HOME TOWN Talk

BY R. C. THOMAS

The Rev. Bob Sanders of the First United Methodist Church recently called attention to the times certain church services would be in session. In the weekly bulletin, the congregation was reminded that Sunday School would begin at 9:30 a. m. and close at 10:25 p. m.

This will not be such a great inconvenience for many class members, now that the football games are over... but it will tear to pieces some Sunday afternoon golf plans.

We are charged now and then to "Strike while the iron is hot," and to "Make hay while the sun shines." They mean to take advantage of opportunities as they present themselves—to put it plainly, "Get while the gettin's good!"

Recently someone remarked that Winters has a lot going for it right now, and we should take advantage of that fact. Meaning the several activities in force which serve to strengthen the community. Activities which will stretch their effect into the future as well as affect the present. This person had in mind, specifically, the beginning of the housing project for the elderly and low-income families, and the North Runnels Hospital project, and the rural water development program. This person meant not only to take advantage of the financial possibilities afforded by these projects—an inflow of dollars—but also the climate or attitude created by the projects themselves and the work and planning behind them.

In other words, we are charged here to take advantage of the present climate of progressive action; to go on toward other goals—while we are in the mood, if you please. All these projects required long periods of planning and attention and enthusiasm—and continue to demand them. But now that they are off the ground, there is a slackening in the demand—and there is some enthusiasm left over, unused.

Enthusiasm breeds enthusiasm, and our responsibility here is to take advantage of that which is left unused, add to it, and put it to work in other channels. One course has been the formation of a steering committee to explore the possibilities of developing a low-cost rental housing project here—and it is off and running. But there are other avenues to explore, if we will take the time to take advantage of the present climate.

This is not to say that there has not been a favorable attitude toward progressive moves locally. There has been, or these projects would never have gotten to first base. But there are degrees of attitude; there are hills and valleys, so to speak. We are presently at the top of the hill—the trick is to remain there at least long enough to get some needed things accomplished, or add to present projects—while the enthusiasm exists.

Most Now Only Memories

There Have Been More Than Fifty Schools Active In Runnels County

In a few places you will see them, standing lonesome and forgotten, surrounded by grain and cotton fields, windows boarded up, and yards grown up with grass and weeds. But most often there remains only a vacant spot at a lonely country crossroads; or a slightly different soil color and texture in a plowed field as evidence that a building once stood where grain and cotton now grow.

But they were once an important part of the makeup of the county. Important factors in the development of the area, they occupy a special place in the history of Runnels County, those one- and two-room schools which dotted the countryside during the early days—and some of them even lasted until a few short years ago.

In some isolated cases, they still serve as community centers for the people of the area, such as at Crews, where the gymnasium remains a gathering place for active organizations. These schools were the center of activity for the scattered communities, and the pride of those communities. They served as meeting places for the people working on community projects, and they served as polling places during elections. They were the center of Christmas-time parties, and spring "program" get-togethers, box suppers and community "sociables." Some of them even served as places of worship in some communities, in the absence of church structures, and in the days when religion and formal education were considered of equal importance and more or less coincided in the educational process.

There still are many people in the county who can trace the beginning of their education to those small country schools, and countless others now residing in other sections of the country can recall those schools. Many students attended the one- and two-room schools for the first few years of study, and then were transferred to the "town" schools for the final high school years. Many who attended the "town" high schools can recall bad roads and other inconveniences which forced them to stay with friends and relatives in town while attending high school, especially during the winter months.

But the advent of the automobile, with the resulting all-weather roads, the rapid disappearance of the "family" farms and ranches, and the dwindling of the rural population spelled doom for the country schools. In one way of thinking, a sad ending to a glorious beginning, and in another, a change to a greater opportunity for better education.

There have been, through the years, more than fifty of these country schools through-out Runnels County. For the most part, they are gone now, with larger school districts taking their place. One of the projects of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee has been to locate all those country schools. To date, the Committee has found the location and names of most of the old schools that once were active in Runnels County. However, they feel they need assistance in accurately

LAST MAN'S CLUB—Of the original 49-member band of the 141st Infantry Brigade, World War I, only 14 are living, but even as the surviving membership dwindles, they religiously held their reunions each November 11 at the Crockett Hotel in San Antonio, the place where the band was inducted in 1917 and the place it was discharged.

Three area men were among the ten who were able to attend the last reunion, Ernest Adami of Winters, Wayne Hunt of Bradshaw, and Ocie Hunt, of Sweetwater.

According to Ocie Hunt, a different theme is used each year at the reunion. For the recent reunion, through the assistance of Harold Say, Editor of the Stars and Stripes military newspaper, Bill Bertram, now of Laredo, who was a member of the Germany Army during World War I, was located and invited to attend the reunion as a guest. Hunt said Bertram was with the German heavy artillery, manning a 7-inch mortar. Hunt said Bertram was asked just what he was doing between November 1 and 11, 1918, and he replied, "What time we were not retreating, we were shelling the 141st U. S. Infantry." After the close of World War I, Bertram moved to the United States, first living at Seguin and then to Laredo, where he is now retired.

Lions Club Chili Supper Postponed

The annual Winters Lions Club chili supper, which had been scheduled for Friday, Jan. 21, has been postponed until a later date, to be announced later, Gene Wheat, president of the club, said Tuesday.

Postponement had been recommended because of the many cases of flu and virus infections reported in the area. Although not of epidemic proportions, there have been enough respiratory infection cases to cause abnormal absenteeism in the schools, and even in businesses and industries here.

New date for the chili supper will be announced as soon as arrangements can be coordinated with the school. Tickets already sold for the chili supper, dated Jan. 21, will be honored at the later date.

Changes Made In Rules For Drivers Of Ag Vehicles

Texas farmers and ranchers have been reminded by John C. White, Texas Agriculture Commissioner, of revised driver qualification regulations which should give some relief from the stringent regulations that were in effect in 1971.

New exemptions were made for farmers and ranchers by the U. S. Department of Transportation, after many complaints were filed against restrictive farm driver qualification regulations.

The new regulations which became effective January 1 include:

—Farm vehicle drivers operating trucks weighing 10,000 pounds or less are totally exempt from the driver qualification rules.

—Farm vehicle drivers operating straight trucks weighing in excess of 10,000 pounds within 150 miles of their farms are exempt from the rules.

—Farm vehicle drivers 18 years of age or older operating a tractor-trailer unit within 150 miles of the farm are exempt, except that they must be physically qualified but need not be physically examined and certified until Jan. 1, 1973.

—Drivers employed by custom operators are granted exemption while transporting custom harvesting machinery to or from a farm and while transporting the harvested crops to market or storage.

—Beckers transporting bees during seasonal movements are exempt.

The original regulations requiring drivers to be 21 years of age, submit to road tests, written and physical examinations, background checks and other regulations imposed undue burdens on farmers whose families helped in growing and harvesting crops, Commissioner White said.

Steering Committee Organized, Will Study Possibility of Rental Housing

The steering committee appointed to study formation of a non-profit corporation to develop a rental housing project here met Thursday night, elected officers and laid plans for further action.

The committee was appointed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Nelan Bahlman was named chairman of the committee, with Hal Dry first vice chairman, and Woodrow Watts, second vice chairman. Mrs. Emma Marks will be secretary for the group.

A survey was made last fall on the need of additional rental housing in Winters, and that survey indicated a substantial number of families, members of which are presently employed in Winters, would move to Winters if housing could be made available.

Bahlman said Tuesday, a more extensive survey is being made at the present time. If deemed feasible, the committee will go ahead with plans to form the non-profit corporation, he said. The corporation then will study costs and make application to some Federal agency, probably the Farm Home Administration, for a long-term, low-interest loan.

Other members of the steering committee are C. R. Kendrick, D. C. Bissett, the Rev. Walter C. Probst, Raymon Lloyd, and George Beard.

COUNTY AGENT PARKER'S COLUMN

Watch For The SMV Emblem:

The slow-moving vehicle (SMV) emblem is now required by law on all vehicles designed to move at 25 miles per hour or slower when those vehicles are on a public roadway, reminds C. T. Parker, county agricultural agent.

The emblem should be mounted on a standard so the triangle is from two to six feet above the ground and centered as nearly as possible. The luminous triangle is of yellow-orange color with a dark red reflective border.

The emblem does not indicate clearance for a wide vehicle, explains Parker.

The county agent says the reflective finish of the sign makes it even more visible in poor light, in the dark or in the beam of a car's headlights, than even in the daytime. The SMV emblem is additional to, not a substitute for, any other sign, light or flag required by law. It is, by law, placed not only on slow-moving tractors but also on any slow-moving towed vehicle, such as a cotton wagon.

Parker urges farmers to have several of the emblems on hand so that there is no need to transfer one from one vehicle to another. Also, this would avoid failing to use the emblem when in a hurry. The emblems are available at farm machinery houses.

Motorists should be aware of these triangular warnings and be prepared to adjust their speed, when one is spotted, to avoid accidents.

Several kinds of insects can be expected in the homemaker's kitchen.

Parker says insects can get into the cleanest of kitchens in anyone of several ways. This group of insects includes roaches, ants, saw-toothed grain beetles, Indian-meal and Mediterranean flour moths, confused flour, cigarette and drugstore beetles, and rice, bean and cowpea weevils.

The county agent points out that these insects may be in the larvae or adult stage and may all produce similar damage and require similar control measures.

Some pantry pests are general feeders and will consume nearly all types of vegetable and animal matter while others have definite food preferences and will confine themselves to those preferences. A few of the many food items that attract pantry pests are chocolate and nut meats, macaroni and spaghetti, breakfast cereals, certain drugs, spices and tobacco, cayenne pepper, powdered milk and dried peas and beans.

Feeds should be purchased in quantities small enough to be used rapidly and if storage is necessary, they should be stored in glass, plastic or metal containers with tight fitting lids, says Parker. He suggests discarding small quantities of infested foods rather than attempting to salvage them with freezing and heating techniques.

A regular cleanup of the storage area is recommended whether the food is kept or discarded. Cabinets should be washed and the shelves covered with foil or paper and the foods replaced.

There is no need to fumigate the entire house to control pantry pests. It's not too late to make some additional resolutions for the new year. Parker urges all homeowners to give careful consideration to the safe use of electricity as 1972 gets under way.

He lists several resolutions to help make this new year a safer one, electrically:

1. Resolve to equip all circuits with proper size fuses or circuit breakers.
  2. Resolve to maintain all electrical appliances and devices in good condition.
  3. Resolve to ground both stationary and portable power tools by using properly connected grounding type cords and plugs.
  4. Resolve to use electrical wiring devices correctly. Use weather-proof wire, switches and sockets where moisture exists and use special wire for underground circuits.
  5. Resolve to learn how to treat a shock victim by using artificial respiration.
  6. Resolve, when in doubt, to have a competent electrician look at special problems.
- Safety with electricity will add to the happiness of you and your family in this new year, assures Parker.

Fix-It Tip

Sometimes a storm door will get caught in the wind and bang back and forth until the hinges are sprung and you find yourself with a door you cannot close. Loosen the screws in the hinges until you can get the door closed, then tighten them again. Plan to use another door for a time until you can replace the hinges.

Isn't it about time you inventoried your supply of fishing gear and checked your tackle? Even the best equipment won't last indefinitely, so examine it thoroughly and restock your needs.

Although your tackle dealer must carry a stock of cheap equipment, he will recommend that you buy the best you can afford. You can fish better, easier and more effectively with quality equipment and furthermore it will last longer, you will take better care of it and you'll be more proud of it. Buy a cheap outfit and you are always wondering why you didn't get a real piece of equipment. So, you give the inferior product to the kids, and soon it finds its way into the trash can.

Although the prices of some quality rods and reels will be sky high there are still excellent qualities available within the reach of everyone who can afford fishing tackle.

If you know nothing about tackle, consult your dealer. Get him to show you the different types, and the advantages of each. Make up your mind whether you want baitcasting, spinning, or spincasting equipment. Each has its place and each is highly efficient. The man at the tackle counter will be glad to rig up an outfit of each type and let you get the feel of it. When you buy that rod and reel for yourself, also get one for the wife... and don't expect her to like an inferior product. Buy one for her just as good as the one you get for yourself. After all, she probably will catch the first, the largest, and the most fish. That's the way most husband-wife fishing trips end.

Cancer has seven warning signals: Change in bowel or bladder habits; a sore that does not heal; unusual bleeding or discharge; thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere; indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; obvious change in wart or mole; nagging cough or hoarseness. If you have a signal, see your doctor right away, the American Cancer Society says.

Approximately 64,000 Americans died last year of lung cancer which could be cut drastically if people stopped smoking cigarettes. The American Cancer Society says if you smoke, quit; if you don't smoke, don't start.

Early detection and prompt treatment save lives from cancer. Have an annual health checkup including cancer tests, your American Cancer Society urges.

...about your SOCIAL SECURITY

The San Angelo Social Security Office, along with social security offices in 850 communities around the country, has been appointed by Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson, to serve as a local center to receive complaints about substandard conditions in nursing homes.

Persons who have information about instances of poor quality care, neglect, unsanitary or unsafe conditions in a nursing home may give that information to the nearest social security office in person, by letter, or by phone. If desired, the name of the person making the complaint and the name of the nursing home patient will be kept confidential. J. M. Talbot, social security manager, noted.

The social security office will see that the complaint gets to the proper Federal, State, or local authority for investigation.

The designation of the Nation's social security offices as "nursing home listening posts" is a preliminary to a plan announced by Secretary Richardson for the establishment of an ombudsman system in the States. The ombudsman would take complaints and suggestions about nursing home care and make sure they get to the right people. They would also find out what nursing home patients think — not only about the facilities where they live, but also about alternatives to nursing home care — ways in which older people may be enabled to stay in familiar surroundings instead of being institutionalized.

Among steps already taken by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to guarantee a decent environment for the older person who is a nursing home patient, Talbot cited Medicare enforcement activities under which more than 100 extended care facilities have had their approval terminated because they failed to meet health and safety standards.

As of last month, he said, another 43 facilities are on notice that unless they meet the standards they will be cut off from Medicare funds.

On the positive side, more than 4000 Medicare surveys in the past year have led to the correction of deficiencies and the upgrading of care — not just for Medicare patients, but for all patients in the institution.

Actions are also being taken to obtain State enforcement of Medicaid standards. Since the Federal Government pays only a portion of the cost of nursing home care under Medicaid, the Federal Government does not have direct enforcement authority.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 2000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

Gray Wolf Myth Persists In Texas

Austin — Despite widespread belief to the contrary, there are no timber wolves in Texas.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Dennis N. Russell, who has conducted studies of the Texas red wolf, said the gray or timber wolf (Canis lupus) has gone the way of the buffalo and grizzly bear as an extinct species in the state.

Therefore, the tiny group of approximately 100 red wolves in the state's southeast corner are the only representatives of the famed wolf clan.

Russell said the persistent reports of "wolves" from virtually every region of the state usually result from misidentification of large coyotes. Also adding to the confusion is the tendency of Texans to interchange the names "wolf" and "coyote" when talking about coyotes.

The timber or gray wolf, also called lobo or prairie wolf, once roamed most of Texas following the great migrating herds of bison. When the bison was eliminated as a wild animal, the gray wolf's demise was sealed as well.

Russell said the nearest population of gray wolves to Texas is a small group in Northern Mexico, several hundred miles south of Texas' Big Bend region.

He said the last documented appearance of a true gray wolf in Texas in recent history was an animal shot by a hunter in the Chinati Mountains west of Big Bend National Park in '69. The appearance of such a straggler has to be considered extremely rare, said Russell.

Cotton Burs Aid In Controlling Erosion On Land

Glen Green with the local Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District said that many farmers in the Runnels S&WCD are using cotton burs and gin trash to aid in controlling wind and water erosion on their land. In addition to protecting the soil, the burs and trash improve the physical, chemical, and biological condition of the soil, a ton of cotton, stalks, leaves, and burs could return approximately 35 pounds of Nitrogen, 10 pounds of Phosphorus, and 35 pounds of Potassium to the land.

When mulching with heavy rates of cotton burs or other mulch, it is recommended to apply nitrogen to aid in the decomposition of the mulch.

To encourage the use of cotton burs for soil improvement, the Runnels ASCS County Committee has included cost-share assistance for the practice in their agricultural conservation program.

Hunters On Area Go After Javelinas

Austin—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Chaparral Wildlife Management Area will be the scene of a two-week-end javelina hunt for 200 hunters.

The first 100 eligible hunters will take to the field Jan. 15-16, followed by the rest on Jan. 22-23. The 15,200-acre area is located eight miles west of Artesia Wells.

The 200 hunters were selected by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in a public drawing held Jan. 6 in Austin. Each hunter is allowed to hunt two days and kill one javelina.

The hunt is part of the research program on the management area and is not necessarily indicative of a high javelina population, department officials stress.

Geese Finally Arriving From Northern States

La Porte — Snow and blue goose hunting seems to have taken a productive if belated turn, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

New legions of the birds, pushed from the north by last week's severe cold front, have arrived along the coast of Texas.

Department waterfowl biologists who have been in contact with biologists in Iowa and Missouri say this is the year's last migration of snow and blue geese from the Missouri River Valley. Severe weather in Missouri and Iowa froze the available surface water there and forced the birds to seek warmer climates.

An estimated 400,000 geese were held up this year in the Missouri River Valley by a combination of unseasonably mild weather, a bumper grain crop and the water sanctuaries provided by the states and by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By BILL BOYKIN, Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex. — An interesting political poll was taken at the Gulf Coast Press Association's board of directors' meeting in Houston January 8. Fourteen newspaper publishers were asked: "Who do you think will win the 1972 Governor's race in Texas?"

Seven said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, four named Dolph Briscoe and two listed Gov. Preston Smith.

SENATE CAMPAIGN

The 1972 political campaigns moved into full swing with announcement by former U. S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough that he would make a comeback try for a Senate seat.

Yarborough, 68, revealed his plans in a series of whirlwind news conferences at Austin, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio. He seeks the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Sen. John Tower.

Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, already running for the Senate as a Democrat, welcomed one-time political ally Yarborough to the race as "one of our fine senior citizens." He said both Yarborough and Tower "are out of touch with the majority of Texans."

Yarborough said he had never had so successful a campaign opening day. He stressed his nearly-14 years' experience as a progressive senator, and said in answer to questions about his age: "I'll be around campaigning as long hours as anybody else, if not longer."

The former senator's entry took some of the spotlight away from the warming governor's race where Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe are starting to mix it up.

Five Democratic candidates are moving around the state in the lieutenant governor's race. Treasurer Jesse James, Comptroller of Public Accounts Robert S. Calvert and Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White during the last week announced for re-election. Calvert and James are expected to draw some opposition.

State Rep. Frances Farentold of Corpus Christi announced she is "taking a serious look" at prospects for a gubernatorial race, but has not ruled out challenging Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

SCHOOL DECISION APPEALED

The State Board of Education voted unanimously to appeal the monumental federal court decision that the Texas property tax method of financing schools is unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, the Board assumed responsibility for drafting a new plan for supporting the school system and ordered a task force be formed to do the study job in the event an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court fails.

The state, according to Texas Research League, has several options. One is full state financing, which by 1974 would require an expenditure of a billion dollars a year just to maintain the status quo.

Another alternative is state-local financing that would provide approximately equal resources for each child. The League suggested redrawing district boundaries to redistribute property values or superimposing multi-district taxing regions over present operating districts to provide equalization by regions.

A decision, the League noted, must be made as to whether the goal is educational expenditures at the present level in rich districts or at a lower "average level." The latter would mean reducing the number of teachers and lowering salary supplements in some districts to create more positions and higher salaries in the poor districts.

REPUBLICANS EAGER

Texas Republicans in a recent meeting here boasted of wide-open opportunities in 1972 presidential and U. S. Senate races, for doubled state legislative strength and possible election of a governor.

Scandals in state government and prospects of single-member House (legislative) districts offer the GOP its biggest chance to elect candidates and achieve reform through two-party government, the Republican State Executive Committee was told repeatedly.

The GOP issued verbal invitations to unhappy Democrats and Independents, regardless of political philosophies, to enlist in Republican ranks.

AG OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin declared the controversial new code of ethics for state and local officials unconstitutional, and was commended by Governor Smith and Secretary of State Bob Bullock.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

A school of veterinary and zoological medicine at Texas Tech University can be approved by simple majority vote of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. New and separate institutions require a two-thirds vote of the Board.

A witness in a criminal case under subpoena is entitled to mileage and witness fees. Jim Wells County commissioners redistricting of commissioners precincts August 11 is void due to failure to publish notice of changes.

Fees dedicated to the Real Estate Research Center at Texas A & M University are not in the state treasury and do not need to be appropriated by the legislature.

INSURANCE CUTS ORDERED

The State Insurance Board has directed lower collision insurance premiums for motorists whose cars are equipped with new damage-resistant bumpers. No domestic manufacturers have yet certified cars that meet the standards, however.

Twenty per cent discounts were ordered for 1972 cars with bumpers that can stand a five-miles-per-hour collision, front or rear, without damage. Fifteen per cent cuts will be in force for new cars with bumpers which can stand a five-mph front end crash and a two-and-a-half-mph rear end bump. Ten per cent reductions apply for 1972 autos sustaining a five-mph front and two-and-a-half-mph rear collision without damage to lights, fuel, exhaust, cooling or latching systems or to the bumpers themselves.

URANIUM MINING EYED

Street-by-street tests with sensitive scanning equipment to record possible abnormal radioactivity from uranium mining operations will be made in the South Texas area.

Air and ground surveys by the State Health Department have disclosed no evidence of public health hazards, and none is anticipated by S.H.D. However health problems have been reported in Colorado where a gas released by radium remained in tailings or wastes after usable uranium is extracted. The wastes there were used for construction fill.

Towns to be covered in the screening include Floresville, Karnes City, Kenedy, Three Rivers, George West, Tilden, Pleasanton, Leming, Poth, Hobson, Falls City, Helena, Panna Maria, Coy City, Lenz, Caesar, Pawnee, Mineral, Oakville, Simmons, Caliham, Whitsett, Peggy, Campbellton, Christine, McCoy and Caughran. Uranium mills operate in Falls City and near Three Rivers.

PARTY REFORM RULES EYED

New state Democratic reform rules met generally-favorable reaction in a four-hour public hearing before a 23-member sub-committee here.

A final draft is due to be reviewed by the State Democratic Executive Committee rules sub-panel January 29 before it is passed along to the full SDEC in mid-February. SDEC Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto predicted approval of the required guidelines in essentially the same form they were offered at the hearing.

The rules are designed to insure "open" conventions and encourage participation by minorities, youth, women and backers of rival presidential candidates. Party activities will be open to 18-year-olds. Governor Smith predicted the rules proposed would give Texas a "challenge-proof" delegation to the Miami Beach Democratic national convention.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith appointed Henry H. Cannady of Port Arthur to the Veterans Land Board.

Smith also named Tate McCain of Palestine 87th district judge; Jerry A. Sandel of Huntsville 12th district attorney; E. T. Summers Jr. of Cuero to Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority board of directors; (reappointed) William A. Clifford of Lubbock as Canadian River Compact Commissioner; Harry O. Rearick of El Paso and Edwin J. Terry of Beaumont to the Real Estate Commission; Charles W. Duke of Fort Worth to Texas Turnpike Authority.

The governor selected Charles D. (Chick) Morris, formerly of Lubbock, as his assistant press secretary.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Smith is considering a recommendation for a statewide food stamp program which would call for about $17 million in state aid to counties and would produce $286 million in federal assistance for the needy.

Industrial development of Texas last year may rank second only to record 1969, according to Texas Industrial Commission.

The Texas Supreme Court set a Wednesday (Jan. 19) review of a case in which State Rep. Jack Blanton of Carrollton seeks to force Dallas County Democratic Chairman Earl Luna to accept his state senate filing fee. Luna claimed Blanton hadn't lived in the district long enough.

Rural development may be the answer to pollution, urban crowding and rural poverty, Agriculture Com. John C. White contends.

The governor asked President Nixon to declare Bowie, Delta, Fannin, a disaster area due to recent flooding.

An advisory council for technical-vocational education has slated 29 conferences over the state.

The 1972 Miss Texas Universe beauty pageant will be held in San Antonio April 10-15. Some of the nation's top educators will participate in a symposium here marking the opening of education papers in the Lyndon B. Johnson Library.

Turkey Harvest Down From Last Year's Kill

San Angelo—The turkey harvest in West Texas may be as much as 40 percent lower than last year, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

Although no official figures are in, both landowners and hunters have been reporting a scarcity of birds. Biologists blame this on a dry spring and summer and a resulting low hatch of poults.

During the time when summer poults are usually seen, only adult birds were noted except in isolated areas.

Biologists say the picture is not completely bleak. Because of the good number of winter forbs, winter survival of the turkeys should be good. And if the weather cooperates, there is no reason why there should not be a good hatch of young birds this spring.

Ear's A Deer Trivia Item

Austin — How long is a mule deer's ear?

Depends on the individual deer? Wrong.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have discovered a universal truth, to wit: every desert mule deer buck over two years of age examined on the Black Gap Wildlife Management Area has had ears exactly 11 inches long.

This news may not revolutionize mule deer management practices, but it may furnish sharp-eyed hunters with a point of reference when studying a prospective trophy through a scope-sighted rifle.

What Hath Youth Vote Wrought?

By RALPH NOVAK

(CEF)

What hath the introduction of the 18-year-old vote wrought?

With the prospect of 25 million young hands casting their first presidential votes next year, we are witnessing the beginnings of what promises to be a mad scramble to win the affections of the youth vote.

Chances are that the Democrats will collect a sizable majority of the new votes, thanks to historical as well as philosophical allegiance. But the Republicans have far from conceded.

Even President Nixon, who so far has shown a marked ability to alienate the nation's young people, is showing signs of wanting to close the political generation gap. He has not, so far, let his hair grow out or begun to sprinkle such terms as "right on," "groovy" and "far out" through his speeches but he did make a pointed appeal to youth in a recent speech.

Though that speech was before a 4-H group—a relatively conservative bunch—it did indicate the President is not planning to ignore the youth vote. And the Republicans have also organized their most modish young senators and representatives into a task force whose goal it is to win over the youngsters.

Tennessee Senator William E. Brock, who is heading the task force, is accentuating the positive. One of his goals, convincing youth that Mr. Nixon is a peace candidate, will take some achieving, since the President still seems to be saddled with blame for the fact that the war has not yet ended. But the whole project shows the Republicans have decided they can ill afford to write off those 25 million votes.

Many of the young people themselves are meanwhile organizing their own campaign to form a National Youth Caucus, a pressure group that would try to influence next year's Democratic convention by bringing about the election of young delegates.

A recent Chicago meeting of about 2,500 young within-the-law activists was the first major step to forming a workable caucus. It showed, however, that the young, however often people talk about them as a bloc, are still something less than one great big group united-in-thought-and-deed.

Which Democrat can bring those factions together? Can President Nixon win over a significant part of the young vote? Will most young people vote in the first place? It is all enough to make you forget about wondering if the Beatles will ever play together again.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR HOME FURNISHINGS

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Spurred by the upsurge in residential building, investors have recently been bidding up many home furnishings stocks to record highs. Investor confidence in the future of companies that make and sell furniture, floor coverings, appliances, and related items is buttressed by the knowledge that housing starts have been sharply on the rise for about eighteen months; traditionally, an upturn in home furnishings sales follows an increase in housing starts, although there is usually a time lag of from twelve to eighteen months. Recent shipment figures and consumer buying surveys bear out the contention that an upswing in the sales of home furnishings is already under way.

Demographic factors also point toward a generally favorable outlook for this industry. For example, over the next ten years a 52 percent increase is anticipated in the number of households in the 25-34-year-old age bracket, a group which customarily spends heavily on household furnishings and accessories. Furthermore, there are indications that the number of families in this age group with annual incomes of $15,000 or more will jump from a total of 1.6 million in 1970 to about 6 million by the year 1980.

MAY TOP AUTO BUSINESS

Broadly speaking, the home furnishings industry—furniture, floor coverings, appliances, home electronic equipment, and related items—is a $50-billion U. S. consumer goods business, second only to the $59-billion auto industry. It could be that before the present decade has run its course home furnishings will surpass autos. This is based on the assumption that residential housing starts will continue at a relatively high level because of the lagging rate of such construction over recent years and because of the mounting number of families that will be in need of housing in the 1970s.

In addition, an increasingly mobile population should mean a heavier demand for home furnishings, while upward pressures on incomes is bound to result in an upgrading of the quality of purchases, thus stimulating the replacement market to a substantial degree. Some analysts look for the home furnishings market to reach an overall value of $100 billion by the end of this decade, while others expect this figure will be attained even before 1980. In any event, it seems clear that the industry will achieve a rate of growth considerably above that for the U. S. economy as a whole.

The favorable market prospects for home furnishings has not been overlooked by the nation's corporate giants. Such highly specialized concerns as RCA, Sperry & Hutchinson Armstrong Cork, U. S. Plywood-Champion Paper, Magnavox, and Burlington Industries have established and/or expanded positions in furniture and carpeting during the past few years. While Babson's Reports is not recommending any of the above companies for purchase at this time, we do feel that they have enhanced their potentials with this expansion into furniture and carpets. Currently, we are suggesting that investors maintain hold positions on the stocks of these companies.

FURNITURE BIGGEST ITEM

The largest segment of the home furnishings field is furniture, with annual retail sales amounting to more than $5 billion. The market for furniture has climbed about 30 percent during the past five years, and it is expected to nearly double in volume over the next half-decade. Approximately 5 thousand companies are involved in the manufacture of wooden, upholstered, and metal furniture in the U. S., but only two, Bassett Furniture and Kroehler Manufacturing, had sales in excess of $100 million in 1970. The Research Staff of Babson's Reports does not keep Bassett under supervision because of insufficient client interest. We do supervise Kroehler, however, and recommend holding it for appreciation over the period ahead.

After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

H & R Block's charges start at $5 and last year averaged under $12.50 for over 7 million returns we prepared.

Nugent C. Hinds Died In Nursing Home In Angelo

Nugent C. Hinds, 79, longtime resident of Winters, died in Park Plaza Nursing Home in San Angelo at 9:45 a. m. Friday, following an illness of several years.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Sunday in Spill Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Bob Sanders, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating.

Masonic graveside services were held by the Winters Masonic Lodge at Lakeview Cemetery.

Mr. Hinds was born at Granbury, Nov. 30, 1892. The family later moved to the Sweetwater area, and it was there he married Bessie Boozer, Dec. 27, 1911.

Following their marriage they moved to the Winters area where he lived until 1970 when he moved to the nursing home in San Angelo. Mrs. Bessie Hinds died Feb. 3, 1957.

While living in Winters, Mr. Hinds was in the grocery business for a number of years and also was in the poultry business.

He married Mrs. Sadie Akers at Winters in 1958.

Mr. Hinds was a long time member of the First United Methodist Church of Winters, and of the Winters Masonic Lodge, where he recently received a 50-year membership pin. He was master of the Winters Masonic Lodge in 1924 when the Methodist Church was built, and took part in the cornerstone laying ceremony at that time. Two years ago he participated in ceremonies, when that cornerstone was removed as the old church was demolished to make room for the present new Methodist church building.

Survivors are his wife, now living in a nursing home in Odessa; two sons, J. Norris Hinds of Odessa and James E. Hinds of Temple; Mrs. Robert S. Henderson of San Angelo; one step-son, J. C. Akers, and two step-daughters, Mrs. Roy Owens and Mrs. Guy Salmon, all of Odessa; one sister, Mrs. J. E. Cooke of Winters; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Whopper Striper Caught At Spence

San Angelo—The striped bass population in Spence Reservoir must not be doing too badly, if one specimen caught there this week is any example.

Tom Sawyer of George West caught a six-pound striper and then left it for Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials to study and identify.

The six-pounder is the largest recorded caught out of a freshwater lake stocked by the department. However, that fish was one of a group of stripers stocked in the Sabine River by Louisiana officials.

Stripers are anadromous fish—that is, they live in salt water but seek freshwater streams for spawning. It was discovered several years ago that saltwater is not necessary for the fish to survive and grow. They can be successfully stocked in freshwater lakes to provide another game fish for anglers.

Cold Weather Fishing Not Without Problems

San Angelo—Boating in wet, wintry weather presents problems, but most of them can be anticipated and solved, says the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Launching a boat in icy weather puts the sportsman in a frame of mind to step on the boat trailer and push, but boat trailers are often icy. Be sure you are wearing non-slip shoes, and be sure the line on your trailer hitch is heavy nylon and not metal. If a metal cable breaks it can inflict a nasty wound. If you back into sand and the car sinks down, try pouring a bucket of water around each rear wheel. The sand will pack and the car may come right out.

If you need hot water quickly on a lake, use a shallow pan under the water discharge spout of your motor. It's quick and just as hot as you could heat over an open fire.

Matches will stay dry if you put them in a plastic shotgun shell then use another empty shell of a larger gauge for a lid. For starting fires nothing beats a short candle. Light it and you can build a fire with damp wood.

A tiny leak in a fishing boat is uncomfortable on the feet in winter. Use a piece of chewing gum, forcing the material into the leak or hole with the flat edge of a knife blade.

And always keep a change of dry clothes handy. Change into them when you get off the lake for a more comfortable ride home. Transport your fish in a sack between the grille and radiator of your car. The winter wind will prevent them spoiling until you reach home.
