HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

A rash of grass fires—in town and in the country—has caused members of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department to meet themselves coming back during the past several days.

Last Wednesday, the alarm sounded, firemen showed up at the station, and one truck went one way, and another truck went another way. One fire had been reported east of town at the same time a fire was reported west of town.

Monday of this week, firemen were called to a grass fire just outside of Wingate. On their way to the first blaze, they spotted another grass fire. They figured the one they sighted was small enough to let go for a few minutes, until they extinguished the one for which the alarm had been turned in. When they finished the original fire, they returned to put out the other.

The Winters Volunteers have been called out to fight grass fires at least seven times during the past two weeks—up to Monday afternoon. There may have been more by the middle of the week.

There was little or no rain during June, and things are getting just a bit dry—just right for a fire. Fire Chief Marvin Bedford reminds us that even the grass which looks "green" will burn like a tinderbox once a blaze is started, and conditions are "just right" for a big fire, if people get a little careless. Some of the fires probably were started by cigarettes thrown from cars; it is thought that at least one fire was started when a mower blade struck a flint rock.

The dry grass of the countryside is not the only place fires can start. Chief Bedford reminds us that right here in town there are patches—whole lots—of dry grass and weeds which make a perfect setting for a fire, which could develop into a dangerous situation. Many people still burn their trash—and some of them still walk away and leave a trash fire to burn itself out. This is risky business—an ember could float up from the trash fire, settle in dry grass and weeds and then roar into yards and nearby buildings. If the wind is blowing just a bit, things could get out of hand quickly, endangering lives and property.

We are reminded that if we just have to burn trash—anytime—that we should thoroughly soak the immediate area around the trash, and then have a good water hose handy—preferably WITH THE WATER TURNED ON—and never leave the scene while there is a chance that one spark remains. (Best thing to do is not to light a trash fire, anyway, but to either put it in containers for the sanitary department truck, or to haul it away ourselves. It's safer.)

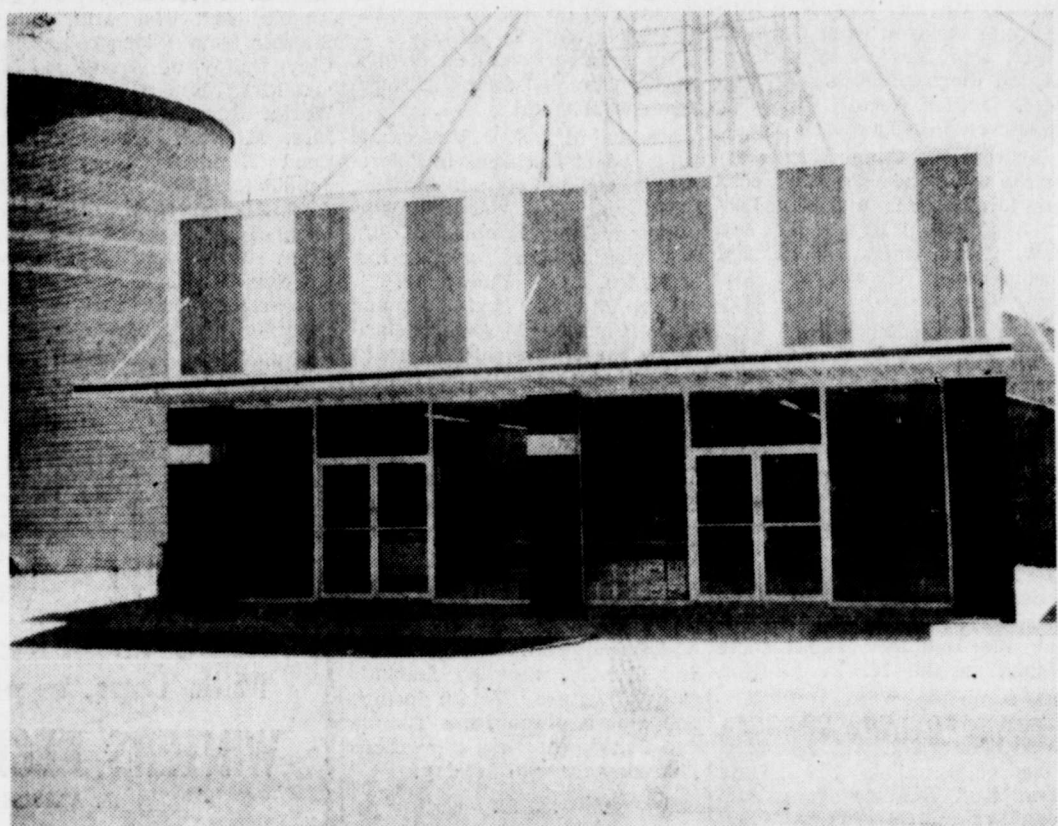

During these hot summer days, the blaze of a grass and weed fire is not the only danger to firemen. There is nothing hotter than fighting a grass fire on a hot day... and heat exhaustion, or worse, is a danger every fireman has to contend with each time. We should all think of that—constantly.

A Winters lady drove to Abilene last week, and parked her car in a public parking lot. After she had completed her business, she started to get in her car to leave when she noticed another car, parked on a slight incline, rolling slowly toward a busy street. She ran over, hoping to put the brakes on, but the door was locked and the windows were rolled up. She ran around in front, and managed to stop it; but when she would let go, it would start (Continued on page 8)

Farmers Getting Program Payments Earlier, First Checks Out July 1

Farmers who have contributed to stabilizing markets for food and fiber and to the conservation of soil and water resources by taking part in the 1970 wheat, feed grain, and cotton programs are receiving their program payments earlier this year than ever before.

The first batch of payments were made July 1, 1970. Additional payments will continue to be made as rapidly as farmers certify compliance with program requirements and as fast as individual farm records can be processed and checks returned to ASCS county offices for distribution to farmers.

Most payments should be completed by mid-August, if farmers who signed up will complete the necessary certification indicating that they have complied with all of the program provisions.

Farm program payments help maintain a balance between supply and demand, the Chairman explained. He pointed out that both farmers and consumers benefit from this balance.

Agricultural productivity almost doubled in the past 20 years, but farmers' markets take only about a third of this increase. This means we need new markets. Farm programs help us hold down farm production and maintain farm income until new markets are developed and old ones expanded.

Hugh surpluses must be avoided. They are costly in tax dollars and are wasteful of food and fiber.

Farm programs help farmers make adjustments in their individual farming operations that in the long run will result in more farm income from the marketplace and less from the public treasury.

Since farmers are $50-billion-a-year purchasers of goods and services produced in our cities and rural towns, the workers and business firms in cities and towns benefit from farm programs, too.

Farm programs also make important contributions to conservation of natural resources and help fight pollution. Acres that are diverted out of crop production under farm programs are put to conserving uses such as the growing of grass and trees. Such practices conserve soil and water, provide habitat for wildlife and small game, help prevent pollution of our streams from sediment and agricultural chemicals or waste products, and reduce air pollution caused by blowing dust.

When a farmer takes land out of production and puts it to a soil-and-water-conserving use, he gives up the value of the production he normally would have received as income. At the same time, the farmer pays taxes on land removed from production even though that land produces no crops. Program payments are designed to compensate him for these voluntary contributions toward a more stable farm economy and a better environment.

In recent years, the U. S. Department of Agriculture had advanced partial payments to farmers during the spring sign-up period for the feed grain program only. The balance of the feed grain payment, and cotton and wheat payments were generally made starting in late July and continuing through August and September, or later.

Because of budget restraints, partial payments could not be made this year. However, the Department made a commitment to farmers that full payments would be made as early as possible. That commitment is now being fulfilled.

Lone Star Gas Seeks 20% Increase In Commercial Gas Use Rate Here

Lone Star Gas Co. has petitioned the City of Winters for authority to increase the commercial use gas rate here. The increase requested would amount to about 20 percent, according to Buford Baldwin, City Secretary.

H. Chapple of San Angelo, an auditor for Lone Star, met with the City Council Monday night to present the petition. He explained that costs in production and increases in other expenses made necessary the request for a raise in the rates in Winters.

The last commercial rate increase was granted in 1954, he explained.

The gas company requested, and received, authority to increase residential gas rates earlier this year, but at that time did not include the commercial rate increase in the request. Residential rates were raised to 7.5 cents per thousand cubic feet, or about 8.87 percent. Residential rates are not affected in this more recent petition.

City Council will study the request, City Secretary Baldwin said, and action will be taken later this month or in August.

In other action Monday night, the City Council discussed a Clean-Up week with members of a civic affairs group from the Chamber of Commerce—Dr. Tommy Russell, Carroll Tatom, M. D. Johnston, George Garrett, J. B. Whitlow, and Woodrow Watts.

The committee presented a list of several suggestions regarding a clean-up within the city, including several ideas to be considered in the near future. These included additional paving, annexation, abandoned and junk cars, sub-standard dwellings, livestock ordinances, care of cemeteries, and cutting of low brush and weeds at intersections. The Council accepted the suggestions for future study, and agreed to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring a clean-up week, designated in a proclamation by the Mayor for July 13-25.

Crop Conditions Appear Good, But All Runnels County Needs Rain

Crop conditions countywide appear to be good, but rain is badly needed at the present time, C. T. Parker, county agricultural agent, said Monday.

Milo is in a stage of growth which will demand moisture within the next few days to completely develop, Parker said. In fact, some milo in North Runnels is getting "pink" and is within 2-3 weeks of being ready.

June was a dry month, with little rain falling anywhere in the county. Some isolated spots received heavy "scattered" showers, but there has been no general rainfall. Even though rain is badly needed in the Winters and Norton areas, these two sections are in a "little better shape for moisture" than the rest of the county, he said.

"A good rain now would produce as good a crop of milo as we've ever had in the county," Parker said. He said there are from 80,000 to 100,000 acres planted of milo in the county.

Referring to the cotton crop, Parker said up until "two or three weeks ago," it did not look so good, countywide. However, he said, the weather for the past several days has been "real good cotton weather—adverse for milo, but good for the cotton crop."

Money Available To Purchase Land For Winters' Housing Project

Funds to purchase land on which to build housing for the elderly and low income families has been received by the Winters Housing Authority, Oliver Wood, executive secretary of the Authority said this week, and work to obtain clear title to the property is now going on.

Title procedure should be completed within six weeks or two months, Wood said, and then the Authority will call for bids on the project.

Several property sites have been chosen by the local Authority, and accepted by the Federal Housing and Urban Development Administration. Plans are to construct 46 units, with 30 of these designated for elderly persons and 16 for families in the low-income brackets.

Wood said that after the first call for bids, it would be about six months, at least, before construction could begin. The project already has been approved by HUD, with that administration having the final approval on plans and bids.

There are about 16 separate parcels of land included which have been approved for purchase, and negotiations already have been made with present owners. Paper work is all that remains to be done before the land officially becomes the property of the Housing Authority.

Winters Housing Authority recently received $20,000 to be used in purchase of the needed property.

Land for the 30 units designated for the elderly is located close to the business area of town, for obvious reasons. One site is on the southeast corner of North Grant and East Parsonage, on the location of the old Crouch Lumber Yard. The other for these 30 units is across the street north.

Other locations are east of the school, on the corner of Rogers and Jones streets, and on the corner of Walnut and Brazos.

Planned construction will be duplexes, single story, of brick construction.

Rental of the units will be controlled by the Winters Housing Authority, under regulations controlled by HUD, it is understood.

FROM DESOTO

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Millhorn, son, Ray and grandson, Gary of De Soto visited her mother, Mrs. Parrilee Griffith at Merrill Nursing Home and in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Millhorn over the past week end.

The week of July 13-18 has been designated as general "Clean-Up Week" in Winters, with the Chamber of Commerce, City of Winters, and County Commissioner Melvin Mapes cooperating in the effort. The Public Affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce is spearheading the drive.

Mayor Wade White has officially proclaimed the week as "Clean-Up Week," and called on all residents for cooperation in the drive, as "A neat appearance is of great value."

Attempts will be made to pick up all debris from streets, alleys and vacant lots, and residents and businesses have been asked to make special efforts to "shine-up" their premises.

Extra trucks and equipment from various departments of the City of Winters will be provided to help haul away debris and cut weeds and grass where possible. Commissioner Mapes also will provide trucks and personnel to help haul trash.

The first two or three days of the week will be used to accumulate the trash, with hauling to be accomplished in the latter part of the week.

Residents and businesses are being asked to cut the weeds and grass on their premises, and to help clean up vacant lots and side streets where possible. It is requested that trash and refuse be put in containers—boxes or cans—so that personnel on trucks can handle it as quickly as possible.

It is the desire of the "Clean-Up Week" sponsors that the work be completed during this special week, so that visitors coming to the city for the Little League tournament on the following week "will be more favorable impressed with our City," sponsors said.

The office of the Chamber of Commerce will serve as a coordinating center in the clean-up effort, and will accept calls from people who accumulate trash to be hauled away, and relay the information to pick-up crews.

Cleaning-up of the city is called for not only for health reasons. Piles of trash and high weeds and grass make ideal breeding places for mosquitoes and rodents, and create a health hazard to everyone, it was stated.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

A Look At The Cigaret Stocks

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass. July 9, 1970. The steady growth that characterized domestic consumption of cigarettes during the 1950s and early 1960s was transformed into a two-year decline in 1968 and 1969 as the anti-cigarette crusade gained momentum. The substantial increases in state and local taxes on cigarettes also contributed to the reduction in domestic consumption.

Helping to offset this cutback in domestic demand is the international market, which is growing at a rate of 4 percent a year. This market—about three times as big as that in the U. S.—is expected to receive increasing promotional emphasis and attention in the years ahead. For although diversification into non-tobacco products is proceeding at a rapid pace, the manufacturers are not overlooking the importance of tobacco to their operations (with most major producers, tobacco products still account for the biggest chunk of earnings). They are making every effort to maintain and possibly increase their tobacco business. To this end, the search for a "safe" cigarette continues to draw substantial research and development spending.

Off The Airwaves

A recently enacted law prohibits advertising of cigarettes on radio and television after January 1, 1971. It is likely that the absence of TV and radio ads will make it more difficult to introduce new brands, and the shifting of consumer preference from one brand to another may become less frequent. This could lead to some substantial cost savings for the industry. Spending on radio and television by the cigarette makers is estimated to exceed $200 million. Although a part of this spending may be shifted to print media such as newspapers and magazines, it seems likely that a large portion of the money will be used to help finance further diversification moves and some of it will undoubtedly filter directly into company earnings.

Recent Price Hikes

The latest round of cigarette price boosts, to as high as 45 cents a thousand cigarettes, is the first general increase since May 1969 when the manufacturers raised their prices 35 cents a thousand. It has been estimated that the latest round of increases will add about 35 cents to 40 cents a share this year to earnings of the major cigarette companies.

Profit margins should also

Social Security For Young Families

"Social security is much more than a retirement program," explained J. M. Talbot, social security manager. "It can mean financial security to young families whose breadwinner becomes disabled or dies." The young worker whose take-home pay is less because of a deduction for social security is paying for insurance for himself and his family in case of his death or disability, as well as for retirement benefits and Medicare.

This means that should a young family man become disabled or die, he and his wife or his survivors may receive non-taxable social security benefits based on his earnings.

Family members who qualify for such benefits include a wife at age 62 or a widow at age 60 (or a younger wife or widow if she has children under age 18 in her care), unmarried children under 18 and those disabled since before age 18, as well as those unmarried, under age 22 and still in school. Dependent parents may also qualify for benefits at age 62.

"Thus, that social security deduction," Mr. Talbot stated, "just might be the young worker's most important investment."

Mr. Talbot urged those wanting more detailed information about social security to contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative where he is in your area.

Austin, Tex.—A blue-ribbon insurance study committee has recommended exploring Texas' compulsory auto liability coverage and a careful look at allegations that garages charge more for policy-covered repairs.

Report went to Gov. Preston Smith prior to the State Insurance Board hearing July 14-15 on inclusion of insurance company investment income in the auto rate-making formula.

Smith indicated that the Board may not be ready this soon to evaluate the full effect of the formula change which also is backed by the study committee he named last summer after an auto policy rate hike was recommended.

Most observers think motorists are in for another increase in their premiums after the main August 17 rate hearing, regardless of whether the Board determines that investments should be figured in the base.

Study committee, headed by former Gov. Price Daniel, noted that North Carolina rates appear to be consistently low, although it also has a mandatory liability coverage. Massachusetts and New York, other mandatory insurance states, have higher rates.

Committee recommended that the Legislature look into ways to stop "excessive charges being made on repairs of insured automobiles" which, in turn, lead to escalating rates year after year.

Insurance industry is expected to ask new increases as high as 15 to 20 per cent at the August hearing.

Smith may ask Daniel's committee to examine the Board's final recommendation, as they did in 1969 (when rate adjustment was 9.9 per cent upward instead of 11.4 as originally recommended by the Board). However, the majority of the committee is cool toward going into more extended hearings like those required by their study last year.

CAPITOL ADDITION ASKED

An important part of state government may be going underground if a Building Commission proposal is approved.

Commission, in new budget requests, laid out plan for a 45,000-square-foot, $2.5 million underground addition to the capitol building, providing office space for legislators. Enlargement would be in a natural depression to the west of the present historic structure.

Commission also proposed these new projects.

—$126 million revamping of the north approaches to the capitol.

—$3 million parking facility for 320 cars.

—$215,000 renovation of the old Highway building for use by the Parks and Wildlife Department when the Highway Department's new headquarters is completed.

—$200,000 face-lifting of old Parks and Wildlife offices in the virtually new John Reagan State Office Building—for use

COURTS SPEAK

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a Fort Worth trial court order blocking further civil suits under the Sunday closing law until 13 cases are finally adjudicated.

State officials have taken to the 10th U. S. Court of Appeals their fight to stop spraying of land in northeast New Mexico with pesticide Toxaphene (to control tsetse catapillars). State claims Toxaphene would jeopardize the purity of Lake Meredith and thereby endanger water supplies of 11 Texas cities in the Panhandle and Great Plains.

APPOINTMENTS

George P. Taylor, formerly of Shamrock and McAllen, is now director of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity.

He succeeds Bob G. Allen, native of Hamilton, who moved to a new position in the state-local relations division of the governor's office.

Governor Smith announced that C. R. Hutcheson of Lubbock will serve as executive assistant to State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Elmer C. Baum of Austin.

Smith named Winston W. Lorenz, Stockdale mayor, to the Board of Directors of San Antonio River Authority, succeeding C. W. Millikin Jr. of Floresville, who resigned.

Robert E. Stewart took oath of office as State Banking Commissioner on July 1.

AG OPINIONS

Person who faces drivers license suspension as a result of refusing to submit to chemical breath analysis is entitled to have his hearing in the county of his residence, Attorney General Martin says. Martin held that county attorneys can, but don't have to, represent the state in such proceedings.

In other new opinions, Martin ruled that: —Special option purchase agreement between the State Department of Agriculture and International Business Machines Corporation on data-processing equipment is constitutional, since there is no obligation to spend money beyond revenues available at the time the debt is due.

—Legislature left to Commissioners Court determination as to whether office space should be furnished by the county for its home demonstration agent and county farm agent. In the absence of contractual obligation, says the AG, the Court isn't required to provide offices but has authorization to do so.

GAS RATE HIKE

State Railroad Commission granted Pioneer Natural Gas Company, serving 61 West Texas communities, a new rate of 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet on its gas.

That amounts to four cents of the 6.43 cent increase the company requested.

Rate is still subject to approval by individual city governing bodies before it finally goes into effect.

CHARTERS FORFEITED

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. announced that his office is forfeiting charters of 10,907 corporations for failure to pay state franchise taxes.

Figure, said Dies, is almost double last year's and indicates to him "this is a barometer reflecting general economic decline throughout the nation."

GRANTS APPROVED

A large range of new federal grants were approved for Texas agencies and programs. They include:

$531,286 for child development (Head Start) in Cameron County; $709,415 for emergency food and medical services; $150,605 for family planning programs; $50,135 for police tactical squad experiment; $42,000 for youth opportunity development program; and $30,000 to establish uniform procedures for recording and reporting criminal justice information.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

By VERN SANFORD

Although Texas has about the finest outdoors playground to be found anywhere, there are times when a fellow wants to see what's on the other side of the mountain. Anyway, that's the way we felt last summer when L. A. Wilke, another outdoors writer, and I teamed up for a flying trip to the Jackson Hole country.

It indeed was a flying trip.

We boarded a Frontier jet Monday noon in Dallas and by 6 p. m. deplaned at Jackson, Wyo., after having spent a couple hours visiting a fishing tackle plant in Denver. It would have required three days driving to get where we flew in only a matter of a few hours.

At Jackson, we were met by two great guides, Jim Marcel and Deke Hedrick of High Country Outfitters and made ready for a float trip on that famous Green River. We put in near Pinedale. Entire journey ordinarily requires three days, but we took only one day of a trip which customarily covers 120 miles. Water was beautiful and loaded with fish, especially fighting rainbows and hefty German trout.

We went down the fast moving river in inflatable rafts operated by these two excellent boatmen. Mind you, this is not a white-water trip. We found no rapids but the velocity of the stream was such that we were constantly moving unless we beached at a turn to take pictures or just admire the scenery.

After a day of that, we boarded Frontier again and flew into Billings, Mont. This flight took a little more than an hour. Here we got one of those second-best rental cars and drove down to Lovell, Wyo., a distance of about 90 miles.

Next day, accompanied by a group of Lovell businessmen and park and game officials, we went to Bighorn Reservoir. This is a new impoundment on the Bighorn River, created by the Yellowtail Dam, located downstream in Montana. This river, flowing north, is one of the most unusual streams in America. We went for 46 miles between high canyon walls. Sometimes as we looked up we estimated the height at 2,000 feet.

Scenery was fantastic. High walls of weathered sandstone, towering upward on both sides, were estimated to be millions of years old.

This is still Indian country and much of the land on both sides of the river is reservation, with no trasspassing permitted. However, there were no places to get off. When you get on this reservoir and pass the half-way mark, you must continue.

For that 46 miles there was no gas pump. Our boat was equipped with three six-gallon tanks and we used most of the gas on the way down. We fished very little that first day, just sightseeing.

Although there is a recreational tract of nearly 70,000 acres set aside in the area, it is not developed as yet and everything is still very primitive. This summer there will be some additional facilities, however, perhaps including rental boats. Also the Indians are installing a marina near the dam and it should be ready before summer ends.

Next day we went fishing. Bighorn Reservoir has been stocked with several species of trout, walleye and perch. Although our fishing wasn't spectacular, our party did come up with a good string by any standards, including a four-pound walleye.

Information on this impoundment is available from the Chamber of Commerce at either Lovell, Wyo., or Hardin, Mont.

After driving back to Billings we took the Frontier jet to Bozeman, Mont., got a rental car and motored overland 30 miles to Livingstone and Yellowstone River. There we were guests of Paul McAdams, who spends his winters in Texas and his summers on the banks of the Yellowstone River. He raises trout for catchout ponds on western guest ranches and we got a sample of the finest rainbow fishing any person could ever want.

Although this is perhaps the favorite fly-fishing spot in the United States, we used spinning and spin casting tackle with best results. Small spinner lures were most tempting to the rainbows and brown trout.

After a day at McAdams' Jumping Rainbow Ranch we returned to Bozeman for the night, boarded the jet for home next morning and were back in Austin by mid-afternoon.

Now that's what I call a flying fishing trip.

Despite some thoughts to the contrary, the hunter is directly responsible for today's extensive wildlife conservation program. Without him many species now plentiful would be extinct.

Hunters rate the mourning dove as the number one game in the United States. Regardless of whether it is hunted or not, the annual mortality of the mourning dove is between 70 and 80 percent.

This you may not believe, but there are more rifle and pistol ranges in the United States than there are golf courses. Furthermore, shooters outnumber golfers three to one.

Hunters have spent more than $100 million for duck stamps since the passage of the migratory bird-hunting stamp act of 1934. This revenue is used to preserve wetlands for waterfowl habitat.

Being Swedish, Ingrid Bergman is presumed not to know about cacti even if, in "Cactus Flower," the Frankovich production from Columbia Pictures also starring Walter Matthau at the State Theatre in Technicolor. The comedy's title symbolizes the actress' role. In "Cactus Flower," Miss Bergman plays an efficient, sometimes prickly, dental office nurse who suddenly blossoms out. ### HEALTH COLUMN

The crippling, contagious disease in South Texas, state, local, and federal health officials have mounted a state-wide immunization campaign to protect all young children against this disease. By the end of June, the Texas State Department of Health had received reports of fourteen possible cases of the disease. Of these, only three have been confirmed as polio. One case was diagnosed as ECHO virus, and then others remain under observation. One death has been attributed to polio, and the disease is suspected in one other fatality.

Dr. M. S. Dickerson, chief of the Communicable Disease Services section of the State Health Department, reports the paralytic polio outbreak in Texas has become an epidemic under the definition of the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the U. S. Public Health Service. Their guidelines say an outbreak will be considered an epidemic when there are two or more confirmed cases of the disease caused by the same type of virus during a four week period in a specific area. The three confirmed cases are of Type I polio virus, and all three were diagnosed in Hidalgo County.

The virus is attacking primarily children under one year of age, with the oldest reported case only three years old. These reported cases are coming out of families who have failed to take their children to a doctor or their local health department for immunization against the crippling disease. None of the children under observation by health officials had received any polio vaccine. All cases have some degree of paralysis.

Dr. Dickerson says health officials have mounted a massive polio immunization campaign. Some 40,000 doses of the Trivalent Oral Polio Vaccine were distributed in the last weekend of June to residents in the epidemic locality. But Dr. Dickerson stresses the need for a state-wide vigilance, and urges all parents to get their children immunized as soon as possible.

Polio immunization is carried out in five steps. The first dose of the Trivalent vaccine is recommended for the child of two months of age, when the protective antibodies the child received from his parents are beginning to diminish. A second dose is required at the age of four months. A third dose follows at six months of age, a fourth dose at eighteen months of age, and the fifth and final dose is recommended just prior to the child's admission to school. All five doses are necessary for full immunization.

The National Park idea began with Yellowstone in 1872, but the National Park Service was not created until 1916.

During World War II he served in the U. S. Air Force for three and a half years.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Michael and one daughter, Carla, both of the home; his step-mother, Mrs. Clifton Davis of Winters; two sisters, Mrs. Herbert Skinner of Austin and Mrs. Leon Worthington of Fresno, Calif.

Pallbearers were Dr. C. T. Rives, M. E. Mathis, Jake Presley, J. W. Bahlman, Johnny Dry, Carroll Tatom, Johnny Bob Smith, Raymon Lloyd and G. W. Sneed.

Sportsmen are said to be the cleanest when it comes to littering, with the least number of offenders. They are responsible for only 5 percent of the litter. Picnickers are blamed for 25 percent and passing motorists for 70 percent.

Home Town Talk--

moving again. She waved at passing motorists, and finally one did stop to see what the trouble was.

The lady told him the situation. He shrugged his shoulders, muttered, "I don't know what I could do about it," rolled up his car window and drove away, leaving the lady standing holding a loose car. She finally spotted a stone a few feet away, and ran and grabbed it in time to slip it under a rear wheel—just before the car was ready to gain momentum and roll into the heavy traffic.

She then returned to Winters... but she had quickly read and memorized the license number of the driver who had stopped, but didn't want to "get involved!"
