"Collector's Fever" Said Caused By Fear of Inflation; Centuries Old

Babson Park, Mass., I doubt that there has ever been such a craze for collecting things as there is throughout the country today. Coins, old furniture, glassware, stamps, paintings, books, and many other articles are being bought and hoarded on an almost unbelievable scale. What is behind this scramble for collectors' items — why has it reached such a fever pitch?

INFLATION FEARS

It is my opinion that people have always loved collecting material things that have caught their fancy. History indicates this, especially through archaeological studies. But today it seems to be an extra incentive.

and I believe that it is a conscious fear of inflation. When you stop to think of it, inflation has been going on for longer than statistics have been available. It is punctuated by only temporary periods of deflation, then it resumes. So the assumption by most people that more inflation will come seems reasonable enough.

Even the most casual economic observer knows that money itself becomes less valuable intrinsically as the cost of the goods it will buy increases. Therefore many seem to feel that if they start hoarding some articles these are going to be worth more in terms of dollars in days to come and they will be better off than if they hoarded the dollars themselves. You probably wonder whether I believe in such collecting as a type of hedge against possible future declines in the purchasing power of the dollar. The answer "Yes — If your collecting is done with intelligence, restraint and know how."

WHAT ARE THE SAFEST BETS?

Antiques always make a good investment, but you must know what you are doing. Avoid stuffed furniture, for example, books that may be old but otherwise undistinguished, most of the ancient prints that adorned living-rooms in earlier years, and stamps of foreign nations that have been turned out pretty much for the collecting trade, and so on. For a start in antique furniture, it is still a good idea to check up on things that may have come down to you as a family heirloom. Sift the junk in your attic, or on your family farm.

Keep an eye out for fine mahogany furniture, Sandwich glass pieces, early costume jewelry, articles of gold or silver, old coins, and U. S. stamps. Even a broken-down article of furniture is often valuable after it is restored, particularly if the wood is fine and the piece is of the right period. Restorers of antiques can usually replace a missing part. Take any doubtful glassware to an expert; it may be only a copy . . . but it could be Sandwich glassware, and it is always valuable.

BE SELECTIVE

Amateur coin collectors now number in the millions, and they will often buy up freshly minted coins at a foolish premium. A perfect example of this is the recent withdrawal of Kennedy half-dollars by hoarders. So many have been issued that they will never be any more valuable unless the price of silver is allowed to go so high that it would be worth while to melt down any silver coins, — something the government will certainly try to avoid. Keep a few contemporary coins in mint condition if you have a large-scale collection; but pay greatest attention to historic coins that can never be minted.

Foreign stamps are not usually worth very much; the exceptions are rare. But U. S. stamps in good condition and of sought-after issues should always be worth money. If you have some interesting early U. S. stamps, you can get an idea of their value by consulting a stamp catalog at your library. Or you could seek professional advice, but be sure your man is responsible and honest.

CONCENTRATE ON IRREPLACABLE THINGS

There is one basic rule to remember when assembling certain things to hold as inflation hedges: Concentrate on items which can never be increased in supply. An astute collector or dealer recognizes that there will never be any more old U. S. coins, Sandwich glass, genuine Heppelwhite furniture, — or, for that matter, waterfront property or underground natural resources.

Babson Park, Mass., Water, an absolute necessity for life, is close to the universal solvent. All the elements in the earth's crust are dissolved in rain water then carried to the sea.

Raw Materials From The Sea

Because of the solvent action of water, a cubic mile of average sea water contains enormous quantities of the elements — all the way from 4 billion tons of oxygen, which sustains fish life, to 9 hundred-millionths of a radon, the radioactive gas from radium. My associate, Prof. Howard O. Stearns, provides the following data: Per cubic mile of sea water there are 89 million tons of chlorine, 49 million tons of sodium, 6 million tons of magnesium, 4 million tons of sulfur, 306,000 tons of bromine, 235 tons of iodine, and so on to 38 pounds of gold. When inland seas evaporated in past geologic ages they left large deposits of the salts of these elements. In Stassfurt, Germany and Midland, Michigan, deposits have yielded a wealth of magnesium and potassium salts — the latter used for fertilizer.

The principal elements man has extracted from sea water are bromine and magnesium. Plants are located on peninsula rials, and also substances used in commerce. Algin is such a substance, used in place of gelatin and for such diverse purposes as waterproofing concrete and fireproofing wood. Seaweed products make machine belts, sausage skins and tooth brushes.

Formation Of Ice — Fluoridation of Water

Water expands as it freezes, whereas most substances do not. Because of this and because the maximum density of water occurs at a temperature of 39 degrees Fahrenheit, life as we all know it has been able to develop on earth. Water which is cooled to a temperature below 39 degrees stays on the surface of lakes, ponds, and rivers, so that when the water begins to freeze at 32 degrees F. the top layer freezes first. This makes it possible for marine life to exist in the 39 degree water under the ice.

There is of course, no such thing as pure drinking water. At best, it is merely harmless. There are many waters used for drinking that contain most of the desirable minerals, others do not. All waters contain some fluorine. If the concentration is below a few parts per million, teeth — particularly children's teeth — develop cavities. Where concentration is even ten times that recommended by the U. S. Department of Health, no harm has been found to result to the teeth; at higher concentrations, however, some mottling may occur.

Fresh Water From Sea Water
There are thousands of square miles of the surface of the earth where life is not now possible. If fresh water could be produced economically from sea water, irrigation would make these habitable.

Distillation sea water is a simple but expensive method of desalting sea water. The U. S. Navy has devised a method of boiling water under reduced pressure. The vapor is then compressed, forcing it to condense. The heat of condensation is used to evaporate more water, so that only a relatively small amount of additional energy is needed to operate the plant. Another method utilizes ion-exchange membranes. These are inexpensive plastics containing ion-exchange chemicals. As water flows by these membranes, electricity causes the minerals to remain on one side and the fresh water on the other. It is quite possible that ion exchange, combined with nuclear energy, may some day transform the face of the earth.

Food From The Sea

Fish is the principal food from the sea. The annual weight of fish taken from the world's waters is some 40 million tons. Tiny fish, herrings and sardines, eat the surface plankton formed from single-celled organisms. The larger fish, however, eat the smaller ones. Sharks, eat the most voracious of all, devour fish from their own size on down. In addition to vertebrate fish there are crustaceans (lobsters and crabs) and shell fish (oysters and clams).

Seaweeds contain food mate-

Deer's Teeth, Not Antlers, Tell the Age

The November issue of Texas Game and Fish, the official publication of the Parks and Wildlife Department, should be a popular one with deer hunters. It contains several very informative articles spiced with data based on research which answers ancient questions about aging deer.

"Age of a deer is not determined by tooth replacement as it is in sheep and goats," explain Rodney Marburger and Jack Thomas, two Parks and Wildlife Department biologists who authored "A Tale of Teeth," in the magazine along with B. D. Loving, a biology technician. A deer's age is determined "by wear on the jaw teeth."

As a deer grows older, certain portions of its teeth are worn enough to show definite differences from the teeth of other age classes, report the biologists.

Nancy McGowan, famed wildlife artist with the Department, simplifies the trick of "teeth aging" deer with some of her excellent illustrations.

"Age is not determined by antler formations or development formations or development and you should not allow this to throw you off course," warn the authors. "The primary factor governing antler formation is food supply and not age. As deer grow older and their teeth wear flatter, food becomes harder and harder to chew. Body condition will drop and simultaneously, so will antler development."

Exempt Licenses Cover Young, Old

Who hunts deer and for how much — license-wise that is — creates the usual curiosity this time of the year, according to J. B. Phillips, coordinator for law enforcement for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Persons under seventeen years of age and over sixty-five years of age may hunt deer free but they must have exempt licenses, said Phillips.

Likewise persons who hunt deer on land they actually live on, may hunt free but they too need an exempt license, he added.

A hunting license, covering small game and big game as well, costs the non-exempt $3.15.

89 Percent Of Qualified Voters Went To The Polls In Texas Nov. 3

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

A post-election review of the statewide voting totals shows that only 89 per cent of the 3,100,000 Texans who were qualified to vote actually made it to the polls on November 3.

Total number of ballots cast — 2,760,788.

Not all of those who went to the polls voted in all the races. In Travis County, for instance, 3,461 of the 67,419 who cast ballots failed to vote in the presidential race. Elsewhere around the state, 52,304 Texans who voted in the governor's race did not vote on the lieutenant governor's race, which placed next on the ballot.

Highest vote getter, in this election and in Texas history, was Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. He racked up 1,901,038 votes. Gov. John Connally was next with 1,877,137. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith was third, with 1,833,747.

LAWMAKERS TAKE OATH
All 42 freshmen in the 150-member House of Representatives already have taken the oath that makes them State officials. They started drawing their $4900 a year salary the day of their oath-taking.

Thirty-three took the oath jointly in the special swearing-in ceremony. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith participated, along with the House Speaker Byron Tunnell and Secretary of State Crawford Martin.

Freshmen legislators who did not come to the Capitol were sworn in at home by local judges. Many did so for sentimental reasons.

TRAIN HEARING SET
Right after the order was issued allowing the Texas and Pacific Railroad to discontinue two passenger trains that ran between Fort Worth and El Paso, the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company filed a request with the Railroad Commission to discontinue two of the trains in West Texas.

Company said it wants to stop service of passenger trains Nos. 77 and 78 between Brownwood and San Angelo because Railway Post Office service was halted on them September 26. Company said governments failure to renew the postal contract will increase the railroad's already substantial net annual "out-of-pocket deficit" by more than 75 per cent.

Hearing on the application will be held in the Tom Green County Courthouse on January 14.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES
Attorney General Carr branded unconstitutional a section of the tax law providing for cigarette tax payments to the State Treasurer.

He noted that the law calls for the treasurer to ship cigarette stamps, or a set meter for use in stamping cigarettes, with out receiving payment in advance.

Carr declared it improper lending of state credit. Thousands of dollars are lost under present practices, he said.

The Attorney General also ruled that a county commissioner's court does not have authority to prescribe office hours for a county official holding a constitutionally-created post.

Opinion stated that a county official may close his office on Saturdays without consent of the commissioners court, because no provision in the statutes or constitution requires county offices to be open to the public for any specific time other than for a "reasonable time."

COURTS SPEAK
Texas Supreme Court heard arguments in the Trinity River Authority's suit to force the attorney general to validate its $48,500,000 interim bond issue for land purchase and construction of the Livingston Reservoir.

On September 8 the City of Houston contracted for 70 per cent of the reservoir water, estimated at 1,200,000,000 gallons a day. Money from city payments would finance bonds.

High court refused to change lower court rulings against the City of Carrollton's suit seeking to regulate Southwest State Telephone Company rates covering optional direct-dialing telephone service with Dallas.

EAGLE PASS CASE POSTPONED

J. W. Edgar, state education commissioner, postponed show-down hearings in an explosive Eagle Pass School District controversy until December 7 after listening to two more days of testimony.

Controversy involves the firing of Supt. J. I. James last spring, the hiring of W. T. Poulos of Odessa, and subsequent rehiring of James and the ouster of Poulos following April 4 elections.

Attorneys for a citizens group here sharply questioned James about a variety of school finance accounting and administrative practices. Poulos' appeal was heard last June 29-30. James apparently will get his turn to tell his side of the story at the third session with Dr. Edgar.

As many as nine attorneys have participated in the hearings.

RECEIVERSHIP SUIT FILED
J. N. Nutt, State Insurance Commissioner, instituted the first receivership of any significant size in recent months when he initiated proceedings against Great American County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Lufkin.

Dist. Judge Herman Jones of Austin granted the State's application for temporary receivership. This was followed by resignation of several of the company's officers.

Nutt estimated that about 3,000 policies were active at the time court proceedings began.

HIGHEST STATE BUDGET PROMISED

Governor Connally says that his state budget proposals will be "a good many million dollars" higher than the present spending level.

He is "hopeful" that new taxes can be avoided, but is "not prepared to say there will be none."

Connally covered a wide range of subject matter in a press conference.

—He regretted closing of a few Texas military bases but commented that the action has to be "understood as the price we pay for change, for knowledge and for leadership."

—He applauded creation of a Lyndon B. Johnson State Park in Gillespie County as "an excellent idea" and said he hopes the state eventually can acquire the Johnson home itself as an historic landmark.

—Moving his own inauguration date from January 19 to January 26 is "entirely satisfactory" with him. The later date would permit more Texans to attend his swearing-in ceremony, a Democratic Victory Dinner in Austin, and the President's inauguration (January 20) in Washington.

WATER PLANNING

Cong. Joe Kilgore of McAllen will head an advisory committee of the Texas Water Commission. Committee will draft a new long-range water planning program.

A series of water conferences already are underway in Austin. Four groups of water users are being called in for comments, suggestions and help. They are the state, federal and local water agencies; the cities; the industrial and oil-gas groups and the largest group, users of water for irrigation.

Chief Engineer John Vander-tulip is outlining to the four groups a program for developing a water plan to meet Texas' growth needs to the year 2020.

Plans will be ready by the fall of 1966, if the Legislature provides the money recommended by Governor Connally.

SENIOR CITIZENS' INSURANCE

At the end of its first year of operation, the Texas 65 Health Insurance plan—authorized by the 1964 Legislature for persons over age 65—reported that benefit payments totaled more than $2,549,000 during the year.

Although 59,917 persons signed up during two enrollment periods, officials estimate that deaths and other causes brought the total registration down to 40,000 by the year's end. Sixty-four companies in the state participate in the non-profit program designed to "provide low cost coverage for those Texans who previously were unable to purchase health insurance because of their age or health status."

Average age of present participants is 73 years.

POLLUTION RULING

State Water Pollution Control Board is appealing a ruling by Judge Herman Jones held in a Superior Oil Company suit against the State, that the Railroad Commission has exclusive jurisdiction over disposal of oil and gas field waste.

Under the ruling the Water Pollution Control Board does not have authority to issue orders with regard to the use of open unlined salt water disposal pits designed to handle oilfield waste.

Earliest method of plating gold on a base metal was by using an amalgam of gold and mercury.

She was living with her son at the time. In the search, some 300 navy personnel, using bloodhounds, looked for her, but the underbrush was so dense they did not find the body until a week ago. Deer-hunters found the body, and it was shipped to Leonard, her childhood, for burial.

Screwworm Eradication Plans Told

Eradication workers are plotting their strategy for combating screwworms this winter which they hope will eliminate the threat of reinfestation of the United States by the livestock pest in 1965.

Their plan is to release all available sterile screwworm flies up to 200 miles or more below the international border along both east and west coasts of Mexico where large numbers of native screwworms live throughout the winter. Sterile males mate with native females and prevent reproduction. This action is expected to weaken Mexican screwworm colonies which form the principal threat to the Southwest and slow the northward migration of the insects next spring.

Eradicators' ability to carry out this plan hinges on whether the number of screwworm cases in Texas can first be brought to an absolute minimum. If screwworms persist in Texas, it will require diverting sterile flies, airplanes and manpower from the task of strengthening the barrier zone in Mexico to fighting small, but costly, outbreaks in Texas.

Each infestation in Texas costs approximately 1750 to treat with sterile flies, field inspection and spray. For the same amount of money, one million sterile flies could be dispersed in Mexico where they would help protect against reinfestation from the south in 1965.

A mild winter, which would allow screwworms to survive and build up in numbers in much of the southern part of the state, would be particularly harmful to the program, authorities said. They fear stockmen may stop looking for screwworm because of the low number of cases experienced this year and the prospects of cold weather ahead.

Success of their strategy, will depend on farmers and ranchers detecting and reporting the screwworm infestations before they can multiply, so that emergency treatment can be provided. Treatment of animal wounds with smears is also called for to ward off screwworm attack.

Farm and Ranch Loans

We have an arrangement with our New York connection through which we are prepared to make farm and ranch loans on very attractive and liberal terms. The interest rate is as low as the lowest, the repayment privilege is most attractive and the time element in permitting the loan to run permits the borrower to make the annual payments even in lean years. We have been making these loans for about ten years and many have expressed their appreciation for placing at the disposal of those who may need farm or ranch loans this opportunity to borrow on such liberal and attractive terms. We do not want to encourage people to borrow money unnecessarily but where the needs are in evidence and a real estate loan may be to their advantage we shall welcome an opportunity to discuss the liberal terms of this arrangement.

Please come in any time for the purpose of talking to us about the advantage of these loans.

President Johnson Brings Wide Attention to Austin, Texas

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

International attention came to Austin as Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson carried on the nation's business while resting from his campaign.

President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico flew in for informal discussions and the LBJ ranch. President and Mrs. Johnson arranged a barbecue in appreciation of the strong support given his candidacy by Americans of Mexican ancestry.

Latin-American leaders from Texas, New Mexico, California, Kansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana were invited to the affair. Heaviest representation came from the cities of South Texas where huge LBJ majorities were rolled up.

Top business leaders from Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, and Los Angeles also were on the select list of guests. All were entertained by Milton Berle, Eddie Fisher and Gene Autry. Also by Clint Harlow's sheep-dog troupe and a bevy of Mexican musicians and singers.

There was talk of a possible change in a cabinet post vital to Texas — that of secretary of agriculture.

If Orville Freeman should be named senator from Minnesota to replace Vice President-elect Hubert Humphrey, Johnson may choose a secretary for Texas. Among those considered to be on the list are Dolph Briscoe Jr., Uvalde rancher, and Sterling C. Evans, Houston farmer and rancher who heads the Texas A. and M. University board of directors.

Late Inaugural
Gov. John Connally may have a late inauguration.

Ceremonies likely will be postponed from January 19, when he normally would take oath of office, to January 26.

Postponement, ramrodded by the State Democratic Executive Committee, is aimed at helping Texans arrange their schedules so they can attend inauguration ceremonies for both President Johnson and Governor Connally.

Presidential inauguration is fixed at January 20 and thousands of Texans plan to attend. Many prominent political figures would have to pass up Connally's swearing-in to reach Washington on time for Johnson's ceremonies.

Besides, the President wants the Governor and Mrs. Connally there.

SDEC will call on members of the Legislature to co-sponsor a joint resolution to postpone the governor's inauguration.

If a majority of lawmakers sign, the Texas inaugural committee will go ahead with its plan to push back the Connally swearing-in date. A vote of the Legislature would make the change official after lawmakers convene here on January 12.

Texas constitution provides that the governor shall be installed on the first Tuesday after organization of the Legislature, "or as soon thereafter as practicable."

Courts Speak

Supreme Court agreed that, to protect the public, the State Department of Public Safety has full authority to suspend driver licenses of motorists found to be habitual traffic violators.

A November 25 hearing was set by the Supreme Court on a suit by Trinity River Authority to force the state attorney general to approve a $42,000,000 bond sale to finance construction of Livingston Dam. Houston voters approved the issue 4-1. Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trials in San Antonio and Houston murder convictions in line with a U. S. Supreme Court Mandate. Its opinion suggested new guidelines for passing on admissibility of confessions. Trial judges now must hold special hearings where a question exists as to whether a confession was voluntary. They may exclude confessions from a trial or withdraw them from jury consideration if they find that all evidence tends to indicate the confession was not voluntary.

An Austin district court denied an injunction sought by House of Tobacco Inc. of Houston to get back its state permit to distribute cigarettes. Comptroller R. S. Calvert cancelled the permit after the firm's operator was charged with cigarette tax irregularities.

Slant Wells Suits

Filing of two civil penalty suits in the 53rd District Court in Austin, for alleged slant-well activity, were made by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

First to be filed against were J. C. Stroud and W. V. Stroud, both of Rusk County, and G. M. Jordan of Kilgore. Suit involves one well in Rusk County.

Named as defendants in the second suit were the Strouds and M. M. Harding of Kilgore. Second suit involves two wells in Rusk County.

AG Opinions

Attorney General Carr ruled that it would be legal for a commissioners court to buy a helicopter for the county sheriff, if there is enough money in the right funds.

He held that a sheriff may buy any equipment he needs to do his work, but it's up to the commissioners court to decide whether a helicopter comes under "reasonable" expenses.

Carr also determined that, under a treaty clause, a Mexican consul stationed in Texas and bringing in liquor for use by consular officials, is not bound by the liquor import restrictions (quart per person) applying to Texas citizens.

He concluded that the State Parks and Wildlife Commission has the right to prohibit deer hunting on state-owned dry river beds of Dimmit, Uvalde, and Zavala counties.

Connally First

Governor Connally was the first Texan to participate in the 1964 Census of Agriculture of the U. S. Department of Commerce. He filled out a census form concerning his ranch operation near Floresville.

Agricultural resources census has been taken every five years since 1840. Data is confidential and can be used only for statistical purposes.

Bank Hearings Set

State Banking Board set hearings for November 24 on applications for charters by the proposed Northline State and Western State banks in Houston, the Jacinto City Bank at Jacinto City and the Comroe Bank and Trust Company in Comroe.

November 25 hearings were set for the proposed Mercantile Bank and the Stella Link State Bank in Houston.

Carr To Washington

Attorney General Carr made the latest in a series of appearances before the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington, D. C., this week when he argued for the State of Texas in the hearing on the John William Sanford Jr. versus the State.

Stanford is the San Antonio who was ordered last December by the Subversive Activities Control Board in Washington to register as a Communist. He is appealing that order in another court.

Appeal Carr is working on involves Stanford's protest that State officials illegally searched his house and took some 2,000 items, including personal effects, without lawful cause.

Hunting Season Hints

Parks and Wildlife Department has prepared a new hunting digest. It includes a Texas hunting map which shows where to hunt what and when. The digest, available at most places, where hunting licenses are issued, also is available, free, by writing the department in Austin.

Parks and Wildlife Department is advising hunters to fill out their deer tags carefully and attach securely to the deer killed.

Short Snorts

Highway Commission Chairman Herb C. Petty Jr. told the 800-plus delegates to the Texas Public Employees Association convention in Austin that they have 10-million bosses — namely all the citizens of Texas.

State Selective Service Director Col. Morris S. Schwartz announced that the state draft quota for December is only 280, compared to 307 in November.

State's General Revenue Fund still is $22,400,000 in the black.

State Board of Education voted 14-6 to place the protested biology textbooks on the list from which local districts can choose texts.

State Savings and Loan Com. James O. Cerst turned down application for a new savings and loan association at DeSota in Dallas County.

District Judge Herman Jones of Austin upheld the State Banking Board in granting a charter to a new bank at Yorktown in DeWitt County.

Jack Cox, who has campaigned for congress, governor and U. S. senator, now is Executive Vice President of the South Padre (Island) Investment Corporation with offices here.

Wild Turkeys On the Move

Bert Iverson, game warden at Albany, reported turkeys have started their fall shuffle. They are moving from their summer or nesting range into wintering area in Throckmorton and Shackelford Counties. In one area Iverson estimated 400 turkeys have assembled into one large roosting location which has been used since before the time of the Indians. This flock of turkeys is composed of approximately fifty per cent this year's hatch or young turkeys.

"This is a very good indication that we will have a very successful season," said Iverson.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

By Verrill Sanford

Speeds Nighttime Docking

Reflecto tape wrapped around poles on your boat dock will make docking your craft much easier after dark.

Scope Protector

A two-inch-wide band cut from an old rubber inner tube makes fine scope protection.

Snap the band over the ends of the scope. It will keep water and dirt off lenses and may be removed quickly.

Waterproof Match Box

Quick way to make up a supply of waterproof matches for the field is to put matches in an empty .30-30 cartridge case, then push the open end of the shell into a plug of paraffin to seal it.

Untangling Backlashes

That crochet needle you see in your buddy's tackle box is not a sign that he has flipped. He uses it to dig out really bad backlashes.

Works great too!

Hairpin Sinker Holder

Clip sinkers onto your line through a woman's hairpin. If the sinker gets hung on the bottom, a slight pull will open the wire, leaving the sinker behind. But you can rescue the rest of the rigging.

Rubber Snubber

Here's how to keep bait-casting reels free from snarls and tangles when transporting or storing them:

Cut a strip of rubber out of an old inner tube. Then cut a hole in each end. Slip one end over the rod butt or the reel seat; the other end over the reel handle.

Tension holds everything in place.

Improvised Lure

For catching bluegills and other small fish, improvise a lure by wrapping a pipe cleaner around a long-shank hook. Nifty on a fly rod, or even a spinning rod when a split-shot sinker is added to the line.

Quiets Safety Chain

Stop the safety chain on your boat trailer from rattling by slipping a section of garden hose over it.

Handy Handle

Tie a bell-shaped sinker, a small one, on the zipper of your hunting jacket and you won't have to remove gloves to open or close.

Protects Reel and Line

Tie a plastic bag over your reel before you store it away. Keeps dirt out, oil in.

Cooling Sensation

If you have no cool water in camp, you can achieve the same effect by chewing a peppermint lifesaver, then drinking the water. Gives a cooling sensation.

Blocks Lint

If you want to seal a shotgun barrel from lint after oiling, put an empty shell of appropriate size in the breech, then insert a cork in the muzzle.
