

Farmers Must Pay Self-Employment Tax On Income

Texas farmers are subject to self-employment tax for 1969 if their farm income is $400 or more, Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of the Internal Revenue Service has advised. The self-employment tax rate is 6.9 percent with a maximum of $538.20, and is in addition to income tax. A self-employed farmer is one who operates his own business or farm. A farmer is also considered self-employed if he emplloys others to operate or work his farm even though he does not live on it himself. A farmer must file a Federal Income Tax return and pay the self-employment tax due if his net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more, even if his gross income is less than $600 and he owes no income tax.

The self-employment tax applies to a maximum of $7800. But this figure is reduced by any wages from which Social Security taxes are withheld. A special optional provision in the law enables farmers to acquire Social Security credits even if they have a loss after expenses are deducted. "Farm" as used in the Federal tax law relating to Social Security and self-employment taxes, includes stock, dairy, poultry, fruit, fur bearing animals, and truck farms, and also plantations, ranches and nurseries. "Farmer's Tax Guide," IRS Publication 225, furnishes more detailed information on this subject. The booklet is available without charge by sending a post card to your county agent or Supply, Internal Revenue Service, P. O. Box 1738, Dallas, Texas 75221. The people who get the most kick out of life are those who kick the least. Read the Classified Ads!

CAR INSPECTION DEADLINE
April 15 is the deadline for motor vehicle inspections. Texas adopted the annual inspection program September 1. Vehicles inspected in January will bear stickers with "No. 1" and won't be up for reinspection before January, 1971. All cars which still have old stickers on the right side of the windshield

Farm Bureau In Membership Drive In County

The agricultural segment constitutes only about 5 percent of our total population, and the one-man-one-vote concept has stripped rural America of its former political power. However, this does not mean that the rural voice will no longer be heard. Only the strongly organized are heard; agriculture only needs a strong organization to have an impact on political decisions in Austin and in Washington.

The Farm Bureau, which is organized in more than 2,700 counties in 49 states (all except Alaska), provides a nationwide sounding board for commercial farmers and ranchers. A truly democratic organization, its policies are adopted by majority vote in county, state and national conventions.

The Farm Bureau is still growing in membership size despite a steady decline in number of farmers and ranchers. The Texas Farm Bureau registered a gain of some 6,000 members in 1969 while the American Farm Bureau Federation gained about 70,000 members.

The Runnels County Farm Bureau, with 980 members, is seeking its increase in membership strength through a county-wide enrollment campaign. The organization deserves the support of all those who desire to protect and promote their investment in agriculture.

The first Texas Farm Bureau was organized in the summer of 1920 and grew rapidly at first. Within the first year, it established a cotton marketing cooperative, and soon a number of other marketing cooperatives were set up.

In 1924 the organization's by-laws were amended to permit the marketing cooperative to pay members' dues. Thus, all members of the Farm Bureau cooperatives automatically became members of the Farm Bureau. As the cooperatives either failed or became separated from the parent organization, Farm Bureau's membership dwindled. By 1932, the first Farm Bureau in Texas had ceased operation.

With the increasing interest in agricultural legislation during the first years of the New Deal came renewed efforts to organize Texas farmers and ranchers.

The Texas Agricultural Association was chartered in 1934. Two years later it became affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation, and still later changed its name to Texas Farm Bureau.

H. G. Lucas of Brownwood served as president of the newly-organized TTA. He was succeeded by C. H. Day of Plainview. J. Walter Hammond of Tye was elected TFB president in 1939 and served until 1957 when J. H. West of Bishop was named president. West served until 1962 and was succeeded by C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma who served until November, 1967. Sidney Dean of Victoria is current president.

The fledgling organization never had more than a few thousand members during the 1930s although dues were only $2 a year during that period.

By 1945, there were some 7,000 members in the Farm Bureau in Texas. During the next five years, it grew to more than 50,000 members as scores of new counties were organized. Dues averaged about $5 per year during that period. Dues were increased to an average of $10 per member in 1950. (Dues vary by county.) The organization has grown each year since 1952.

The Texas Farm Bureau has accomplished much in the field of state legislation in the past three decades. Among its accomplishments are animal health laws, farm-to-market road system, egg reading law, tractor gas refund, exemption from sales tax on farm machinery, funds for agricultural research and education, improved feed, seed and insecticide laws.

The Texas Farm Bureau initiated its first service-to-member program in 1944 when it entered into an agreement with Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas for a pre-paid hospital and surgical program. In 1946, the TFB joined with other states to found the Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Co. The Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Insurance Co. was established in 1947 in association with other southern state Farm Bureaus. In 1950, the TFB set up its own TFB Insurance Co., offering fire and extended coverages. The company, which was converted into a mutual company in 1958, later began writing crop-hail insurance for members.

In the early 1960s, the TFB expanded its services to include promotion and development of export markets in Europe for Texas commodities. The organization also operates a marketing program for spent hens.

The latest economic service program, instituted in 1965, involves sale of Farm Bureau's own Safemark tires and batteries to members through independent dealers. More than 180 Texas counties are now participating in this service program.

The Texas Farm Bureau today has 116,622 members in 203 organized counties. About 170 counties have their own offices. The Texas Farm Bureau board of directors is composed of 13 directors, one from each of the 13 districts in the state. Present officers are: Sidney Dean, Victoria, president; M. F. Frost, McAllen, vice president; and H. L. King, Brownfield, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the board are: Dist. 1, Carrol Chaloupka, Dalhart; Dist. 2, H. L. King, of Brownfield; Dist. 3, T. J. Richards, Paducah; Dist. 4, J. T. Woodson, Gober; Dist. 5, Edwin Sanderson, Paris; Dist. 6, Bill Reid, Lamesa; Dist. 7, B. J. Gist, Abilene; Dist. 8, John A. Smith, Cameron; Dist. 9, Steve Lilly, Nacogdoches; Dist. 10, Robert Faselor, Hondo; Dist. 11, Ed L. Woodfin, Fresno; Dist. 12, J. M. Price, Corpus Christi; Dist. 13, M. F. Frost, McAllen.

There are now more than 370 employees of the Texas Farm Bureau and its affiliated insurance services. Of these, some 270 are in the state headquarters located at 401 Franklin Avenue, Waco.

7th, 8th Grade Bands To District Contest In Brady

Thirty-eight members of the 7th and 8th grade bands of Winters Junior High School will participate Saturday in the Region VII All-District Band contests in Brady.

Kirke McKenzie, director of the Winters bands, is chairman of the region band committee. Students who are chosen for the All-District band will present a concert at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, following the contests. Fifteen schools will be represented in the contests.

Frozen Concentrated Orange Juice
How do you like your frozen concentrated orange juice? Probably diluted and ready for refreshing drinking. But there are other ways to use this versatile item, says Mrs. O'Connor.
This concentrate, undiluted, adds extra flavor to main dishes, salads, beverages, and desserts.
Large carryover stocks of frozen orange juice coupled with a heavy pack this season have produced plentiful supplies, according to the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. Stocks of chilled juice and canned single-strength juice also are large.
The method of serving orange juice can be varied, even for breakfast. The sharp citrus taste mingles with a number of breakfast foods for tasty eating.
For Florida-Style Cereal, top each serving of oatmeal or other hot cereal with 2 tablespoons of orange juice concentrate. Sprinkle with brown sugar.
Make pancakes, waffles or French toast even tastier by topping them with Orange Maple Syrup. In a saucepan, combine 1-4 cup orange juice concentrate, 1-4 cup butter and 1 cup maple syrup. Heat gently until warm. Makes 1 1/2 cups.
For an Orange Banana Compote, add 2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate mixed with 1 tablespoon honey to 2 sliced bananas for flavor and to prevent bananas from turning dark.
Make an Orange Fizz by filling a tall glass with crushed ice. Spoon in 3 tablespoons orange juice concentrate. Fill to top with gingerale and top with sprig of mint or maraschino cherry.
Frozen concentrate orange juice gives extra flare to desserts.
This Fluffy Orange Dressing is ideal for dessert fruit salads. It's especially good over fresh orange or grapefruit sections. Blend 6 tablespoons (1/2 can) orange juice concentrate with 1-2 cup mayonnaise. Fold in 1-2 pint heavy cream, whipped. Makes about 2 1-2 cups.
Orange-Broiled Grapefruit is especially appropriate while grapefruit is in such good supply. Spoon 1 tablespoon orange juice concentrate over sectioned half grapefruit. Dot with 1 teaspoon butter. Place grapefruit on broiler rack three inches from heat. Broil slowly 15 to 20 minutes—or until grapefruit is slightly brown and heat through.
A Smooth Orange Glaze makes a tasty cake topping. Blend 2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate with 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar. Frost one 10 inch tea ring or angel cake, or a 9 inch square of gingerbread.
Quick Orange Butter Frosting is good on cakes, brownies or cupcakes. This recipe frosts and fills two 8 inch layers or three dozen brownies or cupcakes. Melt 1-2 cup butter, blend in 1-4 cup orange juice concentrate. Stir in about 3 1-2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 cup at a time, beating until smooth.
For an Easy Orange Sundae, spoon 1 to 2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate over a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

56 Whooping Cranes On Aransas Wildlife Refuge

There are 56 wild whooping cranes on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.
While birdlovers were already overjoyed with the record number of 55 whoopers which had reached their winter home on the Texas Gulf Coast, the belated arrival of the extra bird has been cause for more rejoicing among conservationists who have watched the big white birds gallant battle against extinction.
Refuge Manager Gordon Hansen, who supervises the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife refuge, had observed a total of 56 cranes on an aerial count in December. This new record high was not announced by the Department of Interior until it could be confirmed by second aerial census. Fog, rain and low visibility prevented the confirming count until today.

From a low of 15 birds in 1941, the flock has shown a slow but steady increase ever since the Aransas Refuge was set aside as their winter sanctuary. This year's count now shows 48 adults and 8 young in the wild flock, which makes a perilous 2,000 mile trip to Texas from their nesting ground in northern Canada each year. In addition to the wild birds, their are now 23 whooping cranes in captivity, most of them at the Patuxent Research Center, operated by the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife in Maryland.
