

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

There'll be a lot of fun being had by one and sundry this weekend when the loose ends of the big whoopenanny called a Jamboree are tied up. Bundle tying will begin at 6:30 Friday with a big parade down the streets of Winters.

We don't know just what the parade will consist of... of course, there'll probably be horses and horses, and there may be floats of some kind. And there were previous hopes that the new fire truck ordered by the City several months ago would be on hand in time for the parade—but it isn't likely, now.

The main line of interest in the parade, we're told, will be a lineup of antique cars. Not the old ones most of us refer to as the family car, but real old ones... vintage 20s and before. A group of antique car enthusiasts from Abilene, who like to sport around in their autos, will be on hand for the parade. And if we're real quick during the parade, some of us may be able to explain to another generation just what we mean when we talk about "runnin' boards," radiator thermometers, and the like.

Speaking of "runnin' boards," it's pretty much so that after things have been delegated to "antique" status for a while, they start becoming popular again. They took the shift out of the floor and put it on the steering column; then after a while, they started advertising as the "latest," the "four-in-the-floor" in the "four-in-the-floor" in the automobile runnin' boards just about any year now.

In that same thought vein, the first running water wash bowls many of us ever saw were round... then the manufacturers started making them square and oblong. Now they've come back... the "latest" is round.

Along about a supper time after the parade Friday, square dancers will exhibit their prowess on the dance floor in the Economy Food Store's indoor parking lot on West Dale. This is something which has come back—strong—from the old days, and the hobby... or athletic event, whichever you mind... draws ever-increasing interest among all ages. The dancers will perform again Saturday night.

A gathering of fiddlers from all over the state is expected when the boys start rosinning their bows beginning at 10 Saturday morning. Old fiddlers will have their contests in the morning, with the young fiddlers in the afternoon, going after big prize monies.

Another throwback will be the Pony Express Race Saturday afternoon. Several relays of riders will leave the old Blue Gap post office east of Winters at 5:30, with the finish line at the football stadium. Rankin Pace, Winters' postmaster, who is the honorary postmaster of Blue Gap, probably will be on hand to give the move out order. There will be trophy awards for winning riders and teams in this event.

So... all in all, this should be a lively weekend. It'll be the first of its kind for Winters, and the way it is accepted probably will be the deciding factor when it comes to planning something of the same sort for next year and years to come. Winters needs something to stir the dregs of everyday existence... and perhaps this will be the answer. With a lot of added attractions possible.

Our Bluff Creek friend says you can always tell the political and social climber by the cold-fish handshake. It's the man who WORKS his way to the top of any heap who has the splinters in his hands.

Many times when we call someone for a little bit of information we are told to "let me call you back... I've got a customer" or something of that nature. Then later there are apologies for holding us up. Well, we don't mind a bit that someone is so busy they haven't the time to talk at any given moment. In fact, after all's said and done, we like it that way; if it ever reaches the stage when there is all the time in the world to talk, then we'd all better begin to worry.

Little Action Seen In Run-Off Voting

Light voter turnouts are expected in the June 6 runoff primaries Saturday, according to many observers, possibly laid to a short ballot and disinterest on the part of electors.

On the local county scene, only one office is up for grabs on the Democratic ballot, that of District Clerk. Mrs. Luna Mae Foy and Mrs. Otis Power are opponents in this runoff primary, and the decision of the voters in Saturday's election will be more or less final, because of the lack of opposition from the Republican side of the fence.

Precinct 7 voters will also decide on a Democratic precinct chairman, with Dr. Z. I. Hale and John J. Swatchesue opposing candidates for that office.

Local Democrats also will be confronted with races on a state level in Saturday's voting. Congressman-at-Large Joe Pool of Dallas failed to make a majority showing in the first primary and is opposed by Robert Baker of Houston.

Residents Must Use Regulation Garbage Cans Effective August 1

Faced with a possible loss by fire of a garbage pickup truck and equipment costing several thousands of dollars, Winters' City Council Monday night voted to begin enforcement of a garbage pickup ordinance passed almost three years ago.

A new and modern garbage and trash truck was purchased by the City last fall and delivered last fall. Since that time, city officials said, numerous fires have broken out in the truck, with two of the fires of serious consequence. Fires were said to have been started by dumping burning material from barrels into the truck hopper. On one occasion, truck operators were forced to dump trash and refuse onto private property in order to prevent total destruction of the truck.

Original total cost of the truck and equipment was $7,873.12, officials said.

Strict enforcement of the provisions of the so-called garbage pickup ordinance, which was passed and approved Oct. 26, 1961, has been held to a minimum, officials said. But the situation has reached such a point, they said, that something must be done immediately, if the City is to be spared a possible loss of valuable equipment and possible injury to workmen.

Provisions of the ordinance call for kitchen garbage to be placed in a portable garbage can constructed of metal, equipped with a tight-fitting cover, and with a capacity of not less than five gallons nor more than 32 gallons. Other refuse, such as paper, rags, old clothing, and the like, must be placed in receptacles of reasonable size, and combined weight of both refuse and container must not exceed 50 pounds.

The trouble has originated, city officials pointed out, from using large barrels to hold all kinds of refuse and also for burning. Many times fresh refuse is piled on top of burning materials, without the knowledge of sanitary department workers, who dump the entire contents into the truck hopper. Even though they have been instructed to leave barrels which appear to have been used for burning, it is difficult to know what the barrels contain, they said.

Residents are being asked to refrain from burning in barrels which may be dumped into the truck. Effective August 1, however, no garbage or trash will be picked up which is not prepared according to the provisions of the ordinance, the Council said. The ordinance will be published in full so that everyone will be given an opportunity to know what to do about their refuse, they said.

During discussions concerning the garbage and refuse pickup problems, it was suggested by some members of the Council that a study be made concerning an "anti-burning" ordinance. No action has been taken on this matter.

Council also Monday night completed research studies on about 100 delinquent tax cases which will be forwarded to attorneys for tax suit action. There are several other delinquent tax cases which will be researched and studied prior to being turned over to attorneys for action. The first 100 cases dealt with totals about $20,000.00 in tax money delinquent, the City Secretary said.

An ordinance adopting and approving speed limits on Main Street, West Dale and Wood Streets, also was passed and will be forwarded to the State Highway Department. The ordinance takes into consideration surveys made by the Highway Department, and speed limits will be established by that department. No great change is expected from present speed limits, and final limits will be announced by the Highway Department at a later date.

Present for Monday night's regular meeting were Mayor Harvey D. Jones, Aldermen J. C. Jarrell, James C. Colburn, Homer Hodge and R. C. Thomas.

WTCC Manager Talks To Local Chamber Board

"The Chamber of Commerce is the front door of a community," Ralph Duncan, manager of the Community Services Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, told members of the board of directors of the Winters Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Tuesday.

"Four things are necessary if a chamber of commerce is to be effective in developing a more liveable community and economic climate," he said, and named the four points as follows: Program of work, budget, committee structure and leadership.

Duncan stated that a program of work is the known needs of the area that can be solved best by the business organization known as the chamber of commerce. "No program should be approved by the chamber that cannot be carried out through voluntary leadership," he said. "We must have positive plans," he continued, and said that "we fail because we fill a folder with words."

Commenting on the needs of a budget, the WTCC department manager stated that it must be adequate for developing the program of work and that proper financing of the chamber is the responsibility of the business community, including agriculture, industrial development and the professions.

Naming committee action as the most important phase of chamber operations, he cited examples of leadership at work throughout West Texas. "Money alone is not enough. If a community is to develop, local voluntary leadership must assume a role of dedicated service through committee action," he said, and concluded with "We must recognize our responsibility as community leaders—the future of Winters depends on it."

Homer Hodge, vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of Gattis Neely, president.

Winters Jamboree Slated Friday and Saturday

May Rain Total Below That Of Previous Year

Total rainfall for the month of May is considerably below that for the same month of last year, with only 1.1 inch measured in Winters for the 31 day period. Last year 7.7 inches of rainfall was received during May.

Total for the year is 10.6 inches, about average for the first six months, as can be seen by the accompanying comparison for the past five years.

Light rainfall last week delayed harvest of this year's wheat crop, but combines were back in the fields within a short time.

W. D. Waggoner, superintendent of the Winters City Water Department, reports that little water has been caught in the city's water supply lake east of town, but that there still is an adequate supply. Lake level is only about two feet below spillway runoff, he said, and indications were that there will be no danger of exhaustion of the water supply unless several months of dry weather prevailed.

MOVIES

The love affair of a team of sophisticates in Paris is smartly told with a debonair Cary Grant and a worldly-wise Au-

Magician, Medusa, Apollonius of Tyana, Pan, the Abominable Snowman and a Great Serpent.

"The Errand Boy"
 Utilizing his own seemingly endless supply of energy and talent, Jerry Lewis once again not only stars in but also directs his new Paramount comedy, "The Errand Boy," a hilarious spoof of the mad, unpredictable world of Hollywood, which shows Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-Inn Theatre.

"Charade"
 It's more apparent than ever that there are no limits to the entertainment heights that can be reached on the screen by Cary Grant. Just when folks are certain he has achieved the ultimate, Cary pops up with something that tops anything he has accomplished before. Cary Grant is the all-time champ of motion picture stars. In films for three decades, Grant has survived the changing fashions in screen personalities and today is a bigger box-office favorite than ever throughout the world. Cary's latest film, "Charade," in Technicolor, with Audrey Hepburn as his co-star, is a comedy murder mystery, showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-Inn Theatre.

"7 Faces of Dr. Lao"
 Six-time Academy Award-winning producer-director George Pal is due for more laurels as the result of his newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "7 Faces of Dr. Lao," one of the most unusual and fascinating motion pictures ever made, with star Tony Randall playing seven (count 'em) different roles. This film is so unique that ordinary adjectives do not apply to it, and a word had to be invented - Fantadra - Mystacom - combining fantasy, drama, mystery and comedy. Here are the different characters portrayed by Randall, who co-stars with Barbara Eden, Arthur O'Connell and John Ericson in "7 Faces of Dr. Lao," showing Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-Inn, the title role. portrays Lt. (j. g.) J. F. Kennedy in the big-scale action epic, Ty Hardin, James Gregory, Robert Culp and Grant Williams are co-starred as rugged PT-boat men who fought with Lt. Kennedy in the historic battle for the Solomon Islands.

Filmed under the personal supervision of Jack L. Warner, president of Warner Bros., "PT 109" is based on the best-selling book by Washington newsmen Robert J. Donovan. The film was produced by Bryan Foy and directed by Leslie H. Martinson from a screenplay by Richard L. Breen.

The story of "PT 109" begins April 7, 1943, when a Japanese aerial bombing attack welcomes Lt. Kennedy to the Solomons, and continues through the remarkable events that followed the night and early morning of August 2, 1943, when the battle-scarred patrol-torpedo boat 109 was cut in two by a Japanese destroyer, the Amagiri.

Kennedy spent 30 of the next 39 hours in the water, pulling a badly burned crew-member to the safety of a small island, then swimming out to sea again at night in the hope of signalling a PT-boat on patrol duty. The crew of the 109 was given up for dead, but Kennedy and the other survivors lived to report the fascinating story of their thrilling rescue — and to fight again against the Japanese.

State Capital Highlights— Texas Restaurant Men Sponsoring Sale of Mixed Drinks In Texas

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Texas Restaurant Association, headquartered in Austin, is backing a proposal to legalize the sale of mixed drinks in Texas.

Executive Vice President W. Price Jr., of the 2600-member organization, reports that a six-member committee of his group has drawn a bill for presentation.

TRA's bill would authorize local option elections on the sale, by food establishments, of distilled spirits in sealed containers of two ounces or less. Also it would extend the liquor curfew until 2 a. m.

Price said he has sounded out a number of legislators and found them enthusiastic. One of the most prominent members of the House of Representatives is expected to introduce the measure. Price, however, declined to name the sponsor.

Repeated efforts to legalize over-the-bar sales of mixed drinks in Texas have collapsed in recent sessions of the Legislature under the combined weight of opposition by untied dry forces and church groups.

"This is not a wet-dry issue," said non-drinking ex-restaurateur Price. "Texans can buy anything they want to drink right now. All we are trying to do is make it convenient for a man who wants to have a drink served in a dignified manner at a nice restaurant to be able to get one."

Price, who also is secretary of the Texas Tourist Council, said he believes sale of mixed drinks "will definitely stimulate the tourist program in our state."

Furthermore, he estimated, the TRA bill would produce nearly $3,000,000 a year in new tax revenue.

"SKY'S THE LIMIT"
Legislative Budget Board members heard a warning from their executive director, Vernon McGee, that "the sky seems to be the limit" on state agency spending requests for 1965-67.

As an example, McGee cited budget proposals of the State hospital system and institutions of higher education.

He also noted the legislative committee of the State Bar of Texas judicial section has proposed big pay boosts—of $12,000 a year—for judges. Under the Bar Committee's plan, base salaries of district judges would be doubled—from $12,000 to $24,000 a year. Court of Civil Appeals judges would be raised from $16,000 to $28,000, and the Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals from $20,000 to $32,000.

Some civil appeals judges had requested no raises at all until the committee report came out, McGee said. But amended budget requests now are being received and the $12,000 raises supported in budget hearings now underway.

RUMP DELEGATION THREATENED
Threat of a rump liberal delegation to the national democratic convention was posed by State AFL-CIO President H. S. (Hank) Brown.

Brown said a sure way to prevent that is for all legally-elected delegates to be seated at the state democratic convention at Houston on June 16 and for the convention to embrace the national party platform and all party nominees.

Gov. John Connally said moderate - conservative delegates will comprise two-thirds of the duly elected representatives at the June meeting, and he does not want resolutions endorsing all planks of the national platform.

State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Frank C. Erwin Jr. has named Austin attorney Will D. Davis as head of a SDEC panel to hear delegation contests from Bexar, Dallas, Harris, Hutchinson, Edwards, Randall and Sherman Counties. SDEC will make the final decision as to which delegations to seat. The eight contests involve $19 of the Houston convention's 2,834 votes.

The Houston convention will name delegates to the democratic national presidential nominating convention and select Texas national committee representatives. Texas Democrats are united in support of President Johnson this year. Key issue is whether the convention will support the national platform and agree to support ALL party nominees.

PRESIDENT HONORED
President Lyndon B. Johnson returned to Austin and Johnson City to address commencement ceremonies, talk politics and visit with friends.

In his fourth trip to his home state since becoming president, Johnson addressed graduates of Johnson High School in Johnson City, where he graduated 40 years earlier, and the University of Texas. Both the President and Mrs. Johnson received an honorary degree from UT.

The biggest gathering of state officials and lawmakers in the capital city since the last legislative session turned out to hear the President's university speech and visit with him at a reception afterward.

COURTS SPEAK
Sunday closing hours specifically authorize emergency purchases, Supreme Court held in a Nueces County case. Case involved weekend sales by Shoppers World on emergency certificates.

Decision did not pass on constitutionality of the 1961 closing statute, although one judge said in a concurring opinion the whole act should be declared invalid.

The high court also concluded oil and gas production formulas adopted by the Texas Railroad Commission are subject only to timely attacks in court. Its opinion apparently continues some 2,000 allocated formulas placed in doubt by its 1961 "Normanna" decision. The court overturned lower court rulings invalidating Calhoun County gas field allocation. Aluminum Company of America claimed small track operators were permitted to drain away $9,000,000 worth of gas from an Alcoa lease.

Texas Water Commission findings authorizing the City of Wichita Falls to build $12,500,000 "Halsell Dam" on Little Wichita River were upheld by the Third Court of Civil Appeals. Commission affirmed a Travis County District court ruling of last June. Suit was brought by landowners in the proposed reservoir area, who claimed the dam should be constructed 27.7 miles from Wichita Falls instead of 11 miles from the city as planned.

Supreme Court agreed to review cases where courts of civil appeals ruled paying traffic fines in corporation court does not constitute a conviction which can be counted toward drivers license suspension.

OIL IMPORTS CHANGES URGED
Gov. John Connally and state railroad commissioners have called on U. S. Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall to revise the oil imports program before the next quota period starting July 1.

They particularly recommended oil from the Texas region of surplus be moved to the West Coast where foreign oil continues to fill almost total market growth. Connally said deterioration in Texas crude prices and production droppoff "threaten to erase the slight progress of 1963 and assure a third consecutive year of decline in the State's reserves and productive capacity." The domestic producing industry, he said, must continue to grow in proportion to total imports under a stabilized price structure.

COTTON REPORT PUSHED
On request of West Texas growers, the governor called on President Johnson to encourage favorable consideration of an export sales program for extra long staple cotton. The plan now is under consideration by the Department of Agriculture.

Growers are faced with a surplus threatening price and acreage reductions. Supima Association advised Governor Connally there is a world demand for extra long staple cotton and this is an opportune time to dispose of stocks owned by Commodity Credit Corporation.

ANIMAL HEALTH COMMISSION DIRECTOR RESIGNS
Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of Texas Animal Health Commission has resigned effective October 1. He plans to devote all his time to his farm and ranch near Taylor.

Commission Chairman C. E. Knolle and other livestock industry representatives joined in commending Dr. Garrett for his work in the scrawworm and brucellosis - eradication programs, as well as day-by-day administrative direction of the agency.

WATER HEARING POSTPONED AGAIN
Texas Water Commission for the third time rescheduled hearings—to June 30—on five Brazos River watershed reservoir projects. Reservoirs are Proctor, Comanche County; Stillhouse Hollow, Bell County; Somerville, Washington County; Decordova Bend, Hood County; and Belton, Bell County.

Negotiations on sale of water to downstream interests are continuing.

"BACKTAGGING" PICKS UP
The system of certifying for brucellosis eradication by vaccinating cows and culls as they go through livestock markets, called "backtagging", is catching on fast, according to Federal and State animal health authorities.

U. S. Department of Agriculture says that reports on 2,104 head of backtagged cattle were received from more than 20 slaughter houses in April.

Follow-ups on the backtagged cattle, in addition to samples taken from 2,905 other cattle slaughtered last month, produced 205 reactors.

DROP-OUTS AND STAY-INS
Top brass of the Texas Education Agency heard the initial report on progress in the agency's "Stay in School Project," aimed at reversing the rising tide of public school drop-outs.

Agency consultants reported on what they have accomplished since March when the SIS pilot project started. Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar termed it an impressive start.

The study, and local efforts to implement it and deal with the drop-out problem, will continue and ultimately will become a state-wide effort.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas for the first time has registered 5,000,000 motor vehicles and now ranks behind only California and New York in total registrations. . . . OFF SHORE—Contrasting the calm rippling sea off shore to the horizon, breakers and spray bubble with fury in the foreground. Gliding sailboat beyond the breakers off Santa Barbara, Calif., adds a special touch to the picturesque scene.

Roger Babson Says—

Communist Action In Southeast May Touch Off World War III

Babson Park, Fla. — Up until the present time, I had not been immediately concerned about the possibility of World War III; but with the developments in South Vietnam, I sent to Wellesley for my expert on international affairs, Donald W. K. Chun.

Conditions in Cuba
With Cuba so near to us here in Florida, it receives considerable space in the leading daily papers. Of course none of us in Florida want to do anything to help Castro. We are very much opposed to his position regarding our reconnaissance planes flying over Cuba, and are provoked over his cutting off water and other supplies from our important base at Guantanamo Bay in East Cuba. We have owned this base since we freed Cuba from Spain 66 years ago.

On the other hand, everyone in Florida, especially in Miami, feels it would be a mistake to attempt another blockade of Cuba, particularly against Britain's ships. It has been many years since I personally have been to Cuba, but delegations which have been recently feel that if we can avoid using force, Cuba will die on the vine, so to speak.

Importance of Vietnam
Mr. Chun feels strongly that the real trouble spot in the world is South Vietnam. Laos and Cambodia compound the difficulty. Cyprus, and even the African trouble spots are not to be compared with the Southeast Asia problem. Congress should give President Johnson and Sec. McNamara the money necessary to protect South Vietnam. It is a key spot for checking the Communist spread in Southeast Asia. As long as the Peking Government can be held to the Chinese mainland, I believe there will be no war between the United States and Russia.

If, however, Vietnam should be lost to the Communists, the Chinese might be able to break through to the rich resources to the south. This would not only give the Chinese the necessary food for their people, but would bring several other nations immediately into the conflict to protect their own economic interests in Southeast Asia.

Southeast Asia
To begin with, France has a large commercial interest in Southeast Asia. I personally believe that President de Gaulle went on his recent trip to Mexico and other countries to line up allies to prevent a collapse of Southeast Asia. De Gaulle recognizes that this would mean a great financial loss, and also a loss of prestige, to France.

But it could bring into the conflict other countries such as the Netherlands, Great Britain, Japan, and possibly the Philippines. This would not necessarily involve the United States and Russia at first; but it could easily lead to World War III. Naturally, the United States does not want another World War at any time; but the Administration is particularly anxious to avoid such a catastrophe before the elections are over in November. Furthermore, Russia is now buying foodstuffs to make life more livable for her own people and for those of her satellites. If we should lose Vietnam and if the Chinese Communists should break through to the resources of Southeast Asia, the situation could worsen drastically.

What About Formosa
I assume that our warships are now patrolling the waters in the vicinity of Formosa. At present our chief interest is Formosa — more than it is Chiang Kai-shek in the United Nations. If, however, Red China should be admitted to the UN, as de Gaulle and certain other leaders desire, it would be a great disappointment to Chiang Kai-shek and to his wife. I do not see clearly how both Formosa and Red China could have representation in the United Nations, but this may be possible. Today, Formosa serves as a guard to the United States. We fought hard to get it; we would long hesitate to give it up.

This brings me back to the nub of my discussion on the possibilities of World War III. As long as we are able to hold South Vietnam and to keep the status quo, I have no fear of World War III in the reasonable future. If, on the other hand, the Communists should break thru it could so dislocate France, Britain, the Netherlands, the Philippines, and especially Japan, that it might start World War III. In another weekly column, I will discuss Japan in detail.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Of late the law of warranties has placed heavy tort responsibilities on advertisers. Sometimes the buyer may treat what sellers say about their goods as promises to which the law will hold them.

In the old days a seller was responsible mainly to the buyer, but the product liability now goes beyond the first buyer. Warranties now sometimes protect the buyer's family, his friends, or innocent bystanders whom the product may hurt. But the law is not all one way. Recently, in another state, a chemical firm sold an insecticide spray. Farmer Jones bought some, and sprayed his crops. Many plants wilted. Jones sued the firm for the loss of his plants.

The company replied that the label said "Seller makes no warranty of any kind, express or implied, concerning the use of this product. Buyer assumes all risk in use or handling."

The chemical firm won this law suit: Parties to a sales agreement, as a rule, can agree to disclaim liabilities, for example, when the seller tells the buyer before he buys that he makes no warranty, or makes only limited ones. Jones should read the label and know of the limitation, otherwise, without any express limitations the law "implies" a warranty that the product is fit for its intended use.

Like labels, advertisements may limit as well as increase a seller's responsibility. In a famous case a car maker claimed that all his cars' windows had safety glass that would not shatter when hit by small rocks. Smith bought a car, but when a pebble struck the glass, it shattered, hurting him badly. The court held that the seller had made warranties by advertising his car windows' special features to consumers. He had to pay.

In another case, Mrs. Brown was famous for her chicken salad. She bought canned chicken which was labeled and advertised as having "no bones." This time her chicken salad contained several broken bones which hurt her mouth. The court held that the canner had to pay Mrs. Brown for her injuries. She had a right to think there were no bones at all in the can.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who if fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law).

Letters To The Editor

The two Winters Veterans Organizations were out on Memorial Day putting out flags on veterans' graves. They put out 252 American and Confederate flags. They also put flags on Spanish-American graves. After visiting 14 cemeteries they found some clean cemeteries. Pumphrey had been worked. Old Runnels was very clean. Norton was the nicest cared for we found. The three Winters cemeteries were in the worst shape. We think it looks bad to see a flag peeping out of the high grass. Can't we beat that.

Harvey E. Little Gets Law Degree At T. University

Harvey Edward Little of Winters was one of the 145 law school seniors granted Bachelor of Law degrees at the University of Texas Commencement exercises on Saturday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Little.

Approximately 2,000 students from various schools and colleges of the University received degrees in the ceremonies.

Little holds a B.J. degree from the University of Texas School of Journalism which he received in 1961. For the past year and a half he has been a regular member of the sports staff of the Austin American Statesman, working a night shift while attending law school mornings.

He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional fraternity, and of Delta Sigma Phi social fraternity. During his freshman year in law school he served as photographer for the Peregrinus (law school annual) and as production editor for the Texas Law Forum.

Preceding the night ceremony attended by graduates and their families, a reception and convocation for graduates of the School of Law was held in Townes Hall. The reception, as well as a barbecue dinner following the convocation, was hosted by members of the law school faculty for graduates and their guests. Wives of faculty members ladeled punch and served plates at the dinner. Decorations featured sunflowers. The convocation featured the Sunflower ceremony, a traditional affair at which graduates

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

Cotton — that flexible, versatile, indispensable product—can now be processed with a "locked-in" shape.

With competition growing each year from synthetics, any new development in cotton is good news for Texas farmers. Two radically new developments in recent years show promise of giving cotton products a much needed shot in the arm. The stretch fabrics which hit the market with such success in the past couple of seasons contributed a great deal to the cotton market. Ladies stretch pants and all types of sports wear made from cotton fabric which snapped back into shape were immediate favorites with the consumers.

Now comes a process which permanently locks in a cotton shape such as pants creases or hat contours or a multiple number of forms. By using these moldable cotton fabrics, manufacturers should be able to speed and cut costs of producing cloth items.

Oddly enough, the development of stretch cotton contributed directly to the birth of the permanently molded cotton product. During the research on stretch fabrics, the chemists made cloth with more than 50-per cent stretch by a process called slack mercerization. Since these fabrics fitted contours well, the chemists reasoned that if the cloth were stretched "around corners" and molded to a permanent shape.

The process worked out involves treating fabric with a solution of sodium hydroxide, which gives it stretch by making the fibers and yarns twist and shrink. Next, the cloth is wet with chemicals of the type used to make wash-wear cotton. Finally it is stretched over a heated mold of a desired shape. The heat of the mold dries the fabric and causes the chemicals to "lock" it into shape.

The chemists see several advantages for moldable cotton and more are bound to be discovered as the process is used. For example, molding the pointed toes of women's shoes made of fabric would eliminate tiny folds and make the shoes look neater and fit better. Furniture manufacturers would find moldable fabrics particularly helpful in simplifying and thus speeding production of sofas, chairs, and other upholstered items.

48 Percent of People In U. S. Born Since World War II

Joseph was popular for a fleeting moment and then faded with the passing of time. Elizabeth Akers expresses much of our sentiment when she coined "backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight." Sometimes we fail to recognize how fast time really changes.

Up until 1907, man's speed was about as fast as a horse could run. A public relations man arranged a race between a train and a horse, and just about 57 years ago we broke the "oat barrier." You know how fast man can travel today.

Yet, says Texas A & M University Extension Sociologist Reagan Brown, though space flight is brand new, four percent of our citizens (7.6 million) have no idea of life prior to the first American manned space flight on May 5, 1961.

Korean Veterans may be surprised if asked when talking of their experience, "what war?" Over one-fifth of our population (about 42 million) has been born since the cease fire. "Sometimes," says Brown, "when talking of our exper-

Jan Kornegay, Robert Lee Crockett Announce Wedding Plans For August

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Newton Kornegay of El Paso announce the engagement of their daughter, Jan, to Mr. Robert Lee Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Crockett, Jr., of El Paso.

The wedding date has been set for August 28, at Montana Street Church of Christ in El Paso.

Miss Kornegay attended Abilene Christian College her freshman year. Mr. Crockett received his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Abilene Christian College in 1963 and is presently employed in El Paso.

ences in World War II we get blank stares when we speak of Malmedy, Siegfried Line, Battle of the Bulge, and Guadalcanal, etc." But we must remember that about half (48 percent) of our people have joined our ranks since 1946.

Since this is an election year, many politicians will refer to the works of past leaders such as Eisenhower, fewer the Fair Deal of Truman, and 64 percent are not old enough to remember the 1932 New Deal of President Roosevelt. Moreover, 66 percent are too young to recall the stock market crash of 1929, says

Brown. The World War I soldier will have to look a long time to find persons familiar with his conflict and problems of mutual interest. He shouldn't feel his effort was in vain, for 71 percent of the American population has been born since Armistice Day in 1918. And a parting thought—we celebrate the 50th anniversary of the income tax this year—and of interest is the fact that 87 percent or about 166 million of our people were born after this law was passed.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER:

Government
1963 Deficit
Nearly 10 Billion

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

The Debt Ceiling problem is haunting Congress again. It has come to be an annual thing. At the end of June the books will be marked up, and the deficit for the preceding 12 months determined. It will show a whopping deficit — this time of a little under 10 billion. That much more paid out than taken in.

The national debt at the moment is 308.8 billion. By law the limit is set at 315 billion. But that limit is "temporary" and reverts to 309 billion after June 30 unless Congress again raises it.

The Treasury Department has already made it known that before June 30 it will ask Congress to hike the limit to 320 billion for the next year — the highest in our history.

The course of action is simple: either the Congress must reduce spending to conform with the ceiling it establishes — or it must raise that ceiling to accommodate the increase.

The way it looks now there is not much hope for reduced spending in the foreseeable future. The legislative calendar is bristling with new spending projects. The civil rights legislation, if enacted, will expand government spending throughout the future. A Mass Transportation bill, to subsidize the cost of modernizing roads and streets and other transportation media in the big metropolitan areas, is now before Congress. The first year it would cost a half billion, and no telling how much after that.

A half-billion dollar salary raise is in the works — and this will be an annual outlay.

A billion-dollar anti-poverty welfare state program is pending, estimated to eventually cost 15 million, if it goes through. And our commitment in Viet Nam and in Laos is sure to require a substantial increase in expenditures in that area. And there are many other new programs being pushed, all of

Small Business Of Great Importance
To Economy of the United States

Babson Park, Mass. President Johnson's naming of last week as Small Business Week reminds me to point out to my readers the great importance of this segment of our private enterprise to the economy.

Scope of Nation's Small Companies

Too many people just naturally assume that all of the truly significant trends in manufacturing, services, and trade are established by the big corporations. They are unaware of the great forces that spring from the little independents or the influences that stem from them. How many realize, for example, that there are an estimated 4.6 million small businesses now operating in this country. If each one of these concerns were to take on just one extra employee, our unemployment would be practically wiped out overnight. Such power can scarcely be overrated on the national scene.

The government, by way of its Small Business Administration, is encouraging qualified people interested in starting their own ventures. Let me emphasize, however, that those going into business for themselves must be able and energetic people with good business sense. They must be prepared to work hard to make a go of their business. In short, they need something more than money.

Importance of Careful Planning

Sad to say, each year many small business ventures are started on a careless "pie-in-the-sky" plan by people who lack business background and/or adequate capital. More important, many get off on the wrong foot because the original which will help play havoc with debt ceilings.

Indeed, there are those who are talking in terms of what it will be like in America when we have a 400 billion public debt. Unless the brakes are applied that day may not be so very far away.

The Johnson Administration has made some welcome economy moves. But this can easily be wiped out with new programs, new projects, more new spending.

planning overlooked certain essential considerations such as market potential, proper location, competition, and operating costs. Armed largely with hope, these people soon find their business floundering, and their nest egg dissipated.

My advice, therefore, to those planning to establish a small business is: First, be sure you have a sound plan and the requisite characteristics of initiative, courage, and stick-to-itiveness. Such people can get help from the Small Business Administration in financing; and in management training and counseling service by government experts. Let me warn, however, that while the SBA foresees a bright future for new business ventures and will render all possible help and responsible advice, it cannot guarantee the success which comes only from good planning, sound judgement, and attention to business!

Opportunities For Small Businesses

Some of the greatest opportunities yet unrealized lie in the service fields, as more people rely on others to do their "chores" for them in order to have extra time for recreation and entertainment. This "explosion" in services is shown by the fact that employment in such fields has risen from 4.7 million in 1946 to 8.3 million in 1963, a 76 percent gain compared with only about 20 percent for total employment.

Manufacturing and retailing fields also offer good opportunities. The quickening pace of change today affords the small manufacturer a potent weapon to offset the stiff competition of the larger firms. His flexibility enables him to adapt more quickly to changes in demand, and to utilize new designs and production techniques. Small retail outlets, too, can offer great possibilities. The little retail store is still vital in our economy, with some 1.6 million of the nation's 2 million retailers having fewer than four employees.

Big Ideas Spring
From Small Firms

Many young folk are of the opinion that they must have sizeable or highly specialized training, or a rich relative in order to start a business of their own. In my lifetime, I have seen men start off with a good idea, then — with courage and persistence — turn that idea into a thriving business.

The more successful of these, however, did not sprout overnight. One should be content to start in a small way and gradually build up a solid business.

If you have the characteristics of success, I urge you to take your plans to your local bank. Every bank in every city in which this column is published is looking for new young people as borrowers as well as depositors. Therefore, first see your local bank and show them this column with my endorsement of small business.

Funeral Services Held Sunday For
H. F. Armstrong

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at Shep Church of Christ for Henry Franklin Armstrong, 82, who died at Sadler's Clinic in Merkel. Orvil Filbeck of Abilene Christian College officiated, and burial was in Shep Cemetery under the direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Herschel Jackson, Milton Jackson, Loy Jackson, Mordell Shedd, Leon Shed and Fred Lawrence.

Mr. Armstrong was born in Washington County near Brenham on August 27, 1881. As a small child he moved with his parents to Williamson County, and at the age of ten his parents, the late Andrew and Mollie Cheek Armstrong, moved to this area, settling in southeast Nolan County, March 15, 1903. He married Inez Chandler at the home of her mother near Shep. In 1907 he and his wife and family moved to their present farm and lived there for the past 56 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong celebrated their 60th wedding at their home last year.

Survivors include the wife; one son, Alton Armstrong of near Shep; one daughter, Mrs. John (Vivian) Hipp of Blackwell; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Edna Porter of Sweetwater; one brother, Wayne Armstrong of San Angelo.

The flat bottom boat is nothing new. Under the name of skiff or pram it has been around for ages.

In Arkansas a good many years ago someone dubbed it the john boat and that name has stuck. No one knows exactly where the name originated. But it serves its purpose well.

In most of Texas about the only flat bottom boats are homemade affairs. Usually they are built for river use. Generally they are constructed of 1 x 12, caulked with a heavy application of tar on the inside and covered with green muck on the outside. They are the kind you find tied up under an overhanging willow on the river bank.

Now, however, the john boat, flat-bottom or square-end, as you might prefer to call it, is coming into its own in Texas.

You'll find most of them in East Texas. They are numerous on such lakes as Caddo, Texarkana and Lake of the Pines. The john boat is an easy boat to handle. It can be transported on top of the car without too much trouble.

Today john boats are being made in both aluminum and fiberglass. Weights are about the same, usually slightly more than 100 pounds. Two men can handle one on top of a car, with relative ease. Especially the 12-foot models, which are lighter.

Most practical and popular john boat is the 14-footer. However, in Arkansas they use a great many of the 16 to 20 foot length for float fishing.

In fact, the 16-footer is almost a standard item on Arkansas streams. They have plenty of beam and ample freeboard. And they can be powered by comparatively light motors.

The john boat has ample space for carrying a duffle bag, an ice box and comfortable swivel seats for the fishermen. Three men can fish in comfort from one of these longer boats.

On East Texas lakes, however, the 12 and 14-foot boats are the most practical. In fact, they are ideal for the diversified fisherman—the man who doesn't care too much what kind of fish he catches.

One big advantage in these car-toppers is that they can be hauled right to the bank of the lake or stream, thereby eliminating long rides across open water. If you know where there is a good tree-top expanse of water you can drive up to the shoreline, slide the boat in the water, and with a small motor be in your fishing spot in a matter of minutes.

Water Sports Can Be Safe

Water sports are popular in America. Some 80 million Americans are participants. But before the summer is over more than 6,000 will not be around to enjoy life unless they follow water safety rules, points out Wayne Keese, a Texas A & M University agricultural engineer who also does a lot of work in the farm and home safety field.

Drownings, he explains, account for more than 6,000 fatalities each year in the nation and ranks fourth among the major death causing accidents. And, he emphasizes, the number of one-year olds leads all other age groups in the number of fatalities. Small children should never be permitted to play around water unless closely supervised.

About a third of the drownings occur while people are swimming or playing in the water and the other two-thirds result from falls into the water from docks, bridges or shores or while the person is fishing, boating or is engaging in non-swimming activities, says Keese.

A few simple rules could prevent many of the fatal accidents and the first rule, according to the engineer, is to know how to swim if you plan to engage in any type of water sport or activity. Learn to float, he adds, so you can rest in the water.

Know the area in which you swim. Swim with others and never alone. Learn how to give mouth-to-mouth respiration. If you are a novice at swimming, don't get in water over your head and don't go into deep water after dark.

Never engage in rough play in the water nor stay in the water during an electrical storm. Use the buddy system when swimming with groups and always wear a life preserver when boating or skiing, advises Keese.

If you have a farm pond, make it safe for swimming. Mark the swimming areas and post safety rules. Provide life saving devices such as a ring

A Savings Department For The Home Town

We have just purchased complete material for one of the best Savings Departments to be found anywhere and many of our friends are delighted with the prospect of never again having to leave home to obtain bank security and interest on money.

The accumulation of savings thus far will cost the bank about $18,000.00 each year as interest; in other words, $18,000 is being distributed within this area to people with savings in our bank and this money is to be added to the accumulations, the results of their own effort.

In addition to this Savings Department, our outside connections will permit us to obtain the highest rate of interest to be found anywhere and from this day on there should be no reason for going elsewhere to obtain interest on investments.

Please allow the personnel of The Winters State Bank to take care of all the banking needs of this area.
