves to justice is the difficulty of identifying the stolen chickens. Some bright poultryman invented a method of branding chickens, and the movement for registering the individual tattoo marks of each professional poultry raiser is spreading, throughout the northern and eastern parts of the country.

Cattle rustling and horse stealing were made difficult and finally almost eliminated by the use of private registered brands. I don't see any reason why it should not work equally well in the war on chicken thieves.

Miss Augusta Bond of Abilene visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Marshall the past week-end, a guest of Miss June Marshall.

"YOU MUST BE PLEASED"

A PERSONAL GIFT

NEWS APPRECIATED

A Toast to the Ladies!

IF YOU'RE A MAN WITHOUT AN IDEA, TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THESE SUGGESTIONS.

LADIES love flattery! They love to think that you have pondered weak and weary over many a quaint and curious present before deciding what should go to them for Christmas. But despair not! Christmas knights, this does not mean pounding pavements until your soles and temper are worn thin, for on this page you will find a heap of ideas that might have come from the lady herself...

If you know she needs hosiery it is very nice to give her half a dozen pairs, and if she has been dropping hints since last Christmas that she would like a watch, then by all means see that she gets it. But how grand it will be if you give her something that she herself has never thought of. It will cause your stock to soar heavenward.

There is nothing quite so thrilling as to have fumbling fingers unwrap the tissues and come upon a perfectly grand bottle of perfume. If you know her favorite scent, it will be extra nice of you if you buy the very largest bottle you can find. But if you don't stick to the well known brands and you will be pretty sure of choosing a winner. There are some triplets around town, fine perfumes of well known makers, boxed three bottles to the set, and each a different scent.

For wives, and ladies about to become wives there is nothing quite equal to the gift of jewelry... all this assuming that you are a reasonable distance from the poorhouse. What the jeweler in this town are showing is enough to make mouths water, and fingers itch.

But if you are a swain of lighter loves, a bit of costume jewelry will show that you are the kind of man who knows what's what. There are so many interesting tidbits around, not in the least insignificant. Mere males are liable to think anything less than diamonds not worth the giving. For instance a rhinestone bracelet or set of clips would make a grand gift for any feminine name on any gift list, providing the lady is between sixteen and sixty. Then there are lovely gold things of the renaissance period that are just right for those women who like the unusual and very chic.

Next to jewels, furs will promote or retain romance for you. If the lady is your wife or your daughter, take her down to your favorite store and let her buy the coat she would willingly give her right arm for. Or give her a check with the stipulation that it is to be used for a fur coat. If the lady is not your wife, but is still very important, a fur scarf, or one of the luxurious little capes that our furriers have been holding before her envious eyes, will be just the gift...

Now suppose you have a lady on your list who always lunges into her knitting when you come to spend a quiet evening. Why not give her something luxurious in the way of a knitting bag, with enough of the very best yarn in town to make a sweater or a dress. She will bless you for it, and it may rate you some extra invitations to come and entertain her with conversation while she sticks to her knitting. Any of the better shops will help you select the yarn and tell you just how much to get.

An idea that would make you a hero in any woman's eyes is an evening bag that you very well know she would never buy for herself. There are perfectly lovely ones to be had. Some of them are beaded, but newer, and we think much smarter, are the lovely lames in both gold and silver. One of either will prove to her that you are up on the fashion news of the day.

If she's a globe trotter, don't forget that she would like nothing better than one of those very good looking linen trunks that slide under a pullman seat as easily as a dachshund.

Not exactly a new suggestion, but one that stands up remarkably well, is an old standby for Christmas, the compact. And if you're a male who objects to loose powder sifting out of a bulging box in your pocket, you'll appreciate the slender new models almost as much as she will! They have firm clasps, really take much less room than a cigarette case, and have room for practically everything! You'll find them at almost every store too... above all, they're the sort of thing that a woman likes to buy for herself but seldom does!

And even though you aren't in on this secret yet, she probably spends a lot of time in front of her dressing table. That's the place to put a reminder, if you want to be remembered! Some of the new dresser sets, in metal and enamel, are just about the grandest things in the world for that purpose, and if you want to make the gift a bit more unusual look around for a perfume bottle in the manner of some of the very old ones. Many of them come in pairs... and the only ones that are any more stunning are the very, very modern ones. So let her taste in these matters be your guide!

Wingate Chapter

The Wingate Vocational Agricultural boys have completed a record up to date on their baby beef calves.

Jack Patton's calf has been on feed 52 days, cost $9.47, gained 140 pounds, an average of 2.69 pounds per day. Buddy Mahurin's calf on feed 65 days, cost $14.90, gained 190 pounds, an average of 2.92 pounds per day. R. E. Hodges calf on feed 45 days, cost $9.80, gained 138 pounds, an average of 3.07 pounds per day. These calves have done exceedingly well for no more experience than the boys have had.

We plan to be initiated by the Bradshaw F. F. A. December 11. A Future Farmer from Winters joined our chapter last Monday.

The V. A. Boys have been working hard trying to learn how to build terraces.

In talking over a rural telephone line last week we misunderstood our informant and stated that Mrs. George Lloyd, Buck Smith, Addie Busby and Miss Carrie Hoots of the Pump-hrey community attended a B. T. U. meeting at Winters Tuesday night and heard Rev. Stevens of Ranger. It should have read that the Pump-hrey ladies "attended a W. M. U. meeting at the Winters Baptist church and heard Rev. Wilson Fielder."

Jobless--

tion. The man who has proved by his past record that he wants to work will draw a proportionately larger benefit than the driftier, the shiftless and the occasional worker." The commission chairman called attention to the very strict wording of the law in regard to employers. An "employer" is any firm or individual who, during any calendar year, in any twenty weeks of that year, employed as many as eight persons all or any part of those weeks. Eight persons working half-a-day each per week in twenty weeks would be sufficient to bring the employer under the law.

For the first five years of the administration, Anderson added, employers would have no difficulty in computing their "contributions" or tax rate, as the rates are specified in the law. Thereafter, each employer's rate will be determined by his past employment record. A good record—low labor turnover—would result in a lowered contribution rate.

A point emphasized was that payments to employees—benefits—will be payable in 1938. Employers must pay the tax next January, based on their 1936 pay rolls. Moreover, if during 1935 they might have been classed as an employer, although not so classed in 1936, they must report to the commission.

Liberality of Payments

Another widespread misunderstanding was in regard to the liberality of payments. The observation had been made, Anderson recalled, that it would "bankrupt the state to pay all unemployed people $15 per week." It is not the commission's plan, he said, to pay all unemployed people. "Because any man can draw benefits, he must have had a substantial period of employment prior to the unemployment. To draw benefits for as long as 15 weeks in any one year, he must have been employed sixty consecutive weeks prior thereto. The maximum any unemployed man can draw benefits is 25 weeks in any one year; and to do so, he must have worked steadily for five years, prior thereto."

Finally, Anderson explained, an integral part of the commission's work will be to find jobs for the unemployed as rapidly as possible. To stimulate the worker to get work if possible, he must remain unemployed two weeks before drawing any benefits; he must always be ready and available to take a job if open; he must work for himself if there is any type of "self-employment" which he has ordinarily followed in other periods of unemployment; and his unemployment must have been through no fault of his own.

Anderson said that from time to time explanations would be made available of the more technical provisions of the act. "This law is new to us, as it is to you. We are going to have to work out our problems together, one by one, as they arise. To make it a success entails the cooperation of all of us."

Graying and white hair is very sensitive and easily discolored by heat, whether of steam or an iron, particularly when it is permanently waved. An acid condition of the system also reacts on the hair in the form of yellow streaks. Ordinary shampoo cannot remove these discolorations but the pure white brilliance is easily restored with a concentrated bluing rinse recently developed.
