HOME TOWN Talk

We would like to join the rest of the community in extending congratulations to those youngsters from North Runnels who exhibited their livestock in the various shows at the Fort Worth Stock Show...

A major reward received by all these young people is the valuable lesson of responsibility. No youngster can tackle such a project and see it through to completion without gaining something on the importance of responsibility...

Headlines read, "Political Pot Begins To Boil." Our tax-whipped Bluff Creek friend says he thought he'd smelled something cooking...

A brief item from the National Association of Manufacturers reports that "Mason Lustig recently received his Medicaid identification card number 5-463,603-1 and is entitled to visits to a doctor or dentist, as well as such items as prescription drugs, eyeglasses, false teeth and money for transportation."

Auto License Plates Now Available, Motorists May Register By Mail

You don't have to stand in line anymore if you don't want to in order to register "Old Betsy" — or whatever you call the faithful family car.

Texas motorists can get their 1972 license plates by mail if they send in the three-part renewal form, the registration fee and one dollar for their county tax officer prior to March 1.

This allows for the 30 days that are necessary for the application to be processed and the license plates delivered before the April 1 deadline. The plates themselves become available at the tax office or sub-station February 1.

If the motorist prefers, he may register his vehicle in person by taking the handy three-part form to the county tax office. It takes the clerk only a fraction of the time it used to take to process the form.

Even though the three-part renewal form carries the warning "DO NOT Separate or Detach Any Parts of This Notice" in large letters on the reverse side, some motorists do just that.

Department officials stress that the entire form must be mailed in or brought to the county tax office or sub-station. A stick down strip showing the new license number is attached to all sections of the form and then the tax office separates the form, returning the license receipt to the owner.

Applications for license plates should only be sent to the county tax office. Motorists should NOT send their payments to the Texas Highway Department because this will delay their registration.

During the month of March, it will be necessary for owners

Schools Seeking Names Of First Year Students

School officials are seeking the names and ages of all students who are eligible to enroll in the Winters Public School Kindergarten or First Grade in August, 1972.

Parents or guardians of all pre-school age children have been sent information sheets, to be filled in and returned to the school as soon as possible.

The information obtained will be used in planning next year's classes, and to schedule a pre-school roundup in April, Principal Beard said.

To be eligible for Public School Kindergarten for the next school year, children must be 5 years of age on Sept. 1, 1972. (Birthdays between Sept. 2, 1966 and Sept. 1, 1967). These children also must meet other financial and educational qualifications as required by the Texas Education Agency.

To be eligible for the first grade, children must be 6 years of age on Sept. 1, 1972. Eligible children must have been born on or before Sept. 1, 1966.

All children who enroll in the Winters Schools for the first time in either the first grade or kindergarten must present a birth certificate, Beard said.

Additional information may be obtained from Principal George Beard, Winters Elementary School, phone 764-4931.

"TOKLAT"

What's it like to make a wild-life movie where your production schedule is dictated by the whim of the animals you're filming? According to Gordon McLaughlin, young professional animal expert who worked with "Willie," the grizzly bear star of "Toklat," it's a lot like the military—hours of preparation followed by hours of waiting for the animal stars to "do their thing" and then a few frantic moments of camera hyperactivity.

"Toklat was shot in the wilderness areas of Utah, Alaska and Wyoming, with the result that cameramen and directors hefting 60 to 80 pounds of equipment would have to chase their "stars" all over the wilds. What happens when the "stars" chase back? "With bears you run in a circle," says McLaughlin, "bears are not that fast and they'll tire after awhile" (or pick on something else, like the equipment—two complete cameras were devoured by Willie during the filming of "Toklat"). "With cougars," which appear abundantly in "Toklat," Gordon continued, "never turn your back on them, never run—if he does attack, you must face the

By BILL BOYKIN

Austin, Tex. — One adverse federal court decision after another fuels the feud between Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Smith was quick to blame on Barnes the failure of a 1971 filing fee statute which threatens to force a special legislative session.

While that issue was still raging, another Dallas three-judge court struck down the legislature's congressional redistricting plan. Once more, Smith accused the lieutenant governor of "reluctance" and "inaction" on redistricting.

When a third court frowned on House of Representatives redistricting in major counties as done by a board Barnes served on, Smith once more leveled at the lieutenant governor charges of "immature action" and lack of leadership. Single-member districts were ordered for Bexar and Dallas counties.

Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian, speaking in Barnes' defense, said Smith offered the legislature no leadership himself and reminded that the governor could have vetoed the congressional redistricting measure if he didn't like it.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin succeeded in getting a temporary postponement of the congressional redistricting order. The U. S. Supreme Court agreed to delay the new plan pending appeal.

U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who intervened as a friend of the court in support of the stay, said congressional candidates for this year, at least, can run in the districts given them by the legislature.

That would be a relief for Congressmen Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and Omar Burleson of Anson; Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Ray Roberts of McKinney and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo and Abraham Kazen of Laredo who had been pitted against each other in the federal district court plan.

If he has to call a special session on primary election financing, said Smith, he will expect "those responsible for creating this problem" to come up with "workable alternatives."

GOVERNOR'S POLL TAKEN

Dolph Briscoe won another Editor's poll last week at the mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association. Editors were asked first who they thought would carry their county—if the vote were taken on that date (January 24). Forty-eight editors responded to the poll with this vote: Briscoe, 18; Preston Smith, 13; Ben Barnes, 12; Barnes-Briscoe tie, 2 and three undecided.

They were asked: "How will you vote in the 1972 Governor's race?" This was the result: Briscoe, 28; Smith, 6; Barnes, 5; Grover, 1 and undecided, 8.

CRIME FIGHT PROPOSED

The governor's Criminal Justice Council promises a legislative drive for laws to help stamp out organized crime in the state.

Marfia-type operations have been noted in Texas by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice and other investigators, the council's new 1972 plan points out.

Further, states the council, many bets on sports events are being taken by bookie shops with national "confederation" affiliation.

This legislation was recommended: Power for the attorney general to bring suit in criminal cases.

Subpoena power in a statewide grand jury or crime prevention council.

Permission for electronic surveillance (including wiretapping).

The Council proposes to spend about $1 million of its projected 125 million 1972 allocations for action against organized crime.

INSURANCE HEARING SET

The State Board of Insurance set a February 15 hearing on insurance premium rates broader damage coverage, and higher liability limits for coastal and beach areas, under the new Catastrophe Pool Act.

Due for consideration is a deductible on beach dwellings of two per cent of the amount insured, with a minimum deductible of $250 and elimination of percentage deductible on beach commercial risks substituting a $500 flat figure. The Board also proposes to consider adoption of building specifications for high risk coastal areas.

storm damage is limited to $100,000 on a beach home and $500,000 on a commercial venture such as a marina or hotel.

AG OPINIONS

A county has authority to construct and operate an area or regional waste water collection and treatment system and perform water quality management functions, Attorney General Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded: A 25-year mineral lease had been duly extended and was in good standing last October 4 when an application for renewal was made to the School Land Board.

An independent school district lacks authority to give an outright 20-year lease of property to a neighborhood center. *Fees paid erroneously to the Industrial Accident Board and placed in the state treasury may not be refunded in absence of a legislative appropriation.

The State Building Commission has authority to contract with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for construction of state park projects and may contract with the State Highway Department for roads, trailer loops and parking areas with Board of Control approval.

Parks and Wildlife Commission has authority to control taking of fish from public waters, but its doubtful any rule imposing restrictions on bass tournament participants that would not apply to other fishermen would be valid.

"An applicant for certification as a psychologist must have received the doctoral degree.

*Texas Education Agency cannot participate separately in payment of premiums of insurance of its retired employees.

"The 1971 rules adopted by the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners are valid.

Dallas Independent School District trustees cannot alter the method of electing members to provide that six be elected by votes of their single districts.

"Good Neighbor Commission members are not authorized reimbursement for use of private airplanes on official business out of state. The Industrial Accident Board has jurisdiction over the industrial injuries to employees of the City of Bryan.

A $5,000 legislative appropriation to Elm Creek Water Control District is valid, and the governor has no authority to veto a portion of an appropriation.

COURTS SPEAK

A candidate for state senator must live in his district only one year before the date of the general election, the State Supreme Court held.

Overruling the Austin Court of Civil Appeals, the High Court found legal the University of Texas' acquiring 280 acres of its UT-Permian Basin campus site at Odessa through donation of park land acquired with county and bond funds.

The Court of Criminal Appeals relaxed rules on admissibility of gory pictures in murder trials, holding, in effect, that use of the photographs is largely up to the trial judge's discretion where it is "competent, material and relevant to the issue on trial."

APPOINTMENTS

James F. Ray of Arlington was selected executive director of the Commission Intergovernmental Relations.

Governor Smith named 10 more members of the Texas Criminal Justice Council. They are Mrs. Gladys M. Mangum of Clyde, Sidney L. Sadler of Pecos, D. V. Flores of Houston, Jim Lindsey of Del Rio, M. M. Vicars of Brownsville, Joe T. Morrow of Honey Grove, Vernon B. Rucker of Killeen, George M. Newman of Waco, Dr. John T. Holbrook of Bryan and Michael G. Reilly of Corrigan. Dr. Wallace Larson of San Antonio is the new president of Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Ralph Yarborough designated Clifton L. Holmes of Kilgore as his assistant statewide campaign manager and director of organization.

Documents Should Be In Safe Place

A veteran should know exactly what benefits his survivors are entitled to upon his death, the Veterans Administration cautions.

Family documents, such as military discharge papers and birth and marriage certificates, should be kept where they are protected from fire and theft, but readily available.

Good advice, VA states, is for the veteran and his wife to discuss openly the locations of these papers and where to turn in the event of his death.

Veterans service organizations, as well as VA offices, can be of immeasurable assistance

Other important documents that should be safeguarded include separation papers, death certificates, divorce decrees and guardianship or child custody evidence, VA says.

GI insurance policy numbers, VA "C" numbers for all VA correspondence, commercial insurance policies, Social Security numbers and naturalization papers are all important in claiming benefits.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—Through our history the waters which wash our shores have been friendly. They have given us geographical protection making it practically impossible for another nation to attack us. In our history they have given us time to build up our strength when danger seriously threatened. The tempo of modern technology has changed all this, as it has changed so many other things. It has stripped this country of our friendly protecting oceans.

The bearer of bad news is always punished. In ancient times one who bore adverse reports to the ruler, even though the truth, might be put to death. Today he simply becomes an "alarmist" but if there is one subject about which the American people must have a conscious concern it is our military position compared to that of the Soviet Union.

"Peace in our time" became a slogan after declared by Neville Chamberlain. That followed was six years of bloody conflict, which came near wrecking western civilization. We must hope that lessons of appeasement and unpreparedness have not receded into the dimness of shadows of past history.

If history teaches us anything, it surely must be that weakness invites attack; that it takes only one aggressor to plunge the world into war against the wishes of peace-loving countries.

Some of our weaknesses and vulnerability have been pointed out in this space from time to time. Another one has recently been proved. A defecting Cuban pilot flew a Russian MIG fighter plane to a Florida Air Base in 1969 and more lately a Russian-built transport flew from Havana to New Orleans carrying some uninvited delegates to a sugar conference. The question is how were these unannounced flights made without triggering an air alert.

The Chairman of the Armed Services Committee of the

Washington Trips For Oratorical Contest Winners

Expense paid trips to the nation's capital city will be awarded winners of an oratorical contest was announced this week by C. L. Newton, manager of Coleman County Electric Cooperative.

Contest is open to any boy or girl at least 16 years of age but not 18 years of age prior to September 1, 1972. Newton said winners will join winners of similar contests sponsored by other electric cooperatives across Texas on the sixth annual Texas Electric Cooperatives Government - in - Action Youth Tour to Washington, D. C. All expenses of the 12-day trip beginning June 9, will be paid by Coleman County Electric Cooperative, he said.

Each entrant will be required to give a 5 to 8 minute talk on the subject "Why Are We Here?" and answer 1 or more of 50 questions asked by the judges. The oratorical contest will be judged on the basis of (1) knowledge of subject, 40 percent; (2) speaking ability, 30 percent; (3) poise, 10 percent; (4) personality, 10 percent; and (5) appearance, 10 percent.

Interested young people may obtain an official entry blank from their school or the offices of Coleman County Electric Cooperative. The deadline for submitting entries will be March 1, 1972, Newton said.

As participants in the Texas Electric Cooperatives Youth Tour, local contest winners will travel by chartered bus to Washington, D. C., where they will spend four days visiting places of historical interest and seeing the nation's government in action.

On Wednesday, June 14th, the Texas group will meet more than 1,000 students from other states for a program sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association and the Rural Electrification Administration. The program will feature presentations by officials of these organizations and other Washington personalities and possibly the Presidential staff.

The eventful day will end with a chartered cruise down the Potomac River which will include entertainment and refreshments.

Also included on the 12-day agenda will be visits to the following: George Washington's Mount Vernon home, Arlington National Cemetery, the U. S. House and Senate, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Smithsonian Institute, the Lincoln Memorial and other places of interest.

House of Representatives gives the answer. There is virtually no air defense system along our southern border and the Gulf Coast.

A Defense Department statement attempts some reassurances. It says that the Soviet Union could not launch a major manned bomber attack without the United States knowing about it. Besides, it is reasoned, strategic manned bombers are not worth worrying about in this age of far more formidable nuclear missiles.

True, perhaps. But it is hardly "alarmist" to recall that most of the American people and their leaders were convinced in 1941 that the Japanese either would not or could not carry out an attack on Pearl Harbor.

The glaring gap in our defenses to our southern approaches has gone virtually unnoticed during the long period of sustained hostility towards the United States by Castor's communist Cuba. During the same time there has been established a Soviet Union presence in the Caribbean. There are visible efforts by both the Russians and Chinese communists to gain a foothold in Latin American Governments. Even if our country was not vulnerable to a manned bomber attack, the Soviet submarine presence off our shores, capable of launching missiles halfway across our Nation, should be enough to bring us out of apathy to the possibility.

If this is not enough, there is reason to believe that the Russians will soon have bombers capable of flying over the United States at the speed of sound and back without refueling.

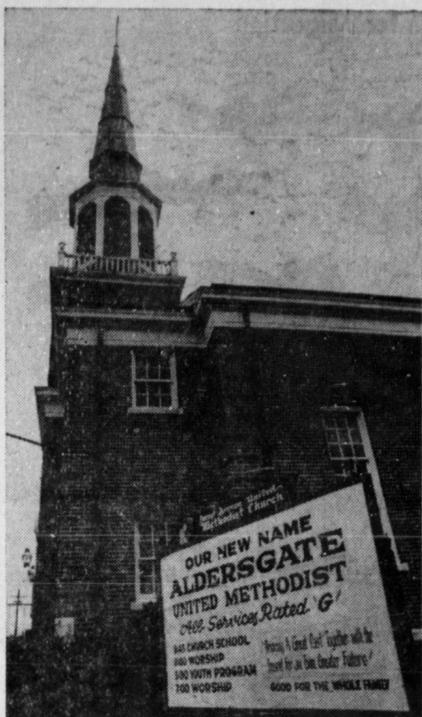

If some of the strategists believe that manned bombers are obsolete, it is obvious that those running the business of military preparedness in the Soviet Union do not.

Under the influence of those both in and out of government who think the manned plane is obsolete and unnecessary, the worth worrying about in this age of far more formidable nuclear missiles.

The Russian bear may not be yet 10 feet tall and fully matured but he is exercising and growing rapidly. The future of our country is too dear to take chances on only living for the moment.

Lone Star Gas Co. To Spend $1.56 Million On Safety

DALLAS — The transmission division of Lone Star Gas Co. has budgeted approximately $1.56 million in 1972 for projects relating to pipeline safety, according to N. W. Stone Jr., superintendent of engineering.

As part of the company's continuing pipeline safety program, Lone Star examines existing pipeline and tests new pipeline construction to assure reliable and safe service to its consumers.

Since pipelines are tested with water prior to being put into service, these tests can expose the pipelines to higher stresses than are experienced after the line is placed in gas service. On large diameter lines the tests are performed at 90 percent or more of the yield stress of steel. On smaller diameter lines the pipe is tested to 150 percent of the anticipated gas pressure.

Lone Star also has developed an extensive computer program that analyzes all pipeline sections throughout Lone Star's transmission system. The data demonstrates whether or not each section is commensurate with the Department of Transportation (DOT) pipeline safety regulations. The computer also offers alternative methods of upgrading existing pipelines to optimum safety standards.

In compliance with the DOT codes, Lone Star has already completed a number of pipeline safety programs and continues to work on other safety projects. They range from smaller projects such as the $40,000 line replacement in Comanche, to an $82,000 pipeline replacement in Hunt County. Two $42,000 projects are underway: one is a 700-foot, 30-inch pipeline upgrading project near Houston; the other is a 2300-foot pipeline replacement project in Johnson County. Current pipeline construction to the Dallas/Fort Worth Regional Airport site will conform to DOT's highest class location rating because of the projected growth in the area. Stone commented that a number of pipelines, such as a pipeline near Breckenridge, were upgraded or replaced for safety purposes only, and that these lines were fully operational at the time of the upgrading.

Until 1968, the pipeline industry was operating under the USASI B31-8 code which was an advisory code formulated under the auspices of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Lone Star, in keeping with the B31-8 code, updated their existing program for pipeline safety even though this code was not mandatory.

In November 1968, the industry announced to B31-8 (revised) code in which most of the requirements were already being implemented under Lone Star's safety program. The B31-8 code was accepted by industry to serve as the standard pertaining to design, construction, operation and maintenance of natural gas transmission pipelines until DOT issued their reg-

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

There is more, much more, to catfish farming in Texas than subdividing the land with dikes, filling the ponds with water and then dumping in brood fish.

Billy Edwards of Winnie, Texas, who owns and operates a 450-acre catfish farm, assures one and all that raising catfish requires more than just letting nature take its course.

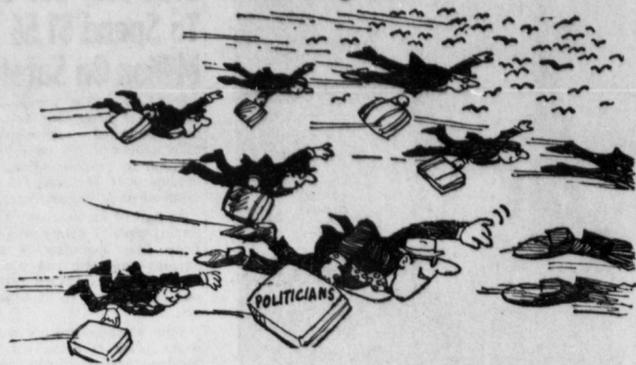

Edwards' farm is called "Catfish Acres." It is located on State Highway 124 about midway between Winnie and High Island. (Winnie is on Interstate 10 between Houston and Beaumont.)

A network of dikes cuts the acreage into 45 ponds that in turn are connected with a maze of underground pipes. The ponds range from a series that are 1-10th acre each in size to the largest which covers 214 acres.

The 1-10th acre ponds, Edwards says, represent the pet project of his resident manager and biologist Joe Surovik. "Joe uses these ponds for selective breeding," Edwards says, "because he is interested in improving the strain."

Edwards keeps his ponds filled by pumping in water from a bayou that meanders across his property. This water, however, is not pumped "raw" into his ponds.

"If we did it that way, we could ruin the operation in a hurry," Edwards says. On its way to the holding reservoir, the water goes through a giant filtering system that keeps out rough fish, spawn, dirt and weeds.

In addition to filtering the water to prevent contamination, Edwards has to carefully control water levels within the ponds. The water must be kept shallow enough so attendants working the ponds don't have to resort to boats. But at the same time the water must be kept deep enough to keep out the long-legged wading birds.

"When the water is shallow, the wading birds (cranes, egrets, etc.) get to the fish," Edwards says. "Regardless of the water depth the anthing (water turkey) is the one bird that really gives us fits."

Right along with filtering and water levels, close tabs must be kept on ponds to see that they have adequate oxygen content.

At the entrance to "Catfish Acres" Edwards has two ponds totaling approximately four acres. The area is landscaped and complete with picnic tables, benches and shelters. His ponds are stocked with 12,000 pounds of channel catfish ranging from one to 14 pounds in size.

From 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. daily except Mondays, the ponds are open to public fishing for a small fee. Anglers pay only for the fish they keep.

Edwards' "Catfish Acres," which is one of the largest in Texas, also supplies fresh catfish for cafes and restaurants specializing in catfish dishes. At the present time the catfish population on Edwards' layout totals approximately 240,000 fish.

FIX-IT TIP

Touch-up painting with paint or lacquer not only brightens up the kitchen or cabinets, but protects the wood against destructive influences of air and moisture. Some women balk at the chore because of the messy problem of paint spots on themselves. Before painting, rub protective cream on your hands and arms. The film of cream makes it easier to remove paint from your skin when you've finished painting.

The standard deduction is up this year. But maybe you should itemize.

Your best buddy Lenny might have told you to itemize your deductions because it would save you more tax dollars.

Your neighbor possibly suggested taking the standard deduction because you'd pay less taxes that way.

And Frank down at the office ... he helps everybody with their return ... what did Frank recommend?

If there's some way to save you money on your income tax, H & R Block will know how to do it.

Itemized and standard deductions are nothing new. We've been preparing returns for years using both. We'll figure out your situation both ways and then prepare your return using the method that's best for you.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it yourself (with advice maybe from some other amateur), you can have your tax return prepared with complete confidentiality by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 conveniently located offices.

Each member of H & R Block is warm, friendly and anxious to help you. A visit to H & R Block usually takes just a short time. Once in our office, you sit down over a free cup of coffee and possibly learn things about your income tax that you never knew existed. Things that we know, because income tax returns are our only business.

H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million families we served last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

It means that H & R Block also offers you year-round tax service for just one low fee, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

Yes, it's true. The standard deduction is up this year.

It's one of the many things we'll consider when we do your return.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR MILLERS AND BAKERS

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — Although bakery products expenditures accounted for a smaller share of total food outlays in 1970 than in 1960, the decade of the 1960s saw consumers increase what they spent for bakery products by 3.9 percent per year. While the gain in population and price increases accounts for part of this growth, emphasis on snack foods and convenience items was an important factor. In fact, most companies which were able to chalk up a higher growth rate did so by way of diversification efforts, and the focal point for improved profitability has been new additions to product lines.

FIGHTING THE COST SQUEEZE

Because of the lack of vigorously growing demand for the basic products turned out by the millers and bakers (per capita consumption of flour declined from 1960 to 1970) and rising materials prices, the industry has had to contend with a cost squeeze. Most companies in the field, however, have fought back by increasing automation and expanding and streamlining productive facilities. Also, to secure greater regional penetration and to combat competition from local bakers—including facilities of grocery chains—most producers of baked products (bread and cakes) have either relocated some facilities or established new plants. Hefty promotion has also helped.

BETTER PROFITS OUTLOOK

Due largely to the mammoth 1971 wheat crop, low prices for this important food grain have brightened prospects for flour millers. With wheat flour output expected to increase, costs of this primary ingredient for bakers is likely to average lower in 1972 than last year. Moreover, with livestock slaughter apt to hold up better than was earlier projected, other baking ingredients such as tallow and sugar substitute sweeteners should be more advantageously priced for bakers in coming months. Sales of bakery products should be up again in 1972. The gains, for the most part, will be in the cookie and cracker section as the result of growing demand for convenience items. The combination of larger sales and lower flour costs should result in greater profits for many companies within the industry.

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

At the present time the Research Department of Babson's Reports is recommending the purchase of the conservative-grade stock of General Mills and the average-grade stocks of Nabisco and Pillsbury. General Mills is an excellent example of a "full-line consumer" operation. Its flour milling for the institutional market has been curtailed drastically, while its "family flour" business is an important cog in its "foods at home" product group. While the latter still dominates the company's annual sales and profits structure, the best year-to-year gains have been in consumer nonfood operations (except in 1971 when this segment fell off sharply profitwise). Now that it has established itself solidly in the nonfood consumer fields, General Mills should again be able to register good progress.

Nabisco (formerly National Biscuit) enjoys a profit margin well above that of its competitors, and has long ranked "Number One" among the specialty bakers. Its wide roster of cookies, crackers, and cereals is augmented by cake mixes, snack items, confectionery products, pet foods, and frozen and prepared foods. Approximately 25 percent of its annual sales derive from foreign markets. Management hopes to establish a growth rate of 10 percent annually.

Pillsbury, one of the nation's leading flour millers, has been a leader in producing convenience-type baking mixes and refrigerated fresh dough products. It also merchandises grains and formula feeds, sells prepared mixes to the bakery and institutional markets, and grows and processes broiler chicken products for retail grocery outlets and institutional markets.

...about your SOCIAL SECURITY

The first three months of 1972 are very important to individuals who are not enrolled for medical insurance benefits under Medicare. This may be the last chance for many people to obtain this protection which helps pay for doctors bills. The general enrollment period in which medical insurance can be obtained covers the first three months of 1972—January, February and March. A person who became age 65 in September 1968 or earlier and had never enrolled for medical coverage is no longer eligible. Anyone who became age 65 in October 1968 through September 1969 and had never been enrolled must enroll during this general enrollment period because this is the last chance to get this medical insurance.

A person who had medical insurance that terminated may be eligible to re-enroll. For detailed information on this and other important matters, contact the

H. D. Agent's Column

Bread rates high as one of our most important foods, reminds Mrs. O'Connor. The average homemaker buys 250 pounds of bread and rolls each year.

Bread is usually labeled an energy food, but she says it is also an economical source of protein. It furnishes significant quantities of iron and three B vitamins when enriched. The proteins in bread are best utilized by the body when eaten with such foods as milk, eggs and meat.

For maximum nutritive value she suggests choosing bread that is marked "enriched" or "whole grain." Enriched and whole wheat breads also provide iron, thiamine and niacin. Riboflavin-4 levels in enriched bread climb slightly higher.

The use of milk solids also adds to the nutrient value of bread, especially to the calcium value.

People often falsely assume that breads differ greatly in calories. White enriched, whole wheat, rye and gluten breads differ only slightly in calories. She explains that it's the thickness of bread slices that affects the calorie content. A slice of white enriched bread from a pound loaf cut into 20 slices contains 60 calories. A thinner slice from a pound loaf cut into 26 slices has 45 calories.

When buying bread, she says to choose by weight and not size. Otherwise, you may spend money for air. A two-pound loaf usually costs less per pound than a one-pound loaf.

Pricewise, the standard white loaf is usually the least expensive item on the bread counter. Prices on specialty breads and rolls climb sharply. Purpose for use also ranks as an important key in bread selection. Choose soft bread for sandwiches and a compact, firm loaf for toast. Day-old bread makes an economical choice for stuffings, French toast and bread crumbs.

When storing bread, use a clean, dry, well-ventilated bread box. Keep the loaf tightly wrapped in its original wrapper, except bread with a crisp crust, which is stored unwrapped to preserve crispness. Storage life is short, she said.

If you want to keep bread at home for more than a few days, freeze it, she advises. Zero temperatures preserve flavor, freshness and original moisture if the bread is wrapped securely in moisture-vapor proof material.

Mrs. O'Connor says that bread may be stored in the refrigerator to retard mold growth, especially during hot weather, but refrigerator temperatures cause staling and a loaf kept refrigerated one day will stale as much as one left at room temperature for three days.

TO THE PEOPLE Of Precinct No. 3, Runnels County

Due to the Federal ruling of One-Man, One-Vote ruling the Commissioner's Court of Runnels County was forced to change its precinct lines to equalize the population.

Now Precinct No. 3 consists of the portion of Winters City Limits South of East and West Dale Street, except for the Sunlawn area. Also the portion of Ballinger City Limits North of Field Stand east of Broadway, also from the junction of Highway No. 83, South to Hatchel, then West, then South to Highway No. 158, West to the county line. From Junction of 83 to new Farm-to-Market No. 53, West to Farm-to-Market road No. 1677; then North to County line.

I would like to ask all of the people of this area, now Precinct No. 3, for your support and influence and your vote in the May Primary election.

I have served as County Commissioner of Precinct 3 for eleven (11) years. I have had my people's interest at heart, and have done my best to serve and help them in any way I could. I have worked with others to help give Runnels County a good government.

I have lived and farmed in the Wingate-Wilmoth area since 1928.

The County Commissioner's office is a very important office in any county. I take pride in serving it.

Runnels County is in good financial condition. We have had as much, or more, of our share of the farm-to-market roads, as any county our size.

Precinct No. 3 has a fine crew of men working in it. Our roads are in good condition in spite of the weather conditions we have had in the past year.

Runnels County has a good working Commissioner's Court, with good working relations with other elected officials. I am proud to be a part of this court.

I will try to call on and visit with each and everyone living in Precinct 3 before the May Primaries. If I should miss anyone, I assure you it will not be intentional.

Thank You!

Hunters Kill 34 Javelinas On Chaparral Area

Austin — Not all the hunters who were eligible showed up to hunt javelinas on the Chaparral Wildlife Management Area, but those who came enjoyed themselves, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

Not everyone killed a javelina, but just about everyone indicated to management area personnel that they had a good time.

During the two weekends of hunting, 108 hunters killed 34 javelinas. Names of 200 hunters were selected in a public drawing in Austin.

The largest javelina killed was a 41-pound boar. The average weight was around 38 pounds. One hunter was reportedly red-faced when he was told that he had killed a two-month-old feral pig instead of a javelina.

Department biologists estimate that there are approximately 400 javelinas on the 15,200 management area eight miles west of Artesia Wells.

Department Hikes Soending On Striped Bass Programs

Austin — The day may be drawing nearer when a fisherman can catch a string of big striped bass out of a Texas lake. Parks and Wildlife Department biologists hope to set up enough rearing facilities to provide the thousands of fingerling bass needed for stocking experiments in several inland lakes.

In addition to obtaining fry from Eastern Seaboard States, the department anticipates joining with Louisiana fisheries personnel in setting up a hatching operation in Maryland. This project will utilize live adult strippers purchased from commercial fishermen to obtain eggs for hatching.

Also, some of the adult bass will be flown to Texas and maintained on hatcheries in an effort to establish a source of brood fish.

Striped bass are saltwater fish but it was discovered several years ago that they can survive in freshwater lakes in Texas and elsewhere. They have shown good growth potential in Texas waters — particularly in Spence Reservoir in West Texas and Navarro Mills Reservoir in Northeast Texas.

Biologists say they have not selected the target lakes, but the lakes chosen will be those believed to offer the best habitat for possible spawning. It is believed that strippers may require as much as 50 miles of flowing tributary water for spawning.

Success, Set Backs Mark Imported Fish Stockings

San Angelo — Attempts at stocking imported species of fish in West Texas and the Panhandle have kept Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists alternating between glee and depression.

On the positive side, the biologists can point to the walleye and striped bass stocking programs. Although they are the first to admit that the experiment isn't complete, biologists are fairly positive that these two fish will thrive in Texas waters and will furnish more sport for anglers and an additional check for undesirable fish.

Department fisheries personnel looking for brood fish have netted walleyes in the six-to 8-pound class, and there has been one confirmed catch of a 14-pound walleye.

Biologists are equally elated over the striped bass' performance. A striped bass weighing six pounds was recently caught from Spence Reservoir north of San Angelo. The unusual thing about this fish is that it was only two years old. Biologists say this is remarkable growth.

The disappointments have come from the northern pike. Biologists were hoping that the pike could control rough fish in Greenbelt Reservoir in the Panhandle. The pike which were stocked are eating and growing. But they aren't spawning, so the hopes of having a self-sustained pike fishery in the lake are dim. Biologists collected 91 pike last year, and only three were ripe females. Further investigation revealed that the eggs in these three were being reabsorbed into the body of the fish.

Department biologists say quite a bit more research is needed before the pike introduction experiment will be a success. They plan to catch as many of the fish as possible and transfer them to a hatchery for further study.
