Paid your poll tax yet? If you haven't, better make plans now to drop in to the Winters State Bank next Thursday and Friday and get that all-important bit of paper which says you're eligible to vote in 1960 elections.

And there are going to be some mighty important elections this year. Starting with the city elections, which will be held the first Tuesday in April, then the Democratic Primary in May, and finally the big one in November, when a new President of the United States will be elected.

Although there probably will not be many contests in the city and county elections this year, the state elections will be mighty important.

There is much concern over the lack of interest shown by many citizens in exercising their right to have a say in the operation of their government. In many elections, a minority makes the final decision. This year, it could be different.

So if you want to see the game, better buy your ticket.

Perhaps you would like to remember 1959 as the year that Khrushchev visited the United States. We'd like to remember it as the year in which more than 37 new homes were completed in Winters.

Perhaps you would like to remember the past year as the one in which President Eisenhower made his tour of the foreign countries. We'd like to remember it as the year so many business firms in Winters remodeled and enlarged or moved into new quarters. Remodeling was Heidenheimer's, Smith Drug Co., Dr. McCreight, Bedford's Insurance. Moving into new quarters were Bahman Jewelers, Beauty Center, Frank's Barber Shop, Pierce's Cafeteria was opened on South Main Street, and C. L. Green Milling and Grain Co. finished their new elevator. Dry Manufacturing Co. moved into their new quarters around the first of the year, and added more floor space during the year.

Maybe you'd like to remember 1959 as the year Vice President Nixon visited Russia. We'd like to remember it as the year of the biggest maize crop in this area, with more than 380 carloads received in Winters.

You'd like to remember '59 as the year the Russians hit the moon with a rocket? We'd like to remember it as a year of few dust storms, with a total of 38.42 inches of rainfall throughout the year.

Perhaps you'd like to remember the past year as the year of the big earthquake in Montana. We'd like to remember it as the year Winters got its new post office building, street signs, and house numbers.

Or maybe you'd like to mark down 1959 as the year of the big television quiz program scandals. We'd like to remember it as the year of the chamber of commerce sponsored contest to pick the "Most Courteous Saleslady and Salesman," with more than 2600 votes cast.

Maybe you shudder and remember 1959 as the year of the big state tax increases. We remember it as the year when 9425 bales of cotton were ginned by Winters gins.

If you wish, you may note 1959 as an outstanding year because of the many extra sessions of the Texas Legislature. But we'd like to remember it as the year downtown alleys and many streets in Winters were paved.

None of these items, perhaps, would seem overly important when viewed alone, or make more than a line or two of type in the big city papers. But, when added together, they present a picture of steady growth and progress of Winters. Not a boom-growth, but a concrete testimony of the faith and confidence in the future of Winters, by the people of Winters.

Blizzardettes Rap Hamlin 54-18

The Winters Blizzardettes walked over the Hamlin girls' basketball team Monday night, whipping the visitors 54-18. Rita Walker led in points, with 24.

Jeanette Jenkins led the Hamlin girls with 10 points in this non-district contest. Hamlin girls won the freshman game, 24-15.

GUY'S BEST PAL—

"Pal," a 3-year-old toy Labrador, proves that he is man's best friend to his master, Robert Iaquinto, 15, of Minneapolis, Minn. The dog's barking saved seven sleeping persons when the Iaquinto house caught fire.

GUY'S BEST GAL—

Marilyn Van Derbur, Miss America of 1958, smiles over her engagement ring at fiance Gary Nady. She will marry the former Colorado U. football star later this year. He is now head coach of the Parsons College, Iowa, team.

County, District Political Races Are Drawing Little Interest in This County

Although the Feb. 1 filing date for candidates is only a little more than three weeks away, there has been very little activity, politically, in Runnels County thus far. According to The Abilene Reporter-News, only one candidate had formally filed for re-election this week: A. J. Bishop Jr., has filed for re-election to the Texas Legislature.

Bill Harmon, Runnels County Precinct 3 commissioner, announced in The Enterprise last week his intentions to run for another term of office. However, he had not filed with County Democratic Chairman Homer Hudgins by the middle of the week.

Don Atkins, who has served for 11 years as sheriff of Runnels County, told Reporter-News representatives he would formally announce his intention to seek re-election.

There was no indication of race for the office of District Judge, Judge O. L. Parrish Sr., who has served 28 years in the office without opposition. Judge Parrish did not say that he would seek return to office, but that he was "considering it seriously."

District Attorney E. C. Grindstaff must stand for re-election, along with County Attorney O. L. Parish Jr., Pannell Legg, county tax assessor-collector, also will reach the end of his present term of office. There are no indications of contests in any of these offices.

The term of office of Clyde Chapman, county commissioner of Precinct 1, which includes Balingier, will expire with this year.

One constable must run. Herman Baker in Justice Precinct 5 at Winters. Baker was appointed to the office to fill an unexpired term on Jan. 12, 1959.

No justice of the peace contests will be held this year in the county. All were elected in 1958 for four year terms.

Sheriff Atkins was elected in 1948, and Pannell Legg is completing his first term as county assessor-collector. County Attorney O. L. Parish Jr., was elected to office in 1954.

A. J. Bishop, Jr., was elected to the Texas Legislature in 1952, and again in 1956. E. C. Grindstaff, district attorney, has been in office since 1951.

Rev. Richardson served as pastor of the local church for several years before moving to Merkel approximately three years ago.

Winters Gins Ginned 9425 Bales in 1959

Final tabulation this week revealed that Winters gins had ginned 9425 bales of cotton from the 1959 crop. In addition, there were five or six bales left at gins to be processed this week.

Robert Pruser ginned the first bale of cotton of the 1959 crop, receiving bonuses from gin owner Pete Davidson, cotton buyer Floyd Grant, and the Winters Chamber of Commerce. The first bale was ginned August 24.

The 1958, cotton ginned in Winters through Dec. 22 totaled 8600 bales.

Coach Stapler Is Patient In Local Hospital

W. T. Stapler, who received second degree burns on his hands Tuesday in Port Arthur while smothering out his sister's burning dress, is a patient in Winters Municipal Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stapler and son, Wendell, returned home Sunday and he entered the hospital here Monday. His right hand was burned more severely than his left, which has already healed.

Ella Stapler, his sister and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stapler of Hamlin, received second degree burns on her left arm, legs, stomach and back when her dress accidentally caught fire while standing in front of a gas heater. Stapler tried to rip her dress off, beat the flames with his hands and rolled her on the floor before the flames were put out.

Coach Stapler and his sister were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Port Arthur and he was dismissed Thursday. His sister was transferred to the Hamlin Hospital Saturday.

The Staplerys, his mother and sister were visiting in the home of a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Terro, when the accident occurred.

Blizzards Freeze Lakeview 45-43 Tuesday Night

By Billy Lynn Little

Riding on the wings of a fine showing at their own tourney, the Winters Blizzards cracked open the sensational sixties with a breath-taking 45-43 victory over the Lakeview Chiefs Tuesday night.

The Chiefs, out for revenge for the 38-25 spanking the Blizzards handed them in taking 3rd place in the tournament, trailed all the way until with about 3 minutes remaining, Kenneth Phillips dropped 2 free throws, tying the score at 43 all. Lakeview rebounded the Blizzards shot, and with a minute left began playing for the last shot of the ball game. However, Shuffield and company saw what the Chiefs thought was an opening in the Blizzard defense under the basket—too late came the realization that the hole was plugged—the ball got loose, and Jimmy Smith pounced on it.

Now the Blizzards had the chance at the last shot. The sparse crowd, hardly worthy of such a great performance, were on the edge of their seats as Jerry Dunn passed to William Grissom, Grissom to Sammy Albro, Albro to PeeWee Williams, Williams to Smith and then a similar pass pattern. Finally the suspense broke—with 5 seconds left Smith fired the short jump shot, and it was all over.

Jimmy, in playing what might well have been his greatest basketball game dropped in 18 points, Grissom followed with 15. The crowd, or what there was of it, was thrilled again and again by the exploits of this little senior and his crews.

And so, in winning 4 of their last 5 ball games, Coach Jerry English's Blizzards have evened their season record at 4-4 and go into the Stamford tournament with that record. Winters was to have met Avoca Thursday night, and tonight (Friday) will play either the winner or loser of the Hamlin-Breckenridge game. The finals of the tourney, an eight team affair, will be on Saturday.

The "B" team, still unable to find a winning combination, fell to Lakeview 32-25. Jimmy Johnson was high with 10 points.

Poll Tax Sales Here Jan. 14-15

Pannell Legg, Runnels County tax assessor-collector, said this week representatives of his office will be in Winters on January 14-15 to collect poll taxes.

Tax collectors will be at the Winters State Bank on these two days.

Legg said that only 1294 voters in the county had paid poll taxes as of Wednesday noon. It was stressed that the payment of 1959 poll taxes will be more important this year, because of the national, state and local elections to be held.

ROGER BABSON SAYS

"Land and Natural Resources Are Good Hedge Against Inflation"

I don't see how buying Dow-Jones common stocks now can be a hedge against inflation. This is not to say that they may not go higher; but these stocks are already too inflated to be bought as "inflation hedges" by intelligent people.

Requirements For An Inflation Hedge

First, good inflation hedge characteristics must be based upon tangible and marketable assets and not on "good will" or temporary earnings. Second, these tangible assets should be land or natural resources such as oil, gas, minerals, water power, or woodlands. These usually go up in price as the dollar goes down in value. This assumes fair taxation and no harmful legislation. There is no hedge against an opportunistic Congress or a Communist Government which takes title to private property without fair recompense.

Theoretically it would be wise for readers to go into debt and borrow money now, provided they made sure they would have the cash to pay the interest on the loan at maturity. Otherwise, instead of making money, they could be wiped out completely.

If it is wise to borrow now in order to pay up with depreciated dollars later, then it is unwise to loan money now. This means: Don't buy new long non-convertible bonds or preferreds unless you plan to sell soon. They are not now a safe "permanent investment."

What About Life Insurance?

In a general way this reasoning applies to most life insurance policies if you buy today and then live twenty years or more while the value of the dollar declines. Actually, you should probably buy, say, double what you ordinarily would, to be sure of having the money to pay the premiums over the twenty or more years.

The insurance feature, of course, may offset the risk of inflation—your family could get a big sum if you should die within a year. Hence, I believe in simple life insurance, with no endowments or frills.

What About Stocks?

Neither railroad nor utility common stocks should be bought as inflation hedges because, during an inflationary era, operating costs could go up so that dividends would be reduced. At best, net earnings would lag behind any rise in rates; and most railroad stocks should be avoided for other reasons also.

Don't depend upon the most popular stocks of today. Fashions in stocks change as quickly as fashions in dress. A popular stock today is usually not a good inflation hedge. For reasons, write my friend Mr. Humphrey Neill, the great contrarian of Saxton's River, Vermont.

Companies With Large Acreage
 Most industrial stocks are poor inflation hedges, as already indicated. However, industrials with large land or natural reserves or other tangible holdings should be the best of the industrials. The most sought after by wise investors are those with good management—plus heavy depreciation charges and sufficient working capital.

I am not acquainted with all of Central America; but I once owned and operated a school in Guatemala City. Hence, I know of the constructive work of the United Fruit Co., which has grown to great importance with reportedly the largest acreage in the Americas, having sunshine, water, and a long growing season. It raises not only the finest bananas, but also cocoa, palm oil, cattle and timber. The Company has a fleet of sixty steamships, oil reserves in Colombia, and large net current assets, excluding railways, buildings, and a complete wireless system. United Fruit stock, however, is only one such; there are several good industrials with large acreage. And land—whether the lot next to you or lands in other parts of America—should be the best hedges against inflation.

Savings Bonds Sale Almost To Goal

Judge E. C. Grindstaff, Chairman of the Runnels County Savings Bonds Committee announced that Savings Bonds sales for November totaled $13,631. "Sales for the first eleven months of 1959 were $389,322 or 80.8 percent of the yearly goal," Judge Grindstaff said.

E and H Bond sales in Texas amounted to $11,666,299 during November. This represents an increase of 1.3 percent over November 1958.

"Series E and H Savings Bonds now earn 3 3/4 percent when held to maturity and your old Saving Bonds now earn 1-2 percent more," Chairman Grindstaff concluded.

Perseverance indicates a strong will; obstinance a strong won't.

CHECKS ARE PHOTOGRAPHED

The Winters State Bank is constantly installing new equipment for the safety and convenience of the banking public. For a good many years, we have been using what is known as a Recordak; this machine microfilms (makes a picture of) every check we pay. This film is developed and returned to us for our permanent files. This pictured record of the payment of any check will be accepted in any court as definite proof of payment; this is just one of the many conveniences we have provided.

We are asking our customers to keep their monthly statements with their duplicates of deposits and the checks, then when the year is gone, tie them up with a string and keep them for an indefinite period.

The people of this area are invited and urged to allow us the privilege of showing them through the bank.

There's a brand new name in outboard motors. It's the Crofton. Chances are you've never heard of it. We say this because we've just seen one of the first—if not the very first—to come off the assembly line.

It is made in San Diego, Calif. It's maker is the Crofton Marine Engine Co.

This firm has made big, marine engines for many years. Crofton manufactured the Fageol outboard motor for Inventor Lou Fageol for several seasons. Recently, however, the company purchased the Fageol Marine manufacturing rights and with the Fageol building experience as a background, now is producing the Crofton motor.

First to come off the assembly line was a duplicate of the Fageol 53, a 45 h.p. outboard—America's first high-horsepower, four-cylinders-in-line, four cycle-design motor.

Crofton claims it's the most economical 45 h.p. outboard ever built . . . effecting a sensational 50 per cent fuel savings. Yet advanced publicity stresses the motor's dazzling speed.

Our curiosity was aroused, so we stopped in to ask Clyde Harding about it. Clyde is owner of Harding's Marine Mart in South Austin. He handled the Fageol and now has the Crofton line.

Clyde says that the 45 h.p. Crofton has take-off and acceleration that matches the finest sports cars, yet it throttles down to one-half m.p.h.

That statement was followed by a barrage of questions—not from me, but from Clyde. Here I dashed out to his place to ask about the new motor, and he's the one making questions—like these:

Are you tired of mixing oil with gas for your outboard motor? And worrying whether you mixed the right amounts?

Are you disturbed over the fact that it might be too much oil and fowl the plugs? Or too little and scorch the motor?

Are you tired of changing spark plugs every few months, because they have become fouled with oil-mixed gas?

Have you ever become disgusted trying to find a filling station that sells white gas? Or regular, for that matter?

Tired of stopping at a boat dock every hour to get six gallons of gas?

Would you like to have power and economy, both, in an outboard motor?

Have you ever wished that you could dash back to the car, drain out some gas, and use it in that tank that's hooked up to your outboard motor?

Well, I had to admit that these questions, or ones very much like them, had popped up somewhere, sometime, during our boating experience.

And I'm sure that nearly every outboard enthusiast has had the unhappy experience of running out of gas, or running so low that he has been more than a little concerned over being afloat and powerless.

"But what's that got to do with the Crofton motor?" I queried.

"That's just it," said Clyde. "The new Crofton motor has the answer to these perplexing problems."

Clyde backed up his arguments with his own personal tests and the recorded information he had made of his experiments. He showed that on various sizes of boats and at varying speeds, he had made from 12 to 25 miles per gallon of gasoline.

One set of figures revealed that, with an 18-foot Redfish cruiser, he got 24 miles to the gallon of gas at an average speed of 24 miles per hour. To verify these facts he retraveled the area for six miles in 15 minutes on a quart of gas. That's phenomenal, of course, for any outboard motor.

In another experiment Clyde averaged one and a half gallons per hour using a three-blade work prop (5200 r.p.m.'s) going full-throttle, pushing a 16-foot fiberglass Invader boat.

He stated that his tests were typical of the performance which the factory claimed would be possible. "I just wanted to prove it to myself," said Clyde.

When asked to explain the reason for Crofton's economy, Clyde said that the big answer is "four cycles". It has a workhorse engine, yet it weighs only 190 lbs.

He added that "when you have to mix gas and oil, and it has to flow over your cylinder wall, bearings or crank shaft, for lubrication—you waste it. With the Crofton motor, you just don't have any waste."

Other features of the new motor which enthused him were the two-carburetor, fixed-jet factors and the overhead camshaft.

"The real secret of the whole thing," said Clyde, "is the fact that actually the Crofton is a redesigned Crosley automobile engine turned on end. The gas and oil are separate just like they are in your automobile."

This motor has its own 2-qt. capacity Hooper tank in the lower unit and pressure feeds the oil to the entire engine. Oil needs to be changed only about twice a season.

The Crofton doesn't have a radiator, of course, but it does store water in the motor for cooling purposes. It has a thermostat to control the temperature. In freezing weather you drain out the water in a Crofton motor, with a petcock, just as in your automobile.

Next product of the Crofton factory will be an air-cooled, four-cycle, 7-12 h.p. motor for fishermen. Later there will be a larger one in the 12 to 20 h.p. bracket. And eventually a "Gold Cup 60."

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

For the first time on record in Texas, the dreaded European corn borer showed up in Bowie County field and prompted immediate action by the Texas Department of Agriculture to prevent its further spread in the State.

An emergency quarantine against the movement of unscreened or unfumigated corn and related grains from Bowie County or into Texas from all states having infested area was ordered into immediate effect. The discovery of the pest in a single Bowie County field was confirmed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, marking the first time on record that the European corn borer, prevalent in many of the leading corn producing states, had penetrated into Texas.

The quarantine order required that corn and all related grains be screened through a one-half inch mesh screen before being moved out of Bowie County or brought into Texas from any other state having infested areas. The screening is required to remove debris such as parts of stalks, stems and cobs which carry the insect pest. The quarantine does not apply to movement of corn or related grains from any part of Texas except Bowie County, the related grains including such products as broomcorn, milo, sorghums, Sudan grass and the like.

The quarantine order was regarded as essential not only to protect the Texas grain industry but to safeguard the regular channels of trade in the industry into and out of Texas each year carrying grain to western states.

The seriousness of the corn borer penetration into even a single Texas county was pointed up by reports from infested states in the corn belt and elsewhere in the nation. In 1957 the European pest destroyed almost 181 million bushels of corn valued at $158,841,000, according to USDA estimates. Corn in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, South Dakota and Illinois suffered most from borer damage.

In addition to the quarantine, the Texas Department of Agriculture has initiated other effective steps to bring the corn borer infiltration under immediate firm control in Bowie County.

Woollypod Vetches Provide More Winter Growth

Lana, Auburn and Oregon woollypod vetch are three comparatively new vetch introductions. R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, says the only difference between Hairy vetch and these new varieties is that they produce a larger percentage of their total growth during winter and early spring.

In North Texas, adds Hodges, this earliness should provide more winter cover and green matter to turn under preceding spring planted crops than is possible with Hairy. But, he notes, even though the woollypod vetches are early producers, their total green matter production for a full season is equal to or only slightly better than Hairy.

Due to this one advantage of producing more growth during winter and early spring it would be recommended in Texas where Hairy is grown. But, he adds, seed are not available in Texas except in very limited quantities and at high prices.

Tests have been conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station since 1950 with Auburn and Oregon woolpod. Tests of Lana began in 1955. The woollypod vetches, regardless of variety, have been at or near the top in yield and total nitrogen production per acre in all tests. They proved equal to Hairy in winter hardness and total forage production.

The Big 'uns Stay In Deep Water

By L. A. Wilke

Big fish grow to be bigger because there are so many persons who fish in the winter who don't know how to get them.

You must fish deep and hit 'em hard!

You can fish deep with minnows, or you can use most any of the new bottom dragging lures and some bass that will hang over the side of the baking pan.

It sounds strange but the fisherman who knows how to take fish off the bottom usually comes up with a string of oversize bass. Those big old bronze backs just simply stay deep in the cold weather. But they must eat.

Although there has been considerable bottom fishing recently, too few fishermen actually know how to bottom fish. They also lack the patience required to work the right areas slowly enough.

It is a slow job, dragging the bottom with an acceptable lure long enough to come up with two or three bass. If those two or three, however, weigh more than a half-dozen small ones, then the time has been well spent.

A good fisherman, who knows the water, can go out almost any time in the winter and come up with poundage. He won't do it normally with topwater lures, however.

Favorable weather for top water work now is out of the picture. It will not return until early spring when the willows begin to green out and insects get on the move again. Bottom fishing definitely is in.

Deep down fishing isn't exactly new. It was done a long time ago with Shannon and Johnson spoons, Hawaiian Wigglers, Chuggers, Bombers and Whopper Stoppers. The pork chunk also was useful.

The lead-head or jig, however, has come along in more recent years. My first introduction to lead-head bottom draggers was with the late Charlie Stracener, one of the best anglers West Texas ever has produced. Along in the middle forties Charlie came out with a modest homemade lead-head that had a few cat whiskers on each side. We fished several times together in Lake Trammel near Sweetwater.

This was more than a fishing trip. I needed some pictures of big bass to illustrate an article I was writing. I was told Charlie knew how to catch them. He did.

Charlie, whose son Bernard now is a good fisherman, tossed his Charlie Bug, as he called it, as far out as he could. The lure just lay there on the bottom for a minute or two. Then he gave it a slight yank.

It took him a half-hour to work his lure back into the boat and most of the time he came in empty. When he did connect, however, it was a big bass. In the course of a day's fishing he came up with a dozen that would pull the scales to around 50 pounds.

That is good bass fishing! I still have one of those original Charlie Bugs. It looks nothing like today's lures, but it worked then.

It wasn't too much longer until the Bomber boys at Gainesville brought out the Bushwhacker, which was a lead-head with a blade spinner and the hook fastened to steel wire. There was a bucket on the hook, and it fooled a lot of bass.

A little more than four years ago I was introduced to the plastic worm on Lake Caddo in East Texas. They were very scarce at the start. You bought them from under the counter, like nylon hose during the war.

About that time another researching fisherman came up with a synthetic black eel, and long slender pieces of pork rind. They were attached to both spoons and jigs.

Some of the worms had spinners ahead, and gang hooks attached to the worms with monofilament.

Cast against a cypress bole and permitted to sink down slowly, and then retrieved wormcrawling fashion, this rig accounted for some good strings. They were small by comparison with the fish caught off the bottom with the jig'n-eels or the worms with jigs.

Finally Dave Hawk improved that method by attaching a worm to his famous Extractor lure instead of a buck tail. That worked so well he tried using hackle on the hook ahead of the worm.

Now Bill Norton of the Sportsman's Products Co., has issued a polka-dot worm in about six delicious colors. This works equally well on the rig or the jig.

Norton also has developed a formula for making these worms from non-attaching plastic, with an impregnated odor. They are completely machine made, which helps keep the cost down.

So here is our recipe for catching big bass during the winter months: Rig up with a good plastic worm or a long black eel. It can be attached to either a jig or an Extractor. Use a fairly heavy line, perhaps a 12-pound test so that you can pull loose from ordinary brush without breaking the line.

Go to known bass waters, and where the water is fairly deep. The spot where a ledge enters the water is very good. Make your cast out ahead and let it sink down to the bottom, preferably alongside the ledge.

When you are sure the lure has reached the bottom, work your lure very slowly. Just inch it along. Occasionally give enough of a jerk that the lure will rise a few inches off the bottom.

The weighted head of the lure sinks first, which means the tail of the worm or eel will continue to wiggle in the water. A big bass can resist it for awhile, but if the worm continues to look alive after he has had time to study it, no fish can stand the temptation.

Frequently you can feel him sucking on the worm. Don't jerk it too quickly. Let him take the entire worm into his mouth and swallow it. When he does that "I resolve to eat better and more economically in 1960." That could well be the No. 1 New Year's resolution for every Texas homemaker. It makes sense.

How? Here's an idea that will help: Follow the U. S. Department of Agriculture's monthly list of plentiful foods, suggests the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Lower prices usually accompany in-season and abundant food supplies. Wider selection for quality also enters the picture. And when crops are large, quality usually runs higher.

USDA's monthly list is determined by the Agricultural Marketing Service on the basis of expected availability. When the supply of any farm-produced food exceeds normal trade needs, that food is eligible for listing. Newspapers, radio stations and the food trade, in general, then cooperate with growers and the USDA in nationwide promotion. Special prices often accompany these efforts.

Start with January: Look for an abundance of eggs. Supplies are increasing, seasonally. Eggs, especially the larger sizes, right now, return a lot of nutrition compared to cost.

Plenty of apples, oranges, raisins and cranberries also are in prospect. Vegetable bins will be loaded with sweet potatoes, onions and Irish potatoes. Lamb is the only meat on the January list. Then, there'll be an abundance of rice, for economy dishes, and vegetable fats and oils, for salad dressings and all cooking.

That's the 11-item list that can help you hold down the cost of feeding your family in January. Keep them in mind all through the month. Serve them often.

You'll know it. Set your hook well and then bring him to the top. That's where your heavy line will pay off. Try it for yourself!

Progeny and performance testing of beef cattle is rapidly coming of age and has already progressed beyond the experimental state of the application of research findings in breeders' herds.

Research findings by a number of colleges have shown conclusively that cattle differ in their ability to make rapid gains, to use feed efficiently and to develop desirable carcasses, and that these differences are heritable and transmissible from parent to offspring.

Studies also prove that rate and efficiency of gain are rather highly correlated and brood cow performance is important to the total economy of beef production and is a repeatable trait.

In establishing an on-the-farm testing program, breeders must first decide what traits are to be measured and included in the selection program. Traits selected probably will be determined by the ease with which they can be measured, their heritability estimates and their economic value.

Important points include pre-weaning growth rate, weaning grade or type score, regularity of reproduction of the dam, milking and mothering ability of the dam, daily gains, feed efficiency, and grade of the end product.

But performance testing will not obtain the status it should in the cattle industry until a unified national program is established for all state organizations, performance Registry International, and the nation breed associations.

Experts in the cattle industry predict the steer of tomorrow will be reasonably wide over the top, deep bodied and will have more length than people have looked for in recent years.

If the meaty steer has these characteristics, he also will be a fast doing, healthy, efficient steer for both the cow and calf man and the steer feeder. This will result in a product the packer will enjoy processing because it will suit the consumer's demand.

Funeral Rites For L. R. Wilson Held Here Wednesday

Funeral services for L. R. Wilson 78, retired Runnels County farmer, were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, pastor, officiated and burial was in the Wilmeth Cemetery.

Mr. Wilson died of a heart attack Tuesday afternoon in the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. B. Wright in Goldthwaite. He had been in ill health since suffering a stroke four months ago.

A native Texan, Mr. Wilson was born September 22, 1881, in Kendall County, the son of an early day Texas Ranger who settled in Texas before the Civil War and served at a number of forts in Texas. The family lived in Mexico for a while but came back to Texas in 1887, settling in Kimble County, where he attended Fair Creek School.

He married the former Mary Elizabeth Word February 26, 1900 in Kimble County. Mrs. Wilson died in 1958. In 1918, the couple moved to Oklahoma where they lived for a year. They farmed near Eden until 1922 when they moved to the Wilmeth Community. In 1941, Mr. Wilson and his son, John, leased 1,000 acres of land in Mexico and raised sheep for 15 months before returning to the Wilmeth community to farm. They moved to the Drasco community in 1945 and in June of 1949, Mr. Wilson retired and moved to Winters. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Survivors include his daughter of Goldthwaite; one son, Allie of Carlsbad, N.M.; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie Petty of Junction and Mrs. Annie Keese of Junction; 12 grandchildren.

A son, John, who was a deputy sheriff for Runnels County, died in November 1959. Another son, Merle, died in 1957.

Board of Control Spent $80 Million Last Year For State Housekeeping

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

If you are adding up the Christmas bills and wondering what all that money was spent for, then consider the task of the Board of Control.

This relatively small state department is personal shopper for 200 state agencies, during the past fiscal year it selected the goods and paid the bills for purchases totaling $80,000,000.

These millions went for more items than the average citizen can imagine. Everyone realizes that it requires tons of paper, thousands of filing cabinets, typewriters, desks and chairs to run the state's business . . .

Ever wonder how much yellow paint it takes to put a stripe down the highway from Amarillo to Brownsville?

Board of Control staff knows just how much to get for a given stretch of road and sees to it that paint has little glass beads ground up into it to reflect your auto headlights at night. Just the other day they bought $100,000 worth of the little glass beads, alone.

Board of Control buys all the state's automobiles—as well as trucks, tractors, motor scooters, motor graders, snow plows and school buses (for schools receiving state aid). Last week they purchased $326,000 worth of new Plymouths.

It buys the industrial machinery with which the state prison system makes the state license plates. It buys the paper for your drivers license and pays for the printing.

It also buys buttons and zippers and shoes and socks and surgical tools and skin diving suits.

"We buy practically everything," says Executive Director William J. Burke.

It's a list that sounds unbelievable until the use for each item is run down. Clothing and repair needs for the apparel of the thousands of persons in state hospitals and schools must be bought by the Board of Control. State hospitals use surgical equipment. Game and Fish Commission uses boats and skin diving equipment in its inspection work.

If the State School for Girls at Gainesville starts a pottery class, Board of Control buys the clay. If the prison system builds a new prison building, Board of Control scouts around for the best buy in steel-barred doors.

Board of Control itself is a big user of paper. In the past fiscal year it processed 450,000 invoices. Nine employees handled these at the rate of 1,921 a day. It takes 15,000 envelopes to handle an average weekly mailing of bid invitations to suppliers.

It's all done according to a very businesslike system. Purchases are consolidated, standardized, scheduled, bid on and checked for specifications, value and performance.

Yet all this procedure doesn't kill the element of human enjoyment. Director Burke recounts with relish the million printed envelopes just bought for a large state department at $2.80 a thousand. That's less than the usual cost of unprinted envelopes.

Comparable pleasure can be found in housewives who have just found diapers at a dollar a dozen or tomato juice at five cents a can.

Board of Control is about to have its 40th anniversary. It began operation in 1920 after a statute passed in 1919 combined in one agency a number of state functions.

It is topped by a part-time policy making board whose three members serve overlapping six-year terms. They are appointed by the governor.

Present board members are E. E. McAdams of Austin, chairman; F. H. Flewelling of Austin and C. F. McAuliff of Dallas.

Burke, as executive director, is the top administrative officer. Under him are five divisions set up on what he terms "a check-and-balance system".

A specification division works out requirements for items to be bought. Purchasing division buys them. Administrative services division handles the clerical work. Inspection division has a team of "watchdogs" who go over the state to check new purchases to be sure they're what they should be.

A fifth division, building engineering and management, sees to a staggering list of housekeeping chores for the Capitol and state buildings. When the buildings now under way or being planned around the Capitol are finished, the Board of Control anticipates operating a heating system that will put out 60,000 pounds of steam heat an hour and an air conditioning system of 2,750 tons.

It also sees to the upkeep of the Governor's Mansion, the San Jacinto and Fannin State Parks and the State Cemetery. It handles the rentals for state offices outside of Austin which do not have state quarters. Last year this required 356,000 square feet of office space.

As to the state buildings going up in Austin, Burke feels sure they will save the state money over the old rental system. "Besides having to pay rent," he pointed out, "the state can only lease for two years at a time, and you never know when you may have to move, which is expensive."

In the course of their myriad chores, Board of Control staffers become expert on many subjects. They learn the price of dairy cattle (for prison farms) or diamond drills, short wave radios and food mixers.

Many know more about the comparative value of dishwashing detergents and floor waxes than most housewives. They make extensive tests to find out.

As Burke explained, if "Brand-X" can be proved to serve as well as a more expensive one, in state institution dishwashers, as much as $30,000 can be saved on one purchase.

Specifications people spent hours, according to Burke, proving out a floor wax they felt would save money and serve the purpose. They even applied and polished it, he said, and made periodic checks on its staying power.

"We try to be more careful with the state's money than we would even with our own," says Burke. "I honestly wish I could take every Texas taxpayer on a guided tour of the whole operation."

JAYCEES NAME 'TOP FIVE'

Five young Texans selected as "the most outstanding" of 1959 will be honored at a dinner in Austin Jan. 9. Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the selection is made annually by a judging committee.

This year's honorees: Sam H. Burris of Alice, Angus Dickson Jr. of Corpus Christi, Porter Loring Jr. of San Antonio and Thomas S. Mackery of Texas City.

Amusements Coming to Local Theatres

AT THE STATE THEATRE

"The Hound of the Baskervilles" "At War With The Army"

The new Technicolor version of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's classic thriller, "The Hound of the Baskervilles", probably the most nightmarish adventure of the intrepid Sherlock Holmes, will be the new screen attraction at the State Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday through United Artists release.

With the presentation of this Hammer Films production, Peter Cushing's Baker Street criminologist returns to the screen after a twenty years absence. Cushing is, in fact, the seventh actor of international rank to play the famous Sherlock Holmes on the screen, his predecessors over the past fifty years including John Barrymore, Clive Brook, Basil Rathbone and Raymond Massey. Yet in this horror tale Mr. Holmes vacates the limelight for the most horrendous of all stars—the Hound himself.

"At War With The Army" is showing at the State Theatre Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. It is a riotous tale of army life that will have you rocking with laughter from start to finish. Starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis and Co-starring Polly Bergen, the film is punctuated with a hit score by Mack David and Jerry Livingston.

If you have anything troublesome on your mind, Martin and Lewis are the boys who can shake it loose, and in this laugh-loaded movie, America's funniest comedy team are at their maddest and merriest.

"The Diary of Anne Frank"

"The Diary of Anne Frank," as a book, stage play and now a motion picture, opening Sunday, and Monday at the State Theatre, has made a record for itself rarely equaled by any piece of writing.

And it was written with no idea that it would ever be published. Anne Frank, aged thirteen, started keeping the diary a short time before she, her parents and sister and four other people went into hiding in Amsterdam following the Nazi invasion of the Netherlands. She continued her record until shortly before the Nazi police found their hiding place, two years later. The diary was found in the litter and rubble of the old house, after the war.

Written in Dutch, the diary was first published in 1947. In 1952 it came out in the U. S. A., where it sold over 1,000,000 copies.

Translated into 21 languages, the most recent figure on sales in countries outside the United States is approximately 1,960,000.

The stage play, based on Anne Frank's story by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, opened on Broadway in 1955 and ran nearly two years. It has been presented in some 30 countries, including West Germany, where it was the most-performed play of the 1956-57 season; this was also true in Switzerland and Austria.

The German public has bought over 300,000 copies of the diary. As a film "The Diary of Anne Frank" bids fair to repeat or excel the world-wide success of the book and play.

TO DALLAS

Farm Employees Subject To S. S. Tax Payments

Farmer and rancher-employers with one or more employees are being asked two questions by Arthur E. Fogel, Administrative Officer, of Internal Revenue Service, Abilene.

"Have you paid an employee $150 or more in cash wages during 1959, or has the employee performed agricultural labor for you on 20 or more days during 1959 for cash wages figured on a time basis?"

If your employees meet either of these two tests you must withhold social security tax from the cash wages paid to these employees at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent of such cash wages. This 2 1/2 per cent, together with another 2 1/2 per cent representing your share as the employer, must be sent to the IRS district director in Dallas.

Mr. Fogel says that farmers and ranchers subject to this tax are required to file a return, Form 943, with their district director of Internal Revenue before January 31 of the year following the year covered by the return.

IRS recommends Circular A for non-technical explanation of Uncle Sam's tax rules for withholding of social security tax from farm employees' wages. It's available free at Internal Revenue's office 289 Pine St. Abilene.

1960 Swine Carcass Test Program Planned

Mr. Swine Producer, would you be interested in information regarding the carcass value of the hogs produced on your farm? T. D. Tanksley, extension animal husbandman, says it will be available to purebred breeders and commercial producers who enter animals in the 1960 tests. Tanksley points out that producers desiring to enter pigs in the tests must deliver them to A & M between January 2 and 15, 1960 at weights between 40 and 100 pounds. All 1960 entries will be self-fed and finished on concrete feeding floors. The uniform management, emphasizes the specialist, will help identify the really "meaty" seedstock because the major differences in carcass desirability will be a result of the hogs' breeding. Barrows and gilts may be entered as can purebreds or crosses. Each person is limited to two entries. They may be littermates if the carcass records are to be used in the breed meat-type certification program. Entries must have been farrowed between September 15 and November 15, 1959 and must be accompanied by a health certificate when delivery is made to A & M.

The Winters Enterprise, Winters, Texas, Friday, January 8, 1960

All pigs will be purchased by the Animal Husbandry Department but each will be earmarked and entered in the tests in the breeder's name. Information on gains and carcass characteristics will be provided on each animal. Tanksley says the changes from former tests will permit hog value to be figured on a live weight basis, including dressing percentage.

The animal husbandman says that county agents now have complete details on the tests and will be glad to answer any questions producers might have. Tanksley reminds that all swine producers, including 4-H and FFA members, are eligible to enter animals. "It's all a part of our continuing search" he says, "for a better meat-type hog."

Seeing is believing—if you see it in print.

Social Security Taxes Increased To 6 Percent

A. C. Fogle Jr. administrative officer of the Abilene office of the Internal Revenue Service, this week called attention to the increase in Social Security tax rates which became effective January 1 under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act.

The tax rates have increased to 3 percent for employers and 3 percent for employees, or a total of 6 percent. These rates apply to wages paid on or after Jan. 1, 1960.

The taxes continue to apply to the first $4800 of wages paid by an employer to each employee each year.

Baptist Workers Conference To Be Held Here Tuesday

Statement About Drug-Treated Poultry Causes Bitter Reaction

Statements by Secretary Fleming of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare against the fitness of poultry treated with the drug known as stilbestrol brought a prompt and bitter reaction from spokesmen for the Texas broiler industry.

These spokesmen saw their markets dangerously threatened and, in fact, all but hamstringing by the Secretary's statements. They spoke out in strong resentment, among other outlets, through Radio Station KDET and the East Texas network out of Center, one of the headquarters of the East Texas broiler industry.

The radio network charged that "there was no good whatsoever to be gained by the statement from Fleming. His own piece of propaganda confessed that manufacturers of stilbestrol had suspended the sale of the product and that the poultry industry had arranged for the immediate discontinuance of the sale of treated birds."

"The consuming public has been given the impression that all chickens are suspect because poultry is the one word repeated and reiterated in Fleming's statements. Actually, only an infinitesimal for the broiler producer locally and nationwide. For the first time in many months live broilers had reached a peak of 19 cents per pound and there was a strong demand which would undoubtedly have put a little Christmas change in the pockets of thousands of growers. That prospect was destroyed overnight."

"The market tumbled here to 15 cents within four days, and instead of clearing out the offerings at each day's auction the Southwest Poultry Exchange is now stagnated with a daily carry-over of 150,000 to 200,000 broilers."

"It is reported that the action at Springdale, Ark. failed to move a single bird the day after the Fleming nightmare hit the headlines. The broiler industry, as everybody knows, is in dire circumstances without having to combat adverse government publicity."

Wingate 4-H Club Girls Met Recently

The girls also learned about the care of hands and fingernails.

IT'S REALLY HERE: You know winter is here for good when the small ones drag sleds around wherever they go. This youngster samples the white stuff from a car in New York City.

There is a lot of talk right now about nationalizing Padre Island. That's the tooth-pick like sandy beach that flanks the mainland of Texas from Corpus Christi to Port Isabel.

Approximately 100 miles in length, and only a mile or two across in most places, it is bounded on one side by Laguna Madre and on the other by the Gulf of Mexico.

Each is loaded with fish.

Development of Padre has been slow in coming about. Historically it is one of the oldest known spots on the Texas coast. Parts of the island were populated even before Texas became a republic. During the Civil War it was a hot spot.

Since then, however, it has fitted very little in either the commerce or industry of Texas until a few short years ago when some development was begun.

Padre now is reached by a causeway from Corpus Christi at the north end and from Port Isabel at the south end.

However, it is not possible to drive the length of the island. From each end there is a paved strip for five or six miles into the center of the island. Along the beach at low tide it is possible to drive some distance along the gulf side of the island.

It isn't advisable, however, to attempt to treat a distance unless you are familiar with the area.

Current move to make a national park of Padre meets with mixed emotions. It is true that Padre is the last hard sand beach left in the United States that is undeveloped. Also, it is true that private capital and local tax units have done much to improve recreational facilities on the island.

At the south end of Padre, reached from Port Isabel Cameron County has set up an authority which built the causeway and has provided some excellent facilities for the benefit of recreation. Also a few private companies have built a number of nice motels.

At Port Mansfield, 20 miles east of Raymondville, Willacy County has done considerable work on the mainland, providing some wonderful boating facilities. The county also cut a channel through the island, to provide passage between Laguna Madre and the Gulf of Mexico.

This cut sanded up almost as quickly as it was cut.

Steps now are being taken to re-open the channel and keep it open. This move is of particular interest to fishermen, some of whom have taken their skills through the present cut to some fabulous fishing in the Gulf just beyond the island.

At the north end of Padre, Nueces County has spent considerable money on a toll bridge across the channel, to provide passage.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. J. W. Cathey Held Here Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. W. (Matilda) Cathey, 84, longtime resident of Runnels County, were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Spill Memorial Chapel. Burial was in the Wingate Cemetery.

Mrs. Cathey died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Huber in San Angelo.

She was born Matilda Durham in Kosse on August 3, 1875, the daughter of the late Frank and Elivera Durham, who settled in Wingate in 1890. She was married to John Wiley Cathey on November 15, 1899, in Runnels County. Mr. Cathey died in May, 1917. Mrs. Cathey lived in Wingate until about four years ago when she moved to San Angelo to live with her daughter.

Mrs. Cathey was a member of the Baptist Church and one of the charter members of the Order of the Eastern Star at Wingate.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Huber of San Angelo, and Mrs. Ralph Garvin, near Robert Lee; two sons, John W. Cathey of Monahans and W. W. Cathey of Odessa; one brother, Shellman Durham of San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. C. L. Harter of Wingate; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to those who made donations and participated in various ways to make our Christmas a more joyful day. We want to thank the Winters Lions Club, the Southside Baptist Church, Church of Christ, Winters State Bank, Mrs. Bill Proctor, Cub Scouts, Brownies, and members of the Sunday School Classes of Mrs. A. D. Smith, Mrs. Marvin Bedford, Mrs. Estelle Strickland, and Mrs. Dennis Rodgers. To those who sang Christmas carols and participated in any way, we are deeply grateful. Mrs. L. L. Merrill and the elderly people of the Winters Rest Home.

Laguna Madre, south from Corpus, is practically cut off on the mainland side. The huge King ranch touches the bay in much of this section. There is little chance that there ever will be any commercial or recreational development from the mainland.
