HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Registered voters will have an opportunity to vote November 3 on seven proposed amendments to the State Constitution. Among these proposals is Amendment No. 3 that would give the Legislature the authority to provide by law for the establishment of a uniform method of assessment of ranch, farm and forest lands, which shall be based on the capability of such land to support the raising of livestock and/or to produce farm and forest crops rather than upon the value of such lands and crops growing thereon.

This amendment, if passed and implemented, could virtually destroy the tax base of many school districts in Texas. For example, consider a school district with a large area of forest land. It is possible that such land could be placed on the tax roll at zero value if it produced no cash crop during a given year. Yet school costs for that year would continue and the entire cost would be placed on home owners, businesses and industry, and other producing farmers and ranchers.

The passage of Amendment No. 3 would unquestionably grant tax relief for certain categories of property owners. However, it follows inevitably that school costs will continue and home owners, business, industry, and producing farmers and ranchers would have to pick up an increasingly heavier tax burden to replace the revenue lost.

To oppose Amendment No. 3 is not necessarily against the interest of small farmers and ranchers. The Constitution already provides a special consideration in assessing property for tax purposes for those who earn their living from farming and ranching. However, corporations do not qualify for this consideration, and those who own land for reasons other than for their livelihood do not qualify.

Who are those who would benefit most from the implementation of Amendment No. 3? ONE: The absentee landlord who holds large amounts of land throughout the state—farm land, ranch land and timber land—landowners who do not necessarily earn their living from crop or cattle production.

TWO: Suburban land speculators and developers who purchase large tracts of land at the perimeter of growing cities, not for farming or ranching purposes, but for capital gain resulting from city growth.

The Winters Independent School District, like others dependent on tax revenue from land, homes, business, industry, oil and utilities, to support receipts from state sources. The Winters Public Schools will continue to operate from local tax revenue and state support. Implementation of Amendment No. 3 would decrease school taxes for certain property owners, and in turn, would increase ad valorem taxes for others. Therefore, each voter is urged to become familiar with all aspects of this amendment, and to vote according to individual judgment. This is the democratic way.

Many times... most times... action on the part of individuals does more toward presenting a favorable picture of a community than reams and reams of planned publicity. The following letter received by The Enterprise this week is a point in mind:

"Would like to send a letter of 'Thanks' to some very nice people in Winters. Three weeks ago our car went dead as we were driving through your city. It was raining and we were some distance from a station. A nice man in a pickup (we failed to get his name) pushed us to the Waddell Chevrolet building and called the mechanic for us. It was after working hours but the mechanic came down, then called the (Continued on page 8)

C. of C. Plans Special Events For Fall Season

A Harvest Day Sidewalk Sale, a Turkey Day Sale, and a Christmas Sale, are being planned as special commercial events for Winters merchants, sponsored by the Winters Chamber of Commerce and promoted by the Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber.

Harvest Days Sidewalk Sale will be held Saturday, November 7; Turkey Day Sale, Monday, November 23; and Christmas Sale, Monday, December 21.

Eventful themes will be used for each special day. Harvest Days Sidewalk Sale will feature the harvest theme, with merchants and clerks wearing special costumes. The Thanksgiving theme, with Pilgrim costumes, will be used for the Turkey Day Sale; Harvest Days Sale will be a Sidewalk event, if weather permits.

For the Turkey Day Sale, many merchants are planning to hold drawings to give away turkeys. These drawings will be on an individual merchant basis. Plans are to ask merchants to remain open late for the Christmas Sale, December 21.

The first event, Harvest Days Sidewalk Sale, will coincide with the Wildcat Show November 7-8, being sponsored by the VICA-DECA Clubs of Winters High School.

Deer and turkey season also opens in Runnels County November 14, Lewis said, and closes January 3. In this county, only antlered deer may be taken, and only two turkeys of either sex for the season.

The Game Warden suggested that all hunters be familiar with all regulations covering game hunted, and when in doubt contact wardens in areas where they plan to hunt.

Warden Lewis said daily bag limit for quail this year will be 15, with 45 possession limit.

Runnels County and most other surrounding counties are in the Permian Basin Regulatory District, Lewis said.

Concho County is a "general law" county, the warden said, with different regulations. In that county, the quail season opens December 1 and closes January 16, with daily bag limit of 12, and 36 in possession. Lewis suggested that hunters going to Concho County should contact wardens for additional information.

Winters Blizzards came from a seven-point deficit to knock off the until-then undefeated Coleman Bluecats by a score of 8-7 last Friday night. Fans were once again rained out and cold but really warmed up as they watched the Blizzards' exciting comeback.

The first break in the game was Coleman's as they recovered a fumble in midfield. They traveled to the 29 yard to have the determined defense of Winters stop them. On another possession the Bluecats were held on the 10-yard line of Winters.

The Blizzards had difficulty offensively with the tough Coleman defense and falling rain. A Winters pass attempt to move from their own 15 was fouled by an interception. This set up Coleman's touchdown as the Bluecats scored three plays later. With a good kick, Coleman led 7-0 at the half.

As Coleman controlled the first half, the Blizzards commanded the second. The Blizzard rally climaxed late in the third quarter. Mike Mathis, Joe Ivey and Von Byrd ate up 85 yards making seven straight first downs. Mathis went four yards on a fourth down and moved the ball to the 12-yard line. The next play Byrd took a pitchout from Ronnie Wilson to score. On the all-important conversion, Wilson hit Mathis for two points.

With rain still falling, the ball seemed more slippery every play. One fumble was covered five times before ownership was determined. The ball also changed hands on back-to-back interceptions. The game came to an end with the Blizzards threatening to score. The final score was an 8-7 victory for the Blizzards.

This victory puts Winters into one-half game out of top 8-AA standing. The Blizzards meet Comanche there Friday 7:30 for their fourth district contest.

Winters Seniors To College Night In Abilene 27th

About 40 members of the Winters High School senior class will attend the annual College Night informational assembly at Abilene Cooper High School, next Tuesday, October 27.

College-bound seniors, and their parents, will have an opportunity to attend three discussion groups to obtain information about three different colleges in which they are interested. Representatives from 27 colleges and universities will participate in College Night, beginning at 7:30 in the Cooper High School auditorium.

In addition, representatives from the Army and Air Force ROTC programs will also be present.

In most cases the person representing the college will be the director of admissions of his institution. Entrance requirements, application procedure, estimated yearly cost, courses of study or fields of specialization offered, type of housing available, financial aid, and opportunities for social and cultural development will be discussed by the representatives.

College Night in Abilene affords an opportunity for students and their parents to obtain first-hand information about the colleges in which they are interested. This is the 6th annual College Night for Abilene and area schools.

B. J. Joyce, Winters High School principal, and Mrs. Lee Harrison, student counselor, will accompany the students, who will go to Abilene on a special school bus. Principal Joyce said parents are especially urged to attend this informational meeting.

City Will Pave At Civic Center

Winters City Council Monday night approved a proposal to pave part of the parking area at the Winters Community Center.

"Hot topping" will be applied to the area immediately in front of the Community Center building, City Secretary Buford Baldwin said. This will help the parking situation to a great extent during wet weather, he explained. It was not deemed advisable to apply the hot top mixture to the entire area around the building at this time of the year, because cold weather is near and the topping would not have time to settle and cure out, it was stated.

In other business, the City leased to Dale's Ford Sales the land under and around the water tower. Dale's Ford Sales will use the area for parking new and used cars, it was said.

Blizzards Travel To Comanche

The Winters Blizzards, with another important win under their belts, travel to Comanche Friday night for their fourth District 8-AA contest this season.

Following their 8-7 win over a tough Coleman team Friday night, the Blizzards now are in second place in District 8-AA standings, behind undefeated Eastland.

Comanche, a young and inexperienced squad, has had an unglamorous season, with no wins in district and only one win in pre-conference play. The Indians defeated Dublin 14-8 in their season opener September 11, but have failed to enter the win column in two more non-conference and three conference contests.

Coach Jerry Gibson continues to aim his Blue-clad team at "one game a week"—the contest on each particular Friday night. He was elated over their efforts last Friday night against traditionally strong Coleman—their "fantastic" efforts on offense in the third and fourth periods, and a particular 10-play, 80-yard drive which edged them ahead; their hard-hitting blocking on offense, and their stone wall defense posture, which held the Bluecats to minus-yards rushing in the second half. The coach said the drizzly weather was not a big factor in Friday night's game.

Comanche, with a new coach, Fred West, this year, is in the middle of a rebuilding program, with young and inexperienced players. The Indian team is very light in the "returning starter" department, but have been improving as the season has progressed, and as such are potentially hazardous to overconfident teams.

Winters and Comanche, district-mates for the first time, have played only one common opponent, Coleman. The Coleman Bluecats downed the Indians 55-6 October 2, in their District Opener.

Schools Dismiss Early Friday

Classes in Winters Public Schools will dismiss at 3 p. m. Friday, October 23, so buses will be available to transport the band and football team to Comanche for the football game.

All buses will make regular runs at 3 p. m. and return to the school in time to go to Comanche.

AROUND THE 8-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

There's been some talk that this will be a ho-hum week in District 8-AA, because the top four are squaring off against the bottom four, and that there are no great challenges in this middle-schedule week.

That's the kind of stuff shattered dreams are made of, though. If this attitude should filter down to the teams themselves, some of the giants could lose their footing and come tumbling down.

On paper, the Ballinger-Clyde contest is expected to be the only one with any interest this week. The Bulldogs are being given a small chance to spoil the Bearcats record. The other three games are being considered so-so, just time killers. Paper doesn't make a very solid foundation, though.

Eastland continues to be the leader in the league, with an unblemished 3-0 record. The Mavericks host Hamilton this week, and again—using past records as a base from which to forecast—are given a strong lead. Eastland has yet to meet any of the "strongies" of the district, and will not until the last three weeks of the conference schedule.

Winters and Ballinger are tied for the second spot. The Blizzards must be placed slightly above the Bearcats, though, because of their statistical advantage in the Winters-Ballinger tie contest two weeks ago. Winters still leads the league in defense, too, allowing only two crossings all season—and they've already played two of 8-AA's toughest.

Winters faces Comanche this week, at Comanche. The Indians haven't tallied a win in district play, and have only one win for the season. They're young, but they're building fast, and as such could constitute a danger to anyone from here to the wire.

Coleman slipped a notch with their 7-8 loss to Winters last week, but still have a big chance. They host Cisco this week in what is expected to be a runaway. Hapless Cisco has yet to mark up a win all season... but the Bluecats will be taking no chances.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS

Eastland 21, Clyde 6; Winters 8, Coleman 7; Ballinger 28, Cisco 0; Hamilton 26, Comanche 0.

Dec. 31 Deadline For Filing Medicare Insurance Claims

December 31, 1970, is the deadline for filing Medicare medical insurance claims for services received October 1, 1968, through September 30, 1969, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"Under the law, Medicare can pay your medical insurance claim only within a certain time after treatment or other service. If you have Medicare medical insurance and received covered services during the period of October 1, 1968, through September 30, 1969, claims must be filed before the end of this year," Mr. Talbot said. "After December 31, 1970, Medicare cannot pay on these bills."

Mr. Talbot said that a completed "Request for Medicare Payment" form should be sent to Medicare, Group Medical and Surgical Service, P. O. Box 221-147, Dallas, Texas 75222. If the doctor or supplier does not complete his portion of the form (Part II), an itemized bill must accompany the "Request for Medicare Payment." Either the itemized bill or Part II of the claim form must show the date, place, and description of each service and the charge for each service.

Mr. Talbot said that anyone needing claim forms for Medicare medical insurance or related information should call the San Angelo Social Security Office. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Medicare medical insurance is the voluntary part of Medicare. It is available to almost everyone 65 or older and helps pay for doctors' services and certain other health care services. Financed by individual premiums and matching Government funds, it pays 80 percent of reasonable charges above the $50 annual deductible

Safari Moja Brings Hunting-Fishing Show

Anyone for safaris? Or, maybe you prefer a trek up the famed Alaskan Highway? Whatever your bag, the color-adventure film "Safari Moja" promises hunting and fishing, wildlife and native life on two continents and the Polar Ice Cap to boot! It comes November 2 to the State Theatre.

Filed and produced by internationally known sportsman-photographer Wally Taber, "Safari Moja" is whole-family entertainment designed for those who share Bwana Taber's hang-up for the out-of-doors.

The film boasts more first than the New York Mets made all season. Taber bags a massive polar bear with bow and arrow, for example. As if that weren't enough, he blasts half-a-dozen rhino with blunt arrows to precipitate a charge for the camera! On the wild Ruvu River of Tanzania, he performs a canoe safari, while on the majestic Peace River of British Columbia, he uses a rubber life raft to catch up on his fishing.

A trip up the famed Alaskan Highway reveals the hunting and fishing available to any who travel that way. Using pack-horses, bush-plane, boat and boot, Taber hunts and fishes up an enviable storm guaranteed to make more sedentary souls green with envy. He tops it with a trip above the Arctic Circle into the little-known Brooks Range for barren-ground caribou.

Daring fate's fickle finger further, the intrepid explorer goes above the farthest-north land mass in the world to stalk ice bear on the Polar Ice Cap itself. And, since he could go no farther north than the North Pole, he dropped down the other side of the globe to Mozambique where he filmed primitive man and the denizens that keep him alert.

Fish range from trout as large as your leg to perch big as your boat! And, while Taber doesn't put lion in your lap, he calls the wily predators of many species within spitball throwin' distance. Using a wounded-rabbit call of his own design, he brings coyotes, fox, jaguar, leopard, lion, anything and everything eyeball to eyeball with theatre-goers in an uncanny display that all but defies nature's laws of survival.

"Safari Moja" boasts a lot of firsts... and a few home runs!

★ MOVIES ★

"The Cheyenne Social Club" National General Pictures' comedy western starring James Stewart and Henry Fonda, will have its local engagement Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre.

Also starring Shirley Jones and co-starring Sue Ane Langdon, "The Cheyenne Social Club" was produced and directed in Technicolor and Panavision by Gene Kelly, as based upon an original story and screenplay by James Lee Barrett, who also served as executive producer.

Deftly mixing comedy with action, "The Cheyenne Social Club" relates the uniquely entertaining story of a Texas cowboy, portrayed by Stewart, who inherits a Cheyenne bordello during the post-Civil War West. Fonda is seen as Stewart's long-time cowboy companion, and Miss Jones appears as the bordello's head "hostess" in the diverting new film.

Older Persons On Medicare Pay First $60 On Bills

Beginning in January, an older person who goes to the hospital under Medicare will be responsible for the first $60 of his hospital bill—Now running about $750 for the average stay by a Medicare beneficiary.

The present hospital deductible is $52 and will remain in effect for all Medicare hospital admissions during the remainder of the year.

"The increase is mandatory under the law," Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, said. "It is a result of the long term upward trend in hospital costs, and in part, of course, the general inflation."

"The Administration," he said, "has been working hard to bring inflation under control and has also been working with the professional health community, health insurance organizations and others so that the Medicare program and general consumers, too, will get full value for each health care dollar spent."

In announcing the new $60 deductible, Commissioner Ball explained that the law requires an annual review of hospital costs under Medicare and an adjustment of the portion of the bill for which a Medicare beneficiary is responsible, if these costs have risen substantially. The law provides a formula for determining the amount of any adjustment in the deductible amount.

Based on 67 million days of hospitalization covered by Medicare bills in 1969, the current average per diem rate for inpatient hospital services amounted to $55.70 compared to a rate of $37.94 for the base year of 1966. Applying the formula, i. e., multiplying the ratio of the 1969 rate to the 1966 rate by $50, the result is $58.72, which must, under the law, be rounded to $60, the new deductible amount.

The hospital deductible amount, Commissioner Ball explained, is intended to make the Medicare beneficiary responsible for expenses equivalent to the average cost of one day of hospital care. It is like the deductible amounts specified in many auto insurance policies where the car owner pays the first $50 or $100 on a repair bill, and the insurance policy covers the rest.

Ball said that when the hospital deductible amount changes, the law requires comparable changes in the dollar amounts that a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days, or a post-hospital extended care stay of more than 20 days.

When a Medicare beneficiary has a hospital stay of more than 60 days, he will pay $15 a day for the 61st through the 90th day, up from the present $13 per day. If he has a posthospital stay of over 20 days in an extended care facility, he will pay $7.50 per day toward the cost of the 21st through the 100th day, up from the present $6.50 per day.

If he needs to draw on his "lifetime reserve," the reserve of hospital days a beneficiary can draw upon if he ever needs more than 90 days of hospital care in the same benefit period he will pay $30 for each day used, instead of the present $26 per day.

For further information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue in San Angelo or see the representative when he is in your area.

Social Security Protects Family Of Working Man

Young fathers who feel they have lots of responsibility and little financial security for their families if they die or are disabled may have more protection than they think, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"Social security can help support not only the worker but also his wife and children if he is disabled," Mr. Talbot said. "And, it can provide monthly checks for his family if he dies."

"Each month, nearly 2 1/2 million disabled workers and their dependents and over 3 million surviving children and widowed mothers get social security checks," said Mr. Talbot.

Amounts of the checks depend on the worker's average earnings under social security. Disability benefits for a worker with a wife and one child range from $96.00 a month to a maximum of $434.40, with the average about $273.00. Most young men whose annual salaries are in the $7500 range and above would be eligible for benefit payments close to the maximum amounts, according to Mr. Talbot.

Survivors benefits for a widow with two children range from a minimum of $96.00 a month to about $434.40, with the average about $292.00.

"A worker under 24 needs only 1 1/2 years work under social security to have disability protection. Between 24 and 31, he needs to have worked only half the time between 21 and the time he is disabled to qualify for monthly checks for himself and his family," Mr. Talbot noted.

"Benefits in the case of a breadwinner's death are based on even more liberal standards. A man 28 or younger needs only 1 1/2 years of work for his family to qualify for survivors benefits," Mr. Talbot suggested that

Austin, Tex.—Tax-free financial incentives are recommended by Texas' top officials to lure new industry to the Lone Star state.

Gov. Preston Smith came out for the added attraction at no cost to taxpayers. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said he agreed that revenue bonds to help industry finance preferred locations would be the preferred route for legislation.

Both spoke here at the governor's annual conference on industrial expansion. Smith also advocated a pre-employment industrial training program to fill the need for trained labor. He pledged his efforts to maintain a favorable tax climate for industrial development.

James W. McGrew, Texas Research League director, underscored the importance of the recommendations when he told the conference that Texas will need to provide 600,000 new jobs because of the predicted population increase during the next decade.

Sponsored by the Texas Industrial Commission and hosted by Governor Smith, the conference honored six industries for

At a meeting before the conference, the Industrial Commission reviewed plans for a 24-page section on Texas Industry in Business Week Magazine on March 13. Also discussed was a computerized, finger-tip data bank on industrial development opportunities in 438 Texas communities over 1,000 population.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court agreed to hear the appeal of a Houston trucking firm on November 25 relative to a $300,000 judgment favoring an Odessa widow and her children in connection with a 1966 accident in which the woman's husband hit a parked truck.

In other recent actions, the High Court: "Rejected the City of Floydada's appeal in a lawsuit over land condemned for the city's airport."

"Turned down the claim of a Houston widow to a share of her deceased husband's inheritance because she waited too long to file suit."

Court of Criminal Appeals dismissed the petition of a Houston doctor sentenced to life in prison in the sniper slaying of a partner.

TAX RAISE, CUT Employers got both good news and bad on the tax front last week.

Rate experts recommended a 1.1 per cent average increase in workmen's compensation insurance rates.

At the same time, Governor Smith said employers covered under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act will be eligible for a one per cent reduction in their payroll taxes about January 20.

Workmen's comp rate will vary among industries. Under recommendations, the average manufacturing rates statewide would increase 4.4 per cent, while those for contractors would drop 2.3 per cent. Oil industry rates would dip 1.1 per cent and "all others" would increase two per cent.

Unemployment tax cut is possible because the trust fund-serve for paying jobless benefits reached $347 million on October 1. When the fund is more than $300 million on the computation date, a tax cut is mandatory.

450 NEXT DRAFT CALL November draft call for Texas is 450, says acting State Selective Service Director Lt. Col. Charles Duncan.

First to be called by the local draft boards will be men with random sequence numbers 1 through 145. Those with higher numbers will be subject to call if needed, Duncan said.

Texas' quota is part of the national call for 8,000 men, all for the Army.

A total of 1,310 will have to take pre-induction physical and mental examinations for the November quota.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examinations in November were mailed to 159 boards on October 9.

NEW PARK LAND OFFERED

A Corpus Christi woman has offered the state land on Mustang Island for state park development.

Mrs. Sam E. Wilson Jr. submitted two options to the Parks and Wildlife Department:

1. A tract of 5,624 acres with 8.3 miles of beach frontage on the Gulf of Mexico, for $6.1 million; or

2. A tract of 7,485 acres with 11 miles of Gulf beach, for $8.1 million.

Mrs. Hale also agreed to an easement across her land for a proposed $3 million Corpus Christi water exchange pass and offered to give the state 130 acres north of the pass. Latter adjoins 580 acres on the island already owned by the state.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Military personnel can qualify to serve as prospective jurors on satisfying election code requirements and if they intend to establish a residence in Texas, says Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin in a new opinion.

In other recent rulings, Martin concluded that: "No state agency now has authority to execute a FHA form certifying the need for a nursing home."

"The College of Osteopathic Medicine in Fort Worth is entitled to representation on the Anatomical Board of Texas."

PRIVATE COLLEGES ASK AID

Private colleges and universities will be seeking $28 million in state aid to stay in business during the next two years. Independent Colleges and Universities of Texas Inc. has reviewed its needs in a meeting with Central Texas legislators. Spokesmen for the schools previously have outlined their plight to the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System.

Legislation backed by the group will seek tuition equalization grants for private college students and authorization for contracts by the Coordinating Board with private schools for services and degree production. Although the state is investing heavily in new tax-supported institutions, there are some 16,000 openings in private classrooms.

WASTE ORDERS REQUIRED

Texas Water Quality Board Chairman Gordon Fulcher warns that waste control orders must be obtained from that agency before any type of sewage facility is built.

This applies to individuals as well as municipalities and other government entities.

"This is for their own protection," Fulcher said. "While the type of facility might meet with full approval of the Board, there also is the possibility that it would not, and that money spent on the facility might thus be wasted. Standards vary in different areas of the state."

Application forms are available through the Board office at 1108 Lavaca in Austin, on request.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Hair Conditioning

Freddie was delighted to hear at the reading of Uncle Dan's will, that he was supposed to inherit a large sum of money. But there was a catch. The money would be his only on condition that he give up cigarettes. In short order, Freddie challenged the validity of this anti-cigarette clause.

"Uncle Dan had no right to try to control my private life in this way," he complained in a court hearing. "My personal habits including smoking, are no one's business but my own."

However, the court ruled that Freddie would have to either give up his cigarette habit or lose the money. The judge said that since the money belonged to Uncle Dan, he had a right to put strings on his gift if he so desired.

Of course it is natural, for a person making his will, to want to shape the character or conduct of his heirs. Nevertheless, the law does impose limits as to how far he can go. Consider this case:

A man left money to his daughter, on condition that she not only give up cigarettes herself but also make her husband give them up.

This time, a court decided the man had gone too far and held the anti-smoking clause null and void. The court said he had asked his daughter to do something that was not fairly within her power.

Furthermore, in close cases, the courts are inclined to let the heir keep the bequest, even if he has not lived up fully to the expectations expressed in the will. Thus:

Another man was worried about his son's dissolute friends. He provided in his will that the son should have certain valuable real estate, so long as he did not become a "drunkard and a vagabond."

As things turned out after the man died, his son did indeed become a drunkard. But he never did become a vagabond. Accordingly, not having acquired both of the vices specified in the will, he was held still entitled to the real estate. The court said it was reluctant to take away an inheritance unless the will left no real choice.

Washington, D. C. —The Jeffersonian Cyclopedic is as potent today as when written even with all the changes which have taken place. Jefferson's guidelines of government and its administration are broad enough to accept change and at the same time to preserve its principles.

"In Westons Of Power," Jefferson wrote, "Let no more be heard of confidence in man but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the Constitution."

The Constitution itself is broad enough to accept modern government without perverting it.

Jefferson admonished that "under a mass of misrule and oppression, a people might justly press for a thorough reformation and dismount their roughshod riders and leave them to walk on their own legs."

An election year always affords people the opportunity of deciding whether government, at whatever level, is being run properly by those elected. It is a matter of judgment and that judgment for all of us as citizens should be based on proper information. The errors of government may not always be made by elected officers but those elected are responsible—they are responsible because they appointed those who administer much of our government.

Jefferson gave this advice, "How easily we prescribe a cure for their difficulties while we cannot cure our own."

This line has more to do with our foreign involvements than domestic but in present day home affairs it is equally applicable. A central government cannot prescribe a cure for every ill in the country with a prescription which works everything. Local governments being swallowed by Federal authority removes government from the people. With no authority standing between the people and the huge bureaucracy, we, as citizens, become a number rather than individuals.

In the same context Jefferson warned against unequal branches of government but connected it with concentrated power in one place. In this reference he said, "I would be uneasy when I saw the executive body swallow up the legislative. I believe that a single consolidated government would become the most corrupt government on Earth. What has destroyed the liberty and rights of man in every government which has ever existed under the Sun?" He answered his questions by saying, "Concentrating all powers into one body, no matter whether the autocrats of Russia and France or the autocrats of a Venetian Senate. When we are directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap, we should soon want bread."

Even in Jefferson's Administrations the public debt was a matter of concern. Even then there were advocates of the theory that a public debt was not a bad thing. On this matter he had this to say, "The doctrine is that a public debt is a public blessing, so they think a perpetual one is a perpetual blessing. We should all consider ourselves unshowered to saddle posterity with our debts. We may consider each generation as a distinct Nation with a right by the will of the majority to bind themselves—not bind the succeeding generation any more than the inhabitants of another Country."

Familiar sounds of today are embodied in this statement. There are those who continue to say that we simply owe ourselves the amount of the Federal debt. The minority view is that there is a saturation point and it comes when people lose confidence in the ability of those entrusted to run the government.

At the time of the greatest shock of the Depression, Walter Lippman wrote in the spring of 1932, "Those in high places are more than the administrators of government bureaus. They are more than writers of laws. They are the custodians of a Nation's ideals; of the beliefs it cherishes; of its permanent hopes; of the faith which makes a Nation out of a mere aggregation of individuals."

There would be greater assurances for the future if everyone made their Government their business and the Government made less of everybody's business.

IN BAKER HOME

Visitors with Mrs. E. H. Baker over the weekend were her children, Mr. and Mrs. Counts, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murff, Hamlin; Mrs. Effie Baker, San Francisco, Calif.; Mrs. Opal Slaten, San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Baker left with the group to tour the eastern States, including Arkansas and Alabama, where Mrs. Baker lived until she was 10 years of age, in Kentucky, where her father was reared, and on to Nashville, Tenn., to visit several places of interest, including the Bill Bennett Memorial and the Upper Room Chapel.

Power is not revealed by striking hard or often, but by striking true. —Honore de Balzac.

HEALTH COLUMN

Texas has a right to be proud of their meat and poultry industries, and they also can show deserved pride in activities of the Veterinary Public Health Division of the Texas State Department of Health which is charged with inspection of meat and poultry processing operations.

Slightly more than a year ago, the State Health Department opened a school at Yoakum to train meat inspectors, a decision made mandatory by a new Texas Meat and Poultry Act. Faced with the choice of letting the federal government take over all inspection or providing adequate state inspection, the Texas Legislature decided in favor of state controls. The federal government still inspects all red meat and poultry processed for interstate (across state lines) shipments.

Since its inception the new Veterinary Meat Inspection School has turned out just over 400 trained meat inspectors. Four hundred and 23 persons are employed in the meat inspection program. A total of 789 slaughterhouse and processing plants are under state inspection.

The amount of red meat and poultry inspected is staggering. For a 10-month period ending June 30, more than 224 million pounds of red meat—beef and pork—came under the critical eyes of Health Department inspectors. In addition, 63½ million pounds of poultry were inspected.

"Objective of the program is better products for all Texans," said A. B. Rich, DVM, director of the Division of Veterinary Public Health, "and inspection is essential to make certain that only wholesome meat and meat products reach the tables of consumers." The program also upgrades the meat industry and encourage it to provide better products, said Dr. Rich.

Cooperation between federal and state meat inspectors has been good, and a new federal registration becomes effective December 1 with a registration deadline of March 1, 1971. The new regulation affects such allied, interstate operations as meat brokers, meat wholesalers and warehousemen. Knowing the identity of each of these operators is important to members of the Compliance and Evaluation Staff of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. While the inspectors in the state and federal plants are the first line of defense against unfit meat and poultry, the Compliance and Evaluation Staffs are the federal and state governments' second line of defense.

Some meats are processed for non-human food purposes. These meats are used from animals which died other than by slaughter or were suspect animals before death. Since this meat has the potential for being diverted from its intended non-human food use, the new registration will help in tracing all meat and protect wholesomeness of meat which you eat.

Memorial services were held in El Paso Monday.

Lt. Smith was a son-in-law of Floyd Rogers and the late Ruby Glover Rogers.

Mrs. Myrtle Gannaway is at home from the hospital and doing better.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvie Talley were guests in the W. N. Bagwell home Saturday.

Mrs. David Bryan and Mrs. Wheat visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Holder in Shady Oaks Lodge in Abilene, and also with Joe Wetsel and Mrs. Mae Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bagwell and boys of Odessa were guests in the W. N. Bagwell home Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bub Phillips and Mrs. Lula Allen visited in Midland Sunday with the Elwerd Rogers family. Their daughter, Gay Vanda, was involved in a car accident Saturday morning in which seven persons were injured, none seriously. Gay Vanda's car was a total loss. She received minor injuries about the neck.

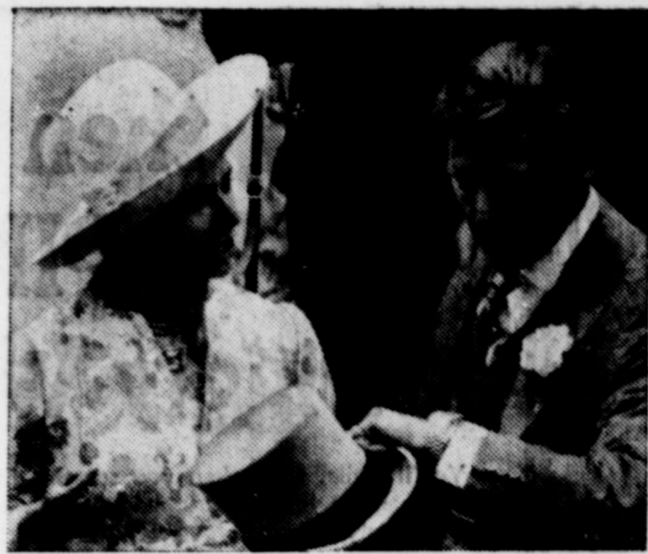

Burglars once again hit our town in the late hours of last Friday night. The Post Office was entered by force, the safe was pried open, netting them about $1200. They didn't take time to clean up the mess and left very little stamp stock to work with. First time we have been in the new building that thieves have paid us a visit. The contract carrier from Abilene found the break-in just before the clerk, Ruby A. Phillips, reported for duty. He called Postmaster Cloy Allen.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

New Tax Form For You

When the mailman brings your income tax Form 1040 early next January, it won't really help any to holler "Why does Internal Revenue keep changing the thing?" The answer on why is actually a simple one. You, the taxpayers, want Congress to change the law to make it more equitable and possibly to ease your personal tax burden just a little. The good tax folks have to change the form to cut down taxpayer misunderstanding of instructions on some particular item on the tax form. It is pretty obvious that Internal Revenue can't make a simple Form 1040 because the tax law is just too complex.

Instead of hollering you might as well start to dig into those fine new tax instructions. Reading the instructions always makes the Form 1040 look a whole lot simpler.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

Setback In Anti-Inflation Battle

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., October 1970. The preliminary reading of the Wholesale Commodity Price Index spurted upward in September, erasing the dip of the previous month and suggesting fresh gains for the consumer price index. Blame could not be laid—this time—on cost-push wage inflation or soaring defense expenditures. The villain was, in fact, an unpredictable damaging of the 1970 corn crop by the spread of the southern corn leaf blight into the Midwest corn belt.

Multifold Problem
Added to the blight was an infestation of corn borers and stalk rot, all of which could mean abnormally high harvesting losses due to stalk breakage. There was, fortunately, dry weather during much of July and August, hastening maturity of the crop in the Western corn belt and permitting harvesting at a more rapid pace than is usual. In many sections farmers are picking ahead of schedule in order to minimize damage from the blight.

Estimated Loss
In an unusual move, the Agriculture Department made a special supplementary survey of the corn crop late in September. Normally assessments are made at the start of each month in the growing season. The extra-inspection results, revealed early in October, projected an out-turn of nearly 4.2 billion bushels of corn for 1970. This was a drop of 13 per cent from the early-July forecast, and 5 per cent below a prediction made only three weeks before.

The indicated yield per acre was set at 72.2 bushels as of September 23, compared with the prior forecast of nearly 76 bushels. If the special projection runs true to form, the 1970 corn crop will be 9 per cent smaller than the 1969 outturn of close to 4.6 billion bushels. Last year's per-acre yield was a record 83.9 bushels. As matters now stand, the 1970 total shapes up as the smallest since 1966.

Grain Prices Advance
When news of the invasion of the blight became public, the price of corn advanced rapidly. Other feed grain prices were also driven upward, including soybeans, oats, and sorghum. Even the price of wheat, a food grain, moved higher. As usually happens, however, the initially violent price response to adverse developments soon bent to more basic considerations. Hence, despite the fact that the special survey revealed somewhat more corn damage than the earlier report had implied, grain prices have been mostly marking time.

Waiting For Final Tally
Since weather is particularly critical at this late stage of the crop year, full extent of the blight damage will not be known until the harvest has been completed. Wet weather could cause growth trouble and slow picking, and there is the ever-present danger of killer frosts. But a sizable carryover is in storage under government loan and price support programs, so there is no immediate threat of shortages. Also, the bumper soybean crop can be used, if necessary, to help out as a substitute for corn.

Implications For Consumers
Fortunately, because of the inflexible status of supply-demand ratios for the near term in cattle, hogs, fowl, wheat, soybeans, and soybean meal, a radical upsurge in food prices does not appear likely for the immediate future. Adverse implications from the corn blight loom more important for 1971, when high feed costs may force livestock and poultry raisers to curtail herds and broods. Such a contraction in supplies would run up against a rising consumption rate for meats, and at least the higher feed costs would be passed on in the form of price markups. An even more serious situation will develop if the blight infestation is not checked next year and the 1971 corn crop falls victim to a second consecutive year of inadequate outturn.

H. D. Agent's Column

Nutritious Eggs:

How important are eggs in your family's meals? Protein in eggs comes so near to perfection that scientists use it as a standard to measure the protein value of other foods. Too, the egg contains vitamins and minerals essential for health.

For instance, its vitamin A makes us see well, its vitamin B complex puts "verve" in our nerves, its vitamin D and phosphorus team up with calcium to build sturdy bones and teeth, and its iron and copper put a glow in the skin and a twinkle in the eye. And with all these nutrients, a large egg contains only 80 to 85 calories.

Don't worry about shell color in buying eggs, says Mrs. O'Connor. Shell color is determined by the breed of the hen and does not affect the grade, nutritive value, flavor or cooking performance of the egg.

In buying eggs, look for the USDA grade shield on the carton. It is your guide to both size and quality. You'll want to buy eggs from a refrigerated case, then refrigerate them promptly when you get them home—large end up, to help in maintaining quality.

This recipe for Deviled Eggs Delmonico makes four to five servings:

- 2 T. grated onion
- 1-2 cup grated sharp cheese
- 1-2 cups thin white sauce
- 2 cups cooked macaroni
- 10 deviled egg halves (5 eggs)

For the White Sauce:
1-2 T. butter, or margarine
1-4 tsp. salt
1-2 T. flour
1-2 cups milk

Melt fat in heavy saucepan and blend in flour to make a smooth mixture. Add milk slowly while stirring rapidly to prevent lumping. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Reduce the heat. Add salt and cook one minute longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

Egg and Baked Bean Salad

- 6 hard cooked eggs, coarsely cut
- 1-2 to 1-3 cup minced onion
- 1 can (1 lb.-4 oz.) baked beans—drained
- 1 T. chili sauce
- 1 T. mayonnaise
- 1 tsp. prepared mustard
- 1-4 tsp. salt
- Dash of pepper
- 3 slices crisp bacon, diced

3 T. minced parsley
Have all ingredients chilled. Add eggs and onion to drained beans. Combine chili sauce, mayonnaise, prepared mustard, salt and pepper, and add to egg mixture. Toss to combine. In a chilled salad bowl lined with salad greens. Just before serving, sprinkle the bacon and parsley over the top. Makes six one-half cup servings.

Peach Trees:

Peach trees that are attacked by the peach tree borer are unthrifty and may produce off-color foliage. Infested trees usually die within a few years. The larvae of the peach tree borer destroys the cambium layer and inner bark of the peach trees near the ground line. Infested trees have large masses of gum around the base of the trunk. This gum is mixed with a brownish frass of sawdust.

Control can be obtained from October 29 to November 15 or before the temperature drops below 55 degrees, by placing paradichlorobenzene (PDB)—crystals in a band around the trunk of the tree.

All leaf material and grass should be cleaned out and the soil loosened in an area of one foot from the tree trunk. The PDB crystals are then placed in a narrow circular band or shallow trench about two inches from the trunk of the tree. This band is then covered with soil, free of leaf or grass trash, and the soil is mounded around the trunk so as to form a cone-shaped pile about six inches high. Avoid pushing any of the PDB crystals against the tree since crystals in contact with the tree will cause injury.

The mound of soil should be raked back away from the tree in the early spring. Failure to do this may result in injury to the tree.

The amount of PDB crystals to be applied will vary with the age of the tree. For two and three year old trees, use 1-2 ounce of crystals; four to five year old trees, 3-4 ounce; mature trees, one ounce.

Highway Safety:

A rear view mirror on the farm tractor can save lives on the highway and help the operator do more and better work in the field.

Many motorist, points out County Agent Parker, have found themselves in a difficult spot because a tractor driver didn't know what was happening behind him. The addition of a rear view mirror can change this situation, enabling the tractor driver to know at all times of approaching traffic from his rear.

The county agent believes every farm tractor should be equipped with a rear view mirror, not only for safety purposes, but also as an aid to field work. And, he adds, if the tractor and—or equipment must be moved on highways that one of the slow moving emblems be installed.

A rear view mirror aids in viewing the operation of a trailing machine or equipment in the field. It makes the work easier and permits the driver to face forward at all times. This makes for a better job and greater safety.

It is rather difficult to do a good job of tractor driving while looking backwards. The addition of a rear view mirror can correct this situation and it could save a life—maybe yours.

Cotton Harvesting:

Mechanical stripping and spindle picking makes for a faster cotton harvest than when it was done with hand labor. One advantage of this faster harvest is lost, however, unless a complete stalk destruction program immediately follows the completion of harvest, advises County Agent Parker.

Shredding and plowing under all refuse left after harvest, he notes, will deprive insects of a source of food and hibernation quarters. Too, soil moisture storage will be more efficient. An important piece of equipment in a good stalk destruction program is the type of shredder used.

Tests conducted for a number of years at Texas A&M University show that the conventional vertical shaft shredders do a good job; however, if you are in the market for a shredder, the county agent suggests investigating the flail type machines. It has a horizontal shaft and free-swinging flails which do a much better job of destroying green unopened bolls which are favorite overwintering quarters for insects.

If you use a vertical shaft shredder with knives, be sure it is in top operating condition. This includes sharp knives in good condition and a tractor with sufficient power to pull the machine and maintain the proper rpm on the shredding mechanism.

And finally, says the county agent, if the stalk destruction program is not carried out immediately after harvest, then more demand is placed on seedbed preparation and cultivation operations and most important, insect control problems can be multiplied next spring.

Cotton left on the ground, resulting from improper adjustment of picking machinery, can mean the difference between a loss or profit on the crop.

A properly adjusted and operated machine can pick 95 per cent or better of the open bolls, and the machine operator is a mighty important factor, points out county agent C. T. Parker, Jr.

Approaching the row so the James Stewart, the new owner of the Cheyenne Social Club, and his sidekick, Henry Fonda, return to town after their first visit to the establishment. A scene from "The Cheyenne Social Club," National General Pictures' comedy western starring Stewart, Fonda and Shirley Jones. The film was produced and directed by Gene Kelly in Technicolor and Panavision.

plants enter the center of the picking unit, entering and leaving the row at full speed, staying on the rows during travel and keeping the machine clean are vital factors, he adds. One boll missed per plant can result in up to 400 pounds of lost seed cotton per acre.

Adjustment of the machine to fit conditions of the individual field is the responsibility of the operator, and if he knows his job and machine, very little cotton will be left on the ground or plant, says the agent.

Parker offers these suggestions for making the machine picking job more efficient and profitable:

Check the machine completely before the harvest and replace worn parts lubricate it and make needed adjustments. Make adjustments for maximum machine efficiency. Adjust doffer pads for proper spindle clearance. Check pressure plate settings. Adjust stalk lifters. Check for bent spring fingers and for bent grid bars. And finally, lubricate the machine according to the manufacturer's recommendations.

Proper machine adjustment and operation, provided the machine is in first class condition, can put the cotton in the trailer which otherwise will be left on the ground.

Wrinkles are a vicious cycle.

In some dryers the heat that dries your clothes also bakes wrinkles into permanent press.

But you can buy a new gas dryer with a permanent press cool-down cycle that turns off the heat and cools off your clothes.

That means modern gas dryers won't add wrinkles to your wash and extra ironing to your work load. Because they have a cycle that keeps wrinkles from becoming vicious.

Win-Tex Cattle Yards About 45% Complete

Construction of the Win-Tex Cattle Feeders, Inc., cattle feeding complex northwest of Winters is about 45 percent complete, it was learned this week.

Grading of the pen area is about completed, much of the fence work is done, along with the concrete feed bunkers, loading chutes and other structures at the complex. The earth-fill dike to catch all run-off water from the site is being constructed.

This cattle feeding operation is one of the first such operations in the area to be approved by the Texas Water Quality Board under provisions of the Texas Water Quality Act of 1967.

Plans are to build for about 8,000 head of feeder cattle at the present; facilities to handle up to 15,000 head may be built in the future, it was said.

Construction of the cattle feeding operation has meant an influx of many construction workers, some with their families, into the Winters community.

Commander-in-Chief H. R. Rainwater and National Auxiliary President, Mary Cottone, had asked for the support to gather at least one million signatures to petitions urging humane treatment for more than 1400 American prisoners of war.

More than three million signatures were obtained by more than 10,000 VFW Posts in all areas of the world. Commander Rainwater and President Cottone took the petitions to be presented at the Paris Peace Talks.

If the North Vietnamese delegates refuse to accept the petitions, the VFW chief said he would present them to U Thant, Secretary General of the United Nations.

We just read about a fellow who got tired of those 'begging' letters that come in the mail addressed to 'Boxholder' or 'Occupant,' asking for handouts for all kinds of charities or money-raising campaigns. He said he finally decided to do something about a particular one, so he wrote a check to the organization for $10,000 and signed it 'Occupant.' That'll teach 'em a thing or two, he commented.
