HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

With all the hullabaloo about kicking out of Texas of the Poll Tax payment requirement, and the arguments which continue between factions in the State on the merits of annual voter registration on one side and permanent registration on the other side, it would seem that people would have worked up enough interest by this time to have caused a record turnout at the registration desk.

But such is not the case—at least locally. The same pattern which has been followed in the past, when payment of Poll Taxes was the requirement for qualification for voting, seems to be the pattern of action now. Then some people still seem to be confused about the whole matter, as they were last year when the Poll Tax was still in effect. Anyway, up to the middle of this week only about 90 persons had registered in the Winters county tax office branch.

Officials are reminding prospective voters that they must call at the tax office and register—the same as they did when the Poll Tax was in effect. Only now they will not have to pay a fee. And officials are warning that January 31 is the deadline for registration; after that date, the same as in Poll Tax days, people who did not register will not be allowed to vote in any election during 1967.

This is a "off" year insofar as national, state and county elections are concerned... providing there are no special elections called for some reason or other. There may be one reason interest in the registration process remains shallow. But it cannot be over emphasized that, in fact, this year, even if it is an "off" year, will be as important electionwise as any other year. Because there will be elections all during the year in which voters may want to participate. First, school district elections; then city elections. Then we never know when some sort of special precinct, city or county election may be called to answer some sort of question or to fill some office.

It would be best not to be caught napping and have an election slip up on us; it would be best to get that registration business taken care of before the deadline date. If we don't do that, then we can just sit back and watch the people who properly qualify themselves make the decisions which affect us all. In that case, we would not have a leg to stand on in protesting or approving anything which happened to transpire at the polls; we would have lost our franchise.

The young people who will exhibit livestock at the Junior Livestock Show here Saturday have spent many months and no little amount of money in feeding and caring for and grooming their animals in preparation for this showing—and later shows they may enter. So they will appreciate a showing of interest by the community, expressed by a wide attendance at the show.

The workings of the United Nations are a mystery to most people. If past reports are correct, members who do not agree with some of its policies can simply refuse to pay their share of the cost and still retain their right to vote, and the United States will pick up the tab.

According to a report, the United Nations has given up on its attempt to cut costs by making top diplomats travel economy class in flying to and from the General Assembly.

An African envoy is quoted as saying: "It is completely unrealistic that an ambassador who lives and entertains on a diplomatic scale should be expected to travel like an ordinary tourist." One wonders if his country has paid its full share of the UN budget.

Many a United States taxpayer and tourist has to fly economy class to help pay for luxury accommodations for free riders from foreign nations. Our old friend out on Bluff Creek says that if this continues, it might just end up with many of us having to "thumb it" while watching the so-called "underdeveloped" member nations of the UN scoot around the world in solid comfort.

PC Volunteers' "Home" Is Example For Local Teachers In Tanzania

By BILL PUMPHREY
One day I was summoned to my house by the head-teacher and I was shocked to find him and some area government officials there. He was showing them my house and said that it was how all the teachers' houses should look. A short time later, all teachers' houses were painted, repaired and had new ceilings installed. Our improvements had benefitted all the teachers.

Because our houses were fixed up, the government did not have to buy paint or boards for us. Instead, they built us a concrete bathtub in Jim's store-room. The tub, something like an indoor pool, is about 3'x8'x3'. This past weekend we built a hot water heater from a 44-gallon oil drum. With hot water readily available, we only lack for electricity to be part of the affluent Great Society.

In addition to the above-mentioned "luxuries" Jim and I have installed a speaker system between our two houses so that he can listen to my radio. By accident, we discovered that our speaker system can also be used as an intercom system. Because of such affluence our friends have dubbed our homes "Little America."

Despite our apparent high standard of living our homes would appear most modest to you all. The Peace Corps does not require that we make such improvements but we feel our efforts have benefitted ourselves and our school. "Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home."

Meeting January 12 To Discuss Proposals For Twin-City Dam

Members of the Runnels County Water Authority and other business and civic leaders of Runnels County will meet at the courthouse in Ballinger next Thursday, January 12, to discuss proposals and examine possibilities of construction of a dam for a lake to serve both Winters and Ballinger and perhaps other communities in the county.

The Water Authority is sponsoring the meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p. m.

J. S. (Slats) Bourn of Winters, a member of the Water Authority board, has said that a lake located in a strategic part of the county could provide water for Winters and Ballinger, and could be the answer to a problem of adequate water supply which will face both towns in the near future.

As proposed after preliminary surveys, a dam could be constructed on Elm Creek, below the intersection of Bluff and Elm Creeks in about the center of the county. The proposed dam site is east and slightly south of Hatchel.

Such a dam would confine water from the two main creeks in this section of the county, with backwater reaching to the Winters Country Club, Bourn said, and would provide a suitable supply of water for future growth of the two towns.

Winters' present lake is located on Elm Creek in the north section of the county, with Ballinger's old lake located on the same creek in the south section.

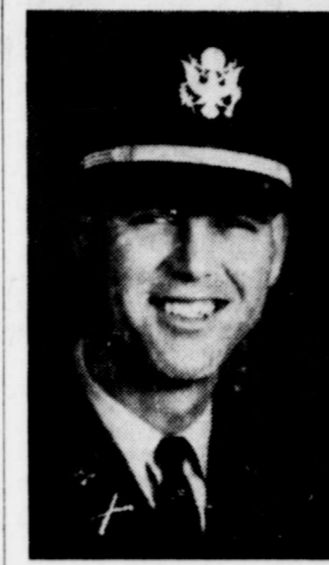

Tools, Cigarettes And Cash Taken In Station Breakins

Burglars took more than $300 in cash, merchandise and tools from two filling stations in Winters sometime Monday night, Chief of Police Joe Stevens reported Tuesday morning.

Mike Zuniga's Humble Station on North Main Street was entered through a rear window, and about $200 in hand tools, a transistor radio were taken, in addition to about $30 in cash and cigarettes from a vending machine. Burglars also took about $10 in cash from a cash drawer, police said.

A rock was thrown through the glass of the front door of Carl Grenwelle's Texaco Station, also on North Main Street, allowing entry. About $40 in cash and cigarettes was taken from a vending machine, and about $30 from a cash drawer. Police are investigating the breakins.

Police Chief Stevens said Winters otherwise experienced a quiet holiday season, with only one minor accident being reported, and little other disturbance noted.

This year's show, set to begin at 9 a. m. in the livestock barn area on the north edge of the Winters school complex, promises to be one of the best ever for young livestock exhibitors from the Winters and Wingate school districts, spokesmen for the Winters Livestock & Agriculture Association, have said. They said much interest has been kindled among the young exhibitors and residents and backers of the show. The Livestock & Agriculture Association sponsors the annual show.

Officials of the show are planning for approximately 24 calves, 98 lambs and 95 pigs. Merchants and individuals of the community will contribute the prize money.

Judges for the show will be Larry Osbourn of Abilene, calves; Overt Sageveil of Wall, lamb division; and J. G. Healt of Anson, swine division.

awards, a showmanship award will be made in each of the three divisions of the show. The awards will go to the youngster in each division who is judged to have done the best job of exhibiting his animal in that division.

There is no entry fee charged exhibitors in the show. Any boy or girl is eligible who is a student of the Winters or Wingate schools, or through invitation from the Winters Livestock & Agriculture Association. Rules provide that animals must have been personally fed and cared for by exhibitors, under the supervision of the vocational agriculture teacher of the Winters School, Jimmy Smith, or the county agent, C. T. Parker and his assistant, Robert Reich.

Members of the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Clubs alternate each year in running the concession stand during the livestock show. This year, the 4-H Clubs will be in charge of the stand, and will offer a barbecue plate and drinks at noon.

Supt. Christian Attending Meeting Of Administrators

Robert F. Christian, superintendent of Winters Independent School District, was one of some 1500 administrators throughout the State of Texas to register for what probably was the biggest meeting ever of the School Administrators Advisory Conference, held in Austin Wednesday through Friday, January 4-6.

Delegates to the eighteenth annual conference included administrators from public, private, and parochial schools, and colleges and universities, as well as county school superintendents.

The Texas Education Agency annually sponsors the conference so delegates can discuss new educational programs, and review and improve procedures used by the Agency in its relations with local public schools.

Also known as the Mid-Winter Conference, the annual get-together provides a two-way communication between school administrators and Agency staff members and gives the administrators an opportunity for exchanging ideas.

Fourteen topics for work group sessions filled the conference calendar on Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

School Census Will Begin On January 9th

The annual census of all scholastics for the Winters Independent School District will begin on Jan. 9 and end Jan. 31. Johnny Bob Smith, school business manager, has announced.

Children to be included in the census are those who will be between the ages of 6 and 18 on Sept. 1, 1967. This includes all students living in the district whether or not they are enrolled in school at the present time, and any married people between this age.

Census slips will be sent home with each student in school and parents are asked to complete a census form for each child in the family.

Registration of all scholastics is necessary in order to determine state financial assistance and in setting up grade sections for the 1967-68 school year.

If parents or friends have or know of six-year-old children who should be enumerated in the current census, they are asked to notify the school immediately.

Winters' Comprehensive Plan Planners Envision Steady Increase In Population, Economic Growth

(Note: This is the first of a planned series of articles dealing with the Comprehensive Plan. Because of the immense scope of the Plan for the future development of Winters, it is impossible to include all phases in one article. Subsequent articles will cover additional parts of the Plan.)

A steady increase in the population of Winters and a sound economic growth is forecast by engineers-planners who have just completed a many-months-long study of all facets of the community. The planners are forecasting that by 1989, the population of Winters will be 5,897. This increase in population will be supported by and made necessary by an increase in basic industrial and resultant retail growth; forecasts are made after study of past experiences and of future probabilities.

The engineers-planners, Bryant-Curington, Inc., of Austin, made their final report on the Comprehensive Plan for Winters to the Winters City Council and other interested citizens at a meeting in the city hall last Thursday night. The engineering firm was employed about two years ago to make a study of Winters and to draw up plans which could be followed in future development of the town and community.

Not only have the planners predicted a steady population increase for Winters, but have come up recommendations for the city and commercial leaders to follow in order to accommodate this increase. Their recommendations cover every phase of city activity, from planning for search for additional water supply, additional water distribution systems and renovations of old systems, required sewer facilities to service this population increase, residential and industrial and commercial area planning, street and road routine. They even came up with a proposed plan which could be used to repair, rebuild and renovate sections of the business area of Winters in order to provide more attractive and convenient shopping and service centers to accommodate present and future populations.

The Comprehensive Plan for Winters was prepared by the engineering firm through the cooperation of the Texas State Department of Health, and financed in part through an urban

State Capital Highlights—

Money Matters and New Taxes Head "Worry List" of State Solons

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—Come Tuesday, Texas legislators will be back in session at the state capitol. Pressing money matters and certain new taxes head the "worry list" confronting the lawmakers. But a broad montage of other problems on the agenda promises an interesting, high-voltage session. It is sure to be one that will continue through the full 140-day period and may even go into extra innings.

Gov. John Connally in his "state of the state" message to the solons later this month will outline spending recommendations which will require more than $100,000,000 in new taxation. Included will be his own $911,500,000 budget.

Numerous tax proposals are expected to be offered. These include expansion on the sales tax, a one-cent-per-gallon boost in gasoline taxes, a franchise tax raise and many other proposals. Growing cities, with finance problems of their own, will occupy much of the Legislature's attention. Mayors will plug for one-per-cent local option city sales tax. (Governor Connally prefers a rebate of gasoline tax revenues for street purposes.)

While most legislators are prepared to vote for new taxes, few indicate they will support a $44,000,000 raise in state college tuitions.

Headline topics before lawmakers this year will include:

—Teacher pay raise—teachers want raises ranging from $61 to $100 a month. This would cost the state some $68,000,000 a year. A majority of lawmakers are committed to some form of increase. Connally is expected to recommend much less.

—Constitutional revision—the governor and the State Democratic Party advocate revision by convention. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith favors a more-cautious approach.

—Legalized sale of mixed drinks and horse racing.

—Annual legislative sessions.

—A long range plan for water pollution control.

—A 20-per-cent pay raise for all state employees.

—Driver safety legislation: increasing the minimum age for drivers to 16 and requiring periodic re-examination of all drivers.

Among other measures to be considered are: a minimum wage bill; an industrial safety act; increased workmen's compensation benefits; reconsideration of some provisions of the new code of criminal procedure; daylight saving time (should Texas accept it or pass a special act to retain standard time?) and a $75,000,000 bond-financed, 12-year program advocated by the governor to acquire and develop new state parks.

LIQUOR SI, BETTING NO
An Associated Press survey of Texas senators and representatives indicates that while horse race betting again doesn't seem to have a chance in the 60th Legislature, legalized mixed drinks may.

In 1965 the Legislature let the horse-racing proposition die in a sub-committee. And the liquor-by-the-drink bill—which has been up in every session since World War II—was killed in committee.

Judging from its early answers to a questionnaire, AP concluded that mixed drinks have gained support, while betting seems to have lost some of its appeal. Some legislators said they would not vote for either issue and expect neither to pass. Both will again be hot issues.

On another section of the questionnaire, approximately three-fourths of the senators and representatives figured that new taxes will be in order for the 1967 session. But there was no unanimity as to what kind of taxes.

Only one senator—Henry Grover, Houston Republican—said he would vote for few or no more taxes. No member of the house said he would vote against new taxes. However, several legislators did say they were undecided.

GOVERNOR'S GARDEN

A statewide campaign has been launched for funds to convert the grounds around the Governor's Mansion into a garden area.

Mrs. Perry R. Bass of Fort Worth is chairman of the Mansion Subcommittee of the Texas Fine Arts Commission. She says plans for a formal rose garden with colonial arbors, a gazebo, pools and fountains framed and surfaced with brick patios and retaining walls.

Mrs. John Connally assisted a Dallas firm in drafting plans for the garden. Project was approved by the Fine Arts Commission and members of the Texas garden clubs have pledged their help with the fund-raising. Contributions may be mailed to Mrs. Connally at the Mansion in Austin.

The Mansion has been the official residence of Texas governors since 1856.

OATHS TAKEN

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin and several members of the judicial branch of Texas government had to work Sunday—they took their oaths of office at the Supreme Court Building on the Capitol grounds.

Judges John F. Onion, Jr., Wesley Dice and Ernest Belcher took their oaths as judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Dice and Belcher had served as commissioners to the court until a Constitutional amendment passed in November made the court a five-member body. Governor Connally is expected to name one of the five as chief justice this week.

Associate Justice John C. Phillips of the Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin took the oath of chief justice of that court.

APPOINTMENTS

Attorney General Martin has announced these heads of divisions within his office:

Enforcement: Bob Lattimore, Hidalgo County District Attorney.

Highways: Watson Arnold of Waco.

Bonds: John W. Fainter of Austin.

State and County Affairs: J. C. Davis (holderover).

Taxation: John Grace of Austin.

Insurance and Banking: Sam Kelly of Austin.

Oil and Gas: Houghton Brownlee Jr., of Austin.

Water Division: Roger Tyler of Austin.

Opinion Committee: Hawthorn Phillips of Harlingen.

STEVENSON HONOR DUE

A Texas historical marker will be erected in Junction soon honoring former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

Marker is the third in the "modern Texas statesman" series being erected by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Earlier markers commemorated public service of former Govs. William P. Hobby and Allan Shivers.

Stevenson, born March 20, 1880, was the first Texas governor to serve more than two terms (1941-47). He is a lifetime resident of Kimble county.

Group Life and Health Insurance Company of Dallas has asked a district court to rule who should receive the benefits of a $10,000 life insurance policy on the late Kathleen L. Whitman.

She was the wife of Charles J. Whitman, the UT Tower Sniper.

Mrs. Whitman was stabbed to death by her husband before he began his shooting rampage on August 1. Numerous claims have been filed against Whitman's estate as a result of his shooting spree. He had been named beneficiary under his wife's policy.

Insurance company is ready to pay but wants the court to say—to whom.

AIRPORT AID

Increased responsibility for responsibility for the development of Texas air-transportation systems will be placed on the state government, says Charles Murphy, director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

This because the federal government is reducing its aid.

Murphy made his statement after studying details of the federal aid program for 1967 as announced recently by the Federal Aviation Agency. Allocated was $72,500,000 in matching funds for improvements at 341 civil airports. That's $12,000,000 less than for 1966. Of that total $5,680,359 will be available to 29 cities and towns in Texas.

"It has been obvious for some time that the federal government will concentrate on giving assistance for the development of airports in cities that are linked with the national air commerce system and is withdrawing support from small cities that are not in the national air commerce plan," Murphy said.

BAYTOWN BANK ASKED

An application for a charter for a proposed Bank of Baytown has been filed with the Texas Department of Banking.

No date has been set for the hearing or for investigation of the application.

SHORT SNORTS

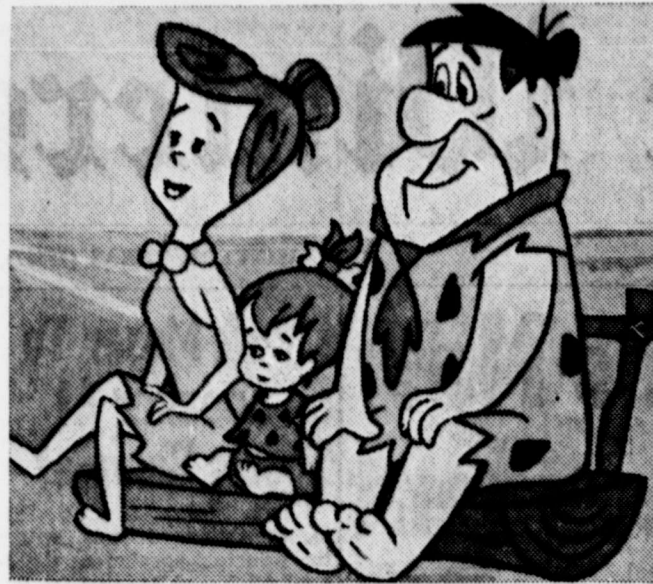

George Christian, White House press secretary and longtime aide to Governor Connally and former Gov. Price Daniel, is recuperating here from back surgery to correct an ailment from which he has long suffered.

Twenty-two prisoners on death row in Huntsville prison are under indefinite stays of execution on orders of federal courts, the Board of Pardons and Paroles reports.

U. S. Department of Agriculture said scattered rains recently relieved dry conditions in the eastern half of Texas, but more moisture is needed for small grains and winter pastures.

CARD OF THANKS

The power of prayer should never be underestimated. I firmly believe that the sincere and continued prayers of my friends and loved ones added to the faithful services and interest of my doctors brought me home. I wish I could personally express my gratitude to each of you for your gifts, flowers, visits, prayers, inquiries and constant interest in my welfare. My wife, Nola, and I will be remembering with love and gratitude our friends and hope if ever such a time comes to you we may be of similar blessing to you. Earl Cooke. 1tp

"The Man Called Flintstone" new full-length animated feature produced by Hanna-Barbera for Columbia Pictures release in color, stars Fred Flintstone, the Stone Age hero of television and the comics. With Fred in the super-spy adventure, which takes him to

★ MOVIES ★

"Born Free"

Joy Adamson's international best-seller about Elsa, the lion cub who grew up as a member of her own family, was an extraordinary literary sensation. Now, "Born Free," the Columbia Pictures and Carl Foreman presentation at the Theatre with Virginia McKenna and Bill Travers starred in Panavision and Columbia color, promises to be as extraordinary a motion picture as Mrs. Adamson's story was a book.

"Born Free" is a rare screen achievement, according to advance unique, dramatic and exciting. There is said to be suspense, humor and adventure, all against a background of breathless beauty. "Born Free" also is a love story, as Mrs. Adamson's readers know, and also present in the film is that wonderful affinity between the woman and the little lion she cares for like a baby, and helps raise to maturity.

"The Man Called Flintstone" —Fred Flintstone, television's

"Lady L." A highlight sequence of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Lady L.," starring Sophia Loren, Paul Newman and David Niven, is a birthday party celebrating Lady L.'s (Miss Loren) 80th birthday.

An ornate 200-pound cake, iced in red, white and blue, was created by Peter Gee, the confectioner who iced the Duke of Kent's wedding cake in 1961. It was adorned with an L for the Lendale family coat of arms, bearing the motto "Quid Proximus" ("What Next?").

Peter Ustinov, who directed "Lady L.," made one small stipulation in the otherwise correct party scene. Although the icing was real, the cake itself was made of wood.

"I didn't want a situation where all filming stopped because the cake fell to pieces," he said.

Recent Rise in Bond Market Is Giving Buyer Good Current Income

Babson Park, Mass. The other day we were talking with the partner of a large financial house. He said they had been looking for an experienced trader of bonds for better than a couple of months. A number of prospects were interviewed; but, long on ambition, they were very short on the chief qualification: experience. Back In Fashion Again Actually, it is no wonder that experienced bond men are scarcer than hen's teeth. Common stocks have been all the rage with the average individual investor ever since the end of World War II. . . and for a spell even before that. Banks, insurance companies, and some trustees were the only ones who had much interest in bonds. As a matter of fact, even they bought more from necessity than from their love of bonds. During the last big war, the Government and the Treasury, on the one side, and the Federal Reserve Board, on the other side, co-operated to keep interest rates low to hold down the huge expense of a soaring federal debt burden. This "accord" was highly inflationary. . . because every time the Fed bought bonds to support the bond market, it filled the banks fuller and fuller of loanable funds. At the end of the fifth decade, this accord was scrapped; interest rates started a long climb, and bonds went into a secular slump from which they have not yet emerged. Today, yields of 6 per cent on bonds are not hard to find, and these handsome returns have attracted buyers who never before bought bonds. In a word, bonds are back in fashion again!

But What About Inflation? With the exception of a short period toward the end of the 1950's, those who bought bonds during and after World War II have had a very bitter experience. First, most of the bonds purchased had low coupon rates . . . ranging from around 2 1/2 per cent to something over 4 per cent. Naturally, as interest rates moved higher, the older, lower-coupon-rate issues fell in price. Second, during most of this period, stock prices rose handsomely. . . making bonds look like a very poor second choice indeed. Third—and most damaging to the bond owner—prices for consumer goods climbed ever higher, so that the yearly interest received bought less and less and the purchasing power of the original investment.

The recent swift rise in the coupon rates on best-quality bonds - to 6 per cent and even higher - is giving the buyer a good current income and lessens the danger of any future fall in the prices of such issues. Many will tell you that the threat of inflation, of further advances in the cost of living, makes bonds still unattractive; but this fear may be unwarranted today. At present low quotations for many sound bonds, all their owner has to do is purchase them at a discount and hold them to maturity, thereby increasing his capital. This method of protecting against inflation was not available when 3 per cent bonds were selling close to 100. And the competition from stocks—even after their recent slump—is not very great, since many of the popular issues now yield only 3 per cent - 4 per cent.

There seems little doubt that Congress will raise all income taxes for 1967. Such action will make tax-exempt bonds more appealing than they are now. The Long View A review of the price movements of stocks and bonds over a long sweep of history indicates that popularity may ride with stocks for many years and then swing to bonds. Since 1949, bonds have been in the discard and stocks in the ascendancy. It is just possible that recent interaction between stocks and bonds may be making the foundation for the building of a new cyclical climb in bond prices.

Winters Library Begins 13th Year

January 4 marked the beginning of the thirteenth year for the Winters Public Library, a locally-supported library which has astounded library associations and groups about the state because of its unique beginning and continued successful operation.

Its uniqueness lies in the fact that the Winters Public Library has never received any amount of aid from Federal, State, County or City governments, and yet has continued to grow and prosper in the face of warnings that only libraries subsidized by such sources could survive.

Started as a personal and private project by Miss Myra Glover, with only about 200 donated books, the Winters Public Library now does a flourishing business, with about 6,000 books on the shelves, from its own building in the downtown area of Winters.

Since its beginning the library has been supported by donations and small family membership fees. Soon after the library was established in one corner of the Chamber of Commerce building, the Literary and Service Club and the Diversity Club began giving monthly contributions to help in its support. Soon other organizations joined the campaign, with the result that the library has continued to grow each year.

During the past year, 7,747 books were checked out of the library. Miss Glover, librarian, said. Many of the new books are constantly checked out.

The library is now promoted by an incorporated library association. Miss Glover, and members of the library board, have said that the future of the library looks bright since many people in Winters have become interested in the project. An expansion of the building is needed at present to accommodate readers. There is a large storage room which could easily be converted into a useful part of the library proper, and which is needed especially during the summer during special reading club programs promoted for the children of the community. Library board members are studying proposals to enlarge the shelving and reading areas.

Already, work is underway on planning next summer's reading program, Miss Glover said. These reading programs are designed to introduce the pleasure of reading to young people, and have been very successful in past seasons.

A group of teenagers works with the librarian and sponsoring organizations during the summer months in the reading program.

Rev. Virgil James officiated at the Saturday evening ceremony for Miss Florence Kay Rogers and Gary Reeves Hill at the Southside Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dula M. Rogers of 105 East Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hill, Route 4 of Drasco.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a formal length gown of chantilly lace featuring a moulded bodice and an empress neckline edged with natural lace scallops. A Watteau Train fashioned of chantilly lace complemented the controlled silhouette skirt.

Her finger-tip veil of accented net was attached to a headpiece of tiny seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis, and pom-poms entwined with blue satin ribbons.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ray Krueger, and Miss Carolyn Blount was maid of honor. They wore identically designed gowns of finished blue brocade. They carried bouquets of white carnations accented with satin streamers.

The Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Ogle of Jacksboro, and Miss Roxie Rogers of Winters, both sisters of the bride. They wore identically designed gowns of baby-blue brocade. Their bouquets were white carnations entwined with satin ribbons.

Teresa Krueger was flower girl. Her dress was designed of finished blue-brocade and she carried a basket of poppy and carnation petals.

Jim Krueger was ring-bearer. Candlelighters were Rhae Ann Krueger and Rhonda Rogers. Best man was Stan Hill, the bridegroom's brother. Grooms-men were Michael Hill, Ronald Hill, and Ray Krueger.

The reception immediately followed at the Church Fellowship Hall. The chosen colors, blue and white decorated the bride's table with an intriguing flower arrangement. Mrs. Troy Rogers, Mrs. Ronald Hill, and Mrs. Don Thomas assisted the bride by serving.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hill hosted the rehearsal dinner at Huffman House at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

IN KRUSE HOME

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kruse during the holidays were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Lucas, Cindy, Alan, Linda and Audrey Kay of Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. Drew Cromer, Diane and Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Splawn, Valerie and Greg all of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Kruse, Rodney, Debra and Roger.

City Plan--

that "population forecast is based on natural population increases, extensions of long term trends, and a variety of other factors." They pointed out, however, that it "has been recognized that the economic base and the resulting employment is probably the most important factor in attracting or losing population."

In their research, planners report they came up with figures indicating that the "total employment of 1,124 for Winters in 1964 supported a population of 3,496." That is, 3.11 persons were supported by each job. Indications are that increasing participation of women in the work force will be possible with increasing employment opportunities in manufacturing, trade and personal services. "An increasing participation of residents in the work force will lower the ratio of population to work force, and this figure is projected as 2.8 residents for each job in 1989." Accepting that there will be 2.8 residents for each of the 2,106 jobs projected for 1989, "the population of Winters for 1989 is forecast as 5,897."

To provide for this projected increase in population, planners included in their final report a map or drawing of the metropolitan area of Winters, and added what they forecast would be additions to the city.

LAND USE

The engineers suggested that sound planning is that which puts land to its most efficient and effective use. That is, planning for future population growth. Basis for such planning is an understanding of past growth and a knowledge of the existing physical structure of the community.

They pointed out that plans for future land use is not intended to be a "rigid mold into which all public and private activities are cast. It is intended to be a reasonable guide for those who serve or contribute to urban growth."

Planners said that "probably no other aspect of city planning so profoundly affects an urban area as the transportation network. To plan a city of the future without due consideration of mankind becoming a nation on wheels would mean chaos. Therefore, the city government must plan to meet the challenge of providing efficient modes and means of transportation for the future."

The central business district contains the major governmental, business, cultural, and entertainment developments in the city. Since it usually contributes the majority of taxes, it is ordinarily the most important area in the city, the planners said. Means of access to this area is of utmost importance, and engineers recommended street and road changes which would be most feasible under future circumstances. They also were concerned about parking facilities.

"Certainly no one owner or merchant can effectively develop his one small piece of property in such a way as to increase the necessary plentiful parking and inviting shopping environment," said the report. Working together and acting in reciprocity with the city government, however, the merchants and owners can reap the profits of an efficiently and economically operated shopping center located in the center of town.

SHOPPING MALL

Concentrating on the importance of attracting and keeping business flowing to retail and service concerns in Winters, the planners came up a revolutionary concept — described in many ways — "visionary," "the only answer," "Impossible to achieve," the idea is that certain sections of the Winters business section be converted to "shopping malls," with a block or two of streets blocked off from traffic and off-street parking facilities provided. In the discussion covering their suggestions for such a "shopping mall," the engineers presented some sound facts and reasons for the revolutionary idea: "The proposed pedestrian shopping mall is an attempt to create a shopping atmosphere that will not only be remembered and word-of-mouth. Its uniqueness is based on such factors as the profuseness of trees and shrubbery, the ease-of-access due to planned thoroughfare approaches and multiple through-block and rear-door pedestrian entrances to shopping areas, the ease-of-access to drive-in services located in the parking areas, plentiful parking, as well as the freedom of pedestrian circulation within the shopping area. It cannot be overstressed, though, that provision of the basic amenities is essential to the continuing return of shoppers." Along with these suggestions, engineers supplied drawings of such a "shopping mall." Also included with the report were drawings of suggested traffic arteries which would funnel traffic into the areas of the town. (Subsequent articles will deal with planning for sewer improvements, water supply and distribution and a capital improvements program.)

What people are saying about...
A CLEAN BREAK WITH THE PAST

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. McNutt and twin sons Larry and Barry of Quanah say, "We wouldn't change it! No hot spots in the summer, no cold spots in the winter, and no sweating of walls." Mrs. McNutt especially likes the cleanliness. "You may have a little dust but you don't have dirt with total electric living." Mr. McNutt "never complains about a bill." And why should he? A big 3-bedroom home where lively children play, cook and entertain, and where friends gather—and West Texas Utilities service charge for electricity, the only fuel used for all purposes in the home, averages $34.96 per month.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

As population increases the greater grows our pollution problem.

This is true of our outdoor areas, as well as our municipalities.

There was a time when we gave little thought to pollution around a lake. We built septic tanks with not too much caution. But then our nearest neighbor lived miles away.

Today that condition has changed.

Around most of our lakes today we have large communities. Sewage disposal is one of the biggest problems. Many communities are located in rocky country, where the runoff is not too good. The refuse finds its way into the lake.

Texas has no long, consistently flowing rivers or streams. There are times of the year when some of them are powder dry at many points. When these streams are down we have an opportunity to observe the type of pollution that takes place.

During a recent dry spell we had occasion to observe the condition of several stream beds. Old automobiles, refrigerators, worn out tires and many other kinds of debris were in the river beds and along the banks. These were dumped there by thoughtless citizens who wanted to rid their premises of the cluttering mess.

Most municipalities can put a stop to this type of pollution with existing ordinances. Unfortunately the higher courts are badly crippled by our state laws governing pollution and many of these laws are practically useless.

Apparently that won't be the case much longer. Now there is federal legislation which will permit the government to step in where local authorities fail to act.

The fight against pollution is basic. It affects all of us, not just those who hunt or fish, but every living person is within its sphere of influence.

When our streams pour contaminated water into the Gulf of Mexico it is harmful to our marine resources and costs us millions annually in loss of marine life. When our cities pour overflow of their sewer system into the streams, they are harming every person who is affected by that stream.

For the most part heavy industry is attempting to solve its pollution problems. Our paper mills, big refineries and others are taking precautionary action wherever possible to prevent polluted substance from getting into our lakes and streams.

Some of our smaller industries, however, are not so interested in the health and welfare of the people. A glaring example of that is within sight of the capitol dome in Austin. Here sand dredging companies run their wash water back into the Colorado.

Much of the time, the Colorado river water is the color of sand from Austin almost to the Gulf. Many downstream cities must use this water... and fish need oxygen to survive.

Our State Health Department and our Parks and Wildlife Commission work together to stop pollution in many places. Game wardens take numerous samples of water from many streams and the health department makes the analysis.

But the courts continue to be the stumbling block in many cases because the laws do not have enough teeth. And the legislature continues to bypass proposed bills that could rectify this problem.

This is a project local sportsmen's clubs and Chambers of Commerce might well promote. With enough local clean-up projects, the program could spread statewide and we could eliminate a great deal of the pollution that is harmful to every living thing.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration is better equipped to handle the housing credit needs of low and moderate income Runnels County families as a result of legislation recently signed into law, according to John Curry, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

Curry said the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act, signed last month by President Johnson, makes it possible for a broader range of Runnels County families to qualify for housing credits under expanded housing loan authorities of the Farmers Home Administration.

The new legislation, Curry continues, makes more mortgage credit available to low and moderate income families in Runnels County by increasing the level of activity of the agency's rural housing loan program.

Here are some of the other changes in the rural housing loan program administered by Runnels County Farmers Home Administration:

—Many Runnels County families who had to go the long route for planning, contracting and building a house can now buy newly constructing buildings. Before the new legislation, these families could only purchase previously occupied buildings.

—Qualified low-income families can now obtain housing credit from Farmers Home Administration on the basis of a cosigner. Previously, only those rural persons 62 years and older qualified for this assistance.

—The new legislation increases from $1,000 to $1,500 the maximum amount of assistance the agency can make for emergency repairs or improvements to owner-occupied rural housing or farm service buildings. This credit is not designed to upgrade a building but only to remove hazards to the health and the safety of the family and the community.

—Rural families on the verge of losing their homes through foreclosure may save their homes if a sound basis can be developed by the Farmers Home Administration to refinance their debts.

—Financial assistance can be given to construct rental housing for low and moderate income rural families of all age groups. Previously, rental housing financed by FHA had to be occupied by rural people, 62 years and older.

Loans by the Farmers Home Administration are made to Runnels County applicants who are unable to obtain credit they need from private lenders at reasonable rates and terms.

Applications for Farmers Home Administration rural housing loans may be made at the Runnels County office, 3rd floor County Courthouse, Ballinger, any Tuesday from 9:15 to 12:00 noon, or the Coleman Office, Room 601, County State Bank Bldg., Coleman, Monday through Friday of each week.

MRS. HARVEY MICHAEL JONES

Judith Lee Messamore, Dr. Harvey Michael Jones Wed In Austin Saturday

University Church of Christ in Austin was the scene of the wedding Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, uniting Judith Lee Messamore of Pottstown, Pennsylvania and Dr. Harvey Michael Jones.

The bride is the daughter of M-Sgt. and Mrs. L. Leroy Messamore of Kinchlee Air Force Base, Michigan. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Jones of Winters.

Officiating minister, Gene Patterson, Bible Chair Director at the Biblical Study Center of Austin, read the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with white mums and greenery, white Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra.

Charles Wilkes, sang "I Love You" to organ accompaniment. Sharon K. Bills of St. Louis was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Jo Ann Simon of San Antonio, cousin of the bride.

Attendants dresses were cranberry velvet, street length, designed with scoop neck, low in back with bow and streamers attached, empire waistline and three-quarter length sleeves. They wore white fur pill box hats and carried white fur muffins with corsage of red sweetheart roses.

Harvey D. Jones served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Robert Clayton Falls of Austin and Lt. Harvey E. Little of Norfolk, Virginia, cousins of the bridegroom.

Russell Barron, and Dr. Rodney Lloyd, both of Austin, seated the guests and lighted the candles.

In the absence of Sgt. Messamore, now on duty in Vietnam the bride's uncle, Hilmar Simon of San Antonio, presented her in marriage.

The bride wore an empire gown of rosepoint lace fashioned with scoop neck, bell sleeves sleeveless coat of satin peau caught at each shoulder with a Dier bow. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a cluster of jeweled satin and lace petals headpiece. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses, mums and stephanotis. She wore a small opal and diamond drop, a gift to the bride from the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon hosted the reception. Guests were registered by Mrs. Guy Bodine of San Marcos, from Austin, Abilene, Ballinger, Winters, Refugio, Woodsboro, Paris, San Marcos, Lockhart, San Antonio, and St. Louis, Missouri.

The bride's table, laid with white net over taffeta, was caught at the corners with red velvet bows. An arrangement of red and white carnations in silver bowl centered the table and the three-tiered decorated wedding cake was topped with bride and groom.

Mrs. Ed Stimson of San Antonio served the cake and Mrs.

Russell Barron ladeled punch. The bridegroom's table was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations in bud vase. Mrs. Ralph Lloyd presided at the silver service and poured coffee.

The couple will live at Apt. 18, 3800 Sheaff Lane, Philadelphia. The bridegroom, a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, is stationed at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital. The bride is chief occupational therapist at Pennhurst State School and Hospital, Spring City, Pa.

She is a graduate of Belleville, Ill., High School, and of Washington University, where she received a bachelor of science degree in certified occupational therapy.

She is a member of Delphinians Society, American Student Information Service, Missouri Occupational Therapy Association.

The bridegroom was valedictorian of his class at Winters High School, attended the University of Texas, Abilene Christian College and received the MD degree from Washington University.

At the University of Texas he was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Texas Club, Silver Spur, Friars, Phi Beta Kappa and named an Outstanding Student. At Washington University he was a member of Phi Beta Phi medical fraternity and Alpha Omega Alpha, medical honorary society.

His parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Green Pastures in Austin.

The celebration was hosted by their four sons, D. R. of Lubbock, Foy of Irving, R. S. Jr., of Santa Ana, California, and Wilma C. Davis of Winters.

Approximately 60 relatives attended.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Oliver of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Robinson of Norton and Oliver Wood of Winters.
