HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

If you want to talk with a farmer these days, you'll probably have to run alongside a tractor and yell loud enough to be heard over the roar of a laboring engine. Most farmers are in the field, following the little rain which fell a few days ago, with one eye on the furrow and the other on the horizon looking for maybe clouds . . . and haven't got time to give you the time of day—Daylight Savings OR Standard.

There is something about spring or plowin' time, which sets it off from other seasons of the year, even harvest time. At harvest time, most of the blood, sweat and tears is behind the farmer, and at that time he's pretty well knows whether he's got it made or not. But at plantin' time, everything is "future"—he's putting a lot of time, effort and money into something over which he has little control, except through the use of his skill and knowledge and experience. The rest is up the antics of the weather. If it rains the right amount at the right times, he stands a chance of making a good crop; if the bugs don't eat him up!

It's at plantin' and first plowin' time that the most important trait in humankind is manifested—FAITH. A man, to be a farmer, must have faith that the Good Earth will give a reasonable return, and all the guarantee he has is past experience. Without that faith, a man would be a poor farmer. And faced with all the uncertainties, which are doubled and tripled in West Texas, it takes a man with pretty much stamina to keep coming back year after year. There are many of us who wouldn't have the disposition to take that type of challenge . . . seems that it has to be ingrown. The rest of us would be in a heck of a shape, wouldn't we, if there weren't a few men who have a headlock on that kind of faith!

If this is "Saving" time we're on now, what kind of time do we have the rest of the year. . . "Losing time?"

Many people have been wondering what is going on at the rear of the shipping department building of General Aviation Industries on the west side of South Main Street. One can see piles of lumber, and hear the whine of saws and bang of hammers . . . but no kind of building is going up! Well, it's not a building they're making—it's big shipping crates and containers they use to ship the big steel and iron and aluminum beams and rails and gadgets and gidgets and things they turn out on the lathes and presses and machines in the plant across the street.

Here is one of those "Letters to the Editor" which has been kicking around the weekly papers of the country recently.

"Dear Editor:
"Please send me a free copy of your newspaper containing the obituary of my aunt. Also publish the enclosed clipping of the marriage of my niece. And I wish you would mention in your columns, if it doesn't cost anything, that I have two calves for sale and our church is having a chili supper Friday night and the tickets are only 75 cents. As my subscription has expired, please stop the paper as I can't waste money on newspapers. —Ex-Subscriber."

Interest Building In Water Project

Interest continues to grow for organization and development of a rural water distribution system for North Runnels County. In a meeting in the Winters Community Center Monday night, sentiment in favor of going ahead with exploration of the idea was voiced by many of the 66 people attending. Most of those attending the Monday meeting had not been present at the first meeting two weeks ago, nor at the steering committee organization meeting last week. Several other community meetings have been held, with others planned, so sponsors and observers voiced the opinion that a big portion of the rural population of the area have had first-hand information on the proposal.

C. T. Parker, Runnels County Agent, Monday night again pointed out the dire need for a bigger supply of good water, in view of the ever-increasing degree of pollution of available water in the area. He emphasized that without something being done about getting water, this area would be in a drastic predicament.

E. L. Foster of Eastland, district supervisor for Farmers Home Administration, outlined the part the FHA offers to take in development of a rural water system here. He pointed out that it was absolutely necessary for everyone in the area to be affected to sign up for the project.

Winters Student Cost Is Lower Than Average

In comparing per pupil cost in nine area schools of the same classification and about the same size, cost per pupil in the Winters schools is lower than average.

Per pupil cost comparison: Winters $524, Coleman $518, Ballinger $558, Anson $487, Hamlin $605, Stamford $534, Brady $516, Merkel $601, Haskell $513. Average $542.

In the School Superintendent's Report to the School Board, published in last week's Enterprise, the per pupil cost for Winters was listed as "$542," an error.

Also, kindergarten enrollment was listed as "8," and should have been 26.

WTCC Urging Passage of "Clean Water Amendment" May 18th

West Texas Chamber of Commerce, through its Water Committee, is strongly urging passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 4—the "Clean Water" Amendment—in the May 18 amendment voting, and is urging county and local officials to form organizations to work for passage of the amendment.

George McCleskey, chairman of the Water Committee, in a letter to Chamber of Commerce executives and others in West Texas, said, "The Governor has asked city and county officials to form an organization in your community to work for the passage of Amendment 4, and . . . do everything possible to insure its passage."

The chairman said the Amendment has three main provisions: 1. It makes it possible for the Legislature to approve sale of One Hundred Million Dollars in revenue bonds to assist cities and towns with sewage treatment facilities. It has been pointed out that these bonds would free other money which could be used for water development projects.

2. It would raise the interest ceiling on all water bonds from 4 percent to 6 percent. For quite some time there has been no market for 4 percent bonds.

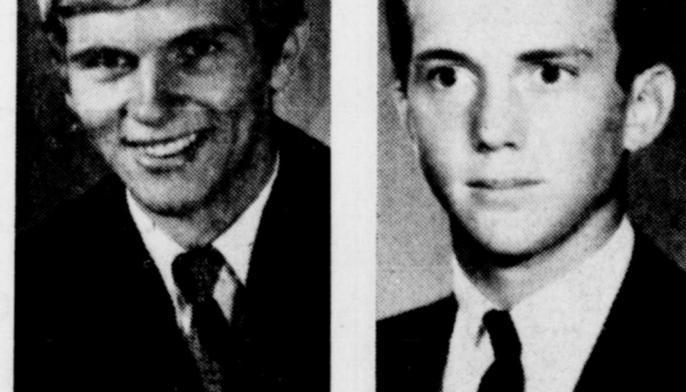

3. It would remove the 1982 termination date of the Water Development Board fund and make it a permanent fund.

In a recent meeting, the board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution regarding Amendment No. 4, pointing out that passage would "reduce the local tax burden in providing adequate sewage treatment facilities; help prevent improperly treated sewage from ruining our rivers, streams, lakes, bays, and estuaries and endangering the fish and wildlife; help preserve one of our most precious natural resources—water; and would help avoid serious health problems because of inadequate sewage treatment facilities."

The resolution set out that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce endorses passage of the amendment, and requested that the Chamber of Commerce in each city assist in the organization of local "Clean Water for Texas Committees" and work to secure passage of the proposal.

Annoying And Profane Calls "Can Be Traced"

Following a rash of annoying and sometimes profane telephone calls to residents of Winters during the past several weeks, Chief of Police Joe Stevens said this week that such phone calls "can be traced without much trouble," and warned of possible consequences to the callers.

Chief Stevens said he had been notified recently by several residents that they had received many telephone calls, "at all hours," and that while some of them were only annoying, some of the callers have used profane and obscene language. He warned that if the called person reports such calls to the police, the calls can be traced by the telephone company.

The police chief reminded that the Penal Code of the State of Texas specifies that "Whoever uses any vulgar, profane, obscene, or indecent language over or through any telephone or whoever uses any telephone in any manner with intent to harass, annoy, torment, abuse, threaten or intimidate another, except if such call be for a lawful business purpose, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor," and provides for heavy fines and/or imprisonment upon conviction.

HIKES IN STATE TAXES LOOM

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass.—While the Nixon Administration continues laboring mightily to revitalize the nation's economy, the worsening fiscal plight of states and municipalities threatens to negate at least some of the benefits of the economic stimulants applied at the federal level. For example, at a time when state and local governments should be opening up job opportunities to offset employment losses in private industry due to cutbacks in military outlays, pressure is strong to trim state and municipal payrolls in order to counterbalance escalating costs.

Conflicting Tax Forces
The Administration has been flitting with the idea of cutting federal taxes as an additional tonic for business. However, a definite move in this direction may be held in abeyance until later in the year. The encouraging pickup in residential building, retail sales, and certain fields of industry is likely to prompt the Administration to wait a while to see if the economic upturn now in evidence can be sustained without resorting to tax relief. Nevertheless, this method of spurring the economy will be kept in the wings, ready to be trotted out if another bracer seems to be required.

State governments, on the other hand, are studying new revenue-producing measures which could bring in $6.5 billion of new tax money each year. Forty-nine of the fifty state legislatures are meeting this year, and thirty-five of them are—or will be—taking up tax bills. Added tax revenues are imperative for state governments beleaguered by fast-rising expenditures and short-fall revenues. This situation has been building for years, but the recession has made it acute.

Revenue Sharing Still A Dream
President Nixon's revenue sharing has run into trouble in Congress, and chances for passage have been deteriorating. Thus, it now looks as though prospects of channeling substantial federal funds into state coffers via revenue sharing are fading fast, with the states perhaps forced to settle for partial federal take-over of welfare costs—which may not occur until 1972.

Therefore, state governments must fend for themselves for a while longer. They must rely upon already strained sources of revenue. But these wells are

U-M Church To Lay Cornerstone Next Sunday

The Rev. Gordon Dennis, District Superintendent of the Brownwood District, United Methodist Church, will officiate at the cornerstone laying ceremony at the Winters First United Methodist Church Sunday, May 2.

The Rev. Dennis will conduct the regular evening worship service at 7 p. m., to be followed by the laying of the cornerstone, the Rev. Glenn Bowman, pastor, announced.

A consecration service for the new church is being planned for May 16, the Rev. Bowman said.

diminishing in productivity: In the late 1960s tax yields of states were expanding at an annual rate of 16 percent; during the first nine months of 1970 the degree of rise had contracted to ten percent. This slowdown, built-in spending boosts of continuing programs and services, the effects of inflation, and higher salaries, pensions, and labor costs, have thrown some state budgets into deficit.

LEVIES ON INCOME
Faced with insolvency and/or bankruptcy—or at best the almost insoluble riddle of where to pare spending—seven states are reported to be studying new personal-income taxes, while 5 states are weighing the pros and cons of new corporate-income taxes. Right now, thirteen states either place no levy at all on personal income or tax only a limited part. Hence, pressured by revenue needs, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, and Texas may opt for the personal-income tax this year, while New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Connecticut broaden their existing levies. Legislators of at least a dozen other states may have to hike income-tax rates or broaden the bases of such levies. A number of states are exploring the imposition of new corporate income taxes, and many others are attempting to find ways and means of increasing their take from such charges.

Other sources of tax revenue are being constantly sought. Montana and New Hampshire are moving closer to enactment of a general sales tax, while several states are studying the possibility of hiking existing rates or widening the application of this type of levy. Some are eyeing new or higher excise taxes on tobacco and gasoline.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Foot in the Door

To the bus driver waiting at the wheel, it seemed that the fat lady was his final customer. But behind her, unseen by the driver, a girl was also preparing to come aboard. She had already gotten one foot in the door when he closed it and started to move.

The girl was flung to the pavement and injured. In due course, she sued the bus company for damages.

"Even if his view was blocked by that fat lady," she told the court, "he had no right to close the door without double-checking. After all, a common carrier owes a high degree of care to its passengers."

"Maybe so," conceded the company. "But this girl was not yet a passenger. She had paid no fare. She had not really gotten aboard. We do regret the incident, but we are not legally liable."

Nevertheless, the court held that the girl was indeed a passenger, entitled to extra care, and granted her claim.

This is the prevailing rule, that a person may acquire the special status of "passenger" even before he is inside the vehicle. It is usually enough that he has shown his readiness to come aboard—and that the company has shown its readiness to accept him.

But the readiness on both sides must coincide. Take this case:

A man rushed up to a bus just after the door had closed. He knocked on the glass, but the bus was already beginning to roll. The man slipped, fell, and got hit by the rear wheel.

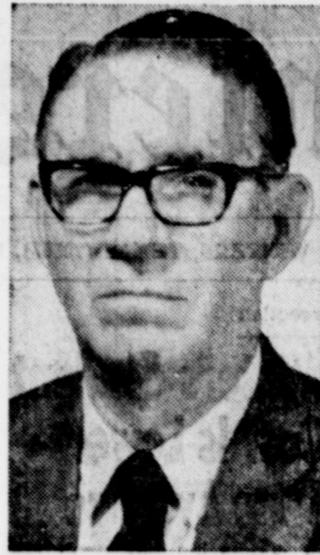

Could he collect damages from the company? A court said no, because he had not gained the status of a passenger. The court pointed out that he had not shown his readiness to ride until the driver had stopped showing his readiness to accept him.

A parallel problem arises at journey's end: at what moment does the passenger lose his special status?

In another case a passenger alighted at a bus stop, began to cross the street, and was knocked down by a second bus passing the one he had just left. Here, he claimed damages on the theory that his driver should have warned him that another bus was following.

But the court said the driver could not be blamed, because the man had lost his status as a passenger. Once safely discharged, said the court, a passenger turns into just another pedestrian.

... about your SOCIAL SECURITY

One of the greatest concerns of most people filing for social security benefits is the amount of time required to get the checks started. According to J. M. Talbot, social security manager, the time required to get the checks started could often be reduced if a claimant had sufficient evidence of his date of birth when he files a claim.

The best evidence is a birth certificate recorded at or near birth. If neither of these records can be obtained, other good documents are school records, state or federal census records, old insurance policies, marriage records, delayed birth certificates and military records. These are only a few of the records that are used as evidence of date of birth.

Mr. Talbot stated that a person should not delay filing if he is unable to get proof of his age.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. The telephone number is 949-4608.

WCS In Meeting At Church Tuesday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church held their regular meeting at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday in the church. Mrs. M. L. Dobbins presided for the business session.

Mrs. H. O. Abbott gave the meditation, and Mrs. Frank Mitchell presented the program on World Federation. Mrs. W. T. Stanley presented a part on Malaysia and Singapore.

Present for the meeting were Mesdames Roy Crawford, W. T. Stanley, Frank Mitchell, Gattis Neely, W. F. Lange, M. L. Dobbins, John Schaffrina, Thad Traylor, Glenn Bowman, H. O. Abbott, August McWilliams, J. D. Vinson, Nan Wright, Elmo Mayhew and Susie Baker.

THE SOUTH END of a parade going north, obviously, but where? The setting seems to have all the signs of the Old World, but actually it is Frankenmuth, Mich. Town annually celebrates its German heritage with the Bavarian Festival.

Grasses Starting To Grow After Recent Rainfall

Grasses are beginning to grow, helped by the recent rains. Grass, like all green plants, lives and grows on food manufactured primarily in its own green leaves, according to Ken Schrank, of the Ballinger Soil Conservation Service.

Plant food is manufactured in the green leaves and not, as many people suppose, drawn by the roots from the soil. Ninety five percent of the grass plants food is taken from the air through the leaves. Only 5 percent of the grass plant food is taken from the soil by the roots. The roots gather raw materials such as water, nitrates and minerals, and also stores food for next season growth.

In the pressure of sunlight, carbon dioxide from the air is taken through tiny pores in the leaves. The carbon is combined with oxygen and hydrogen to make sugar, starches, and fiber. The sugars then combine with the mineral elements from the soil to make protein, plant oils and fats.

If the leaves are continually clipped off by grazing, or mowing, the food factory will be destroyed. The plant will eventually starve to death due to lack of food.

Studies show that grass production is substantially reduced when more than half of the leaf surface is removed by frequent close grazing or mowing. This not only keeps the food factory producing, but also produces a ground cover preventing wind and water erosion in addition to increasing the water intake rate and reducing in water loss due to evaporation. Livestock producers must remember that they are harvesting grass. Livestock is just a by-product. Using the grass properly will benefit not only the plant, but also the land, the livestock, and the producers.

HOME LOANS

FHA - VA in Winters, Ballinger CASSLE & CASSLE, Inc. 401 N. Willis, Abilene

Austin, Texas.—Texas is going to have liquor-by-the-drink—and faster than nearly anybody expected.

Legislature completed action on the bill last week, spelling out the machinery for legalizing mixed drink sales in open bars, and Gov. Smith promptly signed it into law.

Smith said the measure will have "tremendous impact on the economy of our state" thru increasing tourism.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. has sent out instructions to local officials, noting particularly that the bill provides for mandatory local option elections on the drinks issue in 46 counties on May 18.

Counties which must schedule referendums in their "all-wet" areas in connection with the May constitutional amendments vote are those which last November approved lifting the open saloons ban and which contain cities or precincts where "package" sale of distilled spirits already is legal.

Dies cautioned judges and clerks of those counties that they must call local option elections prior to April 28 to assure 20 days' notice. Elections will be held only in areas (precincts and cities) of the 46 counties where sales of all alcoholic beverages is legal countywide while the May 18 vote be held through out the county.

These are the counties which will have liquor-by-the-drink referendums on their May 18 ballots:

Aransas, Austin, Bandera, Bee, Bexar, Brazoria, Calhoun, Cameron, Colorado, Comal, Dallas, DeWitt, Duval, El Paso, Fayette, Fort Bend, Galveston, Gillespie, Goliad, Guadalupe, Harris, Hidalgo, Hudspeith, Jefferson, Jim Wells, Kendall, Kerr, Kinney, Kleberg, LaSalle, Lavaca, Loving, Maverick, Midland, Montgomery, Presidio, Nueces, San Patricio, Starr, Tarrant, Travis, Val Verde, Victoria, Washington, Webb, Wharton, Wilson and Zapata.

"It is a relief to have this issue settled in Texas once and for all," commented Smith.

Later elections can be called in other particularly-wet counties by the standard petition route.

CRIME FUNDS DISTRIBUTED
More than $1.5 million in criminal justice action grants have been approved for 34 projects to combat crime.

Six of the projects are for police training. COURTS SPEAK
Following U. S. Supreme Court approval of massive busing to achieve racial balance, federal court at Tyler ordered three all-black school districts dissolved and told the state to eliminate any racially-separate unit.

Fourth Court of Civil Appeals in a Toyah school district case held that it is illegal to conduct public business in closed meetings with the public barred. Actions taken in illegal meetings are illegal and void. Court held. Decision reversed a lower court.

INSPECTION PROGRAM APPROVED
Texas meat inspection program finally has received federal approval.

Accreditation of the Texas State Health Department — conducted program was based on a recently-completed survey of the state's 800 meat processing plants and slaughterhouses and finding that they had met standards equal to those of the federal government.

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture last February caused concern by advising the Health Department that federal standards were not met. New Texas Meat and Poultry Act went into effect September 2, 1969, giving authority for an inspection program to the division of veterinary public health of the State Health Department. New school was established to train inspectors to meet the federal guidelines.

Purpose of the program is to give added protection to the consumer, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy.

APPOINTMENTS
Governor Smith named Hillsboro attorney Robert G. Dohoney as district attorney of the 66th district effective May 1. He succeeds Frank G. McGregor of Hillsboro who resigned.

L. O'Brien Thompson of Amarillo was named chairman of a sub-committee to properly evaluate the current operating status of the Criminal Justice Council. Members of the sub-committee are Criminal Appeals Judge Truman Roberts of Austin, Dr. George Beto of Huntsville, Harris County District Attorney Carrol Vance, Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson and Judge Noah Kennedy of Corpus Christi.

LAND BOARD MEET RESET
School Land Board reset its oil and gas lease sale for July 6 after learning that the U. S. Corps of Engineers apparently will permit drilling in coastal waters.

May 4 sale of submerged leases on state lands had been cancelled after the Corps declared a moratorium on offshore drilling pending draft of an environmental impact statement. Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the Corps will issue permits while a statement on environment is being drawn. Armstrong said applications will be processed through normal procedures under specified conditions. Nominations for tracts to be sold at the July sale must be in the general land office by May 14.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Game of Chance"
"Fifty cents per shot," said the sign at a certain golf course. "If you score a hole-in-one, you win $5,000."

Sure enough, a golfer eventually did come through with a hole-in-one. But the proprietor refused to pay the prize money. Haled into court, he argued that the contest was a "game of chance"—hence, not enforceable by law.

However, the judge disagreed. Ordering the money paid, the judge said there was simply too much skill involved in a golf shot to classify this as a game of chance.

In varying degree, gambling is regulated in every state. Often, under these regulations, it becomes necessary for a court to decide what is meant by the phrase "game of chance."

Sometimes the answer is relatively easy. Thus, the throwing of dice has consistently been held a game of chance. So has roulette. So has matching pennies.

On the other hand, chess and checkers and spelling bees have all been held not games of chance but games of skill.

What about bridge? Most courts have classified bridge, too, as a game of skill.

"Although there is of course an element of chance resulting from the deal of the cards," explained one judge, "there is a continually recurring necessity in the bidding and play to make decisions which will ordinarily be determinative of the outcome."

Does it "take the curse off" a forbidden game of chance if the stakes are very small? As a matter of principle, no. Consider this case:

A restaurant owner was arrested on a charge of operating an illegal gambling device on his premises. Although he protested that the prizes were worth only a nickel, the court found him guilty anyhow.

What the law is concerned about, said the court, is any device "designed to intrigue the unwary and arouse the latent cupidity of human nature into the notion that it could get something for nothing."

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

Applesauce

How often do you include applesauce in your meal plans? This versatile item offers numerous serving methods to keep menus varied and interesting, says Mrs. O'Connor. Stocks of applesauce early this year amounted to 18.1 million cases. With such a large supply on hand, applesauce has been placed on the April list of plentiful foods.

Give this Applesauce Salad a try:

1 Pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
6 marshmallows, chopped
2 cups applesauce
½ cup nuts, chopped

Applesauce Drop Cookies

6 large stuffed olives, chopped
3 T. salad dressing
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in chopped marshmallows to partially dissolve. Cool slightly. Add applesauce, nuts, olives and salad dressing. Pour into molds and chill until firm. Serve on salad greens. Makes 6 servings.

Applesauce Drop Cookies

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon; ½ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. nutmeg; ½ c. seedless raisins
1 c. rolled oats; ½ c. nuts
½ tsp. baking powder

½ tsp. salt
1 cup applesauce

Cream together shortening and sugar, and stir in egg. Sift together other dry ingredients, then mix in raisins and nuts. Add to creamed mixture alternately with applesauce. Beat well. Drop dough by tspfuls. on to greased baking sheets. Bake at 375 degrees about 15 minutes.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Not many nonsmokers develop emphysema.

What we need now, says a leading lung specialist, is widespread use of a blood test that can help determine which smokers run a high risk of developing emphysema. The test spots a genetic deficiency that affects the lungs and can lead to emphysema. People who have the deficiency—and also smoke—are almost certain to develop the lung disease.

At a meeting of the American Thoracic Society, Dr. Jack Lieberman estimated that about five percent of the population in the United States has inherited an antitrypsin deficiency as a recessive gene from one parent.

Another one percent inherit the gene from both parents. Antitrypsin is a substance that prevents an enzyme called trypsin from destroying elastic lung tissue. The activities of unchecked trypsin lead to emphysema.

In emphysema, a chronic disease that develops gradually, the air sacs of the lungs tear and eventually burst. The resulting struggle to breathe dangerously overtaxes the lungs and the heart.

An associate director of respiratory diseases at the City of Hope Medical Center in Duarte, California, Dr. Lieberman has used a special test to measure the amount of antitrypsin in the blood serum of thousands of subjects. According to the U. S. Surgeon General Jesse Steinfeld, a related issue is a greater public health issue. Lesser degrees of genetically identifiable susceptibility may also interact with cigarette smoking to account for a significant proportion of the number of people who develop chronic obstructive pulmonary diseases. More research is needed to pinpoint which susceptibilities.

For more information on the relationship of smoking and lung disease, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

COUNTY AGENT PARKER'S COLUMN

The use of additives in swine rations has enabled producers to increase feed utilization and the growth rate of pigs in addition to making today's production systems possible by controlling disease.

But, advises County Agent Parker, the use of additives is under real pressure and the final outcome rests largely with swine producers. All feeds containing antibiotics or additives must be labeled, showing the number of days the material or materials must be withdrawn before the hogs are sold for slaughter.

Producers, says the county agent, should carefully read the warnings on the tab attached to each bag of feed or on the invoices that accompany each load of bulk feed. Then, make sure all feeding recommendations are closely followed.

The withdrawal is made necessary since some antibiotics and growth stimulants are deposited in the animal's body tissue. The withdrawal periods allow ample time for the excretion of these materials to the point that body tissue or meal will not contain levels above those accepted by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, explains C. T. Parker.

The county agent also notes that the FDA has increased its surveillance of drug residue in meat and that producers should make double sure the pork they produce has been fed in accordance with tagged recommendations.

Horses, like humans reminds County Agent Parker, need an annual dental checkup.

Such a check, he adds, can prevent serious tooth problems.

Horse's teeth naturally wear off so unevenly, that after a time chewing hay and oats may become a painful experience for the animal.

Sharp enamel edges remain on the outside of the upper molars, cutting the inside of the cheeks. The lower teeth develop sharp points on the inside cutting the tongue.

When this occurs, some horses refuse to eat, some eat only sparingly while other hold their heads to one side while chewing. Colic and indigestion often follow the improper chewing of their food.

The county agent notes that a veterinarian can correct the situation by floating or filing of the sharp enamel points and edges. The process is a simple one and usually only a minimum restraint of the animals is required.

If your horse is having trouble chewing his food, a tooth check-up may reveal the cause. Better take him to the local veterinarian and make sure of the trouble.

Farmers can expect a stepped-up effort to bring about compliance with the federal minimum wage law for agricultural workers, according to the Wage and Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor. 1969 investigators by the Wage-Hour Division showed that 3 out of every 10 farms with covered employees, violated the minimum wage law.

Farm work was brought under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1966, and the current minimum wage of $1.30 per hour must be paid if the employer used 500 or more man days of farm labor in any calendar quarter of the preceding calendar year. Farm workers exempt from minimum wage coverage include members of the employers' immediate family, local hand harvest laborers who work less than 13 weeks in the preceding calendar year, migrant hand harvest laborers 16 years or under employed on the same farm as their parents and paid the same rate as adult workers, and workers primarily engaged in the range production of livestock.

Department of labor records indicate many employers and workers lack knowledge of the laws' requirements and protective features. Farm employers and workers can secure additional information from the Regional Director, Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division, U. S. Department of Labor, 411 North Akard, Dallas, Texas 75201.

During the last half of May, some 22,000 Texas farmers will receive at their mailboxes a most important questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin.

County Agent Parker says it will be the annual acreage survey and that many farmers in Runnels County will be included in the 22,000. The information derived from the replies will be the basis for the official estimates of crop acreage for the State of Texas and for each county.

Cary D. Palmer, State Statistician for the Texas Reporting Service, emphasizes the importance of getting back just as many of the 22,000 questionnaires as possible so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas Agriculture, he adds.

The Texas Legislature, explains the county agent, has provided a program of estimates for each county. Because Texas covers such a wide area, State totals alone do not provide adequate information on our most basic industry; hence, the need for county information. The program is a cooperative effort of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

We're close to a cure for leukemia.

It's almost too good to believe. A whole crop of kids who are alive and well 5 years or more after getting a new kind of drug treatment for leukemia. And after 5 years, cancer researchers begin to hesitatingly, hopefully, talk of a permanent "cure."

Work has been going on feverishly ever since this kind of therapy was started in 1964. And each year, the children who get leukemia have a far better chance of cure than those of the year before.

The American Cancer Society plays a vital part in this exciting work. So, when our volunteer comes to your door this month, be generous. Especially if you have children. Or grandchildren.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The controversy continues to rage over whether or not the FBI taps telephones of Members of Congress.

No one has come up with any substantiated evidence that the FBI has ever tapped a Congressman or a Senator's telephone although many accusations are made.

As a matter of fact, it is wholly contrary to the policy of the FBI and the Justice Department of which it is a part.

For years the radicals have criticized the Federal Bureau of Investigation, just as they criticize law and order of any kind. They criticize efforts at protecting our internal security because this is what many of them would like to destroy.

Pardon the personal reference but as an agent of the FBI at one time I know that its practices are extremely strict and exacting.

The FBI has always sought to avoid any act which could involve its agents in controversy of any kind. It has kept out of politics and has shunned all actions which might be interpreted as political.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, having headed the FBI all these years, has had the highest confidence of eight Presidents without ever having the criticism which has recently been heaped upon him. At the age of 76, he is vigorous, alert and unquestionably dedicated to serving the best interest of our country.

In 1917 J. Edgar Hoover was a 22-year-old lawyer who became Assistant Attorney General in the Department of Justice. Seven years later the Attorney General at that time, Harlan Fiske Stone, appointed Mr. Hoover as Director of the Bureau of Investigation. He was directed to reconstruct the Bureau "According to the highest ethical and executive standards and remove all actions from partisan politics." He was instructed to remove from the Bureau any man as to whose character there was any ground for suspicion. Mr. Hoover withdrew the Bureau from all extralegal activities and made it an efficient organization for the investigation of criminal offenses against the United States.

In 1934 the FBI, adapting to the wave of Federal crime, particularly a great increase in bank robberies, became the national criminal law enforcement arm of the United States. Under law it assumed the internal security protection to identify radicals of both the far right and the far left.

In war and peace, in economic depression and prosperity, in times of violence and moral decline, Mr. Hoover has remained an American symbol of law and order. Striving for excellence and integrity for the entire organization, he has himself been an example of these virtues.

Mr. Hoover's age is used as the first point of attack on him but those close to the Bureau's operation can distinguish no difference in standards than those which it has historically maintained.

The FBI does not conduct its business apart from other law enforcement agencies. It works in cooperation with State and local law enforcement authorities. It seeks no publicity and, as a matter of fact, avoids it where possible.

The policy of the FBI is one of concentration on gathering of facts, leaving to the courts and juries to act on its findings. It does not decide to prosecute. Information assembled is turned over to the Justice Department for Federal Grand Juries to act on. It is coldly objective in its investigations to determine facts. It does not offer conclusions, opinions, or involve itself in personalities. This has been its mission from the beginning and remains the case at present. Whether it be a member of Congress, people in high or low positions, the FBI will investigate if there is reason to suspect wrong-doing. Their obligation is no less regardless of where the chips may fall. It does not, however, snoop for the sake of snooping nor tap telephones in the hope of finding something not connected with law violations.

Accusations are made by prominent Members of Congress that the FBI has placed surveillance upon the radicals participating in militant demonstrations. We can be thankful that someone is keeping an eye on those who would destroy this nation by subversion, espionage and conspiracies.

Martha Jean Witt, Andes E. Simpson III Married In Ballinger Church Saturday

In ceremonies in the United Methodist Church in Ballinger Saturday, April 21, at 7 o'clock, Martha Jean Witt became the bride of Mr. Andes Emmett Simpson III.

Dr. S. Wayne Reynolds of Georgetown and the Rev. Plez Todd, pastor of the church, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Witt of Ballinger. Mr. Simpson is the son of Mrs. Emmett Simpson of Winters, and the late Mr. Simpson.

For the wedding ceremony, a gladioli arrangement was placed on the altar, flanked by eight-point candelabra and candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory satin with empire waist and lace bodice and high collar. Her sleeves were full sheer with wide lace cuffs, and her slim skirt was bordered with a wide band of hand-clipped pearl-embroidered lace. A cathedral train held by a Juliet cap was bordered in lace. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and yellow rose buds centered by an orchid atop a white Bible, which was carried by her mother in her wedding.

Mrs. Dale Haygood of Shattuck, Okla., Miss Luanna Travis, Miss Jan Ketchum and Miss Susan Wadsworth, all of Ballinger, were bridesmaids. They wore alternate yellow and orange floor length dresses, with slightly gathered skirts with self ruffles around the neck, hemline and on the back of the skirts. Headpieces were small matching flowers and velvet ribbons; nosegays were multi-colored spring flowers with orange streamers.

Richard Perry was organist. Candlelighters were Joel King and Steven Wadsworth, both of Ballinger.

Bill Simpson of Winters was best man, and ushers were Paul Witt of Killeen, Gerald Witt of Temple, Jim Day of Athens, and Curt Brown, of Gordon, Nebr.

Groomsmen were Dale Haygood of Shattuck, Okla., Bill Munden of Vernon, Gary Wilson of Abilene, and Richard Simpson of Winters.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Sally Odom Parlor of the church. Reception table appointments were of silver. Serving were Mrs. Scott Waddell and Mrs. Jerry Hororak of San Angelo, and at the bride's book was Mrs. Jesse E. Reyman.

Members of the house party were Mesdames C. A. Berry, Irvin Lisso, R. D. Travis Jr., H. W. Ketchum, Charles Jones, Ed Noonon, H. H. Wilson, Ralph Vancil, Richard Perry, Dick Richey, J. Weldon Moore, Seth McLarty, Price Middleton, John Green Jr., J. P. McGuire, Bill Hays, Claude Stone Jr., Gladys Witt, Hallie Parker, John King, Wylie Hearn, J. B. Dankworth, Buff Hearn and Miss Gloria Routh.

The bride graduated from Ballinger High School and attended Angelo State University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winters High School and attended McMurry College. He is employed at Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. in Ballinger. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson are at home at 600 Seventh Street, Ballinger.

Winters Man Will Play In "Elijah" In Abilene Sunday

The dramatic oratorio "Elijah" will be presented by the combined choirs of Hardin-Simmons University and a full symphony orchestra, assisted by Abilene Philharmonic representatives, at 8:30 p. m. Sunday, May 2, in the Abilene Civic Center.

Bill Grantz, freshman music education major and member of the H-SU Concert Band and freshman president of the internationally famous H-SU Cowboy Band, has been invited to perform with the orchestra. Grantz plays French Horn and is a former member of the Winters Blizzard Band.

"Elijah" is on the life of the Old Testament prophet and was written by Felix Mendelssohn. Dr. Jack Dean, head of the H-SU School of Music, said, "We want to make it possible for people from all areas around Abilene to attend this program and hear some of the finest and most talented young musicians in the Big Country." Free tickets for the event are available at many places in Abilene including the H-SU School of Music.

Nabers Sponsors Pornography Bill In Legislature

Representative Lynn Nabers of Brownwood and Representative Don Adams of Jasper have cleared House Bill 1255 for floor action by the Texas House. Adams and Nabers have called the bill "a different approach to the control of pornographic material."

If House Bill 1255 becomes the law in the State of Texas, any parent may bring a civil suit against person, firm or corporation which distributes, sells or exhibits "pornographic material" to any person under the age of 18 years. Adams and Nabers have provided in their bill that the parent may recover exemplary damages not to exceed $5,000.00, actual damages, and also, the parent may recover attorney's fees in bringing the suit against the pornographer.

Nabers said: "The people of my district have been very concerned about the pornographic material that has been made available to their children. Since coming to the Texas House, I have continually supported stronger criminal laws in connection with the distribution, sale and exhibition of this filth, but I believe this legislation creating a civil suit will give my constituents a more direct way of dealing with pornography exhibited to their children."

House Bill 1255 contains the definition of "obscenity" and "harmful material" as those terms defined by the Supreme Court of the United States.
