HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

If a fire which burned grass and weeds and an old abandoned shack on a vacant lot on the west side of town around 2-3 a. m. Monday had broken out a few hours earlier, it is possible that Winters would have experienced the worst catastrophe in the history of this community.

The damage fires can do, when whipped by high winds, was graphically demonstrated near Abilene Lake and over near Breckenridge and Albany Sunday afternoon, when thousands of acres of rangeland was left a wasteland. Following the months-long dry spell, conditions are ripe for something of that sort in this area . . . and if a fire should start in town during a high wind . . .

Fires, even in calm weather, are bad—but driven by high winds such as we experienced Sunday during the dust storm—well, it is horrifying to think of what could happen to a town such as Winters, where everything is tinder dry. We were just lucky that the wind had died down early Sunday evening.

Which should remind all of us that we should exercise extreme caution during this period of dry weather and high winds. The flicking of a cigarette from the window of a car, the dropping of a match on a powder-dry lawn . . . such acts are just asking for a conflagration which could destroy hundreds of thousands of dollars in property, and endanger many lives.

More serious, though, is the practice of burning trash . . . this is as bad as holding a lighted match to see how much gasoline is in the tank! Many towns, even this size, have ordinances prohibiting burning of trash inside the city limits, at any time. But the absence of an ordinance should make no difference, especially during such dry conditions as we are experiencing right now. It is a dangerous practice, make no mistake about it!

Although Winters at present does not have an ordinance to prohibit such trash burning, it is probable that in the future—and it is probably just around the corner—indiscriminate burning of trash and debris any place in the state—in the towns and cities as well as in the country—will be prohibited or at least regulated by state statute. Some hard looks are being taken at the idea, and the lid may be clamped down even in the smallest hamlets and most isolated rural areas.

Meanwhile, it would be to our advantage to take every precaution possible to prevent fires from breaking out in this community.

Abo Merck pushes a big hot oil truck for Williams Paraffin Servicing Company of Winters. The truck is a big snub-nosed job, with two big furnace-looking tanks on the back, along with a big square oil tank and a couple miles of piping. It's used (we think) to melt paraffin and other thick sediment in clogged wells and oil tanks in the oil patch.

The other day Merck had a call for a job in the Trent area. He pulled into Trent, looking for a telephone to use to get directions to the job site, when a banker-dressed chap hailed him. He pulled over and stopped in front of the bank.

"What kind of truck is that?" the gentleman asked Merck.

"A hot oil truck."

"What do you do with it?" Merck explained the use of the truck, and said he was looking for a telephone.

A disappointed expression clouded the gentleman's face, as (Continued on page 8)

Archery Association Will Hold Annual Invitational Tournament Here Sunday

The Runnels County Archery Association of Winters will host their fourth annual invitational archery tournament Sunday, March 21, at the organization's range below the dam of the Winters City Lake.

More than 100 archers from over the state are expected to attend the tournament.

Trophies and medals will be awarded in all classes and divisions. These are on display at Bahlan Jewelers.

Visiting and local archers will shoot 14 field and 14 hunter target in the morning, and 14 animal targets in the afternoon. A meeting of the West Texas Archery League will be held in the afternoon following tournament competition.

The Winters archery club has been working on the range the past two weeks, making preparations for the tournament. The local range is said to be one of the finest in the state.

The public is invited to attend the tournament. There will be no charge for spectators, and a big new sign on the lake dam will direct visitors to the range site.

Country Club Planning City Tourney May 2

Finals in the Men's City and Club Championship golf tournament at the Winters Country Club will be played Sunday, May 2, with 18 holes of medal play scheduled for that day.

Jerry Neely, now coaching in Paducah High School, is the defending champion.

All entries must be in by no later than Tuesday, April 27. Starting times will be posted in the Winters Enterprise and at the Country Club pro shop.

Contestants will enter according to schedule listed:
Average score, 70-79, Championship Flight, entry fee, $8;
80-89, First Flight, entry fee, $4.50;
90-99, Second Flight, $4.50.

Two trophies will be given in each flight. Contestants who are not members of the Winters Country Club must pay green fee.

Margaret Leathers "High Average" Student At TWU

Margaret Leathers of Winters was among those students at Texas Woman's University who achieved high scholastic averages during the fall semester, announces Dr. Leslie R. Kreps, vice president for academic affairs.

Students earning a 3.0 average on the all "A" list.

Miss Leathers is a sophomore nursing major. She is the daughter of Mrs. Robert B. Leathers and the late Mr. Leathers of Winters.

TO LUBBOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Zane Moore and Mike spent the past weekend in Lubbock visiting their son, Robert Moore, Texas Tech student, and with their daughter, Miss Sylvia Moore. Miss Moore, who received her nurse's training at Temple, is employed at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, and also is a student at Texas Tech.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Mayhew attended the funeral of Mrs. J. C. Massengale, Saturday at the Calvary Baptist Church in Lubbock. They also visited in the home of their daughter and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Meriel Abbott of Idalou.

Water Supply Not In Immediate Danger

Although the water level in the City Lake east of Winters is low, Winters is in no "immediate" danger of running out of water, City Water Superintendent W. D. Waggoner said this week.

The dry spell of several months duration has caused the water level to drop considerably, and concern has been expressed in some quarters regarding the "adequacy" of the city's water supply.

However, there is no cause for undue alarm, Waggoner said. The situation is serious, of course, he said, but there still is a fairly good supply of water in the lake, enough for several months. "Of course, if it doesn't rain until next fall, then it will be a different matter," he stated.

The water level in the City Lake has been much lower several times in the past than it presently is, it has been stated. Water consumption during most of the winter months has been low, but has increased during the past few weeks, the water superintendent said. The daily consumption is now about 500,000 gallons a day, he said. Increase in consumption is laid to lawn and garden watering during the dry spell, it was indicated.

Additional consumption caused by the opening of the cattle feeding pens of Win-Tex Cattle Feeders, Inc., northwest of Winters, has been minimal, Waggoner said. "It takes only a few minutes pumping time to take care of their needs," he said, and use at the feeding pens has had no appreciable effect on the overall consumption of water.

A survey of the Winters lake was made by a team of conservationists last fall, to determine the extent of sedimentation. No formal report has been received by the City to this date, but is expected within a short time.

County Judge Sees No Chance For Opening Commodity Station Here

Runnels County Judge Elliott Kemp said Tuesday he sees no chance for opening a branch welfare commodity dispensing station in Winters, at least in the foreseeable future. The expense would be too great at this time, he said, and the funds are not available.

The county dispensing station is at Ballinger, and people drawing commodities have to go to that station to pick up their food.

Meeting with several people in Winters Monday afternoon following requests that a station be opened here, Judge Kemp explained that opening a dispensing office in Winters would increase the cost of the program "about four times." If a station were to be opened here, he said, it would also be necessary to open one in Miles, and Wingate, and possibly in other sections of the county.

There are about 1,000 people in the county drawing commodities, it was stated; about 300 of them are located in the Winters community.

To have a station in Winters would require storerooms, refrigeration facilities and the like, the judge said.

It was pointed out at the meeting that there are many people in the Winters community who cannot make the regular trip to Ballinger to pick up their commodities, because of age,

A&M Specialist To Talk On Bed Shaping, Planting

Lambert Wilkes, of the Texas A&M Experiment Station, Bryan, will speak and show slides on "Bed Shaping and Precision Planting," at a meeting of district vocational agriculture teachers in Ballinger, Tuesday, March 23.

The meeting will be held in the agriculture department of the new Ballinger High School, at 4 p. m.

Stanley Blackwell, vocational agriculture teacher in Winters High School, said the program will be of interest to all farmers and he urges all who can to attend. He can be contacted for additional information.

Lady Golfers Elect Officers, Plan Season

Lady Golfers of the Winters Country Club elected officers and made plans for the season at a meeting at the Country Club Saturday.

Mrs. Richard Bauer was elected president; Mrs. Bill Griffin, vice president; and Mrs. Jack Harrison, secretary-treasurer. Golf co-chairmen are Mrs. Pat Wood and Mrs. John McAdoo.

Plans were made for Saturday afternoon golf games, with special prizes and contests. Events will begin at 2 p. m. each Saturday. All members and other ladies interested in playing golf are invited.

Attila Galamb To Appear At WHS March 24

Attila Galamb, whose tour of U. S. schools brings him to Winters High School Wednesday, March 24, is a teenage boy who has been thrilling students, their teachers and parents throughout America with his musical genius.

Son of Joseph Galamb, accordionist and teacher, young Attila has won acclaim for his accomplishments with several instruments.

Born in Hungary, he showed extraordinary aptitude for music study, and at two learned to play the drums by listening outside the door during one of his father's classes. Today he plays drums, clarinet, saxophone, accordion, piano, tarogato, organ, guitar and harmonica, and the Hohner Melodica.

Attila has appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show, at Radio City Music Hall, the Holly Palladium and Hollywood Bowl, and with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra. He has traveled and played throughout most of the United States, always keeping up with his school work. He is in his second year of college correspondence work, having graduated from high school at age 10-12. He passed college entrance examinations with a general average of 86 percent.

He is also a composer, having recorded his own song, "A Lonely Day," and has scored and directed the music for a film to be released soon, "Aimless People," produced by Tom McGowan of "Born Free" fame.

Robert Moore Was Among Students Honored At Tech

Robert J. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. Moore of Winters, was among the many students at Texas Technological University, Lubbock, recognized for scholastic achievement at the twenty-fifth annual University Recognition Service Sunday, March 14.

Moore is a sophomore student at Tech, and this is the second year he has been one of the students receiving this recognition.

The recognition service was held in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium Sunday afternoon, with Dr. Grover E. Murray, president of the University making the address.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore attended the recognition service in Lubbock.

Cherilyn Beard Pledges Social Club At ACC

Cherilyn Beard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Beard of Winters, has pledged Sigma Theta Chi social club at Abilene Christian College.

A 1969 graduate of Winters High School, Miss Beard is a junior business education major.

To be eligible for social club membership at Abilene Christian, a student must have 30 semester hours, have attended ACC one semester and have at least a 2.0 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Mrs. Roger O'Neal Receives Sorority Award At McCamey

Mrs. Roger O'Neal of Givvin, has achieved the first degree in the Pallas Athene awards program of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

She also has been elected as the chapter's outstanding ESAer for the year and will compete in the District VIII contest to be held in April.

Mrs. O'Neal is the former Barbara Belitz of Winters.

ESA is a leading educational and service organization for women. Founded in 1929, ESA numbers more than 40,000 women in 1700 chapters in 39 states and four foreign countries.

A member of Rho Delta chapter in McCamey, Mrs. O'Neal has earned the Pallas Athene scroll by her outstanding contribution to the growth, progress and community service of the Rho Delta chapter.

Mrs. O'Neal received her scroll and charm at a special ceremony during a chapter meeting March 9 at the McCamey Park Building.

Mrs. O'Neal, a housewife and mother of two boys, is currently president of Rho Delta. Last year she served as chairman of the social and nominating committees and was a member of the welfare, ways and means, and publicity committees. She was also last year's chapter sweetheart and received the First Pearl, an award for outstanding first year members.

She is a charter member of this chapter, which was organized in April 1969, and currently has 16 members.

IN COUPLAND HOME

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Lora Coupland last week were her cousin, Mrs. Harold Asquith and husband, of Cincinnati, O.

Thirteen new members had been signed by Monday afternoon, in the current membership drive being conducted by the Winters Chamber of Commerce. It was hoped by the membership committee that this figure would be increased substantially by the last of the week.

Membership of the chamber now stands at 106, which includes businesses, individuals and farmers of the area. Committee members have stressed the desirability of having more farmers and ranchers on the membership roll of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, because, as they pointed out, "the economic and cultural future of this community does not depend on the businesses and individuals of Winters alone, but on every individual in North Runnels County and the trade area."

New members signed up by this week include Vester Spryng Service, Win-Tex Cattle Feeders, Inc., Halliburton, Winters Feed Yards, Inc., Bishop & Sons, and individuals, M. L. Dobbins, O. C. Hill, V. E. Colburn, Joe Stevens, Bobby Rogers, George Davis, Buford Baldwin and John Gardner.

New members are immediately assigned to committees, Mrs. Emma Marks, chamber secretary, said.

Members of the membership committee are Mrs. Frances Campbell, chairman; Mrs. John Gardner, director liaison for the board; and Joe Baker, Carl Gronwelle, Ted Meyer, Loyd E. Robertson, Mrs. W. M. Hays, Milton Gerhart, and Mrs. Earl Roach.

Ronald E. Rugh Moved To SCS Office At Mason

Ronald E. Rugh, range conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Runnels County, has been appointed District Conservationist for the SCS at Mason. The appointment was made by Clyde W. G. Graham, State Conservationist, SCS, of Temple, and will be effective April 4.

Rugh came to the Runnels County SCS office from Eden in June 1966. While in the local district, he has received two promotions, participated in certificate of merit award for outstanding group performance of the work unit, and received a certificate of merit for outstanding performance, according to Woodrow Hoffman, District Conservationist.

Rugh, a native of Bandera, received a BS degree in range management from Texas A&M University in 1965. He is married to the former Carolyn Graham of Brady. They have two sons, Randall 3, and Bryan, 20 months old. They are members of the Ballinger First United Methodist Church.

Dr. R. A. Hough To Give Organ Recital March 28

Dr. Ronald A. Hough, of the organ department of Hardin-Simmons University, will present a concert of organ music at the First United Methodist Church here, March 28, the Rev. Glenn Bowman, pastor of the church, has announced.

The recital will be at 3:30 in the afternoon, and the public is invited to attend.

A&M Specialist To Give Talk On Gardens

Dr. John E. Larsen, horticulturist from Texas A&M University Extension Service, will present a program on home gardens at the courthouse in Ballinger March 23. C. T. Parker, County Agricultural Agent, has announced.

The program will begin at 2 p. m., on the third floor of the courthouse.

Dr. Larsen will discuss the diseases and the various varieties of vegetables for the home garden. Those persons having problems with gardens, or certain garden plants, will be invited to discuss them with Dr. Larsen.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The recent agreement between 17 building trade unions and 34 major contractors is something like an agreement between neighbors not to run over one another's lawn and shrubbery with a 4-ton truck.

In effect the rules say that the union members will come to work on time, will do the best job they can using whatever tools they need, and will leave only when the work-day is over. It is agreed that the contractors will not resort to lock-outs. The agreement provides that neither the unions nor contractors will break the law and that workers will not be paid for not working.

increased 39 percent in the same period.

The entire story is, however, not told in this comparison, even though the construction industry is sort of a bellwether.

The same kind of issue is involved in numerous other industries where make-work or no-work rules rank in importance to work itself. In the end it is production that counts. When production costs more, the end product is bound to cost more, assuming that other factors, such as margins of business profit are reasonable. Hence inflation feeds on itself and everyone is hurt.

In terms of the economic welfare of the country, there are two opposing views of this situation. Some see overly expensive work rules as keeping employment high, even at the expense of more costly products. Others see these same rules as making housing more costly resulting in a reduction in construction of all kinds.

Many industries are coming around to the idea of a four-day work week. Most of those who have tried it say that four 10-hour days per week prove more productive than 5 days of 8 hours each. Workers seem to like it and produce more. After a level of experience this plan may catch on for greater industrial efficiency at some less costs.

What was started out here was to point up an incongruous situation of negotiating an agreement not to violate the law. It is something like a candidate for public office who proclaims his honesty. What less could be expected?

Mother of Local Residents Died In California

Mrs. Lula M. Kirchman, 78, mother of two Winters residents, died Saturday, March 6, in Norco, Calif. Funeral was held at Johnson Funeral Home in San Angelo Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Kirchman was the mother of Mrs. Rae Self and Mrs. Sue Campbell, both of Winters. Other survivors are four daughters, Mrs. Nancy Grant-Ham of Luling, Mrs. Martha Hester of Bronte, Mrs. Mattie Payne of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Joyce McGallian of Whitney; four sons, C. Is There a Doctor in the House?

HEALTH FOR ALL

A furry animal can cause asthma. So can a thousand other irritants. Drugs can help treat asthma. Maybe music can, too. Some people with asthma suffer from sudden, severe attacks. They feel as if they are choking and cannot get enough air to breathe. The experience can be terrifying, especially for young children.

If a doctor can locate the irritant that is the source of the allergy, desensitizing injections can be administered. And further attacks can be alleviated or prevented.

In addition to medication, an unusual approach to help asthmatic children is underway at the National Jewish Hospital and Research Center in Denver. Some of the children there have had asthma all their lives. Because of their illness, their emotional and physical development often lags behind that of other youngsters their age. Music therapy is spurring their progress.

The children learn to make music themselves, not just listen to it. With a special instructor, children start off with patty cake and then go on to singing, drums, and recorder. Even preschoolers learn to set down on paper the rhythms and melodies they hear first. Then they write their own.

Music makes good vibrations. It does more for asthmatic child-

Mary Martha Circle Meeting Tuesday

Mary Martha Circle, WSCS of the First United Methodist Church, met in the home of Mrs. Willa Lois Nichols Tuesday. Opening prayer was led by Mrs. Forrest Davis.

The program, "Taste and See That the Lord is Good," was introduced by Mrs. Glenn Bowman.

Those present were Mesdames J. D. Vinson, Carl Baldwin, Glenn Bowman, Forrest Davis, Nan Wright, Roy Crawford, August McWilliams, Gattis Neely, W. T. Lange, and Willa Lois Nichols.

Attempts at rhythm, harmony, and coordination build endurance, develop muscle strength, and improve breath control as well as posture. And the youngsters also learn to create and accomplish.

... about your SOCIAL SECURITY

Most people 65 and over have long since signed up for the doctor bill insurance part of Medicare. But, J. M. Talbot, social security manager, warns that for some who have not, March 31 of this year is the final deadline.

"If you were born after October 1, 1902, but before October 2, 1903," Mr. Talbot says, "this is your very last chance to get this valuable protection. Also, if you were born in the last three months of 1903 or 1904 or 1905 and missed an earlier opportunity to enroll, this general enrollment period is open to you."

Mr. Talbot explained that every person reaching age 65 can sign up for the medical insurance part of Medicare, which is paid for by a monthly premium, during a period starting months after that birthday month and ending three months after that birthday month. But, people who miss that initial enrollment opportunity generally have three more chances: The next three general enrollment periods, which are set by law during January, February, and March of every year.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Charlsie Poe Reviewed Book At Club Meeting

Mrs. George (Charlsie) Poe gave a review of her recent book, "Runnels Is My County," at a joint meeting of the Diversity Club and the Literary and Service Club Thursday, March 11, at 4 p. m. in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church. There were 70 members and guests present.

Coffee, cookies and nuts were served in the fellowship hall before the program. A patriotic theme was used in the table decor. A center piece of red, white and blue carnations, and napkins and blue candles were used. The table was laid with a white embroidery and lace cloth imported from Brazil.

Mrs. Sam Jones poured and Mrs. Elo Michaelis presided at the register book.

Hostesses were Mesdames J. E. Smith, Fred Young, James Glenn, Sam Jones, Charles Kruse, Lee Harrison, Loyd Roberson, and Elo Michaelis. The group moved to the sanctuary of the church for the program on "Texas Heritage" and the book review, with Mrs. Carroll Tatom, president of the Literary and Service Club, presiding.

Mrs. Charles Kruse led the pledges to the flags of the United States and of Texas.

Maurine Riess, Patricia Hill and Barbara Fahey, from the high school music department, gave three flute numbers from Opus 83 by Hook. Randy Stevens, organist of the First United Methodist Church, played three numbers, "Ye Sons and Daughters," by Benton Price, "Christ Lag in Todesbad," by J. S. Bach, and "Londonderry Air," a traditional Irish tune.

Mrs. Earl Roach, president of the Diversity Club, presented Mrs. Poe, who gave highlights of her recent book, "Runnels Is My County." Slides were projected by Rankin Pace, chairman of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

Mrs. Poe reviewed briefly with slides the county tour made on the day of her autograph parties last year. These included the Winters Blizzard Band, the arrival of the first copies of her book from Blue Gap Postoffice by John Norman's stagecoach, and the singing of the song "Runnels Is My County," written especially for the occasion by Loyd Roberson, with music by David Guion. Guion's niece, Mrs. Catharine Freiberg, sang with Mr. Guion accompanying on the organ.

Mrs. Poe told about old Fort Chadbourne, Blue Gap Post Office, the first in Runnels County, the old town of Content, the Nancy Parker cabin nearby, and the grave of Alex Simmons, a confederate soldier buried near the highway in the Content vicinity.

She told of the first county seat at Runnels City and how it was later moved to Ballinger. Pictures of the antique displays at the autograph parties at Rowena and Miles concluded the account of the tour.

Mrs. Poe gave considerable attention to the beginnings of schools and churches, especially in the Winters area. The book is filled with real human interest stories.

Mrs. Tatom presented Mrs. Poe with a gift from the two clubs.

The program was concluded with the singing of "Runnels Is My County," by Mrs. Roy L. Crawford, with Randy Stevens at the organ.

Slides shown were made by Virginia Duncan and Jeannine Poe, custom photographers of Long Beach, Calif.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC. 6/27/48-1976

One-Bank Holding Companies

Wellesley Hills, Mass., March 1971. After more than two years of controversy, the Congress has passed and the President has signed an amendment to the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 that regulates one-bank holding companies. Prior to this legislation, one-bank holding companies were not limited as to what non-banking activities they could enter (although the banking subsidiaries were regulated as far as banking functions were concerned). Most did not abuse this privilege, as diversification occurred primarily in financially related fields such as mortgage companies, small loans, and data processing companies.

Nevertheless, it was decided that this loophole should be closed because of acquisition overtones by conglomerates, the increased competition between banks which resulted in their seeking new fields of endeavor, and the rapid growth in the number of one-bank holding companies. For example, in 1966 there were only 641 banks controlled by one-bank holding companies, and these represented less than 5 per cent of total bank deposits. By the end of 1968, however, 783 one-bank holding companies were in existence or being formed, which represented more than 27 per cent of the industry's total deposits.

Some Break-Up Anticipated

Because of this law, some one-bank holding companies which were in operation prior to June 30, 1968 (the grandfather clause data) may be required to divest themselves of their non-banking activities. By the same token, some companies whose prime functions are not banking may choose to spin off their banking operation. The Federal Reserve Board has two years to study those holding companies that own banks with assets of over $60 million and determine what action should be taken. Smaller holding companies may also be forced to divest some of their non-related activities if the Federal Reserve Board finds "that the banks' power to grant or deny credit be influenced by a desire to further the holding company's other interests." The holding companies have ten years to divest themselves of these activities after they have been ordered to do so.

Fed's Guidelines

The Federal Reserve Board played an important role in the making of this legislation, as its opinions were sought at various stages, particularly during the final draft. The Act itself offers only guidelines and gives the Fed great latitude in drawing limitations as to what activities are to be permitted. In making its decisions, the important considerations will probably be whether or not a firm's non-banking activities are closely related to banking and whether such activities would decrease competition or result in conflict of interest.

Since the final passage of this Act, the Federal Reserve Board has set up its guidelines as to what it considers to be closely related banking activities. These guidelines are quite general, and changes in the future are more than likely. It may be several years before the final guidelines are established, as it is anticipated they will be tested in the courts by either a one-bank holding company that has been denied entrance to a certain activity or by a competitor who challenges a bank's right to these activities.

Uniform Regulation

Most important accomplishment of this bill is the uniform regulation applied to both the one-bank holding company and the multibank holding company. Because of this, many one-bank holding companies will likely become multi-bank holding companies. In New York City, for example, First National City Corporation has already announced plans to form a multi-bank holding company with a new branch in Suffolk County, and Chase Manhattan Corporation plans to form Chase Manhattan Bank of Long Island in Nassau County. This trend will continue and should have a beneficial impact on future bank earnings.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN—A blue-ribbon committee has been formed to lead the fight against income taxation.

Midland attorney Tom Sealy resigned from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System to devote full time to directing the work of the statewide group.

Texas Association of Taxpayers started with an advisory committee of 300 prominent citizens. Sealy announced that a membership drive is getting underway.

"Our purpose is not obstruction, but rather an honest and open effort to help the Legislature develop a reasonable tax program and undertake whatever economies are possible in order to resolve this situation in the regular session," Sealy said. "We are united on one broad principle—that this should be done within the present tax structure and without enactment of either a personal income tax or a corporate income tax."

T.A.T. notes that business pays 34 percent of the present sales tax and that 18 percent of all state revenues come from natural resource taxes which many states do not levy.

Our organization, says Sealy, feels that "this is no time to strap income taxes on the people" in view of unemployment and the shape of the economy.

It will argue a corporate income tax is "simply the forerunner of a personal income tax."

Meanwhile, the House-passed $492.5 tax bill, made up largely of sales levy increases, arrived in the Senate without a sponsor. It was referred to the State Affairs Committee.

Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan, chairman of the State Affairs Committee, indicated that he will not lend his name to the bill and that he is in no hurry to schedule hearings.

AD RULES SET

Advertising regulations for health insurance companies to follow have been drafted by the State Insurance Board, to take effect April 1.

Companies are instructed to stick strictly to the truth and to close loopholes that might deprive the policyholder of coverage.

Special participating policies drew close attention and were termed "unfair, inequitable, misleading and deceptive."

Tough rules drafted earlier by a Board attorney were discarded in favor of uniform regulations recommended by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Insurancemen favored the latter.

Ads must disclose the waiting period that is necessary before the effective date of the policy; any illnesses not covered and whether benefits listed require more than one policy for full coverage.

When existing ailments are not covered, the ad cannot imply that one medical history does not affect the policy or the claim payment. Use of the phrase "no medical examination required" is thus limited.

Board plans to enforce these rules by cease and desist orders. Companies which ignore the order can be fined or have their license revoked.

TEXAS RATES LOW IN SAFETY

Texas was ranked in the bottom quarter of states in a federal evaluation of compliance with federal highway safety standards.

Gov. Preston Smith in a letter to Transportation Secretary John Volpe protested the rating and said that Texas' efforts to comply have been "misjudged or ignored." He said the Legislature is now considering all aspects necessary to compliance.

National rating is based on such things as motor vehicle inspection and registration, licensing, codes and statutes, traffic courts, driver education, emergency medical services, highway design, construction and maintenance and alcoholic beverages in relation to highway safety.

In a special message to the Legislature, Smith asked for an end to the misdemeanor probation for drunk drivers.

COURTS SPEAK

Supreme Court in a Montgomery School bond election case held one must render property (real or personal) for taxation to be eligible to vote in such elections.

High Court, in a seven-to-two verdict, reversed the lower courts in a Reeves County case and concluded that a rancher does not have legal title to 160 acres of land even though he maintained fences for more than 10 years and kept his cattle there.

Supreme Court declined to hear arguments over whether two socialist candidates should be placed on Austin's city election ballot. Two refused to sign state loyalty oaths.

A malpractice case involving a worker's injury was ordered sent back by the Supreme Court for re-trial in Galveston.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin announced filing of anti-trust action in the federal court at Dallas, alleging conspiracy by major auto manufacturers to suppress air pollution control equipment.

AG OPINIONS

School districts are not authorized to place certified administrative staff personnel on a foundation school program roster in utilization of classroom teacher units allotments unless they meet the definition of "classroom teacher," Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

Ruling by Martin also clarified the pay grade classification of superintendents and principals.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—Amendments to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act which would permit employers of one to three persons and non-profit organizations to pay lower taxes than other newly-covered firms are valid.

—Harris County road law authorized transfer of responsibility for operation and maintenance of Washburn Tunnel and Harris County ferries to only the commissioner in whose precinct they are located.

Martin advised consumers that merchants are not required by law to take back merchandise returned by customers who have simply changed their minds about wanting it. Stores, he said, are liable for defective merchandise.

APRIL DRAFT CALL

Col. Melvin N. Glantz, state director of Selective Service, announced the April draft call in Texas is 1,033.

National call by the Department of Defense is for 17,000 men, all for the Army. April call for pre-induction physical examination in Texas will be 4,001.

Glantz also said 51 Texas medical doctors, four osteopaths and 32 dentists will be included in a separate special induction call for doctors and dentists. National call is for 1,531 MD's, 77 osteopaths and 536 dentists.

Selective Service announced reduction in its work force of about 15 percent. Nationwide reorganization may require some local Texas boards in heavily populated areas to be merged.

APPOINTMENTS

Ron Jones, formerly of Dublin, was named interim executive director of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Jones promptly relieved Robert G. Mauermann, who had been holding the position, of all duties at PWD.

Governor Smith announced the resignation of Dr. Charles H. Brown of Wichita Falls from the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado will be legislative commissioner of Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission.

SHORT SNORTS

Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon will be governor for a day on April 3.

Bicentennial Commission recommended a program for Texas' participation in the nation's 200th anniversary celebration.

John Graves of Fort Worth is new president of Texas Institute of Letters.

Harlingen is the first Texas city to announce a "crime-stop" telephone number in cooperation with the new state program to report crimes.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced plans to organize a 1,000-member Texas delegation to visit Paris, Stockholm and Moscow on behalf of American prisoners of war and servicemen mission in Vietnam action.

Technical Assistance Center here will serve eight model cities programs.

Easter Seal Sale To Benefit West Texas Rehab Center

Officials at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center announced that near 50,000 Easter Seal appeal letters would be in the mail toward the end of the week.

Homer Scott, Easter Seal Treasurer, stated his appreciation for the many volunteers that helped staff the Easter Seal appeal letters and that worked in local areas in special benefit shows, school activities, and various appeal programs.

Scott pointed out that the West Texas Rehabilitation Center has been an Easter Seal affiliate for many years, since the inception of the Center in 1953.

He further stated that the West Texas Rehabilitation Center annually purchases Easter Seals for this area for $3,900 and that all the funds come directly to the Center. He pointed out that last year 90 per cent of the Easter Seal funds stayed at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. He further stated that the Easter Seal appeal left a higher percentage of public funds in the community than any other national campaign. He urged the general public to study all campaigns and evaluate the amount of funds that were available for actual patient care.

The Easter Seal appeal is now on in eleven counties.

Members of the Den Dieters met Monday evening at the Den, with Mrs. Boyd Bedford presiding. Mrs. B. J. Emmert was chosen queen for the week.

Present were Mesdames W. J. Briley, Pearl Dunnam, Bill Mill-jorn, Louis de la Cruz, B. J. Emmert, Paul Gerhardt, Robert Kraatz, Bert Humble and Carl Pendergrass.

Winters Students Place Stock In Angelo Show

Livestock shown by several Winters students at the San Angelo Livestock Show last week won places.

Sherrill Alexander showed a Charolais calf to 5th place in the light weight crossbred class.

In the swine show, Scott King won 4th in the light weight Duroc barrow class. James Lynn Blackwell won 4th in the light weight crossbred barrow division.

Don Rogers was 5th in the light weight crossbred barrow class, and Doug Rogers placed 9th in that classification.

Pioneer Seed Co. Creates Service Department

Jim Higdon, agronomist with extensive experience in southwestern agriculture, has been named to head the newly created agronomy services department of Pioneer Sorghum Company of Plainview.

A 1957 graduate of Texas Tech, Higdon will work with dealers and customers, and one project will be setting up and supervising grain sorghum test plots in all areas of Texas. Purpose of this applied research will be to provide growers with localized information they can use in selecting hybrids and in getting maximum potential from those they plant.

Herman Vinson, Tuscola, Pioneer dealer for Runnels and Taylor counties, said.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

To the outdoorsman, whether he hunts or fishes, the shade of a big tree is very important. Branches of these trees serve as a supply of food for game, fish and fowl, and as a source of shade and comfort to man, bird and beast.

Although millions of acres of almost barren land are within the Lone Star State, not many persons realize that Texas also has its share of big trees.

During the past year Big Tree sleuths have recorded almost a hundred species of trees, a third of which are recognized in the national register as the largest in the nation.

American Forestry Association keeps the register.

Within the past year, the sleuths have discovered a record breaking Long Leaf Pine in Texas. It is in Sabine County in East Texas and measures 111 and 1-2 inches in circumference at 4 and 1-2 feet above the ground. That's nine feet, three and one-half inches around! It is 134 feet high above the ground level and has a crown diameter of 34 feet. Until this tree was measured for national competition, an Alabama one held the championship. Surprisingly, this new record breaker can be seen at a popular roadside park on SH 184, five miles northwest of Hemp-hill.

The Texas Sophora (Coral Bean champion) is on the Kaolin ranch, 4 1-2 miles west of Leakey, off Ranch Road 337. Texas now has a Black Tupelo champion on the east bank of Eight Mile Creek, near the Harrison-Panola County line. Mississippi formerly held this champion.

A new Allegheny Chinquapin of monster size is found on FM 2022, 10 miles northeast of Crockett.

The champion Pyramid Magnolia is in Newton County, behind the office of the Newton Wildlife Kingdom, 10 Miles southeast of Jasper.

Newton county has the largest Western Soapberry, two miles east of FM 1414, 6 1/2 miles southeast of Burkville.

Newton County also has the new Bluejack Oak champ on East Court St. in Newton.

Other champion big trees are the Water Tupelo, 12 1-2 miles northeast of Bon Wier; Bitter-root Hickory, 12 miles north of Bon Wier; Carolina Laurel Cherry, eight miles north of Burkville; Overcup Oak, seven miles north of Martinsville; White Fringetree, near Magnolia Springs; and a Silk Tree and Black Locust, located in the town of Jasper.

Among the other state champions are Southern Red Oak, Angelina County; Black Cherry, Hercules Club, Austin County; Osage Orange, Bowie County; Loblolly Pine, Rusk County.

Newton County also boasts of the remaining nine Texas Champs. They are American Beech, Eastern Hophornbeam, Chinaberry, Mockernut Hickory, American Hornbeam, Yellow Poplar, Swamp Chestnut, Post Oak and Red Maple.

With more than 200 species of trees in Texas, the Texas Forest Service at College Station is looking for additional champs. They are working with owners to preserve the trees as landmarks and to stimulate greater interest in trees.

A list of these big trees is available from the Texas Forest Service. It should be of interest to all Texans who love the outdoors.

DAR Met Tuesday In Kendrick Home

The Nancy Harper Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Sweetwater met in the C. R. Kendrick home for a luncheon, Tuesday, March 16. Mrs. James Beull of Sweetwater and Mrs. Arlie Cassle of Hamlin were co-hostesses.

The table was laid with a cut-work linen cloth, made in Portugal and center piece was an arrangement of red carnations, white mums and blue Iris. Decorations throughout the house were flags of our country.

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Pace showed film slides and made an interesting talk on their visit to Valley Forge, Philadelphia, Williamsburg and Natchez.

Miss Delina Baird of Rotan, Regent of the Chapter, conducted a meeting after the program. Miss Baird and other members will attend the State meeting in San Antonio, Thursday and Friday.

Carol Marie Jacob, Michael Franke Kozelsky Will Wed Here May 22nd

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Passing the Pedal Pusher

Motorists today are sharing our streets and highways with more than 60 million bicycle riders, an all-time high. As never before, a driver must be alert to his legal responsibilities as he passes his slow and silent companion of the road.

The law's Number One Rule is that a motorist must make fair allowance for the vagaries of bicycle riding. Take this case:

A driver saw a bicyclist ahead of him on the highway, wobbling noticeably. It seems that the rider was steering his bike with one hand and balancing a rake over his shoulder with the other.

Nevertheless the driver neither slowed down nor steered to the left. At the last instant, the bicyclist lurched into his path and got hit.

Was the driver guilty of negligence? A jury decided that he was indeed, for failing to adapt his driving to a danger he should easily have foreseen.

Still, motorists are not expected to do the impossible.

Another case also involved a bicycle that swung across the path of a car. But this time, the accident occurred on a dark night, the bicycle had no lights, and the rider was wearing dark clothing from head to toe.

Under these circumstances, the court saw no reason for blaming the motorist. The court said he could hardly be expected to notice someone who was so nearly invisible.

Furthermore, the bicyclist himself has the responsibility of handling his own vehicle with care.

One rider, pedalling around a bend, crashed into a car that was parked at the curb. Painfully injured, he decided to put in a claim against the owner of the car. He based his case on the fact that the car had been parked in a no-parking zone.

But the court refused to let him shift the blame for what was really his own fault. The court said:

"A bicycle rider has the same duty as any other vehicle operator—to keep it under such control that he can avoid collisions. He cannot, willy-nilly, run into a standing vehicle and (expect to) recover damages."

Nan Wright Circle Meeting Tuesday

The Nan Wright Circle of the First United Methodist Church met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baker Tuesday, with Mrs. A. M. Nelson co-hostess, and Mrs. Leeman in charge of the business in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Clarence Hambricht.

Mrs. Leeman had charge of the study on the Psalms. Mrs. Mitchell led the opening prayer, and Mrs. Hood talked on the subject, "Taste and See the Lord Is Good."

Mrs. Leeman spoke on some songs of Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Nelson served refreshments to Mesdames W. T. Stanley, Arch Hood, Frank Mitchell, Susie Baker, M. E. Leeman, and visitors, Mrs. W. T. Gardner and Mrs. August water.

Naomi WSCS Circle Meeting Tuesday

The Naomi Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met in the home of Mrs. E. L. Marks Tuesday, with Mrs. Thad Traylor presiding.

The group continued study of the Psalms, with the lesson presented by Mrs. Ralph Arnold and Mrs. T. C. Stanley.

Others present were Mesdames M. L. Dobbins, Paul Gerhardt, H. O. Abbott, Minnie Hinds, Elmo Mayhew, Raymond Knight and W. W. Parramore.

Sans Souci Club Met In Young Home

The Sans Souci Club met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young for the March meeting. Co-hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lloyd.

A St. Patrick's Day theme was used in party room decorations. The serving table was laid in white cutwork linen, centered with crysanthemums in a large green smoking pipe on a four leaf clover base.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Gattis, Neely, Bill Minzenmayer, J. W. Bahlman, J. D. Vinson, Glenn Bowman, Woodrow Watts, and Mr. John Norman and Mr. LaDell Davis.

ely intended to shame and harass the plaintiff into paying. Defendant clearly exceeded the bounds of reason."

The fact remains, however, that a debt is supposed to be paid—and that a creditor is entitled to put on pressure to collect it. One debtor went to court to complain of receiving a jarring telegram from his creditor. It said: "Must have March payment immediately or legal action." But the court could see nothing unlawful in the telegram. "A creditor has a perfect right to threaten legal action," said the court. "There are some shocks, inconveniences, and annoyances which members of society in the nature of things must absorb."

Your Debts and Your Privacy

Window shoppers passing a neighborhood hardware store were startled to see a hand-lettered sign among the pots and pans.

"Harold Jackson," it read, "has failed to pay his bill. This sign will stay right here until he pays up."

Jackson himself soon found out about the sign. But instead of paying the bill, he filed a damage suit against the hardware dealer. Grounds: invasion of privacy.

And, even though the dealer protested that his sign "told nothing but the truth," the court ruled in Jackson's favor. The court said the debt was none of the public's business.

In most states, the law frowns on the general publicizing of a private debt. Although the debtor does indeed owe the money, such tactics are considered unfair and oppressive. Even a limited publicizing may be unlawful, if there is no real justification for it.

Thus:

In another case, a debtor who had no telephone was summoned repeatedly to a neighbor's house to take calls from a persistent creditor. The creditor also took great pains to let the neighbor know exactly why he was calling.

Here too, when the debtor sued, the court decided the calls were an unlawful invasion of his privacy.

"The defendant's tactics," said the court, "were deliberate-

COUNTY AGENT PARKER'S COLUMN

The population movement to metropolitan and urban areas in Texas is continuing. Final census figures show that 70.7 percent of the people in the state in 1970 lived in cities. Texas now ranks 11th among the states in its metropolitan population, with California heading the list at 90.9 percent.

In Runnels County, 58.7 percent of the people live in urban places. Texas is now the nation's fourth most populous state with some 11,196,730 residents. Only California, New York and Pennsylvania ran higher. Texas ranked sixth in 1960.

Today 73 percent of the state's population lives in the 23 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, areas of populations over 50,000 designated by the federal government. This number will increase if additional counties are added to the list after analysis of the detailed census results. In 1960, only 63.4 percent of Texas' people lived in counties then designated as "metropolitan".

Ever thought about how much meat you might be eating sometime within the next 10 years? Some food economists, says County Agent Parker, have predicted that the per capita meat consumption in the nited States will exceed 200 pounds within the next 10 years.

Meat consumption this year, 1971, is expected to reach a new all-time high of 189 pounds, four pounds above last year.

The county agent notes that beef consumption is now up to 115 pounds per person. A conservative estimate on pork of 68 pounds could go over the 70 pound level. The consumption of veal and lamb is about 3 pounds for each, he added.

Beef consumption is expected to increase by about 15 lbs. per person during the next 10 years to push the total of red meat consumer per capita to over the 200 project pounds. Other meats are expected to hold steady or to also increase their rates of consumption, the county agent said.

Winter conditions can keep livestock from getting enough water to maintain top gains and high milk production, advises County Agent Parker. For top production, he adds, fresh, slightly warmed water must be there when the animals want it.

Patients are told to try to keep the light on as long as possible. To do this, they must try to force a prolonged yawn.

Dr. Robert H. Bartlett, one of the spokesmen for the Boston group, says that changes in the breathing patterns during surgery can lead to closing of some of the tiny air sacs in the lungs. Postoperative breathing exercises can alleviate some of the difficulty, but they are often painful to patients who have had abdominal surgery. Five sustained yawns repeated on an hourly basis, Dr. Bartlett says, help normalize the balance of blood and air flowing through the lungs.

To find out more about your lungs and how they work under normal and abnormal conditions, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

vice to maintain water temperature at 40 to 45 degrees should prevent winter freeze-ups and cause animals to drink more, he says.

Medium and large size animal operations will require surprisingly large amounts of water just for the animals to drink. For example, a high producing dairy cow will drink 20 to 25 gallons per day, an 800 pound steer will drink from 7 to 15 gallons per day, depending on the time of year.

Peak use rates, or those periods when water consumption is higher, for farm animals is an important consideration when considering the total amount of water needed on the farm. Experience and research, says the county agent, show that each watering space or bowl for cattle and hogs should have pumping capacity city to supply up to two gallons per minute.

The proper handling of livestock can add many extra dollars to the income of stockmen each year. Losses from improper handling run very high in the livestock industry. County Agent C. T. Parker, Jr. says bruises, injured animals and damaged hides and meat can be largely eliminated by just being careful with livestock and making sure that handling facilities are adequate and safe.

Avoid twisting, confusing travel routes when moving livestock. It is best to use straight-line patterns to avoid abrupt turns or changes in traffic. Clear the way of obstacles that can injure livestock, he says.

Animals like to follow a leader. Use a herd leader if you have one. This animal, handled quietly, will generally follow the safest traffic pattern in moving from one place to another.

Avoid the use of persuader objects such as hot-shot wands, canes, whips and the like which frighten or excite animals. Never hit an animal with a force that cause injury.

Never overcrowd a pen, stall, corral or loading chute. You can move more animals quietly than by jamming or forcing them.

Steers handle differently than swine and sheep. Know how each species of animal likes to be driven and handled and tailor your plan accordingly, advises the county agent. Careful and thoughtful handling of livestock will be rewarded at the market place.

HO-HUM REMEDY

During major surgery, a patient's breathing patterns are disrupted. Complications in the chest can result later. But big, relaxing yawns can help.

Under the influence of anaesthetics, breathing patterns are altered and slowed down. After surgery, decreased lung volumes in patients are common. Such changes are usually self-correcting in time. But not always.

Yawning is an effective way of increasing expansion of the lungs and the flow of used blood to the heart. Sighing is like a small yawn.

A group of doctors at Boston's Peter Bent Brigham Hospital have devised ways to encourage patients' yawns. They use a spirometer, an instrument to measure breathing, with a light on it. The light goes on when the user reaches one half of his measured breathing capacity. It stays on as long as a good yawn lasts.

Tourism Is Big Business In Texas

Austin — Out-of-state and foreign visitors to Texas totaled 21,116,000 persons during 1970, and they spent $1,469,115,000 according to figures just released by the Texas Highway Department in the annual Texas Visitor Industry Report.

The totals reflect slight declines in tourists from the previous year. Auto visitors decreased about seven per cent during 1970, and commercial carrier totals declined slightly less than one per cent. Auto travelers are annually surveyed by the Highway Department, while commercial carrier travelers are tabulated by the Texas Tourist Council.

Despite the declines the Highway Department reported that tourism continues to rank among major contributors to the Texas economy. Total visitors were nearly twice the number of resident Texans, and their expenditures of nearly $1.5 billion places tourism among the state's leading industries. Average spending by auto visitors was $11.34 per person per day, or $31.75 a day per visitor party.

The 1970 auto tourist party averaged 2.8 persons who spent 5.7 days in Texas. Nearly 70 per cent had vacationed in Texas before, while the remainder were first-time visitors.

As in the past, the overwhelming majority enjoyed their visit. Favorable responses totaled more than 90 per cent. Texas highways ranked first in compliments, followed by friendly Texans, Highway Department tourist bureaus, and the variety of attractions throughout the state.

Those who called in person at Highway Department tourist bureaus totaled 1,181,000 persons. Nine of the bureaus are at major highway entrances to Texas, one is in the state capital, and one is the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center at Langtry.

At each of the bureaus, visitors receive the full treatment of a Texas welcome from pretty, professional travel counselors. The greeting is garnished

According to the survey, Houston was the most popular metropolitan destination during 1970, followed closely by Dallas, El Paso, San Antonio, and a host of other Texas cities with significant visitor appeal. Among those who listed an area destination rather than a specific city, East Texas came out slightly ahead the runner-up Gulf Coast region.

However, no area of the state can claim a real majority of the tourist market, because "general touring" was mentioned three times more often than any regional destination.

The Highway Department's 1970 survey was based upon 25,314 in-depth questionnaires completed by auto visitors. The questionnaires, which represent more than 70,000 individual tourists, provided data indicating primary tourist origins, destinations, and expenditures.

Supplementing the questionnaires, the Highway Department conducted 339 visual traffic counts throughout the year. The counts, most of them for 24-hour periods, tabulated incoming out-of-state traffic on Interstate, U. S. and State Highways around the entire perimeter of Texas.

Explorer Posts To Admit Girls, Says Chisholm Council

After two years of research and field experience, the Exploring Division of the Boy Scouts of America will now admit teenage girls to full membership in Exploring. Its high school-age action program.

The announcement was made here today by Max Polan, Council Explorer Chairman, after word was received that approval has been given by the national Executive Board of the BSA and will be effective April 1.

Polan said that the action taken nationally was in recognition of the chartered requirement to serve boys and young men, and it would enable Exploring to more effectively carry out its mandate to meet the needs and interests of today's youth.

Until January 1970, Exploring had been an all-male program. Acting on research studies and recommendations of business, education, religious and youth leaders, Exploring began a one-year trial of admitting young women to participate in the program. Participation was restricted to special-interest Exploring posts organized around a career of vocational interest.

National Executive Board's action now makes it possible for coeds to become full-fledged members and for adult women volunteers to act in leadership

he invited Merck to go in and use the bank's telephone. "Aw," he said, "I told the people in the bank you were the Aspermont rainmaker."

Bob Loyd, of Abilene (and Winters), handed us this clipping from The Cross Plains Review:

"A big, swanky service station on Interstate Highway 20 on the outskirts of Baird has a large sign across its top, bearing the name of the company's products it dispenses. The letters look two feet square, and spell out S H E L L .

"One day last week the first letter was missing from the sign and motorists from miles away read it H E L L .

"I just hope strangers don't think that is the name of the town they're passing through," remarked one resident."

PARKING PROBLEM at Khe Sanh. The traffic situation is such at this Vietnamese landing zone near the Laotian border that helicopters have to be parked on vehicular roadways.
