HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

One of the firemen, commenting on last week's observation about the green paint on the fire plugs, informs us that the plugs are "supposed to be painted green." Seems there are three colors which can be used for fire plugs—red, blue and green. Flow capacity has got something to do with the color of the plugs, they tell us.

Color plays an important part in our everyday lives. Like when a policeman puts a red tag on your windshield, it means you overparked and owe the city two-bits: if it's a white tag, it means, "Bud, you overparked, but since you're an out-of-towner, and ignorant of our regulations, we're letting you off this time with a courtesy reminder."

In one state, believe it was Iowa, long before roads were numbered and mapped, different colored poles were erected to mark the way. They had the Red Pole Road, the Green Pole Road, Yellow Pole Road, etc. To this day, even though the colored markers have faded to only a memory, many old timers give directions thus, "Go out the Yellow Pole road so many miles..."

A few more cars of grain will wind up the "biggest wheat crop in 20 years." With 200 carloads already moved out of Winters—besides what went out by truck and the many tons stored locally—the next thing in sight is a promising milo crop. With the right kind of weather, that harvest, too, will surpass that of many other years.

Not since 1958 have so many carloads of grain left Winters. In that year, with a good wheat crop, the big volunteer oat crop topped the shipments from local sidings to 214 cars by July 4.

Given the right kind of growing seasons, this section of West Texas can be a bountiful land.

Coach Don Edwards said this week that boys wishing to take part in the summer events of the Junior Olympics should contact him within the next few days so that plans can be made and training completed. Boys will take part in a qualifying meet in Abilene in the near future and then will go to San Antonio for the state Junior Olympics later in the summer.

Now that the wheat harvest is over, the state Democratic convention is past, and various and sundry little things taken care of, we can all get back in the normal rut—cussing the weather, communists and bureaucrats. The order these subjects take in our lambasting depends upon individual tastes and frames of mind.

The weather, we can't do anything about; if we cuss the bureaucrats too much, they might cut us off on some of the "hand-outs" we have been accustomed to; and communism can be compared to the weather—cussing is in vogue, but little action is in evidence for fear we will tread on some sensitive toes.

The past few days, with their 100-plus readings, have borne the brunt of most of the cussing, and the heat has been the main topic of conversation. Seems rather foolish, though we do it, to meet another fellow on the street and make the remark, "Man, ain't it hot!" Sure, it's hot, and he is probably well aware of it; or maybe he has been trying to get it off his mind for a couple of minutes, a greeting such as that serves only to remind him of his discomfort. Guess it's because we all love company in our misery.

We heard a "commentator" make a statement the other day which makes us wonder if perhaps there is an attempt being made to re-write the history books to conform to the thoughts of the One Worlders, World Widens and Go-Alongers. He voiced the opinion, commenting on the riots taking place in Japan, that "the Japanese are by nature pacifists—lovers of peace."

TO ATTEND CONVENTION
Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Watson plan to attend the State Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention to be held June 17-19 in Fort Worth.

City-Wide Clean-Up To Begin In Winters Soon

In cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and various civic organizations the city will announce a general cleanup campaign at which time there will be ample transportation furnished to remove all rocks and rubbish that has accumulated. Details will be announced in the near future.

"In the meantime it has come to the attention of the City Officials that some people are putting rocks in garbage cans. We respectfully request your help in the discontinuance of this practice," the official said. It is necessary for two very important reasons: The service is primarily intended as a garbage disposal for the protection of our people's health and cleanliness of our city; This practice places an undue burden on the employees to lift this additional weight and, too, we are furnishing for your service the most modern type of enclosed garbage disposal truck that is mechanically unloaded and *rocks damage this equipment, resulting in costly repairs with taxpayers money.

Winters Dogs Bringing Home The Trophies

This year has been a profitable year, trophy wise, for W. D. Waggoner's pack of Walker fox hounds. Already the twelve dogs have won eight first places, eight second places, six thirds, and five fourth places in three shows this year.

In a show sponsored by the Erath County Fox and Coon Hunters Association last Saturday, Waggoner's dogs won several ribbons and trophies. Places won were first in male puppy under 6 months; first female puppy under 6 months; second and third in female puppy 6 to 12 months old.

Other places were second and third in male puppy 6 to 12 months; third in derby female class. Waggoner also won the prize for showing the best pack in the show.

Waggoner will take his pack of dogs to Price, in Russ County, for a show there Saturday, June 18.

Group To Make Publicity Tour For 1960 Rodeo

A group of Winters people will make a barnstorming tour of the area next Tuesday to publicize Winters' 14th Annual Rodeo, slated for June 23, 24 and 25.

The group will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the intersection of Main Street and Dale Avenue, and will start the tour as soon thereafter as possible, Ralph Lloyd, committee head, said. Persons making the trip are asked to bring a lunch.

A string band will accompany the group, and a public address system mounted on a car will be used. First stop will be at Tuscola, then the group will continue to Lawn, Novice, Coleman, Talpa, Ballinger and Bronte. They will eat lunch in the city park at Coleman.

Lloyd has invited all who can make the trip to join the caravan of automobiles to advertise the rodeo.

Rodeos Bring Back Memories Of The West's Early Days

The RODEO! No one word in the English language brings into sharp focus such an exciting medley of sounds, smells, and sensations as does RODEO. The blaring of a brass band, the bawling of cattle, clouds of dust, and the excitement of anticipated thrills all parade before the senses—brought to life by these five letters.

The Rodeo, Spanish for roundup, as we know it today, has been a long time in its development. Its beginnings stem from the series of cowboy contests which were part of every big roundup, held when ranges were unfenced and cattle freely intermingled. It was the custom then for men from neighboring ranches to gather at periodic intervals, usually twice a year, to separate and brand their cattle. After a day's work, tall tales and boasting around the campfire each night were part of the procedure. Contests to back up a man's claim about his ability with a rope and a horse naturally followed. From these came our present day rodeos.

Public interest in these cowboy contests began to grow. On July 4, 1883, a big contest, wherein prizes were awarded to the winners, was staged on the flat adjoining the county courthouse at Pecos, Texas. That was the commercial beginning of rodeos as we presently know them.

As time passed, non-cowboy interest continued to grow in these contests, variously called Cowboy Tournaments, Stampedes, Round-ups, and Frontier Days (the term Rodeo didn't come into general use until about 1916). Then someone decided the public would pay to see these events. Thus, five years later to the day after the first public rodeo at Pecos, admission was charged to a Rodeo at Prescott in the Territory of Arizona.

Rodeos began to be a big business. Every year, more and more persons were paying to see cowboys pit themselves against the bucking bronc, and the wall-eyed steer. In the year of America's entry into World War I, 1917, the first indoor rodeo was held in the Stockyards Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas. At first these contests were confined to the West, Mid-West, and Canada, but in 1916 the rodeo went East.

Brooklyn, of course, was the site chosen. Ten years later, Madison Square Garden held its first Rodeo.

The next stride forward in the development of the Rodeo, as one of America's biggest sporting attractions, was the formation of the Rodeo Association of America in 1929. Headquartered in Salinas, California, purpose of the organization was to further interest in Rodeos, set non-conflicting dates for events, make rules and award authentic titles. Recently, the RAA merged with and became known as the International Rodeo Association. Headquarters are in Pendleton, Oregon.

As determined by the IRA, the five major events at any rodeo are: Saddle bronc riding, bronc riding, calf roping, bareback bronc riding, bulldogging (or steer wrestling), and bull riding.

Events involving riding bucking horses or cattle are judged on a point system. Roping events are rated on a time system.

Titles awarded by International Rodeo Association are determined by the amount of money a contestant has won in a year's time.

14th Annual Rodeo Slated To Begin Thursday Night

Winters Jaycees Plan Events For Week of Rodeo

Regular meeting of the Winters Junior Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening at Pierce Cafeteria with the president, James West, presiding for the business session.

The Jaycees discussed the carnival which they will sponsor from June 21 to June 25, as an added attraction during the rodeo.

It was also decided to sponsor the Pony League Baseball as well as the Little League.

Tickets for the charter banquet which has been set for Friday, July 8, at Pierce Cafeteria, may be bought from any member of the Jaycees.

All members and prospective members are urged to be present at the regular meeting Monday evening June 20, at 8 o'clock.

Grain Crop 'In the Barn'

Harvest of the biggest wheat crop in this area in about 20 years is almost completed. According to most sources, only a few fields have yet to be touched by the combines, and this wrap up will be completed within a few days.

Good weather favored the harvesters, and Winters elevators were worked to capacity during the height of the season. J. C. Jarrell, Winters railroad agent, said up to Wednesday night 200 cars of grain had been moved out of the local yards to the main lines. He expected to receive 15 to 20 more cars before the harvest is completely over.

At the top of the season, the railroad dispatched heavier engines to haul the long trains of grain cars from the Winters sidings.

Three rip-roaring days of wild west activity will get underway Thursday, June 23, when the gates will open on Winters' 14th Annual Rodeo. The rodeo is scheduled to run Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A parade Thursday afternoon will be the starting signal for what promoters hope to be the largest rodeo ever held in Winters. Floyd Grant is chairman of the parade committee, and has announced that several prizes will be given for entries in the parades. Another parade will be held Saturday afternoon.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, the chutes at the rodeo corrals on the school football field will open for the first of three nights of rodeo competition. Frederic Poe, rodeo secretary, expects entries to start coming in from contestants the last of this week and the first of next.

There are six main events on the rodeo calendar, in addition to special attractions and competition. The first event is bareback riding, followed by jackpot calf roping, wild cow milking, girls' cloverleaf race, steer wrestling and bull riding.

A special event of interest to all boys in the community will be the nightly calf scramble. Boys 12 to 17 years of age are eligible to participate. Calves will be turned loose in the arena and the first three boys to catch a calf and bring it back to a starting line will receive feeder lambs as prizes.

A special act booked for the rodeo will be an exhibition of trick riding and roping by Miss Wharton, a 14-year-old miss from San Saba.

Another special event for each night's performance will be the showing by Levi Garrett of Sterling City of his trained horses, Thunder Jr. and Platonla.

Roger Babson Says

Cold War Between U. S. and Russia Probably Will Become "Colder"

Babson Park, Mass., My ideas on the international situation have been covered in the last two weeks. I especially refer to the reaction of other countries to the U-2 spy incident - particularly those countries in which we have bases - and the subsequent collapse of the Summit Conference. I now want to suggest what conservative investors will take into consideration in preparing for a continued cold - and perhaps a "colder" - war between Russia and the United States.

What Should Be Done About Equities

With few exceptions, most investors will think it risky to buy equities at this time. Money in the bank will appear to them better just now than stocks or possible undeveloped real estate. It looks as if Mr. Khrushchev may be calling a turn in the bull market. It is a good time to take advice from some banker or an investment counselor in whom you have faith. Sensible people will not get panicky and rush either to buy or sell stocks; but will play safe to avoid unnecessary worry. There will be no war this year.

Bonds may be a good purchase, at least they will give good security, perhaps better than good stocks will give. Of course, some people will advise against buying bonds for fear of inflation. However, I believe that inflation has been anticipated for the time being by the considerable discount at which bonds are selling. This discount has primarily been due to the increase in money rates. These higher money rates, however, have been largely offset by the discount at which many good bonds are selling. If you have any doubts, compare their current yields with the yields on good stocks.

A Few Bond Illustrations

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. 2 5-8 percent coupon due 1986. These are selling around 72 and yielding about 3.65 percent.

Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad 2 7-8 percent coupon due 1980. These are selling around 75 and yielding about 3.80 percent.

Northern Pacific Railroad Company 3 percent coupon due 2047. These are selling around 60 and yielding about 5.00 percent.

Commonwealth Edison Company 2 7-8 percent coupon due 2001. These are selling around 70 and yielding about 4.10 percent.

Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company 2 3-4 percent coupon due 1985. These are selling around 71 and yielding about 3.85 percent.

The above examples include the leading telephone company, two railroad companies, and two excellent utility companies.

Personally, I would rather buy the bonds of an electric power company which serves smaller communities than one which is primarily located in a large city that might be bombed in case of World War III. As investors usually buy bonds to keep for a considerable length of time, it is well to give some consideration to the possibility that World War III could start before most good bonds mature.

Other Attractive Considerations

The properties of the telephone company, and also of certain railroads, are so well diversified over large areas, and in many cases own such valuable mineral and oil rights, that they should be attractive possibilities for investment. Even if their terminals were temporarily disrupted, or even destroyed, they would be quickly restored. Hence, I again cite the American Telephone and Telegraph and the Northern Pacific bonds as offering excellent security and add as further impartial examples a number of other railroad and utility issues.

Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company expects to have a new name soon. Adoption of the new name - Halliburton Company - is to be voted on at the forthcoming stockholders meeting June 28, 1960.

Halliburton executives say the abbreviated title will more accurately reflect the present nature of the company. When the company was organized in 1924, its only business was oil well cementing. Attention Now Being Focused On Committees and Speaker's Job

By Vern Sanford

In looking forward to the 57th Legislature, speculation now centers on 1. who will be elected Speaker of the House and 2. who will get important Legislative committee assignments.

Speaker's race is following the pattern of two years ago. Both Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen and Rep. James Turman of Guber claim sure victory. Each accuses the other of claiming votes from members that aren't actually pledged to him.

It takes votes of 76 of the 150 House members to win. Actual election takes place when the Legislature meets in January. Committee assignments will be made at the start of the session, by the Lieutenant Governor for the Senate and by the newly-elected Speaker of the House.

Make-up of committees is of crucial importance since an unfavorable committee can, by delay or disapproval, bring almost sure death to a piece of legislation. Lawmakers themselves attach much personal significance to their committee assignments, usually regarding chairmanship of key committees as rungs up the political ladder.

But this year some members are saying, either jokingly or seriously, that they'd just as soon pass up top committee honors. They note a high casualty rate in the campaigns among last year's key committee members.

Among those who lost out were Sen. William Fly of Victoria, chairman of the powerful Senate finance committee; Sen. Floyd Bradshaw, member of finance and other important committees; Rep. Max Smith, vice chairman of the House state affairs committee; Rep. Frates Seeligson, vice chairman of House revenue and taxation committee.

Leadership can have a high price tag, one member observed. "Some of those committees, like state affairs or taxation, get nothing but hot potatoes. You make a batch of enemies with every bill."

BEACH SUIT FILED

Attorney General Will Wilson has joined Nueces County officials in getting a court order to stop barricading of beaches on Padre Island by private landowners.

Action stems from the open beach bill passed by the Legislature last summer. This law, hotly debated, affirmed public ownership of beaches and guaranteed public access to them.

Padre Island Land and Development Co., which put up the barricades, claims property rights up to the water's edge as a result of a Spanish land grant.

Another suit has been filed at Galveston where a similar situation developed.

Final decision on who can go swimming where will hinge on court interpretation of the law.

TIDELANDS STUDY URGED

Jerry Sadler, Democratic nominee for land commissioner, has suggested that careful study should be made to determine what action the next Legislature should take to insure legal and orderly development of Texas tidelands.

Sadler suggested the state should chart its course carefully to avoid the possibility of any more difficulties in the management of its submerged lands. Recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling that state ownership extends 10 1/2 miles from the shoreline ended a 15 year tidelands battle.

First thing, said Sadler, will be to settle by law where the shoreline is so the tidelands boundary can be established in relation to it. Also, the boundary between Texas and Louisiana coastlines will have to be definitely determined. Court decreed Louisiana owned tidelands for only three miles out.

DON'T FENCE US OUT

You can ride horseback to your heart's content in the Davis Mountains State Park, but be sure to close the gate as you come and go.

This is the gist of a State Supreme Court ruling in a case which pitted the State Parks Board against the owners of grazing rights in the Davis Park.

State has a long-term lease on the land for park use with grazing rights reserved by the landowners. Owners declared public horseback riding in the 1,340-acre area interfered with grazing and padlocked the gates. Parks Board contended the riding was a legitimate park use to which the public was entitled.

Supreme Court agreed, but added that some safeguards should be set up so the grazing cattle wouldn't be let loose. High court sent the case back to the local district court for the writing of specific directives.

EMPLOYMENT HITS PEAK

Employment in Texas hit an all-time high this spring with 3,454,000 jobholders, Texas Employment Commission announced.

High point was hit in April. Part of it was attributed to the usual good-weather pickup in farm and construction activity, part of it to industrial expansion.

A further increase in farm employment is forecast as planting, irrigating and cultivation work gets into full swing.

Non-farm employment rose by 32,000 between March and April, hitting a total of 3,053,100.

YEAR TO REMEMBER

An historic Texas date, 1836, will be used on the road signs in San Jacinto State Park, the State Highway Commission announced.

Approximately 6.5 miles of roadway will be marked Park Road 1836. It will run from a junction with State Highway 134 and will include all state-maintained road sections within the limits of San Jacinto State Park near Houston.

SHORT SNORTS

Joe G. Moore Jr. of Austin has been appointed secretary and research director for the State Finance Advisory Commission.

Moore was at one time a research assistant for the Texas Legislative Council, helping in a study of state tax laws. Next meeting of the Commission, appointed by the governor to study state finances and make tax recommendations, is set for Friday, June 17.

Texas draft quota for July will be 290 men. State Selective Service Headquarters has announced. In addition, local boards have asked to send up approximately 1,000 men for pre-induction exams.

Gov. Price Daniel has announced the promotion of two National Guard officers. John L. Thompson Jr., Houston business man, was named a major general and Everett Selden Simpson, Amarillo attorney, a brigadier general.

Prior to that he had been in a Houston hospital for about two months. He was born April 4, 1904, in Ada, Okla. He moved to Texas in 1926 and came to Winters in 1928. He was a member of the First Baptist Church. Survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Alfons Wanoreck of Rowena, Mrs. Jack Lee of Snyder and Mrs. J. M. Turkey Producers Should Watch Hatchery Reports

The nation's turkey hatcheries report they have hatched 2 percent more poults since November 30, 1959, than for the same period a year ago. The number of poults hatched and eggs set during the week ending April 30, 1960, however, showed a decline compared to the same period a year earlier, points out Marshall Miller, associate poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. In contrast to the present national trend, poults hatched and eggs set in Texas during the week ending April 30, have shown a sizable increase over last year's production, Miller says. Several unknown factors, the specialist said, may influence the outlook as to the total number of turkeys that will be produced in 1960. Will the downward trend in the number of poults hatched and eggs set in the 10 leading states during the week ending April 30, 1960 continue below a year earlier? If this trend continues there may not be any more production in 1960 than in 1959. What will the mortality rate be in 1960? The rate of mortality is influenced by unpredictable situations such as winds, hail, floods, and disease. Will the hatching season continue later in 1960 than in 1959? Only the buyers of poults can answer this question, Miller says. Will there be more or less light-weight roaster turkeys processed and put through the retail channels of trade between January 1 and November 1, 1960 than there was for the same period a year earlier? Miller recommends that turkey producers watch government hatchery reports because the increase or decrease in 1960 turkey production will depend upon the size of the poult hatch from now until July. Remember, the specialist concludes, total production helps to determine the price that producers receive.

Air Force Restores Buddy System For Recruits In Area

Local Air Force Recruiting representative, Sergeant Sidney R. Harp, announces that it has been a long time since the Air Force Recruiting Service could recruit for "Buddy" flights or groups. The restoration of the buddy system is mainly due to an accelerated quality recruiting program. The special "Buddy" flight program means that young men from this area can enlist with their friends and join an Air Force "Buddy" flight which assures them of traveling and training together with hometown friends at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. Sergeant Harp said that it was possible that friends may stay together during other technical training schools if they have the same qualifications, abilities and desires. This special plan will be available for a short time only, said Sergeant Harp. Sergeant Harp stated that the first phase of basic military training is a course of instructions that provides the fundamental skills of an airman in the United States Air Force. The remainder of basic military training is received in conjunction with technical training at one of the following Technical Training Centers, Chanute AFB, Illinois; Keesler AFB, Mississippi; Lowry AFB, Colorado and three bases in Texas - Amarillo, Sheppard and Lackland. The Air Force recruiter stated that those interested in joining a "Buddy" flight should contact the Air Force recruiting office at Post Office Abilene, Texas for full details. He emphasized that two or more may join the Air Force under the buddy plan.

Pre-Nuptial Honor For Sandy Lowe Was Bridal Shower

Pre-nuptial courtesy for Sandy Lowe, bride-elect of Jimmie Hoppe, was a bridal shower Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of St. John's Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Robert Gerhart received the guests and introduced the honoree, her mother, Mrs. W. F. Lowe and the intended groom's mother, Mrs. L. R. Hoppe.

A yellow rose in a crystal vase decorated the register where Mrs. August Stoecker presided.

The refreshment table, laid with imported white cutwork linen, was centered with an arrangement of yellow flowers in a tall container flanked with yellow candles in crystal holders. Mrs. Carl Wessels and Mrs. Ted Hantsche alternated in ladling punch from a crystal punch bowl. Table appointments were of crystal and silver. Mrs. Johnnie Wilson directed guests to the table and registry.

The gift table was laid with white linen and centered with a yellow potted chrysanthemum with a back drop of draperies arranged in a fan shape with a large yellow satin bow in the center with the couples names, Sandy and Jimmie, in gold letters on the streamers. Two smaller bows on either side and artificial yellow roses scattered over the draperies completed the decorations. Yellow summer flowers were used at vantage points throughout the party room.

Mrs. Johnnie Wilson introduced Mrs. W. F. Minzenmayer, who sang "You Were Meant for Me" with Serena Minzenmayer at the piano. Mrs. Minzenmayer also played popular piano selections during the afternoon.

Mrs. Wilson also introduced Mrs. Raymond Kurtz, who gave an appropriate reading and presented the gifts to the honoree.

Others assisting with the hostess duties were Mesdames Cullen Busher, Loyd Wilkerson, Jake Cagle, Misses Estella Bredemeyer and Neville Fisher. Approximately 50 attended.

Head Smut Major Threat To Grain Sorghums In Texas

Head smut disease of grain sorghum occurs in all areas of Texas. Losses are likely to range from 0 to 50 percent in the Coastal Bend area of Texas. The disease, in recent years, has been building up in other areas, and losses of 5 to 10 percent are not uncommon. The value of badly infested land is lowered.

Close examination of the stalk near harvest is necessary to determine disease loss. With many infested varieties and hybrids the head is sterile. In such cases, the blackish, powdery smut is found by pushing the leaves aside and checking lower on the stalk. On other varieties and hybrids the main head will be smutted and destroyed.

In harvesting a badly-infested field, smut comes from a combine in a black cloud. When the smut gall first appears, it is covered by a whitish membrane. The membrane soon breaks and allows the black dust (spores) to be scattered by the wind and rain. The fungus disease overwinters as spores in old plant trash or in the soil. The following spring and summer the spores germinate and produce smaller spores of another type, which in turn, infect the sorghum plants through the roots. The fungus grows up through the roots and stalk to complete its life cycle. Infection of the root may occur at any time during the growth of the sorghum.

In the absence of grain sorghum, disease spores in the soil gradually die. However, some can remain alive for an undetermined number of years.

Where head smut is expected to be serious, it is recommended that growers avoid the use of highly susceptible varieties and hybrids. Highly susceptible are Combine 7078, Combine Shallu, RS610, RS608, AMAK R-10 and AMAK R-12. The use of rather susceptible varieties and hybrids such as F62a, C44a, E56a, Redbine-60, Texioca 54 and RS590, in heavily infested soil is questionable. The growing of adapted hybrids with a higher degree of tolerance to head smut is highly recommended.

More and more people are enjoying the fine sport and the great fun of fishing in Texas... and savoring their delicious catches at their dinner tables.

Texas' gulf coast is a fabulous "dream come true" for anglers. Many return home with ice chests full of such tasty salt water fish as speckled trout, red snapper, flounder, and many, many others. The big ones are there too! Fact of the matter is the world's record catch in a giant sea bass was made in Galveston Bay. It weighed a mighty 551 pounds.

Everyone, young and old, has read about "Old Rip." He has traveled as a dignitary all over the USA and even visited Pres. Calvin Coolidge in the White House. (Which, incidentally, is pretty good for a little old "Horny Toad.")

What made Old Rip famous? This little horned frog slept for 31 years in a dehydrated state in a little tin box in the cornerstone of the courthouse in Eastland, Texas. You can see him today in his plush casket at the Eastland Courthouse and read his fabulous story again.

In the days of the old west, you were a big man if you were quick on the draw with your Colt single-six. Men died with their boots on and were buried the same way at the famous Boothill Cemetery in Tascosa, Texas.

To relive the old west, visit Tascosa, some 25 miles northwest of Amarillo and present site of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch.

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sidesway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

By VERN SANFORD

As an outdoorsman you should learn all you can regarding mother nature - especially how she provides for you, as well as for the game you love.

I enjoy our modern frozen foods and mechanical gadgets just as much as the next fellow. But I think it is good to know how the Indians and the early pioneers survived without these conveniences.

Having nothing but what mother nature provided, our predecessors survived because of their knowledge and ingenuity in using what they had.

Each animal, plant, shrub, tree, bird, grass, or what-have-you, had its own place in nature. But most of them can be put to some extra use, to serve man - if he knows, or can discover how to use it.

Generally this discovery comes about as a matter of necessity. However, the factor of necessity seldom arises in our modern day world. Nevertheless, it's still good to retain part of this knowledge, even today.

Many camping families, boy scout groups, the Armed Forces, etc., attempt to learn what they can about survival, dependent upon mother nature. I have yet to hear anyone who studied it say that he had been wasting his time.

Let's just look at one, often abused and criticized product of mother nature, that abounds throughout Texas. Let's see what she has performed in the way of survival for man.

The small, misshapen, scrawny little mesquite tree has been scoffed at by tourists in Texas for many years. Yet Texas owes a great deal to this determined and useful projection of love from mother nature.

In the early days of Texas, when its population was composed of Indians, Mexicans and early white settlers, the mesquite tree was like the present suburban shopping center.

This little sprig of life provided so much for the existence of these people that I am surprised that Texas has not erected a mesquite tree statue in undying admiration for this so often abused creation of nature.

The mesquite tree was perhaps the prime heat supply of our early day people, as it provided kindling for both heating and cooking.

The oft-eaten barbecue of today started with meat prepared over the wood from mesquite trees. This wood imparts a flavor to the meat that is relished by many barbecue experts of today.

The delicate leaves of the mesquite were, and sometimes still are, placed in men's hats - to help keep the head cooler in hot weather.

Mesquite tree leaves often were used as poultices, as were the leaves of many other plants and trees.

Household bleaches of today may be better, but the earlier Texas inhabitants were quite pleased with the results of boiling mesquite tree leaves with their clothes, to make the apparel white.

The mesquite bean, that hangs in long slender pods from the tree, also found many uses. The beans were ground between stones. The result - Ole - was flour.

This was a potent and variously used flour. It made a tasty and energy-providing bread, even now enjoyed by some. The uncooked dough was the beginning of the now famous tortillas and tamales.

If you mixed this mesquite bean flour with water you could have a choice of two useful products - a stomach medicine or a potent liquor. Could be that the old-timers needed both at the same time.

Lastly, we come down to the root of the tree itself. Roots were boiled into a stomach and bowel medicine (undoubtedly never patented) and an excellent dressing for wounds.

You could forecast your planting by this tree, too. It never freezes after the buds appear and I hear tell that a very cold winter is always forecast by an extra large crop of mesquite beans.

Now, don't you agree that we've abused this tree? That we've treated it unfairly?

True, it's not a thing of beauty. But after all - beauty is only skin deep.

Diann Roper Elected Tax Assessor At Bluebonnet State

Diann Roper of Winters, a Citizen of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State now in progress in Austin, at the Texas School for the Blind, was elected as Tax Assessor-Collector, City "D", in tonight's election. She is the daughter of Mrs. M. G. Roper, and was sponsored by Girls State by Winters Lions Club, local contributing organization through the local American Legion Auxiliary Unit.

Girls State was organized as a national Americanism activity in 1937 by the American Legion Auxiliary. Non-partisan and non-political, the purpose of the Girls State program is to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age, to afford them an opportunity to live together as a self-governing group and to inform them of the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities which they will assume when they become adults. They learn the problems of government by performing the same duties as real office holders in the everyday world.

Associate Justice Meade Griffin of the Texas Supreme Court administered the oath of office to the various elected state officials of Bluebonnet Girls State Monday, June 13, in the Rotunda of the State Capitol.

Climaxing the session will be the selection of two outstanding Citizens of 1960, who will be sent to Girls Nation in Washington, D. C., by the American Legion Auxiliary, where the two young representatives will continue their study in the responsibilities of the Republic. The election of a President of Girls Nation will highlight the Girls Nation Program.

History of Humble Oil & Refining Co. Gift to Library

Winters Public Library received a book as a gift recently from the Humble Oil and Refining Company of Houston, it has been announced by Miss Myra Glover, librarian.

This book, "History of Humble Oil and Refining Company," is a story of a small Texas company organized in 1917, which became the largest oil producer in the United States, a leading pipeline carrier and an important refiner of oil products.

"The library owes much to the employees of Humble in Winters. Some have done volunteer work in the library, some have collected books for the library and others have given money to buy new books and library supplies. These employees of Humble have proven to be true friends of the Winters Library," Miss Glover stated.

The library is located in the American Legion Hall and is open Thursday and Saturday afternoons, from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock. A special invitation is extended to the children of Winters to take a summer membership.

FROM FOR TWORTH

Mrs. Joe Roe of Fort Worth, former resident of Winters, spent two weeks visiting in the home of Mrs. W. H. Cain.

MRS. RONALD J. HUDDLESTON

Linda Gayle Frazier Weds Ronald J. Huddleston in Waco

North Waco Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening uniting Miss Linda Gayle Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Frazier of 124 Woodway Drive, Waco, and Ronald James Huddleston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Huddleston of Winters.

Dr. J. W. Ousley, a professor at Baylor University, officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of red roses and greenery and candelabras holding white tapers.

Mr. Frazier was organist for his daughter's wedding, although Mrs. A. D. Holland of Waco played the bridal march as he escorted the bride to the altar. Mrs. Johnny Rhodes, soloist, sang "Little Things Mean a Lot" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Randy Huddleston of Winters, brother of the bridegroom, and Larry Frazier of Waco, brother of the bride, were candlelighters.

Rodney Lloyd of Winters served as best man and groomsmen were Mike Jones of Winters and Kenneth Thrasher of Waco. Ushers were Milton Boozer of Port Neches and Don Hay of Houston.

Miss Vaughnie Fagan of Waco was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Dianne Bettinger of Waco and Miss Beverly Huddleston of Winters, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical dresses of red silk organza over red taffeta with matching cummerbunds, white gloves and shoes. They carried bouquets of red sweetheart roses accented with white net and streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt accented with inserts of lace extended into a chapel trail. She wore long lace mitts and carried a crescent bouquet of red roses. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Members of the house party were Miss Beverly Yates of Hewitt, Miss Judy Boozer of Port Neches, Misses Mary Kay Lindsey and Carolyn Davis of Speegleville.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Winters.

Rodeo—

the Callahan County Sheriff's posse from Baird will present their mounted Quadrille in the rodeo arena.

Wild stock for the rodeo will be furnished by Lloyd Woodley of Lampasas, who has provided stock for Winters rodeos for several years.

Rex Felker, well-known rodeo announcer, will call the time for each event, and will do the general announcing. Felker has been official announcer at the Winters rodeo in two previous years.

Clowns for the rodeo are being furnished by rodeo producer Woodley. These men serve a very useful purpose in the arena, in addition to the entertainment they provide the spectators. In the bull riding contests, the clowns, some of whom have many years of rodeo experience behind them, serve as diversions for the bulls when a rider dismounts or is thrown. Many of these bulls, of the Brahman breed, are mean and will trample or gore a thrown rider if their attention is not called to someone else in the arena. The clowns serve this purpose.

Invitations have been extended to several riding clubs in the area to attend the rodeo, and take part in the parades. Two trophies will be awarded to the riding club judged the best in the parade. Trophies will be given on the first night of the rodeo. Contrary to a previous report, there will be no barbecue for visiting riding clubs this year, as has been the custom in the past.

Members of the Winters Round-Up Association were asked to meet at the corrals Thursday night, June 16, to work on the grounds and prepare the pens for the livestock.

HEIDENHEIMER'S

My Trip To Europe

BY W. H. SCHWARTZ

Touring the European Countries is something most people dream about but few in this section of the United States ever have the opportunity to make that dream come true. W. H. Schwartz of Route 2 Talpa was a member of the party recently on the eleventh annual farm study tour, sponsored by Murray Cox and Lawrence Youngman of Omaha, Nebraska.

The party began leaving Dallas at 8:30 a. m., but Mr. Schwartz and his group left at 9:30 a. m. and arrived in New York at 12:30 where they had lunch and spent the afternoon in getting ready for the flight across the Atlantic. They boarded the big jet plane at 8:30 p. m. for Paris, France, arriving there at 8:15 o'clock the next morning. There were 133 people who made the tour and when the plane landed at Paris, the party was met by large motor coaches to start the tour of France.

Mr. Schwartz stated, "We drove through the Bois de Boulogne, visited Eiffel Tower and the magnificent Tomb of Napoleon in Les Invalides. The following day we visited the farms in the Paris area and the Palace of Versailles. It is a most beautiful Palace with its Hall of Mirrors. We had lunch at Versailles and then visited a big dairy farm, where they had fine Holstein cows and lots of hogs. They cut their feed and haul it to a big barn which joins the the house.

"On Thursday April 14, we spent the morning sightseeing at the world's greatest museum, formerly a Royal Palace, the Cathedral of Notre Dame, also one of Europe's finest Gothic churches. We passed the public markets and went up the winding streets to the white marble Basilica. In the evening we attended the Folies Bergers in the world famous Paris Music Hall.

"On Friday we left Paris and the trip took us through the heart of France, due southward to Nice, then to Monte Carlo, Monaco, then to Grasse where we visited one of the famous perfume factories. In the evening our guides escorted us to see the famous Monte Carlo Casino.

"On Easter Sunday we left the lovely handkerchief-size principality at the edge of the Mediterranean Sea for the motor coach trip along the beautiful Grand Corniche Drive which passed many picturesque towns and cities on the French and Italian Rivas.

"We passed from France to Italy at Ventimiglia, then via Allassio to Genoa, birthplace of Christopher Columbus. After dinner in Genoa we took an overnight sleeper train to Rome.

"Arriving in Rome about 7:30 the next morning we spent three days sightseeing the Quirinal Palace, now the President's White House, the famous churches, the farms, dairies and hill towns of Italy and on west to the Mediterranean Sea.

"On Wednesday April 20, we left early in the morning up in the mountains to see the Thousand Fountains, then back to St. Peter's church where we stood for about an hour to see the Pope of Rome. There was a spot reserved for the Texas tour near where the Pope spoke. The crowd at that time was estimated at 70,000 people in the church.

"Four men carried the Pope in a large chair, trimmed in gold, to the rostrum. His robe was also trimmed in gold. The Pope welcomed the Texas visitors to Italy, also to Rome.

"From Rome we went sightseeing in Florence, visiting Medici Chapels with beautiful statues by Michelangelo, San Lorenzo's Cathedral, Baptistery, Grotto's Bellary, Ponte Vecchio and Pitti Palace, Piazzale Michel Angelo and the monument to the artist.

"We visited some fine dairy farms and saw many beautiful olive orchards around Bologna. We continued our trip through the beautiful Appennine Mountains, down into the extraordinarily fertile Valley of the Poe River and on to Venice-like which there is no other.

"When we arrived in Venice we left our buses and took motor boats to our hotels. Some of the canals are narrow and some very wide. The next morning on foot with a guide we saw St. Mark's Square and nearby monuments, the Basilica of St. Mark, one of the world's most magnificent churches, the Doges Palace, a treasury of art sculptures, monuments and relics, saw the Bridge of Sighs arching over a canal to the old Prison.

"In the afternoon we went by gondola through the Grand Canal to see the church Santa Maria Della Salute with its famous paintings by Titian and Canova, the Rialto Bridge, the Equestrian Monument of Calteoni. The ride in the gondola was a thrill, with three or four passengers and the oarsman was all that was safe to ride in one.

"From Venice, we began our motor coach trip through the Dolomite Mountains where the scenery is unsurpassed in Europe. We had lunch at Cortina d'Ampezzo in the beautiful mountains. We spent the night at Innsbruck, quaint and picturesque city in the heart of the Tyrolean Alps. We traveled by train through the historic Arlberg Pass road from Austria to Switzerland.

"Enroute we went through tiny Lichtenstein, a toy-size principality sandwiched between the two larger countries. Lichtenstein has its own royal family, a handsome little capitol named Vaduz, and it does a thriving postage stamp business.

"The night was spent at Lucerne, in the geographical heart of Switzerland, on the Lake of the Four Cantons. We visited the Lion Monument, the wooden chapel Bridge of 1333 and the Dance of Death Bridge of 1407, both adorned with murals of the city's history, also saw the medieval town walls and Town Hall of 1599.

"We visited a big watch factory and many of our group bought watches. There are many watch factories in Lucerne. In a lovely rural setting we attended a typical Swiss Fonde Party, about 18 miles from Lucerne between beautiful snow-capped mountains and the lovely Lake of the Four Cantons. We also visited farms and dairies.

"As we returned to Lucerne late in the afternoon there were many people on the highway taking their milk to different towns. Some had small carts pulled by one cow, one horse, three wheel pickup. The most unusual way was those pulled by dogs. One man had two ten-gallon milk cans on his cart and was driving a dog. A boy was leading his dog to a cart. Dairying is one of the main industries.

"There were many orchards of apples, pears, some peaches in full bloom. It was a lovely sight to see so many trees in full bloom with snow-capped mountains for a background.

"We left Lucerne April 29, for Baden Baden, Germany by motor, through Zurich and Schaffhausen where we detoured to see the impressive Rhine Falls and then into the beautiful Black Forest of Bavaria. The Black Forest really looked black in the distance.

"After we drove out of the Black Forest we drove into a wonderful valley, the Rhine River Valley. There were many men and women working in the fields, planting potatoes, some breaking land, driving one horse, or 2 cows using a walking plow and some were hoeing. The Rhine Valley is about 50 miles wide.

"April 30, we were in Baden Baden, a lovely resort city, famous for its hotels, mineral baths and gracious atmosphere. We had a day of relaxation, saw many vineyards and visited a winery.

"Sunday morning we traveled through a quaint and charming area of Germany to the romantic city of Heidelberg of "Student Price" fame. Heidelberg is one of the few typical old cities in Germany that escaped war damage. Since the war it has been an important American military center and a "Little America" has been built for the American troops. We saw the University, Holy Ghost church, the great Heidelberg Schloss, or Castle, and the lovely valley of the Neckar River.

"Sunday morning while we were traveling the radio was turned on and we heard the announcer say "This is the First Methodist Church in Dallas, Texas. We could hardly believe what we heard. Fine singing and a good sermon was as clear as if we had been in the church in Dallas. It was being transmitted through one of the military bases the United States has in Germany. There is a big air base near Baden Baden, also one near Weisbaden.

"There was a young farmer by the name of Gerhardt Wissner, a friend of Mr. Youngman of Omaha, Nebraska, who joined our party early that morning. He had made arrangements for us to visit the vineyards and farms. In Germany we saw homes and barns all under the same roof.

"On Monday May 2, we saw many excellent shops on Weisbaden's famous Wilhelmstrasse. It is an important German art center. We also visited Frankfurt in the afternoon. From Weisbaden we traveled by motor coaches to one of the Rhine Steamer landings at Rudesheim, to make our voyage on the fabled Rhine river. There were castles and ruins of castles almost everywhere you looked. The steep hillsides are blanketed with vineyards, also homes on the top of these mountains.

"The bottom of the valley itself was a dizzying scene of activity - with passenger boats, barges and a combination of house boat and barge. We saw one woman hanging her wash off the roof of their house-freight boat. They lived on the boat, so her wash had to dry. We met boats of every description. On both banks of the river there was traffic, both motor and train, more trains than I had ever seen. One of the interesting spots is the Lorelei rock where the legend is that the bewitching songs of the mermaids lured the sailors to their destruction. We had lunch on the Rhine steamer. When we arrived at Coblenz motor coaches were waiting for us.

"We traveled west and south through the Moselle Valley and the city of Trier, then to the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and the City of Luxembourg.

"Luxembourg was the third tiny principality we visited, including Monaco and Lichtenstein. It has a population of 999 square miles and Luxembourg City is about 65,000. Principal points of interest are the Cathedral, built in 1618, the Three Towers, Pont Adolphe Bridge, and the Grand Ducal Palace.

"From Luxembourg we drove to Belgium through Bastone of World War II fame, through the railroad center of Namur, on to Brussels, the capitol and "Little Paris" of Belgium. In the afternoon we visited several good dairy farms, then on to the great Waterloo Battlefield, saw the monument commemorating the defeat of Napoleon by the Duke of Wellington.

"Early in the morning of May 5, we visited the Grand Palace, the Town Hall, Palace of Justice, St. Gudule Church and the botanical Gardens. We had lunch at Antwerp and then drove north to Holland, through the famous pottery-making center of Delft, via Rotterdam, a great Dutch harbor, then on to The Hague where we spent the night. Although Amsterdam is the capitol, The Hague is the seat of the Netherlands government. That night from my window I saw the most beautiful parade I had ever seen. There were trucks, trailers behind tractors all covered in flowers - three separate parades with a profusion of flowers, men on horses, pretty girls on the floats and bands marching in the parade.

"May 6, we attended the impressive Dutch flower auction at Alsmeer which was an unforgettable experience because of the great profusion and great masses of blooms of unparalleled color. We visited one of the tallest buildings in Rotterdam, 10 stories high. The Farm Bureau was on a lower floor where we had refreshments.

"We went to the International Flower Show. "The Floriade" the Dutch call it, the greatest horticultural showcase in the world. It occupies 125 acres in the heart of Rotterdam. Many nations, including the United States and Soviet Russia participated in it. We saw lovely iris and orchids, flowering potted plants and every color of tulips. We also visited a large implement house near the flower show.

"Pieter Kistemaker, a Dutch farmer and good friend of Lawrence Youngman, arranged the farm tours. He and his daughter, Atie, went with the group to one of the largest farms in Holland, consisting of 125 acres which were cultivated with three small tractors. They raised oats, hay, some cattle and in the fall he bought cattle and fattened them. Their fences are ditches filled with water and their fields are divided into 15 or 20 acres. There were sheep on one plot, cows on another and one plot resting. This land has been reclaimed from the sea.

"Mr. Kistemaker told us in one place it was 14 feet below sea level, another, 17 feet below. They had a nice home built of brick where it had been the sea. The countryside was beautiful, the grass so green it looked like a carpet, flowers in profusion, fine cattle, fat and sleek, and such a clean country and everything showed that the people had great pride and love for their homes.

"On May 7, we visited Amsterdam, saw the Ryks Museum, containing one of the world's richest collections of paintings. In the diamond factory we saw diamonds of every size. One chunk as large as an egg was priced at $1400.00 in the rough. Then we visited the Royal Palace and the magnificent throne room, Rembrandt's house, the Damplatz and Nieuwe Kerk, the finest churches in the city.

"In the afternoon we went to the Islands of Volendam and Marken, picturesque communities. The people here still wear ancient costumes, their dresses were long and dark, white aprons, pointed caps and bonnets. The men's trousers were gathered at the waist which made them full, but their lives are being changed by the closing of the Zuider Zee where the Dutch are reclaiming more land from the sea. By the skillful construction of dykes they are creating fertile land out of what is now the ocean bottom. They are pumping the water back into the ocean behind the great dike. When this is finished they will have 600,000 acres reclaimed. They invited us to come back in 7 or 8 years and they would have good brick homes, grass, oats, cattle and sheep grazing on what is now the ocean bottom. They have already reclaimed 600,000 acres where they are living. The Dutch have a saying, "God made the world, but the Dutchman built Holland."

"We drove to Hook of Holland where we boarded an overnight boat. It was about 11 o'clock when we went to bed and about daylight when I went on deck the North Sea was very calm. We landed in about an hour at Harwich, on the east coast of England. Motor coaches were there to meet us when we landed and we drove to Colchester for breakfast.

"The president of A and M College of Chelmsford joined our party at Colchester and invited us to go with him to his church, the Reformed Church of England, where we heard a good sermon. The pastor gave us special recognition and then we went to the college cafeteria where we were his guests for lunch. The professor took us to see two dairy farms where they also had large apple orchards. The trees were in full bloom which was a lovely sight. The vegetation was green with lots of flowers and big trees. We saw many palaces and old castles on our trip to London in the late afternoon.

"May 9, we had a full day of sightseeing in London, saw St. James's Palace, Buckingham Palace, London residence of English Sovereigns since 1837, visited the Tower of London, a medieval fortress, the Royal Palace, a prison, St. Paul's Cathedral, through Fleet Street to visit Dicken's Old Curiosity Shop. In the late afternoon we drove through Trafalgar Square, Piccadilly Circus, along Regent and Oxford Streets, past Marble Arch and Hyde Park to visit Kensington Museums, saw Lamberth Palace, the House of Parliament, Westminster Abbey, traditional setting of coronations and Royal marriages and historical ceremonies. In the evening we visited the Palladium Music Hall.

"We left London May 10, and drove along the Thames River to Henley, then Oxford, saw the colleges (32 of them) some dating from the 13th century. We drove to Stratford-on-Avon to visit Shakespeare's birthplace. The furniture is still in the home which had a big fireplace. We also visited Anne Hathaway's home where she was reared. It has a fireplace which burned 8 foot logs, her canopied bed in her bedroom. From the homes we went to Trinity church where the poet is buried. We had lunch at Warwick and visited medieval Warwick Castle and returned to London by bury. "We had May 11 for shopping until time to leave for the airport where our plane took off at 6:30 p.m. for the United States. In all our travels we found people very nice and friendly.

"When our plane was about mid-ocean the captain announced we would have trouble landing in New York as it was foggy and raining, but that we would land somewhere as he would not have enough fuel to stay aloft until we could land in New York. We landed at Gander, New Foundland for refueling. We left Gander about dusk and took 2 hours to fly to New York, took a bus for New Jersey and flew to Dallas."

Applications For Cotton Classing Service Due Aug. 1

Cotton farmers who have not already filed applications to receive free classing service and market information for their 1960 crop have until Aug. 1 to apply for these services.

Applications should be filed with Borden B. Manly, Jr., P. O. Box 2001, Abilene, Texas. Mr. Manly is in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service's area cotton office which includes 36 Central West Texas counties.

Procedure for preparing and filing applications has been considerably shortened and simplified this season. "However, promptness in filing is necessary, as time is needed for each group to arrange for submitting samples to the classing office," Mr. Manly said.

Applications and instructions for applying may be obtained from Mr. Manly's office or from the county agricultural agent.

Under the free classing service, organized growers learn the grade and staple of each bale of cotton they produce. Through market news they learn what cotton is selling for. These two services put them in better bargaining position when they sell their cotton.

More than 13.7 million bales of cotton, about 95 percent of the 1959 crop, were classed under the Smith-Doxey program last year. This is the largest proportion classed for any crop since the service became available in 1938.

Tips On How To Freeze Fresh Fruit

Freezing is one of the simplest and fastest methods of preserving fruits. When frozen properly, fruit keeps its natural color, fresh flavor and its food value. Frozen fruits can be prepared quickly for serving.

In freezing fruits as in freezing any other food, directions should be followed carefully because the quality of the product can vary with freshness of product used, the methods of preparation, packaging and conditions of freezing.

The food coming out of the freezer is no better than it was before it was frozen, so be careful and select good food to freeze. Handle the food to be frozen as little as possible. Prepare the food as soon as you can after it has been gathered.

Package foods properly. The purpose of packaging or wrapping food is to keep it from drying out and to preserve food value, flavor, color and pleasing texture. The selection of containers depends upon the type of food to be frozen and personal preference. All packaging materials used should be moisture vapor proof to prevent evaporation and to retain the highest quality frozen foods.

Frozen food undergoes slow changes in storage and will not retain its quality indefinitely, so do not store too long. Suggested length of storage is one year or less for fruits.

Most fruits have a better texture and flavor if packed in sugar or syrup. Some may be packed without sweetening for use in special diets.

For syrup pack dissolve recommended amounts of sugar for each fruit in hot water. Cool thoroughly before pouring over the prepared fruit. Place prepared fruit in containers and cover with syrup. Leave space at top of the container to allow for expansion. For fruit which darkens, place crumpled moisture-vapor proof paper between lid and the fruit to keep it submerged.

To Freeze Peaches Packed in Syrup

Make sugar syrup in proportion of 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water. Add one teaspoon powdered ascorbic acid per quart to prevent discoloration. Pour about 1-2 cup of cold sugar syrup in pint freezer container. Slice peeled peaches directly into the container. Press fruit down and add syrup to 1-2 inch from top of container. Place crumpled freezer paper, heavy waxed paper, or

Not only is there more to see in Texas, but Texas also provides the best avenues to get there.

Texas has more private roads than any state in the union. Today there are 1,591 miles of superb divided concrete highways. The total will reach 2,700 by 1975.

Truly, there's more to see in Texas - and you can see it better.

Stone houses over 500 years old in Texas?

Yep, in our Texas panhandle. Nope they don't build 'em like they used to any more.

These were built by the Pueblo Indians and were discovered in 1907. You can see them today just 18 miles southeast of Perryton.

A life-sized statue of Popeye, the sailorman of newspaper cartoon fame, stands at Crystal City, south of Uvalde, in Southwest Texas.

Why is it there? You guessed it. Crystal City is the spinach capital of the world.

Remember reading about the Texas Revolution and the final battle where General Sam Houston and his valiant Texas Army, thundering "Remember the Alamo," defeated the Mexican Army of Santa Anna?

Today this San Jacinto Battleground, just east of Houston, is a beautiful sight to behold.

On this "Battleground of Victory" there now stands the world's tallest stone monument. You can take an elevator of the 570-foot massive, air-conditioned, giant edifice and survey the entire battlefield.

A huge 35-foot, 220-ton "Star of Texas" rests atop the monument. It is as impressive as the majestic state it represents.

Scenic, quaint, metropolitan, recreational capital, year 'round weather - these words, true as they are, just don't describe San Antonio adequately.

This historic city has a little of everything.

It's the home of the Alamo and has many old and famous missions.

It's America's Venice, too. You can glide down the San Antonio River that meanders through the city. Your gondola or cycleboat will take you along the same river banks where a quiet Indian village once stood. You'll see beautiful semi-tropical plants and flowers. You can stop off at a sidewalk cafe for an adventure in exotic foods, too.

Better plan a long stay in San Antonio. There's so much to see that you'll never want to leave.

FFA Teachers Will Meet In Abilene On June 20 and 21

More than thirty high school vocational agriculture teachers from the West Texas area will be in Abilene, June 20 and 21, at Lytle Shores Auditorium to attend an FFA Teacher Training Program sponsored by West Texas Utilities Company.

Curly Hays of the WTU Public Service Department will serve as coordinator for the two day short course. J. B. Payne of Stephenville, Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, Area IV, will assist with the electric short course. R. E. Patton and G. G. Hardin, WTU engineers, and W. E. McCune, Agricultural Engineering Department, A and M College, will be the instructors.

The laboratory work will consist of the construction of electric demonstration boards by each teacher who will receive the board free of charge to be used in the course of instruction at his school.

aluminum foil on top of peaches. This prevents the peaches from floating above the syrup. Seal and freeze immediately.

To Freeze Blackberries
Select fully ripened, sound berries. Handle as little as possible. Wash, cap and drain. Use 3-4 cup sugar for each quart of berries, or cover with cold sugar syrup using 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water. Add one cup sugar to each quart of crushed berries or puree, and stir until dissolved. Seal and freeze immediately.

To Freeze Apricots
Wash, halve and pit. Peel and slice if desired. If apricots are not peeled, heat them in boiling water 1-2 minute to keep skins from toughening during freezing. Cool in cold water and drain. Treat to prevent discoloration. Cover with cold syrup using 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water, or mix 1-2 cup sugar with each quart of fruit. Seal and freeze immediately.

For further information on freezing fruits write or call the office of the county home demonstration agent and ask for bulletin B-175, Frozen Foods.

Good Management Big Aid to Production Of Quality Milk

Don't relax your efforts in production of high quality milk. That is the advice to dairymen from A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, who adds that seasonal jobs may take more attention now but herd management and production of top quality milk must always be prime considerations.

If milk production drops and quality slips, much time and effort spent in the fields is lost through lower cash income from milk sales.

In milk, flavor and keeping quality are the factors that influence acceptability by the consumer.

Meekma says flavor is best controlled by good herd management. When the herd is on pasture, the grazing routine must be managed carefully to prevent weedy or grassy flavors in milk. Even on good pastures, remove the herd at least two hours before milking. If pastures are infested with objectionable weeds, it may be necessary to remove the herd three to six hours before milking. Silage of-flavors can be prevented by feeding silage only after milking and removing it from before the cows at least two to three hours before next milking. Bacteria are responsible for loss of keeping quality of milk. Their number can be held to a minimum by milking only healthy cows by sanitary methods, by using clean sanitized equipment and by cooling the milk promptly to temperatures of 40 degrees or below. A critical point in sanitary milk production—it's often overlooked—is having the teats dry before milking either by hand or machine. The job is not completely done by using a sanitizer. Drying, says Meekma, must follow any washing and sanitizing of the teats to prevent objectionable contamination.

Farm bulk storage tanks are replacing the milk can in Texas. They have definitely maintained increased quality of milk. However, adds Meekma, bulk tanks are not the complete answer to high bacteria problems. Clean healthy cows, clean methods and sanitary equipment are just as important with bulk tanks as they ever were, concludes the specialist.

Roger Babson Discusses "What To Do" In the Event of Atomic Attack On U. S.

Babson Park, Mass., If World War III should come suddenly and your community be hit by A-bomb or H-bomb attack, it would be demolished; probably no preparation on your part could save your life. The chances are, however, that your city will not be bombed - that you would have only fallout to worry about. This fallout is the radioactive dust thrown into the air when a bomb explodes. If Detroit, for instance, should be bombed, most of the people there would be killed. Then a cloud of radioactive dust would travel with the prevailing wind. Probably everyone within 50 miles would be subject to burns.

Therefore, everyone within a radius of 50 miles from a bomb explosion should go to a "shelter" and be prepared to remain there for three or four days. This shelter should have a supply of good water, a stock of rice and canned goods, some reading matter, and a battery-operated radio for the official news. Radio stations would operate only at 640 or 1240 on the dial; these are the Conelrad stations. Mortgage payments of principal and interest would be "frozen" and all stock exchanges closed.

What Food To Eat

Even when the fallout had dissipated and you could again lead a normal life, you would have to be very careful what you ate. Other things being equal, states having the greatest rainfall divided fairly equally throughout the year (Oregon, for example) could be the safest in which to live or loan money. The reason is that rain washes off this dangerous dust from most of the things that you would eat.

The safest foods would be fruits such as oranges, bananas, lemons, and others which have a thick skin that can be washed and peeled off. Apples, peaches, berries, grapes, tomatoes, etc. with thin skins should be avoided until the government pronounced them safe to eat. Scientists are not yet agreed on potatoes, carrots, etc., which are underground but have foliage above ground. It is rumored that a neutron bomb will be brought out which has no fallout; but I will not comment on this until additional details are available. I, however, am carefully following this new development.

Dangerous Things To Eat and Drink

After a bomb drops anywhere in this country, we should drink no milk until the government permits us to do so. Cows eating grass which has been contaminated by "fallout" give radioactive milk. This raises the question whether we should eat butter and cheese. Unless the grass has been thoroughly washed off by heavy rains, the beef of the cattle may also be contaminated. The same could be true of sheep, hogs, and other livestock. Listen to CONELRAD for advice.

Ground fish, such as cod and haddock, should be safe to eat; also possibly lobsters. But fish such as mackerel, which swim near the surface, could easily become radioactive. Drinking water is very important. Fortunately are those families which have a covered well from which pure water can be pulled up by hand, a well not dependent on electricity. People who get their water from uncovered reservoirs or rivers should have a supply of pure water in their shelter. Each shelter should have a cot for each member of the family and enough blankets to permit the family to sleep for two or three nights until the fallout disperses. For further details, write Col. H. W. Buchanan, C. D. Director, Barton, Florida.

What Fallout Does Not Kill

Fallout does not kill trees, so far as we now know. I further believe that the only 100 percent hedge against inflation is acreage with growing trees and fireproof apartment buildings.

Householders who have no basements should build a fallout shelter in the backyard of concrete blocks covered with boards and about three feet of dirt and properly drained; otherwise there should be a hand pump to keep it dry. The floor of the shelter should have some place provided for the deposit of human excretion; therefore each shelter should contain a shovel and a can of Borax. One final thought: I advise readers to be sure, before taking or renewing a mortgage on any property, that the house has some sort of fallout shelter.

Washington D. C. Changed Greatly In Last Few Years

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

That little island of Federal territory, the District of Columbia, the seat of government, has undergone more changes during the past decade than perhaps any other metropolitan area in the country.

Census takers report a 6.8 percent loss in population, while suburban areas surrounding the district have mushroomed. During this same period the Negro school enrollment in the district has just about doubled, with the white enrollment being reduced substantially.

Observers see in this change a rather large-scale exodus of whites from the district in the wake of more negroes cropping up in white neighborhoods. Some foresee the day when the District of Columbia will be composed of perhaps 80 to 90 percent colored people - "another Harlem."

In the light of this trend, the drive for Home Rule for the District is being pushed. When the Constitution was established the Founding Fathers set aside the district for all the American people - to be governed by the Congress. But in recent years Negro and liberal groups have demanded that the Federal district be turned over to local control rather than having it governed by the Congress.

The House District of Columbia Committee has refused to report a bill to bring this about. An attempt is now being made to force the issue to the floor by a discharge petition, thus by-passing the District committee. To do this, a majority of the members of the House must sign the petition.

Lacking only a few names of having the required majority, the drive for more signers is picking up steam. Only two from Texas have signed the petition - Bruce Alger of Dallas and Jim Wright of Ft. Worth.

In the meantime, a resolution to amend the Constitution so as to permit District residents to vote in Presidential elections is about to be submitted. The proposal seems desirable and sound, but many of us still believe that the local government of the district should be under the Congress to handle in behalf of all the American people as their Nation's Capitol.

Winters Man Receives Defense Industry Appointment in Dallas

Ralph H. Schwartz, son of W. H. Schwartz and a brother of Mrs. M. W. Boles, has announced his appointment as an electronics development technician to the staff of Texas Instruments, Incorporated, Dallas.

Schwartz, 26, a Talpa High School graduate, began his electronics career with his enrollment in the electronics engineering technician training program of United Electronics Laboratories, in Louisville, Kentucky. Graduating with honors from UEL, he was offered several positions in the field of electronics, but chose the Texas Instruments appointment as being the one offering the greatest challenge.

According to Michael London, UEL director of placement and personnel, Schwartz's outstanding work in sensing elements and instrumentation earned him UEL's special citation of merit. Expressing gratification over Schwartz's appointment, London said: "We are especially pleased because he passed each of Texas Instruments' rigorous qualifications with flying colors, and thus becomes one of the distinguished company of UEL graduates now engaged in space-age electronics."

Amusements Coming to Local Theatres

"A Summer Place"
 "A Summer Place," the popular novel by Sloan Wilson, author of "The Man In The Gray Flannel Suit," has been brought to the screen by Warner Bros. as a Technicolor production starring Richard Egan, Dorothy McGuire, Sandra Dee, Arthur Kennedy and Troy Donahue and featuring Constance Ford and Beulah Bondi.

The direction of the motion picture, coming soon to the Fiesta Drive In Theatre, was entrusted to one of Hollywood's great talents, Delmer Daves, who also wrote the screen adaptation.

"A Summer Place" is a present-day story with a Maine background. Millionaire Ken Jorgenson, with his wife, Helen and daughter Molly, returns to the Pine Island Mansion where he once worked as a lifeguard. The owner, Bart Hunter, has dissipated the family fortune and is now operating the summer place with his wife Sylvia and son Johnny, as an inn for paying guests.

Ken and Sylvia face their old love, determine on divorce. The scandalous difficult problems for Molly and Johnny, who forget their loneliness in each other. Like their parents 20 years ago they have an illicit love affair. How the problems are solved and greater understanding between the parents and children established, is frankly and sensitively told.

"Five Gates to Hell"
 From the moment it takes off with the force that follows a successful count down at a launching pad, "Five Gates to Hell" a Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope presentation opening Sunday and Monday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre, explodes with drama, action and suspense. Combining a topical story, fine performances, forceful direction and magnificent photography, it comes forth as far more than a so-called "action film."

James Clavell, who makes his debut as producer-director, based his screenplay in that arsenal of the Far East, Viet-Nam, during the French Indo-Chinese War. It explodes with the shattering situation which has so often monopolized the headlines, and threatens to burst forth again at any moment.

 Dolores Michael and Patricia Owens are starred.
 Neville Brand, combining great force with subtlety, enacts the role of Chen Pamok, leader of a guerilla band, who swoops down upon a field hospital headed by an American doctor convincingly played by Ken Scott. Scott, his assistant (John Morley) and the nurses operating the hospital are kidnapped and taken to the fortress where the War Lord lies critically ill and in need of medical care. In their plot to escape the brutality of their captors, the nurses rise to heights of great valor.

"The Country Girl"
 A picture that rates with the finest and most entertaining ever offered, Paramount's dramatic powerhouse, "The Country Girl," starts an engagement next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre. Co-starring Bing Crosby, William Holden and Grace Kelly, this is the film which won for the famous Princess of Monaco the highly coveted Academy Award for Best Actress, as well as the equally treasured New York Film Critics Award.

The plot concerns an actor obsessed by guilt for a past tragedy which he drowns in alcohol. He is given one last chance to make a comeback by appearing as the lead in a musical show. His wife and the play's director strive to keep him going. In the process they fall in love, which complicates the dramatic impact of the adult story.
 Crosby plays the actor and gives a performance that was hailed as one of the screen's most moving and brilliant portrayals. Holden, as the director who falls in love with "The Country Girl," is a forceful and highly sympathetic character and contributes enormously to the over-all excellence of this exceptionally entertaining film.

John C. McMillan Died Thursday In Big Spring Hospital

John Crenshaw McMillan, 86, resident of Winters for 28 years, died Thursday morning in a Big Spring Hospital, following a stroke. He had been in ill health for about three months.

His father was a Methodist minister and served several communities in central Texas.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and attended Sunday School and Church until last year when his health prevented him from attending.

 Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Spill Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Ben Marney, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Coleman, officiating. The Rev. E. L. Craig, pastor of Winters Methodist Church, assisted. Burial was in Fairview cemetery and grand nephews served as pallbearers.

tists release.
 "Shake Hands With the Devil" stars James Cagney, Don Murray, Dana Wynter and Glynis Johns; co-stars Michael Redgrave, Dame Sybil Thorndike and Cyril Cusack; introduces a lovely young colleen named Marianne Benet; and features a large supporting cast including many of the finest character actors in England and Ireland.
 A Pennebaker presentation "Shake Hands With the Devil" was produced and directed by Michael Anderson with George Glass and Walter Seltzer as executive producers. The screenplay, an adaptation of the best-selling novel by Rearden Conner, was written in collaboration by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts from an adaptation by Marian Thompson. Erwin Hillier was chief cameraman. The musical score was composed by William Allwyn and performed by the London Philharmonic under the direction of Muir Mathieson.

"Shake Hands With the Devil" was shot in its entirety in Dublin and the surrounding area, in sites ranging from the mountain pass at Lugalla to Wicklow Head, where the hills slope down to meet the sea.

the rodeo . . .

. . . is strictly an American form of entertainment, patterned after the workaday world of the cowboy of the present day and of frontier days. Those early pioneers worked hard and played hard, and built the foundation upon which our state and nation rest.

Those pioneers contributed their all to build this country into what it is today. The backbone of the nation, they slaved with few conveniences, to wrest from the earth abundant crops and ranging herds of cattle.

Likewise, it takes hard work to maintain that status. Without the constant vigilance of every citizen, life as we know it today would slip from our grasp.
