Crews Community Holds Display

Bill Miller's record - breaking 23 feet 2 inch broad jump in the AA regional contests at Lubbock last week surpassed the 22 feet 8 inch jump made by Andy Springer of Abilene, who won the contest in class AAAA, setting a new record in that class.

Geographically, the area included in the region in which Winters High School youngsters took first place in the literary events of Interscholastic League contests last week, covers almost half of the state of Texas.

Things it's hard not to notice dept.: The apparent timidity of a bunch of Lions, who usually make the walls bulge with their singing, but when accompanied by their wives, as at the Lions banquet Tuesday night, sing so softly as to be hardly audible.

Now that Hawaii has been successful in her march to statehood, little bits of information are beginning to crop up, and people all over are learning more and more about this youngster of the United States family. It's probably going to be quite a race between Alaska and Hawaii to see who gets the most attention and who attracts the most dollars from Big Brother.

For instance, we recently learned that the Hawaiian alphabet has only 13 letters, and every word in the language ends in a vowel.

And we also note that twelve families own 30 percent of all the land in Hawaii. One estate owns (Continued on last page)

Crews Community organization held a display affair Monday evening at the Community Center. These displays were in competition with other communities in the State Rural Neighborhood Progress Contest which is sponsored by the Farmer Stockman and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The exhibits were judged by Miss Thelma Casey of San Angelo, district home demonstration agent; Miss Sue Hawthorne of Sweetwater, Nolan County Home Demonstration Agent; Larry Burleson of College Station, Texas Extension Service; Sterling Lindsey, of Robert Lee, Coke County Agent; Ray Huckaby of San Angelo, district agent.

Exhibits depicting the various phases of community progress were displayed by members of the Crews Community. Displays included were church progress, recreation, quilts, home improvement, health, farm income and beautification. Ribbons and trophies won by the students of the community who attend school at Talpa, Winters and Ballinger were also on display.

Assets of the Crews Community were listed on a large white placard which centered the stage of the community center.

Committee chairmen for the affair were Mrs. Marion Wood, health; Jake Presley, farm income; Mrs. Quincy Traylor, Mrs. Robert Gerhart, beautification; Marion Wood, building; Mrs. Ralph McWilliams, church; Mrs. Noble Faubion, recreation; Mrs. Owen Bragg, awards; Mrs. Chester McBeth, quilting; Mrs. M. R. Petrie, home improvement.

Following supper, which was served buffet style, officers were elected. Those elected were Chester McBeth, president; Sam Faubion, vice president; Mrs. S. J. Brevard, secretary and Obed Fuller, treasurer.

City Council Reorganized Monday Night

The Winters City Council was reorganized at the regular meeting Monday night, and councilmen were assigned to individual departments within the city management framework.

Barney Bryant, who was recently elected to the council, will be in charge of the city-owned light and power plant, and Ralph Lloyd, the other new member of the group, will take over the street and sanitation department.

A. B. Spill will have charge of the municipal hospital. Lee Harrison will take over the water and sewer department, and Elzie Cox will be in charge of the swimming pool and cemeteries. Cox also was named mayor pro tem.

The council also accepted a bid for the lease of the municipal swimming pool. W. T. Stapler and Don Edwards, coaches in the Winters school system, have leased the swimming pool for the season.

Installation of the new water tanks in the city water department is nearing completion, according to Mayor Harvey D. Jones. The council will make an acceptance inspection within a few days, he said.

C. R. Kendrick and Tab Hatler, representing the Winters Chamber of Commerce, met with the City Council to discuss the street marking project. Further work and investigation is being made of the project, according to Mayor Jones. About $300 has been collected in the campaign to ask residents to donate $2.00 per home to help finance the street markers.

Mayor Jones said this week that all meetings of the City Council will be open to the public. He invited Winters residents to visit with the council and take an active interest in the management of their city government.

Bill Miller Sets New Jump Record

Bill Miller, Winters High School senior student, set a new broad jump record at the AA regional contests in Lubbock Friday. His jump of 23 feet 2 inches exceeded the old record of 22 feet 2 inches set in 1957.

In the finals of the field events, Winters athletes made a total of 8 points, behind Seminole, Cisco, Olton, Stamford, Floydada and Coleman.

Miller placed second in the 100-yard dash event.

150 Attended Lions Banquet Tuesday

About 150 persons heard Homer Jordan Jr., vice president of the San Angelo school board, list five rules for better living at the Lions Club 35th anniversary banquet Tuesday night.

The five, Jordan said, are: 1. Keep life simple. 2. Always say the cheerful thing. 3. Like people. 4. Be enthusiastic. 5. Have the right attitude.

Special music was by a Ballinger High School girls quintet of Kay Mansell, Martha Grant, Karen Conner, Jerea Summers and Donna Atkins.

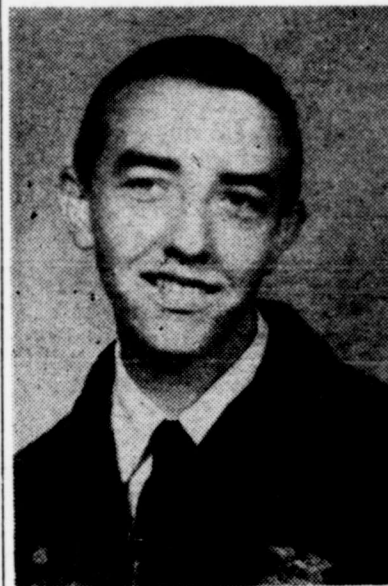

Rodney Cathey, Winters High School principal, was master of ceremonies.

ROGER BABSON SAYS

"People Buy Cars - Large or Small - For Prestige, Not Transportation"

Babson Park, Mass.—I have recently been talking with a prominent General Motors official about small cars. He is rather skeptical as to whether small cars built by General Motors would sell after the first year or two. Reason:—"Most people buy cars—large and small—for prestige, not for transportation. This desire for prestige causes us to build larger and heavier cars."

The average buyer wants to keep up with or go ahead of his neighbor! In fact, this is the real reason he buys small imported cars,—to have a car to talk about, not to save gas. "In fact, I believe"—he continued—"That the present buying of Ramblers is largely a fad. Style and fashion now apply as much to automobiles as to the length of skirts, size of hats, or color of shoes worn by women."

Careful Supervision
I have taken a long time to get to my point, which is this: You can make no expenditure of money which will give you such prestige as will owning a few shares of stock in your best local bank. But, be sure to get the stock of your most conservative and most highly regarded bank. Owning stock in "second stringers" will not give you prestige.

But there are other more important reasons for owning some shares in such a bank. Banks are the most carefully government-supervised form of investment. Once or twice each year the Federal Government Examiners call (unannounced in advance) to make an audit of your local National Bank; this is in addition to certain State examinations. This means that the stock which you buy should be of a National Bank, or else you should get a letter from one of the bank officers stating that it has joined the Federal Reserve System, which includes certain qualified State Banks and Trust Companies.

Diversification and "Hidden Assets"

The assets of National Banks and of many State Banks and Trust Companies are exceedingly well diversified. As owner of a National Bank stock, your money is loaned to hundreds of different companies or individuals, most of them the best risks in your city; but loans are also made to large national companies. No Mutual Fund or Investment Trust has its assets as well diversified; furthermore, a condensed financial statement of the bank is published in your local paper once or twice a year.

Whenever a bank examiner thinks an investment or loan is questionable, he asks that the bank collect it, or sell it, or charge it off to one dollar! Usually, the

Labor Bill Causes Fight in Congress

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

The politically-charged Kennedy Labor bill survived efforts to strengthen it in the Senate last week. A coalition of northern liberals and southern democrats blocked efforts by Senator McClellan to include amendments which the Arkansas Senator said were necessary in order to curb corruption and abuses his investigating committee has uncovered.

The first skirmish on an amendment by McClellan, enacting a Bill of Rights to protect the rights of union members against arbitrary actions by union leaders, met a tie vote of 45-to-45. Vice President Nixon broke the tie and voted to approve the bill of rights and thereby strengthen the bill and its effectiveness.

On that vote 14 southerners voted with McClellan to strengthen the bill, while 9 southerners voted the other way.

McClellan's amendment to prohibit secondary boycotts, the most important strengthening amendment offered, did not have a chance, however, being turned back by a vote of 50-to-41. The same southern coalition which opposed the bill of rights combined again with the northern liberals to defeat the McClellan amendment.

The third test related to organizational picketing, another key amendment by McClellan which he maintained was needed to curb abuses by certain union leaders and provide necessary protection to the public. But it was defeated by a whopping 59-to-30.

One Washington newspaper editorial described it as a battle between Senator Kennedy, a candidate for President, and Senator McClellan, a defender of the rights of union members and the public interest.

In the meantime, the House labor committee continued hearings on bills to provide fair and effective legislation along the line urged by Senator McClellan. Observers doubt that the House committee, as presently composed, will approve a labor bill that will have any teeth in it.

FARM and RANCH LOANS

We have an arrangement with our New York connection through which we are prepared to make farm and ranch loans on very attractive and liberal terms. The interest rate is as low as the lowest and repayment privilege is most attractive and the time element in permitting the loan to run permits the borrower to make the annual payments even in lean years. We have been making these loans for about ten years and many have expressed their appreciation for placing at the disposal of those who may need farm and ranch loans the attractive terms. We do not want to encourage people to borrow money unnecessarily but where the needs are in evidence and a real estate loan may be to their advantage we shall welcome an opportunity to discuss the liberal terms of this arrangement.

Please come in any time for the purpose of talking to us about the advantages and the liberality of these loans.

Brother of Winters Man Found Dead In His Brady Home

Mr. and Mrs. George Shuffield attended the funeral of his brother, Criss Shuffield at Brady Saturday morning. Burial was at Stacy Cemetery.

Mr. Shuffield, 76, lived alone and had been in failing health for the past few months. His brother, Henry, found him dead when he went over for a visit. The doctor thought he must have died Tuesday.

Surviving are four brothers, Henry of Brady, George of Winters, Joe of Montana and Bill of Comanche. Twenty-two nephews and nieces also survive.

IN BUTTS HOME

Visiting Mrs. Harless Butts the weekend were her sisters, Mrs. Edith Parry and Mrs. I. D. Shott, both of Lubbock, Mrs. Irma Willis of Abilene, also, M-Sgt. and Mrs. J. M. Boatright and son, M-Sgt. Boatright has just returned from Frankfurt, Germany. His new assignment will be San Antonio.

questioned asset is charged off even though the directors believe it will turn out okay. On the bank's books it will henceforth appear at a value of one dollar. These charged-off assets are known as "hidden assets." Many of them will someday become valuable. The older a bank is, the more such hidden assets it will have. Hence, this is one reason for buying stock in an old bank.

Market and Yield

With the exception of stocks of large banks in New York City and a few others, their marketability is not good. This means that local banks stocks are hard to buy or sell,—that is, they are not "listed" nor are they officially traded "over the counter." So, when you wish to buy or sell ten shares, you should go to the President or to one of the other higher officers who will invite you to sit by his desk and give your story. He will want to know whether you will be an asset to the bank's reputation or not. Secondly, such a stock is much like joining an exclusive club.

Bank stocks are issued at various par values from $10 to $100. Most sell at a premium over their book values. Before talking with your banker about buying, you should call upon one of the directors whom you may know. Ask him to explain all this to you. Ask the approximate price and the annual dividend. The latter, divided by the price, gives you the yield. That is, if the stock sells at $25 and pays an annual dividend of $100, then the stock yields you 4 percent. This may seem a small yield, but it is not too little for the security, diversification, and supervision which you receive.

P.S. Be sure to go to the stockholders' meeting each year and meet your other "club" members.

Silver Tea Hosted By Diversity Club Thursday Afternoon

Approximately forty guests attended a silver tea hosted by the Diversity Club in the First Methodist Church parlor Thursday afternoon. A generous contribution to the TFWC fund for the professional nursing scholarship was made by the group.

Serving as club hostesses were Mrs. W. B. Middleton, Mrs. W. T. Billups, Mrs. Z. I. Hale and Mrs. Earl Roach.

The program featured a book review by Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, well known club woman and reviewer. She used for her selection "Green Grows Ivy" by Ivy Baker Priest and cleverly pictured the background life and accomplishments of the first woman treasurer of the United States.

Several factors contributed to putting the author, who termed herself a wife, mother, mother-in-law and treasurer of the United States, in politics. These varied from poverty, her three children and mud.

The foundation of her career was begun in a small mining town, where her family operated a boarding house. She starting in politics by campaigning for a mayor in exchange for his promise to put sidewalks in front of their home to get rid of the mud.

It was in Salt Lake City that her political career actually began, following her graduation from high school.

After her marriage there to Roy Priest, she continued her political activities. She was serving as Republican National Committee woman when President Eisenhower appointed her treasurer of the United States.

Many clever incidents were mingled with sage advice as Mrs. Dudley told her story. Following her father's advice, Mrs. Priest divided the world in two groups of people.

"My father told me years ago that there are people who do and those who are done for, this I have found to be true," Mrs. Dudley quoted her as saying.

Mrs. W. B. Middleton, club president, greeted the guests and presented Mrs. Dudley.

The tea table, laid with white cutwork linen was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Nurses caps were featured in other table decorations.

Mrs. Roy Young ladeled punch and Mrs. Billups and Mrs. Roach assisted in serving cookies and nuts.

State Capitol Highlights:

Legislature Still In Middle of Muddle Over Tax-Appropriations Bills

By VERN SANFORD

Most people in or connected with the 56th Legislature are comforting themselves with the knowledge that air conditioning was installed in House and Senate chambers last year.

It may be pretty hot, they say, before a majority of both houses come to agreement on new taxes.

House members systematically cut to pieces the big omnibus tax bill (HB 727). As originally proposed, it would have raised $330,000,000, mostly from scores of new selective sales taxes on items ranging from face paint to house paint. After members got through cutting out the things that brought the loudest howls, it was down to less than one-fourth its starting size.

It was then given preliminary approval (second reading by the narrowest of votes, 74-to-72, counting Speaker Waggoner Carr's "yes" vote. Carr stepped down from the speaker's rostrum to plead with members to pass the bill, even though it had been stripped to practically nothing, so as to "get something to the Senate."

Senate cannot consider a tax bill until it has been passed by the House. But for the Senate, getting the shattered fragments of HB 727 is like getting four wheels and some broken glass with the invitation to make an automobile.

Task Ahead

In the days that remain until May 12, or in special sessions thereafter, the Legislature faces these decisions:

1. Appropriations—House has passed a bill calling for $332,000,000 in general revenue; Senate, a bill for $302,000,000. Differences must be adjusted in conference committee, which neither presiding officer seemed in a hurry to appoint. This could mean some sort of agreement that there would be no final decision on the appropriations bill until a tax program emerges.

2. Taxes—Either house's spending bill, with the deficit added in, would require something around $200,000,000 in new tax money. It would add some $100,000,000 a year to state expenses.

Abandoned Property "Abandoned"

In a vote that surprised many, the House killed the abandoned property bill, 80-to-67.

Proposed measure would have allowed the state to take over dormant bank accounts and property held by insurance companies, utilities and oil and gas companies if it had gone unclaimed seven years.

Some felt that Gov. Price Daniel, who had fought strenuously for the bill, might regard its defeat as third term fodder. He said at one time its passage meant more to him than anything since the tidelands.

Afterward, the governor said "the fight has just begun." He was critical of Speaker Carr for having allowed the measure to come to a vote when it did.

"Cow Bills" Pass

Senate has given final approval to three bills affecting ranchers and dairymen.

A milk bill, sponsored by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, would prohibit bringing in milk from other states unless it could be established that the milk was produced under the health and sanitation standards placed on Texas producers.

Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney pushed through a bill that would provide a penalty for allowing cattle to roam on state and national highways and relieve motorists of liability for hitting stock.

A bill tightening licensing regulations of veterinarians also was passed by the Senate. Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress, sponsor, noted that there is no present law to suspend licenses of veterinarians guilty of malpractice.

What's The Use

Senators refused, 16-to-15, to take up Sen. A. M. Aikin's bill to improve schools and raise teacher pay.

Those who opposed said passing the bill before tax money is found wouldn't bring a "crying dime" to the teachers.

Hopeful teachers could take some comfort from the fact that some who voted against considering the bill said they would favor it when money is on hand.

Loan Shark Curb Passed

Texans will probably have an opportunity to vote in November, 1960, on whether to adopt a new approach for regulating lending practices.

Both House and Senate have approved a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow the Legislature to regulate the amount of interest that could be charged. Present 10 per cent ceiling on interest, set in the Constitution, would be abolished.

A constitutional amendment must be approved by the voters at a general election after it has been passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor.

Backers of the change say it will pave the way for driving loan sharks out of Texas. Such a measure has been sought for a number of years and has the backing of Texas Legislative Council.

More Colleges Okayed

Texas is on the way to having a new medical school and three new state-supported four-year colleges.

Senate, in a burst of educational zeal, passed bills to (1) elevate Arlington State College between Fort Worth and Dallas to a senior college, (2) make Tarleton State College at Stephenville a four-year college, (3) make Midwestern University at Wichita Falls a four-year state-supported college and (4) establish a new University of Texas medical branch at San Antonio.

All except the Midwestern bill already had been passed by the House.

Open Meetings Approved

Meetings of state, city, county and district boards and their records will be required to be open to the public under a bill given final Senate approval.

Measure that passed was a combination of Sen. Preston Smith's "open meetings" bill and Sen. George Parkhouse's "open records" bill.

Senate Jurisprudence Committee had amended Smith's original proposal to say that closed meetings could be held "for the discussion of appointments or matters which, if made public, might adversely affect the public security or the financial interests of the state or its political subdivisions.

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

Oh, but I DO have my glasses on!

Today, this is becoming a fairly common statement. Many people are being fitted with CONTACT lenses, with perfect success, eliminating heavy spectacles. In many instances, much better vision is achieved with contacts.

Progress in this field of vision care has been tremendous even in the last two years. Use of contacts now may be possible for you even if unsuccessful before.

Not all optometrists fit contact lenses. Those who do not will refer the work to those with special training.

For information, write Texas Optometric Association, Contact Lens Section, Bolm Bldg., Austin, Texas.

"Appointment With a Shadow" Edge-of-the-seat suspense keynotes Universal-International's "Appointment With a Shadow," coming Saturday and Sunday to the Fiesta theatre, with George Nader, Joanna Moore, Brian Keith, and Virginia Field as its quartet of stars.

Nader, a boozing ex-reporter, can't get the police to believe that a stakeout which he, Nader, witnessed from a nearby rooftop, brought death to a "plant" rather than to the gangster, Dutch Hayden, whom police believe they have slain. Through the gangster's striptease girl friend, Virginia Field, Nader is trapped, but eventually manages to turn the tables on the gangster.

Nader's portrayal of a down-and-out reporter, particularly his struggle to resist liquor, is a top job for the popular star. In her first starring role, Joanna Moore as the girl friend, displays a flair for the dramatic after several frothy roles. Brian Keith is a rugged police lieutenant and Frank deKova a perfect villain. Direction by Richard Carlson builds to high suspense. The film was produced by Howie Horwitz.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof"

MGM presents a distinguished attraction in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," filmization of the Tennessee Williams stage hit, which won both the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award. Elizabeth Taylor, in her first role since her Academy Award nomination for "Raintree County," and Paul Newman, one of the screen's most popular younger stars, portray the wife and husband on the verge of a marital crack-up, with the ace cast also starring Burl Ives, Jack Carson and Judith Anderson, with Madeleine Sherwood.

Both Ives and Miss Sherwood re-create their original Broadway stage roles of the Williams drama; Ives as Big Daddy, the rich Delta plantation owner, Miss Sherwood as Mae, the avaricious daughter-in-law married to Carson. Judith Anderson, one of the stage and screen's outstanding actresses, plays Big Mama, whose love for the domineering patriarch of the family never wavers. "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" tells the story of a divided family and the conflict between its members when they are faced with the impending death of the father. The crisis brings to the surface the innate character of the two sons and their wives, revealing in one instance greed and opportunism; in the other unselfishness and devotion.

It is also the story of one of these couples, Brick Pollitt (Paul Newman) who takes refuge in alcohol in an effort to escape adult responsibility, and Maggie (Miss Taylor), obsessed with a passion for her disturbed husband and as determined as a cat on a hot tin roof to break down his resistance to her love.

An Avon Production for MGM, filmed in color, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" was produced by Lawrence Weingarten and was directed by Richard Brooks. The screen play was written by Brooks and James Poe. Weingarten last produced the successful "Don't Go Near the Water" and Brooks is the director of "The Brothers Karamazov," one of MGM's biggest hits.

"Peyton Place" Few films of recent years have attracted the audience, critical and award-giving attention of Jerry Wald's "Peyton Place," a CinemaScope De Luxe Color Twentieth Century-Fox release playing the State Theatre Thursday and Friday. The story of life, love and morality in a small New England town (actually filmed in Camden, Maine) was a heavy Academy Award contender in the spring of 1957, winning nine nominations—five for performances, and as best picture of the year, for best direction, best screenplay and for the brilliant photography.

As directed by Mark Robson—who also directed "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness"—"Peyton Place" stars Lana Turner, Hope Lange, Lee Phillips, Lloyd Nolan, Diane Varsi, Arthur Kennedy, Russ Tamblyn and Terry Moore.

—ALWAYS THE BEST AVAILABLE SELECTED SHORTS—

By VERN SANFORD

We've been reading a great deal in the newspapers recently about selective kills and the netting of rough fish in Texas lakes and streams. This job has become so big and so important that the Game and Fish Commission is using airplanes and helicopters to spread rotenone on the surface of major impoundments.

Such work has been carefully planned. Through constant testing, the fishery biologist has learned exactly how much rotenone is required to kill off certain kinds of rough fish without affecting the game fish that are in the water. He also has learned that where there is a preponderance of rough fish, the game fish population diminishes. Bass that should weigh four pounds never get much larger than yearlings. And soon net tests on the lake show that by both weight and number, the rough fish have taken over.

Most of us think of rough fish in terms of carp, buffalo and gar. One of the major problems, however, is the hickory shad, which is prevalent in every lake in Texas. Shad multiply by the millions. They soon take over, consuming food that otherwise might go into making bigger and better game fish.

When an impoundment becomes overpopulated with these fast breeding shad, there are three methods of control.

Simplest, of course, is to empty the lake. Sometimes this is done. But seldom is it practical. Another method is a heavy dosage capable of killing all the fish in the lake. Naturally, this is undesirable.

The next step is a selective kill. Usually the water of the lake is lowered. Then a mixture of rotenone is spread over the surface of the lake, either by plane or boat. This is the latest and the preferred method.

Within the last few years many tons of shad have been killed by this selective treatment. Better fishing always has resulted. It is a constant job, however, because the shad multiply fast. Even in lakes where they have been completely killed out, they are re-introduced by fishermen who bring in minnows which include shad.

This chemical treatment of water is a job that should not be done by individuals. Biologists of the Game & Fish Commission have spent a great deal of time in research. They also have worked closely with other biologists in other state departments. They have come up with a pretty exact science which is important to the future of fishing not only in Texas, but elsewhere.

Commercial Fishermen Helpful
There also is another factor in rough fish control that should not be overlooked. This is the legal commercial fisherman.

Although many rod and reel fishermen hate such fish as carp and buffalo, there are others who like their meat. The same is true of gar. This fish finds a ready market in large centers of population.

Right here we might say a word in behalf of the numerous commercial fishermen who work many of the lakes and streams of Texas. These fishermen are required to have a license from the state. They are not allowed to take and sell any game fish. In some waters they are not allowed to take catfish.

On the other hand, these commercial fishermen each year take thousands of pounds of such fish as carp, buffalo and gar.

Recently I watched a couple of these commercial fishermen at work. They were running a net across a channel in one of our North Texas lakes. They were in a 12-foot aluminum boat. Their net must have been a couple of hundred feet long. Before they had reached more than a third of its distance, they had their boat almost filled with these rough fish. They had to return to shore and empty the boat before they could run the nets again.

They got two boatloads of fish from that net in an overnight haul. They iced the fish down in a pickup and hauled them to the nearest city fish market, where they found a ready sale.

There have been time, and probably still will be, when commercial fishermen will ignore the law and take game fish when they shouldn't. Sometimes they use excuses that the fish was caught in the net and died before they could get it out. Wardens and biologists are watchful of these fishermen. Those who violate the law lose their licenses.

There always is a need for the commercial man who is legitimate.

In fact, this need may grow as time goes on. Ken Jurgens, assistant director of Inland Fisheries, thinks so. He says the time is coming soon when fish management will be required to fill the needs for fish.

When that time comes, the commercial fisherman, with his currently undesirable fish, may fill a great demand for food fish," he said.

Jurgens also paid tribute to the many individual or corporation lake owners throughout the state.

"Some of these places are taking the lead in experimentation which is helpful on public waters," he said. "Their leadership is badly needed, with fishing pressure increasing every day."

Hints Offered For Farm Fish Ponds

Fertilization is the best way to keep submerged pond weeds under control in the eastern half of Texas, says E. H. Cooper, extension wildlife conservation specialist. However, he adds, chemical control is usually necessary in other areas of the state.

Spring and early summer are the only periods when control methods are really effective, he adds.

A little plant growth in shallow areas around margins of the pond is not harmful and control should be taken only when it becomes obvious that plants are spreading extensively.

Sodium arsenite will control most submerged aquatic plants with the exception of chara. Algae and chara can be controlled with copper sulfate.

Fertilizers will increase the microscopic plant and animal life in the pond and they will provide food for water insects and other organisms on which fish feed.

Good fertilizers to use are 16-20-0, 4-12-4, and 5-10-5. Barnyard manure, cottonseed meal or soybean meal may also be used.

Chemicals for aquatic plant control are not harmful to fish or livestock if the proper amount is applied and the recommended techniques of application are followed.

Treat with chemicals at about two week intervals, covering approximately one-third of the weedy area per treatment. This method will allow plants to decompose in smaller masses, and thus reduce the hazard of oxygen loss to fish, Cooper said.

If you have a plant causing trouble in your pond and cannot identify it, take a pressed, dried sample of it to your county agent.

Additional information may be obtained by ordering B-213, "Improve Your Farm Fish Ponds," from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

The subject of next Sunday's International Sunday School lesson is, Wise Management. The meditation: "Dr. William Axling, former missionary to Japan, relates in his memoirs the method used to fight fires in Japan in the early years of this century. To localize a fire, the fire-fighters tore down the surrounding houses so the fire would die out from lack of fuel. Because of his responsibility to the neighborhood, a heavy fine was levied on the owner or the occupant of the house where the fire began. If the fire was disastrous to the community, public opinion would make it impossible for the owner to rebuild his house on the same site.

Every individual has a responsibility to his family and to his neighbors. None of us can shirk these responsibilities. Our attitudes and actions, like the Japanese fires, involve many people."

Camp Wood Lake For Girl Scouts Will Open Sunday, June 7

Mrs. A. C. Robbins, president of the Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council, announced today that Camp Wood Lake, the council-owned established camp, would open its fourth year of operation on Sunday, June 7, for a period of six weeks.

Many of the Winters Girl Scouts have previously attended Camp Wood Lake and several plan to attend this year.

Camp Wood Lake is located 23 miles from Brownwood in the 36th Division State Park. It is a beautiful site located on the shores of Lake Brownwood. The site contains 73 acres of wooded hills and valleys, with a shoreline offering endless opportunities for real camping. There is a waterfront for swimming and boating.

In the main camp, there is a large dining hall which will accommodate one hundred, a craft house centrally located for all campers to use, and two camping units. Each unit contains seven tent frames and a shower house. In addition, there is a troop camp building that is open the year round for troop camping.

The outstanding feature of a Girl Scout camp is the way it is set up. Knowing that there are good and bad features in both large and small groups, the Girl Scouts have set up a plan of camping that retains the virtues of both. It is called the unit plan of camping. The camps are large enough to provide a variety of people and activities. On the other hand, the camps are divided into small units giving the girls the chance to form friendships easily and receive personal attention from the counselors.

The unit plan of camping is an effective way of teaching self-government. The girls elect their own unit representative, and thereby help to run their small camp community. In learning the techniques of managing their own affairs to day, Girl Scouts prepare themselves for active citizenship tomorrow.

Approximately $50,000 has been spent in developing Camp Wood Lake. The money, for the most part, has come from profits from the Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale, conducted by the girls themselves. The camp will accommodate campers per week. All fly-up Brownies, Intermediate, and Senior scouts are eligible to attend. One and two-week sessions are offered.

Camp program is planned by the girls under the guidance of their counselors. Swimming and boating instruction is a regularly scheduled activity with a certified Red Cross Instructor in charge.

Twirler Try-Outs Set for May 10 At High School

Try-outs for junior high and senior high majorette will be held Saturday May 10th, beginning at 10 a.m. on the front lawn of the high school, it has been announced by Robert Gans, band director.

Judges for the competition will be Odie Claxton, formerly drum major with the McMurry College Band and Fred Steffey, band director at South Junior High in Abilene.

Twirlers will be required to perform all the Interscholastic League fundamentals and an original routine not to exceed five minutes in length. The girls will be judged on excellence of performance, showmanship, personality and poise.

Results of the competition will be announced at the spring concert May 14.

Winters FFA Will Hold Parent-Son Banquet Monday

Winters chapter of the Future Farmers of America will hold their annual Parent-Son banquet in the school cafeteria Monday evening, May 4.

Guest speaker for the event will be Frankie Burkhart, FFA state vice president, Area IV, from Stephenville.

Roeneal Boles, outgoing president, will install the chapter officers for the year 1959-60.

Other activities consist of archery, natural crafts, dramatics, singing, games, hiking, cookouts, and over-nights.

The Girl Scouts were among the first to establish high standards of health and safety in camping. Today the Girl Scouts are acknowledged leaders in good camping practices. Their national standards are founded on the best experience of local camps, and on the recommendations of the American National Red Cross and state and Federal health departments. Locally and nationally there is active cooperation with the American Camping Association to maintain these high standards.

The Heart of Texas Council develops, operates, and maintains the camp. Mrs. Ray A. Hoyle is executive director of the Council. Mrs. Wayne Holland is camp director. All camping sessions are supervised by Girl Scout staff members.

Restocking Is Rewarding To 1958 Hunters

Nearly one third the number of deer restocked on the Cedar Creek Restoration Area in 1953 and 1954 were killed during the 1958 hunting season, according to the Director of Wildlife Restoration, Game and Fish Commission.

During the two earlier years, 209 deer were restocked on the Cedar Creek area. In 1958, the first year hunting has been allowed on the area since restocking, 68 deer were dropped by licensed hunters there. Of these, 33 were killed on leased land and 35 on land not leased.

The Cross Roads Area, also in Henderson County, produced 62 deer. Of this amount, 44 were killed on leased land and 18 were bagged on land not under lease. This section is in the south end of the county, while the Cedar Creek stretch is located in the northwest part.

The total legal harvest for Henderson county in 1958 was 132 deer. Other than those mentioned, two were bagged in the east part of the county near LaRue.

Five deer were killed accidentally on the county highways and there was one known illegal kill. This was doe killed along the Neches River. Five deer were lost to hunters and later found dead.

Home Town Talk—

Continued from page 1) 368,702 acres, or 9 percent of the 4,000,000 acres. Another eleven families own 21 percent of the islands.

Such things could start a trend. It might become popular for small areas or groups to divorce themselves from their mother states; and file application for admission as full-fledged states. Or big private estates or ranches might file for statehood on the ground that they are bigger than Rhode Island or Hawaii.

A friend of ours who owns a patch of mesquite and rock has said he is thinking about detaching from the State, and filing for statehood. He pointed out a lot of advantages in such a move. Said if his land was a separate state he could get the federal government to build a big dam across his creek, and maybe even erect a power plant. Said he could even apply for aid in road building, using federal funds, and it would cost no one anything.

Anyway, he says that the political affiliations of the senators and congressmen from his proposed new state would be the same as that of the senators and congressmen who vote for his new state.

Further, now that Hawaii is joining up, we understand one big automobile manufacturer will be offering models with tight doors and a periscope, to live up to their slogan of "See the U. S. A. . . ."
