Good Rains Break Summer Drouth

Sun-parched lands of North Runnels County received a good soaking this week as general rains fell over much of this section of the state. Amounts of rainfall within this immediate area varied from one inch to four inches, to put a different complexion on crop prospects for this year.

In this section of the county, rains began in mid-afternoon Tuesday, and continued throughout the night. Some parts of the county still were receiving rain by Wednesday afternoon, and rain-promising clouds continued to hang over the area.

A total of 3.4 inches of rain was received in Winters proper, with 1.4 coming Tuesday; the other 2 inches fell from midnight Tuesday to 8 a. m. Wednesday.

Reports indicated that the Drasco community received about 4 inches of rainfall, while in the Wilmeth community, 2.5 inches had fallen, with prospects for more. Three inches was reported at Poe's Corner, six miles west of Winters, and 3.6 inches was reported just north of town.

Rainfall was lighter in the eastern section of the county, with only about 1.5 inches measured. Ballinger reported 2 inches, with rain falling Wednesday afternoon.

This week's rain raised the total for the year to 17.4 inches. Fourteen of that fell during the first six months of the year, leaving July completely rainless for this area. Last measurable rain for North Runnels, before this week, was on June 19-20, when 0.9 inch was received.

No appreciable amount of runoff in the area was noted during this rain, with the dry farm and pasture lands soaking up the water as rapidly as it fell. Water tanks did not receive much water, nor was the run-off enough to make much difference in the water had been reported at the Winters lake, however, even before this rain.

Rains this week put crop prospects in a different light, according to many farmers. Cotton had already begun to suffer the lack of moisture, and had started to throw off squares. The big question remains: did the rains come in time to help the cotton to produce before the season is over? Much of the cotton in the area had become stunted from lack of moisture, but it was hoped that it would go ahead and produce.

Pasture lands received great benefit from the rains, however. It is generally accepted that grass will come out to provide good grazing, and weeds have been light in pastures, it is reported. The rains have served to advance cattle prices, it was indicated.

The hot, dry summer has prevented an increase in the insect problem for the cotton grower, but a word of warning to cottonmen has been sounded by the county agent's office. C. T. Parker Jr., county agricultural agent, has warned farmers to be on the lookout for insects which probably will invade cotton fields.

A look at rainfall comparisons shows that 1963 is just a bit behind three of the past four years in amounts of rain received to date.

1963 Edition, Winters High Blizzards, Will Begin Workouts Next Monday

Twice-a-day workouts will begin for 37 members of the 1963 Winters High School Blizzards next Monday morning. Eight o'clock is the time, and the practice field is the place.

Team members and prospects will work for two weeks before school begins, when they will drop back to one-a-day workouts. This will give them a total of three weeks before their coming-out party against Colorado City Saturday night, Sept. 7.

This year's summer football training will consist of only daytime practice and supervision. The team will take their noon meal in the school cafeteria, but will not spend the nights in camp on the athletic field.

Coaches L. G. Wilson, Bill Bryant and Jerry Cunningham will have close supervision of the team members during the full-day practice sessions. The coaching staff is short one man as of this date, but school officials were hoping to fill this vacancy before many more days pass.

The 1963 edition of the Winters High School Blizzards will be a young, aggressive team, with only eight seniors in the lineup. It will be an exciting team to watch because of their hustle and fire, and the fact that they will be defending their championship honors this year. Old adversaries will be out to uncrown the Big Blue champions, and the season promises to be one of the most interesting in a long time.

Season prospects foretell a run on the boxoffice, and fans have been encouraged to get their season tickets early. Tickets go on sale Aug. 22.

During the two weeks of summer training, the team will work out at 8 each morning, and about 5 each afternoon. Fans are invited to watch any and all workouts.

Following is a list of team members who have been asked to take part in the two-day workouts the first week of summer practice. Boys will be added for the second week of practice.

The barbecue and queen contest was held in the Ballinger Community Center. Plans had been made to hold the meeting in Ballinger City park, but because of inclement weather, the event was moved indoors.

The FB program at Ballinger Thursday night opened with Miss Kay Mansell of Winters singing the national anthem. Invocation was by the Rev. Charles Grow, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ballinger. Welcome was by State Rep. Ben Barnes.

Substitute Teachers Needed in Local School System

The Winters School keeps a file on people interested in serving as substitute teachers. It is necessary during weeks of contagious diseases to often hire several substitute teachers, and people interested are urged to contact Superintendent James Nevins.

Wives and other people not permanently employed are eligible; however, a college degree is not a prerequisite.

If anyone is interested, they are asked to contact the Superintendent during the next two weeks since a composite file of substitute teachers will need to be approved both locally and by the Texas Education Agency.

Mr. and Mrs. Erceel Vaughan came to Winters from Ballinger in 1938, opening their first service station east of the Winters Hospital on Truett Avenue. They stayed in that location for a year and a half, moving to a North Main location until June, 1942.

They then moved their business to the 200 block on East Dale, where they remained until 1949 when they moved to their present location.

The company, which is incorporated under the name of Vaughan Distributing Co., is wholesale distributor of gasoline, diesel fuel, butane and tires, in addition to the retail business. They have a bulk plant capacity of 70,000 gallons, which includes a 36,000 gallon butane capacity, and maintain a fleet of four delivery trucks to service customers in six counties.

ROGER BABSON

Predicts Many Changes To Come In Housing, Travel, Schools, Hospitals

Babson Park, Mass. Before my late wife suddenly passed away as the result of an unexpected heart attack we had been talking about the great changes we had noticed in only the past few years.

Changes In Travel
At the time he learned of my wife's death, my grandson Roger Webber was eating lunch in Paris. He happened to be at my side in seven hours was at my side in Boston. It seems that some of the airlines run specials from Paris to Boston every day. This is common knowledge, but we forget the many different lines of business affected thereby.

Railroad Strike
I have no fear of a railroad strike but what one could mean to every supermarket and household is unimaginable. In three days the shelves of most supermarkets would be bare. We would be completely in the hands of the Teamsters Union and their president, James Hoffa.

Other Labor Unions
As companies and their stockholders continue to combine into larger units, the wage-workers are sure to do the same. Hence to avoid a recurrence in the future, the laws designed to prevent and break up monopolies must be amended to include labor unions. This is something for which the President's brother—Robert Kennedy, the Attorney General—should be responsible.

Building Construction
With the possible exception of mid-western areas in our large cities, the days of the boom are slowly coming to an end. As present day air conditioning, over air conditioning, but they will gradually be torn down and their sites used for the building of houses of one or two stories.

What will come after the "boom" is not clear. It may be some new change will follow. With the increase in automation and super-automation, more people are being laid off. Some are being laid off in order to make room for more automation. It is not certain how many more people will be laid off.

The typical frame houses now being built in most suburbs will be torn down. During use will be expected to prevent the building of such simple wooden houses.

Land Near Texas
As I have mentioned previously, and between a supermajority and the ocean or near to large lakes or rivers will continue to become more valuable. For many hundreds of years there will be a surplus of land and water. Navigable waters will constantly become scarcer and more in demand. Don't put all your money into stocks and bonds. Well-located land and well-developed "water" will become the best investments, whatever our form of government.

Programs For Changes
I think it was President Franklin Roosevelt who stated, "The only thing we can count on as permanent is change." Hence this is my thought this week. The form of schools and colleges will completely change. Many parents, clients and customers now with independent doctors, lawyers, action was transmitted by means of discharges from the respiratory tract, then it was believed that it was another of the several gastrointestinal infections.

Lt. Truman O. Jeffreys, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Jeffreys, who was in the air force was promoted to the rank of Captain. He had spent almost 4 years in the service at that time and one year in Puerto Rico and a year in China.

If you are looking for a primitive fishing trip you don't have to go to the headwaters of the Amazon or to the Everglades of Florida.

Texas has an area, practically unexplored, where fishing is fabulous and the scenery is unbelievably beautiful.

Just head for Jefferson in East Texas, near the Louisiana boundary line.

There you have two choices—Big Cypress or Little Cypress.

Big Cypress is the river which flows down from the Ferrell's Bridge Dam. That's the dam that creates Lake-o'-Pines. It is a wonderful float trip from the dam into the town of Jefferson.

Out of Jefferson you can take to the big river, or you can put in to the wooded Little Cypress and float through miles and miles of the most wonderful scenery you've ever seen.

A Seldom Visited Jungle It is a jungle so seldom visited you won't even spot a bear can on an entire day's float.

Two outdoor writers from Austin—Russell Tinsley and L. A. Wilke—recently made this trip. At Jefferson they got Roy Butler, a native of the area, as a guide. The three spent the day in a virtual wilderness where they saw no other human beings.

For fishing they got a mixed creel. They hooked bass, both black and white. Also several species of bream, catfish and pike. Here you never know what is going to hit when you toss out your lure.

Jon Boat Transportation Trip was made in a heavy, 20-foot jon boat. It was equipped with a fish well, two deck chairs, a 5-hp motor and two heavy oars. Butler sat in the back of the boat and pushed it slowly through the bayous.

Here the water runs almost fast enough to keep the boat moving without pushing it either with oars or motor. On this particular trip the motor wasn't used until the return to camp which was made upstream in the big river.

Some 100 years ago Jefferson was the largest water port in Texas with shipping facilities. Big boats came up the Red River from New Orleans in the Civil War days. Later a log jam, which acted as a natural dam to keep the water high, was blasted out by engineers.

Jefferson, then a thriving city of 40,000, became almost a ghost town for awhile. Today it boasts only about 4,000 population.

Butler was reared in the country around Jefferson. He says the wilderness area today is almost exactly as he knew it when a boy.

Dogwoods Abound Banks of the bayou are filled with dogwood and other blooming trees. Bayou themselves are thick with huge cypress trees, with great cypress knees (roots) in the most grotesque shapes. Wild grapevines in some spots furnish an entanglement you have to cut your way through.

Floods and winds of centuries have knocked down huge pine trees that stretch across the water. Debris lodged against these logs furnish places for wild flowers to sprout and provide shade for the big bass that inhabit the waters.

IT'S THE LAW—IN TEXAS

JURY DUTY

Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have.

In a criminal case twelve jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting. The twelve jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education, and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake.

Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends—the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may take them days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, tact, fair-mindedness, patience, (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over and over the facts to find something to bring agreement. In short, jury duty demands a "decent respect for the opinions" of others.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors. Time was in Texas when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states.

A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law—the legislature does; and the judge "changes" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any reasonable doubt—no imaginary or far-fetched—except the accused.

Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence.

When property is placed in trust it is turned over to a trustee who will see to it that it is properly managed for the benefit of a person or persons you name as beneficiaries. It is a method of disposing of your property and may be used in conjunction with a will.

Trusts have many advantages. A trust may be used to provide income for persons unable to support themselves, to provide funds for a child's education, as a means of establishing an annuity, or to provide a gift for a charitable institution.

In these days of high taxes, a trust may be utilized to minimize the tax burden. If carefully planned, a trust may decrease income and inheritance taxes.

A trust arrangement works roughly in this manner. A person who desires to create a trust is called a grantor. The grantor chooses a trustee. The trustee may be a bank, an individual, or a trust company. The grantor through a trust instrument tells the trustee how to distribute the trust property or income. The trustee will then manage and distribute the trust proceeds or property in whatever manner the grantor desires.

A very common arrangement is to place the property in trust with directions to pay the income from the property to a wife for her lifetime, and upon her death the trust to end and the property to be distributed to the grantor's children.

An interesting type of trust is that which is sometimes called a spendthrift trust. This is an arrangement whereby one sets up a certain sum of money to be given out to another at a definite rate per month or per year, or under definite restrictions.

This type of trust is generally used in wills where a person desires to leave money to an individual, but feels that the individual is not capable of properly caring for the money and that if left to him in full that the person receive-ing the money will spend and waste the money and not receive the maximum benefit from it.

Trust property quite often consists of securities. The law regulates the type of property in which trust funds may be invested. However, the grantor may designate the type of investments the trustee may make.

The effectiveness of a trust is dependent largely on its proper creation. To avoid the pitfalls and dangers of lawsuits and ineffective trust operations, a trust instrument should be properly prepared. A poorly planned or carelessly drawn trust instrument can not only defeat the objectives of its creator, but may prove costly as well.

TEX-ARK-ANA, 3 IN 1 Called "The Pleasure Crossroads of the Gulf Southwest" it's officially named Texarkana, Texas.

Texarkana lies right on the Texas-Arkansas border. But it derives its name from three states—TEXAS, ARKANSAS and LOUISIANA. It might well have added a fourth state in its name, as it's located just 26 miles south of the Oklahoma border too.

Texarkana is truly a composite of four states and is the great recreational center for the Northeast Texas area.

"Hud" Discriminating film-goers who complain about the lack of serious movie making in Hollywood are strongly advised to see Paul Newman in "Hud" which shows Sunday through Wednesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre. Here is a film that has the dramatic power and impact of the finest domestic or foreign products. In fact, "Hud" and its cast are already considered to be serious contenders for next year's Academy Award presentations.

"Hud" is an uncompromisingly realistic story of the contemporary Southwest. Its plot revolves around the relationships and conflicts in the Bannon household, whose members include: Homer Bannon (Melvyn Douglas) his son, Hud Bannon (Paul Newman), Lon Bannon (Brandon de Wilde), Homer's grandson and Hud's nephew; and Alma (Patricia Neal), the Bannons cook and housekeeper.

Old Homer Bannon is the product of the days when hardy men built great cattle empires and cattlemen were kings. He epitomizes the finest customs and traditions of the Southwest. His son Hud is a man quite unlike his father. Homer loves his cattle, but Hud is interested in oil wells. Homer rides horseback over his vast grazing lands, while Hud hot-roads over the Panhandle roads in his Cadillac. Hud further embarrasses his father by drinking heavily, fighting frequently, and carrying on with other men's wives. Finally, when the Bannon ranch is faced with a crisis, relations among the household become strained until they erupt into violence and tragedy.

HEALTH LETTER

With daytime temperatures consistently reaching into the high nineties over most of Texas, and with the prospect of even hotter temperatures during the weeks immediately ahead, there is every reason to anticipate a growing number of deaths from heat prostration or sunstroke.

The number of such deaths in Texas usually totals some 15 or 20 in any given year. Several heat connected deaths have already been registered this summer from various areas of the State.

Heat exhaustion is caused by an inadequacy of the heat dissipating mechanism of the body. It occurs as a result of exposure to a hot, humid atmosphere such as is common over most of Texas during summer months. Sunstroke is a form of heat stroke, complicated by an absorption of radiant energy from the sun which causes a temperature rise in local body areas, such as the brain.

How do you avoid heat stroke? By doing what you can to keep heat loss and heat production in balance.

The wearing of loose, airy clothing is known by physiologists to be among the best means of maintaining that balance.

Elevations of body temperature will develop inevitably when tight clothing is worn because it prevents loss of body heat through conduction, radiation and evaporation of sweat. And this much is physiologically true: the body thermostat is so constructed that a fall in temperature is much harder to produce than is a rise.

Progress is always the product of fresh thinking, and much of it thinking which to practical men bears the semblance of dreaming.

RUN DOWN—TO MARLIN
Feeling run down? Marlin, Texas, may be your answer.

Health-seekers of those just wanting to feel pepped-up flock to the Central Texas city of Marlin in Falls County. There they find mineral baths, a $5,000,000 V.A. Hospital and two private clinics.

This health center is well noted for its high ratio of doctors to patients.

Marlin's artesian wells first sprang forth when a driller, hired by the town to dig a municipal well, struck a gusher of steaming water. This water ran as hot as 147 degrees and had a distinct taste.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Persons who want to fish have a wonderful choice in the general vicinity of the state park there is a vast area of open water, ideal for water sports. Back in the hundreds of small covers that dot the shoreline is a wonderful cover for bass, bream and catfish. This makes it an ideal lake for all of those game species. Mathis isn't a constant-level lake. At certain times of the year, when there has been little rain on the upper reaches of the Nueces, the level goes down. While this is inconvenient to property owners around the lake, it does provide additional food sources for fish. When the lake goes down, vegetation moves in. Then when the lakes refills this vegetation becomes food for the fishes and the brush that has grown up provides additional shelters.

This brush also is one of the big tackle hazards. But any good fisherman will tell you that if you put it where the fish are you gamble on losing a lure... and landing a lunker.

At the present there is considerable development going on around the lake. Much of it is by people who live in San Antonio or Corpus Christi. The lake is only a short drive from both cities and provides an ideal location for a leisure home or a vacation sport.

The Game and Fish Commission keeps a close watch over the waters of Lake Mathis. Constant checks are being made of the growth of fish and the eradication of rough fish. Some intensive experimental work has gone on there, in an effort to keep down the rough fish population.

So if you want a place to fish, ski, have a general good time, watch the birds or just drive around, take a little week-end trip to Mathis.

You can get a list of available motels from the Mathis Chamber of Commerce.

U. S. Refuses Arms Sale To S. Africa Because of Policy

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

THE UNITED STATES does the strangest things at times. Now sort of "hepped" on the idea of going overboard with every possible scheme to force integration in all aspects of every-day life, we are now spreading our program to far away South Africa.

Adlai Stevenson told the UN the other day that because the USA does not like the racial policies followed by South Africa, this government would refuse to sell that nation any more military weapons.

It would seem that we would do well in this country to tend to our own business, try to solve our own domestic problems, without injecting ourselves into those of other nations. South Africa has fought on our side in several wars and has stood with us and the west in practically every contest that has developed in the United Nations.

That country, instead of being a so-called neutral, is a committed country-committed to fight and die, if necessary, on the side of the free world in this great struggle against communism.

It hardly makes sense for us to now gratuitously take it on ourselves to insult a great nation in an attempt to placate Ghana and other African countries. Yet, that is just about what it amounts to.

If we were in a hot war with Soviet Russia, we can be sure that the United States would sell and give South Africa all the weapons they could use in the struggle for survival. Yet now we do the stupid thing of attempting to prevent a friendly ally from maintaining military strength when a hot war could break out at any time.

There is, however, a precedent for this. We did about the same thing in our dealings with Portugal, except that we did not go this far. By voting against Portugal with respect to the Colonial policies in Africa, we antagonized the valuable and friendly nation, and did it on an issue that is really none of our business.

The result is that our relations with Portugal are very strained, and there is a possibility the Portuguese may refuse to renew our arrangements in the use of the Azores.

It would seem that the United States would learn to keep its nose out of other people's business, particularly out of the business of our own loyal friends and allies.

Bridal Shower Is Given Friday To Honor Volene Bryan

A bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Eugene Hope was a Friday evening compliment to Miss Volene Bryan, bride-elect of Dwain Vogler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogler of Winters.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bryan, the honoree and Vogler will be married August 16 in the Ninth Street Church of Christ at Ballinger.

Guests were received by the honoree, her mother, and Mrs. Vogler.

Miss Sallye Harris of Maverick presided at the guest book.

The honoree's chosen colors of green and white were featured. Misses Gloria Hope and Carolyn Phelps served from the table covered with a white lace cloth over green. A centerpiece of white roses and green candles completed the decoration scheme. White cake squares decorated with green roses, and green punch were served to guests. Special guests included two of the prospective bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Doyle Cooper and Miss Eris Vogler both of Winters.

Miss Bryan was wearing a blue dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Hostesses for the occasion included the following: Mmes. Jeff Harris, Marlin Davis, Harvey Bryan, Eugene Hope, Rudy Bahmann, Clarence Sharps, Joe Crockett, Kirby Robinson, W. Phelps, and H. B. Porter.

make and revise leases on public school lands, including river beds, bays and inlets of the Gulf of Mexico.

Attorney General requested that he be removed from the land board. After August 23 he will be replaced by a private citizen of his choosing.

Before Carr leaves the board he will sign the deed which conveys state-owned land on Padre Island to the federal government for a national seashore.

SHORT SNORTS

Rep. Sam F. Collins of Newton asked to be allowed to serve as a state representative without pay, when he accepted a job as assistant to General Manager John W. Simmons of the Sabine River Authority.

Governor Connally appointed Hudson Davis of Borger as Canadian River Compact Commissioner, and R. Leighton McKinney Jr. of Denison, Interstate Compact Commissioner for the Red River. The State General Revenue Fund finished July with $19,500,000 in the black.

District Commander Makes Official Visit To VFW

John Richardson, commander of District 22, Veterans of Foreign Wars, made an official visit to the Winters VFW post Monday. He was accompanied by Mel Stanley, past district commander. Both are from San Angelo.

J. L. Morrow, commander of the Winters post, presided at the meeting, during which reports on Americanism, Community Service and Youth Activities were given by local members of the various programs carried out by the local post this year.

Membership quota for the Winters group is 113, and the local group will hold a membership dinner in the near future, with admission being payment of 1964 dues.

FROM ODESSA

Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge Collins and son of Odessa were visitors in the home of her mother, Mrs. H. J. Hodge Sr. the past week end and attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Collins.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A man often is said to be only as good as his name.

This probably came from the practice of men verbally binding themselves in agreements with others on the strength of their "good name".

Texas history records at least one man who proved himself to be even better than his name. For this man changed his name.

He changed his name from Otfried Hans Freiherr Von Meusebach so that he could become a citizen of Texas under the name of John O. Meusebach.

Even in light of the history of innumerable broken treaties between the Indians and the white settlers, the treaty of peace between twenty Comanche Chiefs and Meusebach, representing the German Colonists, was never breached.

This 1847 Treaty is memorialized by a marker on U. S. Highway 190 about 15 miles west of the Central Texas town of San Saba.

MONEY MEN

The Legislative Budget Board, lawmakers who make the Legislature's financial decisions between sessions, recommended $4,644,000 worth of state building to Gov. John Connally.

Plans approved included one by the State Hospitals Board to equip a genetics lab and follow-up clinic on mental retardation in the State Psychiatric Institute at Houston; new dormitories for Gatesville for Boys, Gainesville School for Girls and Crockett School for Negro Girls; and several prison system units.

Authorization was recommended for $25,000 worth of partitioning to provide 23 new offices in Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr's department.

But the board balked at Texas A & M University's request to spend some $100,000 on a home-exclusive of land and furnishings—for A & M President Earl Ruder, to replace the one destroyed by fire.

A compromise recommendation of about $60,000 for a 4,500 square-foot home was the outcome.

CITIES GROWTH FORMULA

About 200 city attorneys, city engineers and city councilmen gathered in Austin to hear a Texas Municipal League explanation of the Texas Municipal Annexation Act, which will become effective on August 23.

Annexation act sets out "extraterritorial jurisdictions" dictating the extent of a city's growth in any three-year period. For cities of less than 5,000 population, the extraterritorial area extends a half mile beyond city limits; cities 5,000 to 25,000, one mile; cities 25,000 to 50,000, two miles; cities 50,000 to 100,000, three and a half miles; and cities 100,000 and up, five miles.

But a city would not have to expand all the way around its rim. It could swing arcs or "fingers" out to "desirable areas for growth," and obtain the annual area allocation of 1 per cent of its square acreage in these areas.

For example, officials of a city of 20,000 acres could annex up to 2,000 acres of "desirable" land one year; 2,200 acres the next, etc., without ever annexing undesirable new territory.

Farm Equipment To Handle New Line of Harvesters

Farm Equipment Company has been authorized as the dealer for Hesston V-22 Cotton Harvesters in the Winters area according to E. E. Thormeyer, owner of the local farm equipment firm.

Hesston Manufacturing Company's booklet, "Hi-Net Cotton System," is now available free to cotton growers in this area, he added. The booklet, which presents a comprehensive program to increase net cotton profits, has been commended by educators, editors, and farmers across the Cotton Belt.

Thormeyer described the V-22 as a new concept in mechanical harvesting, employing brush-action to remove lint gently and deliver clean cotton. Its performance has been impressive in hundreds of fields in many states over the past four years. The two-row machine can be attached to most models of tractors, and sells for less than one-fourth the cost of most spindle-type machines.

Former Resident Was Drowned Friday At Whaleyville, Va.

William Cryer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Cryer of Mineral Wells, was drowned Friday August 9, while swimming near Whaleyville, Virginia, according to information received by relatives here.

Cryer apparently had a heart attack and called for help. The man who was with him made an attempt at rescue, but he became exhausted before reaching the boat and barely saved himself.

The body was found Monday morning and was to be flown to Mineral Wells for funeral rites and burial, but due to the plane being grounded, the funeral rites are pending.

Born and reared in Winters, Cryer attended the local schools and graduated from high school here. He attended William and Mary College where he received his degree. He was a teacher in the schools of Virginia. He was a nephew of Mrs. Lela Sawyer who went to Mineral Wells Wednesday to attend the funeral.

His father Howell Cryer, was a rural carrier for many years at the Winters postoffice. He is now retired.

Austrian Winter Peas Cover Crop for Soil Conservation

C. L. Drake, of the local Soil Conservation Service, said that it is time to plan and buy seed for a winter cover crop. He said that Austrian winter peas, which is a legume, and small grain when managed for a cover crop make excellent winter cover crops.

B. J. Colburn, of the Drasco community, said that he has been planting Austrian winter peas each year, as a cover crop, since he became a cooperater with the Runnels Soil Conservation District in 1955.

Colburn reports that winter peas usually make a good growth if they are planted the first part of September. He said they will protect the soil from wind erosion and improve the soil by adding organic matter and nitrogen. Colburn said that he always inoculates his seed so the plants can take nitrogen from the air and store it in the peas root system. Research has found that legumes such as Austrian winter peas will store as much as 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre in the soil. Colburn stated that since he included winter peas in his conservation cropping system root rot in his cotton has been a lot less. He said, "I always drill my peas at a rate of about 20 pounds per acre."
