Following the completion of seasonal play, managers will select an all-star team with a game to be played in Abilene.

At the present time there is a four way tie for first place in the major league with the Jets, Dodgers, Indians and Wingate having lost two games each.

Dedication of the Little League Baseball Field was held Thursday evening (June 15) beginning at 6:30. Dr. H. H. McCreight served as master of ceremonies and the Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the invocation. Name of the field was revealed and all baseball players, managers, coaches and umpires were introduced and recognition was given to citizens who support the teams, gave their time and money to build the field.

Little League Baseball was organized in Winters in 1955 and received their charter in 1959 playing under national league rules. Dr. H. H. McCreight served as first president of the organization and Tab Hatler is current president. Homer Hudgins is secretary-treasurer and J. F. Richie is player co-ordinator. Land on which the field is located was deeded to the organization by George Briley and was built in

Pat M. Vaughan Has Completed Seven Week Pacific Cruise

Completing a seven-week southern cruise in the Pacific aboard the Seventh Fleet heavy cruiser USS Saint Paul when she returned to Yokosuka, Japan, May 22, was Pat M. Vaughan, aviation electrician's mate airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vaughan of 504 E. Truitt.

Highlighting the cruise was the crossing of the equator, the legendary domain of King Neptune. While in these waters, 550 of the crew "polliwogs" — sailors who have never crossed the equator — were subjected to various trials and tests of endurance in determination of their eligibility to enter Neptune's realm. The traditional rites were performed as the heavy cruiser steamed along the equator for 40 miles in a down pour of intermittent equatorial showers.

During the cruise the Saint Paul visited Okinawa, Taiwan, Hong Kong, British North Borneo, Malaya, and the Philippines.

Rodeo Ground Work Set For Thursday

Members of the Round-Up Association were urged to come up to the rodeo grounds Thursday night (June 15) and help in getting corrals and chutes prepared for next week's rodeo.

Tuesday Will Be "Ladies' Day" At Swimming Pool

Tuesday will be "Ladies' Day" at the Winters Municipal Swimming Pool, L. G. Wilson, high school coach who is managing the pool for the City, said this week.

Tuesday morning has been set aside for exclusive use of the ladies, Wilson said. Hours will be from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., each Tuesday.

Other "open" hours at the swimming pool include:

Wednesday, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.
Sunday, 2 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

On all other days the pool will be open from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Dick Stafford, recently employed as a coach in the Winters schools, is the life guard at the pool.

Local swimmers may now obtain season tickets for use at the Winters pool. Also, 20-swim tickets are on sale at the pool.

Wilson said that private swimming lessons will begin next Monday.

Winters Boy Scouts To Spend Week At Camp Tonkawa

Several Winters Boy Scouts from Troop 49 will spend a week at the Chisholm Trail Council Camp Tonkawa at Abilene State Park. They will leave for camp Sunday, June 18, and return home June 25.

Already registered for the summer Scout camp are Mike Hays, Terry Collins, Jay Davidson, Bob Jones, John Craven, Jimmie Burnett, David Burnett and Jerry Hudgins.

Jimmie Randolph and Jim Burnett of Winters will be in charge of the Winters group of Scouts at the camp.

During the camp week the boys will be given opportunity to work on merit badges, and participate in other activities such as rifle practice, archery, swimming, life saving and in crafts.

Family night will be observed on Thursday during the week of camp. On this occasion, Scouts will participate in Order of the Arrow ceremonies.

Girl Injured In Car Wreck Monday Night

Jeannie Woffenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Woffenden, received cuts and bruises in a one-car accident about four miles west of Winters on a country road Monday night. She was treated and released at Winters Municipal Hospital.

Miss Woffenden was a passenger in the car driven by Leroy Kraatz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kraatz. An investigating officer said the car missed a curve and overturned once.

RETURNED HOME

Mrs. Lora Coupland, Mrs. Neal Scott and sons of San Angelo returned home Monday from California where they visited relatives. Mrs. Coupland had been in California for five weeks.

IN ROBINSON HOME

Pat Collie of San Angelo, former resident of Winters, spent Saturday night visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Robinson.

15th Annual Rodeo Begins Thursday Evening, June 22

"Barnstorming" Trip For Rodeo Next Tuesday

A "barnstorming" publicity tour by Winters rodeo backers will leave next Tuesday morning for a trip to several towns in the area, Ralph Lloyd, chairman, announced.

The tour will be for the purpose of advertising the 15th Annual Winters Rodeo next week, June 22, 23 and 24.

Lloyd said the group will meet in front of the Main Drug and leave about 8:30 Tuesday morning. Everyone who can possibly make the trip to publicize the annual rodeo is invited and urged to be on hand.

Towns to be visited on the tour will be Tuscola, Lawn, Novice, Coleman, Talpa, Ballinger and Bronte.

Also, members of the Round-Up Association, sponsors of the annual rodeo, were asked to be at the rodeo corrals Thursday evening (June 15) to finish working on chutes and making other repairs prior to the rodeo.

Summer Grid Camp Will Start August 14

L. G. Wilson, head coach of Winters High School, said this week that the summer football camp for the 1961 Blizzard football team will begin August 14.

The summer camp program is designed to organize the football team, and condition individual members for the season. During the two weeks camp, members of the team will camp at the football field, and take their meals at the cafeteria.

Summer football campers will be under the supervision of the coaching staff of Winters High School.

Winters Boys To Go To Salvation Army Camp For Week

The boys will be in camp from Sunday noon, June 18, through Sunday, June 25.

Lazy 'N' Ponies Win Spots In Horse Shows

Shetland ponies from John Norman's Lazy "N" Stables won several places in horse shows at Haskell and Abilene this past week.

Lazy "N" Lady Oracle, owned by Norman, was named reserve champion mare in the Shetland class at the Haskell Horse Show Saturday.

Norman won the harness class for Shetlands Sunday at the Abilene Horse Show with Lazy "N" Golden Dude.

In the Haskell show, the Winters man also won the following places with his ponies:

Stallions foaled 1960 — Lazy N Copper Captain, second place.
Mare foaled 1960 — Lazy "N" Lady Oracle, second place.
Mares foaled 1958 or before — Harriett of Forest Creek, first place.

County Agent Will Speak At Lions Club

C. T. Parker, Runnels County agricultural agent, will speak to the Winters Lions Club next Tuesday, June 20, Mord Tucker, who is in charge of the program, announced this week.

It was also announced this week that an American soldier who was a prisoner of the Communists will speak at a Lions Club luncheon sometime in September.

shows in this section, and is expected to draw contestants from a wide area.

A special event of interest to all boys in the community will be the nightly calf scramble, sponsored by the Winters State Bank. This event has been held for several years during the rodeo, and has proved quite popular with the boys.

Boys who wish to take part in the calf scramble are requested to file their entries as early as possible. Boys can contact Lon McDonald, high school agriculture teacher, Leland Robinson, agriculture teacher, or get entry blanks at the chamber of commerce.

Boys 13 to 14 will be included in the Thursday and Saturday night calf scrambles. Boys 15 and 16 will scramble for calves Friday and Saturday nights.

Between - events entertainment will be furnished by rodeo clowns, Jim (Willie) Windsor, of Hentietta, and Jack (Stringbean) Jackson, of Wichita Falls. These two clowns have worked rodeos in Texas and Oklahoma.

Windsor is a former race car driver and boxer, and has a trick quarter horse and a slow motion kicking mule named "Turpentine." His hobbies are flying and Cub Scouts.

Jackson is a retired bullrider. He has a trick mule named "Overjack," that was animal star on the TV show "Route 66" in the series, "Ten Drops of Water," filmed in August, 1960, in Kanab, Utah.

One of the most colorful and nationally known riding organizations in the country, the Callahan County Sheriff's Posse, will make arena appearances on each night of the rodeo. The club is being sponsored by Davidson Gin.

Rex Felker, who has handled the microphone in previous Winters rodeos, will call events again this year.

For the big parades, Floyd Grant, chairman of that event, an attractive list of cash prizes is being offered for floats. A total of $150 is prizes will be awarded winning floats which participate in both Thursday's and Saturday's parades. First prize will be $75, second, $50, and third prize, $25. All churches, clubs and organizations, and businesses are urged to participate in the parade.

Winters High School Blizzard Band, under direction of Robert R. Gans, will lead the parade. The Carver School Band from Ballinger also will be in the parades.

To further publicize the annual rodeo, the Winters Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a beard growing contest. They have been selling "shave permits" for several days, and will operate a "jail" on Main Street during the rodeo for confinement of persons who have shaved or do not have the special permits.

A group of rodeo backers will make a special television appearance on an Abilene station Monday night to publicize the rodeo. This group will be headed by Harry Herman, publicity chairman of the Round-Up Association.

Small Grain Harvested

Almost all of the small grain in the Winters area is "in the barn," with only a few late fields remaining to be cut.

Wheat production in this area has far exceeded previous estimates, according to many sources. However, it has been estimated that from 15 to 20 percent of the 1961 grain crop in North Runnels County was destroyed by hail and high winds, or both. Quality of wheat has been described as good, with barley and oats listed as light.

Much of the grain has been moved out of Winters by truck. However, J. C. Jarrell, agent for Abilene Southern Railroad, said that 66 carloads of grain had left the Winters elevators by rail since harvest began.

Grain brought into Winters elevators since cutting started has amounted to: Wheat, 198,000 bushels; barley, 44,500 bushels; and oats, 122,000 bushels.

Roger Babson Says

Read the Fine Print When Buying Insurance, Life, Fire, or Accident

Babson Park, Florida — I believe in insurance—life insurance, fire insurance, accident insurance, and especially in the "Blue Cross" and "Blue Shield." If I were not a statistician, I would be selling insurance.

The 1960 Hurricane

I own property a few miles north of here which got sad treatment from "Donna." I am now down here settling up my losses with the insurance company. These losses were first on the house, which (after some dickering) we agreed would be $400.00. This included leaks in the roof, windows and screen broken, and other damages. When looking at it, I saw it to be for only $300.00. When I complained he courteously asked: "Have you read the fine print of your policy?" I replied that I had not; but upon doing so I learned that the insurance company can make a deduction of $100.00. In fact, if the loss had been only $100, I would have received nothing!

I next showed the insurance adjuster where my beautiful palm trees had been torn out. These had cost me $75.00 or more each. We agreed that my loss on the valuable trees, shrubs, etc., was at least $900.00. But when I asked for a check to reimburse me, the adjuster inquired if I had read the fine print in my policy which specifically exempted the insurance company from all such losses! But this was not all. I also suffered the loss of fifty feet of concrete wall eight feet high attached to my house. Surely, I expected to be reimbursed for rebuilding this wall; but for the third time the adjuster asked: "Have you read all the fine print?" Upon doing so I found that the fine print on the policy held the insurance company absolutely exempt from responsibility for damages involving the destruction of any walls!

Insurance Companies Not To Blame

It is not the fault of the insurance companies if you and I fail to read the "fine print." Furthermore, if all of these exceptions were not specifically spelled out, the premium which I paid would have had to be much higher. It is the old story: "We cannot have our cake and eat it too." When buying insurance, or real estate, or anything else, we cannot beat the basic laws of mathematics. The only safe way to try and beat an insurance company (or a real estate agent) is to buy when interest rates are high and cash in when they are low.

The same general principle applies to buying stocks. Insurance companies make money by selling umbrellas when the sun is shining. But brokers make money by selling stocks today when everyone wants them. The careful investor will not be fooled by popular demand, which is usually wrong. Write on the cover of your check book: "Come into my parlor," said the spider to the fly.

What About Insurance Stocks?

As most people are stupid and usually do the wrong thing at the wrong time and never read the fine print, I have decided to invest more money in insurance stocks: life, fire, accident, and casualty. In fact, over the past fifty years the life insurance stocks have done more for investors than any other class of stocks.

All insurance companies are slow getting started; they cannot pay dividends during their early years. They must use their profits for establishing reserves. Insurance companies are carefully supervised by state authorities. Yet, everyone is working to help them make money. This includes the doctors, the druggists, the legislators, the fire departments and the schools. In fact, even President Kennedy with his work to help the aged is prolonging life, which greatly helps all life insurance companies. Hence, instead of worrying about "the fine print," I am going to go home to Massanutrients, if properly applied, will help prevent Fusarium wilt. In excessive use of nitrogen, the cotton disease losses are avoided in Fusarium wilt soils. It is estimated that Verticillium wilt can be reduced if available soil nitrogen is increased on the excess side.

Availability of nitrogen and potash cause cotton to be more susceptible to disease organisms. Unbalanced fertility can lead to disease control problems.

Check cotton fields for disease damage at regular intervals. You will find that certain diseases are damaging or killing your cotton plants. These same diseases will probably occur, more or less, next

Wild Animals Not For Pets, Say Wardens

Warnings that individuals who catch young wildlife for pets or for sale, have been issued by the law enforcement division of the Game and Fish Commission.

"We get complaints every day that persons have been picking up young of the wild, particularly fawns," says J. B. Phillips, assistant director. "This is strictly against the law and wardens have been instructed to make arrests and file cases."

Every day complaints come in that fawns have been picked up, some of them when the mother deer is close by. He pointed out that the wild animal usually takes care of itself much better if left alone. Permits are required for raising wildlife in captivity and the permit must be held before the animal is captured.

At the same time, complaints also are being filed against persons catching protected birds or destroying nests. Among them were several filed in Austin against persons who invaded a swallow rookery on the Highland Lakes with air rifles and sling shots.

Baby birds are used to bait trout lines. If the bird is a protected species complaints are filed and the guilty person usually is given a stiff fine.

Numerous arrests have resulted from pictures appearing in newspapers of persons displaying a baby animal.

year. Remember, says Smith, cotton diseases are prevented, not cured. Little can be done to control cotton diseases on the present crop after it is planted.

In order to plan the best preventive control program, it is necessary to know the diseases that are likely to cause losses. It is also helpful to know where certain diseases might occur in your fields. For example, root rot, root knot and other nematodes, bacterial blight, ascochyta blight and seedling disease can be reduced somewhat the following year by deep plowing during hot, dry weather.

The proper use of all cotton disease reduction practices will tend to make a healthier plant, and a healthier plant can make better use of soil fertilizer nutrients. With this in mind, fertilize for yield, quality and disease control. By following these practices, greater profits will be realized from fertilizer, Smith concludes.

EYES and VISION

By A. L. SPERRY, O. D.
Director Public Education
Texas Optometric Association

Many occupations demand unusual seeing ability—and as a result, occupational lenses are required. Barbers, for instance, are some of our most exacting patients.

When new glasses are placed on the average patient's nose he at once looks around the room and then, if he is a bifocal wearer, he picks up the nearest printed matter to try the bifocal. But not the barber. First thing any barber does is hold up the back of his hand and study it. If he can see it okay then he looks around the room or tries some printed matter. This sequence is understandable because fine hair is the barber's main concern and this type seeing is rather hard on the eyes. Sometimes, if his bifocals aren't in the correct position, it's also hard on his neck.

Although the younger barber gets along nicely with his proper single vision lenses, he will need bifocals slightly earlier than most people because of the necessity for so much close looking. And bifocals can present new problems.

If he is fitted with the "average" type bifocal the barber says (1) the bifocal is too small and is (2) focused too far away (for reading distance) causing him to "reach" to do his clipping thus overly tiring his arms, and (3) it's set too low (again okay for reading since he habitually works with the top of his customer's head at about eye level). This means that much of the time he will have to "rare back" his head in order to see through the "average" bifocal. This can be very distressing to the neck bones (which are connected to the head bones).

At the same time, the barber must be able to recognize his customers as they come through the front door or see his chair customer in the mirror for the overall appearance of the hair. Strictly near focus glasses won't allow this so bifocals are a necessity.

Funeral for Mother, Infant Son, Held In Spill Chapel

Funeral for Mrs. Willie Rubio, 18, and her newborn infant son, Willie Jr., was held Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in Spill Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Julius Johnson, pastor of the Mt. Carmel Catholic Church, officiating. Burial was in the Wingate Cemetery.

Mrs. Rubio and her infant son died within 30 minutes of one another Wednesday morning at Winters Municipal Hospital. She suffered a fatal heart attack in the delivery room at 6 a. m., her attending physician said. The doctor said that delivery was normal and that Mrs. Rubio just suddenly died.

Mrs. Rubio was born Socorro Ibarra, daughter of Juan and Maria Ibarra, in Sonora December 12, 1942. She moved with her parents to Wingate in 1949. She attended school in Wingate and a year in Winters.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church at San Angelo. She and her husband moved to San Angelo about four months ago where he was employed as a carpenter's helper on the Twin Butte Dam.

Surviving are her husband; her parents; a grandmother, Mrs. Dolores Ibarra of Laredo; an 11-month-old daughter, Yolanda, a brother, John Ibarra of Wingate, and a sister, Miss Dolores Ibarra of Wingate.

M. M. Snelling, Former Resident, Died In Virginia

M. M. Snelling, 72, of Abilene, a retired paint contractor and former resident of Winters, died at 9:30 a. m. Monday in Arlington, Virginia while visiting a daughter, Mrs. Frank Deekman.

Born September 10, 1888 in Livingston, he married there about 45 years ago and had lived in Winters from 1920 until 1935 when he moved to Abilene. He was a member of the Highland Church of Christ in Abilene.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 10:30 at the Highland Church of Christ and burial was in Elmwood Memorial Park.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Frank Deekman; two sons, Marvin Jr. of Abilene and J. D. of Dallas, three grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Slow Down and Live Keynotes Current Safety Campaign

Your number one safety rule, Slow Down and Live, keynotes the current highway safety campaign being conducted by the Texas Safety Association in cooperation with local organizations and state and local officials. This is an effort to reduce the expected toll of traffic accidents during the peak summer driving months.

"More people are on the go by automobile during the summer than at any other time of the year," said J. O. Musick, Texas Safety Association General Manager and Coordinator for the Slow Down and Live program. "We want to do everything possible to bring all of them home safely from their trips."

As a part of its campaign to remind motorists of the fundamentals of safe driving, the Texas Safety Association has distributed thousands of "Trip Cost Record" leaflets as a handy means of keeping account of automobile expenses on vacation trips. On the back of the leaflet are listed five safety reminders:

1. Keep your car in top mechanical condition. Steering gear, brakes and lights are especially important. Watch your tire pressure. Improperly inflated tires plus summer-hot roads can equal blowout disaster.
2. Keep your eye on the cars behind and in front of you. Anticipating what the other fellow may do is an essential of safe driving. Keep your distance—a car's length for every ten miles of speed.
3. Stay alert at all times. On long, monotonous drives, stop every two hours for a coffee-break (iced coffee is just as effective as hot for sharpening your reflexes). Get out of the car, walk around, relax for a few minutes.
4. Share the wheel if you can. Don't fight fatigue. Pull over to the side of the road and take a rest. You'll lose a few minutes . . . but perhaps save your life!
5. Know and obey all traffic regulations, especially speed laws. Speed too fast for conditions is the most common cause of fatal highway accidents. SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

As first this summer, the Highway Department will plan a good time. Texans have never seen a tour-state through a highway says State Highway Commissioner C. Greer. They're enjoying the pleasures immediately to them via Texas highway system.

Not all these bills have been signed, but the governor has indicated no opposition.

SMALL LOAN LAW URGED
Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has urged Governor Daniel to add loan company regulation to the list of subjects which may be considered in the upcoming special session. At present the governor has limited the session to revenue and appropriations bills. Only subjects included in the governor's "call" may be considered in a special session.

Wilson said that, by beginning where the last session left off, lawmakers should be able to pass a loan bill quickly. A regulatory bill was passed by the House last session, but opposing forces came to a deadlock in the Senate.

Governor Daniel has evidenced coolness toward considering anything else until a revenue-and-appropriation agreement is reached—not even his pet escheat bill. Also being asked for special session consideration is a bill to increase unemployment benefits which failed in the regular session. It passed on second reading in the House, but never got any further.

HE'S STILL JUDGE
A district court conviction cannot be thrown out because the judge of the court had not paid his Bar dues, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled.

In the case at issue, the defendant was sentenced to 10 years for theft. He sought his freedom on grounds that the judge of the trial court, because of failure to pay dues, was not a member of the State Bar of Texas.

Appeals Court ruled that the judge was qualified for his office under the requirements of the Texas Constitution and the conviction was upheld.

YOUTH TAKES OVER
On the heels of the Legislature's departure, the Capital was invaded by two new contingents of politicians—the youngest and most vigorous it sees from one year to the next.

They are the delegates to Boys State and Girls State, outstanding high school seniors who come to Austin each summer to gain experience in government. And they learn to do by doing. Each group (separately) forms political parties, nominates candidates, holds elections and sets up a state government—all with realistic zeal.

American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary sponsor the activity.

SHORT SNORTS
Car-jammed Texas cities are getting sympathy and an offer of help from the Texas Highway Department. Commission announced that cities may use the space under elevated expressways for parking lots—to be operated by the cities or under contract by private parties.

Noting that the number of 1961 polio cases in Texas is up 9 per cent above the same period last year, State Health Department is launching a new campaign for inoculations—especially for "babies and breadwinners."

"Moonshining" is not just a part of the colorful past. Texas Liquor Control Board reported that it seized eight illegal stills and confiscated 2,970 gallons of marsh and 34 gallons of liquor in April.

Texans launching an insecticide war against garden pests should take care that it doesn't backfire, warns the State Health Department. Among tips: (1) Read labels carefully, (2) Keep sprays away from children and pets, (3) Don't smoke while spraying, (4) Don't inhale insecticide or get it on your skin, (5) Avoid contaminating food or water supplies, (5) Throw away leftovers.

The well-regulated life may be comparatively uneventful, but its unpleasant crises are fewer.

POWER OF FAITH—It took a lot of old-time faith, but the folks in Pana, Ill., had it. With the temperature standing at 20 degrees, and six inches of ice on a local lake, members of one of the town's churches gathered around a hole in the ice. Then the converts stepped forward for the baptismal ceremony. One by one they were guided under water briefly by Rev. James Stewart, in white shirt, and Rev. Charles Enlow.

OUTDOOR PARAGRAPHS—

Fish Are Always Unpredictable

A big, black bass clobbering a floating chugger . . . a speckled trout hitting a darting, sinking plug . . . a streamlined kingfish charging a flashing spoon. These are thrills fishermen never forget. The actual landing of the fish often is an anti-climax to the vicious strike of the fish at an artificial lure.

Unfortunately fish are like fishermen — very unpredictable. One day they will strike artificials with reckless abandon; the next day they will shun every piece of hardware in the tackle box.

Dyed-in-the-wool lure chunkers will stay with the artificials even if it means a monumental water-haul. The conventional, or perhaps saner angler, will adjust to meet the situation and resort to natural baits. Usually they'll both end up with something to smell up the frying pan.

But to properly fish with natural baits, the angler must know how to place it on the hook. If you want to keep the bait alive, wiggling and darting, you can't just sink the hook in any place.

Let's look into this business of proper hooking to keep the bait alive.

Most popular of natural baits in fresh water is the lowly worm. With the worm not much care is needed in the hooking. You don't have much of a problem keeping it alive either. They are hardy and stand punishment.

Big trouble with worms is keeping them from slipping off the hook. So be sure the hook is imbedded well. If necessary use several turns of light thread to keep the worm in place.

Minnows are more of a problem. When hooking through the lip, make sure the hook goes thru both the upper and the lower lip. Never put the hook thru the gills if you expect the minnow to remain alive.

Minnows also can be hooked thru the back just ahead of the dorsal fin or near the tail. If the minnow is dead, then run the hook thru the mouth, out the gills and imbed the point near the tail. This is an ideal way to keep minnows for trolling.

Shrimp are tops for salt water fishing, but they require careful handling. With big shrimp run the hook through the hard shell at the base of the spike on the shrimp's head. You'll kill the shrimp if you run the hook through the head proper.

With small shrimp run the hook through the second section from the tail. If you're using dead shrimp, cover the entire hook except for the eyelet. The hook can be inserted either from the head or the tail of the shrimp.

Mackerel seem particularly fond of peeled shrimp. Just break off the head, peel off the shell covering and insert the hook so that all but the eye of the hook is covered.

Frogs are excellent bass baits. They should be hooked through the lips or through one hind leg. Don't drive the hook through the frog's body—unless you like fishing with dead frogs.

Crayfish can be hooked through the tail, and eels can be hooked in the same manner as worms.

There are a few special natural baits that are extremely effective in salt water. Trouble is few anglers use these baits — blue crabs, sand fiddlers and oysters—because of the trouble of hooking.

Blue crabs and sand fiddlers are excellent for redfish, drum and big sow speckled trout. Since the fiddlers are so small, they should be tied to the hook with a few turns of thread. Hook blue crabs thru the back. Bait-size blue crabs are those two or three inches in length.

Oysters are a real problem. To begin with you have to pry open the shells to get them. Then they are exceedingly difficult to keep on the hook. You can hook them in one of two ways—a few turns of thread or a small rubber band. Oysters make excellent bait for flounders, drum and sheepshead.

Natural baits are always most effective when alive, so be sure to care well for your bait. Overcrowding in the bait bucket is the most common cause of bait loss. If you have to carry a lot of bait, an extra bait bucket is a worthwhile, money-saving piece of equipment.

If you have to transport your bait any distance, drop a few oxygen tablets in with the bait. If you can't obtain such tablets, then put in a few ice cubes as the bait will use up less oxygen when the water is cool.

Above all, when you finish fishing, clean out the bait bucket. Don't allow dead bait to rot in it. This will contaminate the water and kill your bait on some future trip. If you use a strong detergent in cleaning the bucket, be sure to rinse out well. Detergents, too, are fatal to bait.

When you're fishing and find some of your bait dead in the bucket, take the dead ones out immediately. That way you'll give the live ones more room and keep from contaminating the water.

In March, 1800, the first U. S. Marines were assigned in Washington for the purpose of guarding the construction of the Navy Yard there. Two years later Washington was established as the U. S. Marine Corps' Headquarters.

ERN SANFORD
 You plan to keep your rig for 10 years off in a few months, maintain high trade-in value in top shape. On an outboard rig proportionate to the value. A well-cared for rig old will command a value.
 Wash your rig after each little work to do. Put off the cleaning for a dozen or so fish-er it becomes work-er costly.
 Motor cleaning is sim-ple do that with a gar-ment wash out all grime dry with a chamois. Dry the hull well inside and out.

 Don't let water stand inside the hull. Long standing water will lead to deterioration of a wood hull, corroding of a metal hull, and discoloration of a fiberglass hull.
 Hull and motor washing is an absolute must when a rig is used in salt water. If you allow salt deposits to build up, you can run into some major expenses—particularly with your motor.
Boat Trailer Care Pays
 Don't forget the boat trailer. It's an important part of the rig. But it's often overlooked.
 Every time you unload and load the boat, you back the trailer wheels into the water. Eventually, some of this water will seep into the grease seals.
 If you have zerk fittings, a few squirts from the grease gun will force out any water that may have seeped through the seals. If you don't have zerk fittings, then remove the wheels and pack the bearings with grease.

Be sure to keep the boat winch and keel roller axles well greased. And remember that salt water is particularly hard on all metal parts.

When your trailer shows signs of wear, have it sand-blasted. Put on a protective coat of rust inhibitor before applying the finished coat of paint.

Check the wiring system that runs to the trailer lights. If worn or frayed, replace the entire system. Wiring should be of the waterproof type for at times it will be under water.

If you use the trailer on sandy beaches, periodically dismount the tires and check the casing walls for deposits of sand that could wear holes in the tubes and cause blowouts on the highway.

While the tires are off, check the rims for rust spots. Clean and repaint.

Windshields Need Attention
 Wrap-around plastic windshields are nice, but they can be the source of a lot of trouble if not properly cared for.

Plastic windshields develop static charges and attract dust, with heavy deposits especially common after a trailer trip over the highways. Salt spray dries and leaves abrasive salt deposits, so keep that fact well in mind if you use your rig in the Gulf Coast area.

When cruising on a muddy river or lake, the silt-laden droplets can create pumice-like specks. Sand can get on the foredeck and grains of it will adhere to the windshield when wet.

Windshields do require special care. Here's how to do the job properly:

Rinse the windshield with plain water. Follow up with a gentle washing with mild soap and a soft cloth. Never use household or auto glass cleaners because they can dull the finish of the plastic.

You can purchase special cleaners for plastic windshields, some of which contain agents to minimize formation of static charges or leave a protective film.

There is one thing you should never do in windshield cleaning. Don't try to wipe off dust with a dry rag. It will scratch and scar the plastic.

For extra protection for the windshield, you can install handles on the dashboard so passengers can hold on instead of grabbing the windshield when boarding. Undue strain on the windshield will cause it to crack.

Check Steering System
 Your steering system should be

'Bulldozer Disease' Common Shade Tree Problem

Man-made situations can cause shade tree troubles. That word comes from Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, who adds that many specimens of oak and other shade trees received at the Plant Disease Diagnostic Lab show no signs of disease or parasites and leads him to believe the troubles are man-made.

Soil added or moved by bulldozers or graders may be responsible for the death of many shade trees. Too much fill soil around new homes may cause trees to die after three to five years or longer, Smith says. When surface soil is removed, a lowering of the tree's vigor can result and death may follow.

In many instances, he points out, new homes, paved driveways, streets, patios, parking areas, or garage turn arounds are built too close to older trees. Since feeder roots often extend two to three times the length of the limb spread, building too close may destroy many roots and cause eventual death of trees.

Shade trees can also be severely damaged, he continues, from constructing drainage ditches too close to trees, severe cutting back, injections of alcohol, vitamins or other harmful chemicals and failure to remove all rotted wood prior to the filling of the cavities.

Smith suggests to prospective new home buyers that they make a careful check on how much filling was done around trees and whether or not trees could have been damaged by other construction practices. He says no more than one or two inches of fill soil can be safely added to the root area of older trees. The construction of wells around shade trees before fill soil is applied will help prevent damage. He says weakened trees should be properly fertilized and watered as an aid to recovery.

Finally, he advises home owners with tree troubles to obtain the services of a reputable tree surgeon, pest control operator or nurseryman.

Water Storage Is Very Important In Runnels SC District

"Uncertain rainfall makes water storage very important in the Runnels Soil Conservation District," states Kirby Robinson, chairman of the board. He says that in view of this, every effort must be made to store as much soil moisture as possible when the rains come.

 According to James Barnhill, of the local Soil Conservation Service, good soil structure is the key to moisture intake and storage. A desirable soil structure is found in soils which are high in organic matter. These soils have numerous pores which allow fast intake of water. The small pores hold large amounts of moisture making it available for plant use.

Excessive tillage operations tend to change the soil structure. This frequently results in a hardened plow pan which slows the movement of air, water, and roots through the soil.

Barnhill mentioned that limiting the number of tillage operations and returning large amounts of crop residues to the soil will help maintain the soil's moisture holding capacity.

WHOSE BIRD IS IT?

Who has the rightful claim to game shot by more than one hunter?

This question has plagued sportsmen since time began.

There is no single answer. Proper etiquette is observed differently according to the section of the country.

Most widely accepted is that the deer, bird, or other animal belongs to the one who first wounds it. Other shots are supposed to kill . . . but only to prevent waste or suffering.

cleaned and checked regularly.

On rope-and-pulley systems check the cables on the drum for slack, see that the hub nut is tight on the steering wheel, and make sure that cable ends are secure and unfrayed. Cables should be free from kinking and chafing, and all pulley sheaves should rotate freely.

Check the cables for excessive slack or tightening while the motor is in various positions. Always use tiller cable rather than rope, metal clothesline or other material.

Naturally, while you're hauling your rig, you'll have it lashed firmly to the trailer. But when you store the rig, loosen all lashings. Over a period of time they can shrink and cause permanent damage to the hull in the way of twisting or distortion. This can happen overnight. The lashing can get wet from dew or rain and will shrink when dried by the sun.

In closing, let me point out this fact: You'll get a much better trade-in price for your old rig if you have given it the care and attention it deserves.

A. & M. Testing Center Helps Students Plan

Texas A. and M. College's Counseling and Testing Center has scheduled a series of two-day placement testing clinics designed to help new students to plan proper courses of study.

The summer testing clinics, one of many services offered to A. and M. College students by the Counseling and Testing Center are part of a new program of career planning.

Auston Kerley, director of the Center, said other colleges and universities also offer testing programs, but Texas A. and M. is carrying the service beyond the usual.

Going a step further, the college is individualizing and personalizing the tests by providing each student the opportunity to have his scores interpreted by professors especially trained in this field.

The clinics are held in the summer to allow new students plenty of time to consult with academic advisors and to make a study plan for the coming fall semester. "In this way, the advisor can give each student ample consultation time after the tests have been completed. These private discussions are carried on in an informal, relaxed atmosphere," Kerley said.

The two-day testing clinics have been scheduled to begin on the following dates: June 9, June 16, June 23, June 30, July 21, July 28, Aug. 11, Aug. 18, and Aug. 25. All testing sessions will be held in Room 228 of the Chemistry Building.

The June 9 session is already filled with students, but the other dates are still open, the director said.

The Counseling and Testing Center's new program of career planning gives the student the opportunity to determine his capacity to learn, his strength of background to study in a certain field, and to compare his "interest profile" with that of successful persons in his chosen vocation, Kerley said.

"A student's first year in college is one of the most important and crucial in his college career," the director said.

"A. and M. College realizes this and several services are being made available to assist freshmen to bridge the gap between high school and college." Placement testing, Kerley said, provides an accurate understanding of the beginning student's background in areas of English, mathematics, chemistry and reading. It also gives a measure of his ability to learn in college.

"This planning will help the student work more effectively whether it applies to background courses, number of courses taken, or recommendation for testing to secure degree credit by examination," he explained.

For example, if a student demonstrates a strong aptitude and background in mathematics, he would be encouraged to apply for degree credit by taking examinations in freshman math. If he shows weakness in reading, he would be urged to take a course designed to remedy the trouble.

More details on the summer testing clinics and career planning program can be obtained by writing the Counseling and Testing Center, Texas A. and M. College, College Station, Texas.

Meter For Water Haulers Installed At City Plant

A coin-operated water meter has been installed at the City water plant for use by water haulers or other persons who do not have a meter.

The meter is located on the vacant lot north of the water plant.

Prior to the installation of the meter, water haulers had been pumping directly from the lakes or drawing from other outlets at the plant. Pumping from the lakes will no longer be permitted, city officials said, and an ordinance regulating this will be published in the near future.

Plan Now To Use Cotton Burs In Fall

Every year more and more Texas cotton is machine harvested, resulting in a larger supply of cotton burs at the gin. To dispose of these burs, most ginners burn them, thereby increasing the fire hazard.

Research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has proven, however, that there is a better use for this gin waste. These burs, when applied to the land, will increase cotton yields. In a 4-year study at Lubbock, the use of cotton burs under nonirrigated conditions increased lint yields by an average of 2.7 pounds per acre, and the residual effect increased yields by 28 pounds per acre for 5 years.

Liberal application of burs results in a better soil-water relationship, thus letting crops use the available moisture more effectively. Soils to which cotton burs have been added are also more resistant to wind and water erosion, and they may have a better infiltration rate.

Angular leaf spot, verticillium wilt or cotton seedling diseases have not shown any increase on land receiving six annual applications of burs at Lubbock. In years favorable to angular leaf spot infection, it was more serious where no burs or fertilizers were applied.

Cotton insects which reduce yields and lower grades have not built up to a point in the burred soil that they nullify the advantage of using burs. In 1951, cotton burs were released by the State Department of Agriculture and the Department of Plant Quarantine for use on the land, provided certain standards in methods of handling were met by ginners in order to destroy any pink bollworms present.

For further information on the use of cotton burs, contact your local county agent or write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station and ask for a copy of MP-476, "Cotton Burs for Soil Improvement."

To Find Squirrels—Hunt Nest
In the South, most squirrels build their nests around a vine, either a grape vine or whatever sort comes handy.

Smart hunters look for these vines, then shake them vigorously. If there is a squirrel in the nest, out it comes into the open.

 "A Fever in the Blood"
 A sensational and gripping mur- der trial in the midst of a bitter- ly fought political contest provides the screen with high-voltage en- tertainment in Warner Bros.' "A Fever in the Blood," opening Sun- day at the Fiesta Drive In The- atre.

Headlining an all-star cast that literally runs from A-to-Z—Amech to Zimbalist, the frank and pro- vocative screenplay details the tangled love lives and the turbu- lent passions that obscure the usual political issues in the rough and tumble intra-party struggle of three men for the gubernator- ial nomination.

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., Angie Dickinson, Jack Kelly and Don Ameche are top-billed in the Roy Huggins production which also stars Ray Danton, Herbert Mar- shall and Andra Martin. Director Vincent Sherman drew his stars from stage (Ameche), screen (Dickinson, Marshall, Danton) and television (Zimbalist, Kelly).

"Sword of Sherwood Forest"
 Robin Hood, the world's most famous adventurer, faces his most dangerous challenge in "Sword of Sherwood Forest," the Hammer Film production for Columbia Pic- tures in Megascope and Eastman Color. Due Saturday only at the State Theatre, the new swashbuck- ler stars Richard Greene as Rob- in Hood and Peter Cushing as his villainous adversary, the Sheriff of Nottingham.

In the current "Robin Hood" film, Greene, who successfully made a TV series based on the legendary outlaw, not only comes to grips with his ancient enemy, the Sheriff, but he also tangles with a mysterious and powerful adversary known as the Falcon. The Falcon is plotting against the King's Chancellor, and the king- dom will stand or fall on the out- come.

"Song Without End"
 William Goetz' "Song Without End," the story of composer-pian- ist Franz Liszt whose loves were as tempestuous as his music, op- ens Sunday at the State Theatre.

A Columbia Pictures release in CinemaScope and Eastman Color, "Song Without End" stars Dirk Bogarde, England's top romantic actor, as the musical genius whose vibrant personality and enormous talent swept all Europe before him. Capucine, an amazingly beautiful French model turned ac- tress, stars with Bogarde as the Russian princess whose love in- spired Liszt.

The Power of the Tongue is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson. The Memory Selection is Proverbs 15:1—A soft answer turns away wrath, but a harsh word stirs up anger. The meditation is by Thomas F. Chilcote, Jr. "The tongue is an inconspicuous, almost-hidden part of our physical makeup. Yet a word fitly spoken may set life on its true course. Behind the horse's bit is the desire of the mount; behind the rudder is the intelligence of the ship's navigator; behind the spark that sets a forest ablaze is the carelessness of a camper; behind the tongue are the good or evil intentions of man. How necessary it is that these intentions be in constant touch with the holy purposes of

BE ALERT FOR SNAKES

Watch out for snakes when in the field, or wear snake-proof boots. Don't think there are not snakes about just because of the calendar. A warm sun on a cold day often brings out the reptiles. Also, remember that rattlers don't always rattle before striking. So don't depend on your ears. Look for moccasins around water and in damp places. Rattlers usually inhabit rocky or timbered country.

Always carry a snake-bite kit, to be on the safe side.

"Seasoned" Hunting Clothes

Smoke those new-smelling hunting clothes over a campfire. This will prepare them for the hunting season so they won't scare off game, or get ribald comments from your fellow hunters.

An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol or State Dept. of Public Safety.

EXAM

Nothing quite compares with the exhilaration of that final day at high school.

The drudgery of note-taking, the monotony of assignments and recitation, the tedium of term papers, the nights of cramming, the toiling tension of exam week . . . it's all behind them.

And ahead . . . graduation . . . the prom . . . college . . . a job.

But as an earnest parent, pause to take stock of your son's spiritual maturity. Has the soul's growth kept pace with the mind's?

The firmness of the bond between the Home and the Church holds the answer. Strengthen that bond every Sunday. In a world that constantly tests the faith of men . . . the last exam is not over.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE—

July Good Time To Enjoy Texas Eggs

July is "Golden Goodness" month in Texas—a time to appreciate, buy and enjoy the natural "Golden Goodness" of Texas High Quality Eggs.

A more appropriate observance of a farm product of our state would be hard to find, because the Texas egg industry has made phenomenal strides in the last few years. And the best testimonial to this advance in production, care and quality is the glow of goodness in healthful, golden-yolked Texas eggs.

During the month of July, Texans will be seeing and hearing a lot about the splendid nutritional value of high-quality Texas eggs—an important fact too often taken for granted.

The Texas Egg Council, which deserves much credit for the prominent position of Texas eggs today, is cooperating with other related industries to tell this story in a big way.

For Summer Meals Cool Satisfaction

The "Golden Goodness" message will be everywhere—on billboards, in grocery stores, even on the apron pockets of pretty Texas misses who will hand out samples of delectable hard-cooked eggs in parts of the state.

The hard-cooked egg (put cool eggs into warm water, lift with spoon into boiling water, reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes, cool eggs promptly in cold water) is a wonderfully satisfying food, especially during light-eating summer days. The Morton Salt Company believes this too, as evidenced by their part in "Golden Goodness" month when thousands of specially-designed salt-and-egg posters reading "Pep-up Summer Meals—Enjoy the Golden Goodness of Texas High Quality Eggs" will be seen in stores throughout the state.

Texas eggs are always good, and "Golden Goodness" month is the right time to celebrate — by taking home an extra dozen or two high quality Texas eggs.

The full gored skirt, marvelously mobile, makes a pretty appearance.

Double Ring Ceremony United Martha Marks and Kenneth Vinson

A double ring ceremony, read by the Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, united Martha Carolyn Marks and James Kenneth Vinson in marriage Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Riley Marks and the late Mr. Marks and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Vinson.

Candelabras holding white tapers flanked with baskets of yellow and white majestic daisies decorated the altar of the church where the couple stood to repeat their wedding vows.

Mrs. L. H. Henslee, organist, presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Barbara Bolden, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Keva Lou Harrison was flower girl and Riley Keith Marks was ring bearer.

They wore identical street length dresses of yellow polished cotton satin designed with scalloped necklines extending into a deep V in the back, cap sleeves and bouffant skirts. They also wore matching bandeaus accented with daisies holding circle veils and carried colonial bouquets of Margaret daisies. The flower girl's dress was styled similar to those of the bride's attendants.

Given in marriage by her brother, George W. Marks, the bride wore a full length wedding gown of embroidered tulle over satin fashioned with sabrina neckline, long sleeves extending to a point at the wrist, fitted bodice with a tiny pointed waist nestled into a full gathered skirt. Her waist length veil of illusion fell from a tiara studded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a crescent shape bouquet of white feathered carnations and lilies of the valley surrounding a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The bride's table, laid with white linen, was centered with an arrangement of the attendant's bouquets and featured a three tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow rose buds. Kleta Gerhart served cake and Janell Gerhart ladeled punch from a crystal punch bowl. Other appointments were of silver and crystal. Other members of the houseparty included Mrs. W. C. Davis, Mrs. V. E. Colburn, Mrs. D. C. Robertson, Mrs. Glenn Eager, Mrs. Ches Busher and Mrs. Irmal Aley.

The bridegroom, a 1957 graduate of WHS, attended the University of Texas. He worked for Texas Electric in Midland and at the present time is assisting his father in farming. The couple will reside at 413 South Church in Winters.

Float Trips Combination Work and Fun

"If you have been on a float trip you know what is meant by adventure." So says Aquatic Biologist John N. Dorchester in his article "Let's Take a Float Trip," in the June issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH magazine.

Float trips hold plenty of excitement and hard work, but the author says the hard work can be decreased, and gives several tips for doing so. It is advisable to select a time when the river is on a rise or above its normal elevation, and the kind of boat used is important. A comparatively lightweight, stable aluminum boat, with welded seams, is recommended. It is wise to have a companion meet you with a car and boat trailer at the end of the trip, rather than trying to back the current back to the point of launch.

Mr. Dorchester gives the kind of equipment he says that it is best to use for trouble. He gives several useful instances of the kind of gear he has encountered.

He also describes the excitement and says that "in trying to outwit the river," but seemingly peaceful.

Supreme Court Upholds Commie Registering Law

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

After 11 years of litigation following enactment by Congress of a law requiring the registration of Communists, that law was upheld last week by a 5 to 4 decision of the Supreme Court.

Hall said officers of the party would prefer to spend the rest of their lives in jail rather than betray the trust of the membership by making their names public.

A better place for them to spend the rest of their lives can hardly be imagined.

As would be expected, Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Brennan, and Douglas dissented. Upholding the law against the Communist conspiracy were, as would be expected, Justices Frankfurter, Harlan, Whittaker, Stewart and Clark.

Under the law now the Communist Party must register a list of its officers and members. It must account for the money it receives. It must list all printing presses and machines it owns or controls.

If it fails to do so within 30 days after final order is issued by the Subversive Activities Control Board, the Party can be fined $10,000 a day. Members who violate the act can be fined $10,000 and jailed for 5 years for each day they fail to register.

This is the second 5 to 4 decision against the Communies recently. Only two months ago the Court upheld convictions of two trouble-makers with long Communist connections for contempt of Congress. They had defied the House UnAmerican Activities Committee when questioned about their Communism.

The same Justices dissented in that blow against the pro-Communist tactics—Warren, Douglas Black and Brennan.

As a result of these and other recent decisions it begins to look as if the balance of power on that court has been tilted to the right, following a long series of pro-Communist decisions by a majority of the Justices.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Former Winters Resident

Bernie A. Robertson, 49, former resident of Winters and well-known business man of Shreveport, Louisiana died of a heart attack Wednesday June 7, while enroute to a hospital. He apparently was enjoying good health when he was stricken, according to an item in the Shreveport Journal.

Mr. Robertson was a nephew of Mrs. Ralph Lloyd and a brother-in-law of Mrs. G. B. Mills of Winters. He was born in Edgewood, Texas and was reared in Winters. In Shreveport he was a distributor for the Morton Foods Company and was in his office when stricken. His widow has been appointed Area Distributor for the company since her husband's death.

A resident of Shreveport for the past 14 years, he was a member of the Lakeshore Church of Christ, a member of the Allied Foods Club, a Shriner, member of the Optimist Club and member of the Louisiana Restaurant Association.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Bernalee Hawkins of Dallas; his father, Oma Robertson of Goldthwaite; two brothers, Jack Robertson of Midland and Mack Robertson of Columbus, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. B. L. Gold of Dallas.

Funeral services were held Friday in the Rose-Neath Chapel, with Herbert Broadus, minister of the Lakeshore Church of Christ, and Earl Richardson, minister of the Sunset Acres Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was in Forest Park.

Honorary pallbearers were the personnel of the Morton Foods, Incorporated.

SHOT SIZE IS IMPORTANT

When hunting turkeys on the wing use No. 2 shot in a modified barrel—12 gauge, or 20. The gauge makes little difference. If ground shooting, best results are obtained with No. 6 or 8 shot, aiming for the head only.

Rifle hunters should use a Hornet, or 22 long rifle loads. Shoot for the head, if you are confident, and save good meat.

BE CAREFUL WITH BULLETS

Carrying loose ammunition around in your pocket is foolhardy. The little .22 cartridges are especially dangerous. They are small and easily lost, and may turn up in the open fireplace with a bang—literally.

TO CLEAN DUCKS EASILY

Next time you scald ducks to remove the feathers, try using a home detergent in the water. The feathers come off easily and quickly.

Goal Diggers Club Recently Completed Year's Activities

Sixteen members of the Goal Digger Club, together with their sponsors, Mrs. Spurgeon Parks and Mrs. David Carroll, and their club mother, Mrs. Charles Kruse, Jr., closed the year's activities with a four-day trip to Fort Worth and Dallas. These four days of good food and great fun were filled with many wonderfully inspiring, interesting, informative experiences.

Unusual foods enjoyed by the group included sea foods at Zuider Zee and The Golden Fin, and Mexican food at El Chico. Prior to a Polynesian dinner served in Western Hills Hotel, a private coker party was scheduled in the Polynesian Village by the management for the Goal Diggers. As a climax, the members, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Barker of Fort Worth, motored to the famous Vance Godbey's for a delectable smorgasbord.

In the field of entertainment, the group got off to a good start by attending the thrilling stage play "Calamity Jane," which was presented in fabulous Casa Manana's Theater-in-the-Round.

Not only did the girls swim and sun at the Desert Village, but they also skated and bowled. During a game of bowling, they were surprised by a staff photographer, who interviewed them and gave them a two column picture and spread in Friday's Fort Worth Star Telegram.

The group sat in silent awe as they viewed the life-size wax figure interpretation of Leonardo da Vinci's famous painting "The Last Supper," and heard the recording which described the Twelve Apostles and Jesus and related the events preceding and following the Last Supper.

Forest Park, with its aquarium and its tertarium, proved to be quite interesting. Watching a King Cobra kill and swallow a victim snake was, indeed, a fascinating procedure to witness.

The Goal Diggers are sincerely grateful to all who helped in any way to make this exciting, educational excursion possible.

Members include Pamela Bedford, Diane Buckner, Carolyn Craddock, Marta Davidson, Virginia Foster, Carolyn Helm, Jaye Henley, Lynann Kruse, Marcene Matthies, Jean Mayo, Jere Merck, Cecile Nitsch, Nancy Norman, Betty Stanley, Margaret Stoeker, and Eugenia Voss.

RETURNED MONDAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Tharp, Elmer Yates and daughter, Bertha Mae returned home Monday from Austin where they attended the Pentecostal Church of God convention. They also attended the Roe family reunion.
