HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

If you've ever wondered just how deeply embedded is the love of football in many, if not most, fans of the sport, you could have gotten your answer last Friday night right here in Winters. "Neither rain, nor snow, nor..." The real football fan will turn out in any kind of weather to watch a game, especially if one of the teams is his home town team playing at home.

Friday night before the game started, black clouds started rolling in from the northwest, and many sincerely doubted that more than just a few would show up for the game. It rained a bit, then slacked off, and then the fans started showing up. Then it started raining again, and then some! And the fans kept coming, slowly. Before long, there was a pretty good crowd in the home-side bleachers, under all sorts of protective covering—umbrellas, newspapers, raincoats, and plastic sheets. Rain came down in sheets during part of the game, but it didn't seem to dampen one bit the enthusiasm of the fans who were there. Of course, it wasn't as big a crowd as had been hoped for, but in view of the weather, it was not so bad at all.

Wonder how many of us, who will set and watch a football game in that kind of weather, would venture out and show the same kind of zeal for others under similar circumstances. Going to church, for instance: Many of us would back out and stay home, because the weather is "not fit to go out." Or to work on some community project, or to a meeting to plan some community project. Or to work, for that matter.

All of which simply shows up the two sides of our existence. We'll do the unnecessary under the most uncomfortable conditions. Maybe it's because we like to cheer or be cheered. But a cemetery working, an alley cleaning, a street cleaning, or a grass and weed cutting project to help the entire community? That's another story. If we get out at all, the weather must be to our liking, there must be no interesting programs on tv, and the chore must be timed for our convenience. Otherwise, we'll just sit and expect "George" to get the job done... and criticize him and the others who do do something if it is not done to our standards of perfection!

That is, many of us fall into that category... there are, fortunately, enough "Georges" around to keep us from being completely inundated by the many unfinished and unbegun community projects around us. These people get their kicks doing a job, and weather conditions and other stumbling blocks are beside the point.

Our old friend out on Bluff Creek wondered, after reading the headlines Tuesday morning, where all those U. N. friends the U. S. has bought and paid for over the past 26 years have gone. It seems they show up missing when it gets down to the nitty gritty. Those who have wanted Red China admitted to the United Nations have at last won, and our store-bought friends went along with the idea that the price of that admission would be the ousting of Nationalist China, which has held a seat on that debating society for a long time.

The Bluff Creeper now wonders what percentage of Red China's membership dues will be paid by U. S. taxpayers, who are already carrying the biggest part of the load in the U.N.

Will Attempt To Organize Farmers In Boll Weevil Fight In Runnels County

Battle plans are being drawn for a county-wide fight against the boll weevil next year in Runnels County, C. T. Parker, county agricultural agent, said this week.

At a meeting in Winters last Thursday night — attended by about 90 farmers of this area — Parker and visiting entomologists pointed out that the war on boll weevils in next year's cotton crop must begin now, and that cotton farmers of the county should organize and present a concentrated front against the weevil.

A steering committee to study and recommend a plan for boll weevil eradication will be appointed, it was stated. Also, an organization will be formed for this purpose, but only for coordination and contract purposes, Parker said. There will be no solicitation of dues or other funds, he said.

Parker also said that an attempt will be made to secure some State funds for this project, but otherwise, each farmer would finance his own spraying project, and farmers would be organized only for "coordination" purposes.

The boll weevil has presented a big problem this year in county cotton, Parker said. Wet, cool weather at the right times has been ideal for the boll weevil, he said, and the situation has gotten out of hand in several localities. The county agent said that with an all-out effort, the boll weevil problem should be eliminated within three or four years in this area.

Senate and House Redistricting Plan Makes Changes For Runnels County

The recently completed State Senate and House redistricting plan, drawn up by the State Legislative Redistricting Board will have considerable effect on Runnels County.

Biggest change is in the State Senatorial District, according to the plan adopted by the Board. Runnels has been removed from Senator David Ratliff's district, along with Abilene and Taylor County, and placed in District 24 which is now comprised of thirteen Central Texas counties, stretching all the way from Runnels County on the west to McLennan County (Waco) on the east.

Some change also is noted in the Representative District, with two counties added to the present District 64. This will be District 55, adding Callahan and McCulloch counties to Runnels, Comanche, Coleman, and Brown counties to make up the district. Rep. Lynn Nabers of Brownwood represents District 55.

Senatorial District 24 is made up of a small portion of the population around Fort Phantom Lake, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Comanche, Menard, McCulloch, San Saba, Mills, Lampasas, Hamilton, Coryell and McLellan counties. The incumbent senator from McLennan County, Murray Watson Jr., has announced he will run for Congress, leaving the district in a potential free-for-all.

Districts will remain as re-aligned until the next Federal census. However, there has been statewide speculation that a court test will be made of the redistricting.

Blizzards Explode For 34-8 Win Over Comanche On Rain Soaked Field

The offense of the Winters Blizzards exploded for 34 points while the defense allowed the Comanche Indians only eight points Friday night in a rain that came up just before game time and fell most of the first half. The victory brought the Blizzards to a 3-1 district record, with three games remaining.

Lee Choate's 65-yard return of Comanche's first punt set the tone for the game; the offensive execution was sharp all evening; and the defensive unit turned in a strong game, recovering five Comanche fumbles and intercepting one pass.

Choate's kick after his first quarter touchdown failed, and the score was 6-0 with 7:45 remaining in the period. Comanche tallied its only score late in the quarter on a 63 yard run by Harry Dudley. The two-point conversion was successful, and the Indians led for the only time during the game. On the first play of the second quarter Steve Tatom took the ball the final yard for six points, and Jerry Mack Jackson got the two-point conversion around right end, for a score of 14-6, which was the half-time score. The latter part of the second quarter was played in a soaking rain.

The Blizzards were able to move the ball well during the first half, despite the damp field and slippery ball. The offensive line of Billy Ray Grant, Wayne Schwartz, Mike Smith, David Grohman, Lynn Giles, Jimmy Benson, and Keith Paschal was blocking effectively to allow good gains by Choate, Jackson, Tatom, Fred de la Cruz, and Rickey Mathis. The Blizzards had two scoring drives in the half halted—one by three successive penalties at the Comanche 13 and the other by a fumble on the Indian 16.

After the half time when the rain had stopped, the Blizzards went right back to work. On a drive originating on the Comanche 19 Choate and Tatom picked up a first down on two carries; then Choate carried for 3, de la Cruz for 4, and de la Cruz scored on the following play and a score of 20-8.

The Blue team tallied twice in the fourth quarter: Jackson on a three yard carry, after which he added the two points around right end; then Choate put the finish to what he had begun at the first of the game by running from four yards out. The two-point attempt by Rex Pritchard failed, and the scoreboard read Winters 34, Comanche 8—the final score.

Credit for recovering Comanche fumbles goes to: Mike Smith, Oscar Torres, Jerry Mack Jackson, Bodie Williams, Timmy Meyer, and to Henry Greer for the only pass interception of the game. Good defensive play was exhibited also by Billy Ray Grant, Lynn Giles, Wayne Schwartz, Keith Paschal, Scott King, and Larry Cooper.

Blizzards Play In Hamilton Tonight

AROUND THE 8-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

The four top teams in the loop played the four low teams last Friday night—result, no change in standings for the week. Two of the games were shutouts, and the other two losers scored only 14 points.

Eastland, as usual, couldn't seem to keep from crossing, and drubbed Hamilton 59-0, in this middle-conference game. The Eastland Mavericks still rule the Double A roost as the No. 1 team, and have held opponents to only 20 points during conference and 6 in pre-conference contests, while running up 227 in district and 111 before district counting started. The Mavs have left their first four 8-AA teams in a shambles... but, even though they are No. 1, and are calculated to take district honors, the sledging won't be so easy from here on in. They take on Ballinger this Friday night, and although the Bearcats are 3-1, and haven't been credited with having a lot of steam this year, the South Runnels Bunch is always a contender, no matter what their standing and no matter what team they're playing. They're predicted to give the Mavs a little stronger competition than they've had thus far.

The Coleman Bluecats, also with four wins in four comeouts in District, ran over Cisco 48-0 Friday night, as expected, and kept their solid foothold on their second place position in district. In the tussle with Cisco Friday night, the "Cats" were "it" from the word go, with their Jimmy Nunez loping 95 yards for a TD on the opening kick. They should have no trouble keeping their spot this week, going against cellar-occupant Clyde on their home field. Then comes Ballinger—and the fireworks, Eastland—on the following two weekends.

Winters still is plodding along, with a 3-1 district record. Comanche's Harry Dudley, who has been publicized as one of the highest scorers in the area, was expected to give the Blizzards some trouble last Friday night, but the Big Blue contained him and the rest of the Tribe 34-8, in heavy rain.

Ballinger went to Clyde last Friday, and that was another game soaked by evening rains. The contest was marred by fumbles—6 for Clyde, and 2 for the Bearcats. Stats showed the Bulldogs ahead, with 9 to 7 first downs, 126 rushing and 4 passing to Ballinger's 80 on the ground and 28 in the air, but the "Dogs could score only once while Ballinger crossed once each in the first, third and fourth for the win.

It would be hard to determine a "game of the week" for this week, all things considered, but it probably would have to be the Eastland-Ballinger game.

Those residents who have accumulated extra large amounts of trash may call the Winters Chamber of Commerce, and a City truck will be dispatched to pick it up. However, residents were reminded that trash may not be picked up on the same day the call is made because of the backlog due to weather conditions.

Will Phase II Be Successful?

Wellesley Hills, Mass., October 1971. With the U. S. dollar under intense pressure on international money markets, the business recovery proceeding at a sluggish pace, and the forces of inflation proving to be more stubborn than earlier anticipated, the President abruptly proposed a new economic game plan part way through the third quarter of the year. The broad program included dramatic steps to combat inflation, fiscal policies to stimulate both consumer spending and expenditures for new plant and equipment, and measures to improve our trade balance and cause an upward revaluation of certain foreign currencies in terms of the dollar.

Some Question Marks

Since then the President has outlined Phase II of the economic program, a comprehensive pattern of controls that will cover most of the economy to become effective when the freeze expires November 13. But many questions still remain unanswered, leaving observers in considerable confusion as to how Phase II will actually work. Also, many of the fiscal proposals of the new game plan will doubtless be changed somewhat before receiving congressional approval.

Perhaps even more significant is the uncertainty surrounding the world's international monetary situation. A workable solution is still being sought for this critical problem. But while almost all parties involved agree that present conditions cannot continue for long without seriously disrupting world trade, there is as yet little concrete evidence that a real answer is close at hand.

An Optimistic Outlook

Despite these uncertainties, the Research Department of Babson's Reports is generally optimistic about the new program. It is felt that the fiscal proposals will, for the most part, be approved by Congress. Thus, the final blueprint, while perhaps differing from the original in some details, should serve the President's twin objectives of stimulating consumer spending and reviving capital expenditures—both essential if business is to improve more rapidly.

While it will be much too early by year's end to determine the results of the new program, we do expect to see some positive indications of a healthier business atmosphere before 1971 draws to a close. In fact, consumer spending has already begun to show some degree of betterment, reflecting a brighter buying psychology.

Details Yet To Come

As far as Phase II of the war on inflation is concerned, much of the speculation concerning the workings of this plan will probably be clarified in coming weeks. Thus, with labor's acceptance of the program—at least initially—things may work out reasonably well, and the rate of inflation in time could be slowed to a more tolerable pace. The recent decline in interest rates supports this opinion.

The international monetary situation is potentially the most dangerous issue at this time. However, perhaps its sheer gravity is in itself a hopeful consideration. With all parties clearly aware of the possible dangers, an intensive effort to arrive at a reasonable solution is more than likely. In fact, substantial activity is already well under way behind the scenes.

A Time To Buy

In view of these considerations, the Research Department

Your Social Security

Beginning in January, an older person who goes to the hospital under Medicare will be responsible for the first $68 of his hospital bill — now running about $800 for the average stay by a Medicare beneficiary. The present hospital deductible is $60 and will remain in effect for all Medicare hospital admissions during the remainder of this year.

In announcing the 1972 deductible, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Elliot L. Richardson, explained that since hospital costs in calendar year 1970 rose substantially, he is compelled under the law to set a new deductible to become effective next January. The law provides a specific formula for computing the amount of any adjustment in the deductible, he said, and also requires that notice of the upcoming deductible amount be promulgated on or before October 1.

"The action I was required to take today," Secretary Richardson said, "further emphasizes the urgency of action to put a brake on hospital cost escalation." He urged early enactment of H.R. 1, the welfare reform bill now pending before Congress, which includes provisions aimed at controlling health care costs, not just for Medicare and Medicaid programs but for all consumers.

In addition, he urged early action on the Administration's health program, including its National Health Insurance Partnership Act and Health Maintenance Organization Assistance Act, which also aim at controlling health care costs. "The general problem of the rising costs of health care," Secretary Richardson said, "is of great concern to the Administration. The rising costs of last year which compelled the action I am taking today illustrate the enormous importance of slowing the rise in health care costs." He added that "policies designed to curb these rising costs are being addressed in connection with the design of Phase II of the Administration's wage-price stabilization efforts."

With respect to today's announcement, Secretary Richardson said the hospital deductible amount is intended to make the Medicare beneficiary responsible for expenses equivalent to the average cost of one day of hospital care. Under the formula in the law, the new hospital deductible is based on the ratio between hospital costs in the previous year (1970) and costs in 1966, the first year of Medicare operation. That ratio is then multiplied by $40 and the result rounded to the nearest $4. The result is an increase from $60 to $68.

Secretary Richardson said that when the hospital deductible amount changes next year, the law requires that comparable changes be made in the dollar amounts a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days, or a posthospital extended care stay of more than 20 days. When a Medicare beneficiary has a hospital stay of more than 60 days, he will pay $17 a day for the 61st through the 90th day, up from the present $15 a day at present. If he has a posthospital stay of over 20 days in an extended care facility, he will pay $8.50 per day toward the cost of the 21st day through the 100th day, up from the present $7.50 per day. If he needs to draw upon his "lifetime reserve," the reserve of hospital days a beneficiary can draw upon if he ever needs more than 90 days of hospital care in the same benefit period, he will pay $34 for each day used, instead of the present $30 per day.

Many young people are now covered for social security disability and survivor benefits by the time they graduate from high school, said J. M. Talbot, social security manager. A person under age 24 needs only 1 1/2 years of work under social security to be insured for disability benefits.

A widow and children or other eligible survivors could receive benefits if the worker dies before age 29 even if he has only one and one-half years work under social security. Many young people have this much coverage earned by working on weekends, after school, or during the summer.

Talbot stated that the disability and survivor protection provided the young worker is a very sound investment. When a person becomes eligible for disability benefits, they continue until he is able to return to work. If he is never able to work again, they continue all his life. Benefits are also paid to a wife and minor children. Children who are between the ages of 18 and 22 and are unmarried, full-time students may also qualify for benefits.

On the survivor side of the picture, a widow and minor children may receive benefits until the youngest child is 18. These children also may continue to receive benefits until age 22 if they are unmarried, full-time students. The widow would be eligible even without minor children in her care when she becomes age 60 or at age 50 if she is disabled.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

Lone Star Gas Co. Announces Eighth Record Earnings

Dallas, Texas—Lone Star Gas Company earnings for the 12 months ended September 30, 1971, reached an all time high of $2.15 per share, up 9 per cent from the $1.97 earned for the like period a year earlier, it was announced today by W. C. McCord, President and Principal Executive Officer. Mr. McCord said this was the eighth such consecutive period in which earnings have increased.

Net income was $31,571,000 or slightly higher operating revenues of $262,945,000. These results were achieved despite an unusually warm 1970-71 heating season and an abnormally cool July and August that resulted in decreased electric generation revenues.

Higher oil allowables and higher prices for oil and natural gas liquids coupled with increased production at liquid extraction plants contributed strongly to the 12-month record earnings, Mr. McCord said. Continued cost reduction and production improvements at the chemical plants combined with marketing gains resulted in sharply improved fertilizer results, he added.

Mr. McCord reiterated that with normal weather in the fourth quarter the company expects to achieve a 12 per cent earnings increase for the 12 months ended December 31.

During the quarter, Mr. McCord said, the company made substantial progress toward improving its resource position and laying the foundation for longer-term earnings growth with three expansion moves.

state unemployment insurance program and manpower development and training act. Maximum is $45 a week for 26 weeks.

Eligible include those who no longer have jobs or a place to work as a result of the storm or who were unable to reach work, who were injured or who were made heads of households as a result of deaths in the disaster.

ALLOWABLE REDUCED

For the seventh consecutive month, Texas Railroad Commission reduced the statewide oil allowable.

A cut of .7 of a per cent sets the November production factor at 62.5 per cent of potential. The allowable has been slashed 19.6 per cent since last April.

A maximum production of 3,275,749 barrels daily will be permitted under the November controls, compared with 3,305,129 this month.

BOND SALE OFFERED

A total of $31.5 million in veterans land program bonds will be offered for sale November 1. Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said sale of additional bonds is necessary to continue the program under which 20,000 applications for low interest rate land purchase loans have been made since last February. The interest ceiling on the bonds is 4.5 per cent.

APPEAL FILED

Texas is appealing U. S. Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe's decision to impose a 10 per cent penalty on the state's share of highway construction money from the federal trust fund.

The threatened cut—because Texas has not enacted a bill-board control law under the highway beautification act—would cost the state about $24 million a year. The appeal to Volpe noted legislative efforts to comply with the Federal requirement and asked a decision on the penalty be withheld until the next regular legislative session.

SHORT SNORTS

The Legislative Redistricting Board barely made its October 23 deadline for reapportioning the House of Representatives. The new Senate districts were announced a week earlier.

Enrollment in Texas junior and senior colleges reached an all-time high of 479,807 this fall. The School Land Board will offer 401,847 acres of state land for lease at its oil and gas lease sale December 7.

John W. Berry of Conroe received the 1971 Lady Bird Johnson Beautification Award and $1,500 cash prize.

Agriculture Commissioner J. C. White says pink bollworms and too much rain are threatening the Texas cotton crop.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held that the bailiff of a district court need not be a deputy sheriff and that Bexar County Hospital District may not change the month of selection of its depository after selection for a two-year term in February, '70.

Gerald McCathern of Hereford and Worth Jones of Hart were selected to the Board of Directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

"Get Involved," Conservationist Tells Assembly

Conservation districts are in a position to make vast contributions to environmental improvement, Clyde W. Graham of Temple, told a state meeting of conservation leaders in McAllen last week.

Several members of the Runnels County Soil and Water Conservation District, and specialists from the County SCS office attended the meeting.

Graham, state conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, outlined ways scientific information from his agency and available through local conservation districts can help cities and other make wise, long-range land use plans.

Speaking to the 31st annual statewide meeting of soil and water conservation district directors, Graham said SCS soil surveys, for example, plainly show which soils in a region will flood. He lamented the fact, however, that such information does not stop developers from building homes in the floodplain.

He also told about housing developments which are being built in some rural-urban fringe areas with septic tanks on soils that are obviously unfit for septic filter fields.

"I encourage you to get more involved in helping urban planners make wise use of soils information and other technical data available in your local conservation districts," Graham urged. "Think what it would mean to cities in Texas if all future urban developments were based on scientific facts about available land and water resources."

He said all conservation work promoted by the landowner-operated conservation districts have environmental values. He pointed out how conservation measures reduce sediment, the state's biggest pollutant. Sediment fills streams, lakes and harbors; it kills fish and ruins their spawning grounds. He told how some measures are aimed at improving wildlife habitat while others reduce runoff and pollution from livestock feedlots.

"While good progress has been made in the past, we simply must find ways to solve more of our state's erosion, water pollution and air pollution problems. Unfortunately, many of these problems can be traced to erosion and unsound land use."

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Grenwelle Jr., of Baytown, are parents of a daughter, Tammy Ann, born October 6, in Gulfport Hospital. Grandparents of the 7-pound 4-ounce girl are Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Grenwelle Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hord of Winters. Mrs. Hord has returned from Baytown after a week's visit in the home of her daughter and family.

state's 190 locally operated soil and water conservation districts attended the three-day session. Theme of the conference was "The Role of Conservation Districts in Environmental Improvement."

Conservation districts are local sub-divisions of state government. They utilize and coordinate assistance from the Soil Conservation Service and other local, state and federal agencies in carrying out a program aimed at conserving and developing land, water and wildlife resources.

A man could retire nicely in his old age if he could dispose of his experience for what it cost him.

SCHOOL FOOD PROGRAM CURBED

A free breakfast program for school children faces insufficient funding, a Texas Education Agency spokesman reports. TEA has been unable to add schools to the breakfast program this year due to lack of money. About 115 schools have had to be turned down. Schools participating last year increased from 295 in September to 474 in May. Schools receive 15 cents per breakfast or the cost of each meal, whichever is less, though U. S. Department of Agriculture allocations.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

Herbs Add Zest to Family Meals:

Spices and herbs add zest and interest to family meals. And experimenting with them can add an interesting touch to meal preparation.

If you're trying out particular spices and herbs, underseason rather than overseason, suggests Mrs. O'Connor.

Sweet and protein spices as well as salad herbs are available to pep up your family meals, she continues.

Sweet spices include allspice, cardamom, cinnamon, cloves, coriander, ginger, nutmeg and mace. Poppy and sesame seeds are also in this group.

With pastries, fruit dishes, nuts and ham, these sweet spices are compliments. But you can use them in many other foods with pleasing effects, she suggests.

Another group could be called protein spices since they are often used with meat, poultry, fish, egg and bean dishes. They include red pepper, celery, chili powder, curry powder, marjoram, sage, mustard, poultry seasoning, thyme and rosemary.

Salad herbs—basil, caraway, poppy and sesame seeds—make up another category. They are delicious in both salads and vegetable dishes.

Several spices, herbs and seeds are used in many ways and they belong to several groups. Among them are oregano, mace, marjoram, paprika and black pepper, also dehydrated onion and garlic.

Though many cookbooks give information on using herbs, spices and seasoning aids, you may do your own experimenting. There are no set rules for using them.

Be prepared for November feasts—stock the cupboard with food plentiful listed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, suggests Mrs. O'Connor, county home demonstration agent.

Pork, one food feature for November, is in keeping with the seasonal mood of the month, she says. Pork is high in nutritive value—an especially rich source of thiamine (vitamin B) as well as other B vitamins, iron and protein.

Other foods on the USDA November list include turkey, rice, broiler-fryers, eggs, potatoes (instant mashed potatoes and frozen french fries), apples, applesauce, applejuice, cranberries, cranberry sauce, cranberry juice cocktail, prunes, prune juice and fresh and canned pears.

Use these plentiful foods to plan festive menus, the agent suggests, such as pork crown roast with rice and apple stuffing, rice cooked in equal amounts of apple juice and water.

For calorie watchers, Mrs. O'Connor adds a three ounce serving of cured ham, fat rimmed off, contains about 160 calories.

The agent suggests that wise consumers will want to take advantage of plentiful Texas-produced foods, highlighted during Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week. The week of November 15-21 has been planned to remind Texas homemakers of the abundance, quality and value of these Texas products.

Easy Enchilada Bake

1 to 1-1/4 lb. ground beef
1 to 1-1/2 cup chopped onion
1-2 cup Kraft Barbecue sauce
1-2 tsp. salt
1 clove garlic, minced or 1-8 tsp. instant garlic
3-4 cup water
1-2 to 1 T. chili powder
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cracker Barrel Cheddar Cheese
Reserved chopped onion.

Tortillas:
Cornmeal: 1 can (8-oz.) Pillsbury Refrigerated Buttermilk or Country style biscuits
Oven 350 degrees; 4 to 5 servings.

In large fry pan, brown the ground beef; drain. Stir in 1-3 cup onion (reserve remaining onion for filling), water, barbecue sauce, chili powder, and salt. Simmer 5 minutes. While sauce simmers, prepare Tortillas. Place 1 tablespoon cheese and 1 tablespoon onion down center of each Tortilla. Roll each Tortilla and place seam side down in ungreased 12 X 8 inch (shallow 2 quart) or 9 inch square baking dish. Cover with warm meat mixture. Sprinkle on any remaining cheese and onion. Bake at 360 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes and until the cheese has melted and center is no longer doughy.

Tortillas:
Sprinkle cornmeal on work surface. Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Coat both sides of biscuits with cornmeal; roll or pat out to 5 inch circles.

TIPS: Reheat, covered with foil, at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes until heated through. To make ahead, prepare, cover and refrigerate up to 2 hours before baking. Bake as directed.

Fresh Pears:

For a breakfast-lunch- and dinner treat, in a gourmet fashion, serve fresh pears in an endless variety of ways! This "but-ter fruit" is in plentiful supply reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Say "Good Morning" to the family with a refreshing vitamin-filled bowl of 1-2 fresh pear, sliced, 1-2 cup canned peaches and 1-4 cup fresh blueberries. Serve with one slice wheat toast spread with two tablespoons cream cheese and sprinkled with cinnamon, then a soft or hard-cooked egg and a glass of milk. Use a pear slicer which will give you uniform wedges and remove the stem and core at the same time. You'll find pears hit the spot in the morning!

With also pork being plentiful, why not give it a new flavor by combining it with fresh pears! This Chinese-style casserole, along with rice, can be the whole meal—on top of the stove. Cubes of pork are simmered in a spicy sauce. Then crisp, tender vegetables are added and just before serving, juicy slices of fresh pears are folded in.

Pungent Pear-Pork Casserole

1 to 3 T. salad oil
1 1/2 lbs. lean pork, cut in one inch cubes
2 cups water
1-4 cup vinegar
2 T. soy sauce
1 clove garlic
1-2 green pepper
1 red onion
1 stalk celery
1 can (4 oz.) water chestnuts
3 T. cornstarch
1-3 cup sugar
1 to 1 1/2 tsp. salt
1-2 tsp. pepper
1-3 cup lemon juice
2 to 3 fresh pears
2 cups hot cooked rice

Heat oil in large skillet until very hot. Add pork a little at a time; saute until golden brown. Stir in water, vinegar, soy sauce, garlic, salt and pepper; cover and simmer 30 to 40 minutes, until meat is tender. Discard garlic. Meanwhile slice green pepper into 1-1/2 inch strips; slice onion lengthwise. Cut celery diagonally into 1-2 inch slices; slice water chestnuts. Blend cornstarch, sugar and lemon juice, stir into skillet. Heat stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Add green pepper, onion, celery and water chestnuts to skillet; cover and simmer about a minute. Just before serving, halve and core pears; slice lengthwise and fold into pork mixture. Serve over rice. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

And to top off any meal with a delicious, easily-prepared dessert, try poached fresh pear halves filled with vanilla ice cream and bathed in a warm bittersweet chocolate sauce—an elegant, yet quick, finale to a meal! Pears go anywhere.

When you are knitting with several balls of yarn and need a bobbin, tear the matches out of a match folder, wind the yarn around the folder and close.

If you run out of bobbins when knitting something that requires small amounts of different-colored yarn to be carried along, you will find home-permanent curlers make an excellent substitute.

If you are knitting with two balls of wool, before you start run the ends through paper straws to prevent tangles.

Press a snap fastener into your knitting to mark the place where the last increase or decrease was made. This saves counting of rows.

When mending a knitted garment, place the torn part over a hairbrush, bristle side up. The bristles will hold the material and prevent the yarn from stretching while you mend.

More Exotic Birds For West Texas

San Angelo—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department recently released 300 Afghan white-winged pheasant in Terry County.

The release is a part of the long-range program of supplying a new bird for the hunter without interference or competition with native game bird numbers. Hopefully, if the aliens establish themselves and reproduce, a new huntable species will be added to the growing list of desirable upland types available for hunters in the West Texas area.

Cold Foods—Avoid refrigerating cooked foods a second time after they have been reheated for serving, say Extension foods and nutrition specialists.

An Exciting Sandwich—Dress up the old favorite peanut butter sandwich, suggests an Extension consumer marketing specialist. Try adding crispy bacon, apple or banana slices, or marmalade or preserves.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. —This is about hunting. It won't interest a lot of people but—

Since about the beginning of things man has been a hunter—for food, for sport and for the destruction of predatory animals. The first and last of these reasons for shooting or trapping game is more easily understood than is the second, although there are obvious combinations of all three.

Hunting Wildlife has come under more and more criticism—some for good reason and some perhaps not so good. Times and conditions have changed in recent years—one wonders if those of us who enjoy the out-of-doors have recognized the change and adjusted accordingly. By failing to abide by common-sense rules which should not have to be written in a book of instruction, hunters have invited to anti-hunting attitude in many parts of the Country. The State Legislature of Connecticut is considering abolishing all hunting. A continuous effort is being made by some organizations, news media and other methods to create opposition to any type of hunting and most use an approach of considerable appeal.

A few simple observations for the hunter could considerably improve his situation. Of course, if the criticism comes from those who feel that hunting game is inherently a social evil or those caught up in the general revulsion against guns as related to violence, then rationale on the subject would be of little use. There is still, however, a conscience to be exercised by the hunter, even if for his own comfort and certainly for proper preservation of game for another day.

There has always been the slob hunter—there always will be. Fortunately, his type is few among many but brings reproach on all. He is the fellow who wounds game and makes no effort to locate it. It is sometimes easier to shoot more without looking for cripples. The "no-rules" fellow may waste and kill game illegally, careless of livestock, leaves gates open, vandalizes property and otherwise shows disrespect for the landowner and nature itself.

In most places the Dove season has just closed. Soon will come quail and duck season, along with deer season. Space does not permit a review of what fish and wildlife experts say about thinning a certain number of birds and animals in order for their habitats to accommodate them, but one example. It is said that a quail covey should be reduced by one-third in each season and scattered to start new families. This theory may be good if there is enough cover for refuge. The trouble is that in many places there is less and less cover—and, yes, another "don't"—don't shoot the "house covey"—hunters know what this means.

Now on deer hunting here are some facetious tips:

1. First you need a fast car—so you can get there early on the first day of the season—get the best place and save a chance of being shot at before you get in the brush. As a side benefit it saves the other guy some ammunition.
2. Be sure to shoot at anything that moves. If it's not a deer, it might be your best friend.
3. When you finally get your deer (maybe at 50 yards) be sure to pump a few more shots into the hams, backstrap and stomach.

4. Be certain not to bleed the critter. The locker plant man would be disappointed if you brought in a clean deer with lungs removed.

5. If you skin your deer, roll him around in the dirt real good and then wrap him in newspaper. —(Sunday fannies are best because they stick well and the ink gives a delicate flavor of burnt rubber.)

6. Next—Drag your carcass to the car, place it over the hood—in the hottest place. This way it will dry out after awhile, catch all the dust and people can see you got one.

7. On the way home, stop at a beer joint and after warming up, tell all about it. "He was at least 250 yards and running full speed. . . ."

8. By being delayed you won't be home until well after midnight. Wake the locker plant man and tell him the way you want every piece cut. While he's doing this tell him how you dropped your trophy with one shot at 450 yards.

Well, the ideal hunter is a fellow like Burleson who couldn't hit that well-known bull with a big fiddle but likes to be out-doors—to smell powder and hear the crack of the shot. And, too, there are the colors of fall, the wind in your face and coffee around a campfire—and the game still safe.

Wingate Sew and Sew Club Meeting

The Wingate Sew and Sew Club met in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Ganaway. Quilting was done for the hostess, and coffee and cold drinks were served to fifteen members.

Present were Mesdames Press Galloway, Elmer King, Ed Kinard, Marvin Smith, Pete Polk, J. R. Woodfin, George Lloyd, R. L. Hancock, Minnie Williams, Lella Harter, Mildred Patton, Nellie Adeock, Emma Doggett, Myrtle Ganaway, Flossie Kirkland, and four visitors, Mesdames Lola Dean, Martha O'Dell, Lee Blackwell, and W. L. Phillips.

Bridal Shower Recently Honored Miss Crawford

A Bridal shower honoring Millie Crawford, bride-elect of David Carroll Jr., was given recently in the R. L. Briley residence, from 6 to 7:30 in the evening. The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were used throughout the party rooms. The table was laid with a lace cloth lined with yellow satin, and centered an arrangement of yellow mums and white lilies of the valley. Punch and cookies were served from a crystal service.

"Scream and Scream Again"
The world's three leading exponents of the genre art of horror, Vincent Price, Christopher Lee and Peter Cushing, team together for the first time in American International's suspense drama "Scream and Scream Again" coming to the State Theatre Saturday night Halloween preview.

"But," says their director, Gordon Hessler, "I don't really think Hessler (once associated with Alfred Hitchcock in Hollywood, says he would call the picture a modern detective thriller, but adds: "It does have some rather grisly scenes in it which come under the horror heading."

Two examples from the "non-horror" drama include a killer committing suicide by jumping into an acid vat and a series of macabre transplants used to build a perfect human body organ by organ! "It has," says a slightly tongue-in-cheek Hessler, "all the undercurrents that horrify in the traditional horror story."
