HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

In this age when there is so much to say, and so little time to say it; so much to read, and so little time to read it, it is necessary that reportings on happenings and situations be as short and concise as possible. Otherwise, there is the possibility that only the first few words will be read and the remainder may as well have been blank space. We're a busy people, and somehow lack the time for thorough examination of any given area, except that which may hold an individual interest, and then too often we pay only superficial attention. This fault may be our downfall.

But there is one article in this issue of The Enterprise we hope most people will read. It is perhaps longer than it should have been; but the subject matter is of great importance—not because it is printed herein, but because it deals with an area which is—or should be—of great interest to us all. It is a report on a visit to our schools by an accreditation team from the Texas Education Agency. This is the agency which guides our school administration in the development of our children. In total, this is the agency responsible for our children's future, and the future of the State.

We won't, in this space, delve into the report—we leave that to you. Suffice to say here it is important.

This report on our schools by the accreditation team actually is a mirror of our community. It reflects the interest this community has had in our schools and the continued development of them. It shows that there has been a lot of thought and study and work directed toward the quality of education we are providing for our youngsters. We are fortunate that this is the case here—there are many communities which cannot boast of that condition.

But this all didn't just happen—it was made to happen. We have been lucky down through the years to have had men on the board of trustees who have understood the importance of maintaining a first-rate school system; who have not been afraid to forge ahead when others of lesser convictions may have hesitated. School boards who have looked into the future for inspiration and have refused to be satisfied with mediocrity. Who have planned not only for this year but for many years to come.

Then there have been the administrators, hand-picked by the boards, whose own desires for the best in education for the children have been reinforced by the support of the school board. Their attitudes and determinations have flowered.

Excellence, or the striving toward the same, attracts excellence. Thus, we have had down through the years faculties of teachers who have matched the boards and the administrators in their efforts to build always a better and better education system. The products they have turned out over the years are evidence of their concern.

But finally comes the community itself, the patrons of the school district. Without the understanding and cooperation of the people in the community, it would have been difficult if not impossible to maintain the high standards of our school system. But yesterday's laurels are today only dried leaves. We must not pause in our drive for better and better education for our children. If we hesitate, even momentarily, we not only cease to advance, but we lose ground.

It must be recognized that all people are not the same, certainly not males and females. Between these two, there has been a fairly well recognized difference for quite a number of years. And it is doubtful if anyone, even a federal bureaucrat, would really want to change the situation. Nevertheless, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has ruled that newspapers may no longer separate classified job advertisements under male and female headings. The American Newspaper Publishers Association has joined a major newspaper in bringing a suit to set aside this ruling, which would quite obviously make it more difficult for a person seeking employment to scan job listings and find positions for which he could appropriately apply.

As one spokesman for the AMERICA'S ALPS, the El Dorado Peaks in the heart of the proposed North Cascades National Park, have all the grandeur and majesty of those in Europe. The area includes a region of active glaciers as well as five extinct volcanos.

Stores To Remain Open Late On Friday Night

Winters merchants again are attempting to make shopping convenient for Christmas shoppers. Most merchants will remain open until at least 9 p. m. Friday so that shoppers who have not completed their Christmas buying may do so.

Some of the merchants also have announced that they will remain open late Monday night, December 23.

This Friday night late closing is the second of two special Christmas season sales. Most businesses remained opened late last Friday night.

Many of the merchants also will hold drawings for valuable merchandise during this special Christmas Shoppers Day. The drawings will be held on an independent basis, with each merchant conducting his own event.

Shoppers are reminded that all parking meters in Winters will be covered during the next few days until Christmas.

"Shop At Home" is the theme for this year's sales campaign by Winters merchants. They are offering regular merchandise and Christmas merchandise at great savings, and are emphasizing the fact that local residents need not go out of town to do their Christmas shopping. They point out that shoppers can get friendly, courteous service by shopping in their "neighbors' stores," and will not have to battle holiday traffic and fight for parking space in the larger cities.

The Winters merchants also are reminding shoppers that the merchandise they purchase in Winters may be "exchanged" without too much trouble; this is difficult if not impossible to accomplish when goods are bought out of town, they pointed out.

They also point out that they stand behind the merchandise they sell, and they will be in a position to service what they sell, in contrast to the situation which may and most often does exist when shoppers go out of town.

A committee has been appointed to help supervise the purchase and use of equipment and items purchased through this fund, Rogers said. The committee is made up of C. T. Parker Jr., county agent; Jimmy Smith, Winters FFA advisor; Leland McWilliams, rancher and farmer of Norton; Bennie Wilde, farmer and rancher from Offen; and Fred T. Ross, service agent of the Farmers Union.

Those wishing to contribute to this fund may give it to any member of the committee or leave it at the First National Bank, Ballinger.

Farmers Union Sponsors FFA, 4-H Fund Drive

The Runnels County Farmers Union is sponsoring a drive to establish a fund to help young people in the County 4-H and Future Farmers of America organizations, it has been announced by Bobby E. Rogers, president of the Union.

The fund will be used solely to provide equipment and other items needed by Runnels County 4-H and FFA to properly fit and show their animals in the various livestock shows in which they participate.

"In the past," Rogers said, "members of these two clubs have had to do without needed equipment or borrow from individuals."

Winters post office will be closed on Christmas Day, and again on New Year's Day, Postmaster H. M. (Jiggs) Nichols announced this week.

No city deliveries will be made, and service windows will not be opened. Mail received on these two days for box holders will be put up.

School Health Personnel Hear Hearing Program

John Bradford of Austin, who is with the Maternal and Child Health Division of the State Department of Health, conducted a Hearing Conservation program in Winters Wednesday, December 11, for school health personnel from the Winters, Miles, Ballinger and Coleman schools.

The Hearing Conservation program emphasizes the prevention of handicapping conditions, the prevention of education retardation, and the prevention of emotional disabilities caused by hearing impairment. The individual with any decrease in hearing sensitivity should be identified and helped physically and educationally, it was pointed out in the program.

The Health Department reminds that schools "Should be deeply concerned with sensory or physical impairments which limit or forestall the total ability development of children. No sensory impairment exacts a greater toll of a child's ability development than a loss of hearing."

"Hearing loss is a hidden handicap. It does not elicit sympathy from others, but evokes impatience when the person repeatedly fails to respond as expected. A child with a hearing impairment is frequently regarded as slow, inattentive, vague; he may be over-aggressive or under-assertive, and is commonly found in the ranks of "problem children." The function called hearing involves much more than comprehension of sound; it is very much a part of the dynamics of behavior."

Blizzardettes Won Top Spot At Cage Tourney In Lake View Last Weekend

The Winters High School Blizzardettes have entered the Lakeview Basketball Tournament eight times. Seven times they have played in the finals. Last weekend, they won the tournament for the first time, defeating the Lakeview girls 39-37.

In the final game, the Winters girls trailed the Lakeview girls most of the way, edging up even and then dropping back throughout the contest. In the last 30 seconds of the game, Carla Walker hit four free shots to put the Blizzardettes out ahead 39-37 for the win.

In the first game, the Winters girls defeated Mertzon 64-38, with Debra Carroll high scorer with 27, and Carla Walker a close second with 26.

The Blizzardettes then defeated Robert Lee 69-52, with Carla Walker taking high-point honors with 35, and Debra Carroll 22.

In the final contest with Lakeview, Carla Walker was high with 21.

Carla Walker was named All-Tournament forward, and Babs Tatum was named outstanding guard of the tournament.

The Blizzardettes now have a 12-3 record, and were scheduled to go into district play against Merkel Thursday night. This weekend they will take part in the Eldorado tournament.

may be measured in terms of population, economic development, personal income, and other indices. Utilities operating in growth areas of the country may be expected themselves to grow (in terms of revenues, earnings, and dividends) at a rate faster than for the rest of the industry. Companies that appear favorably situated in this respect are Carolina Power and Light, Houston Lighting & Power, Middle South Utilities, and Florida Power.

Investor's Choice

A company that should be highly resistant to economic change by reason of its diversification of product and its areas of operation is Citizens Utilities. This company operates in eleven states from Vermont to Hawaii and derives well-balanced revenues from telephone, electric, gas, and water services. "Products" supplement each other, and an economic slowdown in one sector will be supported by company's other services. Presently, the principal operating area for Citizens Utilities in California-Arizona. Retirement developments — commercial and industrial activity, and tourism serve to make this a particularly attractive growth area.

Citizens Utilities offers two classes of nearly identical common stock: Series A — dividends in additional stock only; Series B — dividends in cash only. Series A is exchangeable for Series B at any time. Hence . . . a uniquely flexible arrangement for varied investment requirements.

FOOD STOCKS FOR DEFENSIVE GROWTH

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — Expenditures for food in the U. S. this year will total $101 billion—up 6 percent over 1967. Of course half of this increase will be due to higher prices, with the total amount of food purchased rising but moderately. The balance of the gain in food spending will come from consumer preference for more expensive foods or for those with more marketing services added.

Favorable Cost Factors

There are several factors which recommend the food industry to prospective investors. For one thing, the industry's growth has been steadier than most. This reflects population and income gains as well as changing patterns of living which have sparked the rapid and wide acceptance of the so-called convenience foods.

A second plus for the food companies generally is their low price-earnings ratios. In most instances, these ratios are attractively low, thus leaving plenty of room for growth. Still another favorable factor is the reasonable labor cost. Except in baking, salaries and wages paid account for a smaller percentage of net sales than in industries such as building, chemicals, electrical products, and industrial machinery.

Diversification

In recent years, food manufacturers and processors have made great strides in offsetting the adverse effects of highly cyclical markets. In some cases, this has been achieved through vertical integration. More often, it has been accomplished thru a steady and generally orderly trend toward diversification.

Ample Food Supply On Hand This Year

What could mean more during December than a good supply of food?

Turkeys and broilers are available in big volume now, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. You'll also find more than adequate offerings of fresh oranges and grapefruit, dried prunes, canned tomatoes and tomato products, onions and dry beans.

All are on the December plentiful foods list compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Orange production this season is forecast at 41 percent above average—and grapefruit production is estimated to be 26 percent more than normal. The Texas early and midseason crop is expected to be the largest in 20 years. Shipments of both oranges and grapefruit are on the upswing, according to market news offices of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Volume of canned tomatoes and tomato products on hand should exceed market require-

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

This doesn't come under State Capital News, but nevertheless it's a capital idea.

We refer to the world's largest Christmas tree. It is erected in Zilker Park on the south bank of Town Lake in your Capital City.

This tremendous, Texas-size spirit of Christmas in 185 feet tall. It's not of fir, or spruce, or pine. It is composed largely of metal.

You've heard of the fabulous Moonlight Towers of Austin. Well, this is an expansion of that idea — magnified thousands of times over — with not a few lights but thousands of them.

Long, sturdy cables, wrapped with electric wires bearing 3,500 colorful red, green, blue, yellow and white light bulbs, fan out conically from the tip of the tower. . . spreading a glow of 82,500 watts of candlepower. Their coverage, teepee style, over such an expansive area, is so great that motorists drive their cars under the gigantic "tree."

It's truly a sight to behold. . .

An attraction that can be seen for miles and miles — and draws thousands of motorists, day and night, to witness its magnificent splendor.

AIDES ANNOUNCED
Gov.-elect Preston Smith is moving smoothly through organizational preliminaries in preparation for taking over the chief executive's office on January 21.

His staff already is virtually complete.

To the appointments he announced earlier, Smith added these:

Vernon A. McGee of Austin, head of the Legislative Budget Board for 16 years before he lost his job two years ago, will be the governor's major assistant for program development.

Austin attorney Robert D. (Bob) Bullock, former state representative from Hillsboro and one of Smith's key campaign workers, as appointments assistant, legal and travel aides.

Larry Teaver Jr., a longtime Lubbock friend, as an administrative assistant and general office manager.

Indications are Smith wants former State Sen. Martin Dies Jr. as his first secretary of state. The popular Dies told newsmen last week he had not at that time been approached by either the governor-elect or his principal aides. He added he would "seriously consider" taking the "cabinet" post — highest appointive plum the governor can bestow — if it is offered, however.

Rounding out Smith's first team are Harold K. Dudley, executive assistant; Jerry Hall, press secretary; and James P. Oliver, budget director.

PRISON IMPROVEMENT

Governor-elect Smith has proposed the state's prisons as natural places to "concentrate some of our first action grants" under the new federal anti-crime program.

Smith told a meeting of probation and parole officers in Lubbock that "taking an offender out of society and placing him in prison often merely compounds the problems of helping him work into society as a law-abiding citizen who can support himself proudly and honestly."

"Our job in the coming months and years will be to find out what can be effective," Smith said. "Chances are, we will find that an extensive job-training and education program will be a big part of the answer."

APPOINTMENTS

It's raining appointments from the Governor's office these days.

Gov. John Connally got far behind with filling vacancies to state agencies. His office once estimated he had nearly 200 to catch up on. At least one major post — chairmanship of the Texas Employment Commission — is four years overdue. It's traditional that governors fill vacancies occurring during their administrations, though appointees actually serve through terms of the present governor's successor.

Such was the case when Connally re-appointed Joe D. Carter to the key post of Texas Water Rights Commission Chairman. Price Daniel originally named Carter in 1961, and he served throughout Connally's administration. Carter's initial term actually expired in August of 1967, but Connally delayed re-appointment until last week.

New term extends to February 1, 1973.

A different kind of appointment was Connally's choice of Amarillo contractor Leon P. Gilvin to succeed Will Odom of Austin as chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission. Odom resigned unexpectedly. Gilvin will serve until February 1, 1971, when Odom's term expires.

Connally re-appointed Heino Staffell Jr. of Austin, Grady C. Clark Jr. of Corpus Christi and Garwood Gerdes of Giddings to the State Seed and Plant Board to serve until October 6, 1970.

Re-appointed to the Sabine River Authority are J. L. Payne of Hemphill, E. A. Meek of Newton, D. N. Beasley of San Augustine and Gus Morris of Greenville. Dudley Davis of Center and O. N. Pederson of Kilgore are new appointees to SRA.

City Secretary Virgil Gray of Brownwood will succeed Jimmie L. Mormon of Mesquite, who resigned, on the board of trustees of Texas Municipal Retirement System. Unexpired term runs until December 31, 1970.

Dr. James E. Peavy was named to the State Board of Health to a new term as Texas Health Commissioner. He has held this position since 1959.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Texas Highway Department can contract with Arkansas (subject to governor's approval) to participate in the cost of a joint road construction project. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that Harlingen Housing Authority property is not taxable even though part is let to concessionaires to serve residents; and that the Land Commissioner cannot alone reinstate a forfeited land purchase contract on settlement of delinquent account, though the State Land Board can reinstate at any time up to resale bid acceptance.

Blizzards Flank Bearcats 54-51 In 7-AA Opener Here Tuesday Night

The Winters High School Blizzard basketball team moved on with their winning way by defeating the Ballinger Bearcats 54-51 here Tuesday night, to open District 7-AA competition.

The near capacity crowd in Blizzard gym saw the Blizzards overcome the Ballinger jinx and move into a first play tie for district.

The starting five jumped off to a first quarter lead with smooth ball handling and sharp shooting. Gary Antilley and Reece McCuiston built a fire with their long shots from outside to give Winters a 16-9 lead at quarter.

However, the youthful Blizzards got lost in the confusion during the second quarter. Fourteen turnovers which resulted from violations and bad passes nearly caused the Blizzards to get too far behind. The Winters lads found only 8 points while Ballinger tossed in 22.

Halftime score was 31-24 in favor of the visiting Bearcats. A summit conference was held in the Winters dressing room at half time with Coach Jerry Neely presiding. An agreement, or understanding, or what-may, must have been reached from the man-to-boy talk, because the Blizzards launched an assault on the Bearcats that was too much to overcome.

Donny Killough hit two long jumpers from the corner, but then left the game via the foul route. His replacement, Bob Colburn, picked up where he left off by hitting another jump shot. The Blizzards now trailed 38-40 as the third quarter ended.

The fourth quarter was more of the same with Bob Colburn providing most of the fireworks. As the final buzzer sounded, all of the Blizzards jumped for joy... they had beaten Ballinger 54-51 and were tied for the district lead.

The Blizzards hit 41 percent of their field goal attempts during the first half, but managed 52 percent in the final half. Johnny Cathey led the scoring with 16, followed by Gary Antilley and Bob Colburn with 13 apiece. Cathey also led rebounds with 10.

"B" TEAM LOST

The Winters "B" team lost to the Ballinger B's, 42-44, in a wild outing that saw the Blizzards stripped to bare bone. Foul-outs sent a string of Blizzards to the bench, and when the game ended, there were three Blizzards on the floor, contesting five Bearcats. Coach Jerry Neely said given a few more minutes, these three just might have moved up even and passed the Ballinger team.

Goal Digger Club Met In Hicks Home On Monday Evening

ings, consisting of general studies, college preparatory courses and vocational courses. Individual student needs and differences were met by effective scheduling in high school.

"The number of areas to consider in planning for further improvement of the total school program," included:

—Vocational course offerings were quite limited. (Supt. Tatom said this area is receiving much attention from the administration and the school board in an effort to upgrade the vocational department. Much of this should be accomplished within a short time, he indicated.)

—Storage facilities for industrial arts (wood shop) were inadequate, as were those storage facilities in many other high school rooms.

—Facilities designed to insure a balanced physical education program for the elementary school during periods of inclement weather were not available. (Supt. Tatom said the school board is planning to pave some of the school ground area which would keep students out of the mud following rains. Other plans are also being studied to rectify this situation, he said.)

—Subjects in the same curricular area were taught in several different classrooms, thus necessitating the moving of audio-visual equipment and other instructional aids from classroom to classroom. This hampered fully effective use of those instructional resources and resulted in the loss of instructional time.

—Coordination of the language arts program for the various grade levels of the school could be improved. It did not appear that teachers of the same subject at the various grade levels had scheduled opportunities for study of the curriculum as it related to a particular subject.

Superintendent Tatom said the school administration, the school board, the faculty, and everyone connected with operation of the school, were determined to maintain the excellent standards exhibited in the local school, and to work to make improvements, not only in areas which are known to be in need of improvement, but in other areas as well.

The superintendent said that the excellent report received from the accreditation team is not the result of efforts on the administration and faculty alone, but that the cooperation and understanding of the entire community is highly responsible.

gator Tops club met for the regular meeting and Christmas party on December 16.

Mrs. Alpheus Hill, Mrs. Richard Beck, Mrs. Joe Bryan, Mrs. E. F. Albro, Mrs. Pat Pritchard, Mrs. Bill Hamilton, Mrs. George Cave and Mrs. Wayne Owens were present.

The program was presented by Mrs. Albro and Mrs. Beck. A poem written by each was read and enjoyed by all. The six weeks contest ended and Mrs. Pat Pritchard won the gift. Mrs. Pat Pritchard is queen this week.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Every year you see some hunter who shoots at high-flying geese—far out of range. Or a person who misses a big deer because he undershot or overshot. Or a gunner who wastes ammunition at doves that are beyond the range of his shotgun.

Ability to judge distances properly can make a vast difference in your skill as a hunter. If you can size up a situation closely and know when to shoot or hold your fire, you'll be spared much of the disappointments of shooting at out-of-range targets which you have no chance of hitting.

More important, particularly when hunting with a shotgun, you'll cut down the chance of crippling game.

In places where long-distance shots are common, such as the Trans-Pecos region of Texas or maybe the mountains of Colorado, it is amazing how far off some people's estimates of

HEIDENHEIMER'S

Progress Makes Velvet Walls Possible Now

College Station.—A newly-developed electrostatic fiber finish now makes an elegant and durable velvet-surfaced finish water proof, flame proof and resistant to dirt and stains, reports Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishing specialist. The finish provides special insulation and sound absorbent qualities to any surface to which it is applied.

The velvet-like effect on the fiber finish is achieved by a process similar to that used in flocking. Individual fibers are bonded individually end-first, into a special adhesive through the electrostatic process. The resulting installation is completely free of seams and overlaps, she explains.

Electrostatic fiber finishes can be used over masonry, plaster, wood, concrete wallboard, metal, plastic, paper, fabric and a variety of other surfaces, adds the Extension specialist at Texas A. & M. University. The finish may be as short and soft as suede or as plush and resilient as heavy carpeting, depending on the aesthetic and functional purposes to be served.

Several natural and synthetic fibers may be used in the process. A special nylon fiber is recommended for areas of heavy wear, while polyesters are preferred for installations receiving exposure to the elements.

The electrostatic fiber finish is available in a complete line for colorfast fibers, says the specialist. Special color blends are possible by intermixing fibers of different colors.

Mrs. Berry recommends an occasional vacuuming or sponging with soap and water. Stubborn spots and stains usually can be removed successfully without damage to the finish, she says.

When actually paced off, many a 300-yard rifle shot turns out to have been closer to half that distance, or perhaps much farther away.

Put your estimates of various distances to actual tests under conditions where they can be checked and you might be surprised how wrong you are. Pick out lamp posts, street corners, window ledges, trees or other objects. Estimate the distance to them, then step it off. See how near you come to being correct.

Practice in estimating distance, before you hunt, will be a big help to you in the field. For the shotgun enthusiast, skeet shooting or practice with a hand trap can be an invaluable aid. Distances are known in skeet, but they vary from station to station as do the leads required. In time, you'll soon become proficient at judging both.

With the hand trap, place stakes at varying distances—say 20, 25, 30 and 40 yards. Watch the targets carefully as they sail over them.

A quail is about the same size as a clay target. A pheasant or duck is quite a bit larger.

In rifle hunting, proper range estimate is vital to the correct sight picture. For a rifle sighted in at 100 yards, the points at which you should hold on an animal, whether you're using a scope or open sights, can easily be determined if you know how far away he is.

With a shotgun, the lead situation changes radically as range increases. If your estimates are way off, you're doomed to failure before you start.

The rifle shooter must know where his rifle is shooting at various distances. For instance, if it is sighted in at 200 yards, shoot at 100 yards and also at 300 to determine where the bullet is hitting. Then you'll know exactly where to hold on animals at these ranges. Leave as little to chance as possible and you'll see your percentage of hits in relation to misses improve.

Type of terrain has a lot to do with judging range. In the high mountains of Colorado, distant objects appear much closer than they really are.

If you plan on hunting in Colorado or some other western mountainous state, try to arrange your schedule so you'll be in hunting country a day or two before the season opens. This will give you an opportunity to become accustomed to the new surroundings. Then you'll stand a much better chance of bagging a deer when you sight one.

The main complaint of the new low-priced government housing is that there is not enough parking space for the shiny new automobiles.

If you don't want your children to hear what you are saying, pretend you are talking directly to them.

JURY SNUBS CHARGES

Travis County grand jury found no legal basis for action in Republican party charges that employees of the State Agriculture Department were pressured for campaign contributions.

GOP spokesmen agreed that action now would be "untimely and precipitous" but said it will continue to investigate reports.

Grand jury called five witnesses, including a former state employee who gave the GOP a statement that he was squeezed for campaign contributions but got his money back through bogus expense accounts approved by his superiors.

Agriculture Commissioner J. C. (John) White said he was pleased that the jury had investigated the charges and found them "to be false."

Con-Men Busy During Christmas

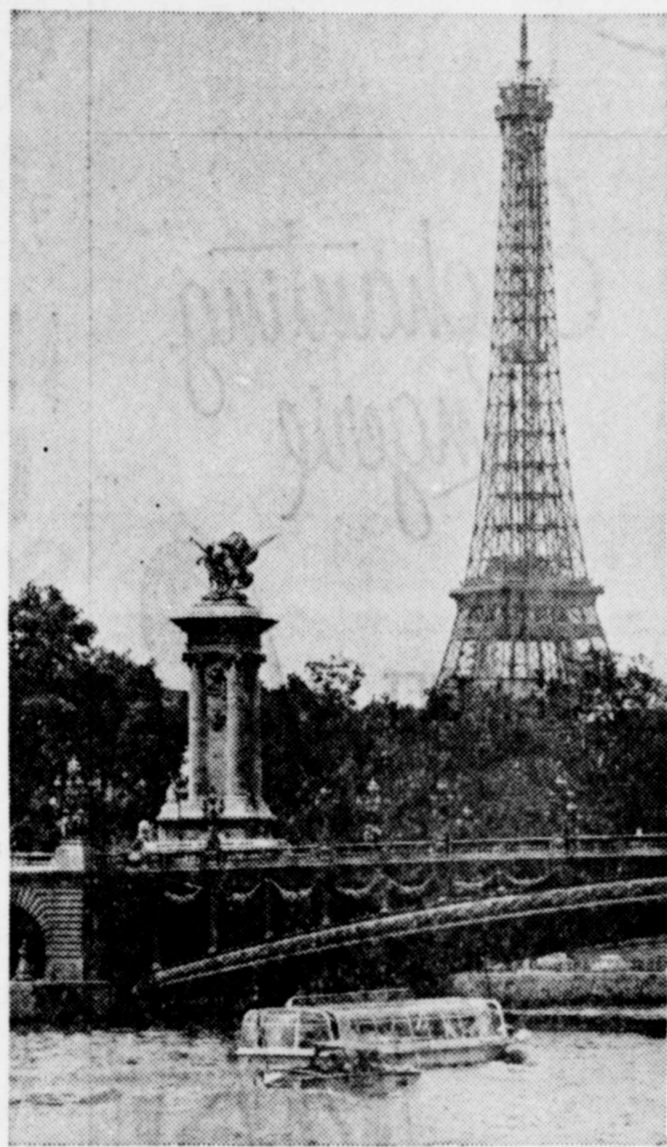

Gypsters with free prizes, bait advertising and special deals circulate more freely during the holiday season, warns an Extension home economist at Texas A&M University.

A few racketeers knock on doors with a package to deliver to a neighbor who is out at the time, says Mrs. Myers. They ask for the amount due suggesting you collect later from the neighbor, says the home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. But the neighbor never ordered the item and the money is lost.

Mrs. Myers also warns about bait ads and fictitious prices, common at Christmas. Bargains, usually nonexistent, attempt to draw customers into a store to purchase more expensive goods.

Fictitious tags carry inflated "original" prices which are dramatically cut, she says. Christmas is the season for follow-ups on the cards you dropped in the box at the fair hoping to win a free sewing machine. A letter will wish "Congratulations! Your name has been selected to win first prize. . ." All you have to do is buy an "inexpensive" cabinet or a five year service policy, Mrs.

SEINE SCENE in Paris where the upward thrust of the Eiffel Tower strikes a dynamic balance with the sightseeing craft on the river below.

Myers adds.

Fly-by-night merchants set up shop for the holiday season, selling a variety of goods which guarantee free exchange and a lifetime of service. When you return, the store is closed and the merchant has left town. Deal with an established firm, the Extension specialist advises.

Mail-order misrepresentations offer fantastic bargains in everything from mink stoles to watches, but the items may be worth only a fraction of the price.

Mrs. Myers cautions that these are only a few of the deals that may upset your budget and disposition and suggest that you be sure before you buy.

WORLD'S LARGEST

Both UT's scope and its telescope were increased with a formal dedication at the McDonald Observatory near Fort Davis.

Built for the University with support by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation, the third and largest of the University's huge telescopes atop Mount Locke has now been dedicated. More than 200 scientists, University officials and their guests witnessed the ceremonies.

According to Dr. Harry Ransom, UT System Chancellor, the new, 107-inch telescope is expected to play an important role in investigating the atmospheres of Mars and other planets for NASA. With a lens 100 times the size of the amateur cameraman's lens, the scope is housed in a 10-story, steel and concrete domed structure high atop the 6,791-foot mountain.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

When, through circumstances, someone is forced to bear the brunt of blame of another, he is said to be the "scapegoat."

This expression has its origin in the 16th chapter of Leviticus, a book in the Holy Bible.

As part of an ancient Hebrew ritual on the Day of Atonement, two goats were brought to the Altar of the Tabernacle. In the Bible story, the high priest, (in this case it was Aaron, brother of Moses) cast lots for the goats. One was sacrificed.

Then, after the high priest had cast his own sins plus those of his people on the remaining goat, it was taken to the wilderness and allowed to escape, thereby taking the sins of the people with it. "Scapegoat" became the shortened version of "escaped goat."

A similar custom of casting out sins has been observed by other people than the Hebrews. The aborigines of Borneo cast their sins on a ship. The ship is then turned loose on the ocean, and the first crew that sights this laden ship just naturally inherits its troubles.

Today, "scapegoat" is usually referred to as "goat." When someone willingly accepts blame, he is said to be the "goat" of whoever is really guilty.
