HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

It is uncomfortable to speculate on what could have happened and what could have been the conditions if advancements and improvements in one field had not been shadow-stepped by like advancements and improvements in other fields, down through the years. A picture in last week's paper reminded us of that. It was a picture of a broken-down windmill and an abandoned farm house.

Of course windmills still are widely used, but not in nearly as great numbers as say, 35-40 years ago. In most places the wind power has been abandoned in favor of the gasoline engine or electric motor.

The thing that would have been disconcerting, if we may dwell for a moment, would have been a halt in the evolution of the automobile and a rapid die-out of the windmill. For instance, many of us will remember the necessity of the windmill to the Model T Ford. The two were a team in transportation; the Model T as dependent upon the windmill as it was the gas station—some people would say more so. For back in the days when the Model T was "king of the road," the important points along the routes of travel were the windmills which were planted alongside the gravel and dirt roads, seemingly at regular intervals. These windmills marked resting areas where driver and passengers and, more important, the Model T's radiator, could be refreshed by a drink of cool water. After such a step, everybody and the Model T was ready for another few miles of dusty travel.

Many windmill owners built sties over the barbwire fence to enable travelers to reach the windmill and water trough. And a driver always would find a can or bucket sitting beside the stie, to be used to fill a hot radiator; when he completed that chore, he always left the bucket there so the next traveler could find it. And farmers and ranchers didn't seem to mind furnishing the water and even making it convenient for the traveler.

We remember two such roadside windmills, and the important space they filled in the early years. Back in the early 1920s it was a long and dusty distance, by dirt and gravel road, from McAdoo to Spur, in Dickens County. And two windmills along that route were regular stopping places—one about two miles south of the "Dickens Y" (they had by-passes in those days, too) and one a short distance above the Caprock, going north. When a Model T was heading south toward Spur, many times the mag key was turned to "off" at the start of the downhill run from the Cap to the open country; and a skillful driver, given a clear road and timing it just right, could get about halfway to the "south" windmill before the mag was turned on again. Then everybody would get out at the windmill for water and talk about the exhilarating "coast" down the Caprock hill. But the "north" windmill was the important one. A Model T had to work hard to make that Caprock climb, and by the time it had wheezed over the rim its radiator probably would be boiling—and that windmill was not only a welcomed resting place, but a downright necessity.

So suppose that evolution in the automobile had stalled at the heyday of the Model T, and other things had advanced and the windmill had almost disappeared? The Model T was a proud if profane hunk of tin (if not a thing alive, why a name for each, and why the earnest conversations from the driver on a cold morning?). So we can't feature that a thirsty T Model could get along one bit with water pumped by a lifeless hunk of electric motor, or could have stood the torture of wading through the beer cans and broken pop bottles now littering our "modern" roadside parking and resting places!

Poverty is often given as the reason for much of the violence in our cities, and government leaders recommend spending billions of tax dollars to provide jobs. This supposed connection between poverty and riots is seldom questioned, but Evangelist Billy Graham, among many others, flatly rejects the claim that poverty is the cause of present civil disturbances. He points out, "there was no tank crewman on January 28,

BEVERLY FOSTER

Beverly Foster Named Glacier Queen In Voting at Winters High Last Week

Beverly Foster, a senior student at Winters High School, was elected "Glacier Queen" in an election by the student body Wednesday of last week.

Miss Foster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Foster, and will be featured in this year's school annual, the Glacier.

The election of this year's Glacier Queen was the climax of a voting campaign staged by the WHS student body and sponsored by the annual staff. Prior to balloting, each class in the high school presented a skit and speech, and introduced each class candidate.

Candidates for the four classes, and their escorts, were: seniors, Miss Foster, escorted by Randall Boles; juniors, Eileen Faubion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Faubion, escorted by Randy Pendergrass; sophomores, Debra Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Carroll, escorted by Alton Pierce; freshmen, Phyllis Grissom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Grissom, escorted by Ronnie Wilson.

Jo Nell Simmons, assistant editor of the yearbook, presented the slate of candidates prior to the voting, and student council members passed out ballots. Ballots were counted by members of the annual staff and student council.

Jesse McCallion, photographer for the annual, crowned the new Glacier Queen, and Phil Harrison, business manager, presented Miss Foster with a

Burglars Hit Two Farm Houses In North Runnels Co.

While families were attending church Sunday, thieves entered two homes in North Runnels County and carted away several hundred dollars worth of clothing, meat, electrical appliances, along with several hundred dollars in cash.

Hit by the daylight-operating thieves were the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Colburn, north of Winters, and the home of Mrs. Werr Bales in the Hatchell community south of Winters.

At the Colburn home, the burglars stole a color television set, a filing cabinet, a lady's billfold, costume jewelry and over $300 in cash. Mr. and Mrs. Colburn were in church at the time of the breakin. According to Johnny Wilson, deputy sheriff from Winters, the thieves took money from Colburn's billfold which he had forgotten and left at home, but did not take the billfold.

Mrs. Bales was away from home most of the day Sunday, and did not discover the theft until about 7 p. m. when she returned. The thieves took meat from a freezer, clothing, radio, vacuum cleaner, and an electric clock.

Deputy Wilson said investigation at each ransacked home failed to uncover useable fingerprints, but that tire tracks in the yards indicated that the two homes, separated by several miles, were entered by the same thieves.

Winters Chief of Police Joe Stevens is assisting Deputy Wilson in the investigation.

BUDDIES—Alvin Dunn, seated, and Jerry Awalt attended Winters High School together, played football and basketball and took part in track events. Following their graduation from high school in 1967, they were employed at Dry Manufacturing Co.

On August 29, 1967, they enlisted in the U. S. Army under the "buddy system"—that is, if they chose to stay together throughout their service career, and if this were practical and feasible, they would be assigned together.

Dunn and Awalt chose the Airborne service; they took their basic training at Fort Polk, La., and then were granted leaves before reporting to Fort Benning, Ga., for jump school training. Also ahead for them is special training in that area of country called "Tigerland," where they will train under conditions made as near like Vietnam as possible.

Dunn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther (Doc) Smith, and Awalt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Awalt. (Little photo)

Hodge and Bean Will Run Again

Homer Hodge Jr., and W. L. (Bill) Bean, aldermen whose terms of office expire this year, Tuesday filed as candidates for re-election.

The other alderman whose term ends this April, Ray Alderman, has announced that he would not seek return to office, because of pressing business interests.

The City election has been called for April 6, at the Winters City Hall. Deadline for filing as a candidate for the office is 30 days prior to the election.

Local Men Attend Meeting of Farmers Union, Stephenville

Several members of the local Farmers Union organization attended a leadership conference in Stephenville Thursday of last week.

Attending from North Runnels County were Dennis Poe, Roscoe Morrison, Hazel Dietz and Mr. and Mrs. Noble Faubion.

Jay Naman of Waco, Texas Farmers Union president, was the principal speaker at the conference, and told the group of Farmers Union members that "a heavy participation in the feed grain program and the reduction of stocks to a manageable level is almost as important to dairymen and livestock producers as it is to the commercial grain producer. Cheap feed grains inevitably results in cheap milk, pork, beef and poultry."

More Bills Paid In Hospital

Starting April 1, 1968, the medical insurance part of medicare will pay the full reasonable charges of radiologists' and pathologists' services while you are a hospital inpatient, if you are enrolled for medical insurance. Under the old law, medicare paid only 80 percent of the charges after the $50 deductible had been met.

Under the old law, if you were in a hospital or extended care facility and were not eligible for hospital insurance payments—because you had used up all your hospital insurance benefit days, or because you did not enter the extended care facility within 14 days after a hospital stay of at least 3 days—services such as X-rays and laboratory services were not covered by either hospital or medical insurance.

As of April 1, medical insurance will cover such services if you are in a hospital or extended care facility. These services would ordinarily have been paid for as part of your doctor's bills if you had not been in the institution.

Freezing Rains Close Schools

Winter made another grab at the Big Country this week, laying down a layer of ice and sleet—snow in some sections—and causing schools to close again in several towns.

Schools at Winters and Wingate were closed Wednesday because of ice-covered roads, made slicker by steady rain early in the morning.

Rain started Sunday, when 0.8 of an inch was measured in Winters, and then another 0.4 of an inch fell in the form of sleet. By early Wednesday morning, the sleet turned to rain, and by mid-afternoon another 0.4 of an inch had been received, bringing the total for the month to 2.6 inches.

Forecasts were for continued bad weather through the week and into the weekend.

Blizzardettes Defeat Hamlin Friday Night

The Winters Blizzardettes defeated the Hamlin girls basketball team 43-41 Friday night to bring their district record to 3-2. A win over Anson Tuesday will throw the district into a three-way tie with playoffs necessary to determine the district representative in bi-district. A loss would give the district crown to Anson.

In the game played Friday night a field goal in the final seconds of the game gave the victory to Winters. The Blizzardettes led at half-time 22-14. A cold third quarter, in which the Blizzardettes could manage only 6 points to Hamlin's 18 almost put the game out of reach. A 15 to 9 scoring edge in the fourth quarter provided the margin of victory. Forward Carla Walker was the standout on offense as she swished the net for 21 points. Also scoring for the Blizzardettes were Dora Snell and Eileen Faubion with 11 points each.

The Blizzardette guards played their usual fine defensive game with a very strong second quarter in which they limited the Hamlin girls to only three points and they were made on free throws. In fact only two field goals were allowed in the first half.

Heart Transplants

When a definitive history of the 1960's is written, Vietnam is sure to receive careful, and perhaps extensive, treatment. But scientific advancements will also loom large, and in the forefront will be the first transplant of the human heart by Dr. Christian N. Barnard in Cape-town, South Africa, December 3, 1967.

Practicality

Although the heart received by patient Louis Washkansky was strong, his own lungs proved weak and he survived the cardiac surgery by only 18 days. Within a matter of six weeks, three teams of surgeons on two continents transplanted a total of five human hearts. This pioneering did not represent a sudden major breakthrough in medical science. It was preceded by decades of painstaking spadework and careful experimentation on animals.

Dr. Barnard's historic first attempt proved that such a transplant was possible and, possibly one day, practical. But the Capetown surgeon has been quick to note that he will not feel he has really succeeded until he is able to discharge a patient (with a borrowed heart) "so that he can go home and live a fairly normal life."

Morality

Oddly enough, considering that the heart is felt to be the key human organ, there has been almost no criticism of its transplant from the viewpoint of the morality of the procedure. Possibly this is because the transplant of body organs has been going on for quite a long time now, and in the case of kidneys has been meeting with increasing success. Also, here in the United States, cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of death. In 1966, it claimed more than one million people, or 55 per cent of all those who died in that year. No serious objection to heart transplants on moral grounds have been voiced by leaders of the major religions. On the whole, theologians and philosophers appear to favor the procedure as a means of aiding the most desperate heart victims and of extending scientific knowledge of the organ itself and its interrelation with other body organs and functions.

Legality

The obvious high risk of this surgery does give rise to certain legal questions. These involve patient understanding of, and consent to, a transplant, as well as properly executed consent of the donor and his family. And of course there is the danger that ill-equipped and/or ill-prepared teams of surgeons may try heart transplants prematurely, thus inviting malpractice suits.

Many observers feel that lack of uniformity in our laws governing human organ transplants is presently hindering needed cornea and kidney transplants... and preventing some altogether. A study group appointed by the U. S. Conference of Governors is now looking into these conflicts and is expected to draw up a model "gift-of-tissue" act which can be presented to the various state legislatures later this year.

Sentimentality

Almost overnight, the heart transplant has evoked extraordinarily wide interest and become a strong unifying force in our fragmented world. There are two reasons for this. (1) Self-preservation is the first law of nature and so we all have a vital interest in the cure of heart disease and the replacement of damaged heart muscle and valves, etc. (2) We regard the heart as the center of our being, the seat of emotion, romance, and sentiment.

Of course, the heart is not what romanticists have made it—a virtual synonym for the spirit, a symbol of courage, of love, and of the uniqueness of human personality. But it is a key organ, essential to human life, and hence a strong rallying point as medical men press their probe of nature's secrets. Already the heart transplant has surmounted racial barriers in rigidly segregated South

Spread Of Municipal Income Taxes

No matter what city you live in, you may be subject to municipal income taxes in the not-too-distant future, — if you are not already. For most wage earners the federal income levy is a fact of financial life. In recent years it has become customary for a steadily rising number of people to pay state income taxes too. However, in most cities, the municipal income tax is still little more than a threat. But this will not be true very long.

Already Entrenched In The East

Thus far, the concept of a municipal income tax has been largely limited to the Eastern section of the country. In fact, about 86 per cent of all the larger cities using this method of enriching their exchequers are located in Ohio and Pennsylvania. But the idea is intriguing to city fathers everywhere who are responsible for budget requirements, especially with all types of costs and outlays soaring spectacularly. Since 1966, New York City, Baltimore, and Cleveland have introduced income taxation, other large centers have contemplated such an innovation, including Atlanta, Boston, Dallas, Chicago, Fort Worth, Minneapolis, and San Francisco.

Despite the concentration in the East, it is significant to note how swiftly the city income tax has spread since its inception at Philadelphia in 1938. By mid-1967, more than 170 cities having a population of 10,000 or better were receiving part of their revenue from income taxes on their inhabitants and usually also on non-residents and companies operating within local limits. This figure did not include an unknown, but large, number of villages, towns, educational districts, and other geographical units resorting to income taxes to augment their spendable funds.

What The City Income Tax Means

In most communities with such a system, the method is simple. It usually involves a flat-rate tax on earned income of individuals or on the net profits of corporations. There are no personal deductions or exemptions, but the percentage tax generally runs quite low. For the smaller cities, the rate ranges from 0.25 per cent to 2 per cent. But New York and Baltimore employ a graduated schedule of rates on personal income, ranging from 0.4 per cent to 2 per cent in New York and from 1 per cent to 2.5 per cent in Baltimore. It is safe—if unfortunate — to estimate that such rates will increase as local expenses rise, as has been the case in federal and state levies.

How much of a city's total tax revenue comes from a community income levy appears to be highly variable, according to the Tax Foundation, Inc. of New York. Its study of the situation indicates that income taxes as a percentage of total city tax collections run all the way from 20 per cent in Pittsburgh, Pa. to an impressive 71 per cent in Columbus, Ohio. One thing is clear, nevertheless: That the community income tax, where it has been operative, brings in sufficient money to make it definitely worth consideration for those cities not yet tapping this source of funds.

Guesses On The Future

The Tax Foundation's studies point to strong and continuous growth of community income taxes. In fact, it is estimated that by 1975 substantially more than half of the large-city inhabitants of the country will be subject to these levies if municipal individual and corporate income taxes keep on expanding at the rate that prevailed from 1960 to 1966. There seems no doubt but that smaller taxing entities will add many more to the list.

There is, as yet, no end in sight for the mounting pressure on the taxpayer, at the levels. Perhaps the only citizen who may not mind so much the incursion of the city income tax is the property taxes tend to increase far less vigorously than usual where community income taxes are put in operation. But with skyrocketing governmental, educational, and social outlays, even this apparent boom may not long survive.

Quarter Million Loaned For Rural Homes In 2 Years

More than 1260 rural people in the Coleman unit, consisting of Callahan, Coleman and Rannels Counties, have new or vastly improved homes as a result of $248,750.00 in insured loan funds advanced through the Farmers Home Administration in the past two years. John H. Curry local County Supervisor of the supervised credit agency reported today.

Approximately $87,860.00 was advanced in 1967.

The rural housing program was greatly expanded in 1965 when, as part of President Lyndon B. Johnson's effort to strengthen rural America, the financing of the loans was switched from federal to private sources. Practically all of the rural housing loan funds now come from private sources on an insured basis.

Nearly $100,000.00 of the amount loaned during the past two years went to individual families with senior citizens, 62 years or older.

The construction that took place as a part of this credit program provided 4975 man-days of employment for local carpenters, plumbers, electricians, and masons.

In addition, the housing funds circulating through the counties gave the local economy a $1,741,250.00 boost.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

When jolly good fellows get together to drink a toast, an expression often heard goes like this: "Here's mud in your eye!"

Oddly enough, this is not a toast to a jolly good fellow, but a toast to oneself, for it means, "I hope I beat you."

The expression goes back to the days when horse racing was legalized in more places than it is today and betting was done in the open.

Quite often the race track would be muddy and the horse in front (or the winner, to be exact) would kick up mud into the eyes and faces of the horses and jockeys who rode behind.

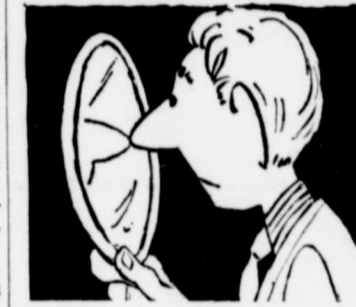

"Here's to mud in your eye" meant: "I hope I beat you and that my horse will run so fast that he will kick mud into the eyes of your horse and your jockey."

When someone proposes this toast at a modern cocktail party, horse racing is perhaps the furthest thing from his mind.

Let's face it: the human face, just as the eyes, ears, and nose, is used idiomatically in many phrases.

"To face something out" means to keep a bold front under all circumstances, and "to face down" means to repel by a fixed gaze, or to make the best of an adverse condition, such as living down a scandal.

When someone "runs on his face," it means that he has impressed people with his good looks, rather than with his talent or pocketbook.

Buy Bonds where you work.

He does.

Why do our servicemen buy U.S. Savings Bonds? Their reasons are the same as yours and mine: saving for the future, supporting freedom. And because they're fighting for freedom, too, maybe servicemen see the need more clearly than many of us. Buy Bonds. In more than one way, it makes you feel good.

New Freedom Shares

Now, when you join the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-a-Month Plan, you are eligible to purchase the new type U.S. Savings Notes—Freedom Shares. Freedom Shares pay 4.74% when held to maturity of just 4 1/2 years (redeemable after one year), are available on a one-for-one basis with Savings Bonds. Get all the facts where you work or bank.

U.S. Savings Bonds, new Freedom Shares

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with the Treasury Department and The Advertising Council.

Britain's famed Dame Edith Evans; TV's great Dick Van Dyke and newcomer Barbara Feldon lead the merry madcapades in the Mirisch production "Fitzwilly" in Color by DeLuxe and Panavision, released by United Artists, a Transamerica Company. Directed by Delbert Mann the film shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre.

MOVIES

"Fitzwilly"
Where it used to be TV with an occasional movie appearance for Dick Van Dyke it's going to be movies with an occasional TV appearance from now on. After winning critics with his talented performance in "Mary Poppins," he now follows with the Mirisch Corporation's breezy, hilarious "Fitzwilly," in Color by DeLuxe and Panavision, which shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre, and now he is sure that motion pictures are his medium. The comedy is released by United Artists, a Transamerica Company.

"Fitzwilly" is the first of four pictures to which Van Dyke has been signed by Mirisch. In it his co-stars are Britain's famed Edith Evans; TV's Barbara Feldon who makes her screen debut in this screen adaptation of the Poyntz Tyler novel by Isabel Lennart, and John McGiver. Delbert Mann directed and production is by Walter Mirisch.

State Capital NEWS

By-Vern Sanford Texas Press Association

Eleven Democratic and three Republican candidates for governor squared off for an action-packed May 4 primary election as filing deadline closed last week.

Most of the interest centers in the gubernatorial contest. Only one Democratic incumbent in statewide office, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, has primary opposition. The lieutenant governor's office and two Supreme Court places being vacated by incumbents are contested by Democrats.

While Republicans provided for all statewide offices except judicial, only in the governor's column is there a GOP primary race. The rest are unopposed. Here's the way the primary ballots will look:

DEMOCRATIC

Governor—Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock; John L. Hill of Houston; Waggoner Carr of Lubbock; Eugene Locke of Dallas; Gordon McLendon, Dallas; Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde; Pat O'Daniel of Dallas; Don Yarborough of Houston; Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Brenham; Edward L. Whittenburg of Houston and Alfonso Veloz of Houston.

Lieutenant Governor—House Speaker Ben Barnes of DeLeon; Rep. Don Gladden and Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth.

Comptroller—Robert S. Calvert and Dallas Blankenship, Paris.

Supreme Court, Place 1—Matt Davis of Texarkana and Sears McGee of Houston.

Supreme Court, Place 2—Tom Reavley of Austin and James G. Denton of Amarillo. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Agriculture Commissioner John White, Treasurer Jesse James, Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon, Supreme Court Associate Justice Zollie Steakley, Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. A. Morrison and Leon Douglas, a candidate for the Court of Criminal Appeals have no Democratic opposition.

REPUBLICAN

Governor—Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls, Wallace Sisk of Houston and John R. Trice of Dallas.

Republican candidates with no primary opposition are: Lieutenant Governor—Douglas McCluitt of Waco; Attorney General—Sproesser Wynn of Fort Worth; Treasurer—Manuel Sanchez of Brownsville; Comptroller—John Bennett, San Antonio; Agriculture Commissioner—E. H. Schuhart of Harhart; Land Commissioner—Millard Neptune of New Ulm; and Railroad Commissioner—Jim Segrest of San Antonio.

RETARDED CHILDREN WORK FOR HANDICAPPED Retarded children (some as old as 60) at Travis State School in Austin are having the time of their lives potting and planting more than 9,000 flower, shrub and tree cuttings which will be raised for transplanting at other state schools and state hospitals all over the state.

The idea of a beautification project for the grounds of state institutions for the mentally ill and mentally retarded was sparked by MH-MR Commissioner John Kinross-Wright who donated and potted some of the first plants. Since then, others have been donated by gardeners who heard about the landscape program by word of mouth.

Thomas Alva Edison in his lifetime — even after 1097 inventions — never could have imagined the many jobs flameless electricity does today.

In your home alone, 166 electrical appliances are available to save time, reduce work, and do a better job faster and more economically.

The average American family has nearly doubled its use of electricity in the past 10 years. And at such a low cost, it is today's biggest bargain in your budget.

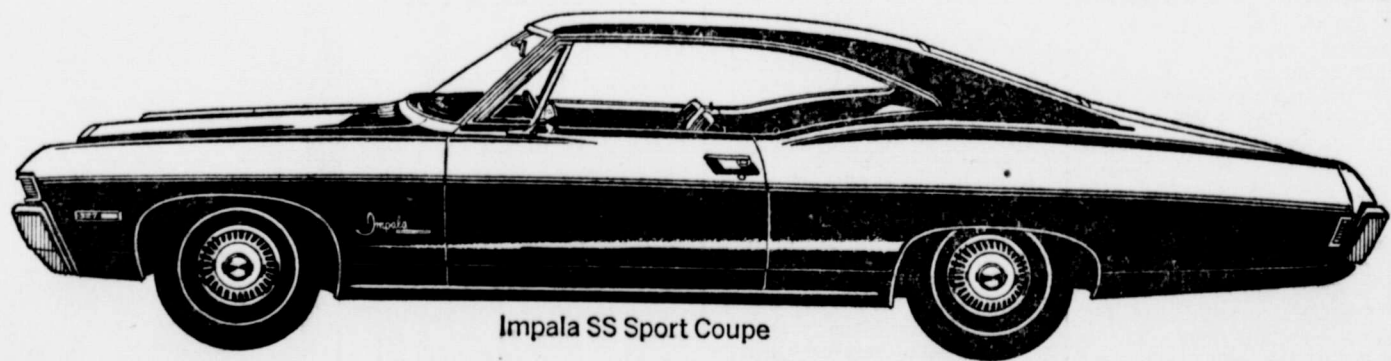

Here at WTU we keep pace with the increasing use of electricity in industry, in business and in the home. It's a way of life with us, for we know that electricity powers progress.

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. — The policeman's lot is not an easy one. With the great increase in the crime rate, you might find of interest "What Is A Cop," taken from "The Shield," the publication of the Abilene Police Association.

"Cops are human (believe it or not) just like the rest of us. They come in both sexes but mostly male. They also come in various sizes. This sometimes depends on whether you are looking for one or trying to hide something. However, they are mostly big.

"Cops are found everywhere — on land, on the sea, in the air, on horses, in cars, sometimes in your hair. In spite of the fact that you can't find one when you want one, they are usually there when it counts most. The best way to get one is to pick up the phone.

"Cops deliver lectures, babies and bad news. They are required to have the wisdom of Solomon, the disposition of a lamb and muscles of steel and are often accused of having a heart to match. He's the one who rings the doorbell, swallows hard and announces the passing of a loved one; then spends the rest of the day wondering why he ever took such a 'crummy' job.

"On TV, a cop is an oaf who couldn't find a bull fiddle in a telephone booth. In real life he's expected to find a little blond boy 'about so high' in a crowd of a half million people. In fiction, he gets help from private eyes, reporters, and 'who-dun-it' fans. In real life, mostly all he gets from the public is 'I didn't see nuttin'.

When he serves a summons, he's a monster. If he lets you go, he's a doll. To little kids, he's either a friend or a bogeyman, depending on how the parents feel about it. He works 'around the clock,' split shifts, Sundays and holidays, and it always kills him when a joker says, "Hey, tomorrow is Election Day. I'm off, let's go fishing" (that's the day he works 20 hours).

"A cop is like the little girl, who, when she was good, was very, very good, but, when she was bad, was horrid. When a cop is good, he's getting paid for it. When he makes a mistake, he's a grafter, and that goes for the rest of them too. When he shoots a stick-up man he's a hero, except when the stick-up man is 'only a kid, anybody coulda seen that.'

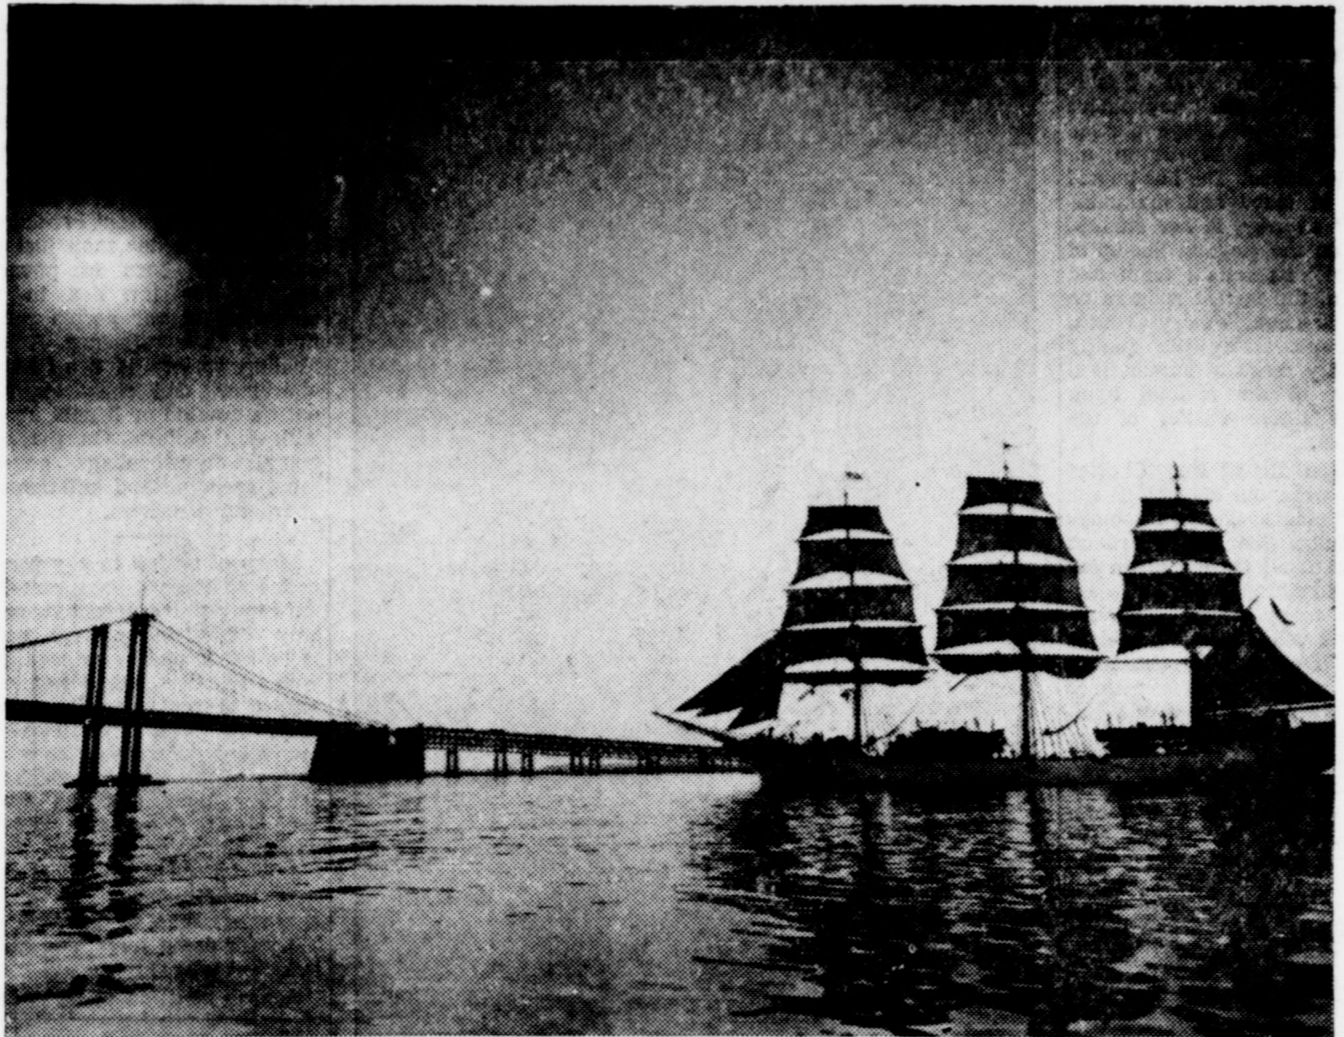

"Lots of them have homes, some of them covered with ivy, but most of them covered with mortgages. If he drives a big car, he's a chiseler; a little car, 'who's he kidding?' His credit is good; this is very helpful, because his salary isn't. Cops raise lots of kids; most of them belong to other people.

"A cop sees more misery, bloodshed, trouble, and sunrise than the average person. Like the postman, cops must also be out in all kinds of weather. His uniform changes with the climate, but his outlook on life remains about the same: mostly a blank, but hoping for a better world.

"Cops like days off, vacations, and coffee. They don't like auto horns, family fights, and anonymous letter writers. They have unions, but they can't strike. They must be impartial, courteous, and always remember the slogan 'At your service.' This is sometimes hard, especially when a character reminds him, 'I'm a taxpayer, I pay your salary.'

"Cops get medals for saving lives, stopping runaway horses, and shooting it out with bandits (once in a while his widow gets the medal). But sometimes, the most rewarding moment comes when, after some small kindness to an older person, he feels the warm hand clasp, looks into grateful eyes and hears, 'Thank you and God bless you, son.'

Blizzards Lost To Hamlin, 67 to 45 In District Game

The Winters Blizzards lost their ninth district game to the Hamlin Pied Pipers Friday night by the score of 67 to 45.

At half-time they trailed by only six. At the end of three quarters the Blizzards were down by only five as they trailed 36-41. ## Florette Gail Jones and H. Alan Wood Announce Plans To Marry August 17

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Jones are announcing the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Florette Gail, to Mr. H. Alan Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wood of 218 Gray Street, Coleman.

The prospective groom is a 1965 graduate of Coleman High School and is presently a junior at North Texas State University at Denton.

The prospective bride is a 1965 graduate of Winters High School and is a junior at Texas Woman's University at Denton.

The wedding is planned for August 17.

No animal that roams the woods commands as much respect as Mr. Skunk. Since he is blessed with perhaps the best defense system of any creature, both man and animal give him plenty of room.

That is, all except the great horned owl. This animal, now and then, enjoys dining on tasty skunk. Obviously, the owl has no sense of smell and could care less about the odor.

But all other animals treat the skunk with great respect. And well they should! Any animal that strays close is likely to be speared with that strong-smelling, familiar odor that can linger for weeks. Give the enraged skunk a wide berth.

His defense system consists of a pair of scent sacs located at the skunk's rear. There is one on each side of the rectum. They are embedded in powerful muscles which, when constricted, can spray the strong "perfume" for 16 feet or more. This yellow liquid is deadly at 10 feet and dangerous at almost twice that distance.

Contrary to what you might have heard, just because a skunk has unloaded at you once doesn't mean he is out of ammunition.

A skunk can fire six consecutive times without reloading. Although the initial burst may be only three or four drops, that's enough to douse an animal or man with enough odor to last for a couple of weeks or longer, especially in damp weather.

Nature has a way of taking care of her young. With the skunk, the smelly spray is his only defense. Otherwise, he is a timid creature that roams mostly at night. It isn't unusual to find skunks after dark downtown in some of our largest cities.

Although there are several species of skunk, the most common is the black one with the broad white stripe running down his back the full length of his body and tail.

There is no surefire method of removing this tell-tale skunk odor. His spray contains an ingredient chemically known as n-butyl mercaptan. It contains sulphur. One of the best antidotes, I'm told, is washing the recipient in liberal amounts of tomato juice.

As for doused clothing, about the only alternative is to either burn or bury them. Even then some of the odor seems to linger on. When it comes to smell, nothing can compare to the skunk.

In Texas, skunks breed in either February or March. After a gestation period of 63 days, a litter is born. Usually they number from three to seven small skunks, with the average being about five. The ing introduced the turkey into Europe. He obtained a number of the domesticated birds from the Aztec Indians and carried them via ship to his native Spain in 1519. By 1530 the turkey had spread to Germany, and within a few years, England.

In 1693, Don Carlos de Seguenza, a Spanish citizen, in describing the area between Pensacola, Fla., and Mobile, Ala., wrote, "The meat and game which are eaten include deer, buffalo, bear and native hens which have the same shape and are as large as the European turkey." This would indicate that the turkey had become well established in Europe, and Europeans now considered it as species native to their country.

But once man increased in numbers, the demise of the wild turkey was dramatic. By the early 1900's, as a result of uncontrolled market slaughter and with farms replacing forests, the turkey population had been eliminated over much of its primary range. As early as 1854, a law was passed in Alabama which provided a closed season in some counties on wild turkeys.

Today the wild turkey is making a comeback not only in Texas, but throughout the entire United States. Many factors have contributed to this comeback. Among the most important are better protection, changing land use to utilize it for wild game, restocking, and improved methods of turkey management.

A truly American game bird is the wild turkey. It is native only to the North American continent. It was unknown before discovery of the new world.

Today there are more wild turkeys in Texas than in any other state. Our turkey population exceeds 100,000. Runner-up in the number of turkeys is Pennsylvania, with an estimated 40,000. Quite a difference!

Primarily, the two species found in Texas are the Merriam's and the Rio Grande varieties. However, some of the eastern wild turkey race have been released in East Texas. The eastern wild turkey is the most common of the six different varieties of this wild bird. It is the one that was eaten at the first Thanksgiving dinner.

History reveals many references to the wild turkeys by our earliest explorers. Flocks of 50 or more birds seem to have been common, and a number of writers reported observing more than 1,000 turkeys in a single day's travel.

Literature reveals that the western tribes considered the Indians varied greatly. Some utilization of the wild turkey by hunting of these large birds as a social taboo. Others looked upon turkey hunting as a job only for children. However, most eastern tribes utilized the turkey both as food and for decoration. They used the feathers for dressing up clothes and headgear. Also for fletching their hunting arrows.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

I'm an English teacher who grew up in the South, and when I say to my students, "I want you all to bring your notebooks tomorrow," invariably, some student who does not know me very well will attempt to correct my grammar.

I have always said "you all" when I mean the plural of "you" and I probably always will. It is part of my heritage and no "rules" to the contrary are likely to make me say it differently. An educated southerner never uses "you all" except in the plural.

English usage changes constantly. Shakespeare had his characters saying "you all" many times over in his plays. Mark Antony, in his oration scene at Julius Caesar's funeral, said: "Friends am I with you all, and love you all..."

Some of my ancestors were English. They settled in the southern hill country of Tennessee and Arkansas, and they continue to use many Middle English expressions that have long since become archaic or obsolete in more sophisticated regions.

For instance, "et" for the past tense of eat was at one time correct usage, and "I seed him" is just an earlier way of saying "I saw him."

Of course, some of my friends who live far up in the "mountains" say "you'uns" and we hillbillies frown on that. "You'uns" is their plural for "you ones" and we think "you all" sounds much better!

Never live in hope or expectation with your arms folded.

Nobody ever resents it when you say kind things.

Class Favorites

The Class Favorite for 1967-1968 are all well-chosen and deserving persons. All possess outstanding personalities and characters to single them out as the class favorites.

The Freshman favorites are Cindy Davis and Ray Cooper. Cindy, a very busy person, is a manager of the Girls' basketball team and was FFA Queen this year. Ray is active in all sports, especially football and Freshman basketball.

Carla Walker and Wesley Crouch are the Sophomore favorites. Carla enjoys participating in and excels in all phases of school. She has gained offices in clubs and maintains an "A" average in her studies. She is on the starting line-up of the Girls' basketball team and is one of the fastest runners on the track team. Wesley Crouch, besides possessing the quality of a witty sense of humor, is a member of the football team and an active backer of the Blizzards.

Cherilyn Beard and Charles Mathis were the choices of the Junior class. Cherilyn enjoys sports also. She is a guard on the basketball team and an excellent tennis player. She is active in many school organizations and will serve as president of the FTA next year. Added to her list of honors is her three years as a cheerleader at WHS.

Charles has served the Juniors in many ways. He was president of that class as a Freshman and also was a representative to the Student Council as a Sophomore. It seems that Charles' interests are chiefly with sports though, with emphasis on football and track.

The Senior Class has chosen Gayla Beall and Kye Nitsch as their favorites. Gayla in her four years has been very active in clubs and organizations. Also, she served as a twirler with the band for three years and was Sophomore Glacier Queen Candidate. Kye's personality and sense of humor set him apart from the crowd. It is difficult to pinpoint his interests, but they seem to be football and girls.

Congratulations to the 1967-1968 Class Favorites! All are very worthy of this great honor.

Home Town Talk--

such rioting, looting or killing of police officers in depression days when people were much poorer."

To many, there is far more involved in the present breakdown of law and order than just the restlessness born of poverty. Respect for law lies in the character of our people rather than in their affluence. A law-abiding society is built on character, and character cannot be created or bought at will with tax dollars. On the contrary, freewheeling government spending and inflation are character wreckers.

Many of us fail to pay proper notice to today's teenagers—we too many times accept them as only "blurs" in our lives, never to be heard and to be seen, seldom. Whether we allow ourselves to recognize it or not, they are facts; and there are many indications that they are aware of the troubles which beset our lives and the world around us. They even will go so far as to accept some of the blame for what we term present "conditions"—along with accepting some of the responsibility for doing something about it.

A grab at some of these indications traps one piece of evidence, in the form of a letter-essay, written by Beany Bean and turned in to a Winters teacher. In it he asks, "Is this what you want our land to be—LSD, pot and other drugs? Is this how we want to live, Hippies everywhere and teenagers dropping out of school? Yet we let it happen! War in Vietnam, millions of dollars being spent . . . but worse, men being killed every day! We ask ourselves, 'Is there a God?', and we may answer that if there were H would have ended this war and the other troubles. But we must look at it this way. Who got us into this mess? We did! And it serves us right! So who's going to get us out? We are! There is a God, and the Lord helps those who help themselves."

Ambition destroys its possessor.
